45th Tactical Air Squad to be disbanded

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Air Force's 45th Tactical Reconnaissance Squadron is being disbanded and its 20 RF101 Voodoo jets will be reassigned to Air National Guard units in the United States, the U.S. Command announced today.

It is the first reconnaissance squadron to be deactivated in Vietnam.

The command refused to say to which guard units the planes would go. Informed sources said the information was withheld so congressmen from the states affected could make the announcements and get the publicity.

Deactivation of the squadron will reduce U.S. strength in Vietnam by 600 airmen and will leave five squadrons of the 45th Tactical Reconnaissance Wing, the parent unit, at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut air base. American reconnaissance flights are continuing over North Vietnam despite the halt in the bombing there two years ago.

Continuing the 40,000 man troop cutback President Nixon has ordered by the end of the year, the U.S. Command also reported that another infantry battalion from the 25th Division has been pulled out of the combat zone as part of the redeployment of two brigades of the division.

Informed sources said an Army helicopter squadron of 31 UH1 Hueys and the Soc Trang air base in the Mekong Delta will be turned over to the South Vietnamese air force at ceremonies Wednesday. Soc Trang is the first American air base being turned over to the Vietnamese in its entirety.

In Washington, the Defense Department rushed out Monday night, the eve of U.S. congressional elections, a report that about 30 Americans were killed in combat last week, the lowest weekly death toll in five years. Normally the weekly casualties are not announced until Thursday.

Battlefield action across Indochina was again reported light and scattered.

Day of decision arrives Bitter campaign ends

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The angry clamor of a bitter mid-term election campaign yielded today to the solemnity of decision as Americans cast the ballots that chose a new Congress and shaped their state governments.

The verdict began in the chill dawn of Maine, flowed from state to state, time zone to time zone, across a continent President Nixon and his Republican lieutenants have coursed in an historic quest for congressional support.

In the school houses, fire stations, municipal halls of 185,599 precincts and voting units, Americans were electing 35 senators, 35 governors and a new House of Representatives.

In the end, both Republicans and Democrats seemed likely to claim victory in a virtual congressional standoff. Republicans seemed likely to add one to three seats to their Senate minority; little change was expected in the alignment of the Democratic House. Democrats appeared headed for statehouse gains that could provide a significant financial and organizational boost in the 1972 presidential election, adding perhaps a half-dozen governorships to their ranks.

Nixon and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, who together waged a tough, aggressive and unprecedented off-year campaign, were today, like their countrymen, in charge of one vote apiece.

The President was to cast his in a school house in San Clemente, Calif.; Agnew was voting in Baltimore.

It was a campaign in which apathy and indecision defied the bitter rhetoric, the hours of televised persuasion, the law-and-order litany of the Republicans, the dire economic assessment hammered by Democrats.

And the great enigmas remained as the ballots were marked and folded, the voting levers pulled. Among them:

—How will the nation react to a Republican offensive concentrated on the issue of lawlessness and violence — and dramatized at the last minute by the confrontation in San Jose, Calif., between Nixon and antiwar demonstrators?

—What of the economy, the Democratic issue? Will the voters look, as Democrats have urged, to their wallets?

—What will be the polling place impact of the six-week General Motors strike, which has idled some 400,000 men, most of them in crucial, hotly contested Midwestern states?

—When and how will state concerns, local problems, personalities, issues never raised on a national platform, override the broader arguments and shape the outcome?

Republican against Democrat, law and order versus inflation and unemployment, the argument raged into election eve in a nationally televised exchange.

Republicans chose for their election-eve windup a nationally televised reprise of the Phoenix, Ariz., campaign speech in which Nixon recalled the San Jose incident and declared:

"The time has come to draw the line. The time has come for the great silent majority of Americans, of all ages and every political persuasion, to stand up and be counted against appeasement of the rock throwers and obscenity shouters."

Nixon program —

Soundtrack quality brings many blasts

NEW YORK (AP) — Thousands of television viewers complained to the networks Monday night about the poor soundtrack quality of a GOP political broadcast edited from a tape of one of President Nixon's speeches.

The broadcast was supplied by the Republican National Committee. The soundtrack contained loud background hum, faded in and out in volume and sometimes lost the President's words in crowd noise.

High corporate officers for the three major networks said the GOP was warned in advance that the sound quality was poor but decided to use the tape anyway. All three networks carried the broadcast.

A presidential spokesman at the Western White House in San Clemente, Calif., acknowledged that "we knew the audio was not of studio quality."

But the spokesman added that the response to the President's speech, at an outdoor rally in Phoenix, Ariz., was such that it was felt it should be made available for viewing throughout the country.

Many irate callers accused the stations of "sabotaging" the President. "Some of them think we did something to the Nixon tape," said an NBC source in St. Louis.

The poor sound quality of the President's tape was in sharp contrast to that of Democratic Sen. Edmund Muskie who appeared in purchased time following Nixon.

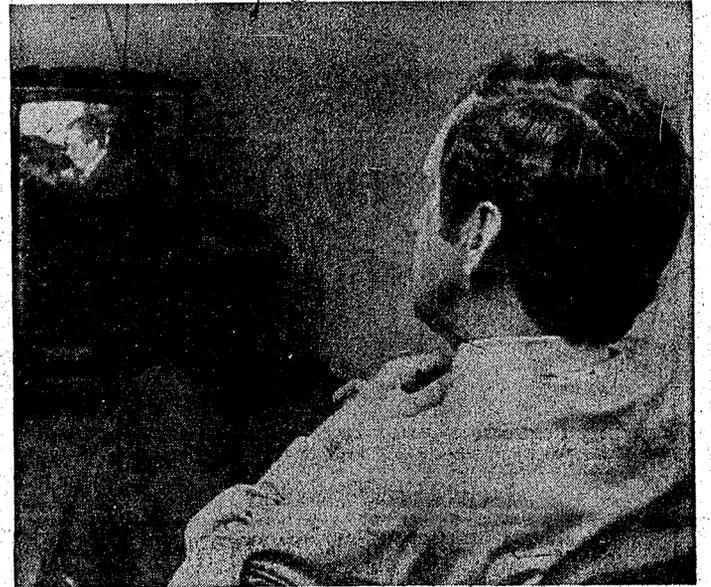

The Muskie speech was prepared and produced for TV tape, in color and with studio-quality sound.

Nixon votes early

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon raced fellow Californians to the polls today — but his wife and daughter beat him there.

As Nixon with wife Pat and daughter Tricia entered their precinct voting place seconds before the 7 a.m. opening of the polls, an election official, Wilma Willington, stepped to the door and cried out, "Hear Ye, hear ye, the polls are now open."

Mrs. Nixon was the first to sign the vote registry, receive a newspaper-size blue ballot and enter a cloth-draped booth to mark her ballot. Tricia voted second and the chief executive was third to vote.

On future of Berlin

Soviets say hard-line plan misunderstood

By ENDRE MARTON
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union says a hard-line approach taken by one of its diplomats about the future of Berlin has been misunderstood.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko has attempted, in separate meetings with U.S., British and West German officials, to explain that his ambassador to East Germany is not a hard-liner. But Gromyko has not spelled out how the ambassador was misunderstood.

The Soviet diplomat, Pjotr A. Abramimov, will have the opportunity to elaborate on the proposal when he meets in Berlin Wednesday with U.S., British and French ambassadors.

Abramimov took the other Big Four powers by surprise at an Oct. 9 meeting. He proposed West Berlin be divorced politically from West Germany, and that the Soviet Union be given virtual veto power over the future of the divided city, while denying similar rights to Western powers in East Berlin.

Since that time, Gromyko has met with President Nixon, Secretary of State William P. Rogers, British Foreign Secretary Alec Douglas-Home and the German foreign minister, Walter Scheel.

Douglas-Home is understood to have made an effort to smoke out Gromyko when the latter visited London last week. The Russian, however, declined to go beyond stressing the "community of interest" of all four great powers and of West Germany to come to terms on Berlin and, as far as it is known here, this is essentially what he told Scheel during a six-hour conference in Frankfurt Oct. 30.

Gromyko's talks in the United States — his meetings with Rogers in New York and with President Nixon at the White House — produced nothing to indicate in what form and to what extent the Soviet Union is willing to revise its hard-line position. Gromyko's visits here, in Britain and in Germany obviously were aimed at repairing the damage Abramimov caused with his unyielding position.

Accordingly, U.S. officials are extremely reserved on the eve of the ninth ambassadorial meeting and stress that despite Gromyko's extensive travel to improve the climate, a meaningful evidence of a readiness to negotiate must come from Abramimov at the talks on Wednesday.

The officials also declined to speculate on the possible relationship between the Big Four talks and the forthcoming new round of West German-East German negotiations. The latter were proposed by the East Germans and should take place on the state secretary level sometime later this month.

47 of 50 states pick governor or senator

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

In 47 of the 50 states today, voters choose either a senator or governor, or both, and every state picks its share of the 435 members of the House of Representatives in the 92nd Congress. Many states also have legislature elections, constitutional amendment votes and local bond issues.

The national themes are the emotional issues such as law and order and the unrest in society, and the pocketbook issues: inflation, unemployment and the cost of living.

But the issues state-by-state are almost as numerous as the candidates and outcome probably will tell little about national trends — although winners may argue otherwise.

At stake: 35 Senate seats, now held by 25 Democrats, 10 Republicans; 35 governorships, now divided 11 Democrats, 24 Republicans; 435 House seats now held by 243 Democrats, 187 Republicans, with 5 vacancies.

Outlook: Republican hopes of gaining 7 seats necessary for control of the Senate faded late in the campaign and the prognosis is for a net gain of one to three Senate seats on the GOP side of the aisle. Democrats seem destined to pick up at least four governorships, reducing their 32-18 deficit.

Democrats are expected to increase their margin in the House, but not by the traditional average of 37 seats that usually falls to the party out of White House power in the off-year elections.

Last-minute changes: The incident in San Jose, Calif., when President Nixon was jeered by demonstrators and some rocks were thrown, plus the President's subsequent speeches emphasizing this violence, throw an unknown factor into predictions previously made in polls. Democrats also went on television to counter the last-minute Republican thrust.

The campaign: Observers agree that the fighting, locally and nationally, has been the roughest of any campaign in recent years, and produced smear tactics in many local battles.

America's first elected Marxist leader installed

By WILLIAM F. NICHOLSON
SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) Dr. Salvador Allende, a Marxist Socialist elected with strong communist support, became president of Chile today in a half-hour ceremony that launched three days of celebration.

Before 200 congressmen and representatives of 70 foreign governments, outgoing President Eduardo Frei proclaimed the results of last month's runoff election in Congress, then draped the Banda de O'Higgins, a silk sash signifying the presidency, over Allende's shoulders.

Taking office with Allende is a 15-member Cabinet, including three communists. Except for Fidel Castro's Cuban government, it is the strongest communist participation in a western hemisphere government since the overthrow of President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman in Guatemala in 1954.

Allende won a plurality in September's general election over a representative of Frei's left-of-center Christian Democratic party and a conservative. Congress elected Allende to a six-year term last month after he agreed to constitutional amendments to safeguard civil liberties and the election process from his communist supporters.

The 62-year-old new president, who left medicine for politics and became a senator, scheduled separate receptions later in the day for the diplomatic delegations, "unofficial" visitors from communist nations not yet recognized by Chile and for the Chilean people.

The unofficial delegations were invited by the Popular Unity coalition of leftist parties on whose ticket Allende ran. Allende invited the public to night to La Moneda, the presidential mansion. His supporters planned a "popular fiesta for the new Chile" a block away on Bernardo O'Higgins Avenue, the city's main street named for Chile's national hero.

West German, Polish officials now negotiating

WARSAW (AP) — West German Foreign Minister Walter Scheel and Polish Foreign Minister Stefan Jedyrychowski today began what may be their final round of negotiations on a treaty to normalize relations between their governments.

Scheel arrived in Warsaw Monday night and met with Jedyrychowski for 30 minutes today at the Foreign Ministry. Then they went with their delegations to a government villa in downtown Warsaw to continue the talks.

By JERRY T. BAULICH
WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairmen of three congressional committees—two in the House and one in the Senate—were knocked off in party primaries and two Senate chairmen are involved in close elections.

But if any more House committee chairmen lose it'll be a big surprise. Six of the 19 had no opposition in today's balloting.

Chairman of four of the 16 Senate committees were up for election this year. Sen. Ralph Yarborough of Texas, chairman of the Labor and Public Welfare Committee, was beaten in the Democratic primary by Lloyd Bentsen.

Sen. Joseph D. Tydings of Maryland, chairman of the District of Columbia Committee, and Sen. Gale W. McGee of Wyoming, chairman of the Post Office and Civil Service Committee, are favored to win re-election but face tough sledding. Tydings' Republican opponent is Rep. J. Glenn Beall. McGee is opposed by Rep. John S. Wold.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, who heads the Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, is expected to win easily over Republican Charles Ellicker and two minor candidates.

Should Tydings get beaten, Sen. Alan Bible of Nevada would succeed him if Democrats, as expected, retain control of the Senate.

Should McGee lose out, Sen. Jennings Randolph of West Virginia would be in the unique position of having to choose which of three committees he wants to head. He is chairman of Public Works, is next in seniority behind Yarborough on Labor and Public Welfare, and is third behind McGee and Yarborough on Post Office and Civil Service.

The rules permit a senator to head only one committee, and although Randolph hasn't said what he'll do, aides say they feel certain he'll want to hold onto Public Works.

If this happens, Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr. of New Jersey is next in line to head Labor, but he is involved in a close election with Republican Nelson G. Gross. Should Williams lose, Sen. Claiborne Pell of Rhode Island would move up to the no. 1 spot.

Randolph, Bible and Pell are not up for re-election this year.

Both House casualties in the primaries were from Maryland. Rep. George H. Fallon, chairman of the potent House Public Works Committee, was upset by Democrat Paul Sarbanes, and Rep. Samuel N. Friedel, chairman of the Administration Committee, lost to Parren J. Mitchell.

The six House chairmen who were unopposed today are Maryland's Edward A. Garmatz of the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee; South Carolina's L. Mendel Rivers of Armed Services; Arkansas' Wilbur D. Mills of Ways and Means; and three Texans: W.R. Pogue of Agriculture, George H. Mahon of Appropriations and Olin E. Teague of Veterans Affairs.

City turnout 'unusually heavy'

In spite of the inclement weather, an unusually heavy turnout had been recorded at noon today by most polling places in the City of Winona.

Heavy voting was attributed to numerous races on the state, district and county levels.

In the city, about 25 percent of the registered voters had voted by noon at St. Anne Hospice in the first ward and city hall in the third ward where voters had to stand in line for brief periods before entering the voting machines.

In the second ward at the West End Recreation Center and in the fourth ward, third precinct, at Washington-Kosciusko School, officials reported about 20 percent of the voters had voted by noon.

Only one minor breakdown was reported by the West End Recreation Center where a voting machine was out of order for about 15 minutes. The mechanical breakdown occurred shortly after the polls opened, so no voter experienced any inconvenience at that time as another machine was in operation, said officials.

Out of the city, voting was also expected to be quite heavy as the rain and snow made it impossible for farmers to work in the fields.

Early indications in the Twin Cities area were that voter turnout lagged; but Mrs. Robert Chevrier, 21, Minneapolis, was one voter who was determined to vote. She put the responsibility ahead of the birth of her first baby as she appeared at 7 a.m. at a poll and told election officials: "I'm on the way to North Memorial Hospital to have my first baby. Could you let me vote ahead of the line?"

Voting officials promptly agreed and Mrs. Chevrier cast her ballot and then continued on her way to the hospital where at 8:30 a.m. today a hospital spokesman reported all was well "but she hasn't had her baby yet."

Two injured in early morning crash

Two persons were injured early this morning when their car apparently went out of control on West Broadway and struck a tree.

Hurt slightly but not hospitalized was Edward D. Thaldorf, Minnesota City, the driver of the eastbound 1963 model sedan that struck a tree just east of Grand Street at 3:25 a.m. today.

A passenger in his car, Terry L. Larson, 17, 763 W. Broadway, was taken to Community Memorial Hospital where authorities list him in satisfactory condition with facial lacerations.

Damage to the sedan was listed at $500.

No injuries were reported in a three-car collision at East 2nd and Lafayette streets at 4:13 p.m. Monday.

Damaged in the crash was a 1969 model sedan driven by John W. Lewis, Lamolite; a 1964 model sedan driven by LaVonne M. Merchlewitz, 282 E. Wabasha St., and a 1966 model hardtop driven by Laurence M. Weir, 516 E. Sanborn St.

The Lewis and Merchlewitz cars were northbound on Lafayette, police said, and the Weir car was eastbound on 2nd. Damage was listed at $200 to the Lewis car, $100 to the Merchlewitz car, and $100 to the Weir car.

Rollingstone retiree honored at dinner

ROLLINGSTONE, Minn. — Miss Hattie Nilles, a former postal clerk at the Rollingstone Post Office, who recently retired after 23 years of service, was honored guest at a Friday night dinner party at the Oaks Supper Club, Minnesota City.

Present were 22 past and present co-workers. Miss Nilles was presented a gift certificate in recognition of her many years of service.

Hazardous property assessments upheld

City Council members voted Monday night to overrule objections to an assessment for costs of reconditioning two west-side property parcels that had been officially ruled hazardous.

The properties, at 36 and 66 Fairfax Street, are owned by Walter Neumann, 121 E. 2nd St. They consist of two basement sites which were razed by city order earlier this year. The city's contract costs totaled $24 and were assessed against the properties.

Appealing the assessment Monday night was Martin A. Beatty, Neumann's lawyer. Beatty described the assessments as "confiscatory" and offered, on behalf of his client,

Straw balloting shows diversity

Straw ballots were taken at Winona Senior High School Monday and at Watkins Products Inc. last week and voters at both locations would have elected the same eight candidates out of the 12 offices on which the two groups jointly voted.

Elected by both groups would have been Hubert H. Humphrey, U.S. senator; Albert R. Quie, 1st District congressman; Ben Boo, lieutenant governor; Daniel D. Donovan, secretary of state; Rolland F. Hatfield, state auditor; Roger Laufenburger, state senator; M. J. MacCauley, state representative, District 2A, and Helmer Weinmann, Winona County sheriff.

The two differed in the races for governor, state treasurer, attorney general and clerk of district court.

The high school students awarded a slim four-vote margin of victory to Douglas Head in the governor's race while Watkins' employees narrowed the margin of victory of Anderson over Head to one vote.

For state treasurer the totals were Boche, 310 high school and 67 Watkins and Bjornson, 279 high school, 93 Watkins; attorney general, Spannaus, 328 and 76 and Forsythe, 204 and 82 and clerk of district court, Miller, 268 and 87 and Roemer, 341 and 70.

Watkins' employees gave 81 votes to Ronald Anderson and 79 to C. Elmer Anderson for public service commissioner; 78 to Borkowski and 44 to Henry for 2nd-District county commissioner and 46 to Kohner and 60 to Williams for 4th District commissioner. They did not vote on the unopposed candidates nor on the amendments.

Although the high school voted on the unopposed candidates, they did not vote for public service commissioner or county commissioners. Neither group voted on supreme court justices, district court judges or state representatives from districts 1B and 2B.

The high school students overwhelmingly approved both amendments to the state constitution. On amendment number one concerning taxes, 455 said yes and 151, no, while on the amendment two for lowering the voting age, 543 said yes and 92, no.

At the high school the straw balloting was sponsored by the students and teachers of the political science section of the social studies department. The 1,300 total student population in grades 10-12 were registered and 600 actually voted.

At Watkins, 300 ballots were sent out to employees living in Minnesota and 164 of those were returned.

Youth faces two-count drug charge

A Winona youth appeared in Winona Municipal Court this morning to face a two-count charge of possession of marijuana, a felony.

Edward Z. Smoloch, 18, 871 E. Sanborn St., is charged with possession and control of marijuana in connection with an arrest at 4:10 p.m. Monday by city police.

He appeared without an attorney before Judge Loren Torgerson. Judge Torgerson set Smoloch's bond at $1,000 and set his next court appearance for 9:30 a.m. next Monday.

The youth was originally arrested on an intoxication charge at Ruth's Restaurant, 126 E. 3rd St., police said. After being brought to headquarters, however, the complaint alleges that Smoloch had a quantity of what police laboratory tests indicated was marijuana. The substance was reportedly found in a coat pocket.

If convicted, Smoloch faces a minimum possible sentence of five years in prison, and a maximum penalty of 20 years and a $10,000 fine.

His was the 11th drug-related arrest in Winona in the past 15 months.

Consolidation of city boards is considered

An ordinance that would consolidate some of the remaining special city boards appeared briefly at Monday night's City Council meeting before being put over to next week for action.

Drawn as the result of a study made by a committee headed by Councilman Dan Trainor Jr., the ordinance would abolish separate boards that now handle appeals from housing, zoning and building codes. In their places it would create a five-member board, appointed by the mayor with the council's approval. The board would handle appeals taken from provisions of any of the above codes.

The board would be empowered to reverse, modify or amend all or part of any order or determination by an administrative officer. An appellant could appeal a board decision to the city council.

Man charged with smashing shop window

A man is currently being held in the Winona County jail on a felony charge of criminal damage to property in connection with a window-smashing incident Saturday.

David A. Kleinschmidt, 25, no permanent address, is accused of throwing a rock through a plate glass window at the Hurry Back Barber Shop, 103 W. 3rd St. He was arrested at 9:02 p.m. Saturday.

Damage to the window was listed at $127.

Kleinschmidt appeared before Winona Municipal Court Judge Loren Torgerson Monday morning, and was returned to the jail in lieu of $500 bond.

He returned this morning to ask the court to appoint an attorney for him, which Judge Torgerson did after questioning him as to his finances.

Kleinschmidt's next appearance in court will be at 9:30 a.m. next Monday, when he and his attorney will either request or waive a preliminary hearing.

Four youths in custody for car thefts

Winona police juvenile division investigators announced today that they have taken four juveniles into custody in connection with the thefts of five cars last Thursday night.

Police Chief James W. McCabe said this morning that the four, aged 15, 16, 17 and 17, have been referred to the juvenile division for prosecution.

Four of the five stolen cars were recovered Thursday night and early Friday morning—two of them after they had collided with each other.

The fifth car was found during the weekend, McCabe said.

In other police action, a 13-year-old boy was taken into custody at 4:10 p.m. Monday in connection with the alleged shoplifting of a 97-cent pair of gloves from the S. S. Kresge Co., 51 W. 3rd St.

He has been referred to the department's juvenile division.

Goodview to extend streets near school

At the Goodview Village Council's regular meeting Monday evening, a resolution was adopted to extend 8th Street from 49th Avenue to 51st Avenue, and 51st from 5th Street to 8th.

The street extensions are designed to provide access to the new elementary school, now under construction at 51st between 8th and 9th streets.

THE COUNCIL authorized Northern States Power Co. to install lights in two alleys in the village.

A building permit was issued to Dominic R. Salerno, 4045 5th St., for addition of front and side porches and interior remodeling and repairs. The estimated cost is $400.

Stan Ferguson inquired about building a house in an area zoned heavy manufacturing at the southwest corner of 4th Street and 41st Avenue. The council instructed him to subdivide lot 4, block 2 of Merchlewitz Subdivision and then apply for a building permit.

THE PAYMENT for village garbage collection was increased $20 to $220 per month effective Jan. 1, 1971, and the McCarthy Well Co. was authorized to perform a routine check on the deep well pump and motor for the village water system.

The Council will meet as a Board of Canvass at 5 p.m. Wednesday to canvass the results of today's village election.

Bids to be asked from landfill site operators

By FRANK UHLIG
Daily News Staff Writer

City Council members listened Monday night to lengthy complaints about a proposed Homer Valley landfill site and then voted to ask for operational bids from owners of three possible sanitary landfill sites.

Bidding specifications are to be ready for next Monday's council session, according to the council's motion. They will deal with deposits of industrial wastes and of other miscellaneous rubbish but not with garbage. The city's garbage is collected under a contract with Refuse Disposal Service Inc., La Crosse, which in turn makes its own arrangements for disposal sites.

The council's action was pre-empted by a long session in which Homer Valley residents objected to consideration of a farm owned by Duane and Gerald Zenke as a possible landfill site. The principal spokesman was R. C. Burt, who lives on a farm in the same valley as the Zenke acreage and who operates an insurance business in the city. The council and administrative officers also answered a series of written questions submitted by the protesting residents.

Certify completion of Huff Street work

City Council members voted to certify completion of the Huff Street improvement project at a total cost of $143,489.67. State aids will furnish $139,751.18 and assessments will make up the remainder.

In addition, the council considered a report by City Engineer Robert Bollant that some adjustments will be needed to compensate for continued settling of a large culvert that connects the two parts of Lake Winona.

THE 154-INCH culvert, which replaced the old concrete bridge, was laid on a three-foot gravel base laid over a 10-foot layer of muck, according to the report. It was expected to remain stable but has settled enough to create a slight depression in the street surface. Settlement is expected to continue for another year, reported Bollant.

Once settlement stops, the pavement will be cut away and enough base added to level the street again, Bollant reported. This should occur within a year.

City Manager Carroll J. Fry told the council that this is a much less costly method of dealing with the problem than the alternative—that is, dredging muck out and refilling with stable material.

In setting the assessment hearing date for Dec. 7, councilmen also held a brief discussion of interest rates charged for unpaid balances.

Councilman Gaylord Fox questioned the city's rate of eight percent. He argued that the city is able to borrow money for about two percent less and ought not to make so much profit.

FRY NOTED that any amount so collected goes into the state aid account to help finance necessary purchases of lands needed for improvements. He said the policy had been in effect for years in the city. While the council may wish to change the rate next year, Fry said, it cannot consider charging different rates in the same year.

Councilman Barry Nelson cautioned against operating at a loss in borrowing money for use by others. Fox said he would like to see the council study a possible change for 1971.

Hearings also will be held Dec. 7 on assessments for 1970 sewer projects.

BURT SHOWED an aerial photo map of the area and color slides of his part of the valley showing debris washed onto his land by flash flooding from the valley above. He argued that the Zenke farm is unsuitable for a landfill, that its usable area is limited to about 12½ acres and that farms in the same valley downstream would be exposed to pollution in high runoff periods.

In response to the questions, City Manager Carroll J. Fry told the group responsibility for enforcement of anti-litter regulations would be that of the county since the city has no jurisdiction outside its limits. He said the county board had insisted that nearby townships and communities must be able to use any landfill the city obtains. This, he said, would create littering problems since townships have no provisions for regulating kinds of vehicles used.

Littering would not originate from within the city, Fry said, because the council could be expected to set up tight controls over rubbish hauling within the corporate limits. City police would enforce ordinances, he said, but little trouble is expected from regular haulers since most are adequately equipped. Private individual hauling of rubbish may be curtailed, he said.

Keeping runoff away from a landfill site is the key to successful operation, explained City Engineer Robert J. Bollant. He said if the site were chosen the operator would have to make adequate provisions for bypass of upland drainage. On the site itself, deposits would have to be covered daily with six inches of earth and weekly with a two-foot layer of dirt, he said. Regulations are laid down by the state Pollution Control Agency.

THE CITY expects to find a site it can use for the next 10 years at least, explained Ted Schima, city sanitarian. The fact that the city's garbage contract has only 2½ years to run has nothing to do with this objective, he said. Schima said each of three potential sites has received tentative approval by the PCA. The other two sites are owned by Junior Markwardt, Minnesota City, and James Murphy, Wilson Township.

Councilman Gaylord Fox wondered whether a landfill operator could be required to furnish a performance bond to the city. Fry said the control of such a rural operation runs to the county rather than to the city. However, he added, the city would include a contract clause relieving it of all liability for any effects of the operation, including such things as runoff damage to nearby lands.

Mayor Norman E. Indall assured the audience the city nevertheless would do all it could to guard against such possibilities. He described PCA regulations for landfills as very strict. Councilmen urged that figures be assembled to show city refuse volumes as a basis for bids. Fry recommended that the bidding specifications cover garbage quantities as well as other materials, even though the garbage contractor currently must make his own provisions. This would help assure better bids, Fry argued.

The argument did not prevail, however, as Councilmen Barry Nelson, Fox and Dan Trainor Jr. proposed the city seek terms for other refuse only.

A WHITE AWAKENING . . . A wet blanket of snow could be seen in the rural Winona area this morning as well as in the city itself. As early as 5 a.m. today, snow covered automobile windshields in the city as slush blanketed the ground. As morning wore on, however, the snow soon dissipated into slush and finally into puddles of water. (Daily News photo)

Snow disappears, more forecast

Snow mixed with rain greeted the early-morning risers in Winona and surrounding communities today but the wet, white blanket disappeared from the ground as the morning continued.

In the 24-hour period ending at noon today, 5 inches of precipitation was recorded in Winona, with temperatures reaching a high of 44 and a low of 32. A year ago, temperatures soared to 45 and fell to 37 with .11 inches of precipitation.

The Minnesota Highway Department maintenance office at Winona reported wet roads in the area and some slush on the surface in the St. Charles vicinity. No equipment was sent out, however, as the slush soon turned into puddles of water.

Reports from Lewiston, Minn., indicated about two inches of snow on the ground early this morning, while Rochester reported snow and .31 inches of precipitation. La Crosse, Wis., noted .65 inches of precipitation, mostly in the form of rain.

In the surrounding counties, sheriffs' departments in Wabasha County reported snow Sunday evening but rain Monday evening; Houston County, trace of snow; Fillmore County, mostly rain with a trace of snow Monday afternoon; Buffalo County, rain; Pepin County, about one-half inches of snow on the ground, and Trempealeau County, a light blanket of snow on the ground early today and gone by 9 a.m.

The combination rain or snow was expected to continue this evening, especially in Southeastern Minnesota. The forecast for Wednesday is for partly cloudy to cloudy skies with scattered areas of light rain or snow in the south. The high Wednesday is expected to be 38 to 48 degrees, while the low tonight is expected to be 28 and 36.

For Wisconsin, rain again is in the forecast, with a chance of snow this evening. The high Wednesday should be in the low to mid-40s with the low tonight in the low to mid-30s.

It Happened Last Night Not guilty of crashing rehearsal

By EARL WILSON
NEW YORK — I didn't do it! I positively didn't crash Richard Rodgers' invitational dress rehearsal of the new Danny Kaye musical, "Two By Two," to spy on it ahead of the opening Nov. 10.

Oh, listen, maybe I was in the Imperial Theater (accidentally) to have a look at the new girl, Tricia O'Neil, from Shreveport, El Paso and Waco, and maybe I even saw Danny Kaye up on the stage playing Noah, but like I say, it was just a coincidence that it was during this dress rehearsal, and I put it all out of my mind.

Tricia's 24, had never been on the professional Broadway stage, but so impressed Rodgers in auditions that he suggested a voice coach for her. She's a stately-looking brunette, went to Baylor, had been on a Bob Hope TV show on campus, and was completely new to New York. She thinks New Yorkers are superb folks.

"Is she your new Shirley Jones, Diahann Carroll and Celeste Holm?" I asked Rodgers who said, "You're asking me to carry a crystal ball."

I left after a few minutes because people kept looking at me funny and saying, "Out." I can go this far, though. A lot of people were laughing at some things that Danny Kaye said. What they were you'll never get out of me till opening night.

Vice President Agnew's line that he's going to take the gloves off — "No more of this 'Mr. Nice Guy' stuff — is reported to have come from some Hollywood gag writers . . . A hippie's definition of counterfeit money, Ted Chinnell reports, is "homemade bread."

Politicians again take over networks

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
NEW YORK (AP) — Last minute politicking raised hob with the networks' entertainment schedules on the eve of election day.

A half hour, purchased by and split between the Republicans and Democrats and used on each network, was placed in various time spots. NBC preempted Red Skelton; ABC "The Silent Force," and CBS, "Mayberry, R.F.D."

Excerpts from President Nixon's Phoenix, Ariz., speech last week, in which he condemned violent demonstrators, occupied the Republican spot. The black-and-white news film was, as stated by a CBS announcer, "below broadcast standards," with a noisy and sometimes blurred sound track.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine followed with a low-key campaign talk. This Democrat-sponsored portion was in color, and Muskie was seated in an easy chair in what looked to be an old New England kitchen.

David Frost, off the networks, devoted 30 minutes to an interview with Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson on her recently published book and her memories of the White House years. The former first lady told with warmth and charm of family life in the mansion—nonstate dinner meals of tapioca pudding and "country fried steak," a Christmas in the White House with all the Johnsons together.

ing she was happy the girl found what she sought. Was it not a shock for her Protestant mother and father?

"Not for him," Mrs. Johnson said. "Lyndon was born ecumenical."

Frost, as usual, moved easily from subject to subject and showed he had done his homework thoroughly.

NBC helped brighten the evening with one of its "World Premiere" features, a two-hour action tale of international intrigue called "Berlin Affair."

Darren McGavin played a familiar role in the McGavin style — an American investigator in Berlin hunting a former coworker who inexplicably had tried to murder him on a bridge at Pandau. The solid spy story was full of fights, bugged telephones and a romance. It was given a boost by superb location shooting in West Berlin.

Since "Berlin Affair," like so many made-for-TV film features, could have been spun in an hour, dramatic Berlin exteriors used for chases and the final shootout made the padding almost as much of a pleasure to watch as the actors.

European dandies in the 11th and 12th centuries liked to wear slippers with toes designed as scorpions, serpents and fish tails. One best-selling number turned up and twisted into the shape of a ram's horn.

Pheasant reports

Minnesota pheasant hunters Saturday afternoon averaged slightly better than one-half bird each, according to Dave Vesall, state game supervisor. Reports from fieldmen showed 623 hunters checked had taken 448 birds. Nick Gulden, local game manager who worked in the Rochester area, checked 48 hunters with 47 birds, and 33 hunters with 18 birds on Sunday.

Several groups of local hunters working the Rochester, Austin and Owatonna areas reported taking limits on Saturday. Gulden reported that only 45 percent of the corn has been harvested and a lower percentage of soybeans. Water was standing in the fields, and hunting was tough.

Bill Drzakowski, bird photographer, will show his latest slides at the November meeting of the Hiawatha Valley Bird Club at the Lake Park Lodge at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

McCormack hits at unemployment

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker John W. McCormack has added a final blow to Democratic election complaints about the economy with the declaration that unemployment has reached 6 per cent.

He gave no source for the figure, which a Labor Department spokesman said was not scheduled to be released until Nov. 6. The spokesman said of McCormack: "He must be a seer because we don't have the figure ourselves yet."

McCormack, D-Mass., said in his statement Monday: "I am confident voters will see through the media-smothering tactics of the Republican effort to play on fears, and will vote on the real issues before the country."

"What is needed is less politics, less appeals to fears and emotions by this administration and more use of the measures to combat crime, inflation and unemployment which Congress has passed and sent to the White House," he said.

The Labor Department said the new figure is still being tabulated, but some Democrats have charged it is being held until after today's elections.

In answer, the department released a fact sheet which it said showed that in the past 10 years, October unemployment figures had been released only twice before elections and, in both cases, elections were later than Nov. 3.

In 1962, the figures appeared Oct. 31 and elections were Nov. 6. In 1956, the report came out Nov. 4, when elections were on Nov. 8.

The fact sheet said the figures are always collected on a week containing the 12th of the month. Processing takes two weeks, and the actual release date after that can vary as much as a week.

This year's October report has been scheduled for Nov. 6 for almost a year, the fact sheet said.

Hunting parties from Winona working the Hollandale area — normally a good area — found muddy hunting and averaged about one bird Saturday and less than a half bird Sunday.

Some hunters, who worked in the rain in the Houston-Money Creek area, Saturday averaged one bird. Sunday was generally slow. The average was about a half bird per hunter in the Steele and Mower counties area.

Here and there

Some 400 pheasants were released by members of the Lake City FFA Chapter recently, in areas with heavy cover, conservation ponds and cornfields. Of these birds, 300 were banded with plastic bands. It is hoped that all banded birds killed by area hunters will be reported to Ralph Lentz, FFA adviser.

The birds were from 500 donated by the Minnesota Conservation Department and raised by FFA members Don Siewert, Allan Tiedeman, Kenneth Gerken, Carl Mancilman, Bruce Moechnig, Larry Bremer, Robert Burfeind and Ralph Lentz. The birds were released in 17 different localities.

Feed was donated by the Lake City Sportsmen's Club.

Weather expected to retard voter turnout

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
One of Wisconsin's busiest and most important election campaigns in years culminated today under a forecast of voter-discouraging cool, rainy weather.

State election supervisor Leo Fahey had predicted a turnout of 1.3 million voters, 400,000 fewer than the turnout for the 1968 presidential election but 130,000 more than for the off-year 1966 voting.

Then came an election-day forecast of occasional rain, possibly mixed with snow in some areas as temperatures lagged in the 30s or climbed to the low 40s at best.

Republican Gov. Warren P. Knowles is not seeking a fourth term, and GOP Lt. Gov. Jack Olson faced Democratic former Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey on the gubernatorial ballot. The winner gets a four-year term instead of two years for the first time because of statutory tenure changes.

Democrats counted on a large turnout, especially in predominantly Democratic Milwaukee, to sweep Republicans from the statehouse. Voter registration in Milwaukee, however, is at a 16-year low.

Polls open variously from 7 a.m. to 9 a.m., and close throughout the state at 8 p.m. CST.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., was challenged for re-election by Republican John Erickson, a former basketball coach. The state's ballot had six candidates for governor, and six for the Senate.

Local contests were counted on to boost some of the voter interest, and legislative races were among them.

Republicans controlled the 1969 Senate 21-11, and the Assembly 50-47.

Seventeen Senate seats were up for re-election. Today's balloting included filling of one vacancy in the 33-seat Senate and two in the 100-seat Assembly.

Delta Queen completes her 'funeral trip'

By BILL CRIDER
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A noisy, jazzy funeral Monday ended a romantic era in Mississippi River life as a chorus of ships' whistles blew hail and farewell to the last river steamboat.

"That's what I call a welcome," said Capt. Ernest Wagner as the sternwheeler Delta Queen, her steam calliope in full cry, pulled into the Port of New Orleans on her last long-haul passenger run.

The Queen faced reluctant retirement. She can't meet "safety at sea" requirements because her decks and triple tier of cabins are made of wood.

Passengers who paid $30 to $70 a day to ride from St. Paul, Minn., to New Orleans on the Queen's nostalgic last trip had a farewell party in the bar as the packet boat churned the final miles.

Most of them were converts to a "Save the Queen" campaign that still had a gasp or two left in it.

"There are thousands of old hotels in this country that I would consider more hazardous than this boat in case of fire," said Dee Howard of San Antonio, Tex.

Muskie: GOP campaign fashioned around lies and name-calling

The Democratic retort was spoken by Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, in what seemed a foretaste of 1972. For Muskie, while running for re-election at home, has been running for presidential nomination as well, and the election-eve assignment given him by Democratic financiers seemed a major boost for his national credentials.

Muskie, in an appearance recorded in Cape Elizabeth, Maine, said the Republican campaign has been fashioned around lies, slander, name-calling, "deception of almost unprecedented volume."

It was spokesman against spokesman, Republican Nixon against Democrat Muskie, 15 minutes a man.

And Muskie's role as champion of the Democratic cause recalled a time four years ago when then-citizen Richard M. Nixon spoke for the GOP in another off-year election—and in the process surged to the forefront of presidential contenders.

The Muskie appearance was sponsored by a hastily formed committee led by W. Averell Harriman, former diplomat and New York governor, after the Democratic National Committee had to pass, for lack of funds, the purchase of television time.

Lawrence F. O'Brien, the party chairman, said the committee didn't have $150,000 for the network television time, and this election-eve summation was a five-minute radio statement—which cost $7,300.

O'Brien said Republicans have chosen to say little about unemployment or inflation. "Instead, these Republican spokesmen will be attempting to hide their failures by deploring the violence that took place in San Jose, Calif.," O'Brien said. He said Democrats deplore it, too. "But we also deplore this effort by national spokesmen of the Republican party to make this the critical issue of the 1970 election campaign," he said.

Republicans began the campaign hoping to capture control of a Senate which often has defied Nixon, but that target now appears beyond their reach. The current Senate is composed of 57 Democrats, 43 Republicans.

Republicans appeared to hold the edge in three hotly contested Senate races: Rep. William E. Brock III against Democratic Sen. Albert Gore in Tennessee; Rep. Robert Tait Jr. against Democrat Howard Metzenbaum in Ohio; Rep. George Bush against Democrat Lloyd Bentsen in Texas.

These contests were for currently Democratic seats. But on the Democratic side of the ledger, Adlai E. Stevenson III was favored to defeat Republican Sen. Ralph Smith in Illinois, Rep. John V. Tunney appears to have a lead over Sen. George Murphy in California, Florida, where Republicans had been favored to win a Democratic Senate seat, appeared likely at campaign's end to elect another Democrat.

Three-way contests obscured the outlook in New York, where Conservative James L. Buckley and Democratic Rep. Richard Ottinger were rated the real contenders, with Republican Sen. Charles E. Goodell trailing; and in Connecticut, where Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, a Democrat, ran as an independent against Democrat Joseph Duffey, and Republican Rep. Lowell Weicker.

Indiana appeared too close to call between Democratic Sen. Vance Hartke and Republican Rep. Richard Roudebush.

The House is Democratic, 243 to 187, with five vacancies; the elections appear likely to produce a party lineup of similar dimensions, despite the historic pattern of an average 37-seat off-year loss by the party in the White House.

Republicans now dominate the statehouses, 32 governors to 18, but Democrats are expected to cut that margin substantially.

Chairmen

One House Committee chairmanship, Government Operations, was vacated by the retirement of Chairman William L. Dawson of Illinois. California's Rep. Chet Holifield is next in seniority.

Only three GOP senators in line to become chairmen—should Democrats lose control of the Senate—are up for election this year—Nebraska's Roman L. Hruska of Judiciary, Vermont's Winton L. Prouty of the District of Columbia Committee and Hawaii's Hiram L. Fong of Post Office and Civil Service.

Prouty is in a close contest with Democrat Philip H. Hoff, but Hruska and Fong are rated easy winners.

An oddity in the committee situation is that five of the seven Democratic members of the Senate Post Office Committee are up for re-election this year and all are in trouble. In addition to McGee and Yarborough, these are Sens. Vance Hartke of Indiana, Quentin N. Burdick of North Dakota and Frank E. Moss of Utah.

1,800 to gather Wisconsin returns

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Approximately 1,800 persons will be involved in the immense task of gathering and tabulating Wisconsin election returns tonight.

They will be part of a nationwide task force created by a pooling of resources by The Associated Press, United Press International, the National Broadcasting Company, the Columbia Broadcasting System and the American Broadcasting Company.

The pool is called News Election Service (NES). An NES center in each state will feed returns on governor, U.S. senator and Congress into six regional centers around the nation.

In Wisconsin, the NES center will be located at the downtown Milwaukee offices of Statistical Tabulating Corp. More than 100 persons will be at the center tonight to tabulate returns from county and precinct reporters.

Members of the Wisconsin Jaycees will serve as reporters in some 1,700 of the state's 3,314 voting precincts, located in 27 of the most populous counties. Their precinct reports will provide returns shortly after the polls close at 8 p.m.

In addition, there will be reporters at each of the county seats to provide cumulative returns.

Running totals will be sped over the wires to Associated Press members throughout the night on the top of the ballot as well as for the state constitutional officers and legislative contests throughout Wisconsin.

As the Queen made her entrance into port the sun broke through the overcast and put rainbows in the high plumes of spray spewed up by two fireboats that preceded her as an honor guard.

Ships passing by or docked at wharves along the way sounded off in hoarse salute as she passed by.

The crowd lining the wharf where she tied up included the Olympia Brass Band, wearing mourning black, a high school marching band and a covey of speakers full of praise and sympathy.

"A lot of us haven't given up," said Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., the Democrats' whip in the House.

William Mustin, of Los Angeles, president of Cincinnati's Greene Line Steamers Inc., which operates the Delta Queen, hasn't give up either.

A bill which would extend the Queen's exemption from "safety at sea" regulations for three more years has passed the Senate and is pending in the House.

"It will be waiting for congressmen when they return for their lame duck session Nov. 16—and there is still a chance that one lame duck may yet help another," said Mustin.

"How dare they tell us that this party is less devoted or less courageous in maintaining American principles and values than are they themselves," Muskie said. "This is nonsense."

"And what contempt they must have for the decency and sense of the American people to talk to them that way . . ."

He said every candidate of both parties deplores lawlessness and violence, so that is no issue, "only a problem . . . and the harsh and uncomfortable fact is that no one—in either party—has the final answer."

In another segment of the Republican-sponsored telecast Monday, Nixon pointed to personal experiences encountering violent demonstrators during the campaign.

Nixon's concluding remarks in Phoenix also were used to wrap up the Monday telecast.

"I have seen young Americans all over the country and those that appear on the television screens night after night, they are not a majority of young Americans today and they will not be the leaders of America tomorrow."

Three prayers

A prayer for citizens:

"Lord, I've had a bad day; everybody was talking about who's going to win the elections. It's so good to be home again, sitting in this chair with shoes off and reading the paper. I thank you for my home and my little wife who's out there in the kitchen. And I do appreciate our little gifts from heaven especially when they're quiet. But, please, Lord, help me to understand that it's not enough to argue about the elections and make bets. Give me that get-up-and-go to make me put my shoes back on and go and vote. I know that voting is the least and the most an ordinary man can do on election day. Help me be ordinary."

A prayer for a winning candidate:

"Lord, I've asked you for help during these last few months. I've prayed for guidance at those big dinners and meetings I was asked to attend during the campaign and I've prayed when I got back home late at night. Sorry about that time when I fell asleep before the end. Running for office has given me a wonderful chance to meet some wonderful people. There are some people I didn't think much of before I became a candidate, but while running for office I could see how wonderful they really are. Just great. Help me to think wonderful things about those people from now on."

"I've said a lot of things the past few months and have done my level best to say the same things all the time and to all the people. You know this isn't easy. The questions come in different ways from different people. They have different interests about the same questions. Another thing, my opponent would answer the same questions in a different way, sort of throwing more light on the subject. That affected me and not always in the way some of my critics say. He helped me to learn more about the subject."

"Nothing seems as simple today as it did the day I filed for office. But help me to remember that it was to the people that I took my campaign and, if elected, it is to them that I owe it."

"And, Lord, I know it will be hard for you to stop me from doing it, but don't let me lord it over the other guy if I win."

A prayer for a losing candidate:

"God, I'm tired. Bone tired. Tired of kicking myself for not saying this or that, not talking to the right people. I'm tired of smiling; I want to cry. But I need a little help for one more smile to thank the committee, and, oh yes, for that phone call to the guy who beat me. Show me how to be a good loser. You could give me help in one other way. Something really important. I got to remember that a lot of people thought I was the best man; not enough of them, but plenty. If I don't act like a good man now, they're going to be disappointed. Really sad. God, I know I'm the loser, but don't let me be a failure. — A.B."

In an uphill fight, the Chest needs help

What the Community Chest in Winona is fighting this year is the business slowdown. As usual in business declines, we haven't become a disaster area; on the other hand, there have been lay-offs.

The first reports of giving to the Chest have reflected this. There are fewer givers in many plants. And in some instances businesses have felt required to reduce their giving.

HOWEVER, THERE are reassuring developments. The average giving is up almost consistently.

Watkins Products, to select an example, is a typical success story. A total of 375 employees there have contributed an average of $28.28; 26 percent of them were "fair share" contributors — at least one hour's wages a month. The average contribution compares favorably with an average of $23.75 from 434 a year ago.

A year ago the Chest realized $10,309; this year $9,854.

So individual giving is up, total giving down.

There's the problem for the Chest, which itself has a higher budget for the 16 participating agencies.

Individual giving must increase if the needs of these agencies are to be met in 1971, especially by those who give $1 for these 16 agencies but still give a dollar to an individual agency — not a Chest member — which comes knocking on the door at some other time of the year.

THERE ARE OTHERS who give no support to the Chest, thus pretending that the community needs which these Chest agencies meet are no concern of theirs.

At Watkins — we mention it only as an example of a Chest success story — the management established merchandise gift certificates as prizes for those who pledged. One of the 11 winners contributed his award to an agency for its use in making Christmas happy for some lonely children.

Can we all get this idea of giving a little? — A.B.

On election day Buckley turns to music (what else?)

William F. Buckley

Answer my letters from anyone on this subject, unless it be the editor's letter accompanying the check." Well, I have sent the check. This is my letter.

By the time Beethoven came around to Opus 52 (eight songs), he was 32 years old. He had composed two of his symphonies, three of his piano concertos — indeed, over one-third of his entire production. Never mind the symphonies, or concertos, but concentrate for a minute on what Mr. Rickenbacker would have us exclude from among the piano sonatas.

There are 32 of them, and he would ban the first 20, right up to the Waldstein. Interestingly enough, he does not ban the Appassionata, while passing along about it (and exaggerating) the recent slurs of Glen Gould. Consider the carnage. Name one or two of the better known sonatas. Take the most famous of them all, the Moonlight Sonata.

NOW WHAT IS the matter with the Moonlight Sonata is that people play it who shouldn't play it, because the first movement is technically easy. I had a teacher who solved in one stroke the problem of the Moonlight Sonata: she would not permit any of her students to take on the first movement who had not developed the skill to perform the third movement. That kept all but the top 5 percent from playing that sonata and by the time you get so you can play the last movement, you probably have enough sophistication to play the first without ruining it.

Now, you cannot keep music students from permanently ruining the reputation of, say, the Minuet in G: though when played by, say, Myra Hess, one is reminded of the simple beauty of it, like one of the pastoral couplets of Wordsworth. The third movement of the Moonlight is a little junky, so what: it is perfectly agreeable, and in any case it is a foundation for some of the exploits so perfectly consummated in the later sonatas.

The very first sonata, in F minor, is wonderfully pleasant: really, what a bore it is to say that having tasted the great vintage, you can never enjoy table wine. Mr. Rickenbacker seriously maintains that the adagio movement of the C major (number 3) sonata, is less than sublime? The Pathétique Sonata is grand and exciting, though to be sure one can skip the last movement, even though music boxes are also worth listening to every now and then.

I TELL YOU WHAT. Here is my proposition to Beethoven. There is a splendid artist whose name is Alfred Brendel, a Viennese who teaches in Mexico and performs everywhere. He has recorded all of Beethoven's piano music, stereo, for Vox. And a wonderfully enterprising company, The Dollar Record Plan, Inc. of P.O. Box 86, Pearl River, N.Y. 10965, has brought out these records at the astonishing price of one dollar apiece. You can buy all the sonatas for $12. If you have caught the Rickenbacker virus, you can buy all the later sonatas (volumes 2 and 3) for $6.

Now, my offer is this: buy the lot. If you don't like the first half, send them to me and I'll reimburse your $6, and transship the records to a hospital, as the anonymous gift of someone who turned deaf. And when next I ask Bill Rickenbacker to write for National Review, I shall ask him please to refrain from using the early letters of the alphabet.

And yet the old story of China will be almost compared to the vengefulness that will seize the people of this nation if the Soviet overturns the power balance against us. Voters crying out today for more and more welfarism at home will

Prejudgment

An editorial in Milwaukee Sentinel

By finding Ohio National Guardsmen guilty of "a disgraceful murder" in the fatal shooting of four youths during a Kent State University riot last spring, Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) violates the liberal tenet that a person is presumed innocent until proved guilty.

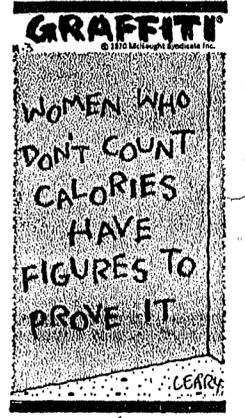

Proxmire, who is spending a fortune to get himself re-elected even turn upon and fearfully punish the very politicians who heeded their litany while taking out their mutual frustrations on a supposedly evil thing called the Pentagon.

IS ALL THIS TOO pessimistic an estimate? Perhaps so. But on the very day that neo-pacifist senators were appealing for public support for their backing of welfare goodies, the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, Charles Yost, was proclaiming that the Soviet Union had sent missile technicians into Egypt for "actual combat roles."

No liberal and anti-power politician can shrug this one off. For Yost is a professional diplomat far more noted for speaking softly to the Russians than for talking tough. What he has disclosed should frighten every sensible man; it should literally terrify the doves and new isolationists.

United Feature Syndicate

IF A WHOLE VAST political organization can be torn for years on such grounds, even though it was not to blame for China's overturn, what of today's politicians whose record will be anything but innocent if this country finds itself enfeebled and helplessly looking down the Soviet gun barrel?

What then for the Edward Kennedys and Eugene McCarthy and Albert Gores and William Fulbrights and other Senate defense — cutters who persist in the folly that an accommodation with the Russians can

'Nonstructured learning' unadulterated quackery

Q—"Last evening on the radio I caught part of a description of a new approach to classroom instruction. The name they call it is 'Open Front.' Anyhow, the kids simply claim at will and find something to claim their interest and go on from there at their own pace. Teacher stands on the side lines and watches! Why in the world wouldn't teachers take . . . kids of second-grade level and above and show them some things in which to become interested?"

"The new approach to instruction before age 12 seems to be just another approach to stalling, to spreading out the process of education even more thinly than John Dewey did!"

"I'd say, for want of a new approach, let the kids learn to read and then look around for a diversion. Spend kindergarten getting acquainted with the letters of the alphabet and what every combination of letters says in the way of sounds. What say you?" —Mrs. M.M.B., Monroe.

A—I say "Amen!" This so-called "open front" approach is nothing but a retreated, warmed-over, face-lifted version of Dewey's tired old permissiveness. Letting children roam around the school at will in random search of something "interesting" to them is sheer quackery. The teacher should teach; the children are there to learn what the teacher teaches them. That's the game. And the name of the game is organized, disciplined, systematic instruction in subject matter, not an "open front" quest for transient interests and ephemeral stimulations.

Q—"The recent report of the President's Commission on Obscenity and Pornography says almost literally to Americans: 'Anything goes!' What should schools do about unwholesomeness and smut, in the light of this official salutation to indecency on such a giant scale?" —N.A.M., Chattanooga.

A—The present and imperative duty of educators is to fight to the death the filth and bilge spewed forth upon our children today by the purveyors of pornography, the salesmen of salaciousness, the Madison Avenue degenerates who saturate every level of American advertising with blatant glorification of sex. If we can somehow hold up as a standard to the children of today the necessity for the advancement of all that is good in themselves and in our nation, then the exploration of the universe will be the ultimate and glorious crusade. If instead the generation now coming upon the world scene chooses to devote itself to corruption and to chaos, then no matter what wonders our scientists may perform in the fields of electronics and rocketry, it will all be dust and ashes in the long run.

Are we teachers obliged willy-nilly to join in the commission's brave new world satiated with sodomy, primed with pornography and luxuriant with lubricity?

Not if we want to continue as a profession. Parents pay us to introduce their children to the accumulated culture, wisdom and refinement of the ages, not to give them a mud bath in vice and suggestiveness. They expect us to inspire in those same children a love for the good, the true, the beautiful. Anybody can pick up obscenity and irreverence on any street corner. You don't have to go to school to learn four-letter words. The schools are built and supported to fight against this sort of dry rot, not to embrace it or to wallow in it.

We teachers need to set standards, understand them and then uphold them. It's a source of sadness that a presidential commission should so cop out on its responsibilities, but there is no reason on earth why we educators should join them in their cop-out.

kitchen sink.

"I'VE GOT JUST the thing for you," said the beautiful housewife, snapping her fingers. In a synthetic cloud a man appeared. He looked ineffectual and slightly drunk and was accompanied by a dog to show that he was a great human being. "Land's sake!" said the wrecked woman. "What's that?"

"Topsawyer," said her friend. "One vote for Topsawyer makes the world like new. Watch!" A finger pulled a lever marked "Topsawyer." The kitchen instantly became a new place. The dreary housewife was dressed for a ball. All of her old blood had been replaced by lively new blood, and her husband had been made a vice president and become 15 years younger. There was peace in Asia and a marvelous new shine on the kitchen floor.

"Topsawyer gives you livelier blood, less hair, more peace, whiter sinks, shinier floors and husbands with more sex appeal, besides which, he likes dogs," said the know-it-all housewife.

"And," added the renovated housewife, "twice as much hair-cutting power, too."

After the Topsawyer commercial came a station break. "Golly," said Denny, "are you trying to get us to see that democracy is a system under which any American boy can become Congressman, or Senator, or even President if he's got several million dollars to buy advertising time on television?"

"NO, SILLY," said Moira, "he's trying to show us that it's just as dumb to believe politicians as it is to believe businessmen."

Denny at the last saw the point. "Daddy," he said, "is trying to teach us that democracy is a system in which nobody at election time thinks it worthwhile to discuss government."

At that they were released from the tedium of the television set and allowed to go back to their Dickens. New York Times News Service

Bar evaluations will be sought

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Both of Minnesota's candidates for governor have agreed, if elected, to call upon the Minnesota State Bar Association for advanced evaluations of persons who are being considered for appointments as judges.

The association, announcing this today, said DFL State Sen. Wendell Anderson, St. Paul, and Republican Atty. Gen. Douglas Head had agreed to the proposal.

Association president, John W. Padden, said the Judicial Qualifications Committee, "representative of the entire bench and bar of Minnesota, would investigate and report to the governor on the qualifications of persons he is considering for appointment to judgeships."

Padden stressed that the committee would attempt neither to select or recommend nominees, "nor in any manner to encroach upon the governor's authority in making judicial appointments."

The potential nominees would be judged on professional qualifications — integrity, judicial temperament and professional competence. The committee would not investigate or report on political or ideological matters.

In its confidential report to the governor, the committee would classify a candidate as exceptionally well qualified, well qualified, qualified or not qualified. The bar association said the highest recommendation would be a category into which few would fall.

In accepting the proposal, Head was quoted as saying that such a committee "is greatly needed and will be of great assistance to the governor in determining the professional competence of appointees." He suggested it would improve the standards of the Minnesota judiciary.

Anderson also emphasized as a significant purpose, the "investigating and evaluating of professional qualifications of persons under consideration for judicial appointment."

Padden said he anticipated the bar association's Board of Governors would announce membership of the qualifications committee at its Jan. 16 meeting.

The bar has polled its membership on nominees for the State Supreme Court as an aid to governors choosing members for that high post, but it never set up an investigative committee such as is now proposed.

Article on General Pulaski appreciated

I fully appreciate how fortunate we are to have had such a beautiful tribute to Casimir Pulaski in our daily newspaper (Oct. 11).

STEVE MICHALOWSKI

Important thing is our people

I have been reading with interest the pros and cons on the old buildings — courthouse, armory, postoffice, bank — relics of the past. I've just never been able to get all steamed up over the controversy. I prefer, rather than an old building, old people, young people, all people. They are our real past, present and future. After reading the letters of two young people last week something that has been simmering in my mind did begin to steam me up.

The concern of the "over 30" group for the youth is very real. We find it difficult to understand why they feel and act as they do when to us it seems they have so much. We must, I believe, stop criticizing and comparing and try to figure out why they feel as they do. It must have something to do with us. What can we do to help make them a more happy, faithful, tolerant group. They already are ambitious, talented, intelligent, healthy. They are our future. They will make our history. Let's try to help them make it a proud one.

As it is difficult for most of us to cover a large area it would seem the most practical place to start would be where we are, here in the Winona area. Here many of our young people are dissatisfied with the recreational opportunities we have to offer. We know they as we at their age like mixed groups of their own age. I remember all the fun we used to have in a privately owned and operated outdoor roller rink in summer and a rather old building filled with fun that was used in winters. Maybe a multipurpose building which could be flooded for ice skating and used also for roller skating could be a profitable venture for someone. Many of our good times were spent at dances (different style, I grant) at the old Red Men's Wigwam and also the Armory.

Winona has many cultural competitive athletic activities to offer but we know these do not appeal to all. School-sponsored events do not completely meet the need.

Let's all think about these young people. They could be a bigger concern even than the courthouse or pollution. There is just no dispute here, our young people are worth saving.

Work-for-pay finds students for building

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A year ago John Konwiser was stumped. A home building executive, he wanted to interest high school students in going into the construction trades. He was drawing blanks.

"We tried going into schools and giving talks," he says. "But the boys weren't responding."

Then it occurred to him: Give them a taste of real construction work — with pay.

Konwiser arranged to provide a dilapidated old house for the boys to renovate and have journeymen from the home building trades instruct and supervise the work.

The idea was the basis for a pilot project last February through June. It was so successful that Konwiser and fellow executives now are working to spread it nationwide.

Two dozen boys at Jefferson High, in a Negro working class district just north of Watts worked eight hours each Saturday, transforming a 70-year-old house into a neighborhood show-place.

This fall four such projects are under way, two in Los Angeles and one each in Santa Ana and Oakland. Others are planned for next year in Long Beach and Sacramento, Calif., and in Chicago and Austin, Tex.

Harold Campbell, the boys' vocational arts teacher who acted as job foreman, said that of the eight seniors in the pilot project, one is in a carpentry apprentice program, three are in technical school in carpentry or drafting and a fifth stands a good chance of entering a carpentry apprentice program soon.

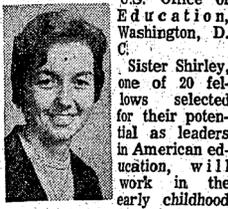

Others still in high school have expressed a definite interest in joining the building trades after they graduate, he added.

CST instructor takes Washington assignment

Sister Shirley Ann Schmitz, a College of Saint Teresa instructor, began duties this fall under the fellowship program of the U.S. Office of Education, Washington, D. C.

Sister Shirley, one of 20 fellows selected for their potential as leaders in American education, will work in the early childhood Bureau of Educational Personnel Development.

Assignments are designed to provide fellows with an opportunity to gain an understanding of federal-state-local relationships and a working knowledge of the role of the office of education in American education.

The Winona resident received her bachelors degree in 1966 from the College of Saint Teresa and her masters in 1967 from the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis.

She taught at St. Adrian Grade School, Adrian, Minn., and St. Edward's Grade School, Austin, Minn., before becoming a Winona instructor in 1967. She is a member of the National Education Association, Minnesota Education Association, International Reading Association and Minnesota Reading Association.

In years gone by

Ten years ago . . . 1960

A 90-pound "spinning top" satellite whirled into orbit today to begin the most extensive study ever attempted of the earth's ionosphere.
Storm clouds closed in on Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld from east and west today as the General Assembly prepared to take up charges by his chief Congo aide that Belgians are prodding the African state to the brink of disaster.

Twenty-five years ago . . . 1945

Robert W. Fiester, a veteran of four years Army service, assumed his duties as director of the Winona State Teachers College band and the Winona Senior High School band.
The last of 18 tankers built at the Cargill, Inc., shipyards at Savage, Minn., passed Winona at 12:50 p.m.

Fifty years ago . . . 1920

Charles A. Forbes of St. Paul, connected with the Minnesota state highway department as assistant engineer, has been spending the past week in Winona in the interest of the adoption tomorrow of the good roads amendment to the constitution.
First Congregational Church members are gathering material for the packing of missionary boxes which shortly will be sent out.

Seventy-five years ago . . . 1895

Ducks are coming in so freely today that the Buckeyes will probably have a surplus for their banquet this evening and will arrange to dispose of them in similar manner.

One-hundred years ago . . . 1870

A raft towboat, name unknown, has gone ashore at the head of the island above this city — probably wrecked by the gale. Her chimneys are blown off and she appears to be partially sunk. Her name cannot be discovered from this distance.

Want building named for WSC ex-president

The Winona State College Alumni Society is asking the college and the State College Board to honor the immediate past college president by naming a building in his honor.
The society, said President Herbert W. Peter, is recommending that a building now under construction, or a future building recognize the services of Dr. Nels Minne by naming it Nels Minne Hall.
Dr. Minne, who retired from the faculty last spring, was on the faculty 38 years and was the college president for 22 of those years.
The society's resolution says that Dr. Minne "influenced thousands of students in their chosen profession, particularly in the scientific field."

Ask retaining of Zumbro River bridge

KELLOGG, Minn. (Special)—Reasons for saving the Zumbro River bridge on old Highway 61 were cited by some of the 74 persons who attended a "Save the Bridge" meeting at the Kellogg School auditorium.
More than 400 residents have expressed their concern over the bridge to the Wabasha County commissioners.
Main reasons cited at the Friday meeting were: it serves as a service road for Greenfield Township residents; safer for the busing of school children (no railroad crossings); used as a fire road, and helps business trade in Kellogg and in Wabasha.
O'Dell Arens, Kellogg, led the discussions along with Rep. Charles Miller, Wabasha, and Harold Buckman. Many others offered comments and suggestions.
County engineer, Bert Pinnsonneault, Wabasha, spoke on the expense to the county for repairs and upkeep of the Zumbro River bridge and the overhead railroad bridge. He also told of the cost of dismantling both bridges.
Another meeting will be held later this week with representatives of the following in attendance: state highway department; Milwaukee Railroad; the mayor and fire chiefs from Kellogg and Wabasha; president of the Kellogg school board; township board chairman; Wabasha and Kellogg councilmen; Wabasha Chamber of Commerce; Wabasha County sheriff's department and county commissioners, five men from the area, and state legislature.
Date of the meeting will be announced later.

Contracts are awarded, car is purchased
Winona County commissioners today awarded two contracts and authorized the purchase of a car for the sheriff's office.
The low bid of Utke Construction Inc., La Crosse, of $8,324.90 for the construction of the concrete floor in the county highway shop at Utica was accepted. Completion date is Nov. 20, 1970.
Other bidders were Howard L. Keller, General Contractor, Inc., Goodview, $10,724, and Ralph A. Scharmer, contractor, Winona, $10,261.80.
The Winona Truck Service, Winona, was low bidder for a truck for the county highway department. Their bid for a tandem truck chassis with a one-way plow and wiring, nine-yard dump box and hydraulic fittings was $19,697, net, allowing $5,026.59 as trade in on a 1961 International truck.
Other bidders were Tousey Ford Co., Winona, the net bid being $21,035 with a $200 trade in allowance, and Paterson Truck Service, St. Charles, the net bid, $20,500. The latter set the trade-in allowance at $4,250.
The car for the sheriff's office to be purchased from Tousey Ford, is a 1971 Custom four-door cruiser, complete with automatic power steering and brakes, a 429 cubic inch engine with a two-barrel carburetor, the price $3,091.33. The delivery date is within 30 days.
No bids were asked, each county dealer will be given opportunities to furnish cars, according to the board.

Winona deaths

Robert A. Jensen

Robert A. Jensen, 45, 750 W. 4th St., died at 11:55 a.m. Monday at Community Memorial Hospital after an illness of two years.

He was born Dec. 17, 1924, in Winona, to Mr. and Mrs. A. Chris Jensen and married Ruth D. Mahke on Jan. 1, 1950, in Winona. A lifelong resident of the city, he served in the Army during World War II and attended Winona State College and the University of Minnesota after graduating from Winona Public Schools. A member of the Winona Lodge 18 AF & AM and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, he was supervisor of the water plant for the board of municipal works, City of Winona, where he was employed the last 18 years.

Survivors include his wife; a son, Chris, at home; a daughter, Susan at home; his father and step-mother, A. Chris and Dorothy Jensen and a sister, Miss Shirley Jensen, Winona. His mother, Palma Jacobsen Jensen, died in 1934.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at Central Lutheran Church, the Rev. G. H. Huggenik officiating. Burial will be in Woodlawn Cemetery. Friends may call after 7 p.m. today at Bawcett Funeral Home. A memorial is being arranged.

John F. Korupp

John F. (Jack) Korupp, 49, 516 W. King St., died suddenly at his home at 7:30 p.m. Monday following a heart attack. He had owned and operated Jack's Appliance for the past two years. Prior to that he worked as a serviceman for Northern States Power Co., 23 years.

The son of Fred H. and Rose Schossow Korupp, he was born in Winona, Feb. 23, 1921. A veteran of World War II, he served with the Army Air Corps in the European Theatre. He married Leone Scholz, June 7, 1947, at Winona.

He was a member of the Cathedral of the Sacred Heart, the American Legion, and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.
Survivors include his wife; one son, John, Winona; two daughters, Kathleen and Debra, at home; one grandchild, and one brother, Bernard, Winona. His parents have died.

Funeral services will be at 9:30 a.m. Thursday at Burke's Funeral Home and at 10 at the Cathedral of the Sacred Heart, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph R. McGinnis officiating. Burial will be at St. Mary's Cemetery.
Friends may call at the funeral home Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m. where Rev. McGinnis will lead the Christian wake service at 8.
The American Legion will provide military rites at the cemetery.

Winona funerals

LeRoy J. Gaulke

Funeral services for LeRoy J. Gaulke, 42, Winona Rt. 1, will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at Grace Lutheran Church, Stockton, the Rev. Merle Kitzman officiating. Burial will be in Woodlawn Cemetery, Winona, with military graveside services accorded by the American Legion Post 90, Lewiston.
Friends may call after 3 p.m. today, until noon Wednesday at the Jacobs Funeral Home, Lewiston, and then at the church after 1 p.m.

Pallbearers will be Arthur Leebühr, Gale Haase, Norbert Ellinghuysen, Steve Spaag, Clarence Spaag and Armin Prigge. A memorial is being arranged.

George Jasnoch

Funeral services for George Jasnoch, 46, 452 Center St., who died Saturday at Community Memorial Hospital, were held this morning at the Cathedral of the Sacred Heart, the Rev. David Arnold officiating. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery.
Pallbearers were Richard Losinski, Raymond Thilmany, Francis Lilla, Robert Buchanan, Dale Relshus and Richard Gerne.

Goodview man slightly hurt in accident

A Goodview man received minor injuries late Monday afternoon when the car he was driving struck a parked car on 6th Street in Goodview, according to Winona County Sheriff George L. Fort.
Edwin F. Loos, 5040 6th St., was hurt slightly but did not require hospitalization, when the westbound 1959 model sedan he was driving struck a parked car at 5:30 p.m.

The car struck is owned by Mrs. Douglas Englund, Houston, Rt. 2, Minn., and received $700 damage to the rear.
Loos' car received $500 damage to the right front.
Charges are pending, Fort said.

Your horoscope — Jeanie Dixon

FOR WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 4

Your birthday today: Surprise, change, movement characterize your experience in the year ahead. Emotional involvement in business and social enterprises comes more readily. Much of your work this year relates to long-range goals and includes many contacts to be made. Today's natives have strong personalities; some quite mystical, others showing little of their interior feelings.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Start early to do whatever is most expedient to improve your income. Details are important. Older people, long-standing conditions are beneficial.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): People and things from far places interest you, bring some good surprises. Seek expert and technical advice. Romantic ventures thrive now.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): It seems easier to get people to go along with your ideas at present. Financial maneuvers are burdensome.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Intuition guides you in building relations. Old questions are suddenly a bit nearer solution. Where you have something to do for older people, pitch in and get it done thoroughly.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Lead without overdoing the command aspect. Get on top of the situation, and stay there. Your work promises good results, both in your career and at home.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): A diversity of matters comes to hand; give some attention to everything—legal routines, the needs of children, correspondence, discarding of superfluous items.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Making peace is your mission today. Offer explanations, apologies where they help—come to terms. Property improvement, closing of obligations are favored.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Be yourself, turn on your charm. Enjoy a rather comfortable day and ease the way for others. Pursue sentimental interests later.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Now you can make definite progress in material affairs. Strive for a more rewarding situation, round up confidential assistance. Seek diversion in the evening.

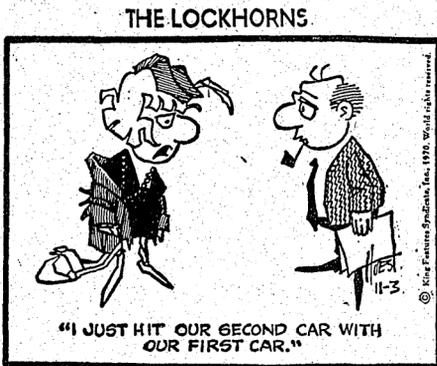

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Your emotions are steadier. Take time off from work if you can. Attend the wishes and needs of those you love. Romantic ventures promise happy episodes.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Stay out of public notice. You have a chance to find the causes for a long-standing condition. Concentrate on finishing what has been started.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Today should bring you much sociable contact, more good news, matters to celebrate, the chance to meet a variety of new people with different ideas.

Organists guild formed in city

The Hiawatha Valley Chapter of the American Guild of Organists was recently organized at a dinner meeting held at Central United Methodist Church.

The purposes of the guild are to advance the cause of worthy religious music, to elevate the status of church musicians, to increase their appreciation of their responsibilities, duties and opportunities, to raise the standard of efficiency of organists and choirmasters by examinations to evaluate the training and the attainments of the candidates, and to grant certificates in their classes of membership to candidates who pass these examinations, and to provide members with opportunities for meeting for the discussion of professional topics relating to the purposes of the guild.

Officers elected were: Miss Elsie Naylor, dean; Louis Jappe, sub-dean; Miss Carlis Anderson, secretary; the Rev. Peter Brandenhoff, treasurer, and Mrs. William Tarras and Glenn Riske, executive committee.

Following the meeting, Miss Naylor presented the organ composition, "I Am With You Always," by Richard Harrington, a native Winonan, who later discussed his composition.

The next meeting is scheduled for Nov. 16 at 8 p.m. at St. Martin's Lutheran Church. The Rev. Robert Scoggin, minister of music at Christ United Methodist Church, Rochester, will be guest clinician. The lecture-demonstration will involve the technique of hymn playing. The meeting is open to all interested persons. Anyone desiring more information may contact one of the officers.

Dear Abby: Every Abby has her problems

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: You are the only person who can help me because in an indirect way, you are the cause of my problem. I have the same name as you.
To make matters worse, I work for a newspaper and I am bombarded with letters from people who think I am you. Also, whenever I am introduced as "Abby Van Buren," people start pouring out their tales of woe. I have a hard time convincing them that I am not you.
To top it all off, I am constantly bothered by nuts who telephone me in the middle of the night and want to tell me their life history. I have had my telephone number changed twice this year, and even though I now have an unlisted number, they still find me.
I have even considered changing my name, but I will do this only as a last resort. Thanks for any help you can give me.

Abby
ABBY VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Until some nice young man comes along and changes your name, I guess you'll just have to be a surrogate Abby. You'll be surprised what you hear.

DEAR ABBY: I feel very guilty and indebted because I have no strong feelings toward an 18-year-old boy who says he is in love with me. He is always so kind and gentle and he spends all his hard-earned money on me. He is always looking out for my safety and well-being.
I really enjoy his company and am grateful for his gifts, but I am unable to return his affection.
I would like to date others, but I feel so guilty because I know he has no other girl. I hate to hurt him. Can you advise me what to do?
FEELING GUILTY

DEAR FEELING GUILTY: A little of that guilt is probably earned. Don't accept his gifts, and you will not feel so indebted to him. Date others, and insist that he do, too. By trying not to hurt him now you could be building up for a more serious "hurt" later on.

DEAR ABBY: I have a thought which I hope you will find worthy of passing on to your readers.
I wish parents of married children would quit competing with the other set of parents for their children's company on holidays such as Thanksgiving and Christmas. Although our policy was to alternate between his parents and mine, no matter who asked us first, my parents would gulk for months after we spent the holidays with my in-laws.
Both sets of parents are gone now, but those holidays which could have held such pleasant memories cause my heart to ache a little.
SAD MEMORIES

DEAR SAD: Yes, it is worth passing on — especially with the holiday season approaching. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ABBY: Perhaps your reader, "HATES WASTE," would be interested in knowing that the "silly rule of etiquette" that one should always leave "something" on his plate was begun as an act of charity.
During the Middle Ages, the affluent always left some food on their dinner plates for a good reason. A huge bowl was passed to each diner, who wiped his plate clean with a hunk of bread which he also deposited in the bowl. The bowl was then taken out into the streets to feed the poor.
If the diner "forgot" to leave something on his plate, he was fined. (The fine would be used to feed the needy.)
Today leaving food on one's plate is wasteful, but it originated as a charitable custom.

Visitors were present from Winona and Plainview. Sister Martha Ann, accompanied by Mrs. Paul Weichert, provided vocal selections.

Safety committee plans coffee at local Hospice

The St. Anne Hospice safety committee will host a coffee Friday starting at 2:30 p.m. in the ground floor solarium for all employees who participated in the "safety prescription" project carried out during October in observation of National Safety month.
In an effort to promote safety throughout the facility, Hospice employees have participated in the project by writing safety "prescriptions." These "prescriptions" are suggestions for employing various safety measures within the Hospice for the welfare of the Guests as well as members of the Hospice staff.
At the coffee, the prescriptions will be filled. They will have been inserted into empty capsules and placed in a prescription bottle. A drawing will be held and the employee whose prescription is drawn will receive an individual prize and also accept the Hospice Safety Award on behalf of the department for which he or she works. Last year the award was won by the recreation department. Previous years winners were physical therapy, nursing service and administration.
Other safety activities during the month included demonstrations to the staff by the Winona Fire Department of the kinds and uses of fire extinguishers. Safety displays were set up throughout the hospice and safety literature was made available to staff members by the hospice safety committee.

Club women to attend seminar

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — Members of the ninth district Federation of Women's Clubs will discuss community problems at a district-wide seminar to be held Wednesday at First Congregational Church, Eau Claire, Wis. Registration will be from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m. and parking will be available.
The seminar, one of 10 planned on the district level, is part of the 1970-72 Community Improvement Program, co-sponsored by General Federation of Women's Clubs and Sears, Roebuck and Co. Training sessions are being held in cooperation with universities, community colleges and community development experts from other fields. Clubwomen in attendance will be responsible for initiating improvements in cooperation with other community groups, public officials and private citizens.
Over $100,000 in awards are being offered for winners in metropolitan and non-metropolitan categories of the program at state and national levels. Winners will be named at the state convention to be held in Milwaukee in 1972 and at the General Federation's 81st annual convention in Denver, Colo., in 1972.
Officers of the ninth district are: Mrs. Arnold Zachau, Eau Claire, president; Mrs. Fred Uecker, Eau Claire, vice president; Mrs. Glen L. Gilbertson, Thorp, Wis., secretary; and Mrs. Alyn H. Larson, Whitehall, treasurer.

City land request to be studied

A request for use of city land by the Upper Mississippi River Environmental Studies, Corporation was turned over to a committee Monday night by the City Council. The committee will be appointed by Mayor Norman E. Indall.

Uncertainty over the amount and location of land requested by the non-profit group had prompted the council to ask for additional information. The corporation had told the council it hopes to establish a hydrobiology laboratory that eventually would become a major center for such studies. Use of some land deeded to the city years ago by the late John A. Latsch was suggested.

In a followup letter read to the council Monday, Dr. Calvin R. Fremling, Winona State College biology professor, explained the group was interested specifically in land at the northern end of the old concrete bridge that leads from Latsch Island to Agahming Refuge, also a Latsch bequest.

Councilmen previously had thought the parcel being considered was that part of the island on which the beach, bathhouse and caretaker's house are located.

Dr. Fremling's letter said the corporation's directors would be willing to attend a special meeting to discuss details of the proposal.

Commissioner of education to speak here

Howard B. Casmeay, state commissioner of education, will speak at the American Education Week banquet at 6:30 p.m. Nov. 10, at Winona State College Krzyzko Commons student union.

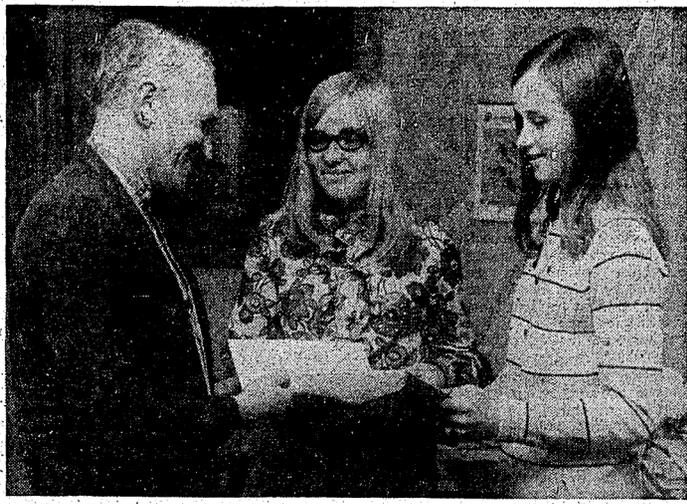

A graduate of Concordia College, Moorhead, Minn., and the University of North Dakota, Grand Forks, N.D., he became state commissioner of education on Feb. 2, after serving six years as superintendent of schools at Golden Valley, Minn.

He previously has served as superintendent at Ada, Herman and Lake Bronson, Minn. Winona's Outstanding Young Educator award will also be presented at the banquet by the Winona Jaycees.

The public may attend the banquet and speech by purchasing tickets at the Winona Junior High counseling office, 185 W. Broadway.

Single, multiple rezoning OKed

A compromise rezoning plan for land lying east of the Winona Area Vocational-Technical School was approved Monday night by the City Council.

The zoning change, requested by Kendall Corp., had been discussed at a previous council meeting and laid over. Councilmen had asked the potential developer to submit reasonably detailed plans of proposed development that would show locations of single- and multiple-family dwellings. The corporation had said it would build both kinds of structures on the 11-acre plot.

In its original form the petition had asked for a change from R-S (suburban residential) to R-3 (multi-family) zoning for the tract. At a hearing Oct. 19 several nearby residents objected to the possibility that an apartment building would be erected next to their homes.

Showing an area plan to the council, Jack Cornwell, representing the corporation, said his firm would stipulate that only single-family dwellings would be built next to existing homes in the area. These would be a buffer, he said, and the apartment area would be located in the middle of the tract or near the side that borders an existing town-house development.

In order to guarantee this kind of development, councilmen and City Manager Carroll J. Fry proposed that the eastern portions be rezoned to R-3 and the western part — next to existing houses — be changed to R-1.

Cornwell agreed and a motion to this effect was adopted by unanimous vote.

Bird club will meet on Wednesday

Hiawatha Valley Bird Club of Winona will meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at Lake Park Lodge.

William Dragowski, past club president will speak and show color slides of birds and other nature subjects.

Club members will take a field trip Sunday to view swans and bald eagles now in the area up river. Assembly will be at Lake Park Lodge at 1:30 p.m. and non-members are welcome, according to Francis Voelker, field chairman.

3.2 beer license is approved

Issuance of a 3.2 beer license for a tavern whose previous permits were withdrawn was granted Monday night by the City Council.

The permit was requested by Jim L. Pomeroy, 22, Red Top Cabins, who intends to reopen the former Hof Brau Tavern, 529 E. Wabasha St. Pomeroy, who has leased the premises from the owners, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Hutton, will operate the establishment as the Four Hundred Bar.

The permit was issued to the accompaniment of stern warnings by Mayor Norman E. Indall that any violation of state liquor regulations or city ordinances would be grounds for permanent revocation of the license. The permit is both for on and off sale service.

4-H leader banquet set for Dec. 8

The Winona Chamber of Commerce annual banquet for 4-H leaders will be held Dec. 8 at Krzyzko Commons, Winona State College, the chamber announced today.

Adult leaders from 4-H organizations in Winona County will be guests. The chamber's business resource division is the sponsoring agency.

Co-chairmen for the occasion are Rollie Larson, USS Agri-Chemicals, and Don Lee, Northern States Power Co.

State Elks ask elimination of racial clause

ST. PAUL — The Minnesota Elks Association in convention at St. Paul has unanimously approved a recommendation that the "whites only" clause be stricken from the National Elks constitution.

Among the 180 delegates from 31 state lodges were four members of the Winona Lodge 327, headed by Richard Gillen, exalted ruler.

The recommendation will be presented for action next July at the Elks grand lodge meeting in New Orleans, La.

According to Elks officials, the whites only rule binds the state organizations to exclude minority members until changed by the national by-laws.

Among those attending from Winona Sunday were Steve Slagge, William Peterson and Robert Kratz.

Merkel named to C of C board of directors

Charles E. Merkel, president of Baumann-Merkel Agency, has been elected to the board of directors of the Winona Area Chamber of Commerce.

He will complete the unexpired term of William E. Zumwinkle, who until recently was manager of the Tempo store, Miracle Mall. Zumwinkle has moved to St. Cloud.

Merkel's election brings the board of directors to its full strength of 13 members. The term expires in 1971. Next year the board size will be increased to 15 directors.

His previous service in the chamber includes membership in the Ambassadors, finance and budget committee and on the work program task force.

A native of Detroit, Mich., Merkel moved to Winona from Burnsville, Minn., in 1967. He is a veteran of World War II service in the Navy as a submarine operator and is a ham radio operator. He and his wife and two sons live in Pleasant Valley Terrace.

Tina Louise gives birth to daughter

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Tina Louise has given birth to a 7-pound, 13½-ounce girl at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital.

Miss Louise, 30, is seeking a divorce from radio personality Les Crane after four years of marriage.

The baby, born Sunday and still unnamed, is the couple's first child.

Street vacation petition laid over

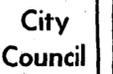

A petition to vacate Steuben Street, between 3rd and 4th streets, was heard Monday night by the City Council and then laid over for further study.

The petition was signed by two abutting landowners, Robert S. Brink, 403 Mankato Ave., and James Bambenek. Councilmen noted that two other abutting landowners were not represented on the petition and suggested that further inquiries be made.

Petitioners proposed to grant an easement to the city for a sewer line in the street. If the street were vacated, the land would be turned over to abutting landowners.

A number of other actions on the council's agenda were put over for consideration at forthcoming meetings. They included:

Introduction of an ordinance to adopt the 1970 National Fire Prevention Code by reference. Recommendations for adoption

Agreement reached on city hangar

Agreement for use of city-owned hangar space at Max Conrad Field by the Tri-College Flying Club was reached Monday night between the City Council and club representatives.

The council offered to lease space for two club-owned airplanes on a yearly basis in return for maintenance work on the premises performed by club members. In monetary terms the rent would be $40 a month.

Two club representatives, James R. Reynolds, Winona State College, faculty adviser and James Wilbert, flight instructor, told the council such an arrangement would be a good one for the city.

It will result in improved appearance and condition for the city's hangar and the increased level of activity will promote stronger interest in general aviation in this locality, they said. Councilmen advised the club to form a corporation, even though the spokesmen said funds are so limited that the club can't afford it. The council said that incorporation would be the best policy for the club from the standpoint of liability and further that the city has to deal with a legal entity that such a corporation would constitute. Club spokesmen had reported they are able to secure insurance even without being incorporated.

The council's motion for payment in kind of monthly rentals included a provision that the club be incorporated, a condition Reynolds and Wilbert indicated would be acceptable.

Civic group approves new courthouse

Winona County commissioners meeting Monday were read a letter from the Winona Civic Association, signed by E. R. Wicks, secretary. The letter stated that the association had gone on record at their meeting held Oct. 8, approving the commissioners' decision to build a new courthouse. The letter was placed on file.

In other action the board: Approved the application by Ruth Cady for a dance license for the Cady Golf and Recreation Center, Inc., Lewiston; Reappointed Vernold Boynton as county agricultural inspector for 1971 and authorized him to attend the short course to be held in Minneapolis, Dec. 14-17;

Approved that $7.50 be paid to the Minnesota Association of Civil Defense Directors for the membership of James Neek, county civil defense director; Reappointed Russell T. Church, Minnesota City, to the Water Resources Board of the Stockton - Rollingstone-Minnesota City Watershed, his term of office to expire Dec. 25, 1971.

Driver is charged in Wabasha crash

WABASHA, Minn. — One of the drivers involved in a two-car accident here Monday morning at the intersection of Minnesota 60 and Highway 61, in the city of Wabasha, in which three persons were injured, has been charged with failure to stop for a stop sign, according to the Highway Patrol.

Injured were Ronald Maul, 22, Stockton; Clarence Leander, 69, Atlantic, Iowa, and his wife, Alma, 61.

Maul, who suffered a broken collarbone, cuts and bruises, was released from the hospital this morning. Leander received a head injury and his wife has injuries to her face and jaw. Both are still hospitalized at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

According to the patrol, Leander was driver of one of the cars and Maul the driver of the second. Leander was westbound on Minnesota 60 and allegedly failed to stop for a stop sign, hitting the Maul vehicle which was northbound on Highway 61, the patrol reported.

WILMINGTON BOARD SPRING GROVE, Minn. (Special) — The Wilmington town board will meet Friday at 8:15 p.m. at the Wilmington town hall, said Arnold Sannes, clerk.

Start negotiations for Prairie Island landfill

The City Council Monday night authorized the city manager to negotiate with potential operators of a temporary landfill at Latsch Prairie Island Park.

The landfill would be used to deposit shives from the Archer Daniels Midland flax to w plant. Permission to use the area, which was used in 1965 as a borrow pit, was given by the John Latsch Memorial Board last Friday.

Terms of the Latsch Board's action limit the operation to three months, at which time renewal would be considered if requested.

The council hopes to have a contract for a permanent landfill within the next few weeks, however, and the shives then would be transported to that location. Meanwhile they will be hauled to Prairie Island where the landfill project will be used as a means of reclaiming the former borrow pit area.

City Manager Carroll J. Fry estimated that the island landfill could be operated for about $820 a week. His estimate was based on preliminary inquiries, he said. The city would charge a per-load fee for depositing the material there. The council accepted his proposal that the firm keep its own count of truckloads and pay on that basis.

Fry said the operator would divide his time between the Prairie Island site and the east-end industrial waste disposal site.

The council also voted to hold a hearing Nov. 9 on alleged deficiencies in service by the city's garbage contractor, Refuse Disposal Service, La Crosse. The hearing will be on a series of complaints outlined in a letter by the city Department of Health and forwarded to the contractor late last month. The city's charges arise out of complaints by various residents to councilmen and to the city administration.

Failures to adhere to schedules, said the letter, have made it necessary for the city to take emergency measures at times.

Variance requested for building garage

Henry Hosting, G A R V I N Heights Rd., appeared before the Winona County Board Monday requesting approval to build an attached garage to his home. Under the zoning ordinance, property must be 100 feet from the center line in the highway. The garage would be within 10 feet of the right of way line.

According to Hosting his lot is rather small, as some land had been taken for road right of way. There is a utility pole at the west which would prevent building and to the east there is not enough room. Hosting said he had not been invited to attend the application hearing by the county variance committee of the planning and zoning commission.

ZONING administrator Vernold Boynton said the zoning ordinance does not require that applicants for buildings such as this be invited to the hearing. Boynton stated it was his opinion that it was not the fact that the building would be within 10 feet of the road right of way, but that it might create problems if other homes were built to the west.

According to Hosting, the TV Signal is located there, and he did not think other homes would be built for some time. He said the garage would not obstruct vision for the road as the curve does not start until approximately 300 feet from the property.

He was informed by commissioners that they would view the area, and make the recommendations. The property is located in Winona Township, and the township ordinance supersedes the county one, so that Winona Township Board would make the final decision.

A letter from Bernard E. Howard, Knollwood Lane, Pleasant Valley, was read. Howard stated he was writing as a formal protest on the kind of road job that had been done on the gravel road leading into his residence.

It read, in part, "There has been no drainage established between the turn-around area and my lawn . . . There is a standing water hole which is filled with water after each rain . . . No culvert was placed in front of my driveway."

"IT IS difficult to believe that a competent, knowledgeable highway engineer designed such layout. . . I have a suspicion that it was deliberate. . . If the county is paying $3,600, they are getting poor value for their tax dollars."

Howard requested a written reply. The letter was placed on file and commissioners will view the area during the November session.

Education week observed at Lanesboro

LANESBORO, Minn. (Special) — State Rep. Neil Haugerud outlined the duties of a representative and explained how a bill is passed in the legislature at an American Education Week observance at the community hall, sponsored by the American Legion Post 40 and the Lanesboro schools.

The colors were presented by Legionnaires Ferdine Olson, Ester Gunderson, Bennette Berg and Charles Schroeder and the Lanesboro High School Band played the National Anthem.

American Education Week was instituted in 1921 by joint action of the American Legion and National Education Association and observed its 50th year this past week.

Train hits truck in Peterson

PETERSON, Minn. — Two 17-year-old Peterson youths escaped serious injury Monday at 5 p.m. when the panel truck in which they were riding struck a train at a railroad crossing in the village of Peterson.

Hospitalized in satisfactory condition at Community Memorial Hospital, Winona, are Wayne Malmin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Malmin, and Keith Pederson, son of Arnold Pederson. All are of Peterson.

Wayne has fractured ribs and Keith has an injured leg, according to a hospital spokesman.

At the time of the collision, the engine and caboose of the Milwaukee IM and D was going south at an estimated speed of 27 or 28 miles an hour, according to the engineer, R. G. Gibson, 49, and conductor, Duane Anderson, both of Austin.

The 1961 panel truck, driven by Malmin was headed west. Following the crash, the train carried the panel truck, with the youths inside, for a little more than one block, or an estimated 360 feet, on the front of the train.

Carl Fann, Fillmore County sheriff, said it was a miracle that the car did not roll; the knuckle of the train, which was stuck right inside the panel truck, kept it from turning. It (the truck) was impaled on the engine so perfectly that the tires of the vehicle did not strike a tie.

Sheriff Fann said two witnesses maintain they heard the train whistle as it was going through town. There is a stop sign at the railroad crossing.

Transportation, bombing control grants announced

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $71,200 federal contract for a program aimed at improving urban transportation planning and a $12,680 grant to equip a St. Paul bomb disposal unit were announced today.

Rep. Clark MacGregor, R-Minn., said the transportation grant will go to the Metropolitan Council in the Twin Cities. The bomb disposal equipment grant was made by the Department of Justice.

Courthouse 'bids' confusion cleared

A routine phone call by a Milwaukee construction trade publication was the source of information that ultimately appeared in four similar publications and produced a new chapter in the Winona County courthouse controversy at Monday's meeting of the County Board of Commissioners.

The phone call was made in mid-September the Daily Western Builder, Milwaukee, to the office of the W. Smith Architectural and Engineering Service, Winona. The Smith firm has been employed by the county board to plan its proposed three-phase courthouse building program.

Such calls are made routinely to a number of architects throughout the midwest, a publication representative explained Monday afternoon to the Daily News. These calls are made so as to compile "work in prospect" lists. The lists are published as news items by the paper which circulates widely among subscribers in the construction business.

A plan completion date, set about Nov. 10, was apparently indicated by personnel of the Smith office, which was misinterpreted as a closing date, and was so published in the Milwaukee publication Sept. 24.

The item was picked up by other construction trade publications. It was published in the Oct. 7 Construction Information Weekly, Eau Claire; on the front page of the Daily Construction News, Minneapolis, Oct. 13; reprinted by the La Crosse Construction Bulletin, and from there reprinted in the Oct. 15 Construction Bulletin, Minneapolis.

Then the pattern was reversed. The Daily Western Builder published a correction in the Oct. 22 edition, which said the project would be ready for bidding in December and the previous information was in error. The correction also was printed in the Oct. 22 edition of the Construction Bulletin.

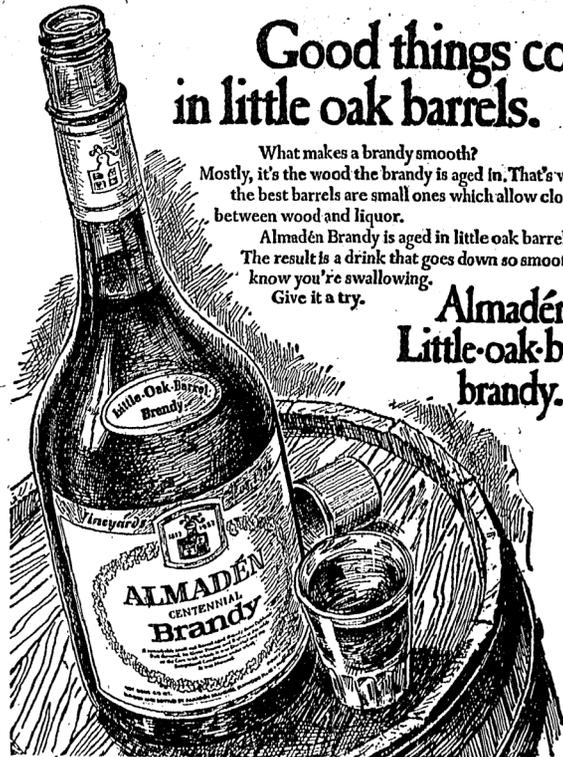

Corrections were made at Smith's request. He called the Minneapolis publication shortly after the first article appeared, publication representatives told the Daily News.

Good things come in little oak barrels.

What makes a brandy smooth? Mostly, it's the wood the brandy is aged in. That's why the best barrels are small ones which allow close contact between wood and liquor.

Almaden Brandy is aged in little oak barrels. The result is a drink that goes down so smooth, you hardly know you're swallowing.

S.D. race for governor expected to be close

SIoux FALLS, S.D. (AP)—South Dakotans went to the polls today to elect two new congressmen and choose between candidates for governor in what could be one of the closest battles in the state's history. Democratic and Republican party chairmen both said they were confident of victory. The retirements of Reps. Ben Reifel, R-S.D., and E. Y. Berry, R-S.D., assure the state of two new representatives in Congress.

Heavy N.D. vote forecast

FARGO, N.D. (AP)—North Dakota voters were expected to turn out in heavy numbers today to select three congressmen, state legislators and two state officers. Also attracting considerable interest was the selection of delegates for a state Constitutional Convention, the second in 51 years. Polls opened at 7 a.m. in most areas, although 9 a.m. openings were scheduled in some places. Closing time is 8 p.m.

Rap government for inaction on dangerous toys

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. James G. O'Hara said today the government has not ordered a single dangerous toy—including a superheating toy oven and a blowgun dart that can be sucked into children's lungs—off the market despite a new act of Congress. The Michigan Democrat, co-sponsor of the Child Protection and Toy Safety Act of 1969, urged Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Elliot Richardson to act before the Christmas toy-buying season. "It is shocking to discover that nearly 10 months after the act took effect that the very toys we hoped to keep out of children's hands are still being offered for sale," O'Hara said. "And unless the secretary takes swift action, unknowing parents will purchase these toys for their children this Christmas."

Broiler prices hit 2-year low

WASHINGTON (AP)—Broiler chicken prices in October averaged the lowest for a single month in two years and the industry says part of the reason is a decline in consumer demand. The Agriculture Department reported last week that for the month ended Oct. 15 live broilers averaged 12.8 cents per pound. This compared with 13.4 cents in September and 14.8 cents in October 1969. Government records show the October average to be the lowest since October 1968 when it was 12.7 cents per pound. Demand for broilers and other poultry soared last year as retail prices climbed. Producers reacted accordingly, boosting production to take advantage of the improved price situation. But expansion cutbacks were urged this year and the broiler people say the industry responded. There is still more broiler meat than a year ago, but there has been a sharp slowdown. The National Broiler Council, speaking for the industry, says that last March the "marketable supply" of broilers was 12.8 per cent more than the same month in 1969. By September, the NBC margin had been cut to 4.3 per cent. "But prices did not respond favorably to this supply cut-back," the council says. "Instead, they continued to decline—from 3 per cent under the year-earlier level in March to 12.4 per cent under the year-earlier level in September." The broiler council said reducing supplies may not be enough to keep prices from sagging and indicated new marketing efforts may be needed to counteract weaker demand.

Speed timing device will get additional test

WOBURN, Mass. (AP)—A camera tripped by a timing device to take pictures of speeding motorists as they pass is being tested by the Massachusetts Registry of Motor Vehicles. The device, developed by LTV Aerospace Corp., Dallas, Tex., is claimed to be burglar-proof and bullet-proof and uses a cassette capable of taking 1,000 pictures a day. Richard Griffith, a registry investigator, said the camera not only provides a sharp picture of the automobile, its registration plate and the offending driver, but each frame also notes the time, date and highway designation.

AWOL soldier held at Wabasha

WABASHA, Minn. (Special)—A 20-year-old Army man from Lake City is being held for military authorities in Wabasha County jail for being away without leave (AWOL) from his unit in Ft. Benning, Ga. He was identified as Charles Plote, who apparently spent the past seven weeks in Lake City. He was to be picked up by military police today. Plote was arrested Sunday evening.

36 years later, 'Ted Mack's Amateur Hour' off the air

By JOEL DREYFUSS
NEW YORK (AP)—The years went by but the scenario remained the same. The hoofers, crooners and comedians performed frantically for the audience's approval, then basked in the applause that brought them one step nearer to the elusive world of "show biz." Ted Mack's Original Amateur Hour, the oldest program on network television, had emerged unscathed in the changeover from radio to television, survived two wars and settled into a comfortable routine while the rest of television sought desperately to understand the taste of its audience. The show finally died, quietly, CBS said Monday it had been canceled, when it was not renewed by the sponsor, Geritol. The Amateur Hour had not been seen since late September, but its disappearance was not noticed because of a number of National Football League doubleheaders that preempted its Sunday slot. For nearly 23 years—36 years counting the time on radio—a parade of performers presented their routines to audiences across America. Most remained amateurs, even if they won. But over the years some of the entertainment world's most luminous personalities had their first national exposure on the show—and a lot of them went away losers.

There was skinny Frank Sinatra, a member of the "Hoboken Four" quartet. They were on in 1935, and lost. Ann-Margret appeared in 1957 but the audience gave its vote to a South American who played a tune on a laurel leaf. Some winners who went on to professional success included comedian Jack Carter, 1941; singers Pat Boone, 1953, and Teresa Brewer, 1958. A fat 12-year-old soprano named Maria Kalogeropoulos made the winners circle in 1935. She went on to greater operatic fame as Maria Callas.

Over the years, more than 25,000 acts were presented—barbershop quartets, dancers, standup comics and specialty acts. They often had unpronounceable names and came from memorable places. The ones who made national television were already survivors of a stringent screening process. Three units of talent scouts crisscrossed the country constantly looking for new talent. Mack estimated that only one out of 25 applicants made the TV grade.

At auditions in Nashville, the scouts turned down a young man with an unusual singing style. His hair kept falling in his eyes and he wouldn't stand still. His name was Elvis Presley. The show was started in 1934 by Major Edward Bowes when he was the publicity-minded director of a Broadway movie house. It became a pioneering program on network radio in 1935 and within a year was the rage. When Bowes died in 1946, Mack, a saxophone player who had been his talent supervisor, took over. He presided over the first television broadcast, on Jan. 18, 1948 over the four-station DuMont television network—six months before Ed Sullivan's variety hour made its on-camera debut.

CBS long tolerated the relatively low ratings of the show—10 million viewers—because of its low cost. "We're devoted to the show," a CBS executive said in 1968. "We wouldn't lose it for the world." But the Amateur Hour is gone and the viewer's nervous empathy for a star in the making can now be replaced by the animal joy of seeing the middle line-backer crash through for a crunching tackle.

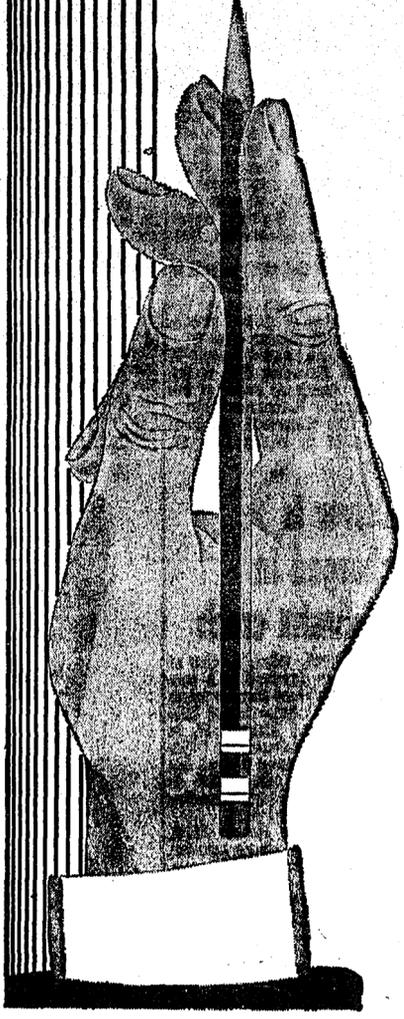

Director of State High school League, Hill, dies

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Funeral services for B. H. Hill, executive director of the Minnesota State High School League, have been scheduled for 2 p.m. Wednesday at Richfield Methodist Church. Hill, 56, died Monday at University of Minnesota Hospitals. He had undergone surgery for removal of a malignant brain tumor Aug. 24. Hill, who had been executive secretary of the high school league since 1959, was a graduate of North Dakota State College at Fargo. He received a master's degree from the University of Minnesota. He served as principal and superintendent of several Minnesota schools, including Albert Lea, Waseca, Cannon Falls, East Chain and Bigelow, before taking the league job.

Cushing to rest near the children he held so dear

BOSTON (AP) — Richard Cardinal Cushing will be buried at St. Coletta School at Hanover close to the retarded children he held so dear.

The 75-year-old prelate's body was to be taken today from the archbishop's residence to the Cathedral of the Holy Cross to lie in state until the funeral Saturday.

The cardinal, a longtime friend of the late President John F. Kennedy and his father, the late Joseph P. Kennedy, died at his residence Monday afternoon, less than four weeks after he stepped down as head of the Boston archdiocese on Oct. 7.

News of his death came as a shock not only to the archdiocese's Catholics but to millions of others who remembered the white-haired, gravel-voiced prelate dancing a jig at his annual Thanksgiving parties for the poor, taking nuns to a Red Sox baseball game or wearing construction workers' hard hats at ground breakings for the many new schools and hospitals he built.

His successor, Archbishop Humberto S. Medeiros, said in announcing the cardinal's passing: "He was a truly great soul, a man of universal genius, a priest of selfless dedication, a bishop of towering stature."

The cardinal was a leader in the ecumenical movement—seeking cooperation and unity among Christian churches—and his influence ranged far beyond his archdiocese.

A strong opponent of racial injustice, he said in a pastoral letter: "When a Catholic fails to take a stand against race intolerance he is a slacker in the army of the Church militant."

His wide-ranging interests and varied circle of friends were reflected in tributes pouring into the archbishop's residence.

President Nixon issued a statement at the Western White House at San Clemente, Calif., saying, "His name will always evoke for us a spirit of ecumenism, of human dignity, justice and brotherhood among men and nations."

Mrs. Aristotle Onassis, the former Jacqueline Kennedy, said she loved the cardinal and "will miss him terribly for the rest of my life."

"His life was built on love," the former first lady said, "to heal rather than to divide."

The American Jewish Committee, in a statement issued in New York by its president, Philip E. Hoffman, said it mourned "the passing of a great spiritual force in American life."

At the Vatican a spokesman said the cardinal's death caused "profound sadness, profound pain." Pope Paul VI prayed for his soul.

Archbishop Luigi Raimondi, the apostolic delegate to Washington, will concelebrate the funeral Mass at the cathedral at 11 a.m. Saturday along with Archbishop Medeiros and the three auxiliary bishops of Boston.

While the cardinal's body lies in state at the cathedral, public Masses will be celebrated Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at noon and at 7 p.m.

Burial will be in a crypt in the Portiuncula Chapel at St. Coletta School. In his more vigorous years, Cardinal Cushing was a frequent visitor of the retarded children there and often romped with them when time permitted.

Cardinal Cushing, son of a Boston blacksmith, headed the nation's second largest archdiocese, numbering 1.8 million Roman Catholics, from 1944 until his retirement. He was elevated to cardinal by Pope John XXIII in 1958.

In 1961 he read the prayer at the inauguration of President Kennedy and less than three years later celebrated the solemn funeral Mass for the assassinated president at St. Matthew's Cathedral in Washington. The cardinal's health had been failing for years, forcing him to give up a dream of becoming a missionary in South America when he retired.

He marked his 75th birthday Aug. 24.

The death announcement said he was "suffering from the complication of the long-standing malignancy with which he had been afflicted for years."

The future prelate attended Boston College, conducted by the Jesuit order, and prepared for the priesthood at St. John's Seminary.

After ordination in May 1921 he served briefly as a curate in two parishes. Then the late William Cardinal O'Connell, sensing Cushing's ability as a fund raiser—a talent he later raised to an art as an archbishop—appointed him to the diocesan office of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith.

He became auxiliary bishop of Boston in 1939 and five years later was named archbishop—then the world's youngest—at age 49.

Frontenac Park Association to meet Nov. 10

LAKE CITY, Minn. — The Frontenac State Park Association will conduct its annual meeting at 6 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 10, in the American Legion clubrooms here. A dinner will be served by the Legion auxiliary at 7 p.m.

Bruce Aulse, director of the Environment Learning Center, Red Wing, will discuss a program in conservation education.

Since the last annual meeting of the association, a new shelter and restroom building has been constructed on the campground area, a number of trees have been transplanted and legal proceedings have been initiated to acquire, through condemnation, Point Au Sable.

Those wishing reservations for the dinner are requested to contact Mrs. C. K. Maytum, 1233 First St., Southwest, Rochester, Minn.

60 percent of adults 'tense'

Breakdown frequency: nearly one in five

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Public Health Service has reported evidence suggesting nearly one in five American adults has experienced a nervous breakdown or felt one coming on.

In disclosing some findings it termed surprising, the agency reported nearly 60 per cent of the adult population is fidgety and tense at times to the point of being bothered.

The agency questioned 6,672 adults representing the nation's 111-million population of civilian, noninstitutional persons between 18 and 79. Eighty-eight per cent were white; 10 per cent black.

Persons interviewed were questioned not only on their history of actual, or threatened, nervous breakdowns, but also on whether they had ever been bothered by:

Nervousness, psychological inertia, insomnia, trembling hands, nightmares, perspiring hands, fainting or blackouts, headache, dizziness or heart palpitations.

In one of its major findings, the report declared:

"The over-all per cent reporting having had a nervous breakdown was 4.9 per cent and an additional 12.8 per cent reported having felt an impending nervous breakdown... without its actual occurrence... for a combined rate of 17.7 per cent—or almost one out of five with an estimated 20 million adults having experienced such severe psychological distress."

The survey found proportionately more women than men reported nervous breakdowns.

Black women had a significantly higher rate than white women.

Women reported breakdown threats almost twice as frequently as did men, and had significantly higher rates for the 12 distress symptoms.

But the report found only two symptoms with significant differences by race for the same sex for both men and women.

"These were nervousness, with white men and women having a rate more than 15 per cent higher than Negroes; and dizziness, wherein Negro men and women had slightly higher rates than whites...."

The survey found more symptoms of distress among less-educated and lower-income groups. On a geographic basis, Northeastern adults had lower rates, while Southerners had higher rates than average.

San Jose chief: Nixon was never in danger

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Police Chief Ray Blackmore says he "would have liked it a lot better" if President Nixon had not flashed a "V for victory" sign to antiwar demonstrators at a Republican rally here last Thursday.

But Blackmore said Monday the President was never in danger from the chanting crowd and added that reports of violence at the demonstration had been exaggerated.

"A few rocks were thrown. There was a verbal attack. That was the so-called violence," Blackmore said.

He said Jose State College students and police alike "were smeared" by descriptions of "a hall of rocks and eggs," but declined to disclose whom he blamed, saying, "I don't want to get involved in a political dispute."

He also refused comment on student assertions that it was a deliberate provocation for Nixon to make the V sign, but commented:

"I would have liked it a lot better if he had not gotten on the car and waved. We felt the sooner we could get him out of there the better. A delay of a minute could be crucial, but we did get the President safely out of there, so I can't say it was an error."

Chris Mosher, 23, a nonstudent leader of Medical Resistance, a group organized to treat persons injured in demonstrations, said four students were injured by police clubs and 30 affected by an irritant gas. Blackmore said one officer suffered a broken finger.

Mosher said a search of the site of the demonstration after the presidential party left turned up "four rocks, a couple of bottles and a stick or two."

Blackmore said he saw one bottle thrown, heard sounds of one or two other missiles, and had evidence that one car in the presidential party was hit by a rock. Windows were broken in a bus near the end of the presidential motorcade.

"Who threw the rocks? I don't know. It could have been working people," Blackmore said at a student meeting at San Jose State.

Censorship views changed: Lockhart

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — His studies over a two-to-three year period of hard-core pornography changed his views on censorship of such material, Dean William B. Lockhart of the University of Minnesota Law School said today.

He said his views used to be based "on my own subjective reaction to material that was offensive to me. I assumed that this material was probably harmful—as we have been assuming without reliable evidence for a century."

Lockhart made the remarks in a speech prepared for a bar association meeting.

He was chairman of the 18-member U.S. Commission on Obscenity and Pornography which released its report of 870 pages a month ago. A minority report disagreeing with some of the majority also was released.

One of the recommendations which stirred up controversy was the suggestion that all wraps be taken off censorship of pornographic material when used by consenting adults.

Lockhart told the lawyers that he had to submerge his feelings to conduct an objective study of the subject. "I was obligated, I felt, to set aside my personal assumptions as to probable harm, and my own beliefs, largely uninformed, as to what controls were needed," he said.

"My job was to help 17 other citizens plan and implement research that for the first time would provide a large store of factual data, scientifically established, in this difficult, emotion-charged area where public policy had been based... largely on assumptions, guesses and fears."

Lockhart says a key suggestion of the study is that widespread responsible sex education is the best answer to pornography.

Irish moving up, Ohio moving out, Texas still tops

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Six, five, four, three, two ...
Notre Dame is moving up.

One, two, three ... Ohio State is moving out.

But there's still room at the top for the Texas Longhorns, who remained No. 1 for the second week in the Associated Press' college football poll Monday.

Notre Dame's crack Irish troops have marched about a place a week since September, supplanting Ohio State as the No. 2 team. The Buckeyes, who were the front-runners until bumped by Texas two weeks ago, retreated to third.

The Fighting Irish's tall story doesn't impress Coach Ara Parseghian, who insists it's a long, long time from September to November.

"It (the poll) has no effect on us now," he said. "We're more interested in the polls in late November (at the end of the regular season)."

Notre Dame won its sixth in a row last Saturday by staggering helpless Navy 56-7, and Parseghian was accused in some quarters of running up the score. But Navy Coach Rick Forzano wouldn't buy it.

"It could have been much worse," said Forzano, "I talked to Ara after the game and told him I realized they could have put the ball in the air more, and that I appreciate that they didn't. He didn't run the score up. He was as fair as fair can be."

Sports writers and broadcasters around the country handed 20 first place votes to Texas for a total of 701 points, a fingertip 17-point lead over Notre Dame's 684. Ohio State had 617 in the too-close-for-comfort race.

Texas shut down quarterback Chuck Hixson's magnificent Flying Machine in beating Southern Methodist 42-15 over the weekend and Ohio State slapped Northwestern 24-10.

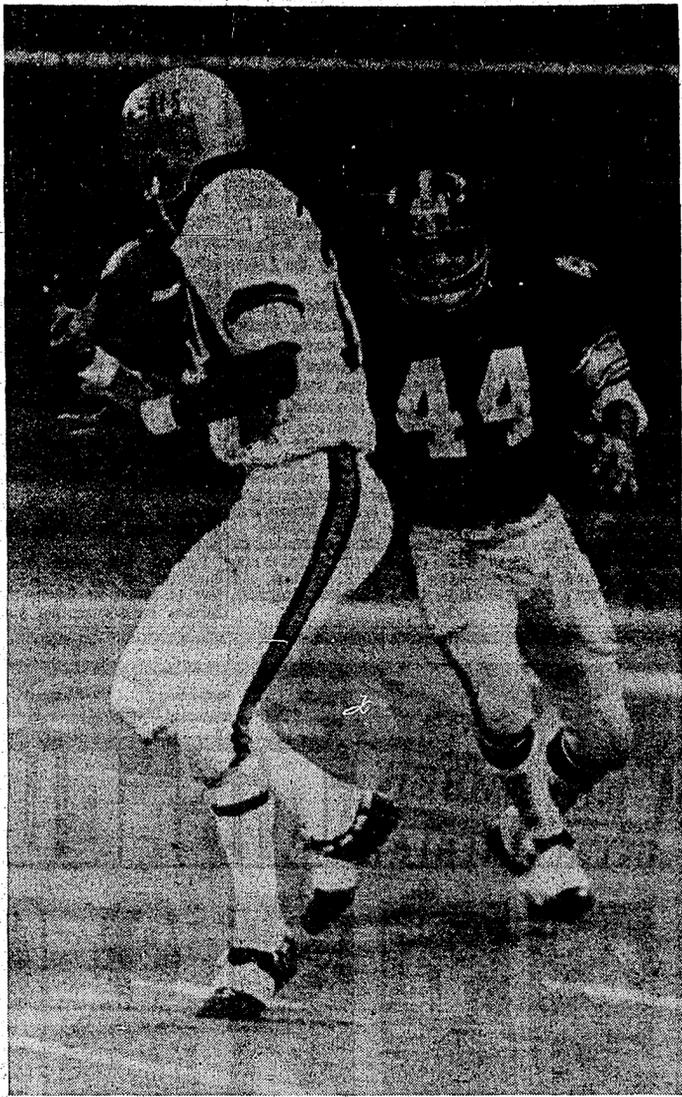

Nebraska, Michigan and Stanford stayed 4-5-6 with impressive weekend victories. Arkansas and Tennessee each moved up a spot to seventh and eighth. Air Force slumped from seventh to ninth and Auburn rounded out the top ten.

Hanratty, not Bradshaw, sparks Steelers to win

By D. BYRON YAKE
PITTSBURGH (AP) — A frustrated Terry Bradshaw vows he won't play second fiddle to Terry Hanratty after this season.

The golden haired Pittsburgh Steeler rookie quarterback has not been the cure-all quarterback he was billed to be and now he admits he's pressing.

Pittsburgh defeated the Cincinnati Bengals 21-10 Monday night, but it was Hanratty, coming off the bench, who bailed out the Steelers in the fourth quarter. He threw a touchdown pass and led them to another score.

"I'll never sit on the bench behind a second-year man," Bradshaw said. "It's obvious Coach (Chuck) Noll will have to make a decision at the end of the year. He's given me all the chance in the world but I haven't done anything. And if I'm going to be on the bench, I want to play behind a veteran so I can learn."

"I really don't mind if I don't start. But Terry's young and I'm young. If the coach says he's No. 1, fine, then ship me out. I just wouldn't be happy playing behind him."

Bradshaw started the nationally televised game but Hanratty took over midway in the third quarter with the Steelers behind 10-7.

For the night, Bradshaw, pro football's No. 1 draft choice, completed only four of 12 passes for 40 yards. Hanratty was seven for 11 and 128 yards.

"He looked unsettled," said Noll of Bradshaw.

"It's getting to me now" said Bradshaw. "I'm really unhappy with myself. I just have to go and search myself. I need to sit on the bench. I definitely think Terry deserves to start."

The thought of later attending a seminar also continued on Bradshaw's mind.

"I feel called to do that kind of work. I also feel called to play football. I've always thought if I could make it big in this game, then it would help attract people to the other."

keeping silent. "Each to his own," he replied when asked about Bradshaw's remarks.

The victory was admittedly sweet for Hanratty but even as he savored the taste of success he would not comment on possibly starting.

"Every quarterback wants to start," he said. "But I'll leave the decision up to the coach."

Hanratty unleashed a 72-yard touchdown bomb in the fourth quarter to tight end Dennis Hughes on a play which called for him to pass to receiver Dave Smith. But Smith was covered.

Safety Kenny Graham had an arm on Hughes, but when he caught the ball at the 23 Hughes got away.

Hanratty then led the Steelers 75 yards in nine plays for another touchdown in the fourth quarter. Warren Bankston scored from the one.

Neither the Bengals nor the Steelers sparked in the first half. The Bengals scored on a one-yard pass in the second quarter from Virgil Carter to Eric Crabtree after Crabtree had caught a 29-yard pass, taking the ball to the one.

But the Steelers took the kick-off and drove for the tying score.

Casper, Trevino

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Casper remained golf's No. 1 money winner for the year and Lee Trevino retained his lead in the point race, based on tournament finishes, weekly statistics showed Monday.

The figures from the PGA Tournament Players Division show Casper with winnings of $146,372 to $140,286 for runnerup Jack Nicklaus.

Trevino, who didn't play in the Sahara Open won by Babe Hickey, had his point lead shaved to one-half point by Bruce Crampton. Trevino has 1,336.1 points, Crampton 1,335.6.

Warmath: 'hands full' vs. Wildcats

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Coach Murray Warmath says his Minnesota Gophers will have their "hands full" when they battle the Northwestern Wildcats in a Big Ten football game at Evanston, Ill., Saturday.

"Northwestern may have been cooled off a little by Ohio State," said Warmath Monday, "but the Wildcats have one of their strongest representatives since Alex Agase has been there."

Warmath said the Gophers also will have to contend with Northwestern's multiple-type offense and "tremendous" passing game.

The Gopher coach said last Saturday's 14-14 tie with Iowa was a result of inconsistent offense and sloppy defense. Iowa, he said, played "its most consistent game of the year."

Both the Gophers and Wildcats were hampered in preparing for Saturday's game by rain Monday.

The Gophers staged an indoor practice and worked on offensive and defensive formations used by Northwestern.

Fullbacks Ernie Cook and Louis Clare, who suffered sprained ankles against Iowa, sat out the practice session, but a team spokesman said both would be ready for duty Saturday.

The Wildcats, who came out of the 24-10 loss to Ohio State in good physical condition, spent most of their practice watching game films.

Ex-Cardinal Meggyesy charges Pros are fed drugs, payoffs

NEW YORK (AP) — The football player who thrills millions on television screens Saturday and Sunday afternoons is a synthetic product who often is fed drugs and illegal payoffs under the table, charges an ex-pro player.

"When I got to the National Football League I saw players fed, at an astonishing rate, not only steroids but also amphetamines and barbiturates," says Dave Meggyesy, a former linebacker for the St. Louis Cardinals.

"A lot of NFL trainers do more dealing in drugs than an average junkie."

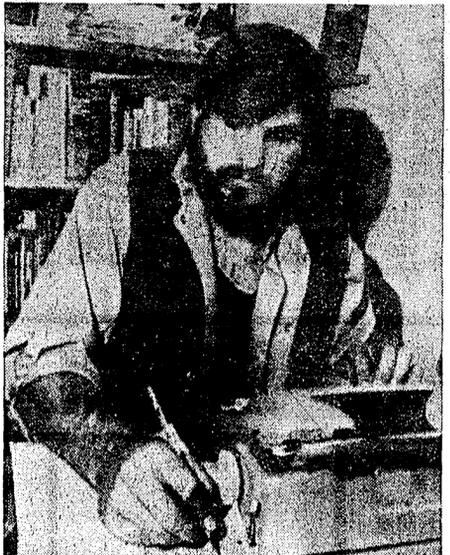

Meggyesy's explosive statements are made in the latest issue of Look Magazine, which is running abstracts of Meggyesy's new book entitled "Out Of Their League."

Meggyesy, who formerly played at Syracuse University, quit pro football because he said it was "dehumanizing." He said he had been offered a $35,000 contract to play with the Cardinals this season but turned it down because of the brutality of the sport.

"Now, after playing for 14 years, I can't really say if there is any basic worth to the game," he said. "I can't separate the game from the payoffs—approval, money, adulation."

Discussing the drug problem, Meggyesy said, "There are pro teams that dispense amphetamines and barbiturates like penny candy."

LINEBACKER DENOUNCES FOOTBALL DRUG MISUSE

He said he first became disillusioned with football when he played at Syracuse University.

"One of the big shocks of my freshman year was finding out that a lot of the guys were getting paid under the table," he said. He said arrangements were made for him to pick up $30 a week in a brown manila envelope. Other players got more, he added.

Under National Collegiate Athletic Association regulations, an athlete is permitted to receive only payment for tuition, board, books and a $15 a month for laundry.

"When a player is injured," Meggyesy also charged, "he is sent to the team physician who is usually more concerned with getting the athlete back into action than anything else. This reversal of priorities leads to unbelievable abuses."

At Syracuse, Chancellor John Corbally Jr., and Head Coach Ben Schwartzwalder declined comment. In New York, Don Weiss, NFL public relations director, said: "We have no interest whatever in promoting the sale of Meggyesy's book."

Jardine brought game plan along from UCLA

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — When UCLA lost to Southern Cal in the final regular season football game last year, the Bruin game plan which they expected to use against Michigan in the Rose Bowl was not discarded.

Instead, assistant coach John

Jardine took it with him to Wisconsin when he took over the head coaching job of the Badgers. Apparently it was that plan that Wisconsin used Saturday in a hard-fought 29-15 loss to the fifth-ranked Wolverines.

"UCLA scouted us twice last year and if they would have beaten Southern Cal they had their game plan set," Michigan coach Bo Schembechler said Monday.

"That was Wisconsin's game plan, Jardine brought it from UCLA," he said.

SCHEMBECHLER said a member of the Wisconsin staff told him that after the game.

The plan involved an unbalanced offensive line which was supposed to spring tailback Rufus "Roadrunner" Ferguson loose on power sweeps. Also, considerable passing was called for.

"They had as good a game plan as we've faced all year,"

Schembechler said.

Despite the Badgers plan, Ferguson totaled minus two yards rushing in seven carries. Their second play from scrimmage went to Ferguson on a sweep and he was stopped for no gain. The next time they tried it, Ferguson fumbled.

After two more attempts, Wisconsin decided to pass. The passing game of quarterback Neil Graff clicked somewhat, but not enough to upset Michigan.

HOW WERE THE Wolverines able to stop the unbalanced attack, since Wisconsin hadn't used it all season?

Jim Young, UM's chief defensive coach, went over various defense geared to meet unusual changes in opponents offenses Thursday. One of them just happened to be against an unbalanced line, and the Wolverines' tough defense learned their lessons well.

Badgers getting ready for Buckeyes

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — With several players nursing bumps and bruises, the Wisconsin football team worked out only 55 minutes Monday as it began preparations for another nationally-ranked power — Ohio State.

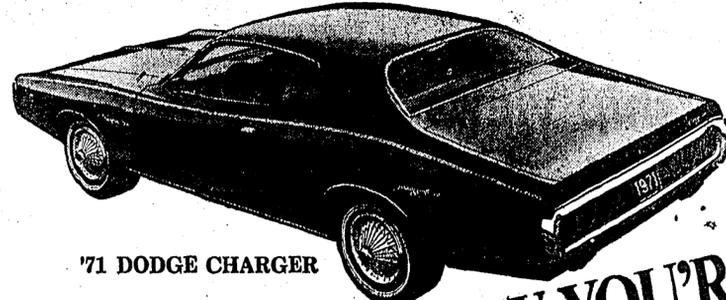

The Badgers, who play host to the third-rated Buckeyes Saturday, lost to fifth-ranked Michigan last Saturday 29-15.

Danny Crooks, who made an 87-yard punt return against Ohio State, was suffering from a sprained toe, but it was not regarded as serious.

Mike Smolich, offensive tackle, worked out but Coach John Jardine indicated he would have a difficult time getting his job back from Elbert Walker, who played his best game so far against the Wolverines.

Jardine promoted Al Hannah to the first team at split end, ahead of Randy Marks. After viewing Ohio State films, Jardine said the Buckeyes appeared even more diversified on offense than they have been in recent years.

Swimmers promising if 14 do work of 20.

The forecast for the upcoming season for the Winona State swim team is a promising one... providing the 14 Warrior tankers can stay healthy and do the work of 20.

Only eight lettermen and six freshmen have been working out with the team since organized practice sessions began on Oct. 15. Even if all 14 members on the squad wind up competing on the varsity, that is only one more swimmer than there are events in a dual meet.

The head coach of the swimming team is John Martin, but he will be unable to join the squad until Nov. 16, because of his current position as offensive line coach of the Warrior football team. But for the interim period, the swimmers will be under the qualified direction of first-year coach Mickey Olson.

OILERS' COACH QUITTING... Houston Oiler Head Coach Wally Lemm announced Monday that he would leave the team at the end of this season. "The emotion and tension was catching up with me," he told newsmen at the Oilers' weekly luncheon. He added: "When the game starts eating your guts out, it's time to quit." (AP Photo-fax) graduate student at Winona State but has coached high school swimming teams at Plymouth, Wis., for the past three seasons. He is a 1966 graduate of River Falls State University where he competed on the Falcons' swim team for four years specializing in the individual medley. Olson, 26, is from Knapp, Wis.

Olson has been concentrating his workout schedule on endurance drills to improve the swimmers' cardiovascular conditioning which apparently has met with the approval of most of the individuals on the squad.

"I think it's a much better situation than when you're coaching high school," admitted Olson, "I can discuss the workouts with the team and they can offer their opinions when they see fit." In high school you could go through a whole season, and some of the kids wouldn't know what they've done or why.

Olson said he had plans of attending graduate school at Colorado State before he talked with Tom Stover last spring. Stover, who was a diver for Winona State from 1965-68, recommended that Olson apply for the position at Winona State where he could work on his Masters degree at the same time.

Roger Braaten and Bob Ball will head the list of lettermen as the Warrior tankers enter their eighth season under Martin. Last year Winona State placed second to Bemidji in the Northern Intercollegiate Conference meet held in Winona's pool. Braaten, a junior from St. Paul was a triple winner in the meet setting a new conference record of 2:09.1 in the 200-yard individual medley in the process. The durable Braaten also won the 400-yard medley and the 1,650-yard freestyle.

Ball, a senior from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, won the 100-yard butterfly event in the NIC meet. Other returning letter winners include Brian Rudel of St. Paul Park, a butterfly and distance specialist; Terry Wakley, a junior sprinter from St. Paul Park; sophomore Mike Brand from Fort Dodge, Iowa, a back-stroker; John Suppon, a sophomore from St. Paul who pushed Braaten in the I.M.; and divers Paul Hill, a junior from Winona, and Jeff Michelfelder from Fort Dodge.

Among the freshmen on the squad are Paul Molinari and Tony Hoyt of Winona, Dave Basin and Al Crawford of Bloomington, Dave Mueller from St. Paul, and Gus Lammers of Plymouth, Wis.

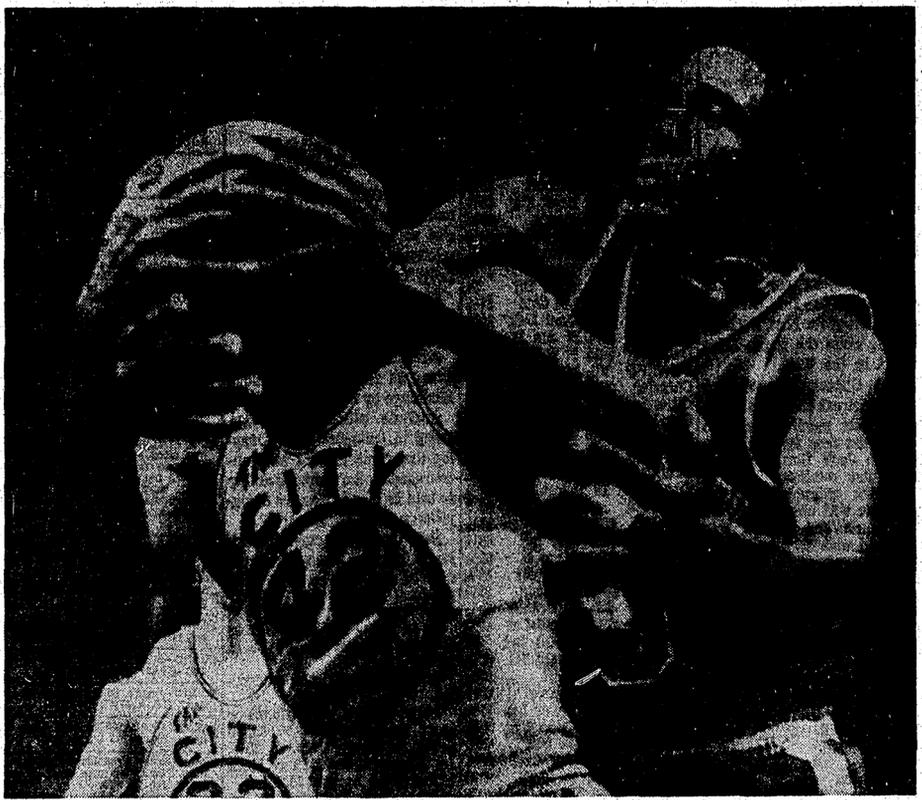

Olson coached Lammers all through high school, and the freshman tanker has recorded times good enough to have placed in last year's NIC meet. Lammers was fifth in the finals of the butterfly event of the Wisconsin state prep meet last spring.

Winona State's first actual competition will be in the Minnesota Relays at Hamline University in St. Paul on Dec. 5. Olson is counting on the long preparation period to insure that the team stays healthy, and he is confident that at least four additional experienced swimmers will come out for the winter quarter.

Philadelphia in rout, 141-87

Cavaliers lose 11th straight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — The New York Knicks were in the midst of their record 18-game winning streak at this time a year ago in the National Basketball Association.

Now the Cleveland Cavaliers are in the midst of setting a league record in reverse.

The Cavaliers, who have yet to win, were trounced by the Philadelphia 76ers Monday night 141-87. It was Cleveland's 11th straight defeat.

That leaves the Cavaliers only four games shy of the NBA's longest losing winning streak at the start of a season, 15 by Denver back in Oct.-Dec. 1949.

And if, perchance, Cleveland lost 18 straight that would erase the current longest losing streak of 17, set by San Francisco in 1965 and equaled by San Diego in 1968.

In Tuesday's other NBA games, the Knicks beat San Francisco 111-89 and Phoenix tripped Buffalo 110-92. Unbeaten Utah made it seven in a row whipping Memphis 119-100 in the only American Basketball Association game.

Philadelphia's whopping 54-point margin over Cleveland was the most for the 76ers since a 46-point spread over San Francisco in 1948. The 76ers led by as much as 59 Monday night.

Archie Clark led the balanced 76er attack against the expansion team with 21 points. Jim Washington added 19 for the winners. John Johnson was high for Cleveland with 20.

Phoenix caught Buffalo with its shooters cold and grabbed a 62-44 halftime lead. The expansion Braves shot only 26 per cent from the floor in the first half, and went the first four minutes without a field goal.

Connie Hawkins led the Suns with 29 points and Mike Davis netted 21 for the Braves.

The Knicks went on a 12-2 tear against the Warriors in a 90-second span of the second period to open up a 13-point lead and never were headed. Walt Frazier topped New York with 27 points while Jerry Lucas was high for San Francisco with 20.

Zelmo Beaty and Donnie Freeman each scored eight points in the last eight minutes as Utah broke open a close game. Beaty and Freeman each had 28 points to lead Utah. Craig Raymond rifled in 21 for Memphis.

Soutar captures keg tournament

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Dave Soutar of Gilroy, Calif., lost his final game Monday night in the $50,000 Bellows-Valvar Open bowling tournament but nonetheless scored a two-pin triumph over the man who beat him, Nelson Burton Jr. of St. Louis.

Alma, G-E back into first place tie in area poll

Alma's anticipated romp over Elgin-Millville (53-0) last Friday impressed the Daily News sports staff just enough to boost the Rivermen back into a tie for first place with Gale-Etrick in the seventh weekly "Top Ten" ratings.

Gale-Etrick completed its 1970 season a week earlier than Alma with an unscathed 8-0 record. Alma's triumph over the Watchmen was the season finale for both teams and left the Rivermen with a 9-0 mark for the year and an unbelievable scoring spread over their nine opponents of 357-6.

This was not the final week of balloting in lieu of the District One playoff game slated for this Friday between La Crescent, champions of the Root River Conference, and Spring Valley, the Maple Leaf Conference titlist. With the Lancers holding the third spot in the poll and the Wolves in seventh, the standings could still be juggled considerably if Spring Valley could manage an upset.

La Crescent was tagged for 18th fourth-period points by Houston last Friday, but they amounted to only half of the Lancers' final total. Spring Valley blanked LeRoy-Ostrander 34-0 in its conference windup Friday.

Kenyon concluded its season with a 16-6 victory over St. Charles and wound up 8-0 on the year. Rushford battered Spring Grove 48-0 to take over sole possession of the fifth spot in the ratings behind the Vikings.

Osseo-Fairchild gave way to the Trojans' resounding victory and fell to sixth place. Spring Valley held the seventh spot, and Eleva-Strum remained in eighth.

Preston regained a berth in the area's top ten for the first time in five weeks with a narrow 6-0 win over Grand Meadow. The Bluejays finished the season with an identical record to that of Spring Valley.

Cochrane-Fountain City (6-3) and Goodhue (6-2) wound up in a tie for tenth place. The complete list of the ratings is as follows:

- 1. Alma (8-0) 28
- 2. Gale-Etrick (8-0) 28
- 3. La Crescent (9-0) 25
- 4. Kenyon (8-0) 23
- 5. Rushford (8-1) 17
- 6. Osseo-Fairchild (7-1) 14
- 7. Spring Valley (6-1) 11
- 8. Eleva-Strum (4-2) 10
- 9. Preston (6-1) 5
- 10. (tie) Cochrane-FC (6-3) 2
- Goodhue (6-2) 2

Hayes listed as probable starter

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys are listing split end Bob Hayes as a probable starter for Sunday's National Football League game in New York against the New York Giants, although Hayes has been slowed by a groin injury. He suffered the injury in the Cowboys 21-17 victory over Philadelphia.

Alcindor, Hudson 1-2 in scoring

NEW YORK (AP) — Lou Hudson of the Atlanta Hawks jumped from sixth to second place in the National Basketball Association individual scoring race, the official weekly NBA statistics showed today. Lew Alcindor, of the Milwaukee Bucks, remained No. 1.

Hudson scored 102 points in his last three games, including 43 against Cleveland on Sunday, to boost his average to 29.4 per game. Alcindor's leading average is 32.3.

Alcindor's 77 of 123 field goals kept him at the top of the best shooters from the field with an average of .626. Veteran Wilt Chamberlain of Los Angeles also remained the top rebounder with an average of 22.1.

Dick Snyder of Seattle replaced Jack Marin of Baltimore as the best foul shooter. Snyder has made 37 of 39 for a percentage of .949. Marin has 33 of 36 for .917.

Cordes, Daly pace Hal-Rod City loop

The City League at Hal-Rod Lanes posted the top scores in local bowling action again Monday night, led by Foxy Cordes and Dennis Daly.

Cordes rolled an individual game of 239 and finished with a series count of 625 for the Jaastad Hardware team. Daly came up with a 643 series highlighted by a 228 game for Williams Hotel, the current leader in the City loop.

Golden Brand Foods registered a team game total of 1,054, and KWNO Radio compiled a 2,950 count for the high team series. Gordie Fakler contributed an errorless 633 series, and Leo Johnson hit 608.

Setting the pace for women bowlers Monday were Marge Moravec and Helen Nelson in the Pin Toppler's League at Westgate Lanes. Miss Moravec tipped a 219 single game for Watkins' Cosmetics, and Mrs. Nelson recorded a 582 series for the Main Tavern fivesome.

Watkins' Cosmetics finished with the high team game of 968, and Shorly's Bar & Cafe wound up with 2,730 for the second highest team series rolled by women leglers this season. The previous high for a team series was a 2,745 total turned in by the Teamster's in the Pin Duster's League at Hal-Rod's on Oct. 2.

Other leading scores in the Pin Topplers' circuit were Esther Bescup's 543, Miss Moravec's 536, Betty Engler's 536, Yvonne Carpenter's 529, Irlene Trimmer's 527, Donna Cockram's 512, Orlane Kittle's 512, Leona Lubinski's 506, and Jackie Denzer's 504.

HAL-ROD'S: V.F.W. — Joe Stolpa rapped 230-504 for Watson's, and Bernie's DX hit 1,069, and Bunk's Apco came in with 2,739.

WESTGATE: Alley Gaters — Ruth Buerck topped 205-528 for Sandy's, and her team took honors with 888-2,678. Carol Fenske had 515, and Sue Flachecki 501.

Westgate Ladies — Mary Grlter rolled 183, Patte Peterson recorded 494, Winona Typewriter wound up with 882, and Lahn's House of Beauty hit 2,570.

Community — Dave Gislvold topped 222, Bob Oebser rapped 570, and Valley Press finished with 882-797.

ATHLETIC CLUB: Monday — Chris Wiefenbach battered 211-666 for Blanche's Tavern, Quillins' IGA hit 1,000, and Blanche's rolled 2,842.

Go-Getters — Pat Kunda hit 210-478, and Isabelle's Liquor came in with 874-2,464.

KRYZSKO COMMONS: WSC Maintenance — Dallas Adank tipped 187, Ray Ecko rapped 531, and Palfrauth's Paint finished with 926-2,707.

Fracture won't stop Kassulke from playing

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Defensive back Karl Kassulke has a small fracture in his left hand, but he won't let that stop him from lining up with the Minnesota Vikings against the Washington Redskins football team Sunday.

Kassulke injured the hand on the opening kickoff of the Detroit Lions game last Sunday but continued to play. It wasn't known until later when x-rays were taken that he had broken a bone.

However, a spokesman for the National Football League club said Kassulke will be taking his whacks at practice this week and against the Redskins in Washington. Players with swathed hands or arms are not uncommon in the give-and-take of the rough pro league.

Otherwise, the Vikings emerged from their game against the Detroit powerhouse without any serious injuries—"just the usual bumps and bruises," a club spokesman said.

WHS sophomore, junior varsity games canceled

The Winona Senior High School sophomore and junior varsity football teams' scheduled games of Monday and today were postponed because of field conditions and hasn't been rescheduled as of today.

According to Athletic Director Vic Gislason, the junior varsity game scheduled at Red Wing Monday was canceled because of field conditions and hasn't been rescheduled as of today.

Gislason also said that Austin had canceled the sophomore game at Austin, but would attempt to play Wednesday, weather permitting.

AID administrator says Nixon will ask more money

WASHINGTON (AP) — John A. Hannah, administrator of the Agency for International Development, says President Nixon's fiscal 1972 budget request will show a bigger foreign aid appropriation next year.

Hannah spoke on the Metro-media radio news program "Profile."

He said the request would be for "some increase" over the 1971 amount—$1.8 billion, but he gave no estimate of how high it would go.

Canadiens out to avenge loss to North Stars

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Montreal Canadiens invade Metropolitan Sports Center Wednesday night and they'll be out to avenge their 3-1 loss to the Minnesota North Stars Oct. 21.

The Canadiens are now in third place in the National Hockey League's East Division at 63-1, while the North Stars are 4-5 in the West.

Gilles Gilbert, who warded off 46 Montreal shots in the encounter last month, is due to start in the nets for Minnesota if Coach Jack Gordon follows his regular rotation.

Gilbert's triumph over the Canadiens was only his second NHL game and Gordon was impressed with his play in both games.

Both teams have players who formerly skated for the other. Minnesota has five ex-Canadiens—goalie Gump Worsley, wingers Bobby Rousseau and Danny Grant, defenseman Ted Harris and center Jude Drouin.

Former North Stars now playing under the tri-color are wingmen Bill Collins and Claude Larose.

Washington rookie pitcher Dick Such, 25, hurled for Savannah and Buffalo in 1969.

Stock prices continue rise; trade listless

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices continued their rise early this afternoon in a relatively listless election day rally. Trading was moderate.

At noon the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 5.27 at 763.28.

Advances outnumbered declines on the New York Stock Exchange by more than 2 to 1.

Analysts attributed the upswing to technical factors, saying that some traders were encouraged by the market's ability to hold its own in absence of significant news developments.

But trading remained relatively light as many investors seemed willing to stay on the sidelines until the election returns were in.

At noon the Associated Press 60-stock average was up 1.3 at 258.4.

Stocks were up in all categories. Large-block trades of 10,000 or more included a 128,000-share parcel of Zayre Corp. at 26 1/2, off 1/4, and a 60,000-share block of Baker Oil Tools at 23, off 1/4.

Other Big Board prices included Colt Industries, off 1/4 to 14; Fannie Mae, up 1/4 to 53 1/2; University Computing, up 1 to 21 1/2; and Fairchild Camera, up 1 to 21 1/2.

Amex prices included Remco, off 1/4 to 5 1/4; Digital Equipment, up 1/4 to 61; Marshall Industries, up 1/4 to 27 1/2; Fleetwood Enterprises, up 1/4 to 35 1/2; and ITTEL, up 1/4 to 17 1/4.
