OPEN  International
ACCESS WEEK @ Johnson & Wales University

Open Access is the free, unrestricted, open access to research and creative works. It's the belief that scholarship and research should be made available to the public without charge.

Open Access Week is an annual global event that provides an opportunity for the academic and research community to continue to learn about the benefits of Open Access and to help inspire wider participation in helping to make Open Access the norm in scholarship and research.

Coming soon, our schedule of activities and promotions for this year's First Annual Open Access Week.

JWU Scholarship Defined edit

How is scholarship defined at Johnson & Wales University?

It includes traditional research as well as output associated with applied professional knowledge, pedagogical practice, and forms of creativity intended to make connections across disciplines or foster growth and change within a specific field of practice. The critical components of scholarship at Johnson & Wales are:

Goals

Scholarship and its results are based on pre-stated purposes or defined objectives and focused on important questions.

Preparation/Background of Scholar

Scholarship is based on a deep rather than a casual understanding of a field or fields. A scholar possesses skills/knowledge in the field or fields, and scholarship references existing professional/practical literature or documented practice knowledge.

Methods

Scholarship relies on effectively applied methods which can be replicated and are appropriate to the pre-defined objectives of the work.

ScholarsArchive@JWU edit

The ScholarsArchive@JWU is an open-access institutional repository for the scholarly research and creative output of members of the Johnson & Wales University community, hosted by Johnson & Wales University Library. It makes publications and creative works freely accessible to anyone with access to the internet, providing a simple way for authors and contributors to preserve and showcase scholarship and creative works within a single, OCR-compliant site.

This service can help identify publisher permissions, maintain peer-reviewed e-journals, and collect and manage conference materials. Submissions can include working papers, copies of published articles, conference papers, presentations, multi-media works, datasets, creative works, and other works not published elsewhere.

Download a copy of the ScholarsArchive@JWU brochure to find out how Scholars Archive can work for you.
