Pat Stinson Is Homecoming Queen

Queen, Court to Reign Over Tip-off Game

SUE DISHON

PAT STINSON

DIXIE CARPENTER

KAREN REEVES

BONNIE SEAL

Miss Patricia Stinson of Indianapolis, Indiana, is Homecoming Queen of Olivet Nazarene College for 1963. Pat is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Stinson.

Now a junior at Olivet, Pat graduated from Franklin Township High School, where she was active in many activities. She was a teacher and choir member in her local church also.

At Olivet, Pat has been a member of the Student Education Association, Speech Club, and program chairman of the Beta Society. She also teaches a Sunday School class in College Church of the Nazarene.

Our new queen was selected by popular vote of the student body from among the junior and senior girls of the college. The Queen and her court will preside over the Homecoming Basketball game tonight.

The GLIMMERGLASS is happy to congratulate Pat on her becoming Olivet's HOME-COMING QUEEN for 1963.

The members of the Queen's Court this year are Mrs. Sue Dishon and Misses Dixie Carpenter, Karen Reeves, and Bonnie Seal.

Sue Dishon, wife of Mr. Willie Dishon, and daughter of Mr. William Shaw, of Indianapolis, Indiana, is a senior majoring in English.

Sue has been a member of Evangels, the Missionary Band, Student Education Association, and sang in the Treble Clef Choir. She has served as secretary and vice-president of the Women's Residence Association along with holding class offices in her freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior years at Olivet.

Dixie Carpenter, daughter of Mrs. Jeanne Carpenter, Willard, Ohio, is a senior business education major.

Dixie has been a member of Student Education Association, Commerce and Home Economics Clubs, and is secretary of Sociology club and of the Senior Class. She was also chosen as a member of the Queen's Court in 1962.

Karen Reeves also is serving for her second year as attendant to the Queen. A mathematics major and senior from Davenport, Iowa, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Reeves, are both Olivet alumni.

While maintaining a high scholastic rating at Olivet, she has been active in many other activities. Presently Karen is president of the Women's Residence Association. She has also served on Student Council, on the Aurora and Glimmerglass staffs, on Homecoming Commission, and as secretary of the class of 1964.

Bonnie Seal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Seal, is a junior biology major from Florissant, Missouri.

Bonnie also has been quite active in both her academic and extra-curricular work. A recipient of the Greene Scholarship as outstanding student in her class, she also has served as Delta Society secretary, Student Council representative, Aurora staff member, social committee member, and biology lab assistant.

The four members of the Court will serve as attendants to Miss Stinson, who will preside over the Homecoming festivities this weekend.

OL' SMOKEY DEDICATED TODAY

Expert woodsmen can fell a tree just about where they want it but only a few professionals can drop a 90-foot smokestack on a dime.

This was done on May 25, 1947, when the original 90-foot smokestack was topped to the street facing Williams Hall in order to erect the new 150-foot smokestack.

Similarly, on April 17, 1963, the same scene was pictured with the sight of a crumbled smokestack covering the street facing Williams after the tornado.

Hearts were saddened by the loss of Olivet's mark of distinction. The towering giant bringing recognition to ONC was no longer seen from outside the campus. For months Olivet looked undressed until reconstruction was once again begun.

Only as workmen progressed higher and higher did Olivet again regain her prestige. We are indeed honored to dedicate this historic landmark, Ol' Smokey.

Dedicatory ceremonies will be held on Friday, November 8 following chapel at the foot of Ol' Smokey.

The program includes an original poem by Dorothy Ralph and an original song by Terry Cochran. Our guest speaker will be Olivet's own famed speaker, Dr. LeRoy Brown. The band will be on hand to aid in officially dedicating this structure.

We are indeed indebted to campus engineer, Mr. Ed Brodien, and others who have worked so fervently in making possible this beautiful and badly needed addition to Olivet's campus.

No application will be considered which is turned in to Dr. Cotner's office later than Monday, November 25. All male, Olivet applicants will be considered who are members of the Church of the Nazarene.

College Businessmen Elect Henderson

The conference was held at the Moody Bible Institute in

American Poets To Recite in Chicago

POETRY Magazine's annual Poetry Day celebration this year will expand into a festival presenting five of the most important American poets now at the height of their achievement: J. V. Cunningham, Stanley Kunitz, Robert Lowell, Karl Shapiro, and Richard Wilbur.

All five poets will read from their poems on Saturday evening, November 16, at 8:30, in Medinah Auditorium, 600 N. Wabash Avenue, Chicago.

The Editor of POETRY, Henry Rago, thinks that this "concert of poets" will make an historic evening that no student or teacher interested in literature and the arts can afford to miss. These five poets have never before read from the same platform; and it is impossible to say when, if ever, this opportunity will come again.

Tickets are priced as low as possible, so that anyone who wants to come will be able to do so. They are $1, $2, and $3. Students will find the $1 seats perfectly adequate. The tickets may be purchased in advance from POETRY, 1018 N. State Street, Chicago 10; a stamped self-addressed envelope should be enclosed with each order.

POETRY strongly recommends early orders, in the light of its experience with the T. S. Eliot reading a few years ago, when more students and teachers had to be turned away than the vast number that filled all the seats and the stage of Orchestra Hall.

Several Olivet students and faculty members are expected to attend this outstanding literary event.

A Forward Look . . .

by Bob Kirkpatrick

(Student Body President)

It is easy to become so completely involved in the preparation for and celebration of an event that you forget the actual purpose for your labors. So this year we (the student body) are making a conscious effort to come directly to the point and say, "Welcome Home, Alumni!"

Some of the faces have changed since you left but we hope you'll find the same warm atmosphere of friendship permeating the "ole' campus." It is homecoming time again and we're glad just that you've come home, alumni. If we can be of service to you, just ask. Ask for anything except a victory at tonight's game, that is, for I'm afraid that's one favor we can't grant to you. Anyhow, Welcome Home!

The Foreign Voice

By Fred Wenger

(Treasurer, Association of International Students)

In the past few weeks much has been said pro and con on whether the United States ought to sell wheat to the Soviet Union.

Some have used the balance of payments benefits as one reason why we should make this sale. This is a poor excuse, for the sale of the wheat would bring in only a few hundred million dollars while our balance of payments problem is given in terms of billions of dollars in outstanding claims. If the balance of payments problem is really the reason for making this sale, then why doesn't our government request that the Soviet Union pay in gold bullion?

The Soviet Union already has credit here which they have not made any attempt to pay off even though long overdue. If the United States makes the sale and does not require gold bullion in payment, our balance of payments problem is helped in only a theoretical way.

If the Soviet Union should fail to make the agreed payments, then the United States will hold the note of still more uncollected credit to a country that still has only one prime economic objective and that is the downfall of capitalism. In such a case it is hard to see how credit to such a nation could be anything short of a very poor risk.

The one and only reason we have for selling these goods to the Soviet Union is to alleviate hunger. The Christian should be the first to look at the problem in this light, for Romans 12:20 says . . . "if thine enemy hunger, feed him . . ." Certainly there will be times when it will be questionable whether the Soviet Union or like countries are in need of the goods they desire or whether because of expansionist policies they have diverted their own supply, grants or aid to other countries that are carrying on unpeaceful programs. But this is one of the points on which a Christian statesman, after studying all the facts, should base his decision.

From the Pastor

The mark of our determination is not always indicated by how we use the advantages in our lives. Perhaps a better sign of strength and purpose is the way we overcome the disadvantages.

It can rightly be said of every one who has achieved that he did so because of some things and in spite of some things. The first priority of life is to come to grips with a Christian sense of values else good is identified as bad and bad good. With a right perspective one can apply his energies in the arena of life in such a way that he can make good use of his advantages, change at least in part some disadvantages and adjust himself to certain immovable handicaps—all within the role of doing the will of God.

An Appreciation of Olivet

Having returned this year to Olivet's campus after an absence of one year, I hear the raucous cries of students who have problems with Olivet in seemingly greater tones than when I was previously on campus. What are some of these complaints? "I can get a better education at U. of —?" "I think that the campus life is not like other campuses around the country." "The food is terrible." "The rules are designed for children." "Nobody is going to tell me what to do here!"

I could go on and on with examples of this nature. It is true that college people like to grumble in much the same manner as the men in the armed forces, but there tends to be an extreme position on grumbling which appears to be prevalent at Olivet. The army feels that a man who grumbles about some object as the food is a happy man, but the man who grumbles about having to serve two years in the army for the well-being of his nation is a man worthy of scorn. It is much the same at Olivet. I can lay no claim to being innocent regarding grumbling, but I do realize that there is an excess of grumbling about the college and its Christian purpose.

I shall be very frank with you; you do not appreciate what a wonderful place you have here at Olivet. I am speaking with the authority of a person who attended Olivet one year, transferred to a state university, and am now returning to complete my education at Olivet. I have had a chance to observe a college with Christ as its beacon and a university that had worldly pleasure and sensuousness as its primary purpose. I feel that a point by point analysis of each institution of learning will be of benefit in illustrating my point.

The state university is easier scholastically, and for this reason. There is no collateral reading. You are assigned to read a textbook and listen to the instructor's biased viewpoint on a subject. There is no real learning taking place if you are restricted to one side of an issue. Through collateral readings, the student is subjected to various viewpoints on the same subject, and from these readings, the student can arrive at his own conclusions on a given topic. The majority of the lower division courses are taught by teaching fellows who are teaching as a means of supporting themselves as they work towards their Master's and Doctor's degree. Their attitude is generally apathetic to the needs of the student, and if the student doesn't get his lesson, that is too bad. During my two semesters at the state university, I had seven student teachers. I did not have one Ph. D. teacher. At Olivet I have had and currently have a number of men with Doctor's degrees. I tend to classify university professors as being 4A: arthritic, alcoholic, atheistic, and apathetic. The only advantage to a state university is the prestige attached to the name, but unless you know how to think, that degree from a state university is just a scrap of paper.

The social life is non-existent for a Christian at a state university, and even those here at Olivet who are away from God would be revolted at the sin and degradation that goes on openly at a state supported school. I must admit that my attitude toward Olivet was not the best during my first year, but I have experienced the transition from a holiness campus to a world state university. I think that the real turning point in my philosophy towards a state school occurred when the psychology lecturer said that he was going to change our concept of Mother, God, and Country by the end of the semester. We should be thankful for the privilege of attending a school where our Lord is exalted, our mothers are honored, and our country respected. The education of America lies in the hands of small church-supported schools around the nation. For only from these sources will material arise to stem the ever widening expanse of socialism which has had its beginnings in America's large state universities.

The Meaning of the Second Vatican Council

The Second Vatican Council is now in session. We hear about it in news on television and radio, in newspapers and magazines. But do we really know what the Council is or what it is doing?

The Council consists of nearly three thousand bishops and heads of all major orders. Non-Catholics are just listening to the procedures; they have no voice in the action. It is the twenty-first Ecumenical Council for the Catholics. The first Vatican Council met in 1869 but was abandoned at the arrival of soldiers in the 1870 Italian unification attempt.

The main purpose of the council is to unify all Christians. This unity would include the Protestants, Roman Catholics, Eastern Orthodox, and Anglicans. Pope John XXIII named four requisites that the Roman Catholics would have to meet in preparation for union: "purification," "revival," "reinvigoration," and "aggiornamento." Pope Paul VI is just as eager as John XXIII to establish unity between Catholics and Orthodoxy. In January, 1959, Pope John XXIII announced his intentions to call an assembly. In September, 1963, Paul VI proposed that Orthodox Churches join with Rome in settling their doctrinal differences. Then, the bishops and leaders of the Church began to gather in to start deliberations.

Reverend Hans Kung, dean of the Roman Catholic theological faculty at Germany's Tubingen University, and one of the spokesmen for the Catholics, listed four main objectives of his church. First, by clearly defining the rights and functions of the bishops and council, it is hoped that the pope's authority will be more clearly defined. The official view of the Roman Catholics is that the Church should be under the jurisdiction of the infallible pontiff. But non-Catholic opposition believes the pope is fallible. This opposition stems partly from the scripture in Colossians 2:9-10, which reads "For in him dwelleth all the fulness of the Godhead bodily.

And ye are complete in him, which is the head of all principality and power." This point of contention is a major issue being considered now in Rome.

Secondly the Catholics are wanting to emphasize the pastoral role of the hierarchy while diminishing the bureaucratic and jurisdictional functions.

The Romans desire also to remind their members that the Bible occupies first and central place in the theology of the church.

Finally, another major issue involves the role of the Virgin Mary in the church. The Catholics realize that many people misunderstand their relationship to her. Now they want to put the "cult of Mary" in a perspective that will guard against popular exaggerations.

The pastor of the neighboring B. V. M. Maternity Church stated four reforms the Church in council is considering. One is the use of the vernacular in the ritual of the service rather than Latin. Another deals with communion, the pastor pointed out the difficulty of serving communion to large congregations: it is inconvenient to distribute the sacrament to a crowd. The other problems in debate are birth control and divorce.

The Pope may govern without the council's aid, but there are many advantages to their discussion; among them are better papal-laity relations, better understanding of the Catholics by non-Catholics, and more ideas for satisfactory administration throughout the hierarchy of leaders. The Pope stated "There is a growing desire to renew the Catholic Church in accordance with the leadership of the Holy Spirit."

According to Catholic leaders the significance of the Pope's calling of the council is that he wants the traditions as expressed by the Council of Trent to be restored and strengthened.

Christian Concepts

By Don Patrick
(President, Prayer Band)

The spiritual tide after every revival is always high. The reclaimed are rejoining because of a repossessed joy, the saved have found perfect joy in holiness, and Christians have found greater depth in their love for Christ.

I have observed on the campus since the revival a concern for the sustaining of this atmosphere. The best way to do so is to keep our individual hearts on fire. How can this be accomplished?

Some athletic coaches have said that the best defense is a good offense. I believe that this principle can be applied to the Christian life. What constitutes a good offense for the sanctified Christian?

The first factor was given to us recently by Dr. Lawlor. He admonished us to "go tell," to witness to what God has done in our behalf. For, "he that winneth souls is wise," (Proverbs 11:30).

Our second responsibility would be to pray and fast for those to whom we have witnessed. In doing this, we are saying to God by our actions, "I am concerned about this soul." And—we can stand on His promise: "The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much." (James 5:16).

Private daily devotions would be the third phase of our offense. Never neglect this! Bible study and prayer are essential.

A fourth phase in the Christian offensive is action in building the kingdom of God. This might include teaching a Sunday School class, participating in Evangelists, taking a part in the NYPS program, calling, singing in the church choir, or any combination of these. In short, do something for your church and support its total program.

A fifth and final phase is attending all the means of grace, or all the regular services. "Forsake not the assembling of yourselves together" is the command of the Scriptures. Excuses for negligent attendance would hardly be accepted by our loving and merciful Master. When a person testifies to both works of grace and then does not attend the services of his church, often his actions betray his words.

I hope you have noticed that doing, attending, praying, fasting, witnessing, and seeking are verbs of action. I believe that if we as Christians remain active for Christ and His kingdom, we will not easily succumb to temptation. Remember, a good offense is the BEST defense against sin.

Prof. Hopkins on Leave for Study

Since June of last summer, Prof. Harlow Hopkins has been busily engaged in work on a Doctorate of Music Education degree at Indiana University, in Bloomington, Ind. This semester he is taking courses in Music History, Music Education Research, clarinet, bassoon, piano, and orchestra, in which he is playing the bass clarinet.

While in Bloomington, he and his wife are responsible as Minister of Music, and organist, respectively, at the East Side Church of the Nazarene.

The professor and his family plan to remain in Bloomington through next summer, after which they will return and resume teaching at Olivet.

To those who are new on our campus this semester, Prof. Hopkins is on a leave of absence from his regular assignments as director of the Olivet Concert Band, the Symphony Orchestra, Brass Choir, and the Clarinet Quartet. His duties also include teaching of woodwind and percussion instruments, and classes in elementary and instrumental conducting.

Student Council Minutes

The third regular meeting of the 1963-64 Student Council was held on October 9, 1963, at 8:45 p.m. in Fliermans Hall, Room 150.

President Bob Kirkpatrick called the meeting to order. Don Patrick opened the meeting with prayer.

Members absent were: Ken Armstrong, Mary Beavin, and Dan Thomas. Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Bob Kirkpatrick gave a report from the Revival Prayer and Fasting Committee. To date approximately 175 pledge cards had been signed and returned.

Karen Reeves made a motion that one person from each society be elected to the Athletic Committee. The motion was seconded by Sarah Harlan and carried unanimously. Those elected from the six societies were:

- BETA—Wilbur Gross
- DELTA—Dale Von Seggen
- GAMMA—Jerry Smith
- KAPPA—Gloria Good
- SIGMA—Carolyn Rupp
- ZETA—Herb Alfree

John Lunsford reported on election procedures. He made several recommendations concerning voting procedures:

- (1) Exclusion of first semester students from voting;
  - (2) Changes in voter registration
- (a) Mark ID cards for certain elections
(b) Registration card

given out from Student Council at school registration
(3) Privacy in voting.

Discussion concerning these recommendations brought out the idea that exclusion of first semester students would be necessary only in elections or balloting concerning individual persons, rather than balloting concerning general information on amendments to the Constitution. It was suggested that the Student Council Representatives - at - Large election be held in the spring preceding the term of office. This would enable all students to vote.

President Kirkpatrick appointed a committee to study election procedures at all-school elections. Members are: Gary Mullin, Bonnie Seal, Ken Sears, Dr. Sayes, and John Lunsford, Chairman.

Attendance at Student Council meetings was discussed. The consensus of opinion was the consistency and faithfulness in attendance should be the products of individual responsibility and maturity. To study and propose measures for combating the possibility of negligent absences, President Kirkpatrick appointed the following as a committee: Ray Cunningham, John Fanthorpe, Roger Griffith, Mary Sue Jones, Earl Kelly, and Sarah Harlan, chairman.

The meeting was adjourned.

Vikings Chorus Sports Tuxes

When the Vikings Male Chorus makes its appearance tomorrow evening in the annual Homecoming concert, its 49 members and director, Prof. Donald Murray, will each be sporting his newly-purchased tuxedo. The tuxedos were purchased from the Modern Rental Company of Chicago.

Most of the tuxedos have been rented out at one time by the rental company, and consequently were sold to the Vikings members at reduced prices. This made it possible for each member to purchase his own tuxedo.

The Vikings will open their part of the program with "Prayer Before Singing," followed by "Last Words of David." They will close with the Negro spiritual, "Set Down, Servant," featuring Ray Cunningham and Roger Howerter.

Kickin' It Around...

1963 SOFTBALL SEASON

Olivet's softball season was a most successful one. We had a break in that the weather stayed warm, which enabled us to complete a full ten-game schedule. This year the race was pretty much decided after the first five games. At that time Zeta was well ahead of the rest of the field.

This sports editor predicted at the beginning of the season that Zeta would be in first place, possibly with an undefeated season. Zeta finished in first place 10-0. Beta finished second; Delta third.

The last week of the softball season was highlighted by some real great games. Kappa, although they finished in fourth place, finished with a strong closing with an upset over Delta and what would be considered by some an upset over Gamma. In both games Craig Myers was the winning pitcher. In the game against Gamma, which Kappa won 2-1, he had fourteen strike-outs and pitched a one-hitter. Dave Taylor, who again this year was picked as an All Star outfielder, drove in the winning run in the fifth inning. Later that week, Kappa upset Delta by beating them 12-3. Once again Craig Myers did an outstanding job—pitching a no-hitter and striking out ten. Dave Taylor drove in five runs with a homer and double in this game, establishing his place on the All Star team.

SOFTBALL ALL STARS

During this last week the Athletic Committee met. They chose the 1963 edition of the softball All Stars for Olivet. It will be easily understood why Zeta finished with a 10-0 season for they placed four players on the All Star team.

The pitcher, Ron Williams, who won ten games for Zeta, was chosen the All Star pitcher. The other half of this battery was Ron McSwain from Gamma, a repeat All Star.

As we move into the infield, we find two Zeta men, Bill Ulmet and John Crabtree. The other two infielders are Larry Watson (Beta), also a repeat All Star, and a rookie this year from Delta, Loren Schoenwater.

Looking over the outfield, we find one of our best hitters in Dave Taylor (Kappa) heading it up. Randy Robbins, a tough little lefty with the bat, and Ray Williams (Gamma) round it out.

FOOTBALL ALL STARS

The football season will close with the Homecoming game on Saturday, November 9, at the Bradley-Bourbonnais High School football field.

This week the 1963 All

Stars were chosen. The team is headed up by some real good ball players coming from the Freshman Class.

Probably one of the strongest all-around linemen to come to Olivet is on this team. He is Jim Hodges at tackle. Chosen as the other tackle is Ed Chapman, a returning All Star. The two ends, one from the Freshmen and one from the Upperclassmen, are both excellent.

For the third year in a row the Athletic Committee has selected Keith Burba, a tough competitor both offensively and defensively, as an All Star end. The Freshman All Star end is Steve Loman.

Two hardnosed guards, both upperclassmen and both of whom are returning All Stars also, were chosen—Tom Rockrohr and Tom Lightle. Anchoring this All Star line we find Chuck Gibson (center).

The point makers this year were led by a quarterback who is also a repeat All Star in Ed Nash. The two fine halfbacks, one a Freshman and one an upperclassman, gave both speed and strength to the backfield, Dee Clay being the fast one and the work horse, Ron Phillips. The

Meet Alumni Coach Hanson

John Hanson, a 1957 Olivet graduate and now an assistant professor of chemistry here, makes his debut tonight as the coach of the Alumni basketball team.

Coach Hanson is himself a former member of the Alumni-squad, playing in the 1957, 1958, and 1961 Homecoming games. And while a student at ONC, he earned letters in softball, baseball, and basketball.

After graduating from Olivet Prof. Hanson did graduate work at Washington University in St. Louis for one year and at Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., for three years. He completed his fullback position is held down by Freshman Carlton Moore.

The Athletic Committee felt that some recognition should be given to the defensive players. They chose two defensive All Stars, Dave Jackson and Bob Clipper. Both are upperclassmen and both operated at halfback.

Coach Hanson thinks the Alumni's prospects for winning tonight are good. He commented, "The team is composed more of recent graduates than it has for several years. The oldest men on the team will be Larry Hendricker and Keith Powell, 1961 graduates."
