281 Enemy Forces Die Near Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — U.S., Thai and South Vietnamese forces killed 281 enemy troops in heavy fighting around Saigon and in the Mekong Delta and uncovered 40 graves containing another 152 bodies south of Da Nang, military spokesmen reported today. U.S. infantrymen from the 9th Division killed 131 Viet Cong in a series of five clashes over the weekend in the upper half of the Mekong Delta, the U.S. Command announced.

Two Americans were reported wounded in the clashes Saturday and Sunday. U.S. spokesmen explained that helicopter gunships and artillery accounted for at least a third of the enemy dead, and another 19 were killed in an ambush.

The fighting occurred near the provincial capital of Ben Tre and the district capital of Cai Be, 40 to 50 miles southwest of Saigon.

U.S. headquarters said the actions were part of a multibattalion operation under way since last Dec. 1. A spokesman said more than 4,200 Viet Cong have been killed in the operation and more than 2,350 captured. U.S. losses have been 148 killed and 1,366 wounded, he said.

Thailand's Black Panther Division reported 400 of its men repulsed an attack early Sunday by more than 1,000 Viet Cong only 18 miles east of Saigon. The defenders said at least 109 Viet Cong were killed and four captured.

Two Thais were killed and 19 wounded, the spokesman said. As the Viet Cong's spring offensive went into its 23rd day, about 30 rocket and mortar attacks were reported on allied bases and towns Sunday night. Two were followed by infantry assaults on American bases northeast of Saigon.

About 70 enemy soldiers hit a night bivouac of men from the 1st Air Cavalry Division 25 miles northeast of Saigon with machine guns, small arms and rocket-propelled grenades. Close-quarter fighting lasted three hours, and when it ended 10 Americans had been killed and 17 wounded. A sweep of the battlefield produced nine enemy bodies.

Twenty-eight miles to the northwest of Saigon, enemy soldiers fired 10 mortar rounds into a 25th Infantry Division bivouac, then followed with a ground attack, firing rocket-propelled grenades and small arms.

For two hours the Americans returned the fire, blazing away with .50-caliber machine guns mounted on armored personnel carriers. A sweep at dawn turned up the bodies of 30 North Vietnamese soldiers, U.S. headquarters said, while one American was wounded.

In another fight on Saigon's eastern flank, enemy troops attacked a South Vietnamese military district headquarters before dawn Sunday after firing 20 mortar rounds into it. Two of the 100 militia defenders were killed and seven were wounded.

Worst Aviation Disaster Ever

MARACAIBO, Venezuela (AP) — The VIASA airliner which crashed in a residential area Sunday at Maracaibo killing about 150 persons was the worst aviation disaster on record. Fifteen other crashes have claimed more than 100 lives: —134 killed when two planes collided over New York City, Dec. 16, 1960. —133 dead when a Japanese jetliner crashed in Tokyo Bay, Feb. 4, 1966. —130 killed when an Air France jet crashed at Orly Airport, Paris, June 3, 1962. —129 dead when a U.S. Army-chartered transport crashed in South Vietnam, Dec. 24, 1966. —129 servicemen killed when an Air Force transport crashed near Tokyo, June 18, 1953. —128 killed as two airliners collided and crashed into Grand Canyon, Ariz., June 30, 1956. —126 dead as a Swiss Britannia turboprop crashed in Nicosia, Cyprus, April 20, 1967. —124 killed when a British jetliner hit Mt. Fuji, Japan, March 5, 1966. —121 dead when a Pakistani airliner crashed near Cairo, May 20, 1965. —118 killed when a Canadian jetliner crashed in Quebec, Nov. 30, 1963. —117 dead when an Air India jet hit Mt. Blanc, Switzerland, Jan. 24, 1966. —113 dead when an Air France jet hit a hill in Guadeloupe, West Indies, June 22, 1962. —111 killed when a British airliner crashed at Douala, Cameroon, March 4, 1962. —107 dead when a transport en route to Vietnam crashed in the Western Pacific, March 16, 1962. —101 killed when a jetliner crashed in Juneau, Alaska, June 3, 1963.

Buddhist Leader Gets Another Five Years

SAIGON (AP) — A militant Buddhist leader already sentenced to 10 years at hard labor was convicted today of harboring and assisting deserters and draft dodgers. He was given a second sentence of five years in solitary confinement, to run concurrently with the other. The monk, Thich Thien Minh, did not attend today's trial, saying he was "too tired" and would accept whatever verdict the court handed down. His first sentence, for harboring conspirators and illegal possession of weapons, explosives, and communist documents was imposed Saturday. He had denied all the charges. The first trial brought a heated protest from the An Quang Buddhist sect, which called the verdict "unjust and inhuman." Thich Tri Quang, once the most powerful Buddhist leader in South Vietnam, emerged Sunday from two years of seclusion in a pagoda and accused the United States of helping President Nguyen Van Thieu repress Buddhists.

Tri Quang led the Buddhist movement which played a big part in the overthrow of President Ngo Dinh Diem's regime in 1963. Anti-Americanism has been a basic element of his political activity for years. Tri Quang and other Buddhist leaders published a resolution saying the government of Thieu, a Roman Catholic, is "using the support of foreigners to continue the program of Mr. Diem to destroy Buddhism with different and barbarous forms."

155 SAID DEAD IN VENEZUELAN AIR DISASTER

Burned-out Wreckage Combed for Bodies

MARACAIBO, Venezuela (AP) — The death toll in aviation's worst disaster reached 155 today as searchers combed through the wreckage of homes destroyed by the crash of a Venezuelan jetliner bound for Miami. Five more persons died today from injuries suffered when the big VIASA airline DC9 with 84 persons aboard plunged into a residential area Sunday and exploded minutes after taking off from Grano de Oro airport. All 74 passengers and 10 crew members, at least 47 of them U.S. citizens, were killed in the crash. Authorities estimated that at least 76 persons have perished on the ground and feared the total would increase as the grim search continues.

The DC9, powered by two turbofan engines mounted aft, had attained an altitude of only 150 feet when it faltered minutes after take off and plunged into a cluster of low cost homes in Maracaibo's La Trinidad and Ziruma districts. The area was quickly enveloped in flames. An airport official said the pilot reported no trouble and his last radio contact with the control tower was a routine request for permission to take off. The plane lifted off the end of the runway, climbed to about 150 feet, then suddenly lost altitude and went down. The explosion appeared to have occurred when one of the plane's turbines grazed a high tension wire.

Fifteen other air crashes have taken more than 100 lives. The previous worst aviation accident occurred Dec. 16, 1960, when two airliners collided over New York City, killing 134 passengers and persons on the ground. A policeman who was a witness said the plane lost altitude after taking off, hit a high tension pole, spun and fell in pieces on the residential districts of Ziruma and La Trinidad. The area on the outskirts of Maracaibo, Venezuela's principal oil center, is inhabited by about 15,000 Colombians, Venezuelans and Guajiro Indians. The plane had been in service only 10 days. The flight originated in Caracas, 330 miles to the east, and picked up more passengers in Maracaibo. The airline said there were 74 passengers and a crew of 10 aboard.

The cause of the crash was not known, but authorities said they had recovered the plane's "black box" flight recorder and were studying the last moments of the flight. It was not known whether the pilot radioed any distress signal before he went down. The 47 North Americans killed included five prize-winning salesmen for the Clark Equipment Co. of Battle Creek, Mich., and their wives. Their prizes had been vacations in Caracas. Also killed were three Venezuelan baseball figures — Nestor Isaias Chavez, a pitcher on his way to the San Francisco Giants' training camp in Tucson, Ariz.; Antonio Herrera, owner of the Venezuelan Cardenales de Lar club, and Carlos Santeliz, a player with the Cardenales.

Paratroopers Jump Into South Korea

YOJU, South Korea (AP) — Led by a two-star general and a Medal of Honor sergeant, 1,320 U.S. paratroopers leaped into South Korea today at the climax of an 8,500-mile trans-Pacific assault operation. It began five days of war games called Focus Retina.

The men of the 82nd Airborne Division were flown from Ft. Bragg, N.C., to the muddy reaches of the North Han River, 35 miles south of Seoul, in what the U.S. military said was the longest air operation in history. C141 Starliner jet transports ferried the first batch of 720 soldiers into the operations area from Okinawa, two and a half hours away. Delayed 24 hours by a snowstorm here Sunday, they completed the journey from North Carolina in close to 55 hours. Maj. Gen. John R. Deane Jr., their commander, and Sgt. 1. C. Charles D. Morris, who won the Medal of Honor in Vietnam, were the first to hit the silk as the gray parachutes dotted the sky.

While the airdrops were taking place, North Korea called a special meeting of the Military Armistice Commission at Panmunjom to demand the exercise be canceled. It was the second North Korean protest in a week. The U.S. delegate, Maj. Gen. James B. Knapp, rejected the North Korean demand. In a reference to a sharp increase of hostile North Korean action over the weekend in which seven Americans and a South Korean were killed, he said: "Your naked aggression convinces the United Nations Command that exercises such as Focus Retina will continue to be necessary to enable the U.N. Command to defeat aggression whenever and wherever it may come."

Before the paratroopers jumped, other C141s dropped the battalion's vehicles and 105mm howitzers into the area.

SEVERAL BANKS RAISE PRIME INTEREST RATE

NEW YORK (AP) — Several major banks increased their prime rate — the interest charged their biggest and most creditworthy borrowers — to 7½ percent from 7 percent today. The move, another in a series of increases in this rate, was initiated by Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York. It was quickly followed by Continental Illinois Bank & Trust Co. of Chicago, First Pennsylvania Banking & Trust Co. of Philadelphia, State Street Bank & Trust Co. of Boston and First National Bank of Chicago.

Judge Doubts Trial Would Have Helped

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The judge who received James Earl Ray's guilty plea says a number of questions about the Martin Luther King assassination were left outstanding. But he doubts that a trial by jury would have cleared the air. These views were expressed in an interview Sunday by Judge W. Preston Battle of Criminal Court, who last week sentenced Ray to 99 years in prison. Meanwhile Ray's lawyer, Percy Foreman of Houston, Tex., reiterated in a television interview his belief that "no other person, organization or group except James Earl Ray was concerned in the killing." Judge Battle remarked in his interview, "There has been much talk of a conspiracy, but no one saying so has yet produced a single shred of evidence or named an associate or conspirator."

"I would truly like to know how Ray actually found the spot from which to fire. How did Ray know where Rev. King would be? How did he determine the type of weapon to be used? What are the details of the actual purchase and selection of the weapon? Was he alone in surveillance of the Lorraine Motel? "Most puzzling of all is his escape from Memphis. To me, it seems miraculous that he was able to flee to Atlanta despite the all-points bulletins without his white Mustang being spotted on a highway." King, standing on a balcony of the motel, was shot last April 4 by a rifleman firing from a rooming house across the street.

'Fame' Raises Value of Town

SYLMAR, Calif. (AP) — The nostalgia felt by Hal Morris for his old town, Podunk Center, Iowa, is deepened by word that it's up for sale for $7,000. "I guess fame can sure raise the value of a town," said Morris, recalling it started for $1,500 and sold it three years later for $1,800. Morris, 64, was 29 when he quit his job with a Des Moines meat packing plant and bought an acre of land in 1934 without telling his wife. He built a general store, put in gas pumps and called it Podunk. The settlement now called Podunk Center is called "the hub of the world" by the present owner, Homer Weeks, but it's greatest population — 21 — was in the '30s. Podunk now boasts a four-unit motel as well as the store-cafe.

Israeli Planes Again Attack Guerrillas

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli warplanes attacked Jordan today for the second straight day, hitting suspected Arab guerrilla bases in the foothills of the Gilad Mountains southeast of the Sea of Galilee. An army spokesman said four or five planes strafed and bombed Arab gun positions that fired missiles at Israeli settlements in the area Sunday night, touching off an artillery duel. Earlier Sunday Israeli planes raided three big Arab guerrilla bases in Jordan. The Israeli army said all planes returned safely, but in Amman a spokesman for the Al Fatah guerrilla organization claimed its anti-aircraft guns downed six of the attacking jets. He said two crashed inside Jordan and the other four in Israeli territory. One of the targets was only six miles from Amman; it was the closest attack to the Jordanian capital since the 1967 war. A Jordanian spokesman said only civilian targets were hit, resulting in four dead and at least seven wounded. The Palestine Liberation Organization, the guerrilla coalition, said three guerrillas were killed and four wounded.

'Tis No Blarney, the Whole World's Dressed Up in Green

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Hundreds of Americans turned up for the St. Patrick's Day parade in Dublin. In Chicago, the Chicago River was dyed green for the occasion. At Grogan's restaurant in South Boston you could order anything you wanted, but what you got was corned beef and cabbage. They laughed in New York when told that Savannah, Ga., with a planned turnout of 10,000 or so, hoped to have the biggest parade in the country. The Ancient Order of Hibernians, sponsor of the New York parade, counted on 345 contingents totaling 27,000 marchers, including 161 bands. It was New York's 207th annual show in honor of the saint who drove the snakes from the Emerald Isle. Prominent marchers in Dublin were Bobby Shriver, 14, and his sister Maria, 13, whose mother is Mrs. Sargent Shriver, sister of the late President John F. Kennedy. The Irish tourist board said

Americans were on hand in record numbers and that 400 of them were marching in the parade. The biggest single group, 200, came from Albany, N.Y. Ireland's 86-year-old president, Eamon De Valera, issued a message of "good wishes to all our kinsfolk and friends beyond the seas." Prime Minister Jack Lynch pledged his government would "promote the reunification of Ireland." At the moment, the six counties of Northern Ireland are separated from the republic. As a symbolic protest against this situation, the New York parade marchers were ordered to wear black armbands. Said Michael Delehanty of Montclair, N.J., national president of the Hibernians fraternal organization: "It is about time that the world paid some attention to the discrimination and suppression of religious and economic freedom in the six counties of Northern Ireland." Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley enlisted William Jones, lord mayor of Waterford, Ireland, to help him lead the big annual parade from the green-dyed Chicago River down the mercantile artery of State Street. Waterford is the home town of Daley's paternal grandparents, and he visited there in 1964. William P. Fay, Ireland's ambassador to Washington, had a fresh shamrock flown in from the old country for President Nixon. The shamrock was policed for presentation in a vase engraved with a view of the White House and carrying the inscription: "The White House, designed by James Hoban of Ireland." Mrs. Fay had an illustrated book about Ireland as a gift for Mrs. Nixon. The President's wife, whose maiden name was Ryan, decided to call St. Patrick's Day her birthday, although actually she was 56 Sunday. In South Boston, which many Irish Americans regard as a second capital of Elre, everybody was declared Irish for the day, including those from such outlying counties as Sligo, Fermanagh, Louth and Antrim. In Madison, Wis., the Irish Students Association of the University of Wisconsin marked the day by issuing a list of demands. They said they wanted the English language replaced by Gaelic in classrooms, lime juice instead of orange juice in the cafeteria dispensing machines, and one administration building painted green.

One Solid Fact About Smoking Pot: It's Illegal, May Lead to Prison

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

One indisputable fact every teen-ager should know about marijuana is that it's against the law.

Under federal statutes, mere possession of the drug for personal use in a felony. Conviction can mean two to ten years in prison, loss of civil rights and a criminal record that will dog you for the rest of your life.

Some state laws are even more severe.

Recently, federal law was changed imposing stiff penalties for simply having LSD on your person, or for possessing pep pills, barbiturates or tranquilizers unless they had personally been prescribed for you. Laws governing illegal manufacture, sale and distribution of various mind-influencing drugs also were made more severe.

"I've had to pick up the pieces of boys and girls in trouble from using drugs," says a psychiatrist at a well known university, "and it isn't pleasant."

How many youths are getting into health trouble through mind-drug use isn't known. (Abuse of alcohol, which affects the brain, has resulted in six million alcoholics.)

YOUTHS EASILY HARMED

YOUNG PEOPLE are more easily harmed than their elders by hallucinogenic and other drugs, partly because they have "a yet-uncrystallized system of personality," a psychiatrist says.

"The kids who shouldn't use drugs are the ones most likely to do so and to become hurt," says Dr. Martin D. Kleber, Yale psychiatrist.

"It's possible you can use some drug and be one of the seven or eight out of 10 who won't get hurt. But do you know whether you won't be the odd man out? With LSD, you don't know but what one trip might cause damage," he adds.

While most people who smoke pot occasionally do so with no apparent harm, physicians have reported some instances of bad reactions, such as "having the horrors" for several hours afterward.

Reactions also vary because the refusers available to most youngsters vary in potency—and some are simply nothing but some weed, others may be laced with a stronger drug.

Pot is insidious because it creates a false sense of well-being due to impairment of critical judgment, says Dr. Abraham Wikler, University of Kentucky psychiatrist. Marijuana and LSD make it possible to avoid problems, to evade reality, he says, but "real life requires critical judgment."

"We don't know the answers to questions about the long-term use of marijuana," says Dr. John C. Ball, sociologist formerly with the U.S. Public Health Service's Addiction Research Center in Lexington, Ky., and now at Temple University. "We don't have good information on college students who use it daily for four years or so."

In some countries abroad, like North Africa where more powerful hashish is available, there are "skid rows" of habitues using the drug regularly. They are vagabonds, withdrawn from society, some of them mentally disturbed. Whether the drug actually caused this is argued by medical people.

LSD A BIGGER RISK

THE HEALTH casualty rate from LSD is far higher and more apparent than from marijuana. Bad trips or freak-outs have sent a small parade of youths to hospitals with panic reactions, or with psychotic episodes that last days, weeks or months.

At New York City's Bellevue Hospital, more than 130 patients were treated for LSD-induced psychoses in an 18-month period, says Dr. Donald B. Louria, president of the New York State Council on Drug Addiction. Even after treatment, one-sixth of them were not sent home, but on to other institutions for more prolonged treatment.

Similar figures are reported by medical groups in other areas of the country.

Curiously, some LSD users have "flashbacks"—they relive a former LSD trip, good or bad, weeks or many months later. When this happens, some wonder if they are losing their minds. This may imply that LSD can set off some chronic process in the human brain.

LSD has driven a few persons to intentional suicide. Fantasies inspired with LSD have led others to death by jumping out windows or walking on highways in the belief they could fly, or had become invisible.

"The trouble with LSD is that once they've taken it, people are not objective anymore—they don't see themselves accurately anymore," says one drug authority.

"It is inadvisable for an individual who takes even one dose of LSD to make a major decision about himself for at least three months," says the director of one university's health services.

Hazards In Other Drugs

THE CLAIM that LSD sessions lead to creativity in art, music or writing is not supported by most objective observers. Many say the work produced during a session is shoddy, or that after a trip the person doesn't produce anything from the visions and insights prompted by the drug.

Enthusiasm for LSD has cooled since scientific reports began appearing that the drug may damage a person's chromosomes—the carriers of hereditary traits.

This could mean that people who use or have used LSD might produce babies with congenital defects, although there is no proof yet that LSD actually does have such effects.

Other mind drugs are not always as safe as devotees may picture them.

Morning glory seeds have caused psychotic reactions, delirium and anxiety in some young persons. Peyote has been blamed for or associated with anxiety and other reactions.

Barbiturates and sedatives cause numerous deaths, especially when mixed with other drugs or with alcohol, or because the person forgets how much of the drug he has already taken.

And some people become psychologically dependent upon pep pills to start out each day, in college, or in their careers. Large doses used to stay awake can induce dangerous delusions, as in one truck driver who thought someone was chasing him with a gun. He wrecked his truck.

State Traffic Toll Hits 87, 83 Below 1968

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The death of an Indiana serviceman in a one-car accident Saturday boosted Minnesota's 1969 traffic toll to 87, compared with 170 during the same period last year.

The victim, Spec. 4 Michael Miller, 19, Whiting, Ind., was stationed at the Nike missile base near Isanti. He was killed when the car he was driving ran off Highway 95 six miles west of Princeton and hit a tree.

A passenger in the car, Spec. 4 Donald Nelson, 20, Priest River, Idaho, was hospitalized in serious condition in Minneapolis.

A two-car accident in Minneapolis late Friday claimed the life of a Twin Cities woman, Mary A. Thyssel, 54, was dead on arrival at Fairview Hospital in Minneapolis.

Discusses Dairy Cattle Nutrition

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)

—Farm families in the Building Rural Agriculture program participated in a Dairy Herd Improvement Association meeting at Whitehall Thursday. Feature of the program was a talk by Allan Bringe, University extension dairy science specialist. Bringe explained how feeds are used by the dairy cow and how various rations affect rumen activity and milk and butterfat production.

Building rural agriculture is an educational program designed to help young farm families achieve improved farm income. It was developed by the Western Dairyland Economic Opportunity Council, a community action agency working in Buffalo, Eau Claire, Jackson and Trempealeau counties. Twelve families currently are involved.

All the families have dairy farms and are keeping DHIA records under sponsorship of the WDEOC. At their next meeting Thursday, they will study the usefulness of their DHIA records in improving milk production through correct feeding, breeding and culling practices.

The families receive intensive on-farm instruction through a farm management aide employed by the council. University extension assists in the group educational meetings held twice monthly.

Warmer Weather This Week

A St. Patrick's Day touch of green was evident in numerous sheltered grassy areas around Winona today in the wake of retreating snow banks shrunk by temperatures pushed to unseasonably high levels under a bright sun.
The thaw was accelerated Sunday when the mercury rose to an afternoon high of 47 and, after dropping to only 29 overnight, it was on the climb again this morning under cloudless skies.
Today's noon reading was 51. A low of between 26 and 34 is predicted for tonight and a high of 36-48 Tuesday. Temperatures Wednesday will be near normal and no important precipitation is likely.

More of the same kind of weather is in prospect for the remainder of the week.
The extended forecast calls for temperatures to average 5 to 11 degrees above the normal high and low of 41 and 23 from Tuesday through Saturday.
Even more appealing to flood-conscious area residents is the forecast of little if any precipitation during the next five days.
It's expected that less than a tenth of an inch of precipitation will be measured through Saturday.

Army to Contract Dike Building Job

A resolution asking the Army Corps of Engineers to help Winona build emergency flood dikes will be presented to the City Council for action tonight.
The resolution is the outcome of a meeting Saturday night between city officials and Army Corps of Engineers officials.
Under a newly expanded policy, the corps offered to assume nearly full responsibility for construction of dikes against an anticipated flood that may go as high as a record-breaking 21-foot level. The city must furnish pumping equipment and is trying to obtain corps assistance in paying rental costs.
CORPS officials are expected to take over and renegotiate the city's conditional contract with Winona Excavating Co., let last week by the council. The bid price, lowest of three submitted, was $14,905. It called for

Hershey Pushes Into St. Paul

ST. PAUL (AP) — The 1969 Mississippi River navigation season in St. Paul opened earlier than usual this morning with the scheduled arrival of the J. W. Hershey from St. Louis, Mo.
The Hershey, a tow with six loaded coal barges and two empty barges, passed through Lake Pepin at Red Wing, Minn., late Sunday afternoon and had open water from there on.
The tow was slowed somewhat when it had to smash through 6 to 12 inches of ice in Lake Pepin.
Navigation on the river in St. Paul usually opens between March 20 and April 1.

supplying and compacting of 10,350 cubic yards of fill material and construction of emergency dikes to a 20-foot height.
The council will reject all bids and allow the corps to take over supervision and construction responsibilities at corps expense. The city's contract with Winona Excavating provided that work would not begin until and unless authorized by the council and city administration.
For its part the city must furnish to the corps all rights of way and necessary easements relating to the dike project. The city also must pay for the fill used, at the rate of 10 cents per cubic yard, and must furnish such unskilled labor as is needed. City Manager Carroll J. Fry estimated the cost of fill roughly at from $7,000 to $9,000.

SANDBAGS, beyond the 75,000 the city has on hand, will be furnished by the corps. The city must furnish sand, however, and the labor to fill and emplace the bags, Fry said. Some sand already is being stockpiled, he noted.
Once the dikes are in place the city must patrol, maintain and, if necessary, repair them at its own expense, Fry said. Corps officials said work will begin Tuesday morning.
Higher dikes are being planned by the corps, Fry said. They will be built up to 23 feet to hold back a 21-foot stage with two feet of freeboard. The city's original plan called for 20-foot dikes designed to withstand an 18-foot stage.
City departments already are being geared up for the project. Fry said city street and park personnel will supply some of the labor force needed and that the water department will furnish men experienced in handling large pumps. A consignment of five pumps was expected to arrive today.

Highway 43 Hearing Set For April 16

A public hearing on social, economic and environmental effects of proposed rebuilding of Highway 43 south of Winona will be held April 16 at 1:30 p.m. at the Winona YMCA community room.

The hearing will be conducted by personnel of the State Highway Department district engineer's office. The route under discussion will be Highway 43, from the intersection with Highway 61-14 to Wilson.
Remodeling plans call for a 4-lane divided highway with limited access. Right of way will have to be acquired for the entire route and roadway locations will be reviewed. Alternate plans will be discussed at the open hearing. Tentative schedules for right of way acquisition and construction also are on the discussion agenda.
State and federal programs of assistance for persons displaced by right of way will be explained. Highway engineers indicated last year in general reviews of the proposal that some residential property may be taken for the new right of way.

Maps and other data relating to the project are open to public inspection at the department's district office, on Highway 52 just north of Rochester.
Oral or written statements may be submitted for the record. Written statements, if they are to be included in the record, must be submitted to the department no later than April 30, addressed to the district office, Box 1009, Rochester.

Fire Destroys Trailer Near Fountain City

FOUNTAIN CITY, Wis. (Special) — Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a 10-by-50-foot trailer home and all its contents on Canada Ridge about 10 miles east of Fountain City Sunday evening.
The owner, David Schaffner, 20, his wife and two children weren't at home. It was parked on a farm belonging to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Schaffner, who live on the home place in Eagle Valley about 1 1/2 miles west of where the fire occurred.
David Neitzel, who lives in the area, discovered the fire when he drove by and put in the alarm. Fountain City firemen arrived quickly and stayed on the scene for about two hours, protecting the barn, house and other buildings.
Origin of the fire is undetermined. When Neitzel spotted the flames they were coming out of the bedroom area.
No estimate of the loss has been made. Some insurance was carried. Boxes where money may be contributed to help the family purchase clothes and other necessities have been placed at St. John's United Church of Christ, First State Bank and Prussing & Son, Fountain City.
Mr. Schaffner is employed on the U.S. Dredge Thompson

Maps and other data relating to the project are open to public inspection at the department's district office, on Highway 52 just north of Rochester.
Oral or written statements may be submitted for the record. Written statements, if they are to be included in the record, must be submitted to the department no later than April 30, addressed to the district office, Box 1009, Rochester.

Retarded Child Group to See Animated Film

An animated film, "World of the Right Size," will be shown at the Wednesday evening meeting of the Winona County Association for Retarded Children in the library of Washington-Kosciusko School. The meeting, open to the public, begins at 8.
The program chairman said the film stresses the idea that each retarded person should be accepted as an individual. It also explains the varying degrees of mental retardation and describes the learning potentials of the mentally retarded. An open discussion will follow.
Mrs. Robert Evans, Mrs. John Drakowski, Mrs. James Cole and Mrs. Jerry Blaisdell will have their special education classrooms open for any interested persons.
The nominating committee will present its slate of officers for the coming year.

Driver Opens Garage

Police investigated three accidents Sunday, none of which involved personal injury.
At 2:03 a.m., according to Mrs.

Robert C. Follmann, 628 Main St., went through an overhead door of a garage at the rear of 768 E. Broadway and crashed into a parked car owned by Theodore Bambenek, of that address, also owner of the garage.
Damage was estimated at $500 to the front of the Follmann vehicle, a 1966 model sedan, $500 to the front and rear of Bambenek's 1962 model sedan and $500 to the garage.

No Decision On Rebuilding At St. Charles

ST. CHARLES, Minn. — Officials of the Farmers Union Grain Terminal Association here are waiting word from GTA headquarters in St. Paul on the losses in a fire which destroyed a "carry-over" storage elevator here Thursday.

The decision on whether to rebuild has not yet been made.
The book value of the supplies stored in the structure is about $10,000, according to Manager Harry Page. Examiners finished their study of the damage Saturday and the findings are being studied by the state officials of the cooperative. No cause has been determined.
The structure, the oldest elevator building in St. Charles, was 80 feet high and measured 90 by 40 feet. It contained 8,000 to 10,000 bushels of oats, 10 tons of bagged fertilizer and 500 bales of twine in addition to a seed cleaner and seed treater. The supplies would have been moved out when field work started.
The decision to rebuild also will be made by the St. Paul office.

"We hope they plan to replace the building," Page said. "There has been no word yet."
The fire had not affected the operation of the business here as it was just a storage structure. The main office and other buildings, including a warehouse and 10 10,000-bushel storage tanks, are a short distance from the building that was destroyed.

Spring Grove Man, Hurt by Tractor, Showing Gains

SPRING GROVE, Minn. (Special) — Palmer Ovestrud, 37, Spring Grove, was moved from the intensive care section at Lutheran Hospital, La Crosse, Saturday night where he had been a patient since Tuesday when he received a crushing fracture to his right leg above the ankle when he was pinned by a tractor.
He was at home alone and operating the tractor in the barnyard about 10 a.m. when it tipped. The steering arm landed across the leg.
His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ovestrud, who had been away, returned to the farm 10 or 15 minutes after the accident and found him. Charles Peterson, Baldwin and Gary Hanson, James and Alfred Hagen, neighbors, rushed to the rescue, lifted the tractor off, a doctor came, and he was in the hospital by noon.
Doctors have wired the fracture and applied a cast from toes to above the knee.

Reinhardt Kohner Named Mayor Of Rollingstone

ROLLINGSTONE, Minn. — Reinhardt Kohner, member of the Rollingstone Village Council, has been appointed mayor succeeding Herb Speltz Sr., resigned.
Miles Vaughn has been appointed to his place on the council. Both appointments were by the council and will take place immediately. Clerk Cy Speltz said.

Police estimated damage at $150 to the rear of Grove's 1963 model sedan and $100 to the right front of Todd's car, a 1966 model.

City Officially Protests North Central Move

An answer has been filed by the City of Winona with the Civil Aeronautics Board in response to a petition by North Central Airlines for early abandonment of direct service at Max Conrad Field.
North Central, in a petition lodged early in February, asked that the city be required to show cause why its scheduled air service should not be rendered through the La Crosse airport. Data presented to support the North Central case showed a decline in passenger boardings here and held that the station is economically unjustified.

THE CITY'S reply, filed last Thursday by City Attorney George M. Robertson Jr., charges North Central with omitting substantial information about revenues from freight, express and mail from its petition. Rail service is steadily declining, the reply notes, and this will produce even more demand for passenger service.
A reduction of service here by North Central has helped speed the decline in passenger boardings and revenues, Robertson wrote. Boardings dropped sharply after North Central dropped an evening Chicago-Minneapolis flight stop here in October and substituted a late-night flight from Chicago that terminates here.
Winona's air service should be consolidated with that of Rochester, if at all, the reply states. Winona has no compact with La Crosse for joint service at present and moreover will be within 40 minutes driving time of the Rochester airport once Interstate 90 is completed across Winona County, it says.

Navy Recruiting Hours Changed

New office hours effective immediately for the U.S. Navy Recruiting Branch Station here are from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m., Monday through Friday, and from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturdays.
The Winona recruiting station is in the Exchange Building. Immediate openings are available for regular enlistments or in the delay program for men 17 to 26 years of age and women 18 to 26, said Chief Ivel Humphries.

Endorsement of a Minnesota Education Association (MEA) recommendation for a statewide withholding of public school teachers' contracts as a measure to resolve stalemates in 1969-70 contract negotiations throughout the state was voted Saturday by representatives of Southeastern Minnesota teacher bargaining councils at a meeting in Rochester.
More than 100 local council representatives attended the meeting at which Roger Erskine, an MEA field representative, discussed the recent stand of the MEA board of directors in trying to resolve a stalemate which finds 302 impasse situations among the state's 452 school districts.
ERSKINE said that it was the position of the MEA directors that teachers should immediately withdraw from adjustment panel proceedings until there have been "meaningful negotiations between the local school board and teacher negotiation council."
Unless this action is taken, Erskine asserted, "schools

U.S. Prisoner Suspected in Store Holdup

Winona police have filed a "detainer" on a 22-year-old Twin Cities man under treatment in a federal narcotics treatment hospital who is a suspect in the attempted holdup of the Ted Maier Drugs downtown store last Dec. 10.

Chief James McCabe, who withheld the name of the man until a warrant is served, said the man has been positively identified as the one who held Linda Pearson, a drugstore employee, at knifepoint while attempting to force a pharmacist to give him drugs.
The robbery attempt was foiled, however, when another employee approached and Miss Pearson twisted from the man's grasp. The man then fled the scene.

McCabe said the identity of the holdup man was revealed in a cooperative investigation by Winona police detective division, the state crime bureau, Hennepin County sheriff's office and St. Paul police department.

The man is currently under treatment in the Federal Medical Center, Lexington, Ky., and will be served with a Winona warrant after his treatment is completed.

Youth Caught In Gas Station

A 15-year-old Winona youth was apprehended by police at 12:03 a.m. today inside Darrell's Standard Service station, 1777 W. Service Dr.

Chief James McCabe said an unidentified person had telephoned police and told them of the break-in. The youth has been turned over to juvenile authorities, said McCabe.

Mrs. Gerhard Schroeder, Sugar Loaf Apartments, reported Saturday the theft of two sleeping bags worth $40 from a basement storage bin in the apartment house. They were taken Friday night, she said.

Trucker Fined

Richard Pozanc, 655 45th Ave., Goodview, was fined $50 Saturday by Justice of the Peace Lewis Albert after pleading guilty to a charge of 2,700 pounds over truck weight. He was arrested by Winona County sheriff's department at 11:35 a.m. Saturday on Highway 17.

Cabin Burglarized

Mrs. Conrad Fossum, Rochester, reported to Sheriff George Fort Sunday the theft of miscellaneous camping and fishing equipment from her cabin located on the south branch of the Whitewater. Missing were two sleeping bags, two pairs of hip boots, a Coleman lantern and fishing equipment. The items were taken, according to Fort, sometime after Christmas.

by CAB as to what its response will be, City Manager Carroll J. Fry said today. He said Sen. Walter Mondale and Cong. Albert Quie are keeping in close touch with CAB officials on the matter.

The CAB either may grant the North Central petition or call for a full hearing on the matter. The later course would mean that several months would pass before further action is taken.

Teachers Unit Asks Contract Withholding

boards of this state under the direction of the Minnesota School Boards Association (MSBA) will be able to turn over their legal responsibilities to negotiate in good faith with teachers to adjustment panels which are established only as mediating and fact-finding groups.
Erskine charged that rather than negotiating with teachers "as co-partners in the task of furthering quality education for children and youth in their districts in areas such as curriculum development and improvement of instructions, local boards of education have, instead, followed dictates of the MSBA and limited their negotiations to the one topic of salaries."

while, the Winona School Board and Winona Teachers Council were to meet again tonight in a continuation of contract negotiations that have been in progress since late in November.
During the 3 1/2 months of discussion, agreement has been reached on about a dozen of the contract matters presented by the teachers for negotiation during the bargaining sessions.
A new teachers' salary schedule and a request for extended family hospitalization benefits remain as the two major points at issue in the negotiations.
The teachers have requested appointment of a mediation panel which, however, will not be convened until board and council agree that there appears to be no likelihood of reaching mutual agreement on all outstanding issues.

NEW YORK — After I'd been talking to a beautiful girl with a British accent for about 15 minutes at the opening of the new Jockey Club, I turned to my Beautiful Wife and said, "I can't stand it any longer. Who am I talking to?"

"Tammy Grimes, you idiot!" she said. Turning back swiftly I remarked, "Oh, Tammy, as I was saying . . . I really believe, and hate to admit it, that men do get to an age when all girls look alike to them. Tammy and I were soon on excellent terms again and she said as she twirled her white aviator type scarf around her neck: "Earl, would you find me a duplex or triplex apartment on the East Side in the 60s?"

"Suppose some man wants to sponsor you?" Tammy shrugged. "Let's see what happens." There was other brilliant conversation such as: (Between men): "I love your pocket hanky. What is it, velvet?" "What's the difference between pants and culottes?" "Pants display everything from top to bottom — especially the bottom — and under culottes you can hide a lot."

Lady Senator Fights to Liberalize Abortion Law

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — A lady senator who is fighting to liberalize Iowa's century-old abortion law says the sharp comments of critics "shook me up at first, but I've become hardened to them."

For example, a recent letter to state Sen. Minnette Dederer began: "Senator Dederer: You are a murderer!" The letter from a constituent went on to voice opposition typical of many to the campaign by the 45-year-old mother of two children.

The blonde senator so far has been unsuccessful in efforts to convince fellow legislators—most of them men—that the state's ban on practically all abortions should be relaxed.

But Mrs. Dederer—Iowa's Democratic national committee-woman and a scrappy fighter who lists her occupation as "legislator"—isn't giving up her fight to make abortion a decision of the woman and her doctor.

"I don't really know how I feel about abortion," she says. "I would never have an abortion and I would never urge one on another person."

"I just don't believe the state has the right to make the decision about abortion for a woman."

She calls Iowa's present law "barbaric" and supports a measure which would have made abortions legal if pregnancy endangered the health or life of a woman, was caused by rape or incest, or if doctors concluded the infant would be born with serious mental or physical defects.

The bill was defeated by a close vote in the Republican-

News Guild Will Support Reporter

ST. PAUL (AP)—Twin Cities Newspaper Guild Atty. Francis Helgesen was authorized by the guild Sunday to file a friend of the court brief in behalf of a reporter's appeal of a contempt of court citation for refusing to divulge confidential news sources.

Donald Giese, St. Paul Pioneer Press reporter, was given a 90-day sentence after he refused to name news sources at a Hennepin County District Court hearing for a new trial in the Eugene Thompson murder case.

Judge Douglas Amdahl stayed the sentence pending an appeal to the Minnesota Supreme Court.

The friend of the court brief will be in support of Giese's appeal being prepared by former Assistant U. S. Atty. Sidney Abramson.

The guild, which represents about 1,300 employees of Minneapolis and St. Paul newspapers, Sunday also announced its support of pending state legislation which would give newsmen the right to withhold identification of confidential news sources.

3-County CAC to Meet Thursday

WABASHA, Minn. (Special)—The annual meeting of the Goodhue-Rice-Wabasha Citizens Action Council will be held Thursday at 8 p.m. in the REA building at Zumbrota. Officers will be elected and plans and priorities for the year will be discussed.

The governing board is composed of 45 members, one-third of whom are elected officials in the three counties or their representatives, and one-third each from private groups and groups to be served.

Representatives of the group to be served were elected at caucuses held in the three counties early in March.

Paulucci Requests State Study for Fair Tax System

DULUTH, Minn. (AP)—Duluth industrialist Jeno F. Paulucci Saturday called for a state-financed study to determine a fair system of taxation in north-eastern Minnesota.

Paulucci challenged Gov. Harold LeVander to keep his promise of fair taxation, and said crushing tax burdens have stirred rumblings of discontent, distrust and "tax rebellion" among wage earners on the Iron Range.

The food products firm head also cautioned taconite and mining industries of impending trouble on the range "unless they assume their obligations."

University Coed Fights Ordinance

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A blonde and shapely 23-year-old University of Minnesota sociology major is spearheading a one-woman protest that could have Carrie Nation creak in her coffin.

Judy Jarosak, a brainy 5-foot-9 beauty who's been a cocktail waitress in the Twin Cities for almost eight years, believes women here can pour a gin-and-tonic as well as men.

This week she plans to violate a city ordinance which allows only the wife of a licensee to get behind the bar.

She's got the backing of her boss, Ron Bergland, owner of a psychedelic tap room called "The Red Baron."

And, most important, the Minnesota Civil Liberties Union—recent defenders of male school youths who sport shoulder-length tresses—will defend her if she is arrested.

Aid Officials Upset By Too-Tight Strings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Foreign aid officials are chafing under what they consider to be too-tight strings on how they dispense dollars to developing countries.

The strings are being kept taut by the Treasury Department, whose secretary heads the Cabinet committee responsible for curbing the U.S. balance of payments drain.

The situation has produced a running conflict between specialists of the aid-administering Agency for International Development and of the Treasury Department.

So far disagreements involving particular aid programs have been settled on a case by case basis, officials say. But the arguments go on. Specifically at issue is the application of this policy to the general purpose aid loans designed to help countries improve their foreign exchange position and make local economic improvements.

Under the balance of payments injunction, AID has droned up "positive lists" of U.S. goods for which the aid-receiving countries must spend the money from the U.S. loans.

The lists are confined to American products not already bought widely in those countries.

Treasury and Commerce Department specialists see the positive lists as a tool for promoting new U.S. exports and preventing aid-receiving countries from buying, with U.S. aid funds, the American goods they would otherwise purchase anyway with their own money. They say this helps reduce the U.S. balance of payments drain.

AID takes a dimmer view of the system, on grounds that it damages the overseas assistance program more than the dollar drain savings are worth. Officials say it has caused particular problems recently in loan programs for Chile, Bolivia and Colombia. AID specialists contend that: —Tying AID money to the positive list forces aid-receiving countries to buy U.S. goods which are not internationally competitive and may cost 10 to 40 per cent more than like items from foreign suppliers. Thus the U.S. taxpayer is not getting as much out of his AID dollars.

—The most effective way for an aid-receiving country to meet positive list requirements is through using import and exchange controls. But this conflicts with U.S. policy favoring freer trade.

DEAR ABBY:

Hubby Too Fond Of Sister-in-Law

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a husband who says there is nothing wrong with being overly friendly with his sister-in-law? He says the Eskimos do this. Is this true or would I tell him that he is crazy? I answer all his needs every time he asks me. Thank you very much. WORRIED

Abby

DEAR WORRIED: Tell your husband that the Eskimos stopped that practice a long time ago, and that if you ever catch him so much as rubbing noses with another woman he'll get a freezing out like no Eskimo ever had.

DEAR ABBY: I am 25 years old and I'm engaged to a man I'll call "Frank" who is 28. We have known each other a long time, but we have been engaged only two months. Before the engagement we didn't discuss having a family, which was a mistake.

Now Frank tells me that he would like to have four or five children. Maybe I'm selfish, but I don't want any.

Abby, I have absolutely no patience with children, and knowing myself as I do, I wouldn't make a very good mother.

Frank and I love each other, but this has become a big issue. Please don't tell me that I should have one, because I will feel different about my own child. I really don't want the work and responsibility of children. Maybe I'm peculiar, but I don't think they're worth it. So what is your advice? TROUBLED

DEAR TROUBLED: Tell Frank that unless he sees it your way, he'd better find another girl. I agree, you'd probably make a poor mother, but I admire your honesty.

DEAR ABBY: Tell "Wants Marriage" that a common law marriage is as legal as one in which a minister has nuptial a few words over the couple. And a man is all wet if he thinks he can escape the responsibility of marriage by not going through a ceremony. He has a legal duty to support the woman, and any children they may have. And the children will be considered legitimate, too!

If a man wants to get rid of a common law wife, he must divorce her in the courts, as there is no such thing as a "common law divorce." And if a man tries to give a woman the old line about a "trial" period of living together, it won't work because when a man and woman present themselves to the world as man and wife—they ARE! At least that's the way it is in Texas. LAWYER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Thank you! And if your husband ever finds out who you are, you'll catch it for "practicing" law without a license.

DEAR ABBY: A 13-year-old child wrote that her grandfather is 82 years old and has had 23 children—the youngest being 10!

I hope he is able to feed them all. When will these aged men learn to seek other things to do than to father a child at age 60, 70, and 80? Don't they realize that a child needs a father—not a grandfather, to bring him up? It's nauseating. They try to keep up with teen-agers. Then they drop dead. It's just not fair to our future generation. There's no doubt about it, these men are having dementias and need a physician's help. Sign me . . . ANOTHER 13-YEAR-OLD (Studying to be an M.D.)

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Irish Students Celebrate by Making Demands

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The Irish Students Association opened its St. Patrick's Day festivities Sunday by issuing a list of demands.

The demands, handed to the university, include replacing English with the Gaelic tongue in classroom instruction, serving of lime juice instead of orange juice in cafeteria dispensing machines, and having an administration building, Bascom Hall, painted green.

Karon O'Callaghan, vice president of the association, said that unless the demands are accepted, students will sit in class and stare coldly at their instructors.

Six Killed In Accidents In Wisconsin

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Weekend accidents claimed six lives on Wisconsin roads, raising the state's 1969 traffic fatality figure to 127 today compared with 198 on the same date in 1968, a record year for highway deaths in the state.

Robert C. Bruce, 10, of rural Eau Claire died Sunday when struck by a car while he was riding a bicycle on a road south of Eau Claire.

Snowmobile Clubs Asked to Aid Regulation

ANTIGO, Wis. (AP) — A sponsor of legislation for regulating snowmobiles has urged the newly organized Association of Wisconsin Snowmobile Clubs to take a leading role in the trend toward supervision of the growing sport.

Assemblyman Paul Alfonsi, R-Minocqua, told the first meeting of the association during the weekend that the snowmobile industry should seek to smooth out flaws in the proposed legislation, but should not fight it.

The group's rules committee recommended rejection Saturday of state registration of snowmobiles. Delegates later voted 26-16 in favor of registration of pleasure snowmobiles.

The delegates agreed, however, there is no need to register motorized sleds engaged in sanctioned races.

The committee had said registration might lead to what it called inconvenient rules, and cited a new state law requiring motorcycles to wear helmets.

The new association represents about 30 clubs having 4,500 members. About 130 persons attended Saturday's meeting.

Myron Merrick of Minocqua was elected president.

Mike Smith of Green Bay was named vice president, Jack Armstrong of Eagle River was elected secretary, and Mrs. Sandra Ahborn of Arbor Vitae was named treasurer.

DELEGATES expressed concern about having the Department of Natural Resources handle snowmobiles regulation, saying state-level collection of registration fees would go to a general fund which proceeds would be distributed on a population basis.

This, they said, would send the funds to southern counties instead of to the less-populated northern counties in snowmobile country.

Delegates recommended having any registration fees collected and distributed at the county level.

Former Osseo Man Sentenced

OSSEO, Wis.—Van R. Adams, 23, La Crosse, formerly of Osseo, pleaded guilty in Eau Claire Circuit Court Friday afternoon to forging a $38 check at an Eau Claire supermarket July 23.

Judge Merrill R. Farr withheld sentence and placed Adams on probation to the state Department of Health and Social Services for two years. As conditions of his probation the judge ordered Adams to spend the first six months in jail and make restitution.

District Attorney Lawrence W. Durling told the court Adams, James Alt and a man named Bernie met in a local tavern and agreed on a scheme to forge Alt's mother's name on checks to get some money.

They met the following day and traveled around the area, taking turns in forging Mrs. Harva Klutich's name on checks Alt had stolen from her.

At a supermarket they bought $35 in merchandise and received $3 in change. Alt was sentenced to a one-year prison term on a similar charge in July. He was the state's chief witness at Adams' last month. Neither Alt nor Adams could identify the third man.

Patrick Doyle, La Crosse, attorney for Adams, said he is on parole from prison after he received a three-year sentence in La Crosse May 30, 1968, on a charge of taking a car without the owner's consent.

The first navigation law in England, regulating shipping and navigation, was passed in 1381.

In County in 1968 Cancer Society Says 73 Died of Disease

The Winona County unit of the American Cancer Society will conduct its annual drive for funds in April, observed nationally as Cancer Control Month.

Dennis L. Cleveland, assistant cashier, Merchants National Bank, is chairman of the 1969 crusade. Mrs. Alan R. Nelson will be chairman of the city crusade and Mrs. James Hansen and Mrs. Earl Flatness are co-chairmen of the Goodview area.

STATISTICS show that 73 deaths in Winona County in 1968 were caused by cancer.

There now are 200 cancer cases under medical care in the county and an estimated 151 new cancer cases will be discovered in Winona County this year. Cancer was responsible for one-sixth of all deaths in Winona County in 1968.

The seven warning signals: Unusual bleeding or discharge; a lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere; a sore that does not heal; change in bowel or bladder habits; hoarseness or cough; indigestion or difficulty in swallowing; change in a wart or mole. Additional statistics: Six out of 24 people get cancer; 3 die because of uncontrollable cancer; 1 finds out too late and dies and 2 find out early enough, and are saved.

THE WINONA County unit has the following help available free of charge: Emergency transportation; 2 hospital beds, 1 set bed rails, 1 portable commode, 1 over-bed-side table, 1 adjustable aluminum walker, 1 humidifier, 1 wheelchair and dressings.

Other officers of the local group: Vice president for volunteer activities, Mrs. Donald Schneider; secretary, Mrs. R. Peter Roehl; treasurer, Max Bunn; education chairman, Mrs. Chester Breitenfeldt; service chairman, Mrs. Leonard Kulas Jr.

Publicity chairman, Mrs. Richard J. Renk; memorial chairman, Mrs. George Joyce; medical adviser, Dr. L. F. Johnson; dental adviser, Dr. Curtis A. Rohrer; clergy, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. James Habiger, and area service contact, Henry Winter.

Two Charged With Burglaries In Fillmore Co.

LANESBORO, Minn. (Special) — Fillmore County Sheriff Carl Fann was to take two young men before Justice Mrs. Hazel Ostern this afternoon on two break-in charges.

An 18-year-old and two juveniles were taken into custody at Lanesboro Sunday following a break-in at Hanson's Drug Store there, and a 20-year-old was apprehended Sunday night by the Mower County sheriff's office for Fillmore County on a break-in at the Cleveland Welch residence at Spring Valley between 2 and 3 p.m. Saturday.

Investment In Planning Is Worthwhile

IF YOU'VE wondered vaguely from time to time whether the city really is adequately served in the planning field, it may help to look over some of the points raised in recent discussions of the problem.

In the first place, nearly everyone will agree that the city genuinely needs to develop a system of long-range capital improvements planning. The worth of this principle already has been demonstrated to some extent by the Winona County Board of Commissioners which now sets up its roadbuilding plans on the basis of 5-year cycles.

The city, in addition to having its own roadways problems, has those of public services, such as sewers and water, and of providing for orderly growth and placement of its various commercial, industrial, residential and public facilities districts.

It would run contrary to the simplest principles of management to allow all these factors to develop more or less at random. We might be lucky enough to keep a semblance of order without specific planning. But chances are greater that mishmash development, with untold damage to property values and the city's economy, would be the outcome.

True, the city has had a plan of sorts. It acquired a master plan 10 years ago and has taken turns ignoring and adhering to its provisions. By and large, the city has benefited to a certain extent by having the master plan. Perhaps a closer adherence to its principles would have been even more beneficial — but that's neither here nor there at this point.

WHAT'S REALLY needed, however, is a real brass-tacks effort to update the plan. Some of its parts — among them the thoroughfare plan — need revision because of changes that have taken place. In some places, new directions and styles of growth have been established. These have to be recognized and incorporated into an updated plan.

Out of all this has to come the basic land use plan. Once it is made current and adopted, this document should help channel orderly city development, in the ways desired by the city's people, for some time to come. A continuous effort must be made to secure compliance at all points.

From this, and other auxiliary plans, city administrations can see more clearly what must be done. Contributing studies should cover transportation, the city's economic condition — both internally and in relation to the whole region — its population, and its community facilities, such as parks and public buildings and areas.

Progress toward building the sort of city that's desired then can be marked off in terms of one, five, 10 years or whatever divisions are necessary. The work is translated into cost estimates and the costs are evaluated from the standpoints of what can be afforded and how the work can be carved into bite-sized pieces.

ALL THIS, of course, can't be done by lip service, an intermittent effort and pious hope. It requires investment for time and personnel. It would be unrealistic to think not.

City Council members now are weighing a proposal calling for additional investment in the city planning department of about $15,000 a year. The first year's cost can be met by transferring surplus funds now available in city accounts.

Already it appears next year's budget for city purposes can be reduced by several mills, thanks to a number of administrative reforms and changes being made under the new governmental plan. We don't propose that this advantage should immediately be wiped out by new spending. But the expanded planning effort is so basic to the city's orderly growth in times of increasingly complicated problems that it should be adopted. It is likely — to use a sometimes-overworked expression — that we can't afford not to do it.

IT'S OBVIOUS, OF course, that these things are fundamental to any future attempt by the city to secure federal funding of various sorts. This would hardly be a valid excuse for attacking the planning concept, however. The city's vital needs, whether met by urban renewal or by other processes, remain those of the broadest possible base of data and information on which to make the most informed judgments about future kinds and directions of development.

He that walketh with wise men shall be wise; but a companion of fools shall be destroyed.—Proverbs 13:20.

A WORD EDGEWISE

The Johnson Timetable

By JOHN P. ROCHE

In the current argument about the course of events in March 1968, which culminated in President Johnson's speech on the 31st, there are a number of variables that have to be sorted out before the whole picture makes sense. The first is that Johnson had decided sometime before Christmas, 1967, that he would not run again. In December he determined to cut it clean and include his withdrawal as the ending of his January 1968, State of the Union address. At the last minute, however, he held off because he felt the renunciation would cripple him in pushing his program in Congress. Apparently he settled on the end of March as the outside deadline.

The second variable relates to a new peace initiative in Vietnam. This, too, had been in the works. At Prime Minister Holt's funeral in Australia in December 1967, Johnson briefed the Australian Cabinet on his intentions. These came down to a promise that once the major enemy offensive predicted by Saigon had been safely countered, the United States would launch a new bid for peace talks based on enlargement of the San Antonio formula (the key to which was "reciprocity"). Reciprocity was subject to a number of interpretations: A Hanoi pullback from the South, a decline in the rate of infiltration, a net standoff with neither a decline nor an increase in infiltration, or even possibly a matching de-escalatory step following a U.S. initiative.

WHAT THREW the timetable off was the unanticipated, savage brilliance of the Tet offensive. In military terms, it was a disaster for Hanoi; except in Hue, the enemy was repulsed from the cities in a short time with incredible losses. In a war fought by the book, it was a notable victory for the U.S. and Saigon. But as S. L. A. Marshall has noted, Hanoi has a different book. From Ho's perspective, Tet was a political rather than a military offensive and monumentally successful. He was out to win the war in the United States by destroying the credibility of our efforts in Vietnam, and the death of 40 or 50 thousand of his troops was the price he was willing to pay.

At this point the third variable comes into the picture. American military headquarters in Saigon (MACV) came into Washington with a vigorous request for reinforcements. General Westmoreland asked for an enormous increase, over 200,000 men, a request that, had it been granted, would have required a reserve call-up and a massive escalation of rhetoric.

March was the month in which these three considerations (the first of which was the President's secret) merged. If you examine Johnson's options carefully, it becomes apparent that he could have come up with either (1) a hard-line speech calling up the reserves to indicate to Hanoi the strength of our commitment but including a partial bombing halt to indicate our willingness to negotiate, or (2) a low-pressure speech avoiding massive military threats and including the bombing halt. In other words, the President had two decisions to make: The bombing curtailment and reinforcements. Basically these were on separate tracks and much confusion has resulted from the respective arguments being mixed up.

AS I POINTED out previously, the decision on the bombing halt north of the 20th Parallel was made as early as March 3 at Rusk's suggestion and was locked up at a meeting on March 20 (where it was endorsed by Rusk, Clifford, Helms, Wheeler, Rostow and Christian). All hands were enjoined to absolute secrecy. The President knew his men; there were no leaks.

The other half of the problem remained to be resolved, and it was here that Secretary Clifford showed his steel. He turned his superb inquisitorial talents on the military and in a process of attrition that few involved in it will ever forget, discovered that the 200,000 figure was what MACV really would have liked — not (as subsequent events have demonstrated) what they needed. In any event, MACV settled for about 25,000. Once Clifford had his brief prepared, he and Harry McPherson (Johnson's special counsel, a man of great conviction and integrity who was far more than a good speech writer) went to work to alter the hard-line mood of the existing speech-draft. McPherson prepared a new speech reflecting his and Clifford's views and sent it downstairs. He was a bit startled when the President signed it without a murmur.

A greater surprise was yet to come.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Defense Contractors Conduct Strong Lobby

By DREW PEARSON and JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON—The public has heard a lot about the controversy over the antiballistic missile system. There has been Senate testimony by distinguished scientists, and publicity regarding meetings between President Nixon and his experts and members of Congress.

But the public hasn't known about the backstage lobbying by the big defense contractors who would get most of the $50 billion which the taxpayers will pay for the ABM when it is finally built.

THESE DEFENSE contractors have been very quiet and very skillful in their lobbying. But they have also been effective. Congress is not likely to stage an investigation of this lobbying. Too many fellow congressmen would be involved.

However, here is a roll call of the bigger defense contractors who would profit from the ABM system and the amount of money they have been receiving from the Pentagon on other contracts.

Bell Telephone Laboratories, the prime contractor for ABM, is part of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company which in 1968 was the sixth biggest defense contractor, receiving a total of $775,927,000 in prime contracts. Bell Laboratories' chief lobbyist on Capitol Hill is Ed Zillian, who has been lobbying but has been available to answer questions, which sometimes takes the form of discreet persuasion.

The McDonnell - Douglas Company, which manufactures the Interceptor rocket to be used in the ABM system, is fifth among the defense contractors with a huge total of $1,100,837,000 in contracts, together with a total of $224,355,000 in grants for research as a gift from Uncle Sam.

The Martin-Marietta Company, which manufactures the Spring rocket, another component of the ABM, is represented in Washington by a retired general, William "Bud" Quinn. His company got a total of $303,454,000 in defense contracts in 1968, plus a total of $172,844,000 in research grants.

General Electric, which produces the high frequency radar that tracks incoming warheads in space, is the third biggest defense contractor in the United States and received the huge total of $1,488,707,000 last year, together with the huge total of $537,889,000 for research.

Sperry-Rand, which developed the ABM computer system, is another big defense contractor, with a total of $447,197,000 last year. Sperry-Rand also gets from Uncle Sam for research a total of $46,867,000.

THE Raytheon Company, which manufactures the radar that guides the ABM missiles to their targets, is another big defense contractor, receiving last year a total of $451,754,000 in defense contracts, plus a research gift of $111,812,000.

AVCO which will participate in the ABM pie, received defense contracts last year totaling $383,648,000, plus $103,559,000 for research.

Hughes Aircraft, another participant in the ABM conglomerate of contractors, received $286,109,000 in contracts last year, plus $139,728,000 for research.

Radio Corporation of America, another participant in ABM, received $225,012,000 in defense contracts, plus $69,826,000 for research.

Other companies which would participate in the huge ABM budget include Block Engineering, Burroughs, Burndy, Control Data, Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory, Sperry Gyroscope and Wheeler Laboratories. All had their financial interest at stake when they pulled wires behind the scenes on Capitol Hill.

The Justice Department under the present Republican administration has been more forthright in enforcing the antitrust law than under the Democrats. Its recent warning against mergers was because defense contractors and other big corporations have been buying up smaller companies at a record rate; a total of 350 major mergers and acquisitions was announced in January alone.

Nearly all were so-called conglomerate mergers — in other words, mergers between firms engaged in different fields, by which big companies have been gobbling up smaller, noncompeting firms.

Technically this may not violate the antitrust laws, but it concentrates economic power in fewer hands. Thus the 200 largest corporations in the nation bought control of more than 70 companies last year.

THERE HAS been a dramatic increase in mergers since the election, on the assumption that the Nixon Administration will be more tolerant toward big business. If the trend continues, a couple hundred business tycoons will be making the decisions that will determine the course of the American economy. Last year, seven manufacturing companies worth one billion dollars controlled 43 percent of the nation's manufacturing.

The Justice Department has decided that these mergers must be stopped. Meanwhile, the labor unions are also merging to increase their bargaining strength with the big conglomerates. The number of AFL-CIO unions dropped from 129 to 122 last year as a result of mergers, and several more union mergers are in the works.

Plenty of Pensions

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Charles Johnson is a pension collector.

He gets one from the Veterans Administration, one from Social Security and pensions from the telephone company and an insurance agency.

In 1943, after 25 years with Southern Bell, Johnson retired and began selling insurance. In September, 1968, after 25 years on that job, he retired again.

Johnson, a veteran of the Spanish-American War, still drives a car, although he is 90 years old.

Annual Interview

DURBAN, South Africa (AP) — Being old is "the hardest thing in the world" says 105-year-old Thomas Abrahams.

"Life becomes very difficult when you can't do the ordinary things you want to do," he said on his most recent birthday. Abrahams attributes his longevity to hard work and being obedient to his parents. He takes a dim view of newsmen:

"They come here every year, ask me questions and take my photograph, but they never give me one."

Needs More Proof

NEW DELHI (AP) — A Hindu holy man claimed he had "divine authority" to build a temple on a vacant government land.

"God appeared in my dream and showed me the site," he insisted.

The police, however, followed instructions to throw him out.

Does Nixon Have A 'Blacklist'

By WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY JR.

There are only two explanations for the Nixon Administration's spectacular mishandling of the personnel recruitment problem, both of them unappealing. One is an uncharacteristic inefficiency. The other is ideological spite.

It was generally recognized even before Mr. Nixon's victory that his difficulty would lie in attracting qualified men into government, rather than in holding off hordes of eager applicants. That analysis derived from the general conviction that

To Your Good Health

Recovery From Heart Attack

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 51 and was hospitalized for 21 days with a heart attack just a year ago. Is there a book I can buy on how to care for your heart after a heart attack?

I joined the YMCA to do some jogging, swimming, and exercising. Will this hurt me in any way? I am a bus driver and was off work six months. — A.T.Z.

There are books on the subject, but some fairly simple rules usually are all you need. You can check with the local branch of the American Heart Association for literature if you need it, but I can give you seven brief rules which may be sufficient.

1—Avoid overweight.
2—Avoid eating saturated fats. This means, chiefly, avoiding fat from meat. As a spread for bread, use any of the many that are advertised as being made with vegetable oils or polyunsaturated oils.
3—Don't smoke. If you must, a pipe is preferable to cigarettes or cigars.
4—Avoid emotional tension. Learn to relax and not fret over problems that aren't worth fretting over.

5—Get moderate rest.
6—Get moderate exercise. But don't overdo it. I trust that your jogging, swimming, and exercising at the "Y" are done with the approval of your physician. Any exercise or exertion that causes shortness of breath, chest discomfort, or undue fatigue is too much.

7—If your blood pressure is high, you should be under such treatment as your doctor prescribes. Follow those seven rules and you will be doing the things you should take care of yourself properly.

Your heart attack was a year ago. You were off work for six months, which means you have had only about six months of near-normal activity. I trust that you check with your doctor periodically. He should know about your "Y" activities and evaluate the amount of any more-than-ordinary exertion you should undertake.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please help me with insomnia. I am 47 and haven't been able to sleep well for six years. The doctor gave me some sleeping pills, but I'm afraid to take them because I heard people can get hooked on them forever. I only take them when I get very tired. — M.R.P.

There's a massive difference between gobbling pills, as some people do, seeking complete forgetfulness, or taking just enough to relax you and let you sleep. Your doctor knows a lot more about proper use of such pills than the "people" who feed your scare stories.

I suggest that you use the pills. Just stay within whatever limits your doctor specified, and you won't be hooked. Your occasional use is wise.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: When a doctor diagnoses a fibroid uterus, is the uterus removed along with the fibroids? — F.S.

Ordinarily yes — provided the fibroids are causing enough trouble to warrant removal. In a great many instances, however, the fibroids do not cause trouble, and are not removed, but merely watched lest they change size or otherwise give indication that removal is in order. Many times fibroids will shrink after menopause.

Mr. Nixon is neither glamorous in the sense that John Kennedy was, nor high on an ideological trip, like Franklin Roosevelt and the early Lyndon Johnson. You can get people to give up their careers and go to Washington if they feel the lure of Camelot, or if they feel the tug of ideological evangelism. Otherwise it is a little harder. I mean, a little harder to get those special people.

THE NIXON team, apparently anticipating the difficulty, did the rather foolish thing of sending out thousands upon thousands of letter-questionnaires to prominent people drawn, it is said though I refuse to believe it, from Who's Who in America (from which the truly interesting people in this world are rigorously excluded). The cry was now full-throated — that government salaries, and living conditions in Washington, were the major headaches. How could you get people who were making fifty, sixty, seventy thousand dollars a year to come on down to Washington for twenty-five thousand? And where could you find competent young men, unspoiled by big salaries, who were disposed to help a Nixon Administration, most of the bright young people being Democrats?

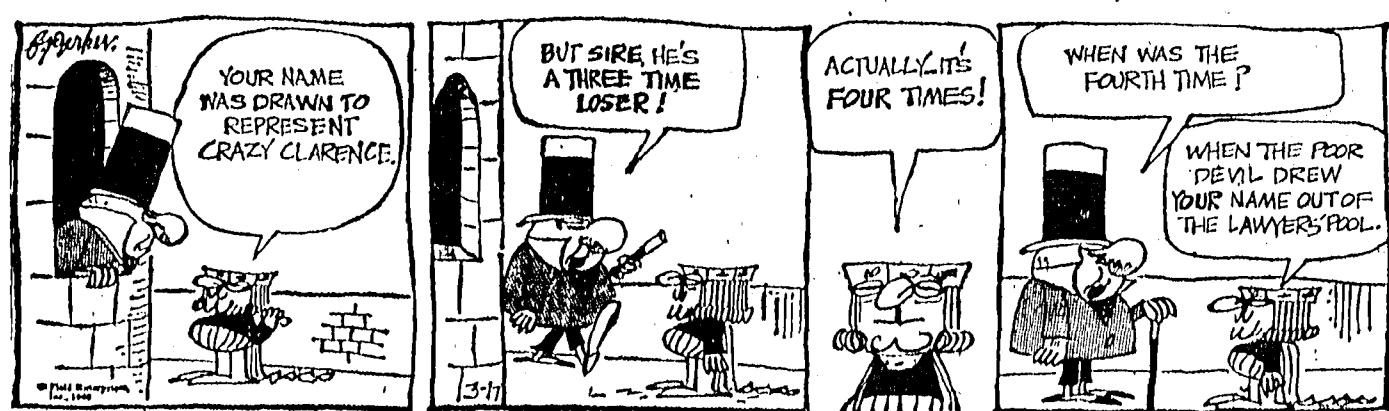

I think, in the case of the former category, of a man in his late thirties, drawing down a very high salary, brilliantly educated, extraordinarily accomplished, and highly versatile. He was persuaded to offer his services, and he completed the notorious questionnaire. Word about his abilities was given by several influential Republicans to Attorney General John Mitchell, to White House aide Peter Flanigan, to chief presidential adviser Henry Kissinger, to Pentagon chief Mel Laird, to senior counselor Charles Murphy. That was in November. No one from the Nixon Administration has sent him a postcard.

NOW THE ONE thing that these gentlemen have in common, other than their willingness to work in a Nixon Administration, is that in 1964 they supported Barry Goldwater for President. So that we are hard up on the question: has this proved to be a crucial disqualification? Is that the nature of the New Blacklist? Granted the anomalies — supreme among them being that, after all, Nixon worked for Goldwater in 1964. And then one muses, would someone with the exact qualifications and background of Richard Nixon have succeeded in getting a job in the Nixon Administration?

Could it be incompetence? But the thought of incompetence on such a scale is appalling. "Now that he is back from Europe," comments the Wall Street Journal, "Mr. Nixon will have to address himself in earnest to those empty jobs . . ."

Could it be that up until now Mr. Nixon has not been in earnest? One cherishes the hope that this is the explanation, while wondering why it took so long to develop an appropriate earnestness in a field so critical. Meanwhile there is all the talk about Mr. Nixon having disappointed the conservatives, and it is true that he has done so in some respects, though surely not true that as yet he has forfeited their support. But he should call somebody over from his personnel computer division or whatever and ask him whether somebody tipped into the machine one night early in November and programmed the liquidation of everybody who had Goldwater sympathies in 1964.

'Uniform Consumer Credit Code'—For Buyer or Lender?

By GERRY NELSON
ST. PAUL (AP) — "Consumer protection" is a hot item around the Minnesota Legislature this session. The big question is whether the bulky "Uniform Consumer Credit Code" is a consumer's bill or a lender's bill?

1 — Slash away a jungle of interest rates now allowed for money lenders and put all types of lenders on the same footing.
2 — Make all lenders disclose their interest rates in terms of simple annual interest.
And, it would wipe out Minnesota's usury law which sets a maximum borrowing rate of 8 per cent — a rate which has long since been sidestepped legally but which many people believe to still be a ceiling.
In fact, few average borrowers ever see a rate even near 8 per cent except on a home mortgage.
A car loan billed at "$8 per $100 per year" is really a 16 per cent loan.
A revolving charge account billed at "1 1/2 per cent a month" is really an 18 per cent credit charge.

A credit union loan at 1 per cent a month is really a 12 per cent loan.
A 6 per cent discount loan at a bank is really an 11.1 per cent charge.
The whole effort stems from the federal "Truth in Lending" law passed by Congress last year. That law goes into effect July 1, but states have an option to adopt their own laws along similar lines.
The federal act requires disclosure of credit charges in terms of annual interest, but the UCCB goes beyond and sets limits on the actual interest rates which may be charged.
So far, the heavyweight bill has cleared only one committee, the Senate Commerce Committee. Its next hurdles are the Senate Judiciary Committee and the House Committee on Financial Institutions.

Almost all the lending groups like parts of the bill, but dislike others.
The Minnesota Bankers Association is now backing the Code after attachment of an amendment setting some limits on how a businessman can get into the money-lending field.
Minnesota has six basic types of firms extending credit, and all would be affected by the bill. They are:
Small loan companies, limited to loans up to $900; industrial loan and thrift companies, credit unions, banks, department stores, and auto sales finance companies.

The UCCB bill would strip away all the present allowable interest charges and lump all types of creditors under these loan limits:
Up to $300 — 36 per cent a year.
$300 to $1,000 — 21 per cent a year.
$1,000 and over — 15 per cent a year.
Instead of these steps, however, a lender could average an entire loan at 18 per cent a year.
On revolving charge accounts, used by department stores and some gasoline credit card plans, the charge could be 2 per cent a month on the first $500 and

1 1/2 per cent a month on larger amounts.
The bankers association says that, by and large, interest rates now being charged would not change markedly. The big difference will be that the simple annual interest rate and the total dollar cost of credit will be listed for the customer to see.
Although department stores have been charging 1 per cent a month for several years, it is generally agreed there is only a shaky legal basis for doing so.
In this case, the UCCB would put charge account fees on firm legal footing.
In the case of small loan companies, UCCB would allow higher rates. Now limited to 33 per cent on loans up to $300, the small loaners could go up to 36 per cent.

But, as a banking lobbyist put it, the bill also would "put everyone into the small loan business." Banks also could do it if they wished, bid for the small loan trade at the 36 per cent rate.
Most of the battling thus far has been over the "freedom of entry" provisions in the original bill. As drafted, the bill permits anyone with enough money to open a loan office after getting a state license.
This theory is based on the idea that the more lenders there are, the cheaper the cost of borrowing will be — because of competition.
Bankers dispute this, saying that the high-risk borrower—the guy already forced to patronize small loan firms — will have to pay just as much for his loan.
A Senate amendment would require that anyone lending at higher than 18 per cent — obviously the small loan and industrial loan firms — would have to have $25,000 in assets and show a public need for his operation.
The big UCCB also makes a host of changes in garnishment laws, door-to-door sales and other credit sales techniques. A customer, for example, would get three days grace to cancel a door-to-door credit sale.

Air Employees To Vote on New Contract

WASHINGTON (AP) — Striking American Airlines employees will vote Wednesday on a proposed agreement to end the 19-day walkout which has grounded the nation's second largest air carrier.
If the new pact is ratified, a union spokesman said, the workers will return to their jobs starting at 11 p.m. Wednesday.
Top officials of the Transport Workers Union said they reached tentative agreement with the company early Sunday. The proposed pact was approved unanimously later in the day by the union's full negotiating committee of 22 presidents and chairmen of locals in the system's 10 major cities.
The membership vote will follow special meetings Wednesday to explain the tentative agreement to the approximately 12,700 mechanics, communications and service employees it covers.
Details of the agreement were not disclosed, but union negotiators had been asking for a 30 per cent wage increase over two years and other fringe benefits.
The union's old contract which expired last May provided wages ranging from $3.16 to $4.16 per hour.
A strike was called Feb. 27 after 10 months of negotiations and a 30-day cooling off period failed to bring an agreement.

Sophia Loren to Return to Work Soon

ROME (AP) — Sophia Loren, who recently became a mother for the first time, will return to movie-making soon with a film called "Il Girasole," Italian for "The Sunflower."
The movie, about a wife trying to find her missing husband after World War II, will be filmed mainly in Moscow and other locations in the Soviet Union. Vittorio de Sica will direct and the producer will be Carlo Ponti, Miss Loren's husband.

German Border Confusing—Especially to a Child

BERLIN (AP) — "Is that a Russian?" the little boy asked his father as their car went through the wall dividing Berlin.
"No," he was told. "That's an East German."
"He looks like a Russian," the boy retorted, referring to the fur-lined cap and padded jacket worn by the border guard.
In addition the guard carried a Russian-made submachine gun although his uniform was the traditional German field gray.
It was not the boy's first trip to East Berlin. Now 6, he has been going on and off for three years. As he grows older his questions become more insistent — and difficult to answer:
"What is a 'Communist' East Germany?"
"What is a West Germany?"
"An East Berliner? A West Berliner?"
In his German-American school he has heard talk that the Americans were in Berlin to protect "the Berliners" because the Germans had lost the war and the Russians threatened the city.

The Berlin Wall meanwhile is a much more concrete reality in his imagination and that of his playmates. Even when they play with toy cowboys and Indians they build a wall in between.
"What continues to throw him however is that he goes to East Berlin from West Berlin and back."
"Where," he asks, "is Germany?"
It does not help that the sons and daughters of U.S. Army personnel he plays with refer to West Germany as "the zone," meaning the American postwar occupation area. His German playmates call East Germany "the zone," meaning the Soviet-dominated area.
On this particular trip to East Berlin his little brother, age 2 1/2, was along for the first time.

When the border guards approached and saluted, little brother said in German, "Polizei" meaning police.
"No," the father said, "they are soldiers," but thought that maybe the kid's description was more accurate.
There was a long line in the customs control shack and it got hot and the boys got restless.
"Bang, bang, bang," they yelled as they played with the cowboys and Indians they had brought with them. They wandered past the inspecting East Germans and kept asking why things took so long.
The East Germans asked the usual questions about money, cameras, gifts and so on, and added, "Where are you going?"
"To the zoo," was the answer.
"You mean the Tierpark (animal park)," one lieutenant declared, a reference to the distinction in names from West Berlin's zoo.

"Okay, Tierpark."
"Zoo," little brother said.
The family was passed through and the father reflected that compared with some past excursions with son No. 1, this time through was relatively uneventful.
There was the time he brought his model B52 bomber with him. There may have been no connection, but the East Germans insisted that his 75-year-old grandfather take out all the change he had in his pockets, lay it on the counter and count it, piece by piece.
Once inside East Berlin this latest time, the 6-year-old stayed on the lookout for Russians, his interest kept current by television accounts of what was going on in Czechoslovakia.
"Are those Russians?" he said, pointing to brown-clad soldiers watching an East German change of guard at a midtown memorial.

"No," he was told again. "Those are British soldiers."
Silence.
Then, on the way back from the zoo, that is Tierpark, out in front of the Soviet embassy, a Russian finally was spotted. It was a Red Army colonel who got out of his car in midstreet.
"That," son No. 1 was told, "was a Russian."
"Humph," he said, disappointed that the officer's great coat hid most of him from view.
"Polizei," said little brother.
On the way back into West Berlin, the East German border guards were very careful with their car inspections, searching diligently for what they consider contraband and hidden refugees.
As a guard lifted and probed the car's back seat, the 6-year-old looked at him and showed off his language skill by saying in German, "You won't find anything."

"We'll see," the guard grunted sourly.
For all that, the trip back through the wall crossing point was quicker than going over and soon the car rolled into Checkpoint Charlie on the West Berlin side of the wall. It is manned by British, French and U.S. military policemen.
White-hatted U.S. soldiers run the checkpoint and a couple of them grinned and waved the car through.
"MPs," the 6-year-old said knowingly.
Just then a blue-clad noncom with a stiff cap walked out of another checkpoint section.
"Who was that?" the boy exclaimed, pointing.
"That was a French gendarme," the father answered.
"What's he doing here?" the boy insisted.
"Shut up, son, shut up," his weary parent replied, "just shut up."

Colombian Plane Forced To Fly to Cuba

HAVANA (AP) — A Colombian airliner was hijacked to Cuba over the weekend by a man accompanied by a woman and a baby.
The DC6 of the Aerocondor Airline is expected to leave Cuba today with its other 36 passengers and crew of eight, the Swiss Embassy indicated.
The man carried a pistol when he took over the plane Saturday night as it flew toward San Andres, a Colombian island off Costa Rica.
It was the third Colombian airliner diverted to Cuba this year and the 23rd airliner hijacking of 1969.

What Began as Ordinary Tar Pit Now Big, Sticky Problem

LIMA, Peru (AP) — The Latin-American bog confronting the Nixon administration began as an ordinary tar pit in northern Peru when John Quincy Adams was president.
Peru became independent from Spain in 1824. Two years later there was a deal to settle a debt arising from the award of independence. That was the origin of the controversy that has grown recently over the Peruvian government's expropriation of the American-owned International Petroleum Co., IPC.

and sugar sales subsidies to this country of 12 million.
How the dispute is handled here and in Washington seems certain to influence the course of the Nixon government's relations with Latin America.
At issue is the petroleum company's title or right to extract oil from Peruvian soil. The government says IPC had been operating illegally since 1924, when it entered business here, and has billed it $69 million for doing so.
The company says its title is legitimate. But it cannot challenge the government's allegations in court unless it first pays up.
The tar pit was acquired by Jose Antonio de la Quintana on Sept. 26, 1826. Aside from tar, the pit exuded a strange black fluid the people called "jugos de la tierra," or juices of the soil. They didn't know what it was good for.

It was petroleum, then a stranger to the commercial world. The oil boom that Edwin L. Drake touched off at Titusville, Pa., was still 33 years away.
This point in history has been underlined by the Peruvian government in arguing that the original land rights eventually acquired by International Petroleum could not have authorized oil mining because the product was then unknown.

International Petroleum bought the properties, known as La Brea y Parinas, from a British company in 1925 after an international arbitration tribunal apparently had settled the question of land title and taxes.
A tax increase dispute had been submitted to an international tribunal. An award favorable to the British company was handed down in 1922. Aside from confirming the land title, it established what assessments were to be paid until 1972.
To cover land rents, royalties, production, contributions or taxes, the company was to pay three Peruvian pounds—about $12 then, some 65 cents now—a year for each acre under production and a tiny fraction of that for unworked land. The property runs to about 400,000 acres.
The government says that since 1924 and until it was expropriated last fall, IPC had been paying the amounts specified in the award, except for small export duties and, since 1951, industrial profit taxes.
International Petroleum says it's the nation's No. 1 taxpayer.
The government challenged the validity of the award on various grounds. It also claimed that subsurface rights, reserved exclusively for the state by the constitution, had been granted illegally in 1826.

30 Members Of Freighter Crew Saved

NEW ORLEANS (AP) All but one of 31 crew members were saved from the foggy Gulf of Mexico after an engine room explosion sent the Liberian freighter Vaniqueur to the bottom 140 miles at sea.
The U.S. Navy destroyer escort Hyman, cruising through fog in the area reported by a radio distress signal, picked up 24 men Saturday night after they had drifted 24 hours in two storm-tossed lifeboats.
Three hours earlier the British freighter Arbitrator had stumbled on six other men in an inflatable life raft.
The Coast Guard pressed an air-sea search for the only crew member unaccounted for.
"When they found us it was a miracle. A miracle," said Jaime Echeverry, 24, of Cali, Colombia, one of the men in the lifeboats.
Echeverry and other crewmen said the explosion occurred Friday night. Crewman Eusebio Rodolfo Nunez of Buenos Aires said he heard a dull thud and another sailor came to his sleeping quarters and told him "water was inundating the ship."
The Vaniqueur, 580 feet long, carried 20,000 tons of sugar en route from Vera Cruz to New Orleans.
The ceremony Sunday was performed at Miss Shore's home.

Abandon Proposal To Have Indian Rights Annulled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department has abandoned a proposal that would have annulled the rights of most Indian tribes to prevent the granting of undesired rights-of-way across their lands, a House committee reported Saturday.
The Interior Department's proposed regulation, announced last year, would have permitted the Bureau of Indian Affairs to grant rights-of-way, without Indian consent, across the lands of tribes not organized under the Indian Reorganization Act of 1934 or the Oklahoma Indian Welfare Act of 1936.
Only 149,000 of the 307,500 tribal Indians outside of Alaska are organized under these acts, although most of them have functioning tribal governments of their own creation.

New Yorkers Said To Have Higher Cost of Living

NEW YORK (AP) — New Yorkers have a higher cost of living at three income levels than the average U.S. metropolitan area, reports the Department of Labor.
Results of a study announced Sunday and based on a family of four are:
A low income family requires $6,021 a year; moderate income, $9,977; higher income, $14,068. The New York figures are 14 per cent above the average for those making moderate salaries, and two per cent for the low wage earner.

NASON ON EDUCATION

Talking Important To Education

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D., University of So. Calif.
In our preoccupation with the 3 R's — reading, writing and arithmetic — we have failed to recognize talking as a fourth fundamental. In reality, it is of greater importance than any of the other three.
The development of talking comes first in the life of a child and affects his success in each of the other fundamentals, as well as everything else he does in school. Because of this, education is beginning to reverse its traditional pattern of expenditures.
IN THE PAST, more money has been spent per student in higher education, with secondary education coming in second and elementary education third. But pre-school and kindergarten programs are now getting into the race for funds.
The time will come when major support for early childhood education will help parents get their 2 to 7-year-olds off to a good start through non-school or pre-school programs. In the meantime, the early training in talking is up to parents.
Children learn to talk long before the schools take over their education. Parents must not only talk to their babies but must learn to listen and try to understand what the child is saying.
By listening, they encourage the child to expand his vocabulary and communicate by talking rather than by crying or screaming. It is best to avoid baby talk, since this demands that the baby learn one language and later substitute a second language for it.
Listening to parents enables babies to hear sounds and words which they learn to imitate. As the child begins to talk, parents should be sure to talk to the child and to listen to him.
CHILDREN should be read to as soon as they become interested in stories. They should be allowed to re-tell the stories in their own words. Through story telling, a child not only gets practice in talking, he learns to organize his thoughts and express a sequence of ideas in his own words.

As the child begins to realize that the marks on the paper represent words, it would be well to have the child sit on the left of the reader. When he shows interest in the words on the paper, the reader can move his fingers across the paper from left to right as he reads. This is important, since occasionally the child falls to grasp the left-to-right idea, essential in our culture.
Parents can encourage a child to talk by being concerned with what the child wants to say. When a parent shows concern and lets the child know he is ready to listen, the child will respond in an easy manner.

Boy Dies After Kite Strikes Power Line

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Dennis Michael Pisciotta, 22, died an hour after he was found unconscious in the backyard of his parents' home where he had been flying a kite Sunday.
Police said the kite string, containing a metallic filament, touched a 12,000-volt power line.
The Peruvian Congress nullified the award in 1963 and through another law in 1967 declared the properties in question had reverted to state ownership.
The United States viewed the latter act as an expropriation and reminded Peru of its obligation to provide compensation. IPC and the government reopened negotiations, however, and last August reached another agreement.
Revelation of some of the terms in the new accord touched off an outcry against it and brought on a government crisis. On Oct. 3 the army ousted President Fernando Belaunde and took over.
The initial expectation was that the Peruvian military, following the pattern set by other Latin-American armies in power, would solve the problem amicably.
Whether for genuinely patriotic reasons or in the interests of political survival, the military rulers took an opposite line and threw out the newest IPC agreement.

Exclusive Formula Promptly Stops Itching. Burning and Relieves Pain of Piles In Most Cases
New York, N.Y. (Special): The embarrassing itch caused by hemorrhoids is most torturous. But science has found a special formula with the ability, in most cases — to promptly stop the burning itch, relieve pain and actually shrink hemorrhoids. And all without narcotics or stinging astringents of any kind.
The secret is Preparation II. There is no other hemorrhoid formula like it. Preparation II also lubricates, soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.

Unemployment Will Not Rise, Stans Reports

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has no intention of allowing the unemployment rate to go up as part of efforts to fight inflation, according to Secretary of Commerce Maurice O. Stans.

The administration, Stans said Sunday, hopes to "bring down the level of inflation gradually and slowly," while holding the jobless rate at 4 per cent or less.

Any idea to allow unemployment to slip upward "is very definitely unacceptable," Stans said.

Labor leaders, among others, have charged that some Nixon officials have recommended measures to brake the economy that would result in higher unemployment. The latest figures showed the jobless rate at 3.3 per cent.

Stans was interviewed on the CBS radio-television program, "Face the Nation."

The commerce secretary also said he doubts the administration will allow the 10 per cent income surtax to expire at the end of the current fiscal year, June 30. "It is probably going to be continued for another year," Stans said. He indicated, however, that President Nixon has not made a final determination about the surtax and probably won't for a few more weeks.

TREMPEALEAU, Wis. (Special) — A citation was presented to Jack Bemis Sr. at Trempealeau village hall Sunday for operating a foster home for delinquent boys. They have been referred to him by the Wisconsin Department of Corrections for 10 years.

The certificate was presented by Assemblyman John Radcliffe (D-Strum). Trempealeau County Judge A. L. Twesme, Galesville, discussed the value of the Bemis foster home to the boys sent here from the Boys School at Wales or directly from the juvenile courts.

Richard McCormick, La Crosse, state probation and parole officer, also attended the ceremony. Bemis and his wife have made a home for some 28 boys at intervals on their farm south of Trempealeau. Of these, 10 have graduated from Trempealeau High School. The youths have averaged from 14 to 18. Some have entered military service, others have gone on to school after high school.

Bemis is a former Trempealeau County deputy sheriff.

Area Teachers Plan Rally At Rochester

About 100 Winona public school teachers will attend a Southeastern Minnesota Educators rally Tuesday night at Rochester where the current status of teacher contract negotiations throughout the state in general and in Southeastern Minnesota in particular will be discussed.

John Curtin, president of the Winona Education Association and member of the Winona Teachers Council, bargaining group for District 861 teachers in their negotiations with the Winona School Board, said that the meeting will be attended by members of both major teachers associations, the Minnesota Educational Association and the Minnesota Federation of Teachers.

Curtin said that the rally was called to indicate unity and solidarity among teachers on objectives in this year's negotiations.

Among the speakers will be Fulton B. Klinkerfus, president of the Minnesota Education Association; Duane Wilson, MEA salary consultant; and Henry Winkel, Minnesota Federation of Teachers executive secretary, and representatives of the Metropolitan Suburban Council.

Members of local teacher councils throughout this part of the state will be among those attending.

ETTRICK, Wis. (Special) — The fire department answered a call Friday at 7:30 a.m. to extinguish a blaze in fresh bedding in a pole barn at the Aldon Heimdahl farm near Hegge, seven miles northeast of Etrick. Little damage resulted. It is not known how the fire was started.

Tri-County Patrons Ask 1-Party Service

INDEPENDENCE, Wis. — The some 600 who attended the annual meeting of Tri-County Telephone Cooperative at Independence Saturday voted 277 to 84 in favor of a continuing study on the proposal to install single-party service in its six exchanges—Eleva, Independence, Northfield, Pigeon Falls, Pleasantville and Strum.

Incumbent directors whose terms expired were re-elected for three-year terms: Marshall Hobbe, Strum; Wilfred Adams, Eleva, and Ernest Sietlaf, Pleasantville. Two candidates were nominated for each position; voting was by mail.

Guest speaker was Richard Johnson, Eau Claire, state representative for the REA. He said the general trend nationally is toward single-party service, and 26 REA loans have been approved for them in the state.

In this area Nelson Cooperative serving Durand, Gilmanton, Modena, Nelson, Arkansas and Eau Claire and Western Wisconsin Cooperative, Downsview, Dunn County, are in process of installing single-party service. Citizens Cooperative, New Auburn, also is under construction.

REA loans for this purpose have been approved for Mondovi Telephone Co., Tenney Telephone Co. of Alma and Cochrane Cooperative.

QUEENLY LESSON... Miss Janet Johnson, 1968 Minneapoli Aquatennial queen and Winona State College student, gets a music lesson on a trombone as she visits the Fiji Police Band in Suva, capital of the Fiji Islands.

Fiji Islanders Welcome Ex-WSC Student as Queen

"To me Fiji is the paradise of the South Seas," said Miss Janet Johnson.

Miss Johnson has dropped out of Winona State College for one year in order to fulfill her role as queen of the 1968 Minneapolis Aquatennial.

"I'll be coming back to Fiji to spend my honeymoon," Miss Johnson added.

She said she didn't know who she will be marrying, "but I've got the honeymoon location 'ixed right now," she added.

Negotiations are under way to fly the Fiji Police Band to Minneapolis for the July 8-27 Aquatennial. Theme of this year's event is "South Seas 1969."

The band gave Miss Johnson a long playing disc of one of their recordings. They also gave her one of the warmest welcomes of her entire South Seas trip, she said.

Miss Johnson said she was given VIP treatment everywhere she went in Fiji. She had meetings with the British Colony's top brass, including the minister for communications, works and tourism and a number of high Fijian chiefs. She had a couple of days relaxation at The Fijian, luxury resort hotel on Fiji's Coral Coast.

Indians Organize For Role in Urban Development

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Indians who have migrated to Milwaukee from such places as northern Wisconsin's Chippewa and Menominee areas are organizing for a role in urban development.

The American Indian Delegation of Milwaukee, organized recently, said Sunday it wants to participate with Negroes, Mexican American and other minority groups in such anti-poverty projects as the federally subsidized model cities program.

Members of local teacher councils throughout this part of the state will be among those attending.

YWCA to Hold Golf Class

A golf class has been added to the Y-Wives program which starts an eight-week term at the YWCA Thursday.

The class is for beginners and will be under the direction of Mrs. W. S. L. Christensen who was the 1968 Winona Country Club handicap champion and rules chairman for the country club for 1969. Members of the class will learn the fundamentals of golf including grip stance and course etiquette. Those who have clubs are to bring an iron and wear rubber soled shoes. Some clubs are available for class use.

Also included in the Y-Wives program is beginning and advanced bridge; an art class in which the members will experiment with sculpturing as well as painting; knitting for both beginners and advanced knitters; cooking with a variety of subjects including Ukrainian food, cake decorating, wine cookery; china painting, and swimming for instruction or relaxation and a period when mothers may take their preschool children in the pool with them.

Instructors for the classes include: Mrs. Richard Baylon, bridge; Mrs. Jack Pickett, art; Mrs. J. G. Palmer, knitting; Mrs. Ray Juraskinski, china painting, and Mrs. R. G. McGill, swimming.

Nursery service is provided for the children under the supervision of Mrs. Florence Patterson and Miss Eira Gabels. Further information about the program may be obtained at the YWCA.

School Building Issue Revived At Plainview

PLAINVIEW, Minn. (Special)—Construction of a junior-senior high school came into the picture again at Plainview last week when Tom Hendrix, architect, returned with new building plans, revised downward in square footage and dollars.

The board will meet with the citizens committee March 24 to discuss next action toward a building program. The district requires more room for increasing enrollment.

Electors of the district defeated a $2.44 million school bond issue for the proposed school twice last fall. The vote Nov. 1 was 733-548 and on Dec. 9, 735-452. Earlier in the year an attempt to consolidate Elgin with Plainview failed.

Bus transportation is being provided today for students participating in the high school bowl at Minneapolis.

The board accepted letters of resignation effective at the end of this term from Carol Benson and Barbara Stevens, elementary teachers, and Janice Rogers and Marilyn Imhoff, secondary teachers.

The board extended Mrs. Agnes Johnson appreciation for many years of service to the school and community. Her teaching contract will be terminated in keeping with a policy of mandatory retirement at 65.

After a proposal by Jerry Johnson for an experimental program for students with special learning disabilities in the elementary program, board moved to hire Mrs. Donna Hawbaker for a maximum of two hours a day until the end of the term if the state Department of Education approves the application for reimbursement.

A school calendar of 176 days was voted beginning Sept. 2, with reservations to modify in case of emergency. The calendar doesn't provide for school holidays on Columbus and Veterans days and Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays.

Because of five days of school lost due to bad weather this year, classes will be conducted April 3, there'll be no school April 4 and 7 because of Easter, and regular classes will be resumed April 8 if no more school days are lost before that time.

Because of public pressure and public funds, about 600 historic homes and architectural treasures in Savannah, Ga., are being saved from the wreckers and are being rebuilt.

Dutch Colonial With Family Kitchen

By ANDY LANG
Anyone who has ever visited The Netherlands knows that the houses there combine quaintness and charm with a kind of neat and orderly look, as though every detail had been planned with considerable thought.

One is likely to get the same impression from the latest House of the Week, a delightful Dutch Colonial of modest proportions that seems larger than it actually is. Much of the reason for its spacious appearance is the characteristic gambrel roof, introduced to America hundreds of years ago by Dutch colonists.

THE FRONT entrance, set deep under the porch roof, enters into a foyer with a large guest closet. Straight ahead from the foyer—at the back half of the house—is what the family is likely to consider the main interior feature: a sizable farm-type kitchen. It has a large Dutch-styled breakfast nook, splayed counter corner with the cooking unit set in, a brick-patterned floor and a broom closet.

Wood paneling is on the walls around the breakfast nook. There is an entrance from the kitchen to a porch at the left rear of the house. Adjacent to the kitchen is the dining room, which also has an entrance to the porch. A huge bay window increases the size of the dining room as well as enhancing its appearance.

The living room is accessible from the front foyer and the dining room. It is 20 feet long, rather large for this modest-sized home. The front wall is decorated with an internal-chimney fireplace, flanked by windows and two window seats.

ARCHITECT Rudolph A. Matern has also placed the master bedroom on the first floor. It has two closets, a corner window seat and a private bathroom with shower. A separate lavatory is located in the rear hall and easily accessible to the kitchen, the one-car garage and the rest of the downstairs area. The garage has its interior entrance in the foyer, contains two storage closets and a neat, latticed compartment for refuse containers.

A central bath services the two bedrooms on the second floor. A deep dormer gives the bathroom an interesting appearance. The front bedroom has a similar front wall to the living room, with chimney windows and window seats, although the chimney in this case does not contain a fireplace.

A STORAGE area over 30 feet long is entered from the upstairs front bedroom. Since it is 7 feet high and has a hay-loft-type window, it could be used as a children's play area.

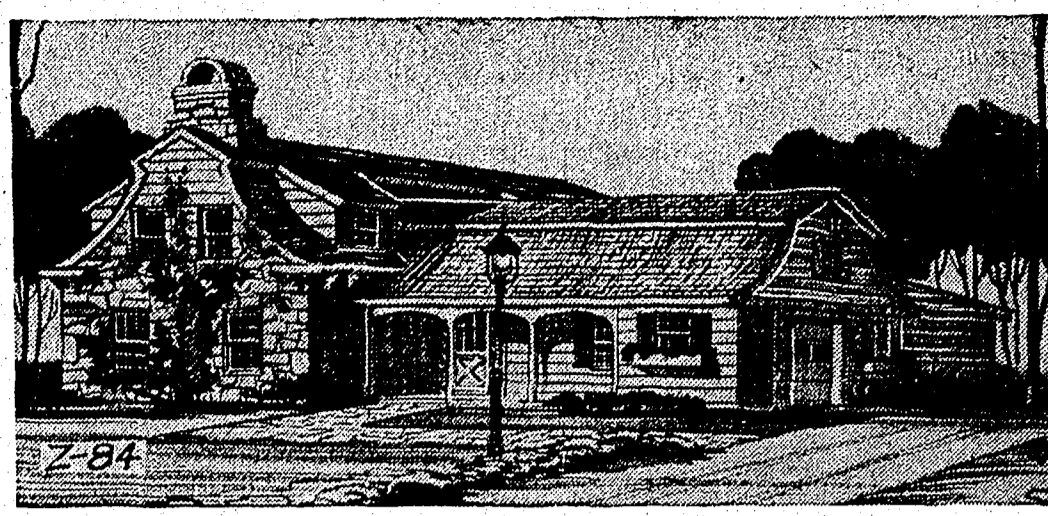

With the master bedroom on the first floor, Design Z-84 could be used by a couple who might wish to reserve the two upstairs bedrooms for guests. But whether used by two persons or a family with children, it has all the ingredients for comfortable living within modest dimensions.

Last Week's Permits for Remodeling

Remodeling of existing structures dominated Winona construction activity last week, according to George Rogge, city building inspector, whose office issues building permits.

Earl Luhmann, 656 Washington St., drew a permit for a second story addition to his house at a cost of $8,000. Winona Construction Co. is the contractor.

Gordon Polus, 352 E. Howard St., received a permit for a 20 by 20 foot addition to his house and the dismantling of a shed. Cost was listed at $2,000.

Donald Matthees, 951 W. King St., was granted a remodeling permit with Rollingstone Lumber Co. as the contractor at a cost of $4,000.

A remodeling permit was drawn by Don Ender, 524 W. Wabasha St., with cost listed at $1,500 and Earl Laufenburger as the contractor.

Mrs. L. A. Quinn, 456 E. Sanborn St., drew a permit for $1,600 worth of remodeling, garage construction and dismantling a building on her property.

Dollar evaluation for permits issued so far this year is $2,546,251 compared with $1,283,140 on this same date one year ago.

Four permits for new houses have been drawn this year compared with two for the same period in 1968.

California City Will Once Again Have a Neptune

PALOS VERDES ESTATES, Calif. (AP) — For nearly 39 years the object most identified with this tiled-roof peninsula community has been a white marble statue of the Roman ruler of the sea, Neptune. Some called him the naughty Neptune.

He stood—bearded, trident in hand, muscularly nude—looking down from atop a fountain in the Spanish mission style plaza. Then, a few months ago, Neptune toppled. The steel rods that held him upright rusted through. Of his 6-foot figure, only marble shards remained.

Residents collected $4,000, and a new—but different—Neptune is on the way from the Carrara Marble Co. of Italy.

When Neptune 2 is unveiled in April he'll be but three feet tall. And he'll sport a fig leaf.

A Nobel Prize can be awarded more than one time to the same recipient, but it is also withheld if no suitable candidate is available.

Z-84 Statistics

Design Z-84, a 1½-story house, has a living room, dining room, family kitchen, bedroom, bath, lavatory and foyer on the first floor, with a total of 1,280 square feet of living space.

Also on the first floor are a one-car garage, a porch off the dining room and kitchen and a covered porch at the entry. There are two bedrooms and a bathroom on the second floor, totaling 489 square feet. A large storage area upstairs could be utilized as a play area if desired.

Overall dimensions of this house are 53' 7" by 34' 2", which include the garage and the two porches.

Removing Varnish Can Be Challenge For Refinisher

By AP Newsfeatures
There's something very satisfying about transforming an old and perhaps discarded piece of furniture into a smooth-surfaced, sparkling addition to the home.

Taking the first step, however, is another matter. Very few persons like the initial chore of removing the old finish. Once in a great while it proves to be an almost effortless task, with the finish, usually varnish, yielding quickly to a wipe-on-wipe-off process.

MUCH more often, it's an annoying, messy job, necessitating the use of a putty knife or other scraping tool after the varnish remover has been given time to do its work. And when the old finish is made up of many coats, applied on more than one occasion with several intervening years, additional work is required after the scraping has been completed.

The troublemaker sometimes is not the so-called final finish—that is, the varnish, shellac, lacquer or whatever—but the stain, which may have penetrated deeply enough to resist all efforts to remove it. Traces of it remain no matter how many applications of remover are applied.

ONE TRICK that occasionally works is to rub steel wool into the stained areas after first soaking the wood in a mixture of detergent and water. This tends to pull some of the coloring up and out of the wood, which is then rubbed again with a new piece of steel wool, which this time is soaked in turpentine.

Should the wood still have an unsatisfactory appearance, bleaching it with a ready-made commercial bleach may be the only answer. It is important (1) that the manufacturer's instructions be followed to the letter, since different bleaches call for different methods, and (2) that caution be exercised in the use of the product, since it is a strong chemical. The same thing, of course, is true in handling the varnish remover.

IN SCRAPING the softened finish with a putty knife, hold the latter in a nearly horizontal position so as not to gouge the wood. And don't begin the scraping until you are certain that the remover has done its work, which usually is between 15 minutes and half an hour. Test a portion of the surface. If the finish does not yield easily, it means that the remover has not penetrated deeply enough or that more remover is needed.

Wait another 10 minutes and try again. If the finish continues to resist your efforts, apply another coat of remover right over the first. In applying both coats, spread evenly and fully, but without going back over areas just covered. Use a clean, full-haired paint brush, applying with a flowing stroke and utilizing more of the flat of the brush than the bristle tips.

There are over 300 species of oak trees. Eighty-five of them are found in the United States. Oaks have attained the height of 100 feet and diameters of seven feet. It is the chief source of the lumber industry in southeastern United States.

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG

QUESTION: Can you give me some advice on how to remove wallpaper from a plastered wall? Also, after the paper is removed, what particular kind of paint should be used?

ANSWER: You can soak the paper until it softens, then pull and scrape it off. If you use this old-fashioned method, do only a section of the wall at a time, since the idea is to wait long enough for the water to seep through the paper but not so long that the area dries up. But our recommendation is to use a wallpaper remover, a chemical that does a better job of soaking through the paper. Follow the instructions on the container very carefully. Professionals usually use a steamer, which does a faster job and which is especially good in stubborn cases.

If you decide to use a steamer, you can rent one, at which time the dealer will show you how to operate it. You can use any kind of paint you want, just as though there had been no paper on the wall. However, it is important that all the old paste be removed from the wall. Ask your paint dealer for a product that will soften the old paste and permit it to be washed off.

QUESTION: We have a hollow flush door that has a dark stain on it. There seems to be a beautiful grain underneath and we would like to remove the color and then put on a clear finish. But the veneer is so thin that we are afraid we may ruin it. What is your advice?

ANSWER: There is some danger that you may spoil the veneer, especially if any sanding is necessary to get out the remains of the stain after varnish remover has done its job. But if you work carefully, using a dull putty knife and holding it almost horizontally while scraping off the softened finish, you should be able to accomplish your objective.

Since there is absolutely no way of telling what the result will be unless you actually apply the remover, make a test on a small portion of the door in an inconspicuous place. You might try one of the removers that dispense with scraping. If all the stain does not come off, you can consider using a commercial bleach, being sure to follow the instructions on how to wash off the residue.

QUESTION: We are getting ready to build a second home for vacations, weekends and so on. Perhaps it would be better to call it a cabin, since it will have only four rooms and will have a completely rustic theme. We have heard about making a decorative light fixture from an old wagon wheel, but don't quite know how to go about it. We are going to connect electricity to the cabin. Will an electrician be able to set up the wagon wheel fixture for us?

ANSWER: The electrician most certainly will be able to handle the wiring of the fixture. Meanwhile, get or purchase a wagon wheel, which will hang from the ceiling, horizontally by four or five chains attached to the rim of the wheel. To carry out the theme, use dull-finished chains rather than glossy types. The lights can be set into the rim on the upper side.

QUESTION: My neighbor, who is 84 years old, says that the best way to make lumber resistant to decay and insects is to soak it in creosote. He says nothing beats what he calls the hot-and-cold process, but he doesn't remember how hot the creosote should be. We have a project coming up this summer in which we will use lumber outside, next to and in the ground. Can you tell us anything about the process he mentioned?

ANSWER: You can get a lot of arguments about whether this method is better than soaking in modern preservatives, but here's what your neighbor was talking about: The wood is placed in a tank of creosote that has been heated to about 200 degrees Fahrenheit. After remaining there for two hours, it is carefully removed and placed in a similar tank containing unheated creosote and left there for two more hours.

QUESTION: I would like to put heating into our garage, which is attached to the house. Can you tell me how to go about it?

ANSWER: Don't try it if you know nothing about it. Besides, it may be against the law in your community. There are some jobs of this kind you can attempt, but this is not one of them. Hire a professional.

Two Unbeatens in Wisconsin State Tournament Field

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Beloit and Eau Claire Memorial, two of the returning members of the state high school basketball tournament field, will meet Thursday in the top game of the opening session of the 54th WIAA tournament.

The other returning team, Kimberly, meets small school representative Durand in the other evening contest.

The two afternoon games will see Neenah meet Wausau, and—in a Milwaukee-area elimination—Milwaukee Lincoln faces Glendale Nicolet.

Beloit, coached by veteran Bernie Barkin, lost to Manitowoc in last year's championship game, but goes into this year's meet as the favorite.

The Knights were No. 1 in The Associated Press "big ten" all season and boast a sparkling 23-0 record.

Bruce Brown, Lamont Weaver and Dave Kilgore, all tournament-experienced, will lead the Beloit attack.

Eau Claire Memorial, which has been to Madison, and the finals, more often than any other state school, will make its 31st trip, and will do it as the state's fifth-ranked big school.

The Abes, at 23-1, are coached by Jim Gleboff, who will need all his savvy, and a little luck, to upset the top-ranked Knights.

Greg Morley and Gregg Bohlig are the nucleus of Memorial's offense, although Morley's brother, Stan, has come through consistently this season.

Eau Claire has been able to continue winning despite injuries to both Morley and Bohlig.

Kimberly, at 23-0, sports a rapid-fire fast break and good board control in its arsenal.

The Papermakers, coached by Jack Wippich, will have Bill Lamers and Jeff Wildenberg back from last season's tournament team—Lamers as the "quarterback" and Wildenberg as rebounder. Both boys can score well.

son, and coming in with a glossy 23-1 record, will carry the small school standard at the meet.

It's only fitting, as the Panthers knocked off small school powers North Crawford and Onalaska in the sectional at La Crosse.

The evening bracket could feature a Friday night showdown between Beloit and Kimberly, if both win as expected on Thursday.

The crucial game would be a rematch of a second-round game last year, which Beloit won 73-60.

The afternoon bracket will lead off with the most upset-minded team of the regionals and sectionals, Wausau, which faces Neenah.

The Lumberjacks knocked off Rhinelander and Schofield, both of which were ranked in the AP "big ten," before taking the Marshfield sectional by dumping small school Weyauwega.

Wausau coach Doug Martin, who can pick his team from the largest student body represented at the tournament, most often goes with the press—and usually does it with great success.

The Lumberjacks will start the meet with a 17-6 record. Neenah coach Ron Einerson will probably attempt to play his own press against Wausau, which would make it a very pressing game.

Neenah, going in at 19-4, pushed the defending state champion, Manitowoc, out of the running in Saturday's sectional final.

The second game of the afternoon session will leave only one Milwaukee area team in the running, as Milwaukee Lincoln and Nicolet will meet, with the winner rating a good chance of advancing to the finals on Saturday.

Lincoln, coached by Jim Smallins, has won the championship five times, and can't be counted out of the running for number six.

The Comets finished second in Milwaukee's City Conference, but came on strong in the last part of the season, going over the 100-point mark time and again.

Ellis Turrentine was the top Comet scorer all year, averaging just over 30 points per game, with Dave Hickenbottom and Jim Foster close behind.

All three are great leapers, with Hickenbottom the tallest at only 6-foot-3.

Nicolet, with the second-largest student body among the eight finalists, will take an 18-5 record to Madison after coming through with two very tight

North Stars Top Blues 3-2 for 6th

ST. PAUL (AP) — The scrapping Minnesota North Stars still clasped Stanley Cup playoff hopes today in the National Hockey League's Division.

The North Stars, taking a two-day respite after playing five games in seven days, stretched their unbeaten streak to six games Sunday with 3-2 victory over the St. Louis Blues.

Goalie Cesare Maniago stopped 39 St. Louis shots while Walt McKechnie fought off two defenders and slapped in what proved to be the winning goal before a noisy St. Louis crowd of 14,647.

The performance came after the North Stars, with superior hockey, had to settle for four straight ties including a 2-2 deadlock against Philadelphia at the Metropolitan Sports Center Saturday night.

The win left the North Stars in fifth place but still within striking distance of the Philadelphia Flyers and Los Angeles Kings for the final West Division playoff.

The North Stars now have 50 points, two behind the fourth-place Flyers and three behind the third-place Kings.

New York's Rangers, bidding for an East Division playoff spot, invade the Met Wednesday night. The North Stars then play at Philadelphia Thursday night and return home to meet the Flyers again Saturday night.

Los Angeles has eight games to play, Philadelphia six and the North Stars seven.

The North Stars finally chalked up their first win this season in seven games against St. Louis goalie Glenn Hall. The only other victory against the Blues this season was a 2-0 shutout by Maniago with Jacques Plante in the St. Louis goal.

Skaar Rink Cops 'Spiel

GALESVILLE, Wis. — The high school curling season ended Sunday with the seventh annual All-High School Bonspiel.

The Don Skaar rink won the first event. Members of the team are Skaar, Mary Hanson, Mark Sacla and Rusti Filkowski.

Jerry Hammond's rink won the second event. Other members of the team are Marci Johnson, Bill Truax and Kay Tranberg.

In the third event, Bob Johnson's rink, composed of Johnson, Rita Docken, Dick Spencer and Sue Erickson, won.

Minnesota forward Claude Larose missed the final two periods of the game because of a charleyhorse sustained when he was checked into the boards.

But his replacement, rookie Danny Lawson, gave the North Stars a 1-0 lead in the second period after a perfect pass from Danny O'Shea.

J. P. Parise increased the lead to 2-0 in the third period, blasting in a 20-foot shot while the North Stars were a man short. Terry Gray scored unassisted for St. Louis and then McKechnie scored the clincher. Ab McDonald deflected in the second St. Louis marker.

The North Stars continued their hard checking and continued getting the major share of penalties. Danny Grant was assessed a 10-minute misconduct penalty for throwing his stick in protest of one call.

General Manager - Coach Wren Blair remained at odds with the officials.

"Saturday night there were three or four instances in the final minutes of play where they could have called a penalty on a Philadelphia player," Blair said. "But I guess when it concerns the North Stars the rules are not the same."

"As I've said before, it's not what they call on us that makes me so unhappy," he said. "It's what they don't call on the other team."

Grant had an assist against the Flyers, tying the NHL record of 62 points in a season by a rookie. He now has 31 goals and 31 assists.

In Durand—Anything Is Possible

By BOB JUNGHANS
Daily News Sports Writer

LA CROSSE, Wis. — The bedlam of a basketball championship had subsided. People stood around in little knots as janitors scurried to clean up tournament debris that littered Mary E. Spwyer Auditorium.

At one end of the basketball floor slumped Onalaska High School coach Chuck Deeth who had probably coached his last game as Hilltopper mentor. Moments earlier he had been trying to console his heart-broken players following Saturday night's 84-73 WIAA sectional tournament championship loss to Durand.

NOW HIS wife was trying to console him.

"We just got beat by a better team tonight," he stated flatly. But it was evident that he said it out of politeness rather than conviction.

Not far away stood another cluster of people, four of them wearing the gold blazers of the Durand High School coaching staff.

"Milwaukee Lincoln made it, Kimberly made it and Neenah made it," said Pete Adler, who, as Durand football coach, had seen this same group of athletes put together the longest gridiron winning streak in the state via three straight unbeaten seasons. Adler was naming some of the other teams in Wisconsin which won sectional championships Saturday night and earned berths in the Wisconsin State High School Basketball Tournament which opens Thursday in Madison at the University of Wisconsin fieldhouse.

"IT LOOKS like we're going to play Kimberly in the first game," he added. "We get one of the good ones right off the bat," agreed 6-2 senior guard Mike Krisik. "There's nothing wrong with that."

Kimberly will be one of two unbeaten teams in the tournament with 24 straight victories. The Papermakers were ranked third in the final Associated Press Big Ten poll. (Beloit, which was ranked No. 1, is the other unbeaten). Durand, meanwhile, will go into the tournament with a 23-1 record and 23 straight triumphs. The Panthers, ranked sixth in the AP Little Ten and No. 1 in the Winona Daily News area, have had no one come closer than Saturday night's 11 points since a season-opening loss.

"SIMPLY great! What a sensational feeling," sighed head coach Al Ormson. "The kids were great. Everyone of them played an outstanding game. They had to because we beat a fine team tonight. We certainly won't meet anyone quicker than Onalaska in the state tournament."

But as the only small school in the tournament as well as being one of the shortest teams in the eight-team field, would the Panthers find themselves awestruck by the aura and excitement of state tournament activity?

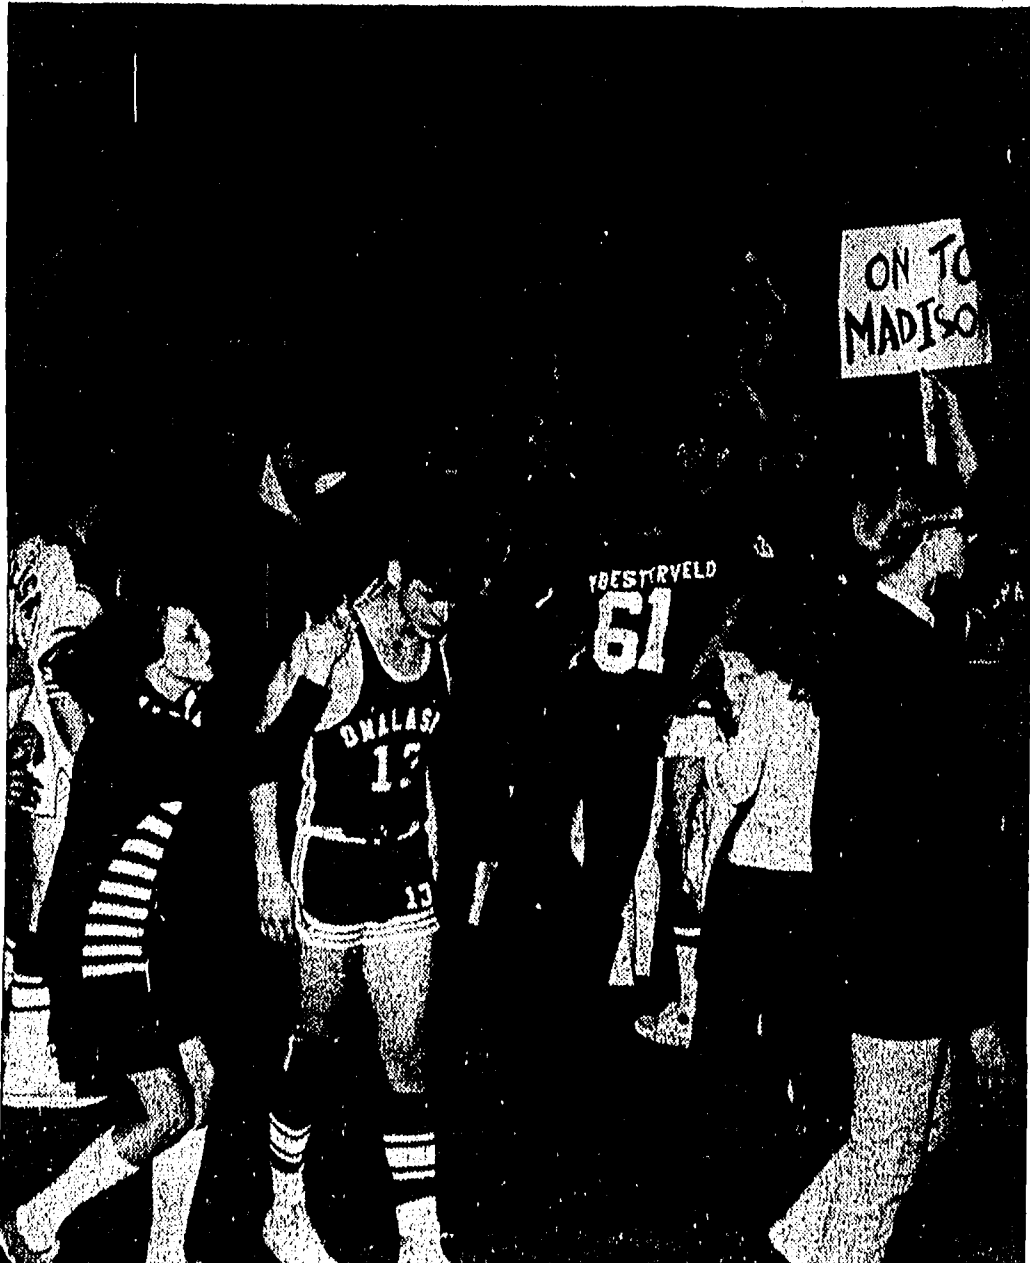

"Nope," was Ormson's frank answer. "These kids are just too used to winning to get scared out by either the size of the opponent or the size of the fieldhouse. I have confidence in them and they have confidence in themselves."

So Durand becomes the first team in the area to make a state tournament trip since Alma went and finished third in 1966.

"WHAT ABOUT some pictures, Al?" this writer asked Ormson. "Is it possible to take the players out of school some afternoon for some pictures?"

"Right now," summed up the personable coach, "I think anything is possible."

240 Attend Annual City Pin Banquet

A total of 240 bowlers attended the annual Winona Men's Bowling Association banquet Saturday night at the Winona Athletic Club and saw Vic Schewe receive a plaque and $50 bond in commemoration of his 300 game of Dec. 26.

In elective action taken at the meeting Mike Gostomski was added to the board of directors, joining Carl Heitman, Gordio Fakler, Bob Kratz, Clarence Rivers and Ollie Davles.

Don Gostomski was elected an honorary member of the board, joining Rudy Ellings and Joe Page in that role.

Officers for the coming year are: Harvey Stever, president; Fran Hengel, Bob McGill, Ron Dreas and Clarence Bell, vice presidents; Clarence Rivers, treasurer, and Bob Kosidowski, secretary.

Vikings Sign 3 More Players

ST. PAUL (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings of the National Football League said Saturday three players have signed 1969 contracts.

They are veteran offensive tackle Grady Alderman, center Mick Tingelhoff and rookie receiver Mike O'Shea. O'Shea is a fifth round draft choice from Utah State.

THE SIGN SAYS IT ALL . . . Durand players are hoisted on the shoulders of their exuberant fans, as one Panther rooter holds up a sign. On the other side of the placard read "On To Madison" and that's just where the Panthers are headed after Saturday night's WIAA sectional championship. (Daily News Sports Photo)

Minnesota State Basketball Tourney Rated Wide Open Says... Marichal Halts Cubs, Holdout at Same Time

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Alexander Ramsey of Roseville and Crosby - Ironton completed the eight-team field for the start Thursday of what is expected to be a wide open 57th Minnesota High School Basketball Tournament.

Jampacked audiences of more than 18,000 persons at Williams Arena on the University of Minnesota campus will watch the tournament.

Alexander Ramsey surprised St. Paul Central 71-57 for the Region 4 championship while Crosby - Ironton stunned previously undefeated Pelican Rapids 68-67 in double overtime to round out the field Saturday night.

Duluth Central, 19-6, the only repeater from the 1968 tournament, opens the first round at 2 p.m. Thursday against Alexander Ramsey, 22-2. Minneapolis South, 14-5, tangles with Crosby - Ironton, 21-2, at 3:30 p.m.

Rochester John Marshall, with the best tournament record at 20-1, plays Wells, 20-3, at 7:30 p.m. Gaylord 20-4, concludes first round action at 9 p.m. against Bemidji, 16-6.

Prep basketball buffs are rating the tournament a tossup, primarily because the shadow of Edina is not hanging over the field. Edina, winners of the past three tournaments, was eliminated in district play.

The eight teams represent an original field of 487 starting out late last month with the sub-district hopefuls:

Duluth Central Trojans (19-6): Coached by Jim Hastings. The Trojans are the only 1968 tournament team returning this year. They took third place the last two years, won titles in 1950 and 1961 and will be in their seventh tournament. The Trojans finished fourth in the Big 10 League but won the Dist.

26 and Region 7 titles, downing Hibbing 57-47 in the regional final. Central will floor the tallest tournament team entry that probably is one of the strongest defensive clubs—with a three-year average of allowing less than 50 points per game. Starters include 6-foot-8 Bill Haddon, center; 6-3 Jeff Grohs and 6-2 Bob Kunze, forwards; 6-2 Richie Pearson and 6-2 Larry Everett, guards. Pearson, all-state last year, and Grohs are returning starters.

Alexander Ramsey Rams (22-2): Coached by Bob Erdman. The Rams won the Dist. 14 title and shocked St. Paul Central 71-57 in the Region 4 final to gain their first state tournament entry. Ramsey relies on a fast-breaking offense and subdued Central with a pressing defense and have averaged 70 points a game. The starters, whose height can stand up to most in the tournament, are 6-5 Rick Herreid, center; 6-4 Bill Cafferty and 6-0 Jim Rust, forwards; 5-7 Tom Steiner and 5-11 Rick Webb, guards.

Minneapolis South Tigers (14-5): Coached by Lute Mona. The Tigers are first Minneapolis team since 1957 in the tournament and are making their fifth appearance but first since 1934. Surprised Dist. 17 field and Region 5, taking Albany 71-61 in regional final. Height makes a Tiger fast break click. The starters include 6-3 Ken Pieh, center; 6-4 Keith Hardeman and 6-0 Tom Grice and 5-11 Dick Albrecht, guards. The Tigers have a string of upsets going for them. They beat City Conference champion Central in the district and stunned Bloomington Lincoln in overtime in the region semifinals on Anderson's two free throws.

Crosby-Ironton Rangers (21-2): Coached by Bill Salisker. The Rangers have won 18 straight games and knocked off the state's last unbeaten team, Pelican Rapids, 68-67 Saturday night in the Region 6 final that went into two overtimes. The Rangers rely on good rebounding and good field goal percentages. Won Dist. 24 title. Starters are 6-5 Bob Taylor, center; John Rinde and Paul Heglund, forwards; Mike Zaubar and Frank Zima, guards. Heglund was the hero of the double overtime upset of Pelican Rapids, sinking a basket and a free throw for the Rangers' last three points.

Rochester Marshall Rockets (20-1): Coached by Al Wald. The Rockets won the Big 9, Dist. 3 and Region 1 championships. The only loss was a 73-64 decision to Austin Jan. 11. Rockets avenged that defeat 76-66 in Region 1 final after beating Spring Valley 96-66 in the semifinals, scoring 70 points in the second half. Explosiveness is Marshall's strong point as shown in the Spring Valley barrage. Marshall likes to work the ball in for close shots, and with their height the Rockets can do it. Starting in World's 1-2-2 offense are 6-1 Kraig Wold at the point; 6-5 Tom Senst and 6-2 Craig Jensen at the wings; 6-4 Mark Hanson and 6-3 Dave Hollander, forming a double post. Jensen is top scorer with 19.5 points per game but all starters are averaging in double figures except Wold. Rockets will be in their 12th tourney, won in 1917.

Wells Wildcats (20-3): Coached by Lloyd Stussy. Wells is making its fourth appearance. The Wildcats won the Dist. 5 title after losing to an excellent Waseca club in final seven seconds in final regular season game. Cats stunned Mankato for Region 2 championship. Wells uses two big men inside for the boardwork and likes to fastbreak with over-all team quickness and sharp outside shooting. Wells goes with 6-5 Doug Schnoor at center; 6-2 Steve Feist and 5-11 Steve Schiltz, forwards; 5-11 James Sauer, 6-0 Richard Calahan or 6-0 Tom Wetzel, guards. Wetzel was troubled last week with flu but played in regionals. Schiltz is strong outside shooter, hitting 25 against Mankato.

Bemidji Lumberjacks (16-6): Coached by C. A. "Bun" Fortier, who is bringing his 14th team to the tournament. Bemidji has been in a total of 25 tournaments, winning titles in 1936 and 1948. Jacks lost last regular season game 58-53 to Moorhead but came back for Dist. 26 title and then walloped Thief River Falls 60-48 for Region 8 championship. Hustling, pressing defense are trademarks of one of the shorter tournament teams. Starters include 6-3 Tony Burkner, center; 6-1½ Greg Beaumont and 5-9 sophomore Dwight Degerman, guards; 5-11 Wayne Olson and 5-11 Tom Hill, forwards. Burke, Beaumont, Olson and Hill—all seniors—average between 12 and 13 points per game.

Gaylord Spartans (20-4): Coached by Darrell Kreun. The Spartans' only other tournament appearance was in 1928 when they won the championship and sportsmanship trophy. They have won 15 of their last 16 games, including 53-36 Region 3 title game against Olivia with harassing defense after winning first Dist. 10 crown in 19 years. The Spartans love control ball work profoundly for the good shot. Another short team, the Spartans start 6-2 Randy Heidmann at center; 6-2 Joel Barknecht and 5-10 Chuck McCann, forwards; 5-9 Walt Zachow and 5-7 freshman Gene Zachow, guards. Barknecht is averaging 17.6 points per game, Heidmann 15.2.

I went basketball punchy. In Madison the other day Purdue, Marquette, Kentucky and Miami of Ohio were here they played in the NCAA Regionals.

I had my annual St. Pat's party on March 17th. We sold over 400 tickets the Norwegians bought the most of them.

If you seen me eating lute-fisk you can see what caused it.

Elroy Hirsch the new Athletic Director at Wisconsin he lit up the campus like skyrockets on the 4th of July night.

We needed him you could had the flu bad and still you would have sang "On Wisconsin" when Elroy landed.

I told I thought Minnesota might win the Big 10 this fall. He said how about Wisconsin? I don't think he meant next fall though.

I will have to come up to that golf club again which is outside of Winona. That is the most beautiful sight I ever seen that is really scenery.

If I do come I'll have John McGuire come with me he can sit and look at the scenery I'll do the driving. I wonder if John has ever been in any auto races?

Some rioters are amazed that students with sufficient ability to get by without government aid, actually believe they have some rights too. Like attending classes unmoled and getting their education.

Somebody from Winona wanted to know if I was born in Ireland. No I was born in the Fourth Ward in Madison, Wisconsin. That is still Dublin in this country. They don't call me Rouny they call me Irish Joe. What more could be fairer?

and Rettenmund. Dave Nelson paced Cleveland's 13-hit attack with four singles in as many trips to the plate.

The Braves scored twice in the seventh to overcome a 3-2 Washington lead, Hank Aaron driving in the go-ahead run with a sacrifice fly. Pinch hitter Ed Kirkpatrick tripled home two runs in the eighth, powering Kansas City past the Pirates B squad.

A five-run sixth inning burst, triggered by Billy Cowan's two-run single, and newcomer Mike Kekich's strong pitching ended the Yanks to get by Detroit. Jim Pagliarini led the Oakland assault against Seattle with a double and three singles. Tommy Davis had a triple, double and two singles for the losers.

Willie Davis stroked three hits as the Dodgers trimmed the White Sox at Nassau, the Bahamas. Singles by Tom Haller and rookie Bill Russell and a sacrifice fly by Jim Lefebvre delivered the Los Angeles runs.

Four San Diego pitchers—Dave Roberts, Dick James, Fred Kapawczik and Dick Dare—combined for a six-hitter and Tony Gonzalez, the Padres' wild card pinch hitter poked a two-run single against Arizona West.

Central Washington beat Elizabeth City 96-82 to take third place.

Atlanta nipped Washington 4-3, pinning Ted Williams' Senator with their ninth loss in 10 starts; Kansas City shaded the Pittsburgh B team 2-1; the New York Yankees topped Detroit 5-3; Oakland bombed Seattle 13-6; Los Angeles shaded the Chicago White Sox 3-1 and San Diego beat Arizona Western College 6-1.

East New Mexico Cops NAIA Title

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Eastern New Mexico, a team which lost seven games during the regular season, blazed away with 67 per cent field goal shooting to capture the 32nd NAIA basketball tournament championship over Maryland State Saturday night.

The Greyhounds, who wound up with a 24-7 season record, including five tourney victories, gunned down the ailing Hawks 99-76 in the title game by drilling 39 of 58 shots.

Winona High Grads Lead Augustana '5'

SIoux FALLS, S.D.—A trio of Winona High graduates were stalwarts on the Augustana College basketball team which recently completed its season.

Bill Squires, a 6-5 forward, was one of three seniors and a starter on the Augustana team which finished the season with an 11-13 record.

Squires was the second leading scorer on the team with a 13.4 average and the second leading rebounder with a 7.8 mark.

Colbert Leads Monsanto Open In Final Round

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—Jim Colbert, a former life insurance agent, has something beside a sizzling putter to fall back on to protect his lead going into today's final round of the $100,000 Monsanto Open Golf Tournament.

The former Kansas State football player, looking for his first victory as a golfer, has some very happy memories of the Pensacola Country Club course.

"It was here that I made the cut for the very first time, in 1966," Colbert said Sunday as he whirled away the rained-out finale playing bridge with some fellow pros.

The 28-year-old father of three daughters also posted his second-best finish in four uneventful years on the tour at the same course when he tied for fourth here in 1967. His best finish was third at Jacksonville that same year.

Colbert emerged from obscurity Saturday after he fired a third round—in driving rain—for a 54-hole total of 13-under par 200 and a one-stroke lead over Deane Beman, two-time U.S. amateur who shot a 63.

Luz Trevino was two shots back at 202. Gary Player and Ray Floyd were tied at 203.

Protsman Leads NIC in Two Departments

HOUGHTON, Mich.—For a sophomore, Steve Protsman cut a pretty wide swath through the Northern Intercollegiate Conference this past basketball season.

The 6-4, 215-pounder from Lansing, Iowa, led the NIC in both rebounds and shooting percentage from the floor. Protsman hauled down 127 rebounds in 12 games for a 10.6 average, while hitting 69 of 127 shots from the floor for a 54.3 shooting percentage according to final NIC statistics. He also finished seventh in league scoring with a 15.8 average.

Gene Schultz was the fifth leading scorer in the circuit for the co-champion Warriors. He hit at a 58.8 clip. Freshman forward Larry Grimes of Michigan Tech and senior center Max LaVelle of Bemidji tied for league scoring honors with 20.1 averages.

A pair of conference records held by former WSC star Dave Meisner were also broken this season. LaVelle shot 123 free throws to break Meisner's record of 118, and Mike Tate of Morris broke Meisner's free throw accuracy record. Tate hit 88.6 percent of his free throws compared to Meisner's old record of 87.3. Meisner's mark of 103 free throws made in one season still stands, however.

victories in the sectional. The Knights (Beloit is officially the Purple Knights) are coached by Tom Puls and will try to stop Lincoln with good board work and continued hot shooting.

Steve Bazelon is the mainstay of Nicolet's attack, as the 6-foot-5 center consistently hits from the outside as well as inside. Jim Bronson backs up Bazelon in the scoring column.

Thursday's afternoon session will begin at 1:35 p.m., with evening action starting at 7:05 p.m.

Consolation and third-place games will be played Saturday afternoon, beginning at 1:35 p.m., with the championship game slated for Saturday night at 7:35 p.m.

PADRES (Continued From Page 12)

Mets or Houston did their first year.

The Padres put the accent on youth, players who might be several years away from playing on other major league clubs, when they drafted from other teams during the winter.

Their lineup, thus, is nearly free of players with only a few years left to play. Even the veterans are relatively young.

The one place where the Padres are reasonably solid is in the outfield. Gomez says, in fact, that many other clubs have approached San Diego about a trade and admits that one could be made before the opening of the season.

The only one not available for a trade, says Gomez, is Ollie Brown, the big, moody, but potentially great outfielder obtained in the draft from the Giants. Brown, says Gomez, will be the starting rightfielder.

Tony Gonzalez, who hit .339 with Philadelphia in 1967 but fell off last year, is likely to be in left with rookie Clarence Gaston, who has been impressive during the spring, a solid contender for center.

Other outfielders on the club—all with major-league experience—are Larry Stahl, Al Ferrara, Ivan Murrell and Ron Davis.

In the infield, Bill Davis, obtained from Cleveland in the deal that sent Zoilo Versalles to the Indians, will play at first "if he can hit the way we hope he can," says Gomez.

Second base is a question mark with Jose Arcia, drafted from the Chicago Cubs, battling with rookies Jerry Davanon and Rafael Robles. Roberto Pena, a .360 hitter with Philadelphia last year, is set at short and Ed Spezio, acquired from St. Louis, is the likely third baseman.

Rookie Danny Bredren is the No. 1 catcher at this point, though 20-year-old Fred Kendall may have the job in a year or two.

Gomez has three starting pitchers set—Al McBean from Pittsburgh, Dick Selma from the New York Mets and Dick Kelley of Atlanta—with one or two more expected to come from a list that includes Al Santorini, Jack Kirby, Phil Knuckles, Frank Reberger, Dick James and Mike Corkins.

Billy McCool, obtained from Cincinnati, and Tom Dukas, acquired from Houston, figure to be the stoppers in the bullpen.

And last, though potentially not least, is Johnny Podres, the former Brooklyn and Los Angeles Dodger great, who has looked very sharp this spring in his comeback attempt. Now 36, Podres could be used as a starter once a week or so.

Lake Center Cops City League Playoff Crown

Unbeaten Lake Center Switch added the Park-Rac City League basketball playoff title to its earlier regular season championship Thursday in the Junior High gym by easing past Steve's Lounge 59-52.

Chip Schwartz led the winners with 23 while Jim Dybevik had 13 for Steve's.

Lake Center will now compete in the state tournament at St. Cloud. Austin will be the first round opponent at 12 noon, Saturday.

Denver Repeats as NCAA Ice Champ

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—For the second time the University of Denver has captured two NCAA Hockey championships in a row and now the Pioneers can shoot next season at Michigan's mark of three straight, set in 1961-63.

"It was as tough as any championship game we've played," DU Coach Murray Armstrong said after watching his skaters beat Cornell, top team in eastern collegiate hockey, 4-3 in the Broadmoor World Arena Saturday night.

Pipers Drop 4th Straight To Indiana

ST. PAUL (AP)—The Minnesota Pipers limped back to the Twin Cities today after concluding a six-game road swing Sunday with their fifth loss.

The Indiana Pacers trampled the Pipers 144-113 Sunday before an Indianapolis crowd of 8,827, handing Minnesota its fourth straight American Basketball Association defeat.

The loss also dropped the Pipers below the .500 mark for the first time this season. The Pipers, 33-35, are in fourth place of the Eastern Division, 4 1/2 games behind the leading Pacers.

Tom Washington missed his second straight game with a pulled groin muscle. Connie Hawkins, the 6-foot-8 leading scorer and rebounder, played in the last three games—his first action since undergoing knee surgery Feb. 1.

Hawkins scored 14 points in a 131-120 loss Saturday night to the Oakland Oaks and eight against the Pacers. Coach Gus Young is using his star on a spot basis to get him ready for the playoffs.

The Pipers play the New Orleans Buccaneers Wednesday night at Minneapolis in one of two remaining home games.

Golf Lessons to Start at YWCA

Golf lessons for men and women are scheduled to start at the YWCA Wednesday.

Classes are open to beginners and those who want to improve their game. Players will learn the grip, stance, proper use of clubs and golf course etiquette.

All participants are asked to attend the first class at 7 p.m. The group will be divided according to skill and convenience for future classes.

There are six lessons in the course. Weather permitting the last classes will be held at Westfield Golf Course.

Players are asked to bring a No. 5 iron to the first class and to wear rubber soled shoes.

The classes are under the direction of Harry Kowalczyk.

For further information call the YWCA.

Market Stays Lower; Steels, Motors Down

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market continued lower this afternoon, trading slowed.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 3.42 points at 500.88. The Dow had been off 4.60 points at 11 a.m.

Losses continued to hold a substantial advantage over gains, leading by a bit less than 550 issues.

Brokers said an accumulation of buy orders near the opening indicated the market was readying for a technical rally, but announcement of another boost in the prime rate "apparently doused any hopes of that."

A number of the nation's major banks announced today that they were boosting the rate which a bank charges its most creditworthy customers to 7 1/2 per cent from 7 per cent. The increase is the fourth since early December.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 1.4 at 329.3, with industrials off 2.6, rails off 1.0, and utilities off .6.

Gold issues were mixed with Homestake and Campbell Red Lake off fractions, and American-South African Investment and Dome Mines up fractions.

Conglomerate issues also were mixed. AMK Corp. and Ling-Temco-Vought rose 1/4 each. National General, Glen Alden, and Loew's Theatres were off fractions.

Steels and motors generally were lower, as were electronics. Utilities were mixed.

Among higher-priced issues, Du Pont was off 3/4; Control Data, off 1/4; IBM, up 1/4; and Xerox, off 2/8.

Of the 20 most-active issues on the New York Stock Exchange, 13 were lower, 5 were higher, and 2 were unchanged.

Occidental Petroleum, most-active on 66,700 shares, was off 3/4 at 41 1/4. Rapid-American, second-most-active, gained 1/4 at 32 1/2.

Losses of a point or more were taken by Halliburton and Alcoa. Fractional gains were posted by INA Corp., Freeport Sulphur, and Natomas. Brunswick, whose directors along with those of Union Tank Car Co. have approved a plan of combination, was off 3/4. Mobil Oil, Sperry Rand, and RCA also declined fractions.

Twelve of the 20 most-active stocks on the American Stock Exchange were lower, 7 were higher and 1 was unchanged.
