BENCH AND BAR

PRESIDENT'S PAGE

THE Oil and Gas Institute held in Bismarck on March 28 and 29 was most timely and served to prepare more than one hundred of our practitioners in the fundamentals of oil and gas law. Those who were unable to attend may be comforted by the decision of the Committee on Continuing Legal Education to make available at reasonable cost an annotated transcript of these practical and instructive lectures by Prof. Wilmer D. Masterson of Southern Methodist University. The demand for copies will be heavy. You are urged to place your orders early with our Executive Director.

The North Dakota Law Review was designed primarily as an aid to legal education through editorial writing and legal research. While this vehicle serves to carry the tyro on the paths of knowledge, its utility is not limited to this purpose nor to its function as the journal of our Association. As the practice and teaching of the law is a never ending process, this stimulating publication may well serve as the media for distributing the fruits of legal writing and research of the practitioner. So often does the thorough and painstaking lawyer prepare a masterful brief for the aid of the trial court, only to find that his case is settled or that his brief was effective to enable his client to prevail without an appeal being taken. The points of law, thus extracted from the depths of legal research, are for the most part "born to blush unseen and waste their sweetness on the desert air."

All of us could profit from the many gems of legal analysis which are fashioned daily for the benefit of the trial court in litigated cases. Whether the composition be merely a "recent case comment," a "case note," or an "article," original papers submitted by lawyers will serve to broaden and expand the utility of this excellent law review. While all manuscripts must pass certain standards of excellence, the helpful suggestions of the editorial staff will be readily available.

It is my sincere hope that we may soon demonstrate that the "country lawyer" of North Dakota is capable of making contributions of legal writing of unexcelled quality and thus enlarge the scope and value of this publication as an instrument of legal education and research in our common effort to improve the administration of justice under law.

NATIONAL TRAINING LABORATORY IN GROUP DEVELOPMENT

AFTER five years of pioneering research and experience in the relatively new field of training leaders in the skills and understanding necessary for developing effective groups, the National Training Laboratory in Group Development will hold an expanded four-week summer laboratory session at Gould Academy, Bethel, Maine. The dates will be from June 22 thru July 18.

During the past five years three-week laboratory sessions were held. The four-week laboratory plan results from increased knowledge of group development and additional knowledge about methods of training in human relations.

Approximately 100 applicants will be accepted for this session. Persons involved in problems of working with groups in a training, consultant, or leadership capacity in any field are invited to apply.

The purpose of the training program is to sensitize leaders in all fields to the existence and nature of the dynamic forces operating in the small group. This is organized so that each trainee group of 15-20 persons is enabled to use its own experience as a laboratory example of group development. Group skills of analysis and leadership are practiced thru the use of role-playing and observer techniques. Concentrated clinics give training in the skills of the consultant and the trainer in human relations skills. There is also opportunity to explore the role of the group in the larger social environment in which it exists.

The Laboratory research program in group behavior and training methods is an important part of the training, and the use of research tools which are within the range of the Laboratory training program is incorporated into the curriculum.

The NTLGD is sponsored by the Division of Adult Education Service of the NEA and the Research Center for Group Dynamics of the University of Michigan, with the cooperation of the faculty of the Universities of Chicago, Illinois, California, Ohio State, Antioch College, Teachers College, Columbia University, and other educational institutions. Its year-round research and consultation program is supported by a grant from the Carnegie Corporation of New York. For further information, write to NTLGD at 1201 Sixteenth Street, N. W., Washington 6, D. C.

MEMORIALS

RICHARD F. GALLAGHER

Richard F. Gallagher, County Judge of Morton County, died unexpectedly at his home on February 12, 1952 at the age of 72. Born at Oak Grove, Minnesota, October 29, 1889, Judge Gallagher attended the University of Minnesota, receiving his B.A. Degree in 1905 and his Law Degree in 1906. He practiced law for a short time at Staples, Minnesota, and then came to Beach, North Dakota. He was admitted to the Bar of North Dakota on December 8, 1906. During his residence at Beach he served as State's Attorney for Golden Valley County and City Attorney for the City of Beach. He removed to Mandan in 1923 and became associated with the firm of Sullivan & Hanley, handling a large volume of trial and appellate practice for that firm. That association continued until 1933 when he entered practice for himself. In 1940 he was elected State's Attorney of Morton County and held that position for three terms. Judge Gallagher also served for a time as Police Magistrate for the City of Mandan. He was appointed County Judge but a few months prior to his passing, to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of Judge S. E. Halpern.

Active in local and state politics, Judge Gallagher was at one time Democratic candidate for the office of Attorney General.

Judge Gallagher was married to Lillian Brownfield on October 30, 1912. In addition to Mrs. Gallagher, there survives a son, Richard P. Gallagher, City Attorney of Mandan, and five daughters: Mrs. Fred Moen, Mrs. Joseph Eckroth and Mrs. Robert Guthrie, Mandan, Mrs. Joseph Ryan, Neenah, Wisconsin, and Mrs. Virgil Walfe, Carroll, Iowa.

Judge Gallagher was a member of the Catholic Church and the Mandan Elks Lodge. Wherever his residence, he was active in civic matters and gave generously of his time to foster those things for the betterment of his community. Highly regarded as both a trial lawyer and student of the law, his passing is a distinct loss to the legal profession.
