

Cedarville Review

---

Volume 3

Article 14

---

2000

Hour of Paasage

Ben Mitchell

DigitalCommons@Cedarville provides a publication platform for fully open access journals, which means that all articles are available on the Internet to all users immediately upon publication. However, the opinions and sentiments expressed by the authors of articles published in our journals do not necessarily indicate the endorsement or reflect the views of DigitalCommons@Cedarville, the Centennial Library, or Cedarville University and its employees. The authors are solely responsible for the content of their work. Please address questions to dc@cedarville.edu.

---

Recommended Citation

Mitchell, Ben (2000) "Hour of Paasage," Cedarville Review: Vol. 3 , Article 14.
Available at: <https://digitalcommons.cedarville.edu/cedarvillereview/vol3/iss1/14>

---

Hour of Paasage

Browse the contents of this issue of Cedarville Review.

Keywords

Poetry

Creative Commons License

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-Noncommercial-No Derivative Works 4.0 License.

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.cedarville.edu/cedarvillereview>

Part of the Poetry Commons

Hour of Passage

⌘ Benjamin Mitchell

Even the owl is silent in my hour of passage,
Watching me perhaps but saying nothing,
The morning and its mist are a sphere
Around me and nothing is stark.

The black cedars are calling.

Slim while pillars vaporate all around.
The aspens... white upon white.
Everyithng wet and white and muffled
Except the cedars. They are the black ones
And they beckon.

The trees of bondage have shade in shadow,
Deep pockets... silence upon silence.
Entrance demands awe.
They stand and sprawl and twist strangely