North Viets Make Heavy DMZ Attacks

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese forces mounted their biggest single ground assault along the demilitarized zone in more than a year, losing 105 troops but killing 22 Americans and wounding 53 others, military spokesmen reported today.

Two American helicopters also were shot down. The American casualties included one helicopter crewman killed and four wounded.

Earlier, the U.S. Command had reported 108 North Vietnamese troops killed and put American casualties at 26 dead and 70 wounded. But a spokesman later revised the casualty figures downward, saying there had been a discrepancy in the reporting system.

The 17-hour battle—fought six miles southwest of the allied outpost at Con Thien and 3 1/2 miles below the demilitarized zone—lasted from Wednesday afternoon until dawn today.

More than 100 miles to the south, in the populous coastal lowlands south of Da Nang, 130 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong were reported killed and 59 captured in the heaviest fighting in that region in 2 1/2 months. Allied casualties in eight actions in the area were seven Americans and three South Vietnamese killed and 26 Americans and 33 South Vietnamese wounded.

Another battle, on the edge of the U Minh forest in the Mekong Delta, brought total enemy casualties reported in the past 24 hours to 251 killed and 58 captured.

The allied commands in their weekly casualty summaries reported that the number of Americans killed in action last week totaled 97, a slight increase over the previous week, while South Vietnamese and enemy fatalities were the highest in two months. The summaries listed 476 government troops and 2,476 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed. Another 698 Americans were wounded.

"Enemy activity last week increased by 100 per cent compared to the previous week," said the communique from the Saigon government.

The weekly report brought the total American combat dead reported since Jan. 1, 1961, to 39,329 and the total reported for the enemy to 568,989 in that period.

Since the enemy kicked off his winter-spring offensive on Nov. 4, his attacks have been concentrated in the southern part of the central highlands and the Mekong Delta, and a spokesman for U.S. Command termed the attack Wednesday afternoon below the demilitarized zone "an isolated action."

ARMY STANDS READY AS MARCH NEARS

Promise Order, Tranquillity

By JOSEPH E. MOHBAT
WASHINGTON (AP) — The first of a long file of marchers steps off tonight in a two-day procession that war protest leaders hope will culminate in the most massive peace demonstration in the history of the republic.

While order and tranquillity have been promised, the Army stands ready. The stated goal of the protesters, converging on the capital from across the land, is to convince President Nixon the overwhelming majority of the American people want the war in Vietnam ended now.

But the President has said a "great, silent majority" is on his side and he and his spokesmen insist the foreign policy of the United States will not be altered by street parades.

With a last-minute display of amity between protest planners and the government, much of the tension that had built up in preparation for the three days of demonstrations seemed to dissipate.

But while optimism about nonviolence was being voiced on all sides on the eve of the protests, some 9,000 riot-trained soldiers were deployed around Washington, ready to move to protect the seat of government if the Justice Department — and Nixon — conclude things have gotten out of hand.

As the New Mobilization and Vietnam Moratorium committees feverishly worked out major details of the three-day campaign, the first of what protest leaders have predicted will be 250,000 demonstrators were trickling into the wet, chilly capital. A critical problem: Billeting for tens of thousands as yet unaccommodated.

An outside chance of Washington's first snow hung over the beginning of the 40-hour "march against death," scheduled to get under way shortly after dark tonight.

OTHERS WILL SUPPORT U.S. POLICY

Many Protests Set

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Thousands of black balloons will be loosed in New York City, war toys will be burned in Cedar Falls, Iowa, and protesters at Denver University say they will fly a Viet Cong flag beside Old Glory.

The largest demonstrations of the Vietnam Mobilization weekend will be in Washington, but hundreds of other protests are being organized in cities and on campuses around the nation.

Supporters of U.S. policy in Vietnam also plan demonstrations.

Seven combat infantry veterans in Lake Charles, La., asked all veterans to join them in a 24-hour vigil at the local courthouse to demonstrate support for American fighting men in Vietnam.

Dr. Kenneth Wells, president of the Freedoms Foundation, said in Valley Forge, Pa., that President Nixon should offer a television defense of his policies featuring Ellsworth Bunker, U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam, and Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of U.S. troops in Vietnam.

Organizers of Vietnam protests in New York have invited demonstrators to Sheep Meadow in Central Park, to lie in the grass and release more than 39,000 black balloons, one for each American killed in Vietnam. Several thousand white balloons will be released, an estimate of those to die in the next year.

The organizers said they had checked with local airports to make sure the balloons would not interfere with air traffic.

At the University of Northern Iowa in Cedar Falls, protesters said they would build a bonfire and toss war toys upon it.

Some Denver University students said they would lower the American flag to half staff at noon Friday and raise a Viet Cong flag beside it.

Senate Settles Into Showdown Over Haynsworth

WASHINGTON (AP) — The ranking Republican on the Senate Judiciary Committee said today that "philosophy, not ethics" underlies the controversy over the Supreme Court nomination of Clement F. Haynsworth Jr.

"The real issue is President Nixon's attempt to restore some balance to the Supreme Court of the United States," said Sen. Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska in urging confirmation of the South Carolina jurist, now chief judge of the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

"Free-wheeling charges have been directed at Judge Haynsworth's ethics, charges that will be hard to live down if sustained by this Senate," Hruska said. "Yet, it is a battle not really being fought over ethics but over the philosophy of the man."

Hruska's speech was prepared to lead off the Senate debate on Haynsworth's nomination, submitted by Nixon last August. The outcome is in doubt.

The office of Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., reported that he will make a speech later in the day opposing confirmation. He has been among senators listed as uncommitted.

Hruska, who Wednesday filed the Judiciary Committee's majority report supporting the nomination, asked "what precedent will be set if a man of Judge Haynsworth's reputation and ability can be brought down by often-repeated charges."

At stake are the votes of more than a score of uncommitted senators who could swing the balance on confirmation of President Nixon's nomination.

The debate is expected to extend into next week.

Filing of a Judiciary Committee majority report backing Haynsworth set the scene for today's opening of Senate floor arguments. The report said questions raised about the ethical standards of the South Carolina jurist have not been substantiated.

The committee majority also said the more fact that a controversy has arisen—even though unsubstantiated—is no reason in itself for refusing confirmation.

Protest Events That Are Planned

- TODAY
- The second nationwide moratorium begins with two days of grass roots organizing and discussions, including sessions with congressmen and senators at the local level.
 - The March against Death, a 40-hour procession from Arlington National Cemetery to the White House and Capitol begins at dusk. About 45,000 marchers will proceed in single file with each bearing the name of either a U.S. soldier killed in Vietnam or that of a destroyed Vietnamese village.
- FRIDAY
- A nationwide student strike led by the Student Mobilization Committee.
 - The March against Death continues and the Moratorium cuts off activity to allow the focus on Saturday demonstrations in Washington and San Francisco.
 - A memorial service at Washington National Cathedral with Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr. among the speakers.
- SATURDAY
- Close of March against Death.
 - Mass march and rally in Washington.
 - Mass march and rally in San Francisco.

Nixon to Stay In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon rarely has spent a full Saturday in the capital since taking office nearly 10 months ago, but he plans to be at the White House this weekend when the latest war protest is scheduled to reach its climax.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the President, who usually flies to Florida or to nearby Camp David, Md., for his weekends, has a regular round of appointments Saturday.

That's when the protesters are to wrap up their three-day demonstration with a mass march down Pennsylvania Avenue to within a block of the executive mansion.

In addition to the announcement of the unusual weekend plans for the President, the White House also arranged an unusual Wednesday evening news conference for a bipartisan congressional delegation backing Nixon's Vietnam policies.

The session underlined an administration claim that it has a majority of both the Senate and House signed up in support of Nixon policies.

Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., describing himself to reporters as a Lyndon B. Johnson Democrat, said that a pro-Nixon House resolution he sponsored "has attracted such spontaneous support from both sides of the aisle that we now have 300 co-sponsors."

On the Senate side, things were done differently, presumably because Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., as chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, would not think kindly of such a proposal.

The White House, as it to emphasize its "business-as-usual" stance, said normal public tours of the building would be conducted today and Friday. However, Ziegler said, due to the number of people expected in the capital for the demonstration, the White House will be closed on Saturday.

IF HE FEELS ON SHAKY POLITICAL GROUND

Aides Indicate LeVander May Not Run

By GERRY NELSON

ST. PAUL (AP) — Aides to Gov. Harold LeVander indicated Wednesday that the governor may not seek re-election if he feels himself on shaky political ground.

Republicans close to LeVander were shocked and downhearted at the governor's 30 percent approval rating in a Wednesday Minnesota Poll of the Minneapolis Tribune.

The showing was LeVander's poorest since he took office in 1967 and came at a time when most Republican leaders felt the governor was picking up some in popular support.

Aides said the governor's position is that he likes being governor and wants to run for another term. But the aides said LeVander will not do so if he feels it would be "running into a stone wall."

One of the dismayed is GOP State Chairman George Thiss. The chairman says LeVander is "doing a great job." Thiss said LeVander is doing all the party expects of him and has a good record of accomplishment.

"As far as I am concerned, he is our candidate for re-election," Thiss said.

LeVander said in June, 1968, that he was "looking forward" to the 1971 and 1973 legislative sessions—a rather broad signal that his own plans called for at least two terms.

But in recent months, he has fended off questions on whether he is a candidate, saying he'll announce at the proper time.

LeVander's status is likely to be discussed—at least privately—when the Republican State Central Committee meets in St. Paul next week. Le-

Vander will address a party business session Nov. 22.

There have been some suggestions that LeVander might counter the "lack of leadership" charges against him by calling a special legislative session.

However, Lt. Gov. James Goetz told a GOP group in St. Paul Wednesday he knows of no plans for such a session.

Goetz was asked to list three "gut issues" for the next election. His list included environmental problems, the structure and relationships of various levels of government, and the unfinished job of state government reorganization.

A member of the GOP audience, Peter Seed, told Goetz that except for pollution problems, the list of issues would be "hard to communicate" in an election campaign.

Apollo 12 Undergoes Tank Transplant, Systems 'A-OK'

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Apollo 12, man's second excursion to the moon, was back on schedule for Friday's launch today after technicians swapped out a leaking fuel tank and began the laborious process of re-loading it.

"We look real good now," said Paul C. Donnelly, launch operations manager.

The launching is set for 10:22 a.m. CST Friday.

Charles Conrad Jr., Richard F. Gordon Jr., and Alan L. Bean—the Navy commanders who are manning the flight—relaxed this morning by doing acrobatic ics in T-38 jet trainers at nearby Patrick Air Force Base.

Their condition was good and so were forecasts for Friday's launch weather.

President and Mrs. Nixon and Vice President and Mrs. Spiro T. Agnew are scheduled to be among the 300,000 visitors expected for the launch.

The leak in the hydrogen tank was discovered Wednesday when crews had loaded it to 80 per cent of capacity. It was removed late at night and replaced with one taken from the Apollo 13 ship which was in a hangar being readied for launch next March.

The tank, part of the fuel cell system that produces the ship's electricity, is built like a thermos—with a vacuum acting as insulation between outer and inner walls. The leak was in the outer wall.

The tank itself holds 28 pounds of hydrogen, kept in a liquid state by cooling to 423 degrees below zero. There are two such tanks for hydrogen and two for oxygen in a service compartment behind the main cabin.

"We're comfortable because we know our problem," Donnelly said. "The problem is the tank. We have to get it out of there and get a new tank in." The space center had experts flown in from the manufacturer's plant in Downey, Calif., to help with the transplant.

The second hydrogen fuel tank on board would have been enough for the mission, Donnelly said, "but we've always lifted off with two tanks in the event we had this type of problem in flight."

While Gordon and Bean remained in crew quarters

Wednesday for more study of their flight plan, Conrad was in a mission directors' meeting.

It was decided at the meeting to forego the only other launch opportunity this month—on Sunday—because the later start would move the moon-landing point 300 miles to the west.

Officials said they didn't feel Conrad and Bean should try to land on the alternate site because photographs from Apollo 11—showed landmarks that were unknown before. The detailed training has been for the prime site.

A prime objective of Apollo 12 is to develop pinpoint landing techniques essential for the next moon landing, Apollo 13, in the rocky highlands.

Such accuracy was not necessary on the July flight in the flat Sea of Tranquility—and Apollo 11 missed its target by four miles. The Apollo 12 target is in the Ocean of Storms, also relatively flat.

Heading for the alternate site also would have wiped out the opportunity for Conrad and Bean to go to surveyor 3, an unmanned craft that soft-landed in a crater on the Ocean of Storms in April 1967. The astronauts hope to photograph the Surveyor and snip off some of its parts to see what has happened to it under lunar conditions.

Launching opportunities are determined by the position of the moon as it rotates around the earth and by lighting conditions at the landing site. The astronauts require a sun angle of 7 to 14 degrees—lunar dawn—so that shadows of prominent peaks will clearly mark their approach path.

Assembly Votes 50-45 to Lay Aside Urban, School Aids Bill

By DAVID L. TODD
MADISON, Wis. — The Wisconsin Assembly, after a two-day debate, Wednesday voted 50-45 to lay aside further consideration of a controversial $42 million urban and school aids proposal passed earlier by the Senate as a so-called "trailer budget bill."

Lawmakers spent nearly 23 amendments to one version of the Senate proposal with a price tag of $27 million and then laid it on the table by a vote of 50-45.

The bill would have provided sizeable amounts in added school aids, veterans home loan funds and urban welfare programs. It was to have been funded through an increase in liquor, mutual insurance premium, and personal income taxes, along with a tapping of unused state funds.

Many see the trailer and its substitutes as the only remaining hope for the type of legislation recommended by Gov. Warren P. Knowles to a special session of the legislature he called in September to consider programs he said were "omitted" from the new state budget.

After tabling the measure, which had become a crazy-quilt of programs and funding measures designed to achieve wide-based appeal, the Assembly went on to kill a $54 million proposal authored by several Democratic lawmakers.

Ironically, it was Assistant Minority Leader Frank Nikolay, D-Abbotsford, who made the motion to reject the proposal. It was passed, 84-11, after a hastily called strategic huddle.

Several Republicans said they hoped to return later to the issue of urban aids after they had an opportunity to "whip into shape" one of the several alternate proposals submitted by State Rep. Stanley York, R-River Falls, and others.

The floor action came after Rep. John Shabaz, R-New Berlin, warned that an urban package much beyond $15 million would be "irresponsible."

"It is not responsible to load up the measure with goodies and then kill it," said Shabaz. "The people at the local level will just have to see that the state and federal bucks aren't coming as freely as before which will foster efficiencies only dreamed of before."

Rep. Robert Huber, D-West Allis, said later it was Republicans who were acting irresponsibly.

"If you want us to vote for something, you'd better be prepared to be responsible," said Huber, who added the GOP members of the lower house were ignoring the "priorities of this state."

Rep. James Lynn, D-Milwaukee, said by not allowing either substitute to come to a vote, the legislature was "denying the people of the state the opportunity to see how we stand."

"I think any citizen who had seen this debate would have been disgusted," said Lynn.

His sentiments were echoed by independent Jerry Wing of Greenfield, who said his colleagues were "bleeding the poor taxpayer and reading comic books."

The Assembly was slated to resume debate on other controversial and pressing pieces of legislation at 9 a.m. today.

Senate Balks at Cut in Recreational Program

By ARTHUR L. SRB
MADISON, Wis. — As expected, the Wisconsin Senate balked Wednesday at an Assembly proposal to cut $56 million planned for a massive recreational land bonding program.

Rejection of the important provision in the Outdoor Recreation Act Program ORAP-200 set the stage for a showdown between the Houses over the conservation plan.

The Senate decided to amend the Assembly bill and send it back to the lower House. The vote was 31-1, with Sen. Robert Knowles R-New Richmond, casting the lone negative ballot.

"We should not jeopardize the water pollution portion of this bill," Knowles said, proposing that a substitute bill be introduced to deal specifically with the land acquisition program.

By overwhelming votes, the Senate concurred in an Assembly bill which gives the secretary of agriculture power to establish a list of milk or milk product producers when a proposed marketing order would affect the industry.

Under the proposal, only 51 percent of all qualified voters would be needed to endorse a marketing order. It now takes approval of two-thirds of all producers eligible.

The bill also would permit cooperatives to vote as a bloc.

Wisconsin voters last spring approved two advisory referenda, one endorsing the ORAP bonding program and pollution control bonding.

Rotarians Hear WSC Biologist

Winona, because of its location on the Mississippi River, is a center of good fishing, recreation and less polluted water than most areas, Dr. Calvin Fremling, Winona State College biologist, told members of the Rotary Club at its Wednesday luncheon at the Park Plaza.

LAKE PEPIN and the pools of the navigation dams above the city and the clear water entering the river from the Chippewa and other tributaries act as purifying agencies, he pointed out.

Changes brought by navigation development during the past 75 years were outlined by the speaker. The river today is wider due to dredging operations of the corps of engineers.

Flood hazards would be greatly increased, in his opinion, by the construction of a 12-foot channel. The river level probably would rise five feet.

The hot water from the Red Wing atomic power plant will not be a serious problem, as it will be cooled in the Red Wing dam pool, but the radioactivity problem could be a serious one, he pointed out.

FISH POPULATION on the river in the Winona area, he estimated, was about 300 pounds to an acre and the percentage of rough fish is increasing.

Warren Magnuson, College of St. Teresa, was introduced as a new member of the club.

Says Education Efforts for Indians Failing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal efforts to provide American Indians with quality education have been marked with near-total failure and haunted by prejudice and official ignorance, according to a Senate subcommittee report.

"We have concluded that our national policies for educating American Indians are a failure of major proportions," the report said. "They have not offered Indian children—either in years past or today—an educational opportunity anywhere near to that offered the great bulk of American children."

The Indian education subcommittee's final report is a distillation of two years of hearings, staff studies and field investigations, begun by the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and continued by his brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

"The American Indian," the report said, "lives in a state of severe, grinding poverty. Ninety per cent of his housing is atrocious and beyond rehabilitation; he suffers the worst health conditions in the nation; his unemployment rate is 50 per cent and the average family income is $1,500 per year."

The report blamed much of this on popular prejudice: "the inability to see the Indian as anything other than perpetually 'dirty, lazy and drunk.'"

But it said an official and historic policy of coercive assimilation has resulted in the destruction of Indian communities and sense of pride, and has created a self-perpetuating poverty cycle and the growth of a large and ineffective federal bureaucracy which has wasted federal appropriations.

4.2-Mile March May Take Four Hours

Single-file, marshaled by their own kind, told to obey all traffic rules, they will trudge from Arlington Cemetery across Memorial Bridge, around the Lincoln Memorial, and past the White House. Each marcher will bear a placard lettered with the name of an American fighting man killed in Vietnam, or a Vietnamese village destroyed.

On passing the northeast gate of the executive mansion on Pennsylvania Avenue, the marcher will call off the name on his placard, proceed toward the Capitol grounds, and place the sign in one of 40 coffins.

It's a 4.2 mile march that could take each of the 45,000 marchers 2 1/2 to 4 hours, depending on traffic. The "March Against Death" is supposed to last from dusk tonight to dawn Saturday. The lead marchers would not be celebrities, but next-of-kin.

Thus the scene would be set for Saturday's mass march and rally—which until Wednesday had been the most jagged bone of contention between protesters and government.

Across the nation, planes, trains, and buses have long been chartered, autos pooled, for this day in Washington. Estimates of the number expected have fluctuated wildly, although there's no way of knowing for sure, the most common guess has been 250,000.

The federal government, after weeks of negotiations, granted a parade permit for historic Pennsylvania Avenue—but not around the White House—to allow a sizeable percentage of the marchers to use that symbolic route Saturday morning.

The march will terminate at the vast, rolling grounds of the Washington Monument, in view of Nixon's bedroom. The grounds were the site of October's moratorium rally, when about 35,000 persons assembled, and Tuesday's pro-administration Veterans Day gathering of about 10,000.

The demonstration leaders have agreed to keep to one side of Pennsylvania Avenue, stationing their 2,500 marshals along the way, between the marchers and the government buildings that line the route—the Federal Trade Commission, the National Archives, Justice, Internal Revenue Service, the Post Office Department, the District of Columbia Building, the Treasury Department.

Former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, who saw "no real indication of any significant violence," said a task force of more than 100 local lawyers would patrol the city to monitor events. Area doctors, too, were prepared to tend anything from blistered feet to LSD freak-outs.

An undetermined number of Army units around the country have been alerted for possible airborne travel to the capital. The first unit to come to Washington was from the 82nd Airborne Division of Ft. Bragg, N.C., which was tested in the Detroit riots and the 1967 march on the Pentagon.

Barring crisis, however, police work was to be left to the 3,800-man Metropolitan Police Department and 2,000 D.C. National Guardsmen.

The President, will be back in the White House Saturday after having viewed the scheduled Apollo 12 blastoff at Cape Kennedy, Fla., Friday.

The New Mobe hopes to carry its full caskets into the White House grounds Saturday and meet with the President. The likelihood of either entry into the grounds or a conversation with the President seemed slim.

NP Ordered To Continue 'Mainstreeter'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Northern Pacific Railroad was ordered Wednesday by the Interstate Commerce Commission to continue operations of its "Mainstreeter" passenger train for at least another year.

Rejection of the important provision in the Outdoor Recreation Act Program ORAP-200 set the stage for a showdown between the Houses over the conservation plan.

The measure, sought by Gov. Warren P. Knowles and state conservationists, calls for $14 million in bonding for water pollution control efforts. The upper House restored the $56 million for recreational land acquisition.

The Mainstreeter—once known as one of the nation's finer passenger trains—travels 1,850 miles between St. Paul, Minn., and Tacoma, Wash., in 42 hours.

The railroad had applied for discontinuance because of revenue losses and declining patronage.

The ICC discounted the fewer number of passengers saying that service by the railway caused the decline. Specifically cited was Northern Pacific's removal of first class and slumber coach accommodations.

The commission added the railroad had adopted inconvenient schedules, reduced employee assistance to passengers at terminals and depots and allowed the Mainstreeter to be sidetracked to allow freight trains to pass.

A spokesman for Northern Pacific said the company would have no comment on the ICC order until it has had an opportunity to study the language of the order.

Says Love Just a Special Friendship

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — "Love," says Prof. George Carpenter, "is nothing more or less than an elaborate friendship."

Carpenter teaches a course called "Marriage and Family Relations" to 75 students at the University of Nevada.

The 47-year-old instructor, father of six, says he stresses love in his course because "society is compulsively interested in it but refuses to analyze it."

His researches on the subject have led Carpenter to this definition:

"Love is the successful interaction of two personalities. It is based on and positively correlated with the ability the two people have to share confidential communication."

"The pleasure of love is the emotional security one gets from such interaction."

In an interview, Carpenter cited the main ingredients of love as understanding, a sense of equality and mutual reliance.

He tells his students—who receive three semester credits for the course—that:

—There is no such thing as love at first sight. It's just an "idealized affection attachment."

—Sex is "a beautiful companion of love" but not a part of it.

—The movies tell it wrong when they put forth the ideas that love is permanent, opposites attract, there is only one person in the world right for you and you can love only one person at a time.

Boa Constrictors Used to Cover 'Pot' Shipment

MIAMI (AP)—Fifty boa constrictors were used to cover marijuana shipped into the United States from South America, customs agents said Tuesday.

The boas, shipped in linen bags packed into five crates, were found atop 100 pounds of marijuana that had been crammed into the same type bags and placed under the snakes.

Agents said the snakes, marijuana and 890 animals and birds—including monkeys, exotic birds, 150 baby iguanas and one ocelot—were seized at Miami International Airport Monday after being shipped from Colombia.

JUST SAY 'CHARGE IT' AT TEMPO

AWOL Soldier Returned to Ft. Carson

A Winona man who was released to military authorities in August for return to his Army unit at Fort Carson, Colo. after pleading guilty to a charge of tampering with a motor vehicle was released to St. Paul military police again Wednesday after being apprehended by city police for being absent without leave from Fort Carson.

Kenneth Dickson, 23, 477 W. Mill St., appeared in municipal court Aug. 6 on a charge of fathering an illegitimate child and Judge John D. McGill released him into the custody of County Attorney James D. Soderberg who was to aid Dickson in his plans to marry. On Aug. 10 he was arrested on a charge of attempted auto theft which was subsequently reduced to tampering with a motor vehicle to which he pleaded guilty Aug. 28. Judge McGill sentenced him to 90 days in the Winona County Jail and suspended the sentence on condition that he be returned to his Army unit.

Dickson was apprehended by city police Monday after police had been notified of his AWOL status.

EARLY-MORNING ACCIDENT . . . Edwin D. Nelson, 29, Minneapolis, received slight facial cuts at 1:25 a.m. today when his car was struck by a switch engine at the Milwaukee Railroad crossing at Huff Street. (Daily News photo)

Engine Strikes Car, Driver Slightly Hurt

One man was slightly injured this morning when his car was struck by a switch engine at Huff Street and the Milwaukee Railroad tracks.

Treated and released for facial cuts at Community Memorial Hospital was Edwin D. Nelson, 29, Minneapolis. He was taken to the hospital by Praxel Ambulance Service after the 1965 model sedan he was driving was struck in the left side by the engine driven by Ray Kulasiewicz, 467 Junction St., at 1:25 a.m.

Police said the Nelson vehicle was southbound and failed to stop in time to avoid being struck by the westbound engine. The car was pushed 147 feet along the tracks. Damage was $800 to the car and $50 to the switch engine.

Police chief James McCabe said there are flashing signals at the intersection and that further investigation is being made.

Durand Man Loses Leg In Accident

DURAND, Wis. (Special) — Larry Brenner, 24, rural Durand lost his left leg from the knee by amputation Wednesday after it had been crushed by a log rolling from the top of a log at the Schlosser Sawmill three miles west of Durand, where he had been working the last six weeks.

The accident occurred at 10:30 a.m. The log hit him slightly in the face before falling onto his leg. Doctor and ambulance were called and he was brought to St. Benedict's Community Hospital here, then transferred to Sacred Heart Hospital, Eau Claire, where the surgery was performed.

He worked on the farm of his father, Lawrence, at Eau Claire before taking the log hauling job at the mill. He is a graduate of Lima High School.

Coleman, One Of 'Chicago 15' to Speak at WSC

The Winona Moratorium committee will sponsor an education seminar Friday from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. in the "Smog" at Kryzsko Commons Student Union, Winona State College.

The discussion on "Peace in Vietnam and in the World" is open to the public, said John Heddle, a junior at WSC, acting as spokesman.

Two of the speakers will be State Sen. Nicholas Coleman, minority leader of the Minnesota State Senate who is running for governor on the DFL ticket, and Chuck Fullencamp, Milwaukee, a member of the Chicago 15, a group tried for burning draft records in Chicago.

INJURED IN CRASH — Fred Peterson, 34, Elgin and Lawrence Hanson, 24, Wabasha, collided at the intersection of Minnesota 247 and Olmsted County 2 Tuesday at 4:40 p.m. Both were treated for minor cuts and bruises in the Elgin doctor's office and released. Peterson was driving a car and Hanson, a truck.

PSC receives normal objections or protests from interested parties by Dec. 5. At its discretion the PSC may call a hearing on the application.

If no hearings are ordered, the order will become permanent after Dec. 5.

Religious Aspect Of Population Is Discussed

Population and human values were discussed at Wednesday evening's lecture of the interdisciplinary series sponsored by the Office of Academic Affairs at the College of Saint Teresa. Lecturers were Patrick Hedges of the theology department and Robert Collins of the philosophy department.

The lecture was televised "live" in the college TV center and viewing centers were set up in the library lecture hall, the Roger Bacon Lecture Hall and four classrooms in Saint Teresa Hall.

Hedges traced the Biblical values and the references to values and the development of other effective values as known today in the Christian theological movement, such as, the inviolability of natural processes, "dualistic concept of man" and "asceticism." He also referred to "secular" values which are implicitly religious and quoted Tillich's definition of religion as "full-time concern," "depth of experience." Hedges pointed out that this is a non-institutional definition which does not specify the content of faith. All of these values have an effect on the ability of people to cope with the problem of population as it exists today.

Finally the theologian developed the idea of the population explosion as a revelatory situation. "Given the possibility of the extinction of man, one must confront the related possibility that man is not the goal of creative evolution. In this perspective the existence of man is relativized, and religious concern must be cosmological rather than humanistic," commented the lecturer. In conclusion, Hedges pointed out that the population makes clear: The gift-like character of life, the absolute dependence of man; the unity of life, of which man is a single manifestation; the increased potential for moral decision that occurs with consciousness — the neutrality of consciousness itself and danger of consciousness; and the general sinfulness of man.

A panel discussion on the entire population problem will be held on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Roger Bacon Lecture Hall. Panelists will include representatives from the seven disciplines involved in the lecture series including Walter Steiner, Dr. Harry Gardiner, D. Gace Hendel, Philip Meininger and Hedges.

Arcadia School Program Honors War Veterans

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special) — Larry Schleusner, in his Veterans Day address at the Arcadia High School Tuesday morning, reminded people of their inherited freedoms and that rededication to these freedoms must be made again and again in order to preserve them.

Colors were presented and recited by Tekker-Erikson Post 17, American Legion. Karl Bisek, student at Arcadia High School, was master of ceremonies and led the pledge to the flag. The program also included the national anthem and a hymn by the high school band, a reading by Mike Walske, student, minute of silence, firing squad volley, taps, and closing remarks by Supl. W. B. Gausch. The entire public school enrollment was present and some townspeople also attended.

Pleads Guilty to 3 Murder Charges

LA CROSSE, Wis. (AP) — Donald Shortt, 41, Madison, Wis., pleaded guilty today to three charges of murder, stemming from holdups of loan companies.

He switched from an earlier innocent plea, and also changed to a guilty plea on a charge of attempted murder and two of armed robbery.

Shortt, appearing in Circuit

Court here, waived a jury trial that had been scheduled for January 26.

Circuit Court Judge Peter Pappas was hearing summary cases being presented by the district attorneys of Eau Claire, Jefferson and La Crosse counties, where the crimes were committed. After the cases were presented, the judge will accept or reject the plea.

Shortt was arrested in Madison Sept. 5, a few hours after an attempted murder and holdup at a Watertown loan company. He was charged in that case, as well as a double slaying in an Eau Claire loan office holdup and a single slaying and holdup in La Crosse.

He had pleaded innocent Oct. 17.

Authorities in St. Paul, Minn., also want to question Shortt regarding the Nov. 29, 1968 holdup of the Interstate Industrial Loan Co., when Orris Boyd was shot to death and the gunman got away with $500.

It Will Cost More to Ride Winona Buses

Permission to increase adult fares has been granted to Winona Transit Co. by the Minnesota Public Service Commission.

The PSC order, effective last Monday, grants an increase in adult fares to 25 cents for single rides. The previous fare was 20 cents. Price for tokens has been advanced from five for $1 to four for 50 cents.

Student fares (3 years through high school) remain at 15 cents each or seven for $1.

No hearing will be held on the fare increase unless the

Quie Refuses To Support Moratorium

WASHINGTON — Rep. Albert H. Quie declined to give his support to the Vietnam moratorium scheduled for Friday and Saturday.

Quie raised this question. "Why are some of the supporters of the moratorium intent on forcing President Nixon to withdraw before our troops can be replaced by South Vietnamese forces? It is with these people that I disagree."

Instead of crediting President Nixon with bringing about the unilateral withdrawal they formerly sought, said Quie, critics have switched their demands to a cry for immediate withdrawal.

"Most supporters of the moratorium might be saying that as a means of saying, the same as I do and President Nixon intends to do, withdraw as soon as possible," said Quie.

The First District Congressman called for American unity behind the President's policy of orderly scheduled withdrawal of our troops to be replaced by South Vietnamese forces.

Quie said the moratorium not only undermines that policy but also carries the seeds of violence.

Tech School Accepts Flag

An American flag was presented to the Winona Area Vocational-Technical School Tuesday during a Veterans Day program arranged by the student senate.

The flag was presented by Mrs. Leonard Strelow, 303 E. Wabasha St., the widow of a World War I veteran.

Steve Abraham, president of the student senate, presided at the program and the flag was accepted on behalf of the school by Thomas W. Raine, director of the vocational-technical school.

A flag-raising ceremony concluded the program and refreshments were served by the senate.

TREMPEALEAU MEET

TREMPEALEAU, Wis. — A meeting to promote business and provide senior citizens' housing will be held at the Trempealeau Village Hall at 8 tonight. All organizations are invited to attend. A representative of the Department of Resource Development will talk.

Honor Leaders At Scout Banquet

A total of 125 scout leaders and friends attended the annual Sugar Loaf District Boy Scout recognition banquet Wednesday at St. Mary's College Center to pay honor to outstanding leaders of the past year and elect new officers for the coming year.

In addition, they were entertained by Paul Giel, former Winonan and all-American football player at the University of Minnesota, as he reminisced about some of the humorous highlights during his collegiate and professional sporting career. He currently is sports director for WCCO Radio, Minneapolis.

Art Grindland, 1108 W. 5th St., received the Scouters key for training and service to the boys in his troop. The John Pollema award went to Troop 10, St. Stanislaus Catholic Church, for outstanding work in boy advancement, camping, recruiting, leadership, activities and use of the patrol method.

Out-going District Chairman James Carroll presented Scouter of the Year awards. Kenneth Seebold, 1612 Edgewood Rd., was recognized for his work as institutional representative of St. Martin's Lutheran Church. Seebold has been in scouting over 10 years and has served in many capacities from district camping committee member to the Gamehaven Foundation.

Tom Wildenberg, 472 E. Howard St., is cubmaster and Webelos leader, Pack 10, and assistant scoutmaster of Troop 10, St. Stanislaus Catholic Church. He is an Eagle scout and has served on the staff of Camp Hok-Si-La. While an Explorer scout, he was in the contingent that made a trip to the Philippine Islands.

Mrs. Clifford Schwartz, 464 E. Howard St., is den mother for Pack 2, Central Lutheran Church. A working mother, she has been a den mother for three years. She was instrumental in developing her pack's theme for the 1969 exposition which took first place. In addition, she teaches Sunday school.

John Schleck, Elba, the fourth recipient, was unable to attend. He will receive his award later for being responsible for keeping Troop 119 in Elba together. He has been a troop committee chairman for several years and is also on the cub pack committee. For the past two years he has been the community finance chairman.

Elected to the district committee for 1970 were: Larry DiMatteo, chairman; Dr. Curtis Johnson, vice chairman; Jerry Miller, commissioner; Don Gulbrandsen, advancement; the Rev. Daniel Dernek, camping; Richard Ethnier, health and safety; John Hauenstein, organization and extension; Lewis Gasink, exploring and Lou Sayre, public relations.

Elected as members at large were: James Carroll, Ronald Kruse, Warren Moe, Leland Larsen, Larry Gilhooly, George Jessen and John Hughes. Master of ceremonies for the evening was Brother Raymond Long from St. Mary's College. Sayre was program chairman.

Altura Village Liquor Store Bids Opened

ALTURA, Minn. — Altura Village Council opened bids this week on remodeling of its municipal liquor store but postponed until Tuesday night a decision on contracts.

Total of low base bids for construction was $18,533.32, and total of low bids less alternates was $10,454.63.

For general construction, Bruce McNally, Winona, submitted the low bid of $8,330 and an alternate low of $8,640. Kreofsy Bros., Plainview, submitted a base bid of $9,783.90 and alternate of $11,854.45.

For electrical work, Stark Electric, Altura, submitted a base bid of $1,568.32 and alternate of $1,264.63.

Mechanical bidders were: Kramer & Toye, Winona, base bid, $1,977, and $550 alternate, and Altura Hardware, $1,087 base and $560 alternate. The base bid in all cases would include a new bar and equipment and the alternate would include a new stone front and omit the bar.

Bidders on bar and equipment were Oken's, $8,330; St. Paul Bar and Equipment Co., $7,548; Aslesen's, St. Paul, $11,161; and Goulet's, $9,000.

Residential Solicitation Nearly Finished

About 100 contributions are yet to be solicited by the Residential Solicitation. Section of the Community Chest campaign which ended officially on Oct. 25, according to Mrs. R. E. Miesbauer, residential chairman.

More than 70 women have been working since the campaign began Oct. 6 soliciting contributions from individuals and small businesses.

In charge of solicitors are: Mrs. Carl Lauer, co-chairman; Mrs. John Clemens, first ward; Mrs. F. Burmeister, second ward; Mrs. J. Plaisance, third ward; Mrs. Byron Schneider, fourth ward; Mrs. Ray Pofert, Goodview, and Mrs. Robert Hahn, suburbs.

COLLEGE NIGHT . . . Cotter High School students and their parents Wednesday participated in a "College and Further Education Night" program designed to assist in planning for students' post-high school education. Representatives of some 25 colleges, nursing schools, technical and vocational schools were at the meeting to discuss program offerings with parents and students and one session on financing was conducted. From the left are Ray De Muth, director of guidance at Cotter who arranged the program; Jan English, a representative of the College of St. Catherine, St. Paul; Greg Nixon, president of the Cotter student council; Kathy Burke and Mary Hoepfner, Cotter students, and Mary's mother, Mrs. Joseph G. Traffic Ruining N.Y. Love Life?

By EARL WILSON
NEW YORK — Kirk Douglas rushed in for our appointment 15 minutes late and said, "I love this town but something's got to be done about the traffic. It's ruining New York's love life."

"Everybody hates everybody for waiting for them. A girl hates a guy she's got a date with when he's a half-hour late. I'm supposed to pick up my wife, I'm late, she hates me."

Kirk said he had an arrangement to lick it. "Under my arrangement," he said, "first, all trucks would make deliveries at night. Second, parking regulations must be obeyed — build a garage under Central Park. Fourth—"

"What about third?"
"Wanted to see if you were listening. Third, under my arrangement, you have areas where only taxis and buses are permitted — private cars would have to stay uptown. Fourth, investigate Con Edison, make them tear up streets Saturdays and Sundays. They'd have to under my arrangement."

"Pardon me, Kirk," I said. "Wouldn't you like to talk about the movie you're promoting?"
"No, sir!" he said adamantly. "I only want to talk about the arrangement. I have to control traffic."

"You could at least tell me the title of the film."
"Oh, all right," he pouted, "but that's all. It's called 'The Arrangement.'"

BARBRA Streisand has all the other gals envious since her dancing date with handsome sexy bachelor Prime Minister Trudeau at Raffles.

Indeed, we think he had a remark worthy of comparison to the late Charles MacArthur's (when he handed Helen Hayes peanuts and said, "I wish they were emeralds"). We asked Trudeau how long he'd known Miss Streisand and he replied, "Not nearly long enough."

Voice of the Outdoors

Other Outdoor Sports

The final day (Wednesday) of the duck season is history for Minnesota and Wisconsin hunters and Southeastern Minnesota deer hunters, fairly well satisfied, also have called it quits.

Now the buying of coon hounds has taken over the area. Most hunters feel that cooler weather — such as predicted — would be a help. However, Tuesday's shower did dampen the woods and dogs now, hunter report, are more alert.

However, the big movement is back to the river where walleye and sauger fishing has shown fair improvement. Quite a few limits of fair-sized sauger and some walleyes were taken Veterans Day. Walleye fishermen are looking for even better fishing with the first real cold spell.

Not many reports have come in from deer hunters who traveled north to the nine-day rifle zone. It is a bit early for their return. After all, a deer hunting outing should last at least a week even if a party "fills" on the first day.

Locally, reports we have received indicate a fair percentage of deer hunting parties filled, probably not as many as in former years, however in the Money Creek Mound Prairie area, several parties filled with six to nine deer. There also were a few six-deer parties in the Whitewater, Zumbro and Root river areas.

Deer Sausage Rule

Wisconsin deer hunters with a yen for venison sausage may rest easy — meat packing plants can still put pork and venison together, as before, to make this sportsman's delicacy in the traditional style.

This announcement by the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources (DNR) is based on recent statements by state meat inspection officials and on revisions in federal regulations for "custom slaughterhouses."

For a time last year, it appeared that strict controls on the amount of lean pork which could be added to venison would doom the favorite sausage recipe. Now, a new ruling permits the mixture of venison and pork in any proportion so long as the sausage is for consumption by the owner and not offered for sale.

Wisconsin's game regulations prohibit the sale of venison from wild deer. Federal rules still require that venison sausage be prepared separately from other commercial operations within the processing plant, and that all work be done in a clean and sanitary manner.

Lake City Council Refers Truck Bids
LAKE CITY, Minn. (Special) — No action was taken by Lake City councilmen meeting Monday night on the bids opened for dump and pick up trucks. They were referred to the street commission for recommendation.

Merle Duncan, chairman of a group for water safety, spoke in opposition of putting fluorides in the water. The annual park report was given by N. E. Schwartz. A petition for extension of the sanitary sewer in the southeast section of Lake City was referred to the board for water and lights. A group presented street problems in the Hans Peterson addition.

The street committee was authorized to advertise for bids for petroleum products. Chief of police Merlin Brunkow and patrol officer Clausen will attend the narcotics seminar at St. Paul Dec. 3-5.

In other action, the resignation of David Sontag as a member of the library board was accepted and regular expense claims were allowed.

The next session will be held Tuesday.

Students Start Tutoring Plan At St. Mary's

A group of St. Mary's College students have initiated a unique student-to-student tutoring program for the 1969-70 school year to enable freshmen to become better acclimated to the collegiate environment.

Robert Anderson, a junior at St. Mary's and originator of the project, explained the group's objectives in terms of his personal experience. "I felt lost as a freshman and would have appreciated some help and encouragement, especially from other students."

Anderson also believes that such a program would greatly improve relationships between the different class levels. He is of the opinion that, at the present, "there is not enough communication between freshmen and upperclassmen."

First-year students are now given the opportunity "to get the feel of college through the upperclassmen." Anderson said.

Both Louis Guillou, associate dean for academic advising, and Thomas Schaefer, director of freshmen studies, voiced their approval of the program. Guillou described it as an excellent undertaking, and said he is "proud that the project is student initiated."

Schaefer is of the opinion that "freshmen can benefit tremendously" from the idea because first-year men are often "fearful of seeking a teacher's help." He said it would probably be easier for them to approach a fellow student. Schaefer also expressed his "admiration for the men" who have volunteered their time, and he hopes that the project will eventually be expanded.

Five departments and 16 students are presently involved in the program.

50-Year Legionnaires
LAKE CITY, Minn. (Special) — Five 50-year members of the American Legion and Lakeview Barracks, World War I Veterans, participated in the 50-year Legion parade at a Minneapolis Tuesday and attended the Legion dinner for 50-year members at the Radisson Hotel.

Dr. H. F. Fiege, Milton Pearson, Milton Lunde, Ralph Adolph and Lawrence Haase then returned for the Lake City celebration and were among the 18 receiving 50-year pins.

NBC Specials: Much Too Much

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC pre-empted its entire evening schedule Wednesday night to show four special programs, all on the happy and light side.

It was easy viewing, but toward the end of the 3½ hours, began to seem a little much, like a third helping of chocolate mousse.

The multispecial night started on an imaginative, merry note with a half-hour animated comedy about Bill Cosby's growing-up days and made a hero out of his friend Fat Albert.

The narration was pure, familiar Cosby, telling of his gang's football encounter with the formidable Green Street Terrors. It had great charm and warmth—and probably was appreciated more by grown-ups than by children.

Johnny Carson's excursion into early evening television followed and consisted of a series of comedy sketches which were pretty disappointing.

The hour opened with a sketch about two sets of parents with two college-student children announcing their plan to live together. It was broad and predictable. Another was a much too long satire on the Oscar awards, this one featuring "Oedipus Awards" for dirty movies. The idea was funny at first but bogged down.

Aiding Carson were George C. Scott, Maureen Stapleton and Marian Mercer, all skillful Broadway performers. They did their excellent best with the material. Carson, who wore a lot of fright wigs, mugged and played broadly, seemed out of his depth. The three Supremes and the five Temptations, a fine pair of singing groups, worked together in the stylish and handsome hour of music that followed. The theme was Broadway, an excuse for a lot of great, familiar music, from "Mame" to "Rose Marie."

Piana Ross of the Supremes was the undisputed star of the show, leading the clowning, playing everything from a comedy superstarlet of the 1930s to an Indian princess in a mad spoof of the old Nelson Eddy-Jeanette McDonald films. The sets and the costumes were especially effective.

"Norman Rockwell's America," which wound up the night, was based on the warm and gentle humor of the artist and perhaps had more meaning for older viewers who grew up with the now departed Saturday Evening Post. Rockwell's covers were an institution.

The program was a novel retrospective of 50 years of Rockwell drawings, and slipped into sketches or songs based on the artist's theme. Jonathan Winters was effective in a sketch about a lonely traveling salesman. Michelle Lee and Dick Smothers handled the musical sequences and the show ended with a nice interview of Rockwell by Winters.

'From Here to Eternity' Banned In South Vietnam
SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government has banned the movie "From Here to Eternity" for security reasons, the official South Vietnamese news agency announced today.

No explanation was given, but the report noted: "This very popular film has appeared on many screens in Vietnam for the past 10 years."

A government spokesman said he did believe there was also a ban on the James Jones novel on which the movie is based. It is about U.S. soldiers in Hawaii just before the Pearl Harbor attack.

Montgomery Will Auction Painting By Eisenhower
LONDON (AP) — Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery has decided to auction off a portrait of him done by a military colleague, the late Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Montgomery said he had decided to sell the painting at an auction Nov. 26 because "an American friend who was visiting me said he thought it ought to be in America."

Hubert Humphrey—unusually persuasive

By WILLIAM F. WHITE

Hubert H. Humphrey has a rare gift for bringing together those with divergent views. He proved it here in Winona Tuesday night.

He delivered a good, but relatively typical speech at the American Education Week banquet at St. Mary's College. But it was afterwards, when he walked into the St. Mary's gymnasium where some 1,200 students were waiting to fire questions at him that the real Hubert stood up.

IN ABOUT AN hour's time, he delivered, extemporaneously, what would have been considered three or four major policy addresses before the election. He did it before an audience that was prepared to be hostile, particularly because of his previously announced general support of President Nixon's Vietnam War objectives. Long before he was through, he had them in his pocket. But he not only had them in his pocket, he had me there too.

If you had asked me before he started to speak whether I had any common ground with the crowd at all, old Mr. Hawk here would have had to say that I seriously doubted it.

I didn't go to see the former Vice President. My wife and I listened to him on the radio, and it was she who asked the perceptive question after he was through: "When have we listened so intently and so long to anyone speak?" And the answer was immediately obvious to us both — not since we have had a television set. The truth is that you can't LISTEN nearly as well to a man's words if you can see him. Physical appearance, facial expression, drops of perspiration, gestures — all are distractions rather than aids. For the man who really has something to say, radio is a superior medium to television.

AND HUBERT H. Humphrey really had something to say.

The first question, "What is your position on nuclear weapons?", gave him just the briefest pause before he proceeded in at least a 15-minute reply to prove that nobody knows more about the subject than he does, from the technological aspects of detection of Russian nuclear devices to the diplomatic progress or lack of it in arms control through the years. Nobody was going to risk his ignorance by asking him any more questions about THAT.

And that's about the way it went for the rest of the evening. He didn't find it necessary to defend his position on planned withdrawal from Vietnam. He assaulted his audience with his logic, and they bought it, at least for the time they were under his spell.

He drew a new mental picture of the government of Vietnam for every member of his audience, describing it not as a corrupting of generals living it up in Saigon, but as a government mainly local and provincial in scope, not unlike the America of 1800 when our government existed primarily at the village, county and state level.

HE HURLED NEW ideas after idea at an audience-numbing pace, from the suggestion that Japan is well-equipped to be the new stabilizing force in Asia to a series of specific challenges to youth for the post-Vietnam period.

He was great and he knew it.

Never during the 1968 election campaign did Hubert Humphrey project himself through the national communications media as he did here on Tuesday. Why he wasn't able to would be an interesting matter to consider, but it is a certainty that if he had, he would be President today.

Pollution lethargy

Although its method of enforcement may be obscure immediately, it is clear that the federal Water Pollution Control Commission is intent on directing states and communities how to handle their sewage.

This week in Minneapolis the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency told Winona and Goodview officials that the state agency has been badgered by the federal agency about why Winona and Goodview plants are not being combined.

A BETTER INDICATOR of its aggressiveness is in Iowa, where the commission has imposed strict water pollution controls, the first time such action has been taken against any state under the Federal Water Quality Act of 1965.

It's part of a program to push all the states along the Mississippi and Missouri rivers to install secondary treatment — the kind that Winona is planning.

Some states quickly agreed they'd do it within 10 years, but Iowa would make no promises. The chairman of the state water pollution commission said, "We refuse to say we're going to do something when we have no intention of doing it." He says other states say they're going to do it but won't.

As for Iowa's two big rivers, its officials say the quality of the water that leaves Iowa is at least as good as when it enters the state. They plan to fight the order to comply by the end of 1973.

IMPROVEMENT OF sewage disposal facilities is an expensive venture. But it not only is clear that improvements are required but that they will be made eventually. Consequently, the argument is over who will spend the money first for secondary treatment. We're glad Minnesota is moving rapidly toward attainment of this goal and we wish Iowa would follow along as we begin to pass better water along her Mississippi shores.

The Mississippi River may be Winona's greatest asset. We're planning to clean up our small sector of the big one, not because it will improve the water quality for us, but because we're conscious of the river's recreational and commercial importance for cities downstream. With the heightening interest of state and federal officials, we can do more than hope that the cities upstream from us will take the same attitude. — A.B.

Mobilization and confrontation

WASHINGTON — Dean Rusk is said to have remarked at a White House dinner last week that, as a member of the "loyal opposition," he had become "more loyal than opposition" after President Nixon's Nov. 3 speech on Vietnam.

The all-inclusive sprawl of this speech is aptly suggested by the fact that others here heard it as an outright pledge to withdraw all American troops. One prominent antiwar senator, Mike Mansfield of Montana, now is joining in sponsorship of a resolution of support for Nixon.

BUT, HOWEVER, the speech may have obscured the facts of the President's policy toward Vietnam, it left no doubt of his attitude toward domestic critics. Nixon's theme was that the only way to get peace was to support his policy, whatever it is; and that visible dissent was, in fact, support for a Communist prolongation of the war.

The predictable result of these echoes of Lyndon Johnson was to arouse the anger of those who have learned to discount the notion of presidential infallibility, and who are rightly convinced that if the war is one step nearer an end today than it was in 1967 it is only because of sustained public dissent and political opposition. They know that to say what Nixon said was, in fact and effect, to equate dissenters of every character with what Vice President Agnew has more forthrightly called "rotten apples."

This reaction was so predictable, in fact, that Nixon must have known — or at least feared — that his remarks would increase the emotional content, if not necessarily the size, of the mobilization demonstrations to be held in this city this weekend.

SURELY NIXON does not wish the world to see protesting Americans clubbed in the streets with the White House as a backdrop. That would provide the exact opposite of the impression of national unity he wants to give to the world; it would mock American pretensions to political and intellectual liberty; it would inflame those passions the President said he hoped to calm when he took office promising to "bring us together."

The Johnson administration permitted the massive March on Washington in 1967, then maintained order in the city with relatively little violence. Nixon can hardly wish it said that he permitted less dissent, and more violence resulted; yet, that is exactly what could happen if his administration maintains its present attitude. And while tough action against the demonstrators might be momentarily popular with some of the President's supporters, that would be offset by the degree to which the antiwar forces would be further embittered and aroused.

In fact — aside from any pious rhetoric about the evils of violence — neither side has anything to gain from a violent confrontation. It would only dramatize the dissent Nixon wants to dampen, and obscure the cause that inspires the marchers.

'That came up quietly!'

What is President Nixon up to?

WASHINGTON — This is a guess about President Nixon's Vietnam policy. Even his closest associates cannot do much more than guess these days. When he talks privately, he always leaves himself an out. When he talks publicly, he has to address the troops and the enemy in Vietnam and his supporters and opponents at home.

Accordingly, he is purposely vague, not knowing how any of them will react, not being sure of the future or even of himself; so, he moves but always with a line of retreat. Therefore, one can only guess where he is going.

THE GUESS here is that he is determined to get out of the war, and like de Gaulle in Algeria, is covering his retreat in clouds of brave rhetoric. His speeches influence the headlines, but his actions dominate the battlefield. He has taken the political offensive at home but is withdrawing his troops from Vietnam; and in a war of this kind, what he does is more significant than what he says.

He is fighting on at least two fronts — at home and in Vietnam, on both of which he has many different contending factions which could upset his plans. At home, he has to deal with both supporters and opponents of the war — with the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the armed services committees of the Congress, Bill Fulbright and the Foreign Relations Committee, the opposition press, the militant students, the less militant, but nevertheless, powerful antiwar faction in the middle.

Ahead, he has to reckon with the Saigon regime, Gen. Abrams, Ambassador Bunker, the antiwar politicians in Saigon, the fighting allies and the nonfighting allies, the threatened neighbors in Thailand, Laos and Cambodia; the Viet Cong, the North Vietnamese, and the Russians who arm Hanoi while Mr. Nixon is trying to get Moscow's support to control the arms race and the war in the Middle East.

ALSO, THE past and the future haunt the President almost as much as the present. What about all those easy thunderbolts he threw out in the past about stopping communist expansion everywhere? What would the historians, to say nothing of the Democrats, say in 1972 if his retreat from Vietnam led to a disaster and even to a massacre of the South Vietnamese?

"I believe," he said in his report to the nation, "that one of the reasons for the deep division in this nation about Vietnam is that many Americans have lost confidence in what their government has told them about our policy. The American people cannot and should not be asked to support a policy which involves the overriding issues of war and peace unless they know the truth about the policy."

Yet, when he went on from this sensible principle, he got caught up in all the problems of talking to all the different warring factions at home and abroad, and made a palpable political speech, full of ambiguities and contradictions, and ended up by appealing to the "silent majority," forgetting to deal with the "silent minority" of the 40,000 Americans already killed in the war.

In many ways it was an appalling speech, pretending that the militant extremists represented the whole antiwar movement, asking the people to choose between him, "honor" and "right" on the one hand, and the violent young leftists and "defeat," "humiliation" and bigger wars on the other.

EVEN SO, OUR guess is that the President, confronted with all these conflicting forces and psychological demons, is acting for peace. He will keep withdrawing the men from Vietnam in the next year at an even faster pace.

He will continue to hope that the South Vietnamese will be able to take over and hold the line as the American troops withdraw, and that the Thieu-Ky regime will be able to gain the support of the South Vietnamese people. But if they don't, and this is probably the main guess, he will keep withdrawing the troops anyway.

Richard Nixon is a politician, and this is no guess. Somehow he has survived by balancing competing forces and keeping the opposition off balance, and this is what he seems to be doing now.

It is not a very heroic policy, but it is not wholly cynical either. It is hard to believe that he has a "plan" about all this, as he said the other night, but the tendency of his policy is fairly clear, and his policy of withdrawal doesn't have to go on much longer before it will be irreversible.

The enemy could force him to change by launching a major offensive that threatened the security of the American troops and the American command in Vietnam; and the militants at home could produce a change by provoking bloody battles in the capital which would challenge the civil authority of the government, but both would have to be much more violent than now seems likely.

THE PRESIDENT is probably not going to pull out as fast as the militants at home would like or keep his troops in Vietnam as long as the Saigon regime would like, but it is a good guess that the one sure fact is that he has decided to withdraw them and to withdraw them fairly fast.

The tragedy of this — and it is what deeply troubles many of his opponents — is that the process will be slow and a lot of Americans and Vietnamese will be killed in the process. But that is his way of dealing with what is obviously a very complicated and dangerous situation.

In re Bobby Seale

William F. Buckley

One runs into a lot of sympathy for Bobby Seale here and there, based on the judicial melodrama of the past ten days. It is largely unfounded.

1. THE RIGHT to defend oneself in court is fairly well established, though not absolutely so. In certain cases, I am informed, a judge may rule that a defendant is simply incompetent to defend himself, and appoint an attorney to do the job over the objections of the defendant. An obvious example would be the defendant who is not quite there, say Rudolph Hess at Nuremberg.

The right to defend oneself is, however, interpreted within the context of other considerations. Like most rights, it is capable of being abused. A defendant may not change his mind all the time, deciding Monday that he wants John to defend him, Tuesday that he wants James to defend him, Wednesday that he wants to defend himself, and so. The judge is entitled to interpret the defendant's request with reference to other factors that go into the making of a trial.

In the Bobby Seale case, one of these factors was the existence of a half-dozen other defendants in the joint federal action. To have granted Seale's request for a postponement of the trial meant either to sever his trial from that of the other defendants, or to postpone the whole business until Mr. Garry's gallstones (Seale wanted Garry, but Garry was busy with gallstones in San Francisco) were appeased.

2. THE ATTORNEYS representing the defendants are well known and skillful, so that no reasonable observer can conclude that Bobby Seale would be better off defending himself. Indeed, no lawyer would want to go out on a limb and say that Mr. Garry of San Francisco is necessarily a better attorney than Mr. Kunstler of New York. To take such a position, you understand, is a way of saying that the other six defendants are being inadequately represented.

3. JUDGE HOFFMAN does not appear to be a very wise man. Granted he had to do something to restrain Bobby Seale. Trials require a certain minimal cooperation by the defendant. A few years ago in Washington a defendant attempted to distract the court's attention by the simple expedient of disrobing. Finally an exasperated judge ordered him wrapped in blankets and shackled to the chair. The case was appealed, and the action of the judge sustained. What Judge Hoffman has done, of course, is to act as straight man for the symbolic strategy of Bobby Seale, the plot of which is the white authoritarian's reduction of the Negro once again to slavery, complete with the paraphernalia of shackles and gag.

Now Judge Hoffman did not have all that many alternatives, let us grant. Either the trial goes on, or pandemonium goes on. It was Mr. Seale's purpose to create the pandemonium and Judge Hoffman's responsibility to proceed with the trial. He should have thought of a more resourceful solution. Surely a closed circuit television camera would have permitted Seale to sit in an adjacent room, witnessing the proceedings, and available to the jury for questioning when the proper button was pushed; but otherwise outside the court's earshot.

4. JUDGE HOFFMAN does not seem to realize that Seale is engaged in traditional revolutionary strategy. He is attempting to talk over the heads of the officials of the courtroom to his grander constituency, the revolutionary class in America. It is comforting to suppose that that is a very lean following. But Seale has got great attention, and at the expense, much of it, of the prestige of American institutions, and the resilience and ingenuity of American judges.

Seal's purpose is to distract attention, just to begin with, from the crime for which he has been charged, the violation of the 1968 act making it a federal offense to see America in order to attempt to incite to riot: Sort of an anti-riot Mann Act. He may have succeeded in introducing enough extraneous and distracting considerations into the trial to cause an impatient reviewing court to simply throw it out on appeal. It would take months and months to put it back on the judicial road. Meanwhile, lots of time for good riotous moratoria.

5. AND HOW many people meanwhile think of Bobby Seale as the gentleman who has been indicted for torturing and murdering a defector from the Black Panther movement? Not the people I run into, who tut-tut about his treatment at the hands of Simon Legree Hoffman. Washington Star Syndicate

Barrier to Miami

WASHINGTON — We went to the railroad station.

"When is the next train to Miami?"

"Can't say," said the ticket salesman. "How many tickets do you want?"

"We'll need two, but I'd like to see a timetable before buying them."

"Out of the question," said the ticket salesman.

"YOU MEAN you haven't any timetables?"

"Oh, we've got a timetable, all right. Two tickets, you said?" And he began to call the lawyers, the way railroads do when they start to sell you a train ticket.

"One moment, please. Before buying the tickets, I should like to see your timetable."

"Can't let you do that," he said.

"Why not?"

"The timetable is a secret."

"Let me make sure I understand: You have a timetable—"

"Yes," the ticket salesman interrupted. "That really restores your confidence in our railroad, doesn't it?"

"—but the timetable is a secret."

"Naturally," said the ticket salesman. "You can hardly expect us to make our timetable public, now can you, sir?"

"Why not?"

"WELL, THAT should be obvious. If we published our timetable, the public would expect our trains to observe it. Customers would be mighty cross if they came down here to catch a train at a specific time and we didn't have a train for them to catch."

"If you really have a timetable, why shouldn't you have a train ready when the timetable calls for it to go?"

"Lots of reasons," said the ticket salesman. "We might have labor trouble with the engineers. Maybe they're trying to hold us up for more money than we can pay. If we published our timetable, the engineers could wait us out until departure time and put pressure on us to settle higher than we wanted to because they'd know that if the trains didn't go at the fixed time, the railroad would lose a lot of money, not to mention face."

"I've no doubt of that, but the fact is that we're rather in a hurry to get a train to Miami. Could you divulge enough information about your secret timetable to let us know if there is likely to be a train soon?"

"That all depends," said the ticket salesman.

"How can it all depend if you've really got a timetable?"

"You're noisy, aren't you, mister?" the ticket salesman observed. He was becoming a bit testy. "Don't you believe in this railroad the way the great silent majority of ticket buyers do?"

"I bow to no one in the intensity of my iron-horseism. I simply ask, in all respectfulness, whether the secret timetable makes it likely that I can get a train to Miami anytime this month."

"If you really support the iron horse," the ticket salesman asked, "why don't you give it your support?"

"I'll do anything that will assure a reasonably expeditious journey to Miami by rail. Tell me what to do and, by heaven, I'll do it!"

"BUY TWO tickets and don't ask any more questions," he advised.

"I don't see how that would help unless the secret timetable has a train to Miami scheduled fairly soon."

"If enough people buy tickets," the ticket salesman explained, "we may be able to advance the timetable departure time."

"And if they don't?"

"In that case, he said, "we'll probably have to push back the timetable departure time."

"Would you be good enough to answer just one more question?"

"Just one more."

"When is a timetable not a timetable?"

"That's easy," said the ticket salesman, "when it's a secret."

Senate Upset by Hush Placed on Weapons Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some Senate Foreign Relations Committee members say they are upset over failure of the administration to brief them on the U.S.-Soviet arms control talks starting Monday.

The senators also express displeasure because no members of Congress have been invited to Helsinki as observers to the strategic arms limitation talks —SALT.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., charged the White House told officials of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency not to brief senators and House members on the talks.

Soviet-American Weapons Talks To Open Monday

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — The Soviet-American strategic arms limitation talks will open Monday in a Finnish government building in downtown Helsinki, it was announced Wednesday. Succeeding meetings will be held alternately in the Soviet and U.S. embassies.

The banquet house chosen for the opening meeting was once the Russian governor's palace, and after the Bolshevik Revolution became headquarters for Soviet troops in Finland. It is named Smolna Palace.

Gore canceled a meeting of his disarmament subcommittee Wednesday after the State Department, presidential foreign policy adviser Henry Kissinger and the White House congressional liaison office failed to respond to requests for a briefing.

What angered committee members, including Gore and Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., was a promise two weeks ago by Secretary of State William P. Rogers to keep them informed on SALT developments. On the basis of Rogers' word the committee then decided to hold off on a resolution urging a U.S. initiative to halt tests of multiwarhead missiles.

But early this week the senators said they had read the newspapers to find out about the administration decision against opening the talks with any proposals to halt development of the multiwarhead weapons.

Gore said his subcommittee wished to be briefed by the disarmament agency "with respect to the negotiating position."

Meanwhile, Senate sources said they could not recall another major conference where no senators nor representatives were invited as observers.

Fulbright said he plans to raise the matter next Tuesday when Rogers appears before the committee in closed session at what is supposed to be the start of a broad review of Vietnam policy.

Ask $6 Million For Minnesota Naval Station

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House was asked to appropriate almost $6 million for construction of the proposed Omega Naval Station at Middle River, Minn.

The station would be one of several strategically located throughout the world, to improve communications of ships and aircraft. Other nations would participate in the far-reaching program.

Middle River — located 41 miles north of Thief River Falls — is located in northwestern Minnesota, some 10 miles west of the Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge.

The request, for $5,810,000, was in a bill approved by the House Appropriations Committee. The money, if voted by Congress, would be for use in the present fiscal year which began July 1.

There are presently four such stations—a temporary one in New York and others in Trinidad, Norway and Hawaii.

The Navy selected Minnesota for the new station as it would be centrally located to serve both the north Atlantic and north Pacific oceans.

However, House sources said it was not certain that the Middle River site will be finally approved.

The House, in an earlier bill authorizing funds for military construction, designated Middle River for the Omega station. But the Senate, in passing its version of the authorization bill Tuesday, substituted LaMoure, N.D., for the site instead of Middle River.

LaMoure is 37 miles south of Jamestown in southeastern North Dakota.

Provided the measure passes in the House, a conference committee of the House and Senate will settle the matter of location.

Recommend $2,400 as Minimum Income

WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential panel has recommended setting the minimum income for poor Americans at $2,400 a year for a family of four—$800 a year more than President Nixon has proposed.

The group, named by former President Lyndon B. Johnson, wound up a 22-month study by sending its report to the White House Wednesday.

The sweeping report, entitled "Poverty Amid Plenty" and prepared by the President's Commission on Income Maintenance Programs, recommends abolition of all other federally financed cash payment programs and gradually increasing the minimum income level to $3,500 a year, a total federal cost of $27 billion.

The initial income program would cost $7 billion a year and provide payments to about 36 million persons, commission Chairman Ben W. Heineman said. Heineman is president of Northwest Industries.

"The relatively low dollar cost of the program recommended should underscore the fact that these proposals are not designed to solve all the nation's social problems," the report said.

The commission said the initial $2,400 level "was not chosen because we feel that it is an adequate income, but because it is a practical program that can be implemented in the near future."

Even so, it added, "half of the income needs of the poor would be met by this program alone."

Another basic difference between proposals of the commission and the President deals with work requirements. Under the President's family assistance proposal an able-bodied head of household would be required to work or take job training. The commission recommended no such requirement, adding:

"We do not believe that work disincentive effects of the proposed program would be serious. The level of income provided is low, and we do not believe that the poor are anxious to receive less income rather than more."

The 22-member commission, appointed by Johnson in January of 1968 unanimously supported the conclusions in the report, Heineman said.

Unlike the Nixon plan, the commission plan also would provide assistance to single persons.

The commission further recommended elimination of the federal food stamp program, consolidation of remaining federal welfare programs and an expanded program of birth control information and services.

Say Hippie Use Of Word 'Pig' Damaging to Pigs

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — The Alabama Farm Bureau Federation says hippie use of the word "pig" is derogatory—to the pigs.

A resolution adopted Wednesday at the federation's annual convention said:

"The national media have reported many instances of hippies, Yippies and militants characterizing police and public figures as 'pigs' in an apparent effort to stigmatize the objects of their scorn."

"Be it known to all such name callers that pigs are one of the noblest works of creation. They are the most intelligent of all domestic animals, that this form of livestock is produced on nearly four million farms in every state in the nation, that pork from pigs is vital to the national economy."

"We therefore suggest to such name callers that they cease downgrading these honest animals."

The resolution proposed that "they attempt to emulate pigs," meaning to equal or excel such animals.

Retired 'Queen' Closed Because Of Fire Danger

PORT EVERGLADES, Fla. (AP) — The retired liner Queen Elizabeth, now a tourist attraction, has been labeled a fire hazard and closed to the public.

Hollywood Fire Chief John Gerkin said the liner could not be reopened until the owners observe stricter safety standards, and then only for guided tours.

Edward Moldt, project supervisor of Queen Limited, owner of the vessel, said his firm had complied with all fire regulations and that he did not understand why the ship had been shut down.

Board Asked to Delay Action On Bill That Could Cut Schools

ST. PAUL (AP) — State Rep. Rod Searle, Waseca, asked the State Board of Education Wednesday not to act on proposed new rules and regulations which Searle said could eliminate up to 200 small high schools.

The board meets Friday and will hold a public hearing Saturday on a series of rules changes, one of them drastically increasing the number of pupils required for a school to meet state standards for high schools.

Searle said the new regulations would force small high schools to consolidate by September 1971, the effective date of the regulation.

He said no legislators were given copies of the proposals, although copies were mailed two weeks ago to school superintendents.

"If they're going to continue this, they're just throwing the gauntlet down to the legislature and daring us to pass laws," said Searle, a member of the House Education Committee.

Searle said the figures proposed by the board "conceivably could wipe out 200 school districts at one blow by 1971."

Schools which are not "classified" by the state board could lose state funds.

The board proposal calls for these changes: four-year high schools from 200 to 600; six-year high schools, from 300 to 900; junior high schools, from 225 to 800; senior high schools, from 225 to 700.

The enrollment figures come from "criteria recommendations," a booklet published by the state board in response to the so-called Domain report of 1968.

Searle said school mergers are taking place regularly, but are being planned and agreed to at the local level. He said consolidation should not be dictated by state rules.

Searle said the nine-member board of education contains no members representing small school districts. He charged that the board is ignoring legislative wishes by going ahead, noting that the 1969 legislature took no action to prod schools into consolidating.

"The board has clearly gotten the message from the legislature that we want no part of their consolidation plans," Searle said.

The board of education hearing Saturday will be at 9 a.m. in the State Office Building auditorium, near the Capitol.

Also on the agenda are other rules changes, including guidelines aimed at eliminating racial imbalance.

Armored Car Holdup Called 'Professional'

NEW YORK (AP) — "It was a most professional job," said the police official heading the investigation of the $1.37 million Wells Fargo armored car hold-up by three gunmen—the second largest cash robbery in U.S. history. "They were very cool."

Wednesday's daring daylight theft of Aqueduct Race Track receipts was nearly foiled by an unidentified housewife who became suspicious when she peered out her window and saw three men not in uniform transferring money bags to a car.

Her call to police brought patrol cars to the scene minutes after the bandit trio had roared off with the stolen money, leaving the three Wells Fargo guards handcuffed inside their truck.

The cash haul surpassed the $1,219,218 taken in the 1950 Brinks robbery in Boston and in U.S. history is exceeded only by the theft of $1,551,277 from a U.S. mail truck in Plymouth, Mass., on Aug. 12, 1962.

Robbers got $7 million in cash in a train robbery in Britain in August 1963.

Frank Basil, president of the New York Racing Association, said the loss was insured by Aqueduct and Wells Fargo.

The day for the armored truck crew began routinely when they left the track in Queens at 11:33 a.m. and began the drive to the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. at 23 Wall St. in Lower Manhattan.

They were carrying approximately $1.4 million representing receipts from Monday and Tuesday. The Monday receipts had not been deposited because banks were closed Tuesday for Veterans Day.

Locked in the back riding shotgun was Barry Kateridge, 25. The driver, James Kerrigan, 50, and crew chief, Thomas Raftery, 35, were up front. Each carried a holstered sidearm.

The drove to Pine and Fulton streets in Brooklyn where they stopped so Raftery could eat. His partners remained in the locked truck.

When Raftery returned he was followed by three armed men in their 30's. As Kateridge opened the door, the guards said, the trio jumped him and Kerrigan went for his gun.

"If you want to live to enjoy your pension, drop that thing now," the robbers warned. With guns at Raftery's back and head they added, "Don't make a move or we'll kill him."

They disarmed the guards, handcuffed them in the rear and placed canvas bags over their heads. Then one of the robbers drove the truck two blocks to a quiet residential side street where a 1968 Chevrolet was waiting.

Hurriedly they transferred 10 bags filled with bills—mostly used, dirty currency that could easily be passed. They left eight bags of coins and two other bags of bills they apparently overlooked.

Then they took off in the getaway car, later discovered to have been stolen two days earlier in the Bronx. Roadblocks were set up when a car fitting the description was seen heading for downtown Brooklyn but the bandits escaped.

War Preparations Seen in China's Fukien Province

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS HONG KONG (AP) — Travelers from the mainland report feverish war preparations, including large scale dispersals of city people and factories to rural areas, in Communist China's Fukien Province, across the narrow Formosa Strait from the Nationalist Chinese island.

The travelers said Fukien authorities told the people that "the dispersal is for implementing Mao's war strategy of transforming the countryside into the ocean of people's war to offset Russian missile attacks against Chinese cities."

In meetings recently, the Fukien officials announced that "the Russian revisionists have made a semi-official secret agreement with the Taiwan Kuomintang (Nationalist China) to jointly attack the mainland and restore Kuomintang rule on the mainland," the travelers said.

The travelers said Fukien authorities told the people that "the dispersal is for implementing Mao's war strategy of transforming the countryside into the ocean of people's war to offset Russian missile attacks against Chinese cities."

Nine Arrested in Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Nine persons, including an associate professor, were arrested Wednesday after several dozen students, led by two youths carrying a Viet Cong flag, attempted to take over the ROTC office at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.

The arrests came after about 175 students, many of them curiosity seekers, marched from the student union to the ROTC office in another building.

After the nine had entered the office, about 15 ROTC cadets formed a human barricade across the door, blocking some 40 to 50 students who milled around in a corridor.

Seven of those arrested, including James D. Cockcroft of Milwaukee, an associate professor of history, were charged with misconduct in a public place.

Two students, including the campus chairman of Students for a Democratic Society, Robert Brokl, 20, of Milwaukee, were charged with battery on a police officer, after a campus patrolman said they hit and

Admit Nine Stillwater Inmates Disrobed, Isolated, Teargassed

ST. PAUL (AP) — Minnesota's Corrections Commissioner Paul Keve admitted Wednesday that nine inmates of the Stillwater State Prison were disrobed, thrown into isolation cells and teargassed the night of Aug. 20.

But Keve denied any wrongdoing by prison staffers and rejected a contention by State Human Rights Commissioner Frank C. Kent that any discrimination was involved in the gasings.

Kent claimed the actions constituted a violation of the State Act Against Discrimination and said he is asking the Washington County attorney to consider criminal charges against guards.

The nine prisoners — five blacks, three Indians and one white — were acting in a "boisterous, belligerent and difficult manner," according to Keve, thus the gas was used on them.

He added, "They were making so much noise over a long period of time that the staff felt at midnight it had gone on long enough."

"They were moved to isolation cells and tear gas was used to quiet them so the disturbance wouldn't spread."

The corrections commissioner said chemical usage policy has since been reworded to give more explicit directions on when they can be used.

"At the time, they were acting under an institutional policy so worded that they were not in

Hayden's Son Convicted on Two Draft Counts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Christian Winslow Hayden, 21-year-old son of actor Sterling Hayden, has been convicted by a federal jury on two counts of violating the draft laws.

The guilty verdict came Wednesday at young Hayden's second trial on charges of failing to report for a physical examination March 6 and failing to report for induction May 6. A mistrial was declared Nov. 4 when a juror said she had not agreed to the guilty verdict.

Judge Manuel Real set sentencing for Dec. 15. Each count carries a maximum of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Distribute Carrots At Whitehall EOC

WHITEHALL, Wis. — Maurice Hanson, acting director for the Western Dairyland Economic Opportunity Council, Inc., Whitehall, announces that the agency has 12 tons of carrots to distribute in the four county district which it serves.

The carrots are available to non-profit institutions and to all persons who feel that their grocery budget does not allow them to purchase as many vegetables as are necessary for themselves and their families.

Non-profit institutions may contact the Western Dairyland office in Whitehall for the time that they may obtain carrots.

Others may pick up carrots every day except Saturday and Sunday, beginning today and ending Nov. 21, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Trempealeau County highway shop located south of Osson on Highway 53.

Claim Pupils Of Eyes May Tip Off Hand

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A psychologist says the pupils in a poker player's eyes may tip off the kind of hand he is holding.

The pupils are apertures in the iris which normally expand in dim light or darkness and contract when the light is brighter.

But for an unexplained reason, Dr. Eckard H. Hess told a convention of the American College of Medical Hypnotists Monday, the pupils also grow bigger when the eye beholds something pleasant, like a full house or four of a kind.

And they get smaller when what's on view is a bottled flush or a busted straight.

Dr. Hess, of the University of Chicago, said a normal man's pupils may grow to twice their usual size when the eye registers a picture of a nude woman.

A hungry person's pupils expand when he sees food.

Unaccountably, a man finds a woman's photograph more attractive if her pupils are dilated than he does if they are normal.

Hess said the pupil reactions seem to provide a kind of window into the brain so that "all the world is able to see it."

He theorized that eye pupil research may help doctors to determine the progress of patients treated for problems such as homosexuality and obesity.

He said the principle already had been applied to determine the effectiveness of an advertising commercial or a new television show.

Mrs. Gandhi Wins Vote of Confidence

NEW DELHI (AP) — Three-fourths of the Indian Congress party's members in Parliament repudiated the party's old-guard titular leaders today and gave Prime Minister Indira Gandhi an overwhelming vote of confidence.

More than 300 of the 429 Congress members in the two legislative houses gave Mrs. Gandhi a cheering, desk-thumping ovation as she entered their caucus. Then 310 of them adopted a resolution declaring "invalid and unjustified" her expulsion from the party

Wednesday by the conservative majority on the party executive committee. There was one abstention but no opposing votes because Mrs. Gandhi's opponents boycotted the meeting.

"Mrs. Gandhi continues to be leader of the party and enjoys the full support and confidence of the party," the resolution declared.

Supporters of Mrs. Gandhi said many of the absent 118 Congress members of Parliament had been unable to attend the caucus because they could not get to New Delhi in time. But at least 50 of these in the lower house are considered supporters of the old guard and are expected to refuse to support the prime minister when Parliament resumes Monday.

This would wreck the 22-seat majority Mrs. Gandhi has had, but she already has pledges of support from the two communist parties, who control 43 seats, plus many independents.

Mrs. Gandhi now is expected to put new force into her drive to wrest control of the party machinery from her conservative foes. She contends that they are trying to block her attempt to revitalize the ailing party with Socialist reforms.

Song Topic Is Awarded Spark Plug

Hlawatha Toastmasters Club gave its spark plug award for Wednesday night to John Woychek whose talk was a philosophical analysis of popular song lyrics. The club met at Kryzsko Commons on the Winona State College campus.

Also on the speaking program was a talk on leadership by Alan R. Nelson. Effective leadership is established by working toward long range objectives through a succession of intermediate goals, the speaker said. One is farther ahead if he sets a goal and works toward it without success than if he sets no goal at all, Nelson said.

A third speech was an explanation of the factors involved in setting sewage treatment plant standards by Frank Uhlig. The speech dealt with a variance awarded the city by the Pollution Control Agency in connection with the forthcoming construction of a large new secondary treatment plant here.

Members present voted in a business session to establish the first and third Wednesday of each month as regular meeting dates. The previous practice has been to meet every other Wednesday.

Several guests have attended recent programs of the club. They included Mrs. F. M. McShane and Mrs. Ralph Kohner, members of Winona Toastmasters, and Gary Vallem and Ron Ready who attended Wednesday night's session.

The next meeting will be Dec. 3 at Kryzsko Commons.

At 84, Whitehall Man Is Still Going Strong

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — Peter M. Paulson, oldest business man in Whitehall and in age and years of service, was honored at a dinner at the Country Club last Wednesday night by the Chamber of Commerce and other organizations of which he is a member.

Because of his many associations with builders of the community, his life story may be called a history of Whitehall over the last 60 or 70 years.

At 84 he still operates Paulson Implement at the same location where he hung out his shingle 44 years ago. From 1910 until purchasing the implement business in 1925, he worked at the Webb lumber yard; was in partnership in operating the City Restaurant, and the Trio Amusement Co., which brought movies to Whitehall.

HE SERVED 25 years on the city council; was city treasurer, and has been chairman of the Whitehall Electric Utility since he was influential in purchasing the system from Northern States Power Co. in 1937. He performed many marriages in his shop or a home during his years as justice of the peace.

Fraternally, he was treasurer of the Odd Fellows Lodge many years; has been secretary of the Royal Arch Masons since 1941; treasurer of the Blue Lodge since 1923, and an officer in the Eastern Star. A 32nd degree Mason, he has been a member of the Eau Claire Consistory and Commandery, the council at La Crosse and Shrine at Madison since 1941.

He's been a deacon in the Methodist church, and is a life-long Republican.

HE'S PLAYED golf since 1933 and made a hole-in-one on a course at Phoenix, Ariz., where he spends his winters. He bowls, but not on a team. He was a member of Whitehall's first football team in 1903, which never was defeated. He also pitched baseball, played tennis, wrestled, boxed, and was a skier.

Always civic minded, he's a member of Chamber and its forerunners.

PAULSON WAS born April 3, 1885, in a log cabin on the 40-acre farm of his parents, Hans and Marit Nilson Paulson in Plum Creek south of Whitehall in the Town of Arcadia. He attended the Plum Creek rural school and three years at Whitehall High School.

At 22 he went to Donaldson, Minn., to work for E. K. Everson, formerly of Whitehall in his implement business there. He not only sold implements but broke horses and was general handy man for very little pay.

To augment his income he operated a steam-powered threshing rig summers and worked in logging camps at Bozeman, Mont., winters, where he learned to be a scaler.

IN THE FALL of 1907 he entered Crookston, Minn., Business College, completing the courses they offered, — book-keeping, telegraphy, shorthand, typing, mathematics, office practice and commercial law in five months.

Oldest in the family, he has two brothers, Carl of Bowman, N.D., and Henry, Pigeon Falls, and two sisters, Mrs. Manda Everson and Mrs. Nettie Hunter, Whitehall, the latter his bookkeeper since 1942. One brother, Oscar, and one sister, Mrs. Charles Shelley, Blair, have died.

He married Sylvia Melby, daughter of a Whitehall banker in 1923, who died in 1940.

At the dinner he was presented with new golf clubs and a $40 membership for next year by Oscar Lovellien, president of the club; a bowling bag by the women's bowling team he sponsors, presented by Lyle Pavek, alley owner, and a Masonic brief case by Lowell Larson of La Crosse, master of Whitehall Lodge 271, F. & AM.

Maynard Clipper, president of the Chamber, was master of ceremonies. Some 125 persons attending filled the clubhouse.

Taylor Plans Rail Crossing Signal Program

WASHINGTON — The Interior Department is working on a new, pay-as-you-go, plan to make long range programs like parks and clean water less dependent on annual congressional appropriations, Walter J. Hickel, department secretary, said Wednesday.

"We're working on one now," he told a news conference, "but we're not sure whether or when we can present it. It might be an entirely new method of financing."

HE DECLINED to speculate, however, what such a method might be.

On other topics, Hickel indicated in answer to a question

Interior Dept. Considers New Pay-As-You-Go Plan that he has completed the major staff changes in the Interior Department with the recent appointment of Ellis L. Armstrong who succeeded Floyd E. Dominy on Oct. 31 as Commissioner of Reclamation.

Hickel said he could not rule out future changes, but he did not have any more major appointments in mind.

Questioned on the fight against water pollution, which he had named last spring as his first priority, Hickel said, "We might have to take a new approach . . . we're going to have to go to America with stipulations and regulations, and then make available to them some program by which they can act."

THROUGH the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration, the Interior Department already makes matching grants to communities to aid construction or improvement of water treatment facilities.

Although $1 billion a year is authorized for that purpose, Congress has never, so far, actually appropriated the full amount.

The administration requested only $214 million this year, but the House has voted to appropriate $600 million while the Senate Appropriations Committee is recommending appropriation of the full $1 billion.

1968 Wisconsin General Taxes Listed

The 1968 general property taxes in Wisconsin, collected this year, totaled $957,574,631, according to the Wisconsin Department of Revenue. This figure includes only state, county, local and school taxes on property, excluding special assessments, delinquent and omitted taxes, forest crop, woodland and occupational taxes.

They were paid on an assessment ratio of 61.15, or the average level at which all taxable general property was valued for property tax purposes in relation to the full value. The ratios vary substantially from lows of about 20 percent of full value to highs of more than 100 percent.

THE AVERAGE effective real estate full value rate for the state was $31.11 per thousand valuation. For the towns this effective rate state-wide was $25.88; villages, $29.42, and cities, $33.58.

In 1961 the legislature enacted a property tax relief law whereby the state allocates monies to pay part of the property taxes in those tax districts which have a three-year average computed full value tax rate in excess of 14 mills. A tax credit rate is calculated by dividing the amount of such tax credit allocated for real estate and personal property. The tax credit rate is subtracted from the full value rate to give the effective full value rate on said real estate and personal property on farmers' livestock, merchants' inventories and manufacturers' materials and finished products.

Of the total property taxes, towns paid $220,041,341; villages $94,733,640, and cities, $642,799,650.

STATE TAXES totaled $567,068, of which towns paid $1,516,838; villages, $598,734, and cities $3,555,396.

County taxes totaled $210,381,372, of which towns paid $49,905,633; villages, $21,830,653, and cities, $138,644,866.

Local taxes collected in the state totaled $176,772,900, of which the towns paid $14,231,972, and collected for their governments, the villages, $11,603,664, and the cities, $150,937,263, for their governments.

THE FULL VALUE rates for town taxes averaged $1.75 per thousand; villages, $3.83, and cities, $8.49.

School taxes on property totaled $564,766,719 in the state, averaging full value rates of $19.53 per thousand. The towns paid $154,384,873 at the average full value rate of $19.04; the villages, $60,900,033 at $20.14, and cities, $349,481,813 at an average $19.65 full value rate.

Based on the 1960 census, of 3,954,133 total town population was 1,136,417, of which total village was, 363,175, and total city, 2,454,641.

The tables below show 1968 taxes paid in counties in this newspaper area, with assessment ratios between full and assessed valuation, and effective full value rates.

Two Who Claim To Be Mayor Take Oath of Office

MARLBORO, N.J. (AP) — Two men claim to be mayor of this rural New Jersey shore community and both have taken the oath of office.

Republican Walter C. Grubb, appointed mayor by the borough council after the death of Charles T. McCue April 27, says he is mayor until Jan. 1, 1970.

But Democrat Morton Salkind, who defeated Grubb in last week's election, says he should take over immediately.

Grubb was sworn in last spring, Salkind says his oath, administered last week by Democratic Councilman-elect Lawrence F. Grossman, is recognized as legal by Monmouth County officials.

However, Grubb is answering the phone in the mayor's office.

Railroads Seek Another Hike in Freight Rates

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's railroads, seeking support for the third freight rate hike in three years, told the Interstate Commerce Commission today inflation is cutting their profits to "the thinnest of margins."

Answering protests filed against the 6 per cent rate hike appeal filed Oct. 10, the Association of American Railroads said unless the request is granted "even the present minimal earnings will disappear."

The 6 per cent across-the-board freight rate increase would raise an additional $6 million for railroads, the AAR said. At the same time, costs to the railroads have gone up $1 billion, it added.

Smaller rate increases were granted to railroads in 1967 and 1968.

Environment 'Teach-In' Date Set

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The date for next spring's National Teach-In on the Crisis of the Environment being planned for college campuses across the country will be April 22, it was announced today.

The Teach-In objective is to mobilize the constructive energies of American youth in a massive effort to halt the accelerating pollution and destruction of the environment, according to Sen. Gaylord Nelson, Wisconsin Democrat, and Cong. Pete McCloskey, California Republican.

Nelson and McCloskey, who will serve as co-chairmen of the nonpartisan Teach-In effort, said that on the Teach-In day students, scientists, community and other leaders, faculty, and environmentalists will meet to discuss the environmental threat to America and to the nation's quality of life in a local and national educational effort.

The Teach-Ins will be shaped campus by student initiative, and may take the form of symposiums, convocations, panel discussions or a combination of these.

Picasso Etchings Bring $140,000 at Auction

NEW YORK (AP) — A set of 100 erotic etchings by Pablo Picasso, was bought at auction Wednesday for $140,000 by John Light, a Boston collector, Parke-Bernet Galleries announced.

Fifty sets of the etchings were printed in the 1930s, a gallery spokesman said, but this was the first complete set sold at auction.

Following floods and hurricanes, candles have sometimes become so much in demand that emergency shipments were hijacked.

Compromise on Truck Issue Is Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A compromise on the controversial truck bill which would abandon proposed wider trailers but retain weight increases and a modified length limitation was proposed Wednesday.
"We're going to have to agree to the width change, which was the main objection to the bill," said Rep. John C. Kluczynski, D-Ill., chairman of a House Public Works subcommittee and chief congressional backer of the plan.
His comments to reporters came after the subcommittee, without recommendation, referred the proposal to the parent committee.
Kluczynski's original bill was designed to increase the current width for trailer trucks on federal interstate highways from 96 to 102 inches, set a 70-foot length limit and authorize an increase in weight through a complicated formula.
Under the compromise outlined by Kluczynski, the proposed width increase would be discarded, the higher weight retained and the length cut back to 65 feet, the maximum the Nixon administration indicated it would accept. There is no length limitation on federal interstate highways now.
Kluczynski said he thought the changes would be agreeable to the truckers, who had sought the increased width to handle shipping cartons.
Leslie, both of Plainview. His parents, one son, brothers and sisters have died.
Funeral services will be at 11 a.m. Saturday at the First United Methodist Church, the Rev. Robert E. Rollin officiating. Burial, with military honors, will be at the Lakewood Cemetery.
Friends may call at the Peterson-Sheehan Funeral Home, Lake City after 7:30 this evening until 10 a.m. Saturday, then at the church until services. Masonic services will be conducted at the funeral home at 8 p.m. Friday.

Trempealeau Co. Board Hears Salary Proposals

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Mrs. Mabel Skroch, R.N., Arcadia, announced to the Trempealeau County Board of Supervisors on the first day of its annual session Wednesday that she is resigning Jan. 1 for personal reasons.

She will be succeeded by Ardis Skroch, R.N., as supervisor of the public health service.

HENRY Paulson, Pigeon Falls, member of the County Hospital board of trustees, and Charles Rongstad, Osseo, member of the county park commission, were re-elected.

The park commission report said 11 to 13 underground electrical hookups, 100 feet apart, have been completed for campers for the county's Lake Crystal Park at Strum.

The board voted to discontinue the county's association with the La Crosse public library, with which the libraries here had been associated on a trial basis for a year, receiving books and other materials from there. The board by its action will not contribute to the $6,513 the district library association is requesting from its six or seven member counties.

CLAIRE Nemitz, Trempealeau, reported that the county had received $23,876 in materials and labor from the Corps of Engineers for flood prevention last spring, a greater portion of it going to Village of Strum for protection of its sewage disposal plant.

Nemitz announced he is coordinator of the Division of Emergency Development training program for the CESA 11 Schools. He said he was submitting his resignation to the Buffalo County board of Supervisors Wednesday afternoon. Buffalo board previously voted to discontinue its association with Trempealeau in hiring a civil defense director.

In its salary increase proposals the salary committee proposed raising the salary of Nemitz from $240 to $500 per month.

The board raised the meal allowance at the county jail from 90 cents to $1 effective Jan. 1, and will pay employees' share of retirement for all with wages up to $7,800. Persons receiving this amount and over must pay their own share.

THE SALARY committee recommended the following raises Jan. 1, all monthly except where otherwise indicated:

Judicial department — Register in Probate Delores S. Hoff, from $380 to $425. Clerk of Court Basil Erickson from $300 to $315; Deputy Clerk of Court Evelyn Maldonado from $1.90 to $2.25 per hour; Court Reporter Clarence H. Johnson from $100 to $125, county allowance, and leaving the county allowance of Judge A. L. Twesme at $166.67 and Circuit Judge Merrill Farr at $41.68, the same as last year. Most of their salaries are paid by the state.

Also left the same were the salaries of District Attorney William Matka, $750, his assistant, Allen S. Robertson, $250, and Family Court Commissioner John C. Quinn, $200.

SOCIAL Services Department — DuWayne A. Mickelson, from $1,010 to $1,055; Social Service Supervisor Donald Howley from $915 to $975; social workers Michael McAllister from $683 to $725 and Josephine Smieja, Wallace Swenson, Mary Fordyce and Neal Dauphin, each from $655 to $695, leaving the salaries of the other social workers the same as follows: Bruce Kloese, $840; Lloyd Thurston, $785; Ruby C. Spangberg, $755, and Delores Olson and Judith Crawford, each $625.

Homemaker Lila Skoug from $390 to $410 — Administrative Assistant E. Vivian Thorp from $535 to $560. Clerks Kathleen E. Allen, Alta Mae Fuchs and Janice Nyen from $390 to $410, with Ann Torason left at $375. Social Worker Aid Beverly Waldera, from $390 to $410.

Elective officers and deputies — County Clerk Marlys A. Lietz from $600 to $630; deputy clerks Nancy Thompson from $400 to $440 and Judith M. Klink from $290 to $330.

Treasurer Bennett O. Anderson from $540 to $570 and his deputy, Irene E. Berg from $2.20 to $2.30 an hour.

Sheriff Stanley Amundson from $400 to $550.

Lester Brennom, addressograph operator, was raised from $500 to $525.

JAIL MATRON. Mrs. Jean Amundson from $100 to $125. Traffic Officers Milo Johnson, Maurice Scow, Willard Knutson, Darryl McBride and Steve Hanson, base pay from $550 to $600. Radio operators Lee O. Johnson from $410 to $435; Howard C. Everson from $385 to $435; Theodore Tardiff from $360 to $435, and Clarence Haugen to $2.15 an hour.

Public health nursing department — Marjorie Klimek, R.N., from $625 to $641; new supervisor Ardis Sexe, R.N., from $625 to $666.66; Karen Gleason, R.N., from $600 to $616.66; Home Health Aid Gertrude E. Chambers from $310 to $325. Secretary Eunice Kaas from $340 to $365; Bookkeeper Lois Gilbert from $1.60 to $1.80 per hour. Accountant Gary

Legislation to Deal With Labor Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration plans new legislation to deal with labor problems such as those posed by the threatened strike of the railroad industry by shopcraft unions, Secretary of Labor George Shultz says.

Shultz also reported Wednesday parties to the dispute have agreed to resume negotiations — broken off since President Nixon put a 60-day freeze on a strike by the unions Oct. 3.

The secretary revealed no details of the planned legislation, but said the threatened rail strike is "a perfect example" of deficiencies in laws dealing with public emergency strikes.

Stetzer's salary was left the same at $5 an hour.

Under the Office of Economic Opportunity, Delores Hanson, school health aide, will receive $1.80 an hour; Joyce Smith, R.N., $616.66 per month, and Juanita Harrison, home health aid, $1.80 per hour.

County's share in Extension office — County Agent Peter Bieri from $458.20 to $481.25; 4-H Club Agent Raymond W. Shanklin from $333.40 to $350; Home Demonstration Agent Glenda Gums from $300 to $316.66; Assistant Agricultural Agent Ed Ausderau from $175 to $195.83, and Clerks Joyce M. Berg from $340 to $360 and Bessie R. Schansberg from $290 to $310.

Veterans Service Officer Everett Guse from $550 to $580 and his assistant, Irene D. Gilbertson from $355 to $375. Custodian Oswell Fremstad from $375 to $390, and maintenance man, Omer Olson, from $465 to $490.

Schoolman Gives Consolidation Views

TREMPEALEAU, Wis.—Clifton Fonstad of the state Department of Public Instruction attended a regular meeting of the Trempealeau School Board Tuesday night to discuss the proposed merger with Gale-Ettrick District.

Mrs. James Leavitt, a spokesman of the Trempealeau Citizens Committee, said that by his own admission, Fonstad is continuing his "well paid" job of consolidating schools in the state. He mentioned the serious problems facing school districts, the rising cost of education and the subsequent increase in school taxes.

HIS solution for Trempealeau was a "swift consolidation" with the Gale-Ettrick district, Mrs. Leavitt said. When asked if a merger with Gale-Ettrick would be a money-saving move, he said it would be.

In a later statement, however, Fonstad discussed increasing financial burdens to consolidated districts, such as a future new elementary building at Galesville.

"The main concern of consolidation is not to save money but to get better education," he said. One of the some 30 Trempealeau residents present said that in his opinion the local school was doing a fine job in that respect—"The children are being educated very well; salaries are being paid, the electors here pay their taxes, and everything is well under control. There is no need to consolidate."

FONSTAD replied, "If you're not concerned about taxes and the cost of education, you will get much more for your money with consolidation."

According to Fonstad, the ideal size high school would have 500 students, with a junior high enrollment of 256. He said this would be in the smaller school class.

A member of the audience asked him, "Why not consolidate Trempealeau, Gale-Ettrick and Holmen and eliminate one step?" Fonstad replied, "No, that would be too much trouble; it is hard enough to get two schools together."

THE STATUS of the pending court proceedings was discussed. Fonstad said the appeal to the Supreme Court from the Caledonia consolidation order completed by the board's attorney La Vern G. Kostner, this week, is only delaying consolidation. Concerning the writs of mandamus and certiorari on letting all members of both districts vote on the Centerville consolidation, Fonstad said, "I bet the judge will let them go."

Fonstad, Mrs. Leavitt said, was "visibly upset" when he learned that the appeal had been made; it was news to him. On his return to Madison he called the superintendent here, urging the board to withdraw the appeal, she said.

Mrs. Leavitt said people in both districts can not understand why Fonstad is continuing his attempts to consolidate them after the consolidation referendum was defeated last fall in all precincts 2-1.

The spokesman said the committees wonder why Fonstad is allowed to "harass the electors here with deceptive remarks and reports in the name of better education."

HAS A WAY WITH HORSES ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Grover (Buddy) Delp hopes to lead trainers at the Atlantic City Thoroughbred track for the fourth time during the current meeting.

Delp set a record last year by saddling 22 winners. He led the trainers in 1964 with 18 winners and again in 1965 with 19.

Hope to Block Erection of Oil Platform

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — A citizens group says it will stage a "fish-in" to block erection of the first drilling platform off their shores since an oil well blew out in the Pacific and blackened their beaches last January.

The protest is being organized by a committee of 750 citizens under the banner of Get Oil Out (GOO).

"We'll have at least 30 to 40 boats and maybe a hundred or a couple hundred" said Marvin Stuart, director of the committee. "We'll have everything that can get out there and drop a fish hook."

Stuart said the boats would congregate on the spot where the Sun Oil Co. plans to set up an eight-legged, 200-foot high steel drilling platform called "Hillhouse" in the Santa Barbara Channel, where there already are 12 platforms.

"We'll impede their progress in towing the platform to the utmost," Stuart said. "They're going to have to drive us off the site to get the platform in."

Sun says it plans to tow the platform within the next few days to a spot one-half mile east of a similar platform operated by Union Oil Co., where the blow-out occurred Jan. 28.

Oil from the Union well blackened 800 square miles of ocean, spilled onto 40 miles of beach and killed hundreds of sea birds.

Members of GOO, joined by the city and county, won a court order Monday placing a temporary ban on new exploratory wells and platforms.

But the ban didn't affect "Hillhouse," approved by the Army Corps of Engineers before the court order was issued.

"Hillhouse" was built in Oakland and is on a barge there ready for towing to the channel.

Stuart conceded that the fish-in can cause only a temporary delay.

"I'm sure the Coast Guard can order our boats out," he said. "But the fact that we'll be there and they'll have to order us out one at a time will create enough disturbance at sea to get the message across that we simply don't want that platform out there."

Democrat Wins Seat in Congress From New Jersey

PATERSON, N.J. (AP) — Democrat Robert A. Roe is the winner of last week's only congressional election—in the 8th New Jersey District.

Republican Gene Boyle, a restaurant owner, conceded defeat Wednesday during a recount.

Roe, former New Jersey commissioner of conservation and economic development, will complete the term of former Rep. Charles S. Joelson, a Democrat appointed a Superior Court judge.

The recount was ordered after the initial tally showed Roe the winner by 960 votes. When a check of 67 of 354 voting machines made no change in the vote, Boyle conceded and the recount was halted.

Film Stars Ask Their Movies Be Boycotted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Calling it "an act of conscience" against the Vietnam war, six prominent film stars have asked the public to stage a one-day boycott of their movies Friday.

The actors—Paul Newman, Peter Fonda, Alan Arkin, Dennis Hopper, Arlo Guthrie and Jon Voight—listed the films "Midnight Cowboy," "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid," "Alice's Restaurant," and "Easy Rider."

A spokesman for theater owners, who joined the stars and Reps. Allard K. Lowenstein, D-N.Y., and Don Edwards, D-Calif., at a news conference said the actors' plea was "selfish" and his industry would not be able to make up the loss.

Students End Sit-in Before Police Arrive

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Some Fordham University students welded lead pipes to turn back unarmed campus guards, then ended a sit-in Wednesday night before New York City police arrived. Fourteen guards were injured, police said.

Elsewhere, protesters flew the Viet Cong flag at the Milwaukee campus of the University of Wisconsin and a group of Princeton University students tried unsuccessfully to block a building.

At Fordham, about 75 students seized administrative offices in mid afternoon to protest the school's Reserve Officer Training Corps program. About half left, but 36 vowed to stay all night.

Unarmed campus police tried to break through barricades of broken furniture and overturned file cabinets. Some of the students hit them with lead pipes and threw hot water.

After the guards retreated and city police were asked to help, the protesters broke two windows and scattered across the campus. Six were arrested.

The 14 injured guards were taken to several Bronx hospitals. Police said two of the injuries were serious.

A university spokesman estimated the damage at "thousands and thousands of dollars." He said students did not try to break into the files.

Fordham has 12,000 students, 5,600 of them undergraduates. Last month, a referendum on the ROTC program found 53 percent of the students participating favored continuation of its current voluntary status.

At the Milwaukee campus of the University of Wisconsin, several dozen persons behind a Viet Cong flag tried to take over the ROTC office. Nine of them — one a professor — got inside before 15 ROTC cadets barricaded the door.

SAFETY AWARD . . . Charles Millam, Saint Anne Hospice safety committee chairman, awards the prize to Mrs. Malcolm Becker, recreation director, for the best submitted safety slogan at a Coffee Hour held recently for all personnel. In the background is the major safety display at the Hospice—"Safety Depends on Teamwork." From left: Millam, Mrs. Becker, Sister M. Virgeen, safety committee secretary, and Sister Regina, director of nursing service.

ALL-SCHOOL PLAY
RUSHFOR, Minn. (Special) — An all-school play, "Lock, Stock and Lipstick" will be presented Friday at 8:15 p.m. at the high school here. The play is held in conjunction with National Education Week.

Mrs. Malcolm Becker Wins Safety Award at Hospice

The topic chosen for the service program recently conducted for all employees of Saint Anne Hospice, was safety, according to Sister M. Amadeus, Hospice administrator.

The safety committee, composed of employees representing various departments within the Hospice, steered the activities of the program. Safety, depicted in its various aspects, through the use of displays and posters throughout the Hospice, reminded both employees and guests of its vital importance.

A contest, "Slogans Sell Safety" was conducted by the committee whereby employees were encouraged to submit helpful and meaningful safety suggestions or slogans.

Of the 26 slogans submitted, Mrs. Malcolm Becker, recreation director, received first place. Honorable mention was given to Mrs. Violet Masopohl and Lee Schrandt, of the housekeeping department, and Miss Anne Wnuk, of the dietary department. The Hospice safety award will be retained during the year by the recreation department. It had been awarded to nursing service and administration in previous years.

The safety committee, under the direction of Charles Millam, hospice engineer, holds monthly meetings, conducts fire drills regularly and promotes other activities to keep personnel and guests safety-minded. Other members of the committee are Mr. John Callahan, Sister M. Eugenia, Sister M. Francella, Sister M. Parma, Sister M. Sandra and Sister M. Virgeen.

COCONUT MARBLE COFFEECAKE

Coconut Topping, see recipe below.

2 squares (2 ounces) semi-sweet chocolate
2 tablespoons plus ¼ cup milk
2 cups packaged biscuit mix
¼ cup sugar
1 large egg
2 tablespoons salad oil
Grease an 8 by 8 by 2 inch cake pan.

Prepare the Coconut Topping and set aside.

In a one-quart saucepan over low heat, stirring constantly, melt chocolate with the two tablespoons milk; remove from heat so mixture will cool slightly.

Into a medium mixing bowl turn the biscuit mix, sugar, cup milk, unbeat egg and salad oil. With a spoon beat vigorously for about one-half minute. Pour half of this mixture into the saucepan with the melted chocolate; stir to blend well.

Alternately spoon chocolate mixture and remaining biscuit mix mixture into prepared pan. With a knife cut through batter in a zig-zag pattern to marble.

Sprinkle batter with the Coconut Topping.

Bake in a preheated 400-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in the center comes out clean and top is browned—about 30 minutes. If top browns too much before coffeecake has baked through, lightly place a sheet of foil over top.

Place coffeecake in pan on wire rack until just warm. Cut into squares. With a wide spatula, remove. Serve at once.

If you like, you may serve the coffeecake cold. Makes about nine servings.

COCONUT TOPPING
1 tablespoon butter
¼ cup flaked coconut
1 tablespoon sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon

In a small saucepan or skillet over low heat melt the butter; remove from heat. Stir in the coconut, sugar and cinnamon.

COCONUT MARBLE COFFEECAKE MUFFINS

Use the Coconut Marble Coffeecake recipe. Alternately spoon chocolate and plain batter into greased muffin pans, filling half to two-thirds full. Bake in a preheated 400-degree oven for 12 to 15 minutes.

DEAR ABBY:

Make 'Points' With Your Wife Also

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Rudy works for a large company, and as you know there is a pecking order in all companies. The chairman of the board is apple-polished by the vice presidents, the vice presidents are apple-polished by the department heads, the department heads are apple-polished by the buyers, and so on down the line.

Well, whenever Rudy's company has a party, they have an orchestra and dancing. Rudy is a very good dancer, but I never get to dance with him. He spends the entire evening dancing with his bosses' wives, so the bosses will be free to dance with all the cute young things. Rudy says I am not to complain because this is "legitimate apple-polishing," which is a part of his job.

Now I'm all for Rudy making points with his bosses, but do you think it's fair for him to leave me sitting all evening while he dances with the bosses' wives?

RUDY'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Rudy doesn't need polished apples for all the applesauce he's giving you. NO man should dance with another woman unless his own wife is occupied. (A little "henpecking" could have a legitimate place in this pecking order.)

DEAR ABBY: I am a 65-year-old woman, never married and just retired. I have taken care of an older ailing sister who died eight weeks ago.

I was so lonesome, I went to a store and bought myself a beautiful large doll. I set her in the chair and I sometimes talk to her.

I am worried. Is anything wrong with me? Why did I buy a doll at my age? Should I give it away or just let it set there? Thank you.

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: You bought a doll at your age because you wanted one. And there is nothing wrong with that. But you really should get out a little more, see people, and perhaps team up with a companion. Too much solitude can be depressing.

DEAR ABBY: In our office there is a girl who has been "single" ever since the death of her husband two years ago. The boss lost his wife about a year ago, and these two have been very chummy ever since. They've even taken out-of-town trips together just like married folks, and have recently announced (to the surprise of no one) that they are "engaged" to be married.

A large wedding is planned and I have heard that all of us in the office will be invited. How can I tactfully turn down this wedding invitation? I don't care to attend the wedding of people who have lived in sin for a whole year. INDIGNANT

DEAR INDIGNANT: Simply decline. You are not expected to explain why. P.S. You could be wrong about this "sin" charge, you know. Are you "indignant" enough to quit working for this "sinner"? If not, why not?

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LOST FAITH" IN CHICAGO: Perhaps a lesson in "faith" can be best illustrated in this way:

A mother had just received word that her only son, a bright, handsome man of 22, had been killed in Vietnam. Her pastor tried vainly to console her in her grief.

"Where was your God when my only son was killed?" she cried. "The same place He was when HIS only son was killed," the pastor quietly replied.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Typical Rio Mother Unmarried, Undernourished, Poverty Stricken

By RICHARD WIGG
Dispatch of the Times, London
RIO DE JANEIRO — The typical mother at a maternity and child welfare clinic in a working-class Rio suburb lives on black beans eaten twice a day, a young Brazilian gynecologist tells me. She may get a little meat on Sundays.

Of the mothers who come there for free medical treatment and free dried milk for their babies, 80 percent, he says, are unmarried. They live with men who can only get occasional jobs — the biscateiros — and raise a family that averages five to six children on a wage of about 90 new cruzeiros a month (about $21.60).

THIS IS NOT a horror story of down-and-outs from the favelas (though the couple may well live in one of these Rio shanty towns) but of simple working-class people in a Latin-American country overburdened by an unchecked population growth-human hands for which there exists no need. Over the past 25 years Brazil's population has shot up from around 50 million to over 90 million today. A survey showed more than half the mothers attending the clinic were migrants from Brazil's vast and poverty-stricken interior who were actually improving their living standards by establishing themselves in a Rio favela.

The mother's average intake is below the 3,500 calories the World Health Organization calculates as the minimum necessary for an adult living in the tropics. From this malnutrition derives her proneness to chronic illness, lack of energy or horizons, and often verminous condition. Yet these overburdened women still go on having children. They do this because the clinics ignore family planning in their educational efforts. In Brazil, there is no official money for contraceptives.

THE PILL is on sale in Rio in spite of a law which forbids the sale of contraceptives or their advertising. But the barrier for millions of Brazilian mothers is the high price charged. Only a government campaign to mass-produce popular contraceptives could change that; but Brazil's government has never had a population-control policy and its foreign minister reaffirmed this attitude at the United Nations General Assembly only last month.

In the world's largest Roman Catholic country the consequences of the "demographic explosion" which the Pope's Humanae Vitae Encyclical did nothing to check, are rapidly reaching crisis proportions with millions of hungry, sick, and uneducated children. They are born of parents wretchedly poor, unable to give them the necessities because they lack them themselves.

One of Rio's most famous children's doctors, Dr. Rinaldo De Lamare, has recently sounded the alarm, warning the government that, if something is not done rapidly, Brazil will sink to the level of mass human suffering of a "second India." THE BRAZILIAN authorities' reaction has been the head-in-the-sand one of official displeasure that a former head of the Department of Children at the Ministry of Health should speak out so boldly in public. Earlier this year, De Lamare's department was abolished in an "administrative reform" and was not replaced.

Demanding a crash health program, he warned that next year Brazil faced a "crop" of three-and-a-half million babies, 75 percent of whom would be without the conditions for normal, healthy survival. Of the 42 million children in Brazil now under 14, only 20 percent, he said, had fathers able to provide for them properly. Twelve million children needed urgent medical attention, De Lamare estimated, recalling that 60 percent of last year's intake into the armed services in Sao Paulo, Brazil's wealthiest state, had to be rejected as unfit.

"WHILE WELL-to-do couples have the opportunity to buy contraceptives, poor couples, without resources to buy the pill, are having increasing numbers of children which they cannot bring up, educate or even feed," De Lamare declared. In the northeast of Brazil, girls aged 10 to 12 are put out for prostitution.

In these conditions, there is considerable recourse to abortion. Although the law holds all induced abortions to be criminal, they are unofficially estimated to number 2 million a year.

The present Brazilian government has taken steps neither to limit births nor to care adequately for its prime national resource of the future. Neither the World Health Organization nor the U.N. can offer assistance with population control programs and so it is left to private international bodies to do good almost by stealth.

Education Is Theme Of BPW Meeting

"A Chance To Learn" was the theme of the Tuesday dinner meeting of the Winona Business and Professional Women's Club at the Park Plaza.

Miss Verlie Sather, chairman of the personal development committee, stated that "We can all develop in many ways, and one of those is to appreciate what we have in our own city of Winona — fine schools, fine buildings, good roads and beautiful scenery."

She told of some of the benefits from the 1965 Education Act which included such things as the Upward Bound program, which has been carried on by the College of Saint Teresa for several years; the Head Start program for pre-school children; remedial reading programs and the psychological services program which had been made available through Winona State College.

A film "A Chance to Learn" showed some of the effects of the Education Act of 1965 and what it has done and how it will affect children all over the country. A question and answer period followed the discussion. One topic was "What good is this education for these groups of underprivileged students, if they go back to the same environment?" Miss Sather said that they are doing some follow up work now and the program is getting better as it goes along. "It is hard to know where to start in a program such as this, but in the remedial reading program, for instance, we try to prevent trouble before it starts, if possible." She was assisted by Miss Martha Steele and Mrs. Grace Faulds.

Devotions preceding the dinner were given by Mrs. Arthur Bowman. Miss Sather presided at the business session which preceded the program. Miss Mildred Bartsch reported on the project for the orphanage in Vietnam, which is one of the state projects of the Minnesota Federation of BPWC. Packing of the boxes will take place soon, she said. Others working on this project were Miss Amanda Benedict, Miss Rose Schettler, Mrs. R. H. Watkins and others. A social hour followed the program.

McMahons Address Cathedral Group

Mr. and Mrs. C. Stanley McMahon were guest speakers at the Tuesday meeting of the Senior Citizens at the Cathedral of the Sacred Heart. More than 40 persons attended.

Mr. and Mrs. McMahon showed slides of their recent trip to Ireland. One of the highlights of their trip was a visit to Kerry, Ireland, the home of Mr. McMahon's ancestors.

The couple were impressed by the simplicity of the Irish people, their devotion to their faith and the happy friendly nature of the children. Articles purchased by the McMahons were also displayed.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Harold J. Dittman greeted the guests and offered a prayer in honor of Veterans Day. Mrs. Richard Vickery thanked all the persons who contributed to the successful fall fair held recently at the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Lowe were presented with a gift in honor of their 60th wedding anniversary, celebrated recently.

Serving on the social committee were Mrs. Robert Hahn, Mrs. Ed Schams and Miss Iris Rivers.

Miss Barnholdt Addresses St. Anne Hospice Meeting

Miss Effie Barnholdt, former director of public relations and director of auxiliaries at Winona Community Memorial Hospital, was guest speaker at the quarterly meeting of the St. Anne Hospice auxiliary Tuesday evening.

In introducing the subject of her talk, "The Value of Volunteers," Miss Barnholdt suggested that she change the title to "The Value to Volunteers" in discussing the many values that the volunteer gains in personal involvement in volunteer work.

"We are told that volunteer work is as much an American tradition as politics and apple pie. Volunteers are a plus service. Their services supplement, but do not replace, the work of the trained personnel. Volunteers provide many little additional touches, the extra warmth, the understanding, and the time to listen which the busy employe cannot always give," noted the speaker.

MISS BARNHOLDT commented on the unusual public relations "voice" that has been established with the organization of the Good Will Ambassadors, a group of volunteer men, who are a branch of the hospice auxiliary. The purpose of this group is primarily one of public relations; disseminating information about the hospice and providing moral and financial support, she remarked.

In summing up many interesting points related to auxiliary work, she suggested that a volunteer's motto might be "You get out of it what you put into it—plus interest." She closed her talk by quoting a line from Robert Frost, the poet, who wrote: "Let me be the one—to do what is done."

During the business meeting, committee reports were given by Mrs. Robert Northam, chairman of the Holiday Gala, to be held Saturday; Mrs. Ann Rand, membership chairman; and Mrs. Thomas Cavanaugh, snacks.

MRS. HAROLD Thiewes, president, congratulated Mrs. Edward Valentine on her recent election as vice president of the Minnesota Hospital Auxiliary Association. She also explained in detail the purpose of the evaluation workshop sessions which followed the business meeting. The three areas that were involved included: recreation, Mrs. Malcolm Becker, chairman; personal service, Mrs. Bernard Boland, chairman; tray service, Mrs. Stan Wilma, chairman. A special plea for volunteers to work in the tray service area was made by Mrs. Thiewes.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Daniel Tierney, auxiliary chaplain, was guest of the auxiliary and spoke briefly to the group. Plans for the dinner were arranged by Mrs. Robert Williamson and Mrs. Anthony Zittel social chairmen. They were assisted by Mmes. Valentine, Ralph Donahue, and Robert Northam.

Schedule for YMCA Camp Is Announced

The 1970 schedule has been established for sessions at the YMCA Camp Olson at Longville, Minn., announced Larry Schiller, Winona YMCA youth director.

Camp Olson is owned and operated by the North Central Area Council of the YMCAs and serves boys and girls primarily from Southern Minnesota communities. Last summer 43 Winona area youngsters attended Camp Olson and two Winona girls served on the staff.

Gaylord S. Thomson, a member of the area staff, is director of the camp. He maintains his winter office in the Rochester YMCA.

Next summer's schedule: Girls' sessions—June 14-24; June 24 to July 6 and July 6-18; boys' periods—July 20 to Aug. 1; Aug. 1-13 and Aug. 13-23; Family Camp A—Aug. 24-30, and Family Camp B—Aug. 31 to Sept. 6.

Schiller said this plan varies from 1969 in two respects. It adds a third girls' session to accommodate the many girls who were unable to be served last year because of filled periods, the first girls' and the third boys', to 10 days with an appropriate reduction in fees for the shorter terms.

The committee also reduced the age requirements for girls to 10. This means that girls who reach their 10th birthday in 1970 and have completed 4th grade will be eligible to attend. This is the same minimum age requirements presently in effect for boys.

Philip Chamberlain, a Hormet executive of Austin, was elected to a three-year term as chairman of the YMCA Camp Olson committee at the quarterly meeting of the group held at the Holiday Inn, Rochester, last week. He succeeds Hugo Kuechenmeister, Lyle, Minn., who has served as chairman since 1966.

The committee also heard a fall report on the 1969 season from the camp director and voted to continue to offer horseback riding in 1970. It was offered on a trial basis in 1969.

Winona individuals on the Camp Olson committee are Dr. L. L. Korda, John Woodworth, and James Anderson, Winona YMCA executive director.

Administrator Is Named at Independence

INDEPENDENCE, Wis. (Special)—Frank Kazmierczak began his duties as district administrator Monday. He replaces E. N. Erics, who recently accepted a position as superintendent of the Pittsville Schools.

Kazmierczak has been curriculum coordinator for the Tomah Public Schools the last 7½ years. Previous experiences include the position of elementary supervisor at Blair; teaching principal at Horizon; and teaching principal, Newald, Laona District.

He has a master's degree in supervision and school administration from the University of Wisconsin. His undergraduate work was at Milwaukee State College.

He was active in the Tomah Jaycees and Lions Club.

Mrs. Kazmierczak, the former Rose Ann Mashak, is a graduate of Viterbo College, La Crosse, was a senior high school social studies, speech and English teacher at Tomah and Mauston.

The Kazmierczaks were members of St. Mary's Catholic Church. They have four children: Katherine 4, Mary 3, John 2, and David 1. Mrs. Kazmierczak and children will remain in Tomah until adequate housing arrangements can be made.

Chamber at St. Charles to Give Turkeys

ST. CHARLES, Minn. (Special)—St. Charles Chamber of Commerce at its meeting at Del's Cafe Tuesday noon decided to give turkeys away for Christmas instead of Thanksgiving as in the past.

A helicopter will bring Santa to the business district of town Dec. 13 to distribute candy to all children of St. Charles and area from the Chamber.

A lengthy discussion was held on a teen center for St. Charles. Mr. and Mrs. Larry Adams have volunteered their time on weekends to help develop it.

Suggestions regarding the center should be given to Steve Delano, who continued as president Tuesday in the absence of a new president.

Buffalo County Honors Area 4-H Leaders

ALMA, Wis. — Two diamond clovers were presented to 20-year leaders at the Buffalo County 4-H leader banquet, Tuesday evening. Anton Wolfe of the Golden Hornets 4-H Club, Waumandee area, and Elmer Bade of the Cream 4-H Club, Cream area, each have been general leaders of their respective clubs for the past 20 years.

Election of officers for the 1970 year resulted in the following: President, Rudy Christ; vice president, Mrs. Leslie Ness; secretary, Norman Nyre; treasurer, Mrs. Charles Krueger; Alma district representative, Ms. Elmer Bade; Mondovi district representative, Mrs. Edwin Schaffner; Fountain City district representative, Charles Krueger.

Speaker was Area Resource Development Agent, Vern Hendrickson. He told of many experiences while working to develop extension programs in Iran and Nigeria.

Recognized as friends of 4-H were the county banks. They have provided much in the way of support, both financial and moral. Each was presented a plaque denoting that fact.

Mrs. James Hill, Devany, and Mrs. Oliver Glanzman, Gilman Valley, were honored as 15-year leaders; William Kammueller Jr., Eagle Valley; Mrs. Ellsworth Anderson, Oak Grove; Marvin Passow, Busy Bees, and Mrs. Leslie Rongholt, Lookout Go-Getters, as 10-year leaders.

Senators May Be Short of Campaign Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators running for re-election next year may find themselves a bit short on campaign time. Majority Leader Mike Mansfield anticipates only a brief recess for 1970 electioneering.

"This is a year-round operation now, and that will have to apply in election years as well as off-years," Mansfield said.

Mansfield said the Senate probably will be open for business until Dec. 20, then recess for a between-sessions break until sometime between Jan. 12 and Jan. 19. He said that schedule is tentative.

Next year, Mansfield said, the Senate will take an August recess and probably another break closer to election day. He said that campaign recess may be for two weeks.

Mansfield said Congress should forget its traditional effort to adjourn prior to the autumn campaigns and acknowledge membership in the House or Senate means full-time attendance in Washington, like any other government job.

Democrat Mansfield, who will be seeking another term in Montana in 1970, dismisses the suggestion that sessions requiring campaigning incumbents to stay close to Washington will give challengers an edge.

"Whatever advantage they have is equalized by our being back here tending to the people's business," he said.

'Crack down' on Liquor Sales to Minors

Sheriff George Fort said today that his office is going to "crack down" on businesses that are found to be selling beer and liquor to minors. He said he is receiving numerous calls from parents informing him that their children have obtained intoxicating beverages.

Fort said the main offenders seem to be taverns. He added that if a store or tavern owner sells beer or liquor to a person of legal age, knowing that that person is going to give it to minors, the owner can be prosecuted.

Tiny Village in Illinois Recalls Its Biggest Day

KENNEY, Ill. (AP) — This tiny village commemorates its big day in history today.

It was 27 years ago that the community of 480 residents became the nation's first town with 100 per cent participation in the "V-Home" project during World War II.

"V-Home" stickers marked each home to signify its cooperation with the country's efforts in the war with Japan.

The requirements for achieving the "V-Home" status included that each house was equipped with a red bucket for sand or water to be used in case Japanese aircraft attacked the Dewitt County town with incendiary devices.

To Pad or Not to Pad? That Is the Question

By LINDA DEUTSCH
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A battle of the bra is shaping up in California swimsuits. The question: to pad or not to pad?

Opening fire in the dispute Wednesday at the 1970 California designers' showings were the innovators—Catalina, Cole and Alexa. They plunged boldly into a "no-bra" bikini look which strips away padding, wires and camouflage to leave "all you shining through" the bikini top.

On the defense were conservatives—DeWeese, Sirena, Elizabeth Stewart and Sandcastle—who built bras into tunics, craped their one-piece suits and even kept the demure boys' shorts.

Viewing her competitors' swinging, sexy braless bikini tops, designer Elizabeth Stewart said, "It's my feeling that if it's that great show it. But how many people do you know that it's that great?"

She added soft bras to all suits but made innovations in bikini bottoms which were draped, scarf-wrapped or tied at the sides for a diaper look.

Dubbing its bare suits, "the second skin" Catalina was inspired for the 1970s by the 1930s. Clinging Harlow suits had halter necklines and unfitted "petty shorts."

Cole also sinking into the unhindered "no bra" future, recalled movie star looks of the 30s and 40s with its "Ruby Keeler teddy suit" and "Dorothy Lamour sarong bikini."

Food Prices Up 10 Percent In Japan

WASHINGTON (AP) —While American housewives complained of food costs averaging around four per cent more than a year earlier, Japanese consumers last summer found retail prices boosted by more than 10 per cent, according to the Agriculture Department.

Reports from Japan showed all food in August priced 10.5 per cent more than a year earlier, including increases of 37.8 per cent for fruit; 29.2 per cent for pork; and 8 per cent for rice.

The Japanese government twice this year has authorized emergency increases in pork imports to help reduce food prices, the Foreign Agricultural Service said.

Winona County 4-H Banquet Set Tuesday

More than 100 persons will be honored for service to 4-H at the annual Winona County 4-H leaders banquet next Tuesday evening at Kryzsko Commons, Winona State College.

Activities begin with a social hour at 7:30, followed by the dinner at 8 p.m., according to Rollie Larson, banquet chairman.

Dr. Fred E. Luchs, currently the interim pastor at First Congregational Church of Winona, will be principal speaker. His topic is "Hope in Youth Rebellion."

The affair is sponsored by the Winona Area Chamber of Commerce agriculture committee.

Area Farmers Cited for Conservation Practices

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — Lester Indrebo, Osseo, was cited for his outstanding work as a member of the Trempealeau County Agricultural Stabilization Conservation committee, and three top county conservation farmers were cited at the annual recognition banquet, held at Whitehall Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rossa Jr., Arcadia; Mr. and Mrs. Roger Erickson, Blair, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Enghagen, Et-trick, top conservation families, received awards from Odell Schansberg, Whitehall, County Soil and Water District supervisor.

MR. AND Mrs. Rossa own and operate a 359 acre dairy farm six miles east of Arcadia in American Valley. Conservation practices include 7,500 feet of grass waterways; 110 acres in contour strip cropping; 750 feet of diversions; 2.5 acres in tree planting, and 40 acres in protected woodland.

Their dairy herd consists of 42 milk cows and they have 70 head of young stock. They also market about 285,000 broilers a year to the A.G. Co-op Broiler plant at Arcadia.

Mr. and Mrs. Erickson own and operate a 297 acre dairy farm located two miles northwest of Blair in the town of Preston.

A FIRM believer in keeping the soil at home, Erickson developed a conservation plan with the soil conservation service in 1964. Conservation practices applied include 60 acres contour strip cropping; 40 acres pasture renovation; two acres tree planting; 44 acres protected woodland; eight acres timber stand improvement; one erosion control structure, and 2,200 feet streambank improvement.

Mr. and Mrs. Enghagen own and operate a 161 acre dairy farm in French Creek, town of Ettrick. They have 43 acres in contour strip cropping; 23 acres in pasture renovation; six acres, protected woodland, one erosion control structure, 1,400 feet of streambank sloping and rip rap, and 1,400 feet of streambank fencing.

Indrebo, chairman of the county ASC committee, has taken the lead in promoting Soil and Water Conservation measures through the ACP program.

Through his leadership, the county has one of the most active streambank erosion control programs in the state. Recognizing that streambank erosion is greatly aggravated by cattle, he has helped launch a campaign of streambank fencing. Most streambank control measures are expensive. Indrebo has advocated letting nature do it by keeping the cattle fenced out, and many protected streams are now evident in the county proving the effectiveness of streambank fencing.

EVERY year county farmers apply for more erosion control structures and farm ponds than there is money available. Through Indrebo's leadership, there is an annual review by screening applicants, the most critical erosions problem given priority. Due to careful screening, there has only been one survey made in the past three years where the farmer did not build the structure.

Mr. and Mrs. Indrebo, and a brother, Ole Indrebo, operate a 240 acre dairy farm in the town of Sumner, near Osseo. They have 26 milk cows.

Nick Jensen, Arcadia, president of the County Associated Conservation Clubs, presented the conservation poster awards, the special award going to Whitehall Junior High School, grade 7, and first through sixth respectively to Kristi Preuss, Whitehall; Kim Stay, Blair; Linda Lakey, Trempealeau; Betty Woychik, Independence; Bob Poss, Gale-Ettrick; Jeffrey Westgaard, Eleva-Strum.

E. O. Baker, conservation education specialist, Eau Claire, acted as master of ceremonies at the banquet, served by ladies of St. John's Catholic Church.

'Filled' Milk Ban Upheld in Circuit Court

Wisconsin statutes which ban the sale of filled milk were upheld in Dane County Circuit Court by Judge William Sachtjen, Oct. 21. Filled milk is a product made by adding vegetable fat to skim milk.

In a case heard in Madison in June, Midwest Ready Foods, Inc., Waukesha, had filed a suit against the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, claiming that Wisconsin laws banning the sale of filled milk were unconstitutional.

The state agricultural department, through its food division, had advised Midwest Ready Foods in April 1968, that its planned filled milk was "in fact imitation" and its manufacture was prohibited under two Wisconsin statutes.

In his written decision, Judge Sachtjen ruled that statutes prohibiting imitation milk and filled milk were valid and the complaint must be dismissed. Judge Sachtjen said, "The trial became a nutritional showdown between the plaintiff's product and whole cow's milk, and afforded a ventilation for the contradictions between highly qualified and eminent expert witnesses in the field of nutrition."

The judge also pointed out that "milk has been used as a wholesome food for thousands of years. Its nutritional value is well known and accepted and its quality assured by statute. It is this reputation built up over hundreds of years upon which the imitation depends for its acceptance. Thus, he reasoned, the deception element is inherent in the sale of this product and labeling cannot prevent it."

Seek Approval For Cheese Marketing Order

Wisconsin Secretary of Agriculture Donald E. Wilkinson asked the State Board of Agriculture last week to approve his decision to seek assent in writing from state cheesemakers on a proposed cheese handler marketing order. The board endorsed the secretary's decision.

State cheesemakers will have until Dec. 31 to register. For the assent order to pass, 65 percent of the registered cheesemakers, or cheesemakers representing 65 percent of the cheese volume must approve it. Wilkinson also called for nominations to an advisory council. This council of nine members would advise the Ag Department on use of funds raised under the order.

The order, if approved, would assess cheesemakers $1 per thousand pounds of cheese manufactured. The approximately $847,000 to be raised under the order would be used for cheese promotion and market development.

Fillmore District Enters National Competition

PRESTON, Minn. — Fillmore Soil & Water Conservation District has entered the 23rd annual Goodyear competition to select the nation's top 53 conservation districts, according to Harold Osland, LeRoy, Minn., district chairman.

Activities of the district will be weighed against the performance of other districts in the state in determining the outstanding district in the annual event sponsored by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. of Akron, Ohio.

Key agricultural leaders will serve as judges and will select the state winner. Soil conservation efforts from Jan. 1 through Dec. 31, 1969, will be considered.

Grand award for the 53 districts selected nationally will be an expense-paid, work-study trip to Arizona in December 1970, for one member of the district's governing body and the outstanding farmer-cooperator in each winning district. The 106 men selected will be guests at Goodyear Farms, a 14,000-acre general farm operation near Phoenix.

Fillmore Soil & Water Conservation district has taken part in the competition in the past and was named the state's first place district in '60-'61. District supervisors are Harold Osland, LeRoy; Lester Larson, Mabel; Fredrick Nelson, Fountain; Hilman Erickson, Preston, and Gary Moeller, Chatfield.

Osland said the district's outstanding cooperators will be selected from more than 965 farm operators enrolled in the district program.

ROOT RIVER FETE
HOUSTON, Minn. — The Root River Soil and Water Conservation banquet will be at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Houston, Nov. 24, beginning at 7:15 p.m.

State Banks Up Lending To Farmers

Minnesota banks provided farmers with more credit and other financial services than any other lenders in 1968, according to Ralph E. Petz, Vice President of the First National Bank of Winona.

Based on the report from the American Bankers Association agricultural committee, Petz reported that at the beginning of the year, Minnesota banks were helping farmers with $581 million in loans, five percent more than a year previous. About 70 percent of the non-real estate credit extended by lending institutions to Minnesota farmers came from banks. Petz said that bankers in Minnesota are conscious of the large capital investments required in agriculture today and are making a concerted effort through improved lending programs to meet these changing credit demands of the state's farmers.

He reported that nearly 92 percent of the banks in Minnesota are extending credit to farm people.

PCA Loans Show High Increase

ARCADIA, Wis. — An increase of 31 percent in loans outstanding was reported by Paul M. Sylla, general manager of Production Credit Association at the annual meeting of the group. This is the largest increase in the history of the PCA.

The present $16 million loan volume is five times higher than 10 years ago. Despite this increase, according to Sylla, it appears growth in the future could be more substantial if inflation and farm investments continue to rise.

James A. Julson, Independence, in the directors report noted the changes during the last year, especially the new office located at Mondovi, Wis., the improved quality of loans and the participation by board members in educational programs.

Bernard Lewis, Roberts; Earl Carlson, Hager City, and Julson were re-elected to the board of directors, the other candidates being Charles Rutschow, Mondovi, and Richard Heebink, Baldwin.

Commencing in 1970, the annual meeting time will be changed from the fall to the spring of the year. Sverre Aasen, Whitehall, president of the association presided at the meeting held at Arcadia, Nov. 4.

Asks New Poultry Slaughter Control

The Department of Agriculture has proposed to amend federal poultry inspection regulations to require poultry slaughterers to identify lots of poultry received from individual producers, handlers or growers throughout the slaughter process.

USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service said slaughter plants subject to federal inspection requirements would have to furnish inspectors with names and addresses of producers, handlers or growers and a head count of lots of poultry. Plans would also assist inspectors by keeping records of birds condemned for specific causes within a lot.

This information would assist in the inspection of birds originating from an identified source of diseased or otherwise abnormal poultry flocks.

The proposed regulations would require C&MS to give condemnation information to producers to help them correct the disease or abnormal condition immediately.

WABASHA Co. 4-H

76,000 Receive Food Assistance In September

Nearly 76,000 low-income persons in Minnesota received food assistance from the U.S. Department of Agriculture during September, according to Dennis M. Doyle, Midwest regional director of Food and Nutrition Service.

The total included 10,901 persons in 19 Commodity Distribution Program projects and 54,997 in 57 Food Stamp Program areas. Houston and McLeod counties joined the stamp program during the month.

Minnesota food stamp participants received nearly $1.2 million worth of coupons during September of which more than $334,000 were bonus coupons. The average bonus per person was $6.07.

The Food Stamp Program enables low-income families to buy more food by exchanging the amount of money they normally spend on food for coupons worth more than they paid. The coupons are spent like cash at authorized retail food outlets for any domestic foods.

The commodity Distribution Program provides over 20 USDA-donated foods to supplement the diets of needy people. The foods are shipped to the state distributing agency which handles the storage and transportation to local distribution centers and welfare agencies.

Grain Group Meet At St. Paul

The Farmers Union Grain Terminal Association Annual meeting will be at the St. Paul Municipal auditorium, Tuesday through Thursday.

Among the principal speakers will be North Dakota's Governor William Guy, Congressman John Melcher, Montana, and Mark Andrews, North Dakota.

On the agenda: Reports for the past year and future plans, resolutions on farm problems and government roles in agriculture, and election of directors.

IT'S TOUGH

TO OUT-FARM OUR ONE-EIGHTY

THAT'S a real bold statement... but we've seen proof of it many times. Every time we take the One-Eighty out for a field demonstration, the reaction is always the same: "Never saw a tractor that handled so easily... Sure moves out with a 4-bottom plow for only 64 horsepower!"

The easy handling of the One-Eighty comes from its XT-inspired features... power steering, power clutch, double-action brakes, and three-circuit live hydraulic system. Its smooth power comes from a 6-cylinder diesel or gasoline engine... plus the exclusive Traction Booster system that applies power when and where you need it. Pretty hard to out-farm features like these. Going Orange is Going Great!

Conservation Veteran Retires In Fillmore Co.

PRESTON, Minn. — Arnold Aakre, Fillmore County district conservationist, retired Nov. 1 after 35 years with the U.S. Soil Conservation Service.

He began his career as a professional soil conservationist in early 1935 when he was appointed an agricultural aid at Lanesboro, Minn. He spent his entire career working in Southeastern Minnesota, and with the exception of four years at Plainview and Lewiston, has worked in Fillmore County, assisting the Fillmore Soil and Water Conservation District.

From 1942 to 1941, Aakre headed the SCS office at Lanesboro. When the then Lanesboro and Spring Valley offices were combined into a single office at Preston he was named as the conservationist in charge.

During his 35-year career, he has assisted hundreds of land owners develop conservation plans and apply soil and water conservation measures to their land. Most of the practices commonly recognized today as reducing erosion and runoff were unheard of in 1935 and farmers were often derided by neighbors for using terraces, contour strips and grass waterways.

Mr. and Mrs. Aakre plan to make their home in Lanesboro where they have lived for 30 years.

Barley Again In 1970 Feed Grain Programs

"We are getting lots of inquiries on what to expect for the Feed Grain Program for 1970, but not much is out yet," says Biarne T. Melbo, chairman, Winona Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation county committee.

Melbo said barley will again be included in the program as a feed grain for 1970. Any acreage planted barley, or a mixture containing at least 25 percent barley, unless it is also 25 percent or more of wheat, will be counted against the acreage permitted for feed grains, which in Winona County is mostly corn.

The chairman said this provision is mostly of interest to those farmers who have barley bases established on their farms. They will be able to plant corn on their acreage permitted for barley and vice versa, or they may choose to divert their barley acreages. No change is expected from 1969 program provisions.

Melbo added that there are no oats-rye bases established in Winona County. Farmers operating in it to her counties should check with their county ASCS office, in case they are in question.

There is great interest in long-range land retirement programs whereby whole farms could be entered, said Melbo, but nothing has been provided as yet by Congress.

STALK DENSITY SHOWN . . . Leaving a cornfield as it was picked is recommended by district conservationist, William Sillman. The stalks catch snow, prevent deep freeze and prevent erosion.

density of 4,650 pounds of cornstalks. The picture below is of bottom-land and that showed a density of 8,100 pounds before pasturing.

According to Sillman, a good stand of soy beans will yield about 2,800 pounds of residue. Because of the finer stems it will provide a cover equal to 5,700 pounds of cornstalks.

Trempealeau Co. Receives ACP Grant for 1970

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — Trempealeau County has received a fund allocation of $103,992 for the 1970 Agricultural Conservation Program, according to Lester Indrebo, chairman of the ASC county committee.

The money is used to share costs with farmers for needed measures to conserve soil and water resources on agricultural lands, according to Indrebo, and it is allocated on a 50-50 basis.

ACP practices in the county have included establishment or re-establishment of permanent vegetative cover; application of liming materials; establishment of contour stripcropping; planting, interplanting, replanting trees; establishment of sod waterways; constructing erosion detention or sediment retention dams; constructing channel lining, chutes, drop spillways, pipe drops; streambank or shore protection to prevent erosion.

In addition to Indrebo, members of the ASC committee are Ernest Severson, Osseo, and Wilfred Breska, Arcadia.

SOIL SAMPLES

Farmers taking soil samples in the fall avoid the rush in getting results and having samples returned too late for spring planting. Fall testing also provides a chance for planning what fertilizers best provide proper amounts of nutrients for top yields, and making the application in the fall when soils are in relatively good condition. In the spring, if the ground is wet, it is difficult to get into the fields to apply the fertilizer.

Feeder Cattle Program Starts

ST. PAUL, Minn. — The first in a series of University of Minnesota 1969 Beef Cattle Feeders Days will be held Thursday at the Rosemount Junior High School.

The program will begin at 3 p.m., with informal tours of cattle experiments and facilities at the University's Agricultural Experiment Station at Rosemount.

Results of current research will be discussed from 4 to 6 p.m. by University of Minnesota animal scientists. Topics to be discussed include urea and biuret supplements for cattle rations — growth promotions for finishing heifers — influence of high nitrate intake on cattle fed urea and antibiotic-silage feeding systems for finishing alfalfa in cattle finishing rations — dried rumen contents in rations for finishing cattle — influence of a shipping fever vaccine on feeder cattle — modified environment housing systems for finishing cattle — and use of corn silage for growing and finishing steers.

Records Unit Open House Set

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — Trempealeau County dairymen are invited to attend open house at Agricultural Records Cooperative, 6225 University Ave., Madison, Wis., Sunday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The open house is being held in recognition of 10 years of data processing for agriculture, according to Trempealeau County agent, Peter Bieri.

ARC is located west of Madison on the south side of city highways 12 and 14 just inside the Middleton city limits.

ARC was formed to provide farmers with modern and meaningful electronic record services and continues toward that goal, and in the past 10 years has grown 20-fold.

Surplus Supply Of Wheat Just Keeps Growing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The huge U.S. stockpile of surplus wheat seems to grow relentlessly toward the billion-bushel mark of a decade ago no matter how exporters and the government try to find markets and curb supplies.

Two years ago, when exports were booming, the surplus was only 425 million bushels. Last July 1 it was 818 million. By next July 1, says the Agricultural Department, it could total 920 million bushels.

The main reason, of course, has been the severe slide in U.S. farm exports which have tumbled more than $2 billion from the peak of $6.8 billion just two years ago.

Wheat exports have dwindled from 761 million bushels in 1967-68 to around 544 million bushels during the year ended last June 30, according to revised figures released this week by the department.

This was the smallest wheat export total in a decade and the outlook for 1969-70 is not much better. The latest report projects wheat exports this year at between 550 million and 600 million, the same as estimated last summer.

Thus, allowing for U.S. domestic use of about 805 million bushels—an increase from 749 million last year—the wheat carryover next summer is expected to be at least 870 million bushels and as much as 920 million or more.

Barring a major breakthrough in export trends, it appears the United States will have the largest wheat stockpile since the 1964 carryover of 901.4 million bushels, a period when the billion-bushel surpluses of the late 1950s and early 1960s began to be siphoned off by growing exports.

Blair Girl Places First in Speaking

BLAIR, Wis. — Marie Nestingen, Blair, won first place in the junior high division of the 10-county Area V Soil and water conservation speaking contest at Sparta. Her winning speech, "The Fire of Happy Hollow Forest," will be given at the state-wide speaking contest. A seventh grader at Blair Public School, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Nestingen.

Marie

Kathy Butman, Ettrick, received third place in the senior high division. Also representing Trempealeau County was John Brandt, Dodge, in the elementary division.

FREAK CALF BORN

BLAIR, Wis. (Special) — A seven-year-old Guernsey cow in the Morris Thompson herd, rural Blair, gave birth to a freak calf recently. The calf or calves, had two complete bodies, each with four legs and a tail. Each had a fully developed neck, at which point they were joined into a single head. Although the head looked normal, it also contained two sets of nostrils, one completely developed. The calf was born dead, but, according to Thompson, the cow was on its feet the next day and doing well.

Says DDT Will Show Up In Food for a Decade

By DON KENDALL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Residue from DDT will still show up in the food Americans eat for at least a decade after the pesticide is banned, the government says.

Even if DDT were outlawed tomorrow, "it would take 10 years or longer" to cleanse the nation of effects already caused by the insect killer, Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Robert H. Finch said Wednesday.

Finch made the statement in announcing the banning of DDT within two years for all but essential uses.

Producers Filing for Wool Payments

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — Applications covering 1969 marketings have been filed by 37 Trempealeau County wool producers according to Lester Indrebo, chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization Conservation committee. He estimates an additional 50 producers have yet to file for the incentive payments.

Applicants should bring sales documents for shorn wool and unshorn lambs, both of which may be included in a single application for payments. Purchases of all unshorn lambs including lambs in ewe-lamb pairs should be reported, as the county office must have an accurate record of purchases as well as sales of unshorn lambs.

Shorn wool payments to a producer are equal to a percentage of his returns from sales, the percentage being that required to raise the national average price received for shorn wool by all producers up to 69 cents a pound. Mohair payments are determined in a similar manner, the nation incentive price being set at 77.4 cents per pound. In Buffalo County, James A. Hill, chairman of the county ASC committee reports only 17 applications covering 1969 marketings have been received, with an estimated additional 43 producers having yet to file.

Applications for incentive payments should be filed as soon as 1969 wool marketings are completed and no later than Jan. 1, 1970. All producers who market wool and mohair in 1969 are eligible for incentive payments.

Area Guernseys Tops in Production

Three registered Guernsey cows in the herd of Russell J. Wirt & Family, Lewiston, Minn., have recently completed top official DHIR actual production records, according to The American Guernsey Cattle Club.

Maple Leaf N Mickey, a senior 3-year-old, produced 13,420 pounds of milk and 662 pounds of fat; Maple Leaf N Lydette, a junior 3-year-old, produced 12,500 pounds of milk and 624 pounds of fat, and Maple Leaf N Gingerina, a junior 2-year-old, produced 10,110 pounds of milk and 548 pounds of fat.

Corn Picking Behind Normal

The Nov. 10 report from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Minnesota weekly weather, crop and livestock report lists corn picking as a few days behind normal because of the high corn moisture content. As of Nov. 8, 50 percent of the corn was picked as compared with 60 percent last year, with most corn, because of high moisture, requiring artificial drying.

Soybean harvest was nearing completion with only 10 percent of the state's soybeans left to combine.

While the DDT recommendation was a highlight of the 44-page report, the commission also laid out far-ranging guidelines for improved regulations of other pesticides.

The commission cautioned, however, against going overboard on setting tighter tolerances for pesticide residues now permitted in food, particularly to require them to be completely free of any traces.

The commission cited an amendment to Food and Drug regulations—called the Delaney Clause—which requires the removal from interstate commerce of any food which contains a food additive capable of causing cancer in laboratory animals.

"If the Delaney amendment, as it is now written, were to be strictly enforced for pesticide residues it would convert us to a nation of vegetarians," Finch said.

"Much of our red meat, many dairy products, some eggs, fowl and fish—all parts of basic food groups deemed necessary to a balanced diet—would be outlawed because of very small pesticide residues from the ecological chain."

The heart of the commission report is a recommendation that the government agencies involved with pesticides coordinate efforts to set standards for registration, enforcement and future control.

HARMON KILLEBREW
American League's Most Valuable

Killebrew Is American's Most Valuable

MINNEAPOLIS — Harmon Killebrew stretched for a throw into the dirt at first during the 1968 baseball All-Star game in Houston, and collapsed with a ruptured hamstring muscle in his left leg.

The stocky, balding slugger missed half of that season and wound up with only 17 homers and a lowly .210 batting average. Some persons thought Killebrew would be forced to retire. Even the Minnesota Twins slugger had his doubts.

But today, Killebrew is the American League's Most Valuable Player for 1968.

"Some people didn't think I was going to play at all," Killebrew said Wednesday from his Ontario, Ore., home after he was informed of the award. "I was quite concerned. At the beginning of the season I wasn't quite sure."

However, the worries were premature.

Killebrew played in all of his team's 162 games in what he called one of his best seasons.

He matched his career high of 49 home runs, drove in a career high of 140 runs, drew a career high of 145 walks, scored a career high 106 runs and batted 276. Killebrew gave the West Division champion Twins the game winning hit 22 times.

"I did a lot of work to get in shape during the off season," Killebrew said. "I exercised the leg, did a lot of bunting, walking over the hills. I really think you have to go through a season without too many injuries to have a good year."

What about next year? "I'm just going to hope I can play like last year," the 33-year-old slugger said. "I want to play as many games as I can and stay away from injuries."

Killebrew received 16 of the 24 first place votes from the Baseball Writers Association of America selection committee, which consisted of two writers from each league city.

Baltimore first baseman John "Boog" Powell, who batted 304, hit 37 homers and knocked in 121 runs, finished second in the voting and got six first place votes. Killebrew had a total of 294 points, Powell 227 and Baltimore's Frank Robinson—the 1966 A.L. winner and 1964 National League MVP—was third at 162.

Frank Howard, Washington power hitter with 48 homers, had 115 points, and Reggie Jackson, who hit 47 homers for Oakland, was fifth with 110 points. Killebrew became the second Minnesota player to win the award. Zoilo Versalles, now with the Senators, won the MVP in 1965 when the Twins won the pennant.

"This is the greatest honor a ballplayer can achieve in his lifetime," said Twins President Calvin Griffith. "Harmon has certainly been close to the award before. He certainly deserves the award for the year he had. He is just an all-American fellow."

How about a raise for the Minnesota first-third baseman? "Harmon is going to get a raise, even if he wasn't selected as the Most Valuable."

Killebrew said he was leaving soon for Japan on a sales trip for Killebrew Enterprises, hoping to interest the young Japanese players in a batting trainer.

He said he has quite a few speaking engagements lined up during the winter months, but that he will be in good shape for spring training.

Killebrew, asked about his reaction to the recent firing of Billy Martin and hiring of Bill Rigney, said:

"It's hard to tell what the reaction will be among the players. They're all scattered now. Everybody has varying opinions. It's kind of tough but I think everybody realizes that's the way baseball is. You just go out and try to do your best. "I think maybe the club should be a little better. Jim Kaat and Dean Chance were hurt and Rod Carew was out quite a bit. And the younger players will have more experience."

Other Minnesota players receiving votes and their position in the final balloting:

Pitcher Jim Perry, ninth, 40 points; Carew, 10th, 30; shortstop Leo Cardenas, 12th, 27; pitcher Ron Perranoski, 23rd, 25; outfielder Tony Oliva, 15th, 21. Receiving less than 10 votes were outfielder Cesar Tovar and first baseman Rich Reese.

Fargo Fantastics Hold Down First

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
There's room at the top now in the nation's small college football poll for the simple reason North Dakota State is through for the season.

The Bisons finished No. 1 again last week—and now turns its attention to the Camellia Bowl Dec. 13 in Sacramento, Calif.

Sportswriters and sportscasters voting in the AP national panel awarded the Bisons 11 first place votes and 300 points Wednesday after the Fargo Fantastics beat South Dakota State 20-13 for a 9-0 season record.

The Camellia Bowl will be the Bisons' third straight postseason game. They won twice in three Pecan Bowls and in 1964 won the Mineral Water Bowl game.

Montana, 9-0, again finished second in the poll with one first place vote and 279 points boosting its record to 9-0 by blanking Cal Poly SLO 14-0 and Delaware, 7-1, beat Lehigh 42-17 for 185 points and another third-place finish.

Akron, 8-1, moved from fifth to fourth with one first place vote and 165 points after crushing Youngstown 60-27 and New Mexico Highlands, 70-1, jumped from seventh to fifth with 158 points and one first-place vote after burying Southern Utah 59-0.

Alcorn A&M, 6-0-1, remained in sixth place with 151 points after beating Mississippi Valley 41-10. Louisiana Tech, 6-1, advanced from eighth to seventh with 128 points after nipping Southeast Louisiana 25-24.

Arkansas State, 5-1-1, dropped from fourth to eighth after tying Drake 21-21. Northern Arizona, 7-2, was a newcomer to the Top Ten, occupying ninth position after finishing 12th last week. Northern Arizona, which beat Eastern New Mexico 48-20, just edged out Texas A&I, which dropped from a tie for ninth into 10th place. Texas A&I, 7-1, received a first-place vote after blanking Howard Payne 27-0.

In the second 10, Tampa, 5-2-1, joined the rankings in 11th place after beating the Quantico Marines 45-10.

Mary Emmons Slaps 220-602

Mary Emmons slapped a 220-602 National Honor Count for Homeward Steps Wednesday night in the Sunsets circuit at Westgate Bowl. That performance was good for sixth place on the 1969-70 women's team series list and led Homeward to 945-2763, that team series score standing fifth over the year.

Mary's effort also marked the second women's National Honor Count in the city in two days. On Tuesday, Helen Nelson fired 603 in the Ladies' City loop at Hal-Rod Lanes.

Dianne Hardike pitched 532, Shirley Gehlhaart 523, Leslie Krage 523, Helen Selke 513, Irene Schultz 505, and Peggy Jacobson 503.

Walt Woegge tossed 234 for Sunbeam, but Al Smith and Winona Furniture took over from there in the Retail League at Hal-Rod Lanes. Smith notched an errorless 647 in leading Winona Furniture to 1,012-2,369.

John Schreiber socked 616, Bill Bonow 603 errorless, and Emil Nasack 603. Dave Rupert hit an errorless 542.

WESTGATE BOWL: Major—Golden Food's Don McManus smacked 231 and Jeff Ives ripped 607 for Action Realty. Golden Food wound up the evening with 1,033-2,902. Duane Nelson had 221-601.

Mixers — Ginny Cieminski, Louise's Lounge, cracked 204 and Mary Douglas of Oasis banged 544. Blackhorse pounded 921-2,643 for team honors.

Men's — Frank Budnik of Wunderlich dumped 246-578, but Happy Chef bounced 1,010 and Hackbarth's hit 2,798.

Alley Cats — The Ramblers' Betty Haedke spilled 198-498. The Fourth Dimensions claimed team honors with 724-2,063.

ATHLETIC CLUB: Ace — The Plumbing Barn swept league activity as Rich Lejk leveled 227-551 and his team recorded 1,024-2,824.

KRYZSKO COMMONS: WSC Maintenance — Chester Tarras of the Dormitory and Ray Sebo, Paffrath's, each slapped 209 and Tarras piled 550 by the end of the night. Paint Depot stung 914 and the Dormitory felled 2,562.

HAL-ROD LANES: Park Rec Junior Classic — The Vikings' Jon Knopick shattered 177-320 for the two game series. Count IV tumbled 650 and the Vikings totaled 1,212.

Commercial — Bill Burmeister of the Magic Mist fired 239 and Mike Sawyer bruised 579. The Magic Mist had 1,003 and Seven-Up stung 2,854. Ed Feltz hit a 565 errorless and Rick Smith notched a 103 triplicate.

Series Earnings High in History

NEW YORK (AP)—The richest payoff in baseball history finds each New York Met collecting $18,338.18 and each Baltimore Oriole pocketing $14,904.21 from the World Series and the pennant playoffs.

The old highs were $12,794.00 for the victorious Los Angeles Dodgers in the 1963 World Series and $8,189.36 for the losing Dodgers in the 1966 Series with Baltimore.

The Atlanta Braves, winners in the National League's West Division but beaten three straight by the Mets in the playoffs, each get $6,944.10 and the Minnesota Twins, who took the America League's West Division but were eliminated by the Orioles in three straight, each take home $6,460.12.

After those big numbers, released Thursday by Charles Segar, secretary-treasurer, of baseball, there is a big drop to $574.94 for each Chicago Cub who led the National East by 9½ games as late as Aug. 13 but finished second. Detroit, the pennant winner in 1968, had to settle for $630.79 after finishing way up the track behind Baltimore in the American East. San Francisco's Giants each get $612.13 as runnerup to the Braves in the National West and Oakland gets $597.58 each for finishing second to Minnesota in the American West.

Durand, River Falls Cage Favorites Again

Durand and River Falls, co-champions during the 1969 football season are expected to fight it out again for top honors during the 1969-70 basketball season.

The Panthers, 23-3 last season, were Wisconsin state champs. Durand won the Middle Border Conference championship with a clean 14-0 slate.

Coach Al Ormson says that the team's success depends on the team's big men Ron Krisik, 6-2 senior forward, and Jeff Lunderville, 6-2 senior center. They are two of eight returning let-terms.

Other returning lettermen are: Mike Silberhorn, 6-0 sen-

Lunderville Krisik

The Panthers open the season at home Tuesday against Barron and meet River Falls in "The Game" Nov. 25.

"We won't have the great scoring ability or the smoothness of last year, but we will be a strong and quick team which will also be powerful on defense and on the boards."

Ormson rated River Falls, Durand as the title favorites and rated Hudson and New Richmond as "dark horse" candidates.

Ellsworth may also have some voice in who wins the Middle Border crown. Ellsworth has six lettermen in Bob Churchill, Dan Dunn, Jeff Boigenzahn, Fred Wilkens, Don Jilk and Barry Helmeueller.

Tigers Place Six Players on All-Root River

Root River champion Peterson, 7-0 in the conference and 9-0 overall, had the honor of placing the most players, six, on the Root River All-Conference team.

Runnerup Caledonia was next with five players on the all-conference squad.

Named from the Tigers of Peterson were: Terry Highum, 5-11, 190-pound senior halfback; Dale Hegland, 6-2, 232-pound senior defensive guard; Dick Hatlevig, 5-8, 186-pound senior linebacker; Doug Hatlevig, 5-9, 184-pound senior linebacker; Curt Glenna, 6-1, 182-pound senior halfback and Ken Pederson, 5-9, 154-pound senior defensive halfback.

Highum, candidate for all-state honors, gained 1,618 yards in 195 carries for an 8.3 yard per carry average. He scored 23 touchdowns and ran 12 extra points for a grand total of 162 points. He amassed 5,226 yards in his career which stands as a high school record. Highum notched 75 touchdowns in his career.

Tiger coach Rees Johnson calls Hegland "strong, smart, very quick and agile." Hegland averaged 23 tackles and assists per game.

Dick Halevig was second team all-conference last year and is labeled "quick and fast" for his position. Cousin Doug is called a "hard hitter and a boy who comes to play football."

Glenna supplemented Highum's fine credentials by gaining 524 yards in 75 carries for a 7.0 average. He scored seven TDs and ran for one two-point conversion.

In describing Pederson, Johnson said, "He's a steady dependable player who comes up and tackles well."

Called a top college grid prospect is Darrell Bunge, 6-2, 245-pound senior of Bunge played both offensively and defensively and will be missed "tremendously," according to coach Felix Percuccio.

Cary Wohler, all-conference center from Caledonia team, was the smallest player on the Warrior squad at 145 pounds. Other Caledonia selections were Bob Lange, 155-pound senior defensive guard; Paul Schiltz, 170-pound senior defensive and offensive end and Jim Denstad, 205-pound senior offensive tackle who "always came up with the big play," according to his coach.

Coach Earl Seaton's La Crescent Lancers placed two men on the offensive unit and two on the defensive unit. Offensive choices were Rick Boyer, 5-9, 150-pound senior halfback who averaged 4.9 yards per carry and scored 52 points during 1969 and Steve Robinson, 6-1, 160-pound senior of fensive end. Robinson caught 14 passes for 252 yards. He scored 32 points.

On defense the Lancers placed Dave Severson, 170-pound tackle who rated as the Lancers' top tackler and Kent Northrup, 5-7, 129-pound senior defensive halfback who picked off six enemy passes.

Lewiston's Greg Bearden was named the Root River fullback. At 6-3, 190 pounds, Bearden rushed for 659 yards in 120 attempts for a 5.5 yard average. He also caught 15 passes for 145 yards. Bearden scored 56 points. On defense he made 72 tackles.

Jim Neldner of Lewiston was named the league's top quarterback mainly because of his record of 47 completions in 75 attempts for 551 yards and a sparkling 63 percent clip. Neldner threw for seven touchdowns, ran for another, and ran for five two-point conversions. He had only one pass intercepted.

Lewiston's third all-conference selection Dave Simon, 160-pound junior guard, was also named on offense. He made 76 tackles.

Representing Rushford were Gary Baker, 5-11, 160-pound senior offensive end, and Daryl Rustad, 190-pound senior offensive guard. Baker caught 20 passes for 323 yards and three TDs.

Houston was represented by halfback Ed Krugmire on offense and halfback Jan Bremseth on defense. Mabel-Canton players on the squad were Bob Kelly, 200-pound senior offensive end, and 6-1, 190-pound Jerome Tingesdahl, defensive tackle.

Spring Grove was also represented by two players: Dennis Gulbranson, 174-pound offensive tackle, and Bruce Bratland, 5-6, 150-pound senior linebacker.

Jones' 43 Points Paces Rocket Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Maybe the whole town wasn't talking about the Jones boy in Pittsburgh Wednesday night. But anyone who watched the Denver Rockets whip the Pipers 125-114 in an American Basketball Association game was Larry Jones fired in 43 points in sparking the Rockets to a come-from-behind victory, only their third triumph against 11 losses. Rookie Spencer Haywood of the Rockets put on a show, too, scoring 35 points and grabbing 26 rebounds.

In other ABA games, the Indiana Pacers downed the Carolina Cougars 130-111 as the Dallas Chaparrals topped the Washington Caps 122-104 and the Los Angeles Stars turned back the New York Nets 133-126.

Pittsburgh led Denver 85-81 after three quarters before the Rockets exploded for five points in the opening seconds of the final period and never relinquished the lead. It was the Pipers' first home loss this season.

John Brister topped the Pipers with 36 points, followed by Charley Williams with 26.

One Letterman Back at Pacelli

AUSTIN PACELLI

AUSTIN, Minn. — Austin Pacelli's Shamrocks will have only one returning letterman on the floor for their 1969-70 campaign, that being 6-0 senior forward Dan Howley.

Pacelli finished the past basketball season with a 11-5 Central Catholic Conference record and a 18-7 over-all mark. The Shamrocks will, however, be hard pressed to find replacements for the graduation losses.

Among the team members that coach LeRoy Koll considers top prospects are 6-5 senior center Tom Dellenbach, junior center Duane Allen, 6-4, Dave Winkels (forward, 6-2 junior), Mike Miller, 6-0 junior forward, and guards Dale Felton (6-1, junior), Gary Duren (5-11, sophomore) and Joe Dolan (5-9, senior).

Coach Koll admits that "we are rebuilding. We could have four underclassmen starting." He expects to see Benilde and Cretin on top of the heap at the end of the season with the possibility of St. Thomas finding light at the upper crust as well.

Name Kapp Player of Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Any quarterback can call an audible at the line of scrimmage but it takes a Joe Kapp to come up with a visible.

Kapp had the Minnesota Vikings on the Cleveland one in the closing minutes of the first half of Sunday's 51-3 romp. The Browns dug in with an 11-man line, prepared for the plunge. The Vikings also were ready to grind it out on the ground.

As Kapp took the ball he spotted Gene Washington all alone in the end zone so he waved to Washington. It was too late to tell the rest of the club so they went through their regular blocking chores. Kapp wobbled a pass to Washington for a touchdown, his 17th of the year.

"Washington was so surprised he fell down when he caught it," Minnesota Coach Bud Grant said.

Although Kapp already had been named the Offensive Player of the Week in National Football League the day he threw seven touchdown passes against Baltimore, The Associated Press picked him for the second time for his work against the Browns.

Kapp threw for three touchdowns, all to Washington and completed 16 of 24 for 223 yards in the rout of the Browns. He hit with his first seven and 12 of his first 13 passes. Washington also made a key block.

"Joe Kapp has to be the most underrated quarterback in football," said Blanton Collier, Cleveland coach. "He's got it all—mental and physical toughness fine, quick throwing and a special kind of leadership."

Gale Sayres had his third straight 100-plus yard day and Bobby Douglass tossed two touchdown passes and ran for 72 yards in the Chicago Bears' first victory, 38-7 over Pittsburgh. Sayres ran 28 times for 112 yards and scored twice while the Bear defense climbed all over Terry Hamratty and Dick Shiner.

Calvin Hill also went over the 100-yard mark again with 109 on 13 carries in Dallas' 33-17 victory over New Orleans. The 6-foot-4, 227-pound rookie ran 30 yards for one score and set up another with a 55-yard ramble. He also was embroiled in several flare-ups with the Saints after throwing the ball at the Saints' Elijah Nevetts.

The old man came through again for Baltimore as John Unitas hit with two touchdown passes in a 14-6 win over Green Bay. Tom Matte ran for 66 yards and caught passes for 37 more yards.

Roman Gabriel helped Los Angeles roll to its eighth straight 41-30 over San Francisco with three scoring passes and also scoring once on a run. Rookie Larry Smith was the Rams' top rusher with 71 yards.

John Brodie of the 49ers made it close with a late spurt that narrowed the Rams' lead to six points at one stage. Brodie, coming off the bench after arm trouble, connected with three touchdown passes, completing 25 of 42 for 356 yards.

Johnny Roland and Cid Edwards chewed up yardage on the ground in St. Louis' 42-17 romp over New York. Roland ran for two touchdowns and caught a scoring pass from Charley Johnson. Aaron Thomas caught nine for 127 yards for the Giants.

Philadelphia rallied to get a tie with Washington, 20-20, as Tom Woodeshick ran for 85 yards and Leroy Keyes ran for 87 and caught four passes for 42 more. Norm Snead of the Eagles completed 18 of 33, including eight for 112 yards to Harold Jackson.

Bobby Williams ran a kickoff back 66 yards in Detroit's 27-21 win over Atlanta. The Falcons' Jim Butler ran 13 times for 79 yards and caught four Randy Johnson passes for 69 yards, scoring twice.

Coach Coatta's Status Hanging on Last Games

MADISON (AP) — The Wisconsin-Illinois game in Camp Randall stadium Saturday night appear to be just another match between a couple also-rans in the Big Ten football race.

But to Wisconsin Coach John Coatta it would be the most important contest of his three year career at the Badger helm.

Coatta, whose Badgers floundered through two winless seasons before springing upsets over Iowa and Indiana this fall, has only two more chances to improve his 2-25-1 record before his contract expires next month.

Some Badger fans believe a victory over winless Illinois is a must if athletic director Elroy Hirsch is to renew the contract with the 40-year-old Coatta.

Hirsch, who replaced the late Ivy Williamson as athletic director this year, has not made his intentions public regarding Coatta. But he has denied several reports he has started to seek a successor.

The Illinois game will mark the final 1969 home appearance for Coatta's Badgers, who wind up the season on the road the following week against the Minnesota's improving Gophers.

Wisconsin and Illinois, two former Big Ten powers, have been similarly frustrated in attempts to break into the victory column in recent years.

Illinois is 1-17 over the last two campaigns and Wisconsin is 2-16.

Despite its mediocre record, Wisconsin has shown signs of heading back up the road toward football respectability.

Coatta, in fact, notes that victories over Illinois and

Mike Phipps Tops Passers In Big Ten

CHICAGO (AP) — Purdue and Ohio State are backed up statistically as offensive leaders of the Big Ten as they groom for their nationally televised football clash Saturday.

Official conference statistics showed Thursday that the No. 1 Buckeyes easily maintained their top offensive rating with a 513-yard average in league games. They also replaced Indiana as the best defensive team by limiting opponents to a 268 average.

Purdue moved into second best on the offensive scale with a 425 average but is not among the leading five on defense. Indiana is second on defense with an average yield of 268.

The Buckeyes have stifled foes to a 64 rushing average but have permitted 204 in the air. The aerial yield is significant because Purdue's Mike Phipps heads conference passers with 1,140 yards and eight touchdowns based on 88 hits in 164 losses.

Larry Lawrence of Iowa's Hawkeyes, who take on Michigan Saturday, is second in passing with 54-129-764.

Phipps easily is the total offense leader, adding 120 yards rushing to his aerial work for a 1,270 total. Lawrence is next with 195 on the ground for 959. Indiana's John Isenbarger tops rushers with 690 yards in 116 carries for a 5.9 average. Mike Adame of Northwestern is second with 592-107-5.4.

Eleva-Strum Central Lands Seven All-Dairyland Posts

Dairyland Conference champ Eleva-Strum Central and runners-up Cochrane-Fountain City and Osseo-Fairchild dominated the 1969 All-Conference team.

Central landed seven positions, three offensive and four defensive, on the All-Conference list.

C-FC and Osseo-Fairchild nailed down five spots each. Three defensive and two offensive men were chosen from Osseo-Fairchild while C-FC picked up four offensive posts and one defensive.

Central's contributions to the offensive team were Ron Bue, end, Dennis Barneson, quarterback, and Kim Nelson, a running back. Bue caught 37 passes for 740 yards and 12 touchdowns. Barneson completed 73 of 147 passes, threw 15 touchdown passes, and totaled 1,152 passing yards. Nelson gathered 671 yards, nine touchdowns and 4 PATs on the season.

C-FC's offensive choices included guard Tom Bagniewski, Steve Vandermoon, a tackle, and running backs Rich Baures and Bill Baertsch. Baures and Baertsch combined for a total of 118 points in the conference. Baures collecting 52 and Baertsch gathering 66. Baures picked up 827 yards in the conference. Vandermoon was a three-year starter for C-FC.

Greg Laufenberg, end, and guard Dennis Myhre made the All-Conference roster from the Osseo-Fairchild camp.

Laufenberg, also a punter and kicker, averaged 40 yards per punt and booted two field goals during the season. He hauled in 22 passes for 493 yards and 5 touchdowns.

Other offensive choices were Dick Dickinsen, Augusta end, Wayne Vehrenkamp, an end from Blair, Independence tackle Alan Suchla, and center Greg Warner of Whitehall. Suchla was used in Blair's tackle eligible play and caught five passes for a total of 78 yards. Dickinsen caught 16 aerials for 219 yards and Vehrenkamp gathered in 27 passes, five of which went for touchdowns.

Central placed four men in defensive positions, Osseo-Fairchild three, and C-FC one. Central's placements on the defensive All-Conference team were lineman Richard Wright, linebackers Ted Olson and Kim Nelson, and halfback Ron Bue. Lineman Mike Polinske and Rusty Schnell and linebacker Greg Laufenberg represented Osseo-Fairchild in the defensive alignment.

Rich Ernst, a C-FC halfback was that team's only choice on the defensive squad. Ernst intercepted six passes in 1969 conference competition.

Other All-Conference linemen are Alan Suchla, Independence, Augusta's Steve Sullivan, and Bill Tjoflat of Blair. Kit Warner from Augusta and Charles Walek, Independence, were chosen linebackers. Scott Gunderson, a representative of Whitehall, was picked at a defensive halfback spot.

Bears' Butkus Given Honor On Defense

CHICAGO (AP) — Linebacker Dick Butkus of the Chicago Bears, a terror on the field and a tame family man off it, has at least one vote as being the best player of all in the National Football League.

The former Illinois star, in his fifth pro season, is the Associated Press NFL Defensive Player of the Week.

He won these spurs by leading a defense that forced four turnovers, scored two safeties and held the Pittsburgh Steelers to 31 yards rushing and 55 passing in a 38-7 victory Sunday.

It ended a seven-game losing streak for the Bears.

Butkus made 15 unassisted tackles and 10 assists.

"To me, Butkus has been the defensive player of the week every week and will go on being the player of the week through the rest of the season," says Jim Carr, who joined the Bears from the Minnesota Vikings this summer as a defensive coach.

"He is the best player in the NFL today," Carr added. "And that is taking in all quarterbacks, fullbacks, receivers, centers, tackles, guards, ends, everybody."

ILLINOIS PUNTER OUT CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Terry Masar, star sophomore punter for Illinois, is out for the season with a broken collar bone, Coach Jim Valek said Wednesday.

Miss Travis recently became the manager of Larry Buck, the World Boxing Association's 10th-ranked light-heavyweight. Buck meets Billy Marsh of Las Vegas, Nev., tonight in one of four featured 10-round bouts. She received her formal license from the State Boxing commission just a day before the fight.

It all started in the downtown restaurant she owns, the "Home Plate." By decor and clientele, it's a sports hangout. Baseball pictures are draped along the walls in the front dining room. Boxing began making inroads on baseball in the back bar since Jeanne entered the cigar smoke world of fight managers.

"I have a lot of athletes come into my place," she said, "baseball people and the boxing crowd. Then a while ago they had a victory party here after a fight and it fascinated me. I used to listen all the time to the managers and fighters talk and I decided I wanted to get into it. I had a chance to buy Larry's contract, which I did."

The blonde-haired Jeanne isn't the first woman manager. King Tevinsky's sister, Lena, was the heavyweight's manager during the 1930s. She also handled his training and worked in his corner. Jeanne, admittedly, isn't that knowledgeable—yet. That's why she hired Eddie Cotton, a pretty fair boxer himself once, as her trainer.

"So far I'm enjoying myself," Jeanne said. "It's like anything new. I'm really serious about it, really. Larry is my first boxer. I want to see what I can do with him. But if I get into the deep end of it, I might find out I don't like it and want to get out. You just have to wait and see."

"The managers and promoters are very smart and shrewd. It's a battle of wits, but I sit back and listen to the managers and take in their bickering. It's just like business. I like it, I really do. And I think I'll like it more when I get to know all the angles."

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin Athletic Director Elroy Hirsch will be honored by the National "W" club Saturday, during halftime of the Wisconsin-Illinois football game.

Pete Rozelle, pro football commissioner, will give Hirsch an award for being named to all-time National Football League team.

Also honored will be 16 former Badger letter winners who directed their high schools or college teams to championships this year.

The club will present Hirsch with a life membership and a $20,000 check for construction of a new athletic ticket office. The facility, on the southeast corner of Camp Randall on the campus level, will open in a few weeks.

Fired-Up Royals Bounce Boston

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS It may be just as well that Bob Cousy hasn't been able to get reinstated as a player in the National Basketball Association.

His Cincinnati Royals might lose to the Boston Celtics in that case.

Cousy, now coach of Cincinnati, went 2-0 against his old team when the fired-up Royals whipped the champion Celtics 116-107 Wednesday night.

The Royals were keyed up because Red Auerbach, general manager of the Celtics, has refused to release Cousy from the Celtics' retired player list without a deal with the Royals.

San Diego defeated the Detroit Pistons 131-119 in the other NBA game scheduled.

Indiana crushed Carolina 130-111, Denver beat Pittsburgh 125-114, Dallas downed Washington 122-104 and Los Angeles humbled New York 133-126 in the American Basketball Association.

Oscar Robertson, the Big O, paced Cincinnati with 25 points as the Royals put on dazzling performance of ball handling and hit on 47 per cent of their shots.

After leading at the half 60-51, the Royals drew out to a 21-point lead at 95-74 before the Celtics rallied in the last quarter on the shooting of John Havlicek and Don Chaney.

Heart Massage Used on Mitchell

BALTIMORE (AP) — External heart massage was used on Tom Mitchell, Baltimore Colt tight end, after he was hurt in Sunday's game with Green Bay, it was reported Wednesday.

Larry Harris of the Baltimore Evening Sun wrote that when Mitchell left the dressing room, heading for a hospital, he collapsed, "actually turned blue, and medics couldn't find a pulse for long, anxious moments."

"External heart massage finally got him going again, however, and then it was a long, two-hour siege in the operating room while doctors cut and repaired ligaments, threw away cartilage and finally sewed him up."

Mitchell suffered torn ligaments in his left knee from a block while covering a kickoff. It was the first play after he caught a pass and ran 40 yards for a touchdown in Baltimore's 14-6 victory.

Environment, Population Next on List

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Student protesters will turn their attention to an assault on the American environment and population explosion once the Vietnam war is over.

That is the prediction of Wesley Fisher, 26, co-chairman of a year-old University of Minnesota student group, Students for Environmental Defense.

The group was founded by James Changus, a graduate student in genetics a year ago during the continuing controversies of nuclear power plants and pollution of the Great Lakes.

Since then, Changus has picked up his doctorate degree and moved on to the Tulane University Medical School in New Orleans. He left the group in the custody of Fisher and Robert Hertz, 22.

Fisher says student reaction to the group has been tremendous. "I spent $20 for a small ad in The Minnesota Daily last spring to announce a meeting and when I went to the meeting room I was surprised to find it full."

Hertz says he always has enjoyed the outdoors but began to realize the dangers of pollution when he did his undergraduate work in Chicago, Ill.

The two SED leaders say they expect themselves to be the beginning of what is expected to become more prominent across the nation—protests of how man is befouling his nest.

One example of this is the Department of Ecology at the university, which has almost tripled in enrollment in the past two years. Dean Richard Caldecott said graduate school enrollment is up 28 per cent in 1967 to 75 this year.

Caldecott said, "We anticipate that the department will eventually become one of the most important at the university."

Fisher is one of those 75 ecology graduate students. He contends the most important issue facing mankind is population control and says the first significant attack will come when there is a general consensus for parents to have no more than two children.

When population is finally controlled, Fisher says, all other problems—war, famine, pollution—will be correspondingly reduced.

Two From Wisconsin Killed in Vietnam WASHINGTON (AP) — The names of two more Wisconsin servicemen were on the latest list of Vietnam war casualties, released Wednesday by the Pentagon.

Army Spec. 4 Kenneth L. Henke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Henke of Berlin, was listed as killed in action.

Changed from missing to dead from non-hostile causes was Army Pvt. Carl Crowley, husband of Mrs. Brenda A. Crowley of Milwaukee.

Flag That Had Draped Casket of War Victim Found SUPERIOR, Wis. (AP) — An American flag that had draped the casket of a Vietnam war victim was found Wednesday night, about 36 hours after police said it was stolen from the home of the veteran's parents.

The flag, folded military style, was found in a paper bag. It had draped the casket of Marine Pfc. David Banks, who died of wounds suffered in combat.

It was taken Tuesday, the day which would have been his 21st birthday, as it flew from the porch of Mr. and Mrs. John Banks Jr.'s home.

Another son, Lt. John Banks 111, 24, was killed in a plane crash in Vietnam in 1966. Two other sons still are in the service, one stationed in Minnesota, another in Superior's National Guard unit.

Market Losers Widen Lead Over Advances

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market wandered down the loser's path in moderate trading this afternoon as declines continued to widen their lead over advances.

Analysts noted some selling and buying by investors for tax purposes and saw investor caution over the upcoming anti-Vietnam war demonstration Saturday.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon slipped to 850.51, off 5.48.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was off 1.5 to 285.0, with industrials off 1.9, rails off .9, and utilities off .9.

Tobacco issues and building materials were higher in midday trading, while steels, motors, farm implements, aircrafts, electronics, oils, airlines and drugs were mostly off. Rubber issues, utilities, metals, chemicals, and rails were mixed.

General Motors was off 1/8 to 74 1/2, and American Motors down 1/8 to 11 1/2 after the companies reported declines in November car sales due to strike-caused shortages.

Reynolds Tobacco gained 1/4 to 47 1/2 after the company announced that it was using a new process that increased the bulk of cigarette tobacco particles and could appreciably reduce tar and nicotine content of cigarette smoke and the costs of cigarette production.

General Public Utilities led the Big Board's most-active issues at 24 1/2, off 1/2, on a midday volume of 140,100 shares. Fifteen of the 20 most-active issues declined, 3 advanced, and 2 were unchanged.

Lafayette Radio headed the list of the 20 most-active issues on the American Stock Exchange at 29.07 off 1 1/2 on a turnover of 52,100 shares. Twelve issues on the list were lower near noon, while 3 were higher and 5 unchanged.
