Airlift from Kontum

Soldiers trying to flee war a problem

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
KONTUM, Vietnam (AP) — Two American soldiers and two Vietnamese stand at the yawning rear ramp of the helicopter, their rifles at the ready. They make threatening gestures at the crowd outside, an anxious mob of women with children slung under their arms, soldiers waving official papers, old men with the lines of worry and age in their faces.

The guards shout but cannot be heard over the roar of the big jet engines. Despite the searing exhaust and gale-force winds of the rotor down-draft, the mob presses closer. The ramp is raised to prevent them from leaping aboard. The guards' job is not pleasant but necessary. Only wounded soldiers and Americans are allowed aboard.

The chopper taxis a few yards to get away from the crowd. Before the people can catch up, an army ambulance swings behind it and backs up to the ramp, which descends again. The wounded come aboard, first two men on stretchers that are shoved to the front of the cabin. One grimaces in pain, the other appears to be unconscious. Then the others — a young man in the arms of a boy, a plasma bottle dangling near his weary brown face; four soldiers with Taffy Tuttle says she watched a TV mystery show, and solved everything but the commercial. . . The way traffic is now, instead of getting a ticket for parking you ought to get a medal. . . We heard of the unluckiest guy. For example, he finally went to see the Grand Canyon — and the day he arrived, it was closed. . . Ramp up. Two American soldiers swing up and climb aboard. They lived in Kontum once but now go there only in the daylight to guide in the helicopters. They grab a ride out each night on the last bird to Pleiku.

The engines accelerate. A cloud of dust and debris envelops the machine, driving the crowd back as the big Chinook lumber into the air and turns south for Pleiku.

Each day is the same now. Several hundred townspeople wait in the half finished soccer stadium downtown, hoping one of the diminishing number of helicopters will somehow open to them.

"No," the American sergeant explains to all who come begging. "Only Americans and wounded Vietnamese. Those are my orders."

He speaks to them in English. They don't know the language, but they get the message.

During Soviet summit

Kissinger: no secret accords

By FRANK CORMIER

KIEV, U.S.S.R. — President Nixon concluded his eight-day visit to the Soviet Union today and flew to Tehran for an overnight visit with the Shah of Iran. Wearing a gray suit, white shirt and blue and gray tie, the President looked tired but smiled as he said goodbye at the Kiev airport to President Alexander Lyashko of the Ukraine and other officials.

The weather was clear and balmy as the President and Mrs. Nixon boarded Air Force One after an overnight stop in Kiev, the capital of the Soviet Ukraine.

"It's such a lovely day, I'd like to stay another week," Nixon told Lyashko's wife and Mrs. Vladimir Scherbitasky, wife of the Ukrainian communist party chief, as they prepared to leave for the airport.

"Why not?" Mrs. Lyashko replied. "We'll get fired," said Mrs. Nixon with a smile. The President commented: "I think I'd get in a little trouble at home if I didn't go."

A few hours after the arrival in Kiev, presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger told newsmen that Nixon and the Soviet leaders reached no secret agreements on Vietnam or any other controversial questions.

"This is not the way these things happen," the President's assistant for national security affairs said.

Questioned closely about Nixon's extensive talks in Moscow about Vietnam, Kissinger said: "I just do not want to speculate about what the results may be." He said there had been too many predictions about the war in the past and he would prefer to await concrete developments.

One big question, said Kissinger, is how Hanoi will view Nixon's summit talk. Asked if American negotiators suffered any disappointments, the Nixon adviser said they got more or less what they expected and hoped for "give or take 10 percent."

Kissinger added that the summit had been so carefully prepared that each side knew pretty much what to expect. He said the two governments agreed in advance: "Don't let's surprise each other at the summit."

The Nixon's flight from Moscow to the Ukrainian capital was delayed nearly an hour when the Soviet jetliner provided for them developed engine trouble on the ground. They switched to another Ilyushin 62.

The delay forced Nixon to postpone until today an appearance at Kiev's tomb of an unknown World War II soldier.

Nixon spends tonight in Tehran, the Iranian capital, then flies on to Warsaw on Wednesday for another overnight stop and a meeting with Edward Gierek, the chief of the Polish communist party. During the visit Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Foreign Minister Stefan Olszowski will sign a consular agreement that was under negotiation for 10 years.

The President flies home to Washington on Thursday.

Planes attack North Vietnam railroad yard

SAIGON (AP) — American fighter-bombers raided one of North Vietnam's biggest railroad yards Monday, leaving the yards on the outskirts of Haiphong engulfed in explosions and flames, and wrecked 16 bridges across the country, the U.S. Command announced today. One Marine A6 jet from the carrier Coral Sea was shot down, but the two fliers nursed it out to sea, and a helicopter pulled them out of the water.

The strikes against the Uong Bi railroad yard 10 miles northeast of the port city were the first there in the stepped up bombing of North Vietnam which began April 6.

The yard reportedly serviced North Vietnam's entire railroad system, including the northwest and northeast lines to China.

Meanwhile, a task force of three cruisers and two destroyers ranged up and down the coast, shelling targets from 10 miles north of the demilitarized zone to within 29 miles of Haiphong.

The U.S. Command reported that American pilots flew more than 250 strikes across North Vietnam during the 24-hour period ending at 5 P.M. Monday. In the ground war, there were reports of the first withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops from South Vietnam since they started their big offensive two months ago.

U.S. military sources said elements of two North Vietnamese divisions had pulled back into Cambodia from An Loc, the besieged provincial capital 60 miles north of Saigon. Both were reported badly battered by B52 bomb strikes.

The enemy pressure on An Loc itself has eased, but North Vietnamese forces have intensified shelling along Highway 13 south of the devastated town and are keeping a relief column from getting through.

Field reports said the enemy gunners on Monday slammed 2,400 rocket and mortar shells into three South Vietnamese positions along the highway two to 10 miles south of An Loc. Twenty South Vietnamese soldiers were reported killed and 100 wounded.

Elsewhere, fighting broke out for the first time in several weeks in southernmost Cambodia, just across the border from the western Mekong Delta in South Vietnam. South Vietnamese rangers spearheaded by an armored column clashed with North Vietnamese forces while on a drive to block infiltration into the delta.

In the central highlands, South Vietnamese troops fought for a sixth day against North Vietnamese forces in the southern and northern sectors of Kontum.

Pentagon says —

Surface-to-air missiles moved

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon sources say the North Vietnamese appear to have shifted surface-to-air missiles back into the Hanoi-Haiphong region to strengthen defenses against heavy U.S. bombing.

Early this year, Hanoi concentrated nearly two-thirds of its 44 antiaircraft-missile battalions in the North Vietnamese panhandle, between the 20th Parallel and the demilitarized zone, in preparation for the invasion of South Vietnam across the DMZ.

Some of those SAM battalions harassed American warplanes when they tried to stem the North Vietnamese advance. One of the battalions was moved into South Vietnam.

Pentagon sources say the redeployment of SAM battalions northward began after big U.S. air raids on targets close to Hanoi and Haiphong in mid-April, which marked a return to the type of bombing campaign carried on by the United States against North Vietnam before the Johnson administration ordered it halted in late 1968.

By early May, sources said, five battalions had been moved from the panhandle into the heavily populated Red River delta region which includes Hanoi and Haiphong. And the battalion which had been pushed forward into South Vietnam was pulled north of the DMZ once again.

More recently, as U.S. air attacks ranged widely across the North, more SAM units appeared to have been redeployed from the panhandle, sources said.

Brandt welcomes result of Nixon visit to Moscow

BONN (AP) — Chancellor Willy Brandt told the 15 NATO foreign ministers today that any agreement with the Russians to reduce troops in Europe "should not bring any military disadvantage for either side."

Brandt welcomed the results of President Nixon's visit to Moscow, saying that the "elimination of confrontation and, as President Nixon put it, turning confrontation to cooperation can but have favorable effects for us all and therefore for the alliance."

The West German chancellor addressed the opening of the annual two-day spring meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's foreign ministers. Earlier in the day, Secretary of State William P. Rogers met with Brandt and told him of Nixon's mission to Moscow, including his agreement with the Russians that the European security conference which Moscow has been urging should be divided into separate conferences on East-West cooperation and on troop reductions.

Brandt told the NATO ministers that a "security conference should serve to explore the paths of cooperation between East and West and in doing so should not ignore the military aspects." But he warned that any reduction of troops "should meet the requirement of the alliance's undiminished security, should not bring any military disadvantage for either side, and should thereby help to reduce the dangers of confrontation. Thus in both projects the concepts of security and detente are linked together."

It was not clear from this whether Brandt felt both cooperation and troop reductions should be handled at a single conference or separate meetings.

It remained to be seen whether the other Atlantic allies would accept the U.S. position favoring parallel European conferences—a big one concentrating on cooperation and a smaller one dealing with troop reductions and other military issues.

Rogers reported on the Moscow talks to Washington's three principal European allies Monday night at the four-power dinner traditionally held on the eve of the NATO meeting to discuss German problems.

U.S. officials said the secretary received a warm response from Foreign Ministers Walter Scheel of West Germany, Sir Alec Douglas-Home of Britain and Maurice Schumann of France. But informed sources said Schumann indicated the French government has not relaxed its opposition to any talks on troop reductions.

The Nixon administration feels that talks to achieve a balanced, mutual reduction of Communist and Western forces in Central Europe should be attended only by nations most directly affected.

Road accidents take 532 lives

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Traffic accidents around the nation claimed 532 lives during the Memorial Day weekend.

The National Safety Council had estimated in advance that between 530 and 630 persons might be killed on streets and highways from 6 p.m. local time Friday to midnight Monday.

During the 1971 Memorial Day holiday, also a three-day period, The Associated Press counted 533 deaths in traffic. The highest toll for any three-day observance of the holiday was 597 in 1969.

Provisionals vow to fight on

IRA ends guerrilla attacks

BELFAST (AP) — The Official wing of the Irish Republican Army announced Monday night that it is suspending its guerrilla attacks indefinitely, but the rival IRA Provisionals accused the Officials of surrender and vowed to fight on.

"So far as we are concerned, the fight goes on," a Provisional statement said. "We look upon this surrender as a gigantic confidence trick aimed at giving firmer control to the Official wing of their undisciplined members."

The Provisionals have been responsible for most of the bombing and guerrilla attacks in Northern Ireland, and a spokesman said the faction won't stop them until all political prisoners are released and the British army leaves Ireland's six northern provinces.

The Officials announced in Dublin that they will confine themselves to political and "defensive" military actions to head off civil war between the Protestant majority and the Roman Catholic minority. It was obvious that they were prompted by cease-fire demands from a growing segment of the Catholic population, and particularly by Catholic anger at the recent murder by the Officials of a Londonderry youth home on leave from the British army in Germany.

"We expect a huge swing from the Official wing into our command as a result of this ill-considered move," said the Provisional statement.

The Official cease-fire was welcomed by political figures from all parties in Dublin as a major breakthrough toward peace after nearly three years of conflict that has left at least 246 persons dead.

At aroused less optimism in Belfast. William Craig, leader of the militant Protestant Vanguard Movement, which claims the support of more than 200,000 potential fighters, said he did not "attach very much importance" to it. He said it was designed "only to gain favor in Londonderry."

The office of William Whitelaw, the British minister of state governing Northern Ireland, stressed that only time would tell its significance.

On worth of Transpo 72

Proxmire, daughter disagree

By VERN HAUGLAND
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire has called Transpo 72 a gross misuse of tax dollars, but his 23-year-old daughter is working there and considers it a great success.

"Transpo seems to be going over very well," said Miss Cici Proxmire from behind an information booth at the Canadian Department of Transport exhibition.

"It's technically oriented, aimed more at the trade people, so some persons who come out expecting a fair are a little disappointed," she said. "They don't really care whether the vehicle has a turbine engine or something else. But there are also many things that have a great appeal to the kids."

"It seems to me to be quite worthwhile." Proxmire, who has asked for a General Accounting Office investigation of the 10-day exposition at Dulles International Airport, contends the Transportation Department has wasted much of the $5 million appropriated by Congress.

The Wisconsin senator in particular attacked what he called an unduly generous expense account rolled up by Transpo manager William J. Bird of Los Angeles, on to an from his post as vice president of Kaiser Industries Inc. Miss Proxmire, asked what interesting experiences she has had since Transpo opened over the weekend, said: "Mr. Bird came to see me this morning."

She indicated the meeting was pleasant. Bird agreed. A recent history graduate of Georgetown University, Miss Proxmire was careful not to contradict her father's view of the exposition.

"I can't say whether my father is right about this or not," she said. "I am not economically oriented, and I'm not in a position to know about such matters. It just seems that Transpo is a great success."

Miss Proxmire work part-time for a modeling agency that holds the contract to provide hundreds of attractive young women for Transpo. She hands out Canadian maps, booklets, pins and souvenirs, and answers questions.

Although all members of Congress have been invited to Transpo, Miss Proxmire said her father has not visited it. "He has been in Wisconsin," she said. "He did see my red-and-white uniform before he left and said it was okay except for the red stockings—he didn't like them."

over the kite and he landed back on top of it. He yelled "Oh, no," and you could see him kicking and fighting as the kite wrapped around him. As it folded up, he fell straight to the ground, just like a stone."

Thousands of spectators at Transpo 72, the international transportation exposition, watched Monday as the 26-year-old kite flier fell to his death.

A member of the Australian Birdman Team, Kennedy was killed when he lost control of his kite at an altitude of about 500 feet. He was being pulled into the air at the time by a speeding automobile.

"He was in a steep climb when all of a sudden a gust of wind hit him or something," said Jack Wallace, 31, of Leesburg, Va., who witnessed the accident. "His feet suddenly flipped

Tooth transplant tried between brother, sister
NEW YORK (AP) — Dental surgeons at Brookdale Medical Center have removed an impacted tooth from the jaw of a 16-year-old youth and implanted it in his twin sister's mouth.
Dr. Norman Cranin, director of dental and oral surgery at the Brooklyn hospital, said "we won't know for four or five years" whether the tooth, a molar, would take root or be rejected by the recipient, Janet Ramsay.
The donor, John Ramsay, had six extra teeth that had formed but could not grow normally. Three were removed Friday and one was planted in his sister's mouth, in place of a just-removed abscessed tooth.

Division head is named by local chamber

A Winona Area Vocational Institute student in business and marketing who graduates this June will be the new division manager of the Winona Area Chamber of Commerce.

Larry Speltz, 19, will occupy the position Thursday according to David Johnston, Chamber executive vice president. Speltz has been with the chamber on a part-time basis since November, 1971, as part of the job training program of the vocational institute.

Six injured in accident near Dover

DOVER, Minn. — A two-car accident shortly after midnight Saturday put two St. Charles youths in Rochester's St. Marys hospital with head injuries, while four companions were treated for minor injuries and another escaped unhurt.

Jay R. Mollert, 17, was listed as in critical condition and Patrick Kroening, 17, was listed as satisfactory following the mishap. Russell P. Harris, 21, rural Winona, and three other St. Charles youths, William G. Reisdorf, 19; Margaret Putzier, 18, and Carol Swensied, 17, were treated and released. Steven Harris, rural Winona, was not injured. Olmsted County sheriff's officers report the mishap occurred on an Elmira Township road six miles south of Dover. The five St. Charles youths were passengers in the Harris car when it and the car driven by Reisdorf collided head-on. The crash is still under investigation.

WSC graduate named to post with NSP

A 1940 Winona State College graduate has been named an NSP vice president, effective Thursday. A. E. Hassinger is presently assistant to the president for Northern States Power Company. Hassinger has been with NSP since 1948. He will be responsible for the activities of the environmental affairs, information and advertising departments. He received a bachelor of science degree in mathematics from WSC and a degree in electrical engineering from the University of Minnesota.

Lewiston man is pedestrian fatality

STOCKTON, Minn. — A rural Lewiston man, Theodore A. Vail, 44, was killed Sunday at 1 a.m. as he walked across Highway 14 near the Inn 4 Fun Tavern here.

Vail was struck and fatally injured by a small 1972 foreign car driven by Arthur E. Teachout, 18, home on leave from the Navy, whose residence is Utica. Teachout's car had damage totaling $500, according to Highway Patrol officers, but he was unhurt. He was alone.

Vail was the county's first pedestrian fatality of the year, according to Sheriff Helmer Weinmann.

ACCORDING TO patrol and sheriff's officers, Vail was crossing the highway near the village's easterly edge. He was walking toward his car, parked on the north side of the road. He lived at The Arches, halfway between Stockton and Lewiston.

The Teachout car was traveling west on the highway at the time, officers said. Force of the impact threw Vail's body about 100 feet to the shoulder of the eastbound lane. Heavy damage was inflicted on the car's left front fender and side and the roof, officers said.

County Medical Examiner Robert Tweedy was called and pronounced Vail dead at the scene. Officers reported that Teachout left the scene but was located about 1:30 a.m. Charges are under consideration, the patrol reported.

Three injured in 3-car crash

Three persons were injured in a three-car accident at 6:57 a.m. today on West Sanborn and Grand streets.

According to police, a car driven by Miss Janell R. Opsahl, 20, 458 Sioux St., was westbound on Sanborn Street and a car driven by Floyd K. Wood, 51, 429 W. King St., was northbound on Grand Street when the two vehicles collided. The impact of the collision forced the Opsahl car onto the curb and into a car parked in the driveway of 377 Grand St. owned by James Kerkenbush, 377 Grand St.

Miss Opsahl and a passenger in her car, Miss Janet L. Nelson, Richards Hall, WSC, were treated at Community Memorial Hospital and released. Wood was reported with injuries but was not treated at the hospital.

Damage to the front and left side of the 1964 Opsahl station wagon is $600, while damage to the front of the 1971 Wood station wagon is $900 and to the right rear of the 1969 Kerkenbush hardtop, $150.

Police kept busy during the weekend

Winona police are investigating several thefts and acts of vandalism that were reported over the weekend.

According to Assistant Chief John Scherer, police received a call from an unidentified person at 2 a.m. Saturday that a group of young boys and girls were allegedly bringing beer into Gabrych Park.

Upon investigation police arrested two persons, a minor and a juvenile for possession of liquor. The police had left their squad car unattended.

The two patrolmen returned to their car after investigation and found that someone had thrown a brick through the car window on the left side. Damage to the window and left door is valued at $75.

Circumstances involving an alleged robbery about 9:20 p.m. Monday remain under investigation. Scherer said Patrick Smith, Waseca, Minn., was attacked while walking in the area of Johnson Street and the river dike by unidentified persons. He was taken by Praxel Ambulance to Community Memorial Hospital where he was treated and released. He has returned to Waseca and police are continuing the investigation. It has not been determined what was stolen, if anything Scherer said.

Gorman Foundry, 508 Louisa St., reported that 48 15- by 12-inch windows and 3 15- by 30-inch windows in their building were broken. The 51 windows are valued at $130.

Richard Burmeister, 315 E. 3rd St., reported at 10:28 p.m. Monday that while his car was parked in the courthouse parking lot someone pried open the vent window and removed 15 cassette tapes, a flashlight, a jacket and a loaf of bread. Value of the missing items is $85.

Art Johns, 1226 W. 2nd St., reported at 7:35 a.m. today that a motor was removed from his boat house at the foot of Olmsted Street. The 1969 model motor is valued at $300.

Miss Judy Baker, manager of Western Discount Store, 101 W. 2nd St., reported at 12:30 p.m. Saturday that a mini-bike is missing from the store. It is valued at $160.

William Albert, Morey Shepherd Hall, Winona State College, reported at 10:58 a.m. Monday that a stereo tape deck and two speakers valued at $200 were removed from his locked dormitory room. There was no sign of forced entry.

LIONS CLUB TREMPPEALEAU, Wis. (Special) — An informational meeting will be held this evening at 8 at Sullivan's Supper Club in regard to forming a Lions Club here. All active Lions in Trempealeau and any other interested citizens may attend.

Police, civilian cars crash; two injured

Two persons were reported injured in a two-car accident, involving a police car, at 6:08 p.m. Sunday on West 5th and Winona streets.

According to police, Patrolman William O. Tenseth, was on a silent alarm call and was driving west on 5th Street with the overhead lights flashing and Gregory Nyseth, 19, 626 Lafayette St., was southbound on Winona Street when the two vehicles collided.

Nyseth and a passenger in his car Miss Karla West, 16, Onalaska, Wis., were treated at Community Memorial Hospital and released.

Damage to the 1971 model patrol car is $500 damage to the left side of the Nyseth sedan is $2,100.

Winonans pay tribute to those killed in battle

A cool, gray Memorial Day matched the mood of the 300 watchers who assembled at the Lake Park bandshell late Monday morning to pay tribute to those who sacrificed their lives in battle for their country.

The ceremonies began with the arrival of the Winona City Band, the American Legion Brigades, a veterans color guard and several cars of Gold Star Mothers. Members of Veterans of World War I Barracks 1086, raised the U.S. flag about 10:30 to start the program with The Call to Colors sounded by bugler Fred Heyer.

Area Scouts led the audience in the Pledge of Allegiance, followed by the Winona City Band playing the Star-Spangled Banner as the audience sang along.

THE REV. A. U. Deye, St. Martin's Lutheran Church, gave the invocation, and area scouts recited the poem, "In Flanders Field."

State Rep. M. J. McCauley was the speaker for the event, overlooking the rows of crosses representing the men of Winona who have died for their country's causes when he started his address. "The men of many wars lie silent," he said. "In the prime of time, they surrendered their own lives to guarantee us a lifetime of freedom."

Rep. McCauley outlined the tradition of Memorial Day, starting with the observance ordered by General John A. Logan of the Grand Army of the Republic in 1888. He quoted General Logan's words: "Let no ravages of time testify to coming generations that we have forgotten as a people the cost of a free and undivided republic."

He said that "we are the sharers of a great glory" and urged that the American people should "renew our resolution that this nation owes an eternal debt to all those who gave their lives to defend our shores."

THE AUDIENCE joined the Winona City Band in singing "America" and the Rev. Dale Tupper, St. Stanislaus Catholic Church, closed the ceremonies with the benediction.

Following the program, the traditional water ceremony, honoring the sailors and Marines lost at sea during the wars, was held on the shores of Lake Winona under the direction of the VFW auxiliary.

A roll call for the war dead was held at the American Legion Shrine of Crosses by Donald V. Gray, past commander of American Legion District 1.

David T. Morse, Winona Memorial Day Association president, has expressed appreciation to the members of the community who donated time, flowers and money to make this "one of the best ceremonies we have had so far."

Stamp book available at post office

A book illustrating U.S. stamps in color, from 1847 through mid-1972, now is available to collectors and others at the post office here, according to Postmaster Lambert W. Hamerski.

Published by the U.S. Postal Service, the book is entitled "Stamps and Stories, the Exciting Saga of U.S. History Told in Stamps." It is the first book ever to show the complete list of stamps, in color and with values quoted for each issue, Hamerski said.

A number of stories are included that cover historical highlights as portrayed on stamps. About 2,000 stamps are reproduced and 114 stories are included.

Also in the book are tips on collecting stamps and a glossary of collectors' terms.

Stamps issued by the Confederate States of America are reproduced as are those of the United Nations, along with a sampling of stamps from other countries.

Fire damages rural home near Lanesboro

WHALAN, Minn. (Special) — A Monday afternoon fire at the Richard Glenna home, about 12 miles southeast of Lanesboro, which started in the chimney, caused an estimated $2,500 damage.

Members of the Lanesboro volunteer fire department were called to the Glenna home about 2:15 p.m. Flames destroyed portions of the building, around the chimney area, in the attic and first and second floors.

Firefighters remained on the scene until 7 p.m.

THREE PERSONS INJURED . . . Three persons were injured in a three-car accident at 6:57 a.m. today on West Sanborn and Grand streets. Miss Janell R. Opsahl, 458 Sioux St., and a passenger in her car, Miss Janet L. Nelson, Richards Hall, WSC, were treated at Community Memorial Hospital and released. Floyd Wood, 429 W. King St., was reported injured but was not treated at the hospital.

EXTENSIVE DAMAGE . . . A police car driven by Patrolman William Tenseth, was westbound on 5th Street and a car driven by Gregory Nyseth, 626 Lafayette St., collided at the intersection of West 5th and Winona Streets at 6:08 p.m. Sunday. Damage to the police car is estimated at $500 and damage to Nyseth car is $2,100.

Damage $600 in crash near Minnesota City

No injuries resulted from a two-car accident at 11 p.m. Monday at the junction of Highway 61 and 248 north of Minnesota City.

According to the Minnesota Highway Patrol, a car driven by Timothy J. Speltz, Rollingstone, Minn., was northbound on Highway 61 making a left turn into Highway 248 and Richard Peters, Red Wing, Minn., also was driving north on Highway 61.

Damage to the right rear of the 1968 Speltz hardtop is $150 and damage to the left side of the 1969 Peters hardtop is $450.

F.C. crash victim remains critical

FOUNTAIN CITY, Wis. — Lloyd Abts, 55, Fountain City, remains in critical condition at St. Marys Hospital, Rochester, where he was transferred Thursday from Community Memorial Hospital, Winona. He has head and arm injuries, which he received in a car-truck accident May 23 on Highway 35, north of the Fountain City limits.

Cool weather will continue

Passage of a storm system that brought more than a half an inch of precipitation to the Winona area during the Memorial Day weekend was followed by a sharp drop in temperatures as readings fell well below seasonal norms.

And cool, though drier, weather is expected to prevail for the next day or so.

Rain began falling Saturday night and continued intermittently through Monday with only brief spasms of sunshine marking the summer season's first holiday weekend.

BY 7 a.m. today, when partial clearing began, .60 of an inch of precipitation had been measured.

Temperatures, meanwhile, began their slide Monday afternoon as winds shifted to the north and from Monday's high of 74, the mercury slid to an overnight low of 44 this morning. It was 55 at noon today under mostly sunny skies. Tonight's low will be near 45 and a high of 70 is forecast for Wednesday. Skies will continue fair to partly cloudy and there's only a slight chance of precipitation through Wednesday.

THE NORMAL temperature range for this date is 74 to 83. The record high for this date was 93 in 1934, a year in which temperatures soared to record levels for five consecutive days at the end of May and the first part of June, including a 107 reading on May 31.

Pursued foxes have been known to leap on the back of a sheep and ride for some distance in an attempt to break the scent left by the glands on the feet.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS

Wednesday, May 31st, is the last day to pay the first half of Real Estate Taxes. According to law, a penalty of 3% must be added to the taxes paid after this date.

Osseo-Fairchild students build fourth house

OSSEO, Wis. — The fourth house constructed by Osseo-Fairchild High School industrial arts students will be open to the public on Sunday.

Tours will be conducted from 1 to 5 p.m. at the house on West North Street in Osseo. The 26-by-40-foot structure features a breezeway and a 16-by-24-foot garage. Rooms include a 14-by-20-foot living room, two bedrooms, a kitchen with an eating area, bathroom and utility room.

Fully-carpeted, the living room has paneled and textured walls, and a 4-by-6-foot entry with a large closet. Each bedroom has six feet of wardrobe storage.

KITCHEN features include dark cabinets, white formica countertops, carpeting, and a sliding glass door leading outside.

White fixtures, gold and white ceramic tile, and blue carpeting highlight the bathroom. The floor of the utility room is of ceramic tile. Equipment located in the room includes a washer, dryer, and gas counter-flow furnace.

The house was constructed with no basement but with a crawl space for access to heating and plumbing pipes.

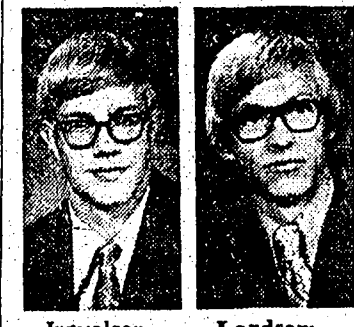

EIGHT SENIOR students, under the direction of Thomas Twesme, industrial arts instructor, have worked an average of one and a half hours per day on the house. The project was started at the beginning of the school year. Students have done all the work with the exception of plumbing, heating, and masonry.

The house, purchased by Mrs. Agnes Watson, is the latest of four constructed by Osseo-Fairchild students in cooperation with Hing Lumber Co.

Top students named at Spring Grove High

SPRING GROVE, Minn. (Special) — Spring Grove High School's honor students, in the class of 1972, have been announced.

Donald Ingvalson, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Ingvalson, California, is valedictorian and David Landsom, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Landsom, Spring Grove, salutatorian.

Two other top students are Nancy Swenson, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sander Swenson, and Charles Olson, 17, son of Mrs. Archie Olson. All are of Spring Grove.

The four top ranking students will speak at the commencement program Thursday.

Ingvalson's activities include 4-H, Future Farmers of America, Lettermen's Club, National Honor Society, choir, band and football. He is a member of the Wilmington Lutheran Church and American Gurnsey Cattle Club. He plans to attend the University of Minnesota Technical College, Waseca.

Landsom has participated in band and baseball. He is a member of the Lettermen's Club and Trinity Lutheran Church. His hobbies include reading, hunting, fishing and motorcycling. He plans to attend the University of Minnesota.

Butler: Hair's aristocrat

Earl Wilson

NEW YORK — I spent an hour with Michael Butler, the tall, rich, mustachioed producer of "Hair," one of the most successful shows of all time, and happened to ask him, "Do you consider yourself an aristocrat?"

"Why, I've never been asked that before," he laughed at the question. "I'm not unhappy with that kind of label."

"We've been around the country since 1964," he pointed out, and mentioned that there are contributing and non-contributing aristocrats.

"I've known a lot of aristocrats who are not too well off," he said. "A classic example is the Duke of Bedford, the titled Englishman who opened his castle to the tourist world."

"NOW he's well off," Butler said. "He took a bad scene where the death scenes were going to wipe him out. It's a very good scene for him now and he lives well. He hasn't gone to seed."

"I've more respect for people born with a silver spoon who make it. Believe me, the temptation to do nothing is extremely strong. I know how nice it is. I used to spend 3 or 4 months in Acapulco without putting any shoes on!"

He spoke of his favorite aristocrats, including Cabot Lodge, "and another of my heroes, Averell Harriman... in so many fields... he was even a crack polo player."

Butler, 45 now, did not let "Hair" go to his head. "He's producing a musical, 'Space,' which will question whether we longer need national boundaries."

"It's not a downer, I'm not saying wipe away all countries' boundaries, but it's going to take place. We all have populations, pollution and food problems. Why don't we solve them together rather than separately? It's wasteful this way, like me producing two shows on the same subject at the same time."

"Look at what President Nixon did when he went to China just on acupuncture." Michael — nobody's ever called him Mike — is also negotiating to make a movie of "Hair" and it will probably be done with some outside money despite Butler's wealth.

This was from Frank Osgood Butler, the grandfather who at the time was selling horses in South Dakota. Michael, being in show business, figures he must let his investors in on movies as well as stage shows.

In his 60th St. set-up Michael is experimenting with a restaurant where health foods and natural foods can co-exist happily. So many food people make a religion of it, and say, "If you don't eat what we eat, STARVE."

As he was recently divorced from his third wife Loyce, I asked, "Are you difficult to get along with?"

"I don't think so but I guess my last wife thinks so. We've been talking recently on the phone which is something new. It was pretty acrimonious, it took 5 years to get a divorce. We will probably wind up having a sane relationship."

Michael favors legalization of marijuana and says it is easier to buy heroin now in New York than it is to get pot.

"Is this really true?" "Yes, it's hard to get."

Butler is frank about his own feelings. "I smoke grass," he said. "I usually make that statement and say, 'It was given to me by a friend.'"

Rudolf Nureyev told hefty ex-footballer Rosey Grier he keeps his weight at about 155 lbs., and Rosey sighed, "I weighed that much when I was born..." Ruby Keeler showed pictures of the 5-month-old grandson she hasn't seen; he's on Guam with his parents... Anthony Quinn's working on his singing with cafe star Aris San.

Veteran cable owner Max Gordon will title his autobiography "Closed For Alterations"... Richard Roundtree asked that his grandmother be invited to the premier of his film "Shaft's Big Score"; she's 103... Singer Rita Dimitri, who teams with husband Stanley Brilliant at their romantic La Chansomette, told the audience Stanley felt "out of place—he's the only man here with his own wife."

Flip Wilson'll drive across the country this summer getting material for a book... Julie Newmar said at Monsignore she was to write a book on beauty... Some of Miami Beach's top jalapal players may wind up in Las Vegas; the MGM Grand Hotel will feature the sport.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Mack McGinnis says a man grumbled about the high cost of auto insurance: "He finally paid it—but he had to sell his car to raise the money."

EARL'S PEARLS: Lana Turner reportedly once explained how she prepares for an evening out: "After I'm dressed, I look at myself and ask, 'What can I take off?'"

Leonard L. Levinson predicted he would find potholes in the street on his trip to Paris, such as he saw in N.Y.: "It was partly right. The only potholes I found in Paris were in front of the U.S. Embassy." That's Earl's brother.

Residents of 4 Illinois towns are evacuated

ASHMORE, Ill. (AP)—Some 2,000 residents of four small towns in Coles County were forced to evacuate their homes for a time to escape deadly nitric-acid fumes spilling out of a wrecked railroad tank car.

Residents of Oakland, Bush-ton and Faridan were able to return after an hour Monday, but the sheriff's office didn't give the all-clear to residents of Ashmore for more than eight hours.

The tank car was one of 22 derailed a mile west of Ashmore. Firemen sprayed the fumes escaping from the ruptured tank to dilute the highly toxic chemical.

Five farmers were treated at a Charleston hospital for minor skin reactions attributed to the acid fumes.

MARCHING UNIT . . . Members of the Cochrane-Fountain City High School Band march along the parade route Sunday at Arcadia, Wis. Judges rated the West Salem Farmers Band as the best overall band in the parade, with Whitehall High School claiming second place. Other bands were from the following high schools: Arcadia, Pepin, Blair, Gale-Etrick-Trempealeau and Independence.

Parade chairman reports

Arcadia celebration 'one of best'

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special)—The 1972 Arcadia Broiler-Dairy Festival was one of the best of recent years and was viewed by an estimated 20,000, a record crowd, reported Mel Nelson, parade chairman.

Every spot along the parade route was clogged with spectators, especially at the end of the route near the activity at Cashen Park.

The color guard of the Arcadia American Legion led off the 75-minute 63-unit parade, which began under warm, cloudy skies and ended before a 20-minute downpour sent the crowd scurrying for cover in bars and eating places, which did a booming business.

ALL CONTESTS were completed before the rain came and balmy weather once again prevailed later in the evening to send the crowds outdoors once more.

According to Police Chief Ed Kaiser, the crowds were generally well behaved and no significant episodes of unruly disturbances were recorded throughout the weekend activity, even with his first chance to test the effects of the 18-year-old majority law which went into effect this year.

The parade included political dignitaries and candidates for office, Congressman Vernon Thomson, Assemblyman Alan Robertson, Assembly candidates Mike Early and Louie Mato, and congressional candidates Ray Short and Ed Nix. The Arcadia Lions Club float carried the new 1972 queen, Lori Byom, and her attendants Mary Kay Hesch and Joan Schmidt-knecht and a lineup of six beautifully decorated Arcadia businessmen's floats bearing festival queen candidates. Sponsoring other floats were the Northern Investment Co., Independence, Dolly Madison, Pabst Blue Ribbon, Arcadia Sportsmen's Club, La Crosse Oktoberfest, A-G Creamery, Arcadia churches, OLPH Youth, Eleve Festival, Kellogg Watermelon Festival, Trempealeau County Democratic Party, Arcadia FFA, Dodge Sportsman's, Dukes Bar & Kupicz Bar, Dodge, Sand Bar, Centerville and the Busy Badgers, Independence 4-H Club.

BANDS INCLUDED THOSE from Arcadia, Cochrane-Fountain City, Whitehall, Pepin, Blair, Gale-Etrick-Trempealeau, West Salem, Independence. The judges rated the West Salem Farmers Band as the best overall band in the parade with Whitehall claiming second. Both were awarded trophies. Miscellaneous musical units were furnished by Tony Welsh, Fountain City, the State Bank of Arcadia, The Wranglers from Ladysmith; the A-G Co-op and the Sand Bar, Centerville.

Area queens and others in the parade came from Winona, La Crosse Oktoberfest, Alma Center, Osseo, Eleve, Fairchild, Independence, Kellogg, Strum, Trempealeau County Dairy Queen, Trempealeau County Farm Bureau and the Buffalo County Farm Bureau.

Motor units included three Arcadia fire department trucks, the Arcadia National Guard unit, Winona Ambassadors, old car from Cochrane-Fountain City Lions, Durand Lions Club Clowns, Emil Benusa Implement-Stream Engine; Strum Steam Engine Days Quinticycle and Waumandee Merchants' semi. Also participating were the Blair Legion and the Arcadia Boy and Cub Scouts.

Reigning as queen of the 1972 Arcadia Broiler-Dairy Festival was Lori Byom, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Byom, Arcadia.

First attendant was Mary Kay Hesch, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hesch, Waumandee, and second attendant, Joan Schmidt-knecht, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elden Schmidt-knecht, Waumandee.

THE announcements were made at a coronation dance held at the high school Saturday evening, where 14 girls competed for the title of the 19th annual Lions Club sponsored event.

Miss Byom, a 5 foot 2 blonde, will graduate from Arcadia High School Thursday. Her high school activities include band, Girls Athletic Association, Future Homemakers of America, forensics, color guard captain, National Honor Society, yearbook co-editor and Thespian troupe member. She is a member of the adult choir of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Parish. Sewing, golfing, water skiing, swimming and bowling are her special interests. She plans to attend Stout State this fall to major in vocational rehabilitation.

Miss Hesch, a 5 foot 7 blonde and 1971 graduate of Arcadia High, is currently a nursing student at the University of Wisconsin, Eau Claire.

Miss Schmidt-knecht, a 5 foot 6 blonde, will graduate from Arcadia High on Thursday. She plans to attend Viterbo College, La Crosse, to major in art education.

RESULTS of the tractor pulling contest, in which 28 machines competed, were as follows:

Stock Class—5,000 pounds: Ron Gilbertson, Black River Falls, Garry Beltesworth, Eltrick and Eldon Conrad, Arcadia.

Stock Class—7,000 pounds: Roger Tamke, Arcadia.

Stock Class—9,000 pounds: Dale Haase, Arcadia.

Stock Class—12,000 pounds: Bill Boland, Arcadia.

If no-fault comes it should be in force all over

No-fault auto insurance, currently facing an uncertain future, may yet come about if a bill recently approved by a U. S. Senate committee can win full congressional adoption.

Shepherded by Sen. Warren Magnuson, the bill would establish nationally uniform standards for no-fault insurance. States could draft their own plans but they would have to conform to basic federal principles.

NO-FAULT insurance has been both hailed and assailed with nearly equal vigor and effect. A pioneering effort in Massachusetts is still operating. The Illinois version was first adopted and later defeated in the courts. A New York version of no-fault was narrowly defeated in that state's legislature despite a broad spectrum of support. Various legislatures, including Minnesota's, have ordered studies of the question.

Under the no-fault system, anyone injured in an auto accident would collect loss-of-income compensation, damages and medical costs from his own insurance company. This would be the case regardless of who was at fault.

The purpose is to do away with the adversary method of determining fault or negligence and assessing costs and damages. Frequently, under the present system, such arguments bring on long, costly legal battles. In some cases injured persons are inadequately compensated while others sometimes aren't reimbursed at all.

OBVIOUSLY, a system that clogs court calendars with heavy backlogs and leaves settlements to the uncertainties of legal procedures needs changing. Whether present forms of no-fault meet this need isn't fully established, but some sort of modification appears to be coming.

Much opposition to no-fault has been provoked by provisions in present versions that prohibit persons from suing for pain and suffering. While trial lawyers get the blame for belaboring the point, there's plenty of objective reason for opposing a plan that could prevent the victim of a last-injury from recovering appropriate damages.

Moreover, no-fault seems to pass lightly over the central point that most accidents are caused by someone's negligence. Those who cause accidents that injure others or their property should not be able to escape the consequences of their actions, say opponents.

AND SO the arguments go. But the need for a better system is inescapable, notwithstanding the adamant refusal of some opponents to recognize this fact.

If there is to be a form of no-fault, then a nationally uniform system would be the most nearly equitable. Leaving it solely to individual states either to adopt or reject means exposing the traveling motorist to a bewildering, contradictory patchwork of laws. Given the mobility of the average American, this is an unacceptable situation. — F.R.U.

Make that swimming pool a safe place

Somebody is forever spoiling things for the rest of us and here's the latest one. It's a warning to the owners of swimming pools who by now must be getting into the spirit of things, readying for a pleasant summer season.

There's a decided danger, according to the city's electrical inspector, of injurious shock, should electric current somehow escape from defective filter pump motors or other appliances.

The amount of current used by a one-quarter horsepower motor is enough to electrocute a wet bather if defective insulation or damage allows the motor to leak current. Other potent sources of trouble include the electric radio at poolside that falls into the water, defective connections or lights that can send stray electrical impulses shooting about.

There is a way to ward off these hazards, fortunately. City Inspector George Jessen recommends that every pool owner install a protective device called a ground fault interrupter. This handy little gadget senses any current leakage and cuts off power in a tiny fraction of a second.

Since pools usually are extremely popular with both children and adults they are often surrounded by substantial numbers of people. It's reason enough to see that protective equipment is installed.

Hope we didn't spoil things too much. — Maybe it will help to pass on word that the protective equipment can be put in without a great deal of cost. So be safe and swim in good health. — F.R.U.

There's always a Kissinger

William S. White

WASHINGTON — Always in the great moments of international affairs the American public sees the still moonface of Henry Kissinger peering over the shoulder of Richard Nixon.

Because this White House assistant is bathed in a light of publicity — especially on the TV tube — scarcely less effulgent than the light that beats upon Mr. Nixon himself, the insistent question one hears is this: What makes this German-born ex-professor so necessary to the President of the United States?

TO BEGIN, it is a fact that every president has his Henry Kissinger however his name may be spelled and whatever his title. The country then, is not seeing here a novel phenomenon; it is only seeing a recurring phenomenon, in this case much enlarged by the circumstances of these times.

For the Henry Kissingers are those presidential associates who, in every administration, become indispensable in the end because of personal qualities rarely found among colleagues in the palace guard. The President, any President, has a houseful of advisers willing to give him counsel on any and all matters — but subject to the temptation to overadvise.

The vast majority — and this is the core of the business — are inclined to waver; to see this side and that side of every problem; to offer their opinions with many words — and also with many on-the-other-hands and escape hatches.

(It is an understandable weakness; but it is still no comfort in showdown times to the man at the top.) Sensitive to the vastness of the issues, and aware that mistakes in judgment or possible inadequacy in their own homework could have catastrophic consequences to the country and to themselves, they may blow an uncertain trumpet in sounding their views in any crisis.

WHAT THE President — any President — least of all needs in these hours of decision is men around him to tell him how very rough and dangerous is this earth — not to mention this city of Washington. All this he knows too well. What he really wants, if perhaps he is not always fully aware of it himself, is a fellow who without agonizing about it simply lays out a proposed course of action and shows no inner doubt whatever about it.

All this does not mean, parenthetically, that the President is in fact going to accept this course; he may or may not. But at least he is able to feel that one man around the shop is not operating on the principle that he is necessarily going to live forever. Any battalion commander of infantry feels good to see a company commander consulting not with the medics but rather with his riflemen just 10 minutes before H-hour.

The Kissingers, in sort, are men of completely sober purpose who nevertheless have on call a tinge of the spirit of damn the torpedoes — full speed ahead. Reckless? No. But resolute in conviction? Yes, they are. And above all when the going is hardest they do not come into the presidential office with 5,000 words of yes-but and maybe. "You asked me what I think; well, here is what I think." This is the effect of their utterances.

ONE MIGHT SAY simply that the Kissingers have long since accepted that it is indeed a tough world, full of all kinds of perils, including perils to themselves, and have nevertheless concluded that the pale cast of overthought does truly deter not merely action but also wise thought.

So if Kissingers did not exist they would have to be invented. All have been at one in the plain quality of the other in many things. They have been at one in the plain quality of tough-mindedness; they enter no poker game automatically ready to check the hand.

Rampage at the job fair

An editorial in Chicago Tribune

It is hard to imagine anything more senseless than the disruptions which wrecked the Job Fair for Veterans Tuesday afternoon.

Some 200 youths, most of them black, stormed into the International Amphitheater, overturned tables, smashed displays, and generally terrorized company representatives and job-seekers alike. Complaining that the job fair was a sham, they crowded in front of the television cameras shouting: "We want jobs! We want jobs!"

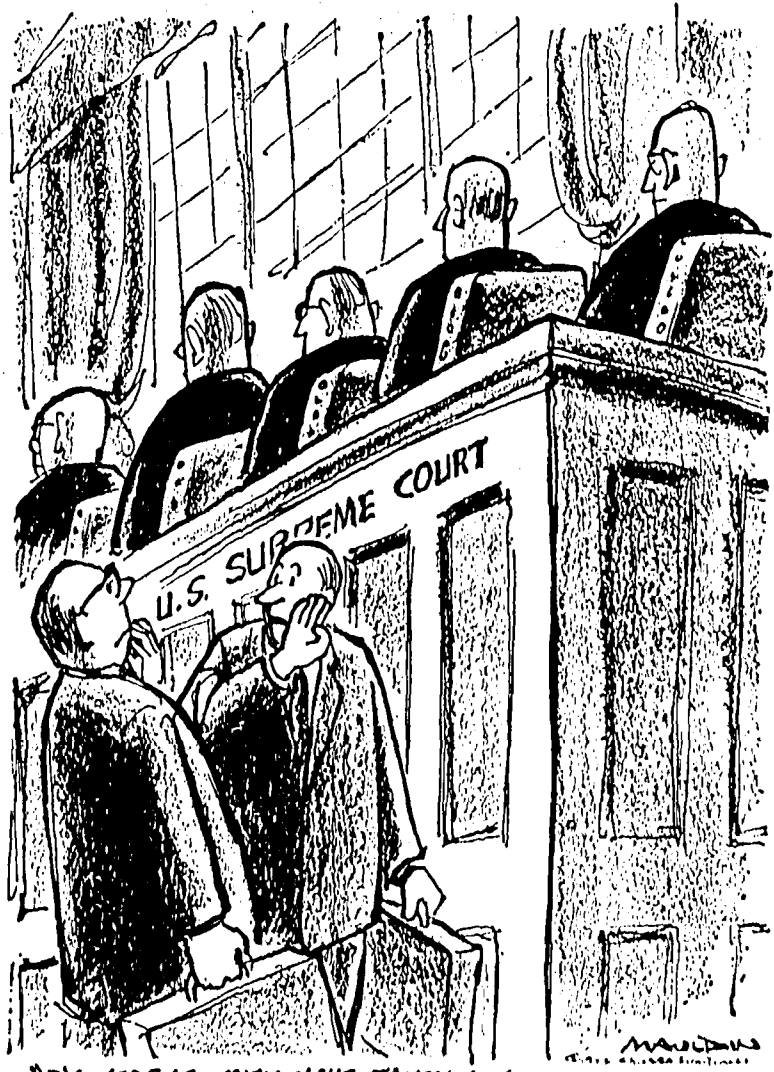

Well, jobs is precisely what the job fair was all about — jobs in particular for nonwhite veterans — and it was anything but a sham. The 800 Chicago firms represented at the fair here were offering more than 4,500 jobs — jobs desperately needed by unemployed veterans in the area. The disruptions, which frightened away many of the company representatives, only made things harder for those seeking jobs.

Representing an organization called the American Servicemen's Union, many of the rampaging young men were from out of state and had taken part in a similar fracas in New York, where a similar program has been under attack. The disruption, like other protests we have seen in the past, ended up hurting most the very people the protesters claimed they were trying to help.

We can only wonder at the motives of these vandals. Some, judging by the liquor bottles in evidence, were bent solely on a spree of violence. Others, judging by the flurry of press conferences they called, were more interested in publicity. If so, they were amply rewarded. Television coverage, both local and national, seemed to deal almost exclusively with the protesters and their complaints, and hardly at all with the overwhelming majority of veterans at the fair who became the protesters' victims.

The fair resumed the next day, with company representatives and job-seekers returning in large numbers to make the event a success. We commend them on their refusal to be intimidated by organized vandalism apparently imported from New York and elsewhere.

"BY GEORGE, THEY HAVE TAKEN A TURN TO THE RIGHT."

The poop scoop war

William F. Buckley

While waiting for developments on the international war front, I pause to report on the war in New York City between the dog owners and various anti-dog, or more properly anti-dog poop, groups.

The issue suddenly burst upon the scene last winter when a middle-aged doctor, coming upon a Doberman pinscher squatting down on the sidewalk opposite his apartment in Greenwich Village, suddenly found himself reaching into his pocket, pulling out a firearm, and shooting the dog quite, utterly dead. This violence was not senseless, in the opinion of those who understood the doctor's frustration. But the dog lovers, greatly aroused, bore down hard and of course the gentleman will be prosecuted, and no one now believes that the final solution to the dog problem was adumbrated by the incident in Greenwich Village.

COMES NOW something called Children Before Dogs. That organization, one suspects from the fanciful gleam in its prose, is a hard-liner, which would really like to do away with dogs altogether. Which reminds me that if there is a dog in China, he isn't in Peking, Shanghai, or Hangchow. When we left China last February, I remember thinking that instead of sending two musk oxen to the Peking Zoo, Mr. Nixon should have sent two dogs.

Either dogs are forbidden, or else they were eaten during one of the famines, or else they were mistaken for people and shot during the cultural revolution. But there are no dogs now in China, and that settled that problem. But the problem of dogs in New York is not solved by such facile digressions.

Anyways, the anti-dog people are now reviving statutes which have been sleeping soundly for years, which restrict the freedom of dogs and specifically proscribed certain areas, for instance children's playgrounds in the park, the zoo areas, and what have you. A tactical ambition of the anti-dog people is to construct a DMZ around the whole of Central Park, a territory the dog people would yield only after bitter resistance. But even if the anti-dog people win there, their victory can only result in an intensification of the problem somewhere else. I mean, the less poop in Central Park, the more poop elsewhere, which is called Boyle's Law.

IN ANTICIPATION of this problem, the anti-dog people are suggesting that dog owners be held instantly responsible for cleaning up everything their dogs do. To this end, American capitalism has developed a little device which facilitates the scooping up of the debris, which are thereafter dumped into a plastic bag. The whole operation would appear to be difficult to consummate with the kind of polish that goes with a stroll down Park Avenue with one's St. Bernard, but the anti-dog people are not struggling to make it all that easy for the dog owner, the hell with him is their attitude.

But now the Dog Owner's Protective Association charges that the power brokers are really behind the suggestion, that they are trying to create a market for their pooper-scoopers, as they are felicitously called, and are demanding an expense. American ingenuity has not risen fully to the challenge. For instance, why could they not develop a can of squirt which deodorizes it all, or better still, turns it into corn flakes, or the nearest alchemical achievement duPont can come up with?

MAYOR LINDSAY has actually proposed that dogs be required to perform in their owners' bathrooms, which suggests that the mayor's knowledge of dogs is about on a par with his knowledge of cities; but no one wants to politicize the issue, and for that reason people are careful to move with bipartisan solidarity, whichever side of the issue they find themselves on. For one thing, the pollsters have not discovered exactly where the political advantage lies. It is all very well to say that more people are without dogs than with them.

But whereas most people who want the street poop removed are indulging a velleity, those who want their dogs are indulging a passion. So that even if only one-tenth of New Yorkers have dogs, their strength may well be the strength of ten if they find some politician threatening their dogs. Untold prime ministers of Great Britain have fallen for suspected indifference to dogs, let alone for conspiring to constipate dogs. So Mayor Lindsay's foray into the dog war is understandably tentative, and meanwhile the Village Voice has helped matters not at all by publishing a recipe for Sweet and Sour Doberman. ## Mr. Mayor at 31

Tom Wicker

PORTLAND, Ore. — Opposition to the proliferation of automobiles and policemen is not normally the route to political success in the American city, but — among other things — it worked for Neil Goldschmidt. Last week, aided by a McGovern-like army of volunteers, he became at 31 this city's mayor — the youngest and maybe the most provocative big-city mayor in the country.

Mayor Goldschmidt is not at all against policemen. In fact, as commissioner of public safety, he has been overseeing the 730 cops who patrol Portland's streets and try to protect its 370,000 citizens, on a budget of about $12 million a year. It's just that he doesn't think that more policemen are the best answer to the city's crime problem.

REELING OFF statistics in a machine — gun speaking style, Goldschmidt told a luncheon companion — over a salad of the tiny Williamette shrimp that are a delicacy in these parts — that 63 percent of home burglaries, a growing problem here, are committed by youngsters under 18, and that 60 percent of their crimes are committed within a mile of their homes. As a result only 10 percent of apprehensions in these "neighborhood crimes" come from routine police patrolling; while over 30 percent derive from reports of neighbors and bystanders.

Moreover, as Goldschmidt sees it, there's not too much to be done with the young people apprehended for these and other crimes; courts and prisons are overcrowded, juvenile facilities are inadequate, and neither there nor in other correctional programs is "rehabilitation" very effective.

Thus, of $20 million coming to the city from the Federal Law Enforcement Assistance Agency for an experimental high impact crime program, Goldschmidt hopes to earmark about 75 percent for prevention of crime, rather than for various forms of beefing up the police force. As an example of what he hopes to achieve, he cites a program being tried here as the result of excessive violence in a neighborhood school.

The situation was so bad that it was threatening the stability of the school neighborhood — and another of Neil Goldschmidt's aims is to preserve the neighborhood structure of the city, which he believes is what makes it liveable. The principal of the school was able to identify the main troublemakers as being about 25 youngsters from less than 20 families. These were pulled out of the school and put into a special program contracted for with a private agency, at a yearly cost of about $110,000.

THE NEW mayor regards the problem of the automobile as mortal. "I know they say the American will never give up his car or his right to drive it when and where he pleases," he says, "but if that's so the city is dead anyway." This is not only because of noise, air pollution and traffic jams, he believes, but because the inevitable result of unchecked automobile traffic is freeways.

If an urban freeway destroys or damages a neighborhood, many of its people move to the suburbs; that means the freeway is often obsolete or overcrowded as soon as it opens; so more freeways have to be built, which means the destruction of more neighborhoods; and so on.

Goldschmidt raises the question whether the city and the surrounding counties shouldn't be building mass transit corridors instead, locating them by comprehensive land-use planning, with ample outlying parking facilities for commuters, downtown parking sited and geared only to shoppers, and autos occupied only by a driver banned from certain streets at the rush hours.

Neil Goldschmidt is no surer that ideas like these can save the city from the automobile than he is that the incidence of crime can be reduced, but he sees no reason why a city like Portland should simply let things happen to it. "Maybe we were never going to be ahead of the game," he says, "but we don't need to be as far behind as we are."

Handguns for all Americans

WASHINGTON — There are now 90 million handguns in the United States, excluding the two that were taken from Arthur Bremer last week. This means that there are still 110 million men, women and children in this country who don't own a handgun. These people are being deprived of the pleasure of shooting at targets and cans, as well as defending themselves against intruders, hippies and communists.

Unless everyone in America owns a handgun there will never be peace in this country. THE PROBLEM with supplying everyone with a handgun is money. Many people would rather spend their salaries on such luxury items as food, clothing and housing. They fail to see that a handgun is a necessity and essential to the safety and well-being of the American family. By making the ownership of a handgun optional, the government is leaving 110 million persons un-armed and at the mercy of the 90 million persons who do own handguns.

The only solution to this problem is for Congress to pass a law making it mandatory for everyone in the United States to own a gun. There may be cries from the antigun lobby that by forcing people to own handguns Congress is trying to infringe on the rights of the electorate. There will be other com-

Pig War triggers softball game — international fun

FRIDAY HARBOR, Wash. (AP) — Who would have guessed that the shooting of a porker in 1859 would have resulted in an international softball game in 1972? Certainly not the American soldier who picked off a pig belonging to a Hudson's Bay Co. agent, and thus precipitated the Pig War, a 13-year confrontation between Great Britain and the United States over possession of the San Juan Islands in the Strait of Juan de Fuca.

The dispute, in which no human casualties were recorded, ended Oct. 21, 1872 when Emperor Wilhelm of Germany arbitrated a settlement by awarding the contested islands to the United States.

Over the weekend, the Canadian vessel HMCS Porte de Law Reine, visited this San Juan Island community to celebrate the centennial of the end of the Pig War. Its crew engaged residents in a softball game, and the islanders enjoyed a barbecue on the ship.

plaints that handguns are expensive and many people cannot afford them.

But these are red herrings which will not hold up under examination. You can buy a handgun in this country for as little as $10. Ammunition costs less than a penny a bullet.

NO COUNTRY in the world offers its citizens a greater choice of guns than the United States.

There are snub-nosed guns that can fit in a woman's handbag, semiautomatics that fire eight slugs at a time, .38s that can hit someone at 50 feet, .45s that can make holes as large as a fist and very light .22s that a 6-year-old can fire.

We are blessed because anyone in America can have the gun of his choice at a price he can afford.

For those who are on relief and unemployed the government could supply surplus weapons from the armed forces at the same time they give out food stamps and unemployment checks.

There is absolutely no reason why everyone in this country could not be armed by 1973.

The opponents of handguns will argue that if everyone owns a gun there will be an increase in crime.

This is balderdash. Everyone knows that guns don't kill people — people kill people. You don't eliminate crime by keeping guns out of the hands of law-abiding citizens in this country.

It's time to stop talking about handguns and do something about them. In addition to a law making owning a gun mandatory, we must have an educational campaign pointing out the good things about guns.

Not only do they give pleasure to people, but they also contributed heavily to our economy.

The handgun manufacturing industry provides jobs for hundreds of thousands of people including steelmakers, ammunition suppliers, distributors and sporting goods store owners, not to mention the lobbyists for the one who cares about the economy of the country knows he couldn't survive economically without handguns.

If you care about freedom, if you care about target shooting, if you care about a thriving gun industry, write your congressman today and ask him to pass a law which will make it essential for every citizen of this great nation to have a handgun he can call his own. Until Congress acts we will never have a safe and sane America.

McGovern moves ahead dramatically

Harris Survey

In a nationwide test in early May between Democratic presidential possibilities, including Sen. Edward Kennedy, Sen. George McGovern forged into a narrow one-point lead as the first choice of Democrats and Independents. The South Dakota senator has moved up dramatically on the heels of his strong showing in several spring primaries.

Over the past months, the Harris Survey has asked this question of national cross sections of likely voters, the last time on May 9 and 10, among 1,123 Democrats and independents:

"Which one of the people on this list would be your first choice for the Democratic Presidential nomination this year?"

TOP DEMOCRATIC CHOICE (Among Democrats and Independents)

	May	April	March	February
McGovern	21	8	6	5
Humphrey	20	17	18	15
Kennedy	20	17	15	12
Wallace	19	17	12	12
Muskie	6	15	20	24
Jackson	3	4	5	6
McCarthy	3	3	3	4
Chisholm	2	3	3	5
None	3	6	8	9
Not sure	3	10	10	8

When Sen. Edward Kennedy's supporters were asked who their second choice would be, the chief beneficiary, taking 41 percent of his vote, was Sen. Humphrey. A smaller 22 percent of the Kennedy vote went to Sen. McGovern, suggesting the potential importance of a Kennedy endorsement in the future. Here is how the Democratic lineup looks with Kennedy's vote distributed among his supporters' second-choice preferences:

DEMOCRATIC CHOICE WITH KENNEDY OUT

	May	April	March	February
Humphrey	23	28	22	17
McGovern	26	10	7	6
Wallace	21	18	14	13
Muskie	7	18	23	28
McCarthy	4	4	3	5
Jackson	3	5	6	6

Chisholm	3	4	4	6
None	3	5	8	11
Not sure	5	8	13	8

With Kennedy out, Humphrey assumed a two-point lead over McGovern. However, the Minnesota senator's total of 28 percent has not grown in the past month, while the preference for both Sen. McGovern and Gov. George Wallace was still rising.

The cross section of Democrats and Independents was then asked a showdown test, limited to Humphrey, McGovern, and Wallace:

"Suppose for the Democratic nomination for President, it came down to a choice between Sen. Hubert Humphrey, Sen. George McGovern, and Gov. George Wallace. Whom would you be for?"

HUMPHREY-MCGOVERN-WALLACE TEST (Democrats and Independents)

	Humphrey	McGovern	Wallace	Not Sure
Nationwide	34	31	26	9
By Region
East	35	40	15	10
Midwest	35	36	21	8
South	32	14	49	5
West	34	37	19	10
By Age
18-29	31	46	20	3
30-49	36	33	23	8
50 and over	34	24	31	11
By Education
8th grade or less	40	19	33	8
High school	36	26	29	9
College	29	47	17	7
By Politics
Democratic	43	28	24	5
Independent	22	43	23	12

THESE RESULTS reveal a great deal about the top three leaders in Democratic delegates.

Sen. Humphrey's strength is heavily rooted among blacks, the less well educated, enrolled Democrats and male voters. But he does have significant backing in all four regions of the country.

Sen. McGovern leads in every region outside the South, but runs a poor third below the Mason-Dixon line. He easily wins the under-30 vote, the college-educated, and independents, while he edges out Humphrey among whites and women voters. In light of the attention being paid to blue-collar voters, it is significant that McGovern is not far behind Wallace among high-school graduates, who constitute a substantial portion of the so-called "protest" vote this year.

Gov. Wallace sweeps the South, but before the shooting was clearly in third place in the rest of the country. His strength is greatest among older voters, the least well educated, whites, and men. Wallace and Humphrey appear to draw their support from the same pattern, except that Wallace has no appeal among blacks. The tug-of-war is Wallace's appeal to the most alienated portion of voters who would normally be at home with Sen. Humphrey.

Thus, the uncertainty of Gov. Wallace's role in the 1972 Presidential race has repercussions on the candidacies of both Sen. Humphrey and Sen. McGovern. As the Harris Survey will report Thursday, Humphrey is more the beneficiary than McGovern among voters whose first choice has been Wallace.

Husbands can forgive and forget, too

DEAR ABBY: An unfaithful wife who had been caught in the act, wrote in part: "What's with men anyway? Are understanding, compassion and forgiveness qualities that only women possess? If you know of one man who'd be willing to sit down with an erring wife, discuss the problem, forgive her and suggest they start over, please nominate him for saint hood."

Dear Abby:
By Abigail Van Buren.

Well, my husband qualifies. He caught me in the act, not once, but three times (with the same man) and each time he forgave me, and now we have a stronger marriage than ever.

DEAR ABBY: I don't know whether this qualifies me for sainthood or not, but I did catch my wife with another man, and I forgave her. All she said in her defense was, "Well, now we're even."

She was right.

DEAR ABBY: I'd like to nominate my husband for sainthood. After nearly 20 years of marriage I fell in love with another man (also married). The other man's wife found out about it and raised such a stink that my husband gave up a thriving professional practice to move as far away as possible from that little community.

The other woman divorced her husband, but my husband stood by me. I am trying to make it up to him by being the best possible wife in every way. My man is one in a million.

DEAR ABBY: So, women want men who are "understanding, compassionate and forgiving?" Well, I was married for 26 years. Then my wife left me saying, "I simply can't stand a man who is so understanding, compassionate and forgiving."

We've been divorced for five years, and since then I have treated women like dirt and they love it!

DEAR ABBY My husband is a saint with a triple halo. He not only forgave me, but at great financial sacrifice he secured psychological counseling for me. Even as I write this I am struggling to keep from making a phone call to let "the other man" know that my husband will be out of town and I'll be available.

Counseling is expensive, but when I look at my beautiful family I realize it's worth holding my marriage together for. Besides, believe it or not, no woman ever had a better husband.

DEAR ABBY: The saint you are searching for is living in Houston, I was the unfaithful wife. He caught me with his best friend but he didn't get mad and try to kill anybody. He calmly walked away and came back the next day to talk things over. This wonderful man was big enough to say, "Maybe it's partly my fault. If I had paid you more attention you wouldn't need anybody else."

We both decided that we'd try to make a go of our marriage. This happened 31 years ago, and God willing, we will celebrate our 50th this June.

DEAR ABBY: If you are looking for a saint, look no further. I am married to him.

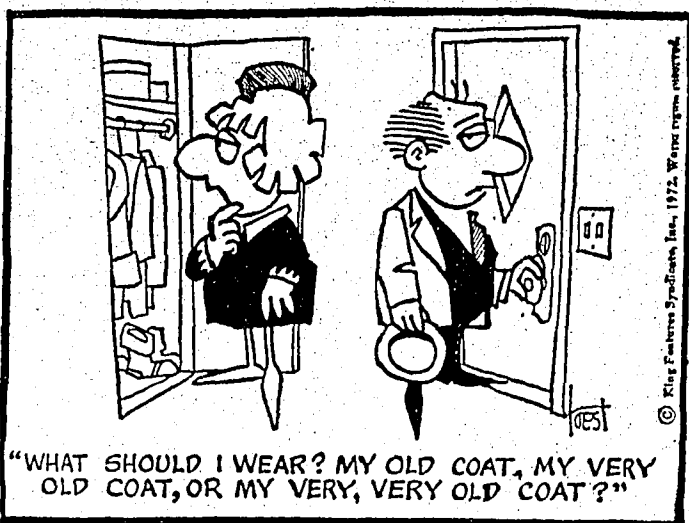

This man was a fighting Marine whose wife gave birth to a baby in his absence that couldn't possibly have been his. He forgave her, raised that boy as if he were his own and he never once mentioned it again.

DEAR ABBY: I'd like to nominate myself for sainthood. My wife left me for another man. Three weeks later he kicked her out and I took her back. She got herself $3,000 in debt, gambling, and I paid it off. The only time she ever said "no" was when somebody asked her if she'd had enough.

We're still married.

DEAR ABBY: For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

COOKING IS FUN

By CECILY BROWNSTONE AP Food Editor

COUNTRY BAKED APPLES

Their core cavities are stuffed.

6 baking apples
1 cup apple juice
½ cup plum jam
1 cup coarse whole-wheat bread crumbs
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon allspice
¼ cup corn-oil margarine
Core apples almost through to blossom end; pare about 1-3rd of the way down from stem end. Blend ¼ cup of the apple juice into plum jam; stir in crumbs; spoon mixture into apple centers. Place apples in an 11 by 7 by 3 inch baking dish. Combine remaining ¼ cup apple juice, sugar and allspice. Pour over apples. Dot apples with margarine. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven, basting often with syrup in pan, until apples are tender—45 to 60 minutes. Serve warm with sweetened whipped cream. Makes 6 servings.

CHOCOLATE PUDDING CAKE

A cakelike topping and a saucy chocolate base.

2 tablespoons butter, melted
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2-3rds cup sifted flour
½ cup unsweetened cocoa
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup milk
½ cup quick-cooking oats
1-2rds cups boiling water
In a bowl combine butter, ½ cup sugar and vanilla. Sift together flour, ¼ cup cocoa, baking powder and ½ teaspoon salt; add with milk to sugar mixture; blend well; stir in oats. In an 8-inch square cake pan combine remaining ¼ cup sugar, remaining ¼ cup cocoa, remaining ¼ teaspoon salt and the boiling water. Drop oat mixture by tablespoons onto cocoa mixture in pan. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven about 45 minutes. Serve warm, spooning chocolate sauce from pan over each portion. Top with vanilla ice cream. Makes 6 servings.

Your horoscope — Jeane Dixon

For WEDNESDAY, MAY 31

Your Birthday Today: You are relieved of old burdens, given new responsibilities in a changing world. All depends on how you bring together resources and skills. There is no time to waste this year or next. Today's natives demonstrating mind over matter, are versatile and agreeable.

Aries (March 21-April 19): Your community shows its shortages. Serious consideration in legal matters, participation in neighborhood affairs is advocated.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Use your intuition and common sense rather than the suggestions of influential people. Short term agreements are enough for the time being.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): You may be quite volatile—realize others who see things differently may be the same way. Being fair and objective might be difficult, but is helpful.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): You begin to prevail, gaining ground in conflicts important to you. Protect your health and well being. Watch where you are going.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Friends and older members of your family cause some concern. Reflect on what you can offer, how your life is going, what can be done to improve matters.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You are on your own all day. Proceed boldly but carefully where you are sure you are right. Stay out of situations you can't handle.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Tales and plans are all around you. Just getting your full quota of routine done is an achievement. Older people require special consideration.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You will be rewarded for your extra caution and self-restraint. Normal actions will be changed to fit circumstances temporarily.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Endless discussions are likely, most of them relating to misunderstandings or discrepancies. With patience you can reach agreements.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Health holds top priority for changes; plan it into your schedule. So many people need your advice you forget your own worries.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): The moment of truth in financial accounting arrives. Check your figures, make new plans in accord with the facts and your limitations.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Important negotiations can rest while you tend to your personal life. Seek serenity in meditation, get through the day in peace.

Money Does Matter . . .

By MIKE LEONARD

Really, it isn't easy to do the right thing with money. Some people never have enough of it, others never make the best use of it. Why? They just don't handle money well.

It is a hard task, using money wisely. But, it can be done. Those who know something about money are in a position to handle it better.

Most of us work very hard for our money. We should work just as hard to use it in the right way. We'll live better, if we do.

One important thought: Do not hesitate to ask for and consider carefully the advice and counsel your banker is ready to provide without cost. He does want to help.

At the First National Bank of Winona we are concerned about your concerns, especially when it comes to money matters. As a "Full Service" bank we've learned a few things we'll be happy to pass along to you. Perhaps you, too, will live better as a result!

Women earn less than men; greater than mid fifties

NEW YORK — Women today earn not only less than men, for the most part, but the differences in earnings is greater now than in the mid-nineteen fifties, long before the advent of the women's liberation movement.

The growing disparity in wages is the subject of a revised "Fact Sheet in the Earnings Gap" prepared by the Women's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor. Median earnings for women were 58.4 percent of men's in 1970, as compared with 60.5 percent in 1969 and 63.9 percent in 1955, the report notes. The figures show that there is a considerable difference in incomes for year-round, full-time workers. The median for women in 1970 was $5,323, for men $8,966.

The report shows that among year-round, full-time workers, 12 percent of the women earn less than $3,000 whereas only five percent of the men earn that little. By contrast, seven percent of working women earn more than $10,000, compared with 40 percent of male workers.

In the analysis of salaries by occupation and profession, the largest gap in earnings was found to be among sales workers, with women earning 43 percent of what men make. The smallest exists in the professions, where distaff earnings are about 67 percent of the amount made by men.

The study emphasizes that not all differences in pay necessarily indicate women are receiving unequal pay for equal work but concedes that inequities do show up within specific occupations.

In the same type of jobs in accounting and payroll clerk positions, men's average weekly earnings were substantially higher than women, the report said. In the professions, male scientists make from $1,700 to $5,100 more than women, the report pointed out. The gap was found to be the greatest in the field of chemistry, with women averaging $10,500 and men $15,600.

Professor says church must accept women in religious life

WINNIPEG (AP)— Equality between the sexes will come about only when men stop fearing the feminine and acknowledge that both sexes share similar characteristics.

That's the opinion of Penelope Washburn of Wooster College in Ohio who said: "We have split the human personality into two separate entities, labeling one masculine and the other feminine, attributing certain characteristics to each."

She said the feminine is the irrational, that which cannot be controlled, a category into which both death and emotions also fall.

"Our Western society fears both these because we are unable to control them. And so we suppress them," a move that led to the suppression of the female.

"You see this in the lack of women as leaders in religious life."

Prof. Washburn said Western civilization must change its attitude towards the sexes in order to develop a more realistic conception of religion, a step that is necessary for equality.

She said if religion is to be of any significance, the church must start accepting women as a full part of the religious life and must also accept the femininity of God.

"Not only will it allow man to accept death more gracefully and without fear, but it will also make mortal life more peaceful."

Khatba is matchmaker by Egyptian custom

CAIRO (AP)— Wrapped in a long, flowing black dress called a Milaya, sometimes with a thin veil over her face and a profusion of gold jewelry dangling from her arms, she wends her way from house to house offering her services.

Her customers, mostly women, warmly welcome her; but she pays little attention. Instead, she builds up anticipation by slowly sipping Turkish coffee and talking about everything except the subject she came for.

When she notices her hosts have become impatient, she smiles and opens her handbag to take out some photographs.

The pictures are snatched and examined by eager eyes. If they meet acceptance, serious but seemingly casual bargaining starts. If the pictures are a disappointment, then she is asked to try again.

People call her "Khatba," which means marriage agent or matchmaker. Her job is to gather information, sometimes with pictures as proof, for persons who want to marry but do not know how or to whom.

In a traditional country such as Egypt, where in almost all rural areas there are no opportunities for young men and girls to meet socially, the Khatba still plays an important role.

Mothers of young girls and men seek her out because, as a woman, she can mingle with the families of both sexes without drawing any objection from suspicious fathers—who, in some areas in upper Egypt, kill their daughters if they suspect a girl has met or even permitted herself to be seen by a man.

In these areas, a man has two alternatives if he wants to marry, either he depends entirely on the provided description by the Khatba, or he sends a relative to see for him.

But he cannot unveil his bride's face until they are alone after the wedding.

The mothers of the would-be brides, anxious to see their daughters get married, pay the Khatba well. The would-be groom pays less, but the matchmaker makes up the difference in tips she gets for her visits as encouragement to try harder.

A Khatba usually earns the equivalent of $230 to $345 a month, depending on how rich her customers are. Such income is considered high in Egypt, where the annual per capita income is below $200.

But her days are numbered, thanks to Women's Lib and the cost of living.

"The business is not as profitable as in the past," complained Um Mohammed, 38, a Khatba in Shubra, a Cairo suburb. "The spread of education in such a big city as Cairo spoiled the business; girls and young men now choose by themselves."

"Permitting girls to work side by side with men has reduced our chances. What makes things even more worse is that men now prefer working girls in order to maintain a standard of living similar or near the one they see in movies and television."

But the business still is prosperous in villages and small towns, "where we still have an uncontested monopoly in the marriage market."

The United States Geological Survey puts the approximate geographic center of the nation—the spot where all 50 states would be equally balanced—near Castle Rock, S.D.

Millions in Soviet prisons

The latest underground documents to reach the West from the Soviet Union tell a chilling story about the treatment of Russian Christians locked away in special mental institutions.

The commonest form of punishment is the use of mental drugs. The prisoner's mouth is forcefully opened with an expander and a drug named Aminazine is administered knocking prisoners unconscious for a whole month. Many never regain their senses. Another drug, Sulfazine, tortures the prisoner with terrible cramps compelling him to sign any demanded false confession.

A Russian Christian, Guenady Shimanov, describes how he expects to come out of such a prison only a feeble-minded, slobbering-mouthed, giggling individual.

In spite of tortures, Russian Christians give glorious examples of faith. Shimanov writes: "The Lord's will be done in everything! Whether they drive me mad, or not, I accept everything as a child does from the hands of his father."

Will the President visit the tortured or will he dine only with the torturers?

Thousands of Christian prisoners died in Russian Communist jails. A moving account of their courageous faith and stand for the Lord is contained in the book TORTURED FOR CHRIST, by Rev. Richard Wurmbrand. Rev. Richard Wurmbrand spent 14 years in communist prisons.

New version of sandwich

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
DEAR CECILY: Can you give me a recipe for Reuben Sandwiches made with corned beef, sauerkraut and Swiss cheese? You may have had it in the newspaper, but I didn't try it, thinking I wouldn't like it. While traveling I had it and love it. So please help me out now. — Changeable.

DEAR CHANGEABLE: Yes, I've featured Reuben-style Sandwiches, but I'm delighted to give you a delicious new version. It comes from "The Randolph-Macon Sandwich Book" compiled and published by the New York City Chapter of the Randolph-Macon College Alumnae Association. The book gives recipes for cold, hot and fancy sandwiches and has a chapter on canapés as well as one on sandwich dressings. By the way, you'll be interested to know that the original Reuben Sandwich comes from Reuben's Restaurant in New York City, famous also for its cheese cake. — C.B.

RICHMOND REUBEN SANDWICHES
Adapted from "The Randolph-Macon Sandwich Book."
8 slices rye bread
Butter
1/2 cup real mayonnaise
1/4 cup chili sauce
1/4 cup drained bread and butter pickles, chopped
4 slices Swiss cheese
4 slices corned beef
1 cup sauerkraut, drained
Butter one side of each slice of bread
Mix mayonnaise, chili sauce and pickles. Spread some of the mixture on unbuttered side of 4 slices of the bread; store the remaining dressing in the refrigerator for use another time.
Top with cheese, corned beef and a layer of sauerkraut.
Cover with remaining 4 slices bread, buttered side up.
Pan grill each sandwich slowly over medium heat 2 to 5 minutes or until cheese is melted and bread is lightly browned or grill in an electric sandwich grill 3 to 5 minutes.
Makes 4 servings.

Pennsylvania State Police Academy to train 14 women

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — The Pennsylvania State Police Academy will end 67 years as an all-male institution in July when 14 women join the class of 135 cadets graduating from the school after six months training.

"They lugged and fired service revolvers, threw each other around in self-defense class and took criminal law courses like the rest of us," a male cadet said.

Of the 15 women originally selected, one has dropped out. They were chosen from more than 150 applicants on the basis of age, height, physical fitness, and education.

Police say Jordan not target

By REESE HART
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Police say Sen. B. Everett Jordan apparently was not the target of a young gunman who killed three persons and wounded eight others before taking his own life at a shopping center where the senator was campaigning.

The gunman "just broke out his gun and started shooting, first one way and then another," Police Chief Robert Goodwin said. "We don't know why he was there." A witness, Bruce Bland of Raleigh, said the gunman was "aiming at anything that moved."

Police Capt. C. H. Haswell said he doubted Jordan was the target because so many people were shot.

Jordan, a Democrat on an unannounced handshaking tour, was rushed into an optometrist's office when the rifle shots rang out Monday among hundreds of holiday shoppers at North Hills Shopping Center.

Jordan was not hurt, but his news secretary, Wes Hayden, was shot in the back. Hayden was reported in serious condition at a hospital.

Jordan, 75, said, "I have no reason to believe anyone would try to kill me." He and his opponent in the Democratic primary runoff, U.S. Rep. Nick Galifianakis of Durham, had declined protection offered by state authorities after the shooting of Gov. George C. Wallace in Maryland two weeks ago.

Police said the gunman, Harvey McLeod, 22, a school janitor in Raleigh, used a rifle he had purchased two hours earlier for $4.95. McLeod had a police record which included two assaults with a deadly weapon, and had been released on $200 bond Sunday after being charged with falsely reporting the theft of an automobile, authorities said.

McLeod's body was found in a pool of blood between two cars in the parking lot. The semiautomatic .22 rifle was near his head.

Killed were Jackie Wharton, 47, of Raleigh; James G. Henry, 31, of Woodstock, Va., shot while driving his car which rammed into another vehicle; and Melvin O. Harrison, 23, of New Bern.

Witnesses said Harrison was in front of Ivey's Department Store when the gunman shot him in the right side. They said he opened the front door, staggered in and collapsed before horrified shoppers.

Among the wounded, in addition to Hayden, were a 60-year-old woman in critical condition with a head wound and a 3-year-old girl who was shot in the leg.

McLeod was married and worked as a janitor at Broughton High School. Authorities said he had closed his savings account at a bank shortly before buying the rifle and ammunition.

A store clerk said McLeod had questions on a firearms form, one of which was: "Have you ever been convicted of a charge resulting in at least a one-year jail term?" He answered no to all the questions on whether he had a police record.

One Twin Citian killed

2 rescued, 2 missing in plane crash at Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A twin-engine plane with five men aboard crashed into Lake Erie off Burke Lakefront Airport here Monday as the pilot veered to the left to avoid another plane.

One man was killed, two are missing and two were rescued.

The plane exploded into flames and quickly disappeared beneath the murky water when it hit nose down 200 yards off the East Ninth Street Pier.

The occupants of the Cessna 310 were pilots returning to their homes in the Minneapolis-St. Paul, Minn., area from the Transpo 72 convention in Washington, D.C. They were attempting to land at the Burke airport to refuel.

Killed was Lawrence O. Nilsson, 49, of St. Paul.

Richard Aplikowski, 50, of New Brighton and Edward T. Kolar, 50, of St. Paul were reported in fair condition in Cleveland hospitals.

Divers were unable to find the other two men identified as Robert Hildebrandt and David Phelps, the pilot, both of St. Paul.

Near-zero visibility beneath the choppy water hampered the search, which was halted after four hours. It was to be resumed today.

Divers located a portion of a plane wing and one of the aircraft's engines.

Earl Murphy, an investigator for the Federal Aviation Administration, would not disclose the name of the pilot of the small plane in the path of the Cessna.

"He told us he was making an approach from the southwest," Murphy said, "when he saw the other plane coming toward him they saw each other simultaneously and each started a left turn. They were at least two miles from each other when they turned off."

Murphy said the Cessna was approaching from the west, contrary to instructions from the tower, which was landing planes from the east, into the wind.

He said the plane called the airport about five minutes before the crash, asking for permission to land. The tower tried to contact the plane again, but there was no further communication, Murphy added.

Investigators theorized the plane may have overshot the airport, then tried to return from the opposite direction. No one could say why radio communication was cut off.

Food stamp plan effective for rural development

By DON KENDALL
WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's $2-billion-a-year food-stamp program, aimed primarily at helping feed needy families, also is turning into one of the Agriculture Department's most effective rural development programs.

According to studies made of food-stamp operations in three predominantly rural counties in Tennessee, Iowa and New Mexico, each $1 spent in federal funds generated between $1.20 and $1.68 in additional local business.

Qualified families buy food stamps at fees based on their incomes and number of members. Then, under a formula, additional stamps or bonuses are given free to help increase purchasing power at retail food stores.

Nationally, a participant gets about $10 worth of food stamps for each $4.50 he spends on them.

The food-stamp study, published in a report by the Economic Research Service, was based on operations during 1970 in Haywood County, Tenn.; Appanoose County, Iowa; and Chaves County, N.M.

"In each county," the report said, "the wholesaling sector had to increase its output to provide additional inputs to the food retailing sector. Suppliers to the wholesaling sector, in turn, had to increase their output."

The effect was a pyramiding of goods and services needed to supply the increased demand for more and improved food for the stamp clients, officials said.

In Iowa, the program added 11 new jobs to the Appanoose County economy and produced $1.40 worth of new business for each $1 in stamp bonuses.

Nationally, in March of this year, about 11.5 million persons participated in the food-stamp program and received bonuses totaling nearly $156.3 million during the month, officials said.

Structure called unsafe

Report West Virginia project was doomed

By STAN BENJAMIN
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army Corps of Engineers says the West Virginia dam that collapsed last February, killing at least 118 persons, was doomed from the start. A Senate subcommittee opens hearings today on the disaster.

The Engineers released a report Monday saying the dam "should never have been built." The report spread the blame for the disaster among the U.S. Bureau of Mines, the State of West Virginia, and the Buffalo Coal Co. which built the structure. All three, the report said, appear to have legal responsibilities over the safe construction and inspection of a dam.

Said the Corps report: "The consequent 'let-George-do-it' attitude resulted in tragedy." The Senate subcommittee scheduled two days of testimony by Bureau, state and company officials, along with law-enforcement and National Guard spokesmen, and survivors of the tragedy.

On the eve of the hearings, the subcommittee released the Corps report on the collapse of the Buffalo Mining Co. Dam No. 3, on the Middle Fork of Buffalo Creek.

The Corps is preparing a second report surveying similar waste-pile dams in West Virginia.

When Dam No. 3 collapsed last Feb. 26 after three days of rain it sent a 20-foot wall of water through the Buffalo Valley, wiping out the towns of Saunders and Lorado and spreading havoc for 17 miles downstream.

Government and company officials called it an act of God. But the Corps report said the dam was so basically unsafe that only a "happy accident" of nature could have prevented its collapse. In fact, the Corps said, water seepage had been steadily undermining the dam's already-poor foundation and there was visible evidence of this steady weakening for a year before the final breakdown. The Corps said adequate inspection would have disclosed this deterioration.

Improves slowly

Wallace given choice of menu

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace is improving slowly, his doctors say, and has his choice of the hospital menu.

The Alabama chief executive's abdominal wound, doctors attending Wallace said in a daily medical briefing Monday shows less drainage of abscess daily.

They said the governor's condition continued to improve slowly and gradually.

Charles Snider, Wallace's national campaign officer, said he and the governor's son, George Jr., 24, would go to appeal for votes in the California and New Mexico primaries.

Snider quoted Wallace as saying the governor wishes that Americans will quickly forget that he has been shot.

Following a 45-minute meeting with the governor, Snider said Wallace reiterated his intention to be at the Democratic National Convention in Miami in July. He said doctors assured him that the Alabama chief executive would be able to attend the convention in five weeks.

Although Wallace has indicated he is totally committed to securing the Democratic presidential nomination, Snider said, he did not flatly rule out a third-party candidacy if Wallace is not the Democrats' choice in Miami. Snider said the third-party decision would be left up to Wallace completely.

Besides Snider, the governor also was visited by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, brother of two assassinated politicians.

Kennedy, who recalled that after a 1964 airplane crash, doctors told him he probably would be permanently paralyzed, encouraged Wallace never to give up the hope of walking again.

Sheriff prepared to auction off confiscated guns

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Shelby County Sheriff Roy Nixon is preparing to hold his first mandatory auction of low-priced pistols he calls "Saturday Night Specials." He says he doesn't like the idea one bit.

A law enacted by the state legislature in April orders sheriffs to hold public auctions to sell all confiscated guns and specifies that the money from the sale be added to the county's general funds. Previously, confiscated pistols were thrown into the river, Nixon said.

"It will put these guns back on the street," he said. The auction will be held in mid-July.

Nixon said the majority of the guns seized in Shelby County were pistols, a large number of them "Saturday Night Specials," so called because they can be purchased over the counter cheaply.

Police officers said they could not estimate the number of firearms confiscated yearly, but the sheriff's department alone reported more than 200 in its vault. Criminal court officials said the court has about 1,000 guns being held as evidence.

Health group reports increase in income

MILWAUKEE (AP) — National Health Enterprises Inc. has reported a 33 per cent increase in net income for the fiscal year ending March 31.

Robert Pallafitto, chairman and chief executive officer, said net income went up from $904,347 to $1.20 million, while gross revenues increased 10 per cent from $25.04 million to almost $27.56 million.

Humphrey, McGovern trade shots on welfare, Vietnam

By WALTER R. MEARS
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey and George McGovern are heading into their second campaign confrontation in pivotal California still debating the issues of the first—welfare and the war. Humphrey slapped at McGovern welfare proposals, McGovern at Humphrey's record on Vietnam policy as the two Democratic senators prepared to face each other in a nationally televised appearance tonight.

And Minnesota's Humphrey sought to revive and take over a familiar issue by challenging McGovern to disclose how much money he is spending on the California presidential primary campaign.

There was irony in that, since it was McGovern who first made public his over-all campaign finances, and turned the topic into a major issue at the start of the primary season. That was in New Hampshire, when he was rated at best a long shot in the race.

Now it is McGovern versus Humphrey, head to head, for 27 Democratic presidential nominating votes in the California primary a week away.

Their campaign tone since Sunday night, when they appeared together in a national television interview, indicated the dispute might become even more heated as they meet again.

The television appearances, billed as debates but actually joint interviews broadcast by the national television networks, have become centerpiece in the California campaign.

Humphrey planned two campaign appearances in Los Angeles today, then set aside time to prepare for the television appearance. McGovern scheduled a news conference on conversion of the economy to a peacetime basis and cleared his schedule to rest and get ready for the second round.

It will be broadcast on the National Broadcasting Co. program "Meet the Press," for an hour beginning at 8:30 p.m. CDT. The final McGovern-Humphrey matchup is scheduled Sunday on the American Broadcasting Co.

Humphrey raised the finance question in Sacramento Monday, saying that "the selling of a president ought not to become a habit in this country."

The former vice president said his California primary campaign had cost $299,000 through May 22. That partial accounting did not cover the period after costly radio and television commercials began.

A McGovern spokesman, Kirby Jones, said the primary campaign budget for the South Dakota senator is $1.25 million.

Humphrey is known to be facing a financial squeeze in his California campaign, and McGovern is certain to outspend him by a wide margin.

In San Diego Monday,

McGovern said Humphrey is a former defender of U.S. war policy in Vietnam who "now goes across this land posing as a convert to peace, and I don't intend to let him get away with it."

Humphrey, in Fresno, renewed his critique of McGovern's position on welfare. He said he favors a public service job program that would cost $6 billion and put one million unemployed people to work within a month.

"I'd rather put a million people to work at a cost of $6 billion than put 104 million people on welfare at a cost of $27 billion," Humphrey said.

McGovern has said he doesn't favor the latter plan, either, having introduced such a plan in the Senate only as a courtesy to the National Welfare Rights Organization.

HHH hit by sudden spurt of confidence

By BILL STALL
LOS ANGELES (AP) — There's a sudden spurt of confidence in Hubert Humphrey's California campaign—with the primary election just one week away.

The 61-year-old senator from Minnesota expressed it in words at a Sacramento news conference Monday. "I think we're on the way. We're on the attack. We have momentum."

But his new enthusiasm about his campaign against Sen. George McGovern, D-South Dakota, perhaps came across more forcefully in his actions during an address to the Service Employees International Union at San Francisco Monday evening.

It was a friendly audience of some 600 union delegates and another 400 Humphrey backers—the most receptive crowd he's had in 12 days of campaigning in California.

"I want to tell you, I'm a durable guy," Humphrey said. Then he paused a second and added, "I've been recycled." On that note, Humphrey took off his blue suit jacket, rolled up his sleeves and thrust his hands into his front trouser pockets, the Humphrey jaw jutting out in self assurance.

The audience rose to its feet in a standing ovation, the first time that's happened in California, where Humphrey crowds mostly have been modest and restrained.

The turning point for this new confidence, Humphrey aides said, was Sunday's radio and television "debate" with McGovern. Immediately after the program, Humphrey expressed pleasure with the outcome but declined to speculate whether there was a winner.

But Monday, after getting some reaction to the contest, Humphrey declared, "We won round one." He seemed eager to get on to round two tonight and the third and final meeting of the two candidates on Sunday.

As this week began Humphrey sharpened his attack on McGovern's welfare, tax reform and unemployment compensation proposals.

At Fresno Monday, he said the tax plan was "confiscatory" and could hurt the companies which provide jobs for American working men and women.

"It takes money to provide jobs. And when you start to have confiscatory taxation, even against some of the big ones (companies), you're not going to provide jobs," Humphrey said.

"That doesn't make you a liberal," he said. "That makes you a fool."

In his prepared address for the Service Employees Union, Humphrey said McGovern's war-to-peace economic conversion program could cost thousands of California defense workers their jobs.

"This is callous," he said in the text, although he digressed from his prepared material and never got around to reading that part of the speech.

Few ministers attend dinner by McGovern

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The pink ballroom was half-empty and an organ was accompanying the gospel singer as blacks gathered to get the message: preach the gospel of George McGovern this Sunday.

The setting was the Beverly Hilton hotel in posh Beverly Hills that usually houses Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey's entourage. The target was the overwhelming black majorities that Humphrey has polled in previous primaries.

On hand for the dinner, along with 42 waiters and almost as many newsmen, were about 50 black ministers, their wives and 35 other guests.

Some 250 ministers had been invited to have dinner with Coretta Scott King, widow of the civil rights leader. About 100 had expressed interest in attending.

For turning up on three days notice on the night of Memorial Day, they got three gospel numbers by Bessie Griffin, a short, punchy speech by Sen. McGovern, a low-keyed message on the potential power of black voters from the Rev. Jesse Jackson, the civil rights leader, and a 35-minute plea from Mrs. King that a vote for the senator is "the best way you can work for the realization of my husband's dream."

Jackson called the ministers "the keys to the black community" and said he expects many to speak from their pulpits and on radio broadcasts for McGovern on Sunday. The state's presidential primary is June 6.

BOBO probe of coffee house grants asked

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — State Rep. Herbert Grover says he is suspicious of appropriations for a teen-age coffee house, and wants an investigation by the Board on Government Operations.

The Sawano Democrat said he is demanding BOBO investigate $407,500 in grants by the Department of Local Affairs and Development, including the coffee house project.

"Some of these grants, without further justification, constitute the most ridiculous expenditure of the Wisconsin taxpayers' resources in the eight years that I have served in the legislature," he said.

In a letter to the board chairman, Sen. Walter Hollander of Rosendale, Grover requested department secretary Charles Hill be asked to justify 64 grants from the division's $650,000 Community Development Fund.

Grover cited a $9,850 award to the Darne County Community Action Commission for development of a coffee house and a recycling center that would provide business experience and develop leadership skills among youth.

"At first blush, it was very difficult for me to understand what a coffee house and a recycling center have in common and, obviously, the $10,000 will not go very far in developing leadership," Grover argued.

A $9,800 grant to the Southwest Wisconsin Community Action Agency stipulates money be spent to provide vocational training to 10 Richland County young persons.

Many solons planning to retire

New faces seen for '73 state Senate

By GENE LAHAMMER

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Unless Reapportionment Plan No. 2 changes some retirement plans, the 1973 Minnesota Senate will have a number of new faces in leadership roles if Conservatives retain control of the chamber.

Seven committee chairmen—plus Majority Leader Stanley Holmquist who headed the powerful Rules Committee—are among the 17 senators who have announced they will not seek another term. There are 12 Conservatives and five DFLers in the group, which amounts to about one-fourth of the 67-member Senate.

Conservatives controlled the 1971 Senate by a slim 34-33 margin. Sen. Harmon Ogdahl of Minneapolis is perhaps the best bet to succeed Holmquist as majority leader in January. If Conservatives ward off the DFL drive to gain a majority in the Senate for the first time since the turn of the century.

Retirements will not be as noticeable in the House, where eight Conservatives and seven DFLers have said they will not seek re-election.

The average legislative experience of the 17 senators stepping down is 12 years, while the figure for the 15 House retirees is only 6½ years.

Conservatives had a 70-65 majority in the 1971 House, but their election campaigns this fall may be hurt by an in-tracausus feud between House Speaker Aubrey Dirlam and Majority Leader Ernest Lindstrom.

The 135-member House will be reduced by one member, to put two House members in each Senate district, under the new reapportionment plan to be unveiled Friday by a three-judge panel of federal court.

The panel's first plan, which trimmed the legislature by 62 seats to 140 members, was thrown out by a U.S. Supreme Court decision on April 29. The high court held that the judges did not have the power to make drastic reductions in the size of the legislature.

Lawmakers who may have second thoughts about their announced retirement will know the makeup of the new legislative districts in three days. But Holmquist has said that only one or two legislators might reconsider their decision. After the floor leader, the most sought after committee chairmanship will probably be the Senate Finance Committee, which controls the purse strings of state government. The retirement of Sen. Donald Sinclair, 73, of Stephen opens up that post.

Other committee chairmen in the Senate who have announced their retirements are Sens. William B. Dosland, Moorhead, Judiciary Committee; Wayne Popham, Minneapolis, Civil Administration; Keith Hughes, St. Cloud, Elections and Reapportionment; John Metcalf, Shakopee, Corrections and Commitments; Alf Bergerud, Edina, Commerce and Insurance; and Ernest Anderson, Frost, Agriculture.

House retirees include Rep. Howard Albertson of Stillwater, who headed the House Judiciary Committee. The assistant DFL leaders in both the Senate and House are among those who are calling it quits. Sen. Harold Kalina, Minneapolis, has already resigned to become a district judge. And Rep. A.J. Lee of Bagley has decided against seeking a seventh two-year term.

Panel to be abolished?

House asked to solve subversives puzzle

By CARL C. CRAFT

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House is being asked to solve a complex puzzle on how to spot subversives and whether to reform the system for keeping them out of federal jobs.

Nearly a year after President Nixon decided to give the Subversive Activities Control Board some work, the House faced a choice today of either updating and renaming the panel or abolishing it and writing a new law.

Constitutional questions were being raised about both choices, and the Internal Security Committee emerged deeply split after extensive hearings on what to do with the 22-year-old board.

Due in part to Supreme Court rulings, the SACB's five members, each paid $36,000 a year, did virtually nothing for months. The court overruled the board's power to hunt, register and publicize communist groups.

Last July, Nixon issued an executive order making the board the agency to determine who should go on the attorney general's list of subversive organizations. Federal agencies use the list as a guideline for weeding out job applicants who belong to organizations labeled subversive.

Nixon promptly asked Congress to rename SACB the "federal internal security board" and to endorse its new function. Rep. John M. Ashbrook, R-Ohio, sponsored the administration measure.

Later, some groups challenged Nixon's order in federal court. The judge dismissed the suit, but indicated he would set the order aside as vague and overly broad if enforcement is attempted.

Meanwhile, Chairman Richard H. Ichord, D-Mo., handed his Internal Security Committee a rival proposal that he brook bill to the House floor.

termed "more-radical surgery."

Under the Ichord bill, SACB would be abolished through repeal of the 1950 law under which it has functioned. In its place, Ichord proposed a "constitutional oath support" law creating a federal employee security and appeals commission to determine the character of subversive groups and to serve as the appeals board for federal workers dismissed because of loyalty or security questions.

The Ichord committee set aside the chairman's bill and voted 5 to 1 to send an amended version of the Ashbrook bill to the House floor.

Astrology-astronomy workshop sponsored by New Way school

A two-day astrology-astronomy workshop will be conducted next weekend under the sponsorship of The New Way School and Gathering Place, 513 Johnson St.

Arrangements for the event which will begin Friday night and continue through Saturday are being made by Brother Gregory Hanses, counselor and instructor at the school and an amateur astronomer. The New Way is sponsored by the Southeastern Citizens' Action Council, Inc., Rushford, Minn.

The workshop will be limited to 20 participants who will meet at the school at 7 p.m. Friday and go to a farm on Wilson Ridge, about 4 miles south of Winona.

They'll spend the night there, observing stars through two telescopes and members will be assisted in casting their own horoscopes by Gardy Behrends, a well-known astrologer from Minneapolis.

A 6-inch and 2.4-inch refractor will be used for observation of the stars at the farm and participants who have telescopes are urged to bring them.

During the night, those attending also will make their own sundials to be used the next day.

Breakfast will be served at the farm Saturday morning and in the afternoon the group will go to the planetarium at the College of Saint Teresa for a presentation by Brother Gregory. Arrangements for use of the planetarium were made with its director, Sister Margaret Pirkil.

Saturday evening the workshop will be moved to St. Mary's College for observation of stars through the college's 12-inch refractor. Dr. Donald R. Morgan of the St. Mary's faculty, cooperated in making arrangements for this phase of the workshop.

Brother Gregory said that a fee will be charged and asked that all participating bring sleeping bags for use Friday night.

Information about workshop registration may be obtained by calling Brother Gregory at The New Way beginning Tuesday morning.

American Motors using in-plant television network

KENOSHA, Wis. (AP) — The American Motors Corp. has started use of an in-plant television network at its facilities here, vice-president of manufacturing Stuart Reed said.

Reed said the firm is also providing twice-daily programs on a local radio station with company news and coverage of general news topics.

"We are responding to the need for better communications with our employees," he said. "Today's production worker is far more knowledgeable and sophisticated than any past generation of industrial employee, and we believe that an informed employee is a more effective worker."

14 people die on state highways; toll reaches 252

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Despite rain-slick highways, only one person was reported killed on Minnesota highways Monday, on the final day of the long Memorial Day holiday weekend.

The death of a Minneapolis tot in northern Minnesota was the 14th recorded since 6 p.m. Friday, and raised the 1972 state road toll to 252, compared with 328 a year ago.

There were 16 deaths on state roads during the 1971 Memorial Day weekend.

Aaron Huisinga, 7 months, was fatally injured about 2 p.m. Monday when a car driven by his father, Jack Huisinga, 22, Minneapolis, was involved in a two-car collision on U.S. 371 six miles north of Brainerd, the Highway Patrol said. Huisinga suffered minor injuries. His wife, Diane, 21, was reported in serious condition at a Brainerd hospital.

The Patrol said the other driver, Adolf H. Rono Jr., 17, Crosby, Minn., escaped injury. Seven persons died in accidents Sunday while five died Saturday and one was killed Friday during the holiday count began Friday evening.

There were two accidents Sunday which killed two persons. Hazel Peterson, 73, and Mabel Trembly, 81, both of Fairmont, Minn., were killed in a three-car collision south of Fairmont in southern Minnesota.

William Foust 68, and Elizabeth Foust, 73, both of Quamba, Minn., died in a two-car crash on Minn. 23 east of Mora in east-central Minnesota.

The other victims Sunday: Hans R. Lindstrom, 16, Hibbing, killed in a two-car crash on U.S. 169 two miles west of Hibbing in northern Minnesota.

Bradford Walbridge, 20, New Brighton, who died in a two-car crash at an intersection in Thief River Falls in northwest Minnesota.

Women's liberation called inevitable

Seek truth, justice and their expansion, CST grads urged

As they enter "a world of change in which rapidity of technological advances, moral and social changes bring about frustration and confusion," members of this year's graduating class at the College of Saint Teresa were advised Sunday that "search" is the key word for personal accomplishment.

The assertion was made by Sister M. Emmanuel Collins, OSF, vice president for academic affairs at the college at 59th annual commencement exercises at which 211 degrees were conferred.

The commencement speaker at the graduates' request, Sister Emmanuel urged members of the class to "search for truth, for justice, for the way to peace. We cannot leave this search to others; it must begin in our individual lives. Each of us has his own sphere of influence, as real and effective within its limits as a major power. An individual gifted and committed can accomplish much; each of us can accomplish something."

Sister Emmanuel acknowledged that the present state of the world is "frightening," but added it has always been so.

"OUR difficulty today," she held, "is that all of us are so much more aware and our awareness is so immediate. We can observe a disaster in Japan or a revolution in South America while it is happening."

She spoke at ceremonies at which Sister M. Joyce Rowland, college president, and James N. Doyle, Winona, chairman of the board of trustees, conferred degrees on candidates.

Sister Emmanuel said "the present crowds in us, blotting out perspective afforded by the past. It is difficult to distinguish ephemeral from the enduring, the historically significant from the passing fad."

"It is ironical that in a time when thoughtful study of history is so much needed, history is neglected not only by the young but by those for which it should be a guide."

SISTER Emmanuel had begun by observing that when she had asked for suggestions on a topic for her address most she received dealt with Women's Liberation.

She said she had decided against it but did note that women's lib action "is coming and will come, fully, please God, in your lifetime."

She added, however, "it will not come alone. Only when all human beings are free, when each of us looks at another and recognizes and respects the human person that each creature of God is—and by looking at another, I mean at our brothers and sisters, our neighbor, our fellow worker, those within our own little spheres of influence—when we reciprocate justice and love with each other, then as Saint Paul said 'there shall be neither slave nor free, but offspring of God and heirs of heaven.'"

DIRECTING attention to changes that have occurred in the lifetime of the graduating class members and their significance to all people, Sister Emmanuel noted that most seniors had been born in 1950. That year President Truman authorized construction of the hydrogen bomb and television overtook and passed radio sales.

"In human affairs," she said, "change seems only apparent: in 1950 our troops were engaged in an almost disastrous 'police action' in Korea and French troops were experiencing defeat in Indo-China. It was one of the more active years of the Red scare. It saw the close of the trial of Alger Hiss for communist activities and the debut in politics of Richard Nixon and Robert Kennedy. It was the year of Joe McCarthy and not Eugene and of the feverish activities of the House Un-American Activities Committee. A summit that year was also held in Moscow between Mao Tse-tung and Stalin.

"Since 1950 in your lifetime," she continued, "we have experienced the expansion of the computer, space exploration, communication through satellites, and the increased power of scientists to control man both biologically and psychologically."

She told graduates they would live through the second millennium of the Christian era, commenting, "in years preceding the first millennium, man awaited with great trepidation the possible end of the world. In the year 1000 man was still struggling against a nature he could neither understand nor control. But today although man is still far from understanding himself or nature completely, he has acquired an almost incredible power to control not only the universe but his fellow man. Man no longer fears nature but he fears man. Frustration and fear have led to violence at one extreme or to escape on the other.

"Paradoxically, with the expansion of the universe through technological advances, and the consequent frustrations of the individual, philosophy and theology are stressing the importance of the individual, and his humanity — his body, soul, integrity and person."

She concluded with a wish for every graduate of "good and every grace. I even wish you happiness, but never complacency; a happiness always alive to wonder and pricked with discontent. Accept yourselves as God made you."

Record crowd at Rieck's Park event

ALMA, Wis. (Special) — A record crowd attended the weekend Rieck's Park celebration here, despite the cool weather on Memorial Day.

The annual affair, sponsored by the Alma Rod & Gun Club, offered various entertainment, including talent contests, canoe races, airplane rides, carnival rides and numbers by the Alma High School Band.

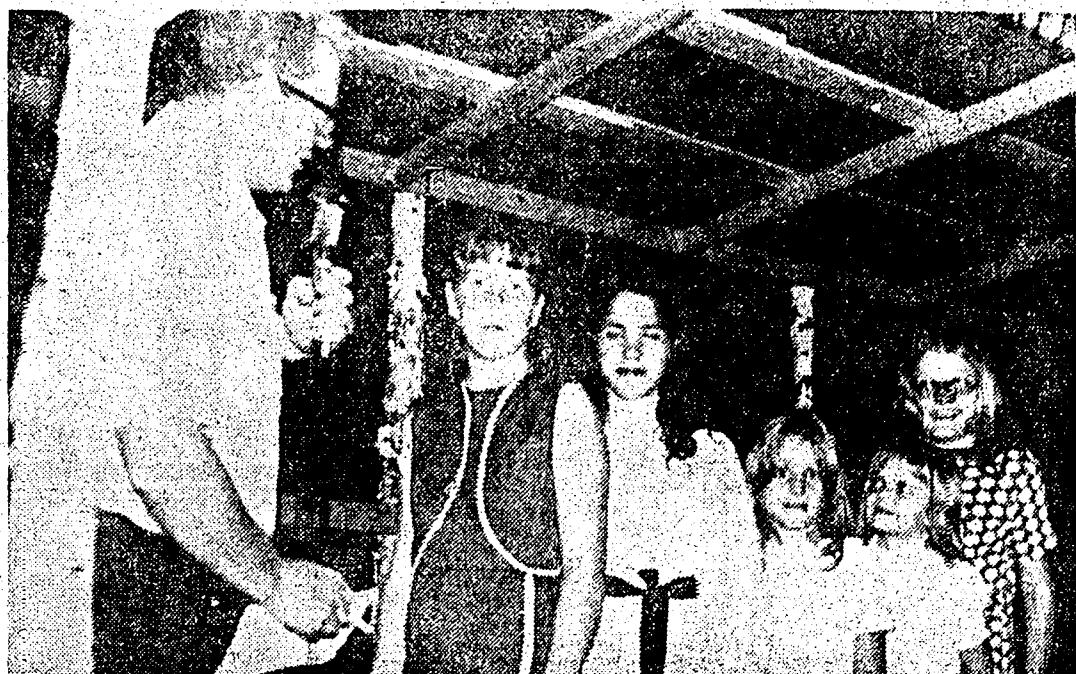

Tug of war games were considered the best ever. Lake City beat out Dwaine Radsek's team in the finals. Darold Abts, in his fifth year as chairman of the foot pit, estimated that 2,400 pieces of chicken and 450 pounds of bratwurst were sold during the three-day affair.

Food was served in a new 18-by-24-foot building, constructed by Clem Breen, president of the Alma Rod & Gun Club, at an estimated $3,000.

HIGH ILLGITIMACY WELLINGTON (AP) — Every eighth New Zealand baby is illegitimate and one in five is conceived out of wedlock, according to latest Health Department statistics.

The illegitimacy rate, now one of the highest in the world, has risen from 8.05 per cent of live births in 1962 to 13.34 per cent in 1970—and it still rising.

Almost 38 per cent of unwed mothers are teenagers. Seventy-five per cent of married teenagers conceived their first baby before they wed.

For the PROTECTION You Need

ALTHOUGH ACTUALLY an apartment over a garage, the entire structure gives more of the appearance of a traditional house, with wood siding shingles, an asphalt shingle roof, double hung windows and flush plywood on the front of the lower level.

House of the week

Apartment-garage for all seasons

By ANDY LANG
An innovation!
Not a complete house, but definitely a home!

It's an apartment-garage—a structure that has as many varied uses as people have varying conditions in their life patterns. Small in size and simple in construction, it can be built at a modest cost. That in itself is a big plus. And here are some of the ways it can be used:

- It could be built on residential property on which there already is a house with or without garage, so that it might be used for rental above and the owner's garage use below — or by renting both levels for a total income producer — or by having it occupied by a newly married couple of the same family for modest living quarters, with the garage rented to offset some of the cost.
- It could be occupied by in-laws for their retirement with an arrangement that enables them to retain their independence by having their own apartment yet be close by. The garage could be rented or used by the owners and the in-laws, since it is a two-car unit.

• It could be built as a vacation home, with the garage used for car or boat storage or as a rainy day play area.

• It could be built on its own piece of property as a retirement home, with one or both of the garage units rented to supplement a fixed income.

• It could be built by an individual to rent out as an income producer.

• It could be built by a couple starting out in marriage on a modest income where their housing needs are small. Rental of part or all of the garage would help to defray expenses. As the income grows, wings could be added to make it a full-sized home, with the original apartment rented out.

The design of the structure is as intriguing as its multi-use.

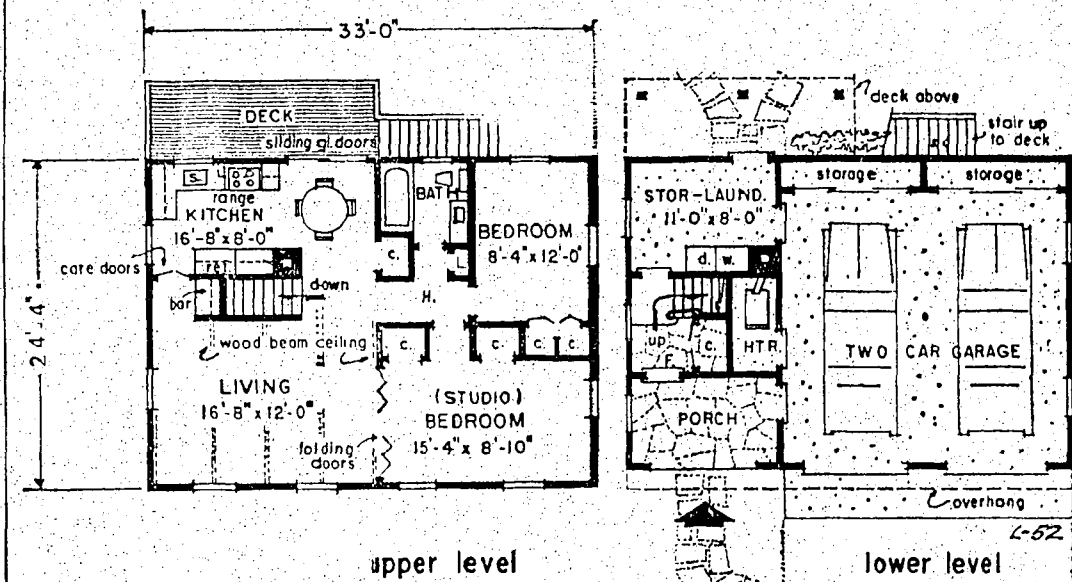

The lower level is on a slab. An attractive enclosed porch makes the separation from the garage so one can proceed upstairs without thinking he is still in a garage. A side door allows a weather-protected entrance.

A platform stairway leads either up or beyond to the laundry and storage room. This also has access to and from the garage and outdoors. A guest closet is also located at the stair. The garage has a rear wall of storage closets and a heater room is connected to the garage.

Upstairs, three rooms, a kitchen and a bath make up the efficiency apartment. A sloping beamed ceiling runs through the living room and kitchen. An area is provided in the kitchen for eating, and a sliding glass door provides a view of outdoors as well as access to an upper level deck.

The larger bedroom adjoining the living room has a folding separator to it; it can be left open when spaciousness or additional room is required for guests. A concealed bar is in the stairwell recess.

FLOOR PLANS: Comfortable and compact apartment for a small family. Stairway which ends on the upper level is in an ideal location, permitting movement to each of the four rooms without crossing any other room.

St. Mary's draws permit for more housing units

Winona's 1972 building permit valuation increased to $1,873,849 last week compared with $906,580 at this time a year ago, according to the office files of George Rogge, city building inspector.

St. Mary's College drew permits totaling $277,872 to construct 28 four-person apartments in six buildings measuring 52-feet by 52-feet each. Four of the buildings each will contain five apartments and two of the buildings will contain four apartments. Each apartment will consist of two double bedrooms, a living room, a bath and a kitchenette.

The project, named Village II, will be located south of the athletic field off Gilmore Valley Road on college property. A paved area for 80 cars will run along the Gilmore Road.

The wood frame buildings will have a rough wood outer finish. The apartments will be carpeted and the walls covered with a vinyl paneling.

One of the buildings will house laundry room facilities. Work, by P. Earl Schwab Co., 74 Kansas St., is scheduled for completion Aug. 18.

Winona State, Area Four champion, had heroes aplenty

By STAN SCHMIDT
Daily News Sports Editor

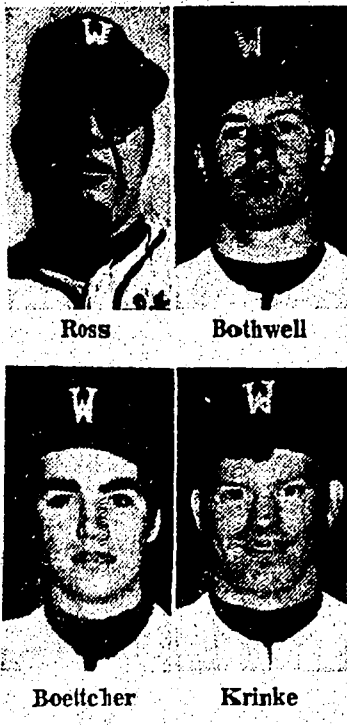

Winona State, surprising everyone, including Warrior Coach Gary Grob, won the Area Four NALA baseball championship at Waverly, Iowa, Saturday — the hard way.

The Warriors were upended Friday afternoon by the Cinderella team of the tournament, University of Wisconsin-La Crosse, by a slim 4-3 margin, knocking Winona into the loser's bracket.

But the Warriors bounced back, ripping Buena Vista 8-1 that same night, clobbering Missouri Western, perhaps the pre-tourney favorite, 11-0 Saturday afternoon; forcing the tournament into an if-necessary game by shocking La Crosse 5-1 Saturday afternoon; and then earning a berth in the national tournament next week at Phoenix, Ariz., via a come-from-behind 7-1 triumph over the same La Crosse squad that had beaten them three straight times this year.

"After the loss to La Crosse Friday," noted Grob as he finally relaxed in his home in Winona Monday morning, "Phoenix seemed a long, long, long way away."

"To be honest — I didn't think we could do it. The percentages were against us. The only thing we could do was go out and play it one inning at a time."

When did Grob change his mind?

"After beating La Crosse the first time," he replied with a smile, "and when we went ahead 2-1 in the last game we sensed we'd be going to Phoenix."

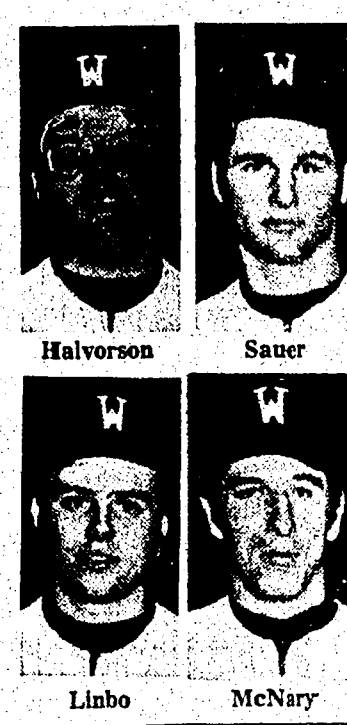

"Dan Halvorson's home run in the sixth inning, which tied the game, just completely lifted our ball club. We knew we would win then. That home run was the shot heard round the world as far as we were concerned."

The Warriors had heroes aplenty in the 39 innings they played in less than 36 grueling hours:

- Jeff Ross, The Warrior third baseman went 9-for-16 in the tournament, drove in nine runs, poked a three-run homer in the third inning of the first game against La Crosse that gave Winona a 4-0 lead and cracked four doubles, including a three-RBI rap that opened the Missouri Western game wide open in the fifth inning.
- Halvorson, The Warrior catcher cracked a pair of home runs, both solo shots off La Crosse pitcher Jerry Augustine. "Toad" went 5-for-13, drove in five runs and was behind the plate for all five Warrior games.

- Tad Bothwell, Although he had hurled just 7½ innings prior to the tournament, the outfielder-pitcher yielded but four hits in going the distance in the championship game — and struck out 11, more than any other pitcher in one game. The southpaw also made his bat felt, as he played in every game, going 5-for-16 and driving in four runs.
- Steve Krinke, The only tournament pitcher to be credited with two victories, Krinke worked 12 innings, three against Buena Vista and nine against La Crosse. He yielded just one run — that unearned — during that time and gave up eight hits and struck out a dozen. And he worked the last five innings with a badly bruised hip, an injury suffered while running the bases and being tackled by La Crosse second baseman Roger Buswell.
- Lee Boettcher, The only tournament pitcher to hurl a shutout, Boettcher was credited with the Warriors' surprisingly easy victory over Missouri Western. He gave up only three hits, walked two and struck out nine in the seven-inning game, shortened because of the ten-run rule.
- There were others too. Doug Sauer cracked a three-run homer against Missouri Western and accounted for six RBIs; Dave Linbo went 7-for-16 in a dual outfield-shortstop role; and Dean Yoost went 4-for-15.

All told, the Warriors collected 41 hits in 146 at bats (a .282 BA), outscored their opponents 34-7, drove in 32 runs, ripped four home runs and nine doubles, tallied half a dozen double plays, committed seven errors, yielded only four earned runs — all in the first game of losing pitcher Terry Brecht who suffered his first loss of the season — struck out 40 and accumulated a team earned run average of 0.92.

"It was definitely a 100 percent team effort," continued Grob, "Not only on the part of those who played, but also on the part of those who didn't. We were a very, very tight knit team this year."

"I really think that the one attribute to winning three games Saturday is that our club is in the best condition, physically, of any club I've had. And I think the new Memorial Hall facility had a lot to do with it."

"Hitting actually won the tournament for

In national tourney's 1st round WSC '9' will meet La Verne Monday

Winona State College set a record for most victories in one season this year by winning 29 games, one better than last year.

But when the Warriors enter the 16th annual National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics tournament in Phoenix, Ariz., next week, they'll have the worst record, percentage wise, of the eight teams entered.

According to the pairings announced at NIAA headquarters in Kansas City, Mo., over the weekend, Winona State, with a 29-10 record, will meet La Verne College of La Verne, Calif., at 7:30 p.m. (Winona time) Monday.

he expects to practice Saturday afternoon.

"If our kids don't go to Phoenix tight — stage struck — we could do very well. In 1961 we were, in a sense, awed by playing in a national tournament, and in 1962 we just wanted to go back."

"We could do well this year, especially if our hitting holds up. The pitchers we face aren't going to be any better than those we've faced already this year."

"The lustre of a national tournament effects kids in different ways, but we've just got to play very relaxed."

Sam Houston will be making its seventh appearance in the tournament, after making six straight trips from 1960-65. Sam Houston won the national crown in 1963.

Lewis College will be making its fifth appearance after finishing third last year behind champion Linfield, Ore., and runner-up David Lipscomb, and second in 1966 behind Linfield.

David Lipscomb made its first appearance last year, losing a 10-inning, 9-8 decision to Linfield in the championship game. Oklahoma Christian, Frostburg and High Point will be making their initial trips to the national tournament.

Grob District 13 Coach of Year

Gary Grob, who coached Winona State to its first Area Four baseball championship since 1963, was named District 13 NALA Coach of the Year over the weekend.

Grob, who took over the Warrior helm in 1967, piloted Winona State to a Northern Intercollegiate Conference championship — the school's first since 1966 — and a second straight District 13 championship.

The Warriors compiled a 29-10 record this season.

The Warriors, who will be heading for their first national tournament since 1963 next week, placed three on the All-District 13 squad.

They were senior first baseman Dick McNary, who won his second NIC batting championship, and pitchers Terry Brecht, a junior, and Steve Krinke, a senior.

St. Mary's College, which shared the Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference crown with the College of St. Thomas, placed a pair on the all-district team: senior second baseman Mark Servais and junior third baseman Jack Brawley.

Others named to the team included shortstop Jack Tamble of St. Thomas; catcher Bruce Fuchs of St. Paul-Concordia; outfielders Rick Webb of Gustavus Adolphus, Scott Backer of Minnesota-Morris and Tom Fier of St. John's; and pitcher Steve Samuelson of St. Thomas

Krinke, Brecht, Servais All-Area Four Two Warriors all-tourney

WAVERLY, Iowa, — Winona State College, despite capturing the Area Four NALA baseball championship here Saturday, placed only two players on the all-tournament team announced midway through the final game.

The Warriors also placed two on the All-Area Four team, announced at the same time. St. Mary's College of Winona placed one player on the all-area squad.

Catcher Dan Halvorson and pitcher Steve Krinke were the only Warriors elected to the all-tournament team, which was dominated by six selections from tournament runner-up University of Wisconsin-La Crosse.

The voting was done by major league scouts and members of news media in attendance. Ballots were turned in Saturday afternoon.

Halvorson, a senior from Red Wing, Minn., went 5-for-13 in the tournament, including five RBIs, a pair of home runs and two doubles. He caught all five games for Winona.

Krinke, a senior from Lambert, Minn., collected a pair of mound victories — setting a school record of 11 victories in one season in the process — in 12 innings of work, defeating Buena Vista Friday night and La Crosse Saturday afternoon.

Krinke, a southpaw, yielded only eight hits, walked nine, struck out four and did not give up an earned run in tournament play.

In District 3 semis Lake City ousts Winhawks 4-2

By STAN SCHMIDT
Daily News Sports Editor

ROCHESTER, Minn.—Winona High once again was eliminated in the District Three baseball tournament here Monday afternoon.

The Winhawks, who were beaten by Rochester Mayo in the opening round last year, were ousted by Lake City in the semifinals 4-2 this time around, forcing Winhawk Coach Jerry Raddatz to conclude the season with a 12-6 mark after finishing second in the Big Nine Conference.

The triumph boosted Lake City into the championship game of the District Three playoffs. The Hawatha Valley Conference champions now sport a 12-2 record and will face either Red Wing or Pine Island in the title game Thursday at 6 p.m. at Mayo field.

RED WING and Pine Island, the latter unbeaten in 16 games this season, were to clash after the Winona-Lake City game Monday, but rain forced a postponement. The game has been rescheduled for today at 5 p.m.

Both Winona and Lake City were hampered considerably by the sloppy playing conditions, but the Tigers were able to take advantage of it more often as they collected at least three infield hits that most assuredly would have been outs under more preferable playing conditions.

Nonetheless, the Winhawks jumped on Lake City and ace pitcher Mike Huettl—who had given up just one earned run all season—early in the game.

Karl Kreuzer rapped a double to left in the second inning to start a brief Winhawk spurt that saw Ross Hammernik draw a walk and Steve Wise load the bases with an infield single. Kreuzer then came home on a wild pitch.

MIKE CASE, the burly right-handed pitcher for Winona, helped his own cause in the third frame when he slammed an 0-2 count curve ball well over the leftfield fence for a solo homer.

Case led the Hawks at the plate, going 3-for-3, including the home run, a double and a single. He also drew a walk.

But after Case had put the Winhawks out in front 2-0, Huettl bore down—and retired the next eight batters before giving up back-to-back singles to Case and Gary Ahrens in the top of the sixth. Huettl worked his way out of trouble by forcing Greg Scarborough to hit into a fielder's choice, Kreuzer to pop out and Ross Hammernik to go down swinging.

Meanwhile, the Tigers were slowly chipping away at Winona's advantage with single runs in the third and fourth innings. They finally went ahead for good in the bottom of the fifth.

IN THE THIRD frame, Lake City tallied on a walk to Dan Coyle, a double by Huettl and an RBI single by Dave Tackman. In the fourth, a double by Steve Preble knotted the score at two apiece.

The Tigers went ahead in the fifth — and sent Case to the showers too — as Coyle, Dave Tackman, Tom Eggenberger and Terry Steffenhagen collected singles. Steffenhagen drove in both runs with his rip to rightfield.

The game was still undecided until the last pitch, however, as the Hawks mounted what could have been a go-ahead rally in the top of the seventh.

Wise drew a lead-off walk, only to watch as the next two Hawks struck out and popped out. But Dave Raddatz singled to right and Case drew a walk to load the bases.

Ahrens stepped to the plate and slapped a sharp line drive down the third base line. It could have scored at least one Hawk — but third sacker Eggenberger made a spectacular diving grab. And the Hawks were finished for the season.

"IT JUST wasn't our day," moaned Raddatz, "It seemed like every ball we hit was right at someone. We certainly hit Huettl a lot harder than they hit Case."

"That last ball Ahrens hit just kinda told the story of the game. The guy just dove and caught it in the webbing of his glove; we just hit the ball wherever they were."

Case yielded ten hits, walked three and struck out six in suffering the loss before giving way to Greg Zabrowski, who hurled the last inning.

Huettl, on the other hand, gave up seven hits, walked three and struck out four. Both of the runs he gave up were earned.

"You certainly have to give Huettl a lot of credit," continued Raddatz, in his second year at the Hawk helm. "He bore down in the tight situations. And in the last inning, with the sacks full, he got out of it."

Replaces Bristol Crandall brightest ray of sun at County Stadium

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The brightest ray of sunshine in Milwaukee County Stadium is Del Crandall, whom the Milwaukee Brewers have selected as a replacement for field manager Dave Bristol.

Crandall, 42, called up from a managerial post in Evansville, Ind., checked in Monday while his new club was avenging a weekend of defeat with an 11-3 victory in Boston against the Red Sox.

Club president Allan H. Selig roused Bristol out of bed Sunday with a pre-dawn announcement that he was being fired, but denied general manager Frank Lane had applied the pressure.

Lane's 10-player winter trade with the Red Sox had not put the Brewers in the winning column, and they had slumped to the American League's worst record.

Bristol had been censured by fans for his line-up switches, which he presumably made in an effort to find a winning combination amid Lane's personnel alterations.

Unable to associate with a constantly changing roster, fans fell away from the club. Home attendance was running 40 per cent worse than it was last season.

Bristol displayed surprise at the announcement he received in Boston, but denied he had any grudges. Selig denied there was reason for any.

"Dave and Frank did disagree on some matters," Selig said. "But that situation is not unusual for any general manager and his manager."

"They had no feud," Selig insisted. Discarding Bristol "was not Frank's decision. It was made on the basis of talks with all the club officials and owners. The final decision fell on me."

Crandall's popularity as a household hero for the Braves during Milwaukee's pennant years in the 1950s might restore some ticket-window health to the owners' pocketbooks.

The former all-star catcher, who left the Milwaukee Braves in 1963, has been manager of the Evansville minor-league club for more than a year.

In contrast to Bristol's iron-fist attitude toward exhausting drills and clubhouse training rules, Crandall radiated bliss as he checked in Monday.

"I don't plan any changes in rules and regulations because I don't know what the current ones are," he said, adding he doesn't even object that Selig is retaining Bristol's coaching staff for the rest of the season.

"If I have any conviction about managing," he said, "it is that baseball should be fun for the players and fun for the fans."

"I want to try for a relaxed atmosphere," he added.

Players saluted Bristol as a hard-working boss. But they spoke of the team's having been under pressure and tension. Lane was happy to expand on the observation.

"Possibly he tried to cram too much experience in too short a time in the younger players, causing them to tighten up," the trade-arranger suggested.

"When there is no improvement, you've got to make a change," Lane continued. "We waited 30 games."

After 30 games this season, Bristol's Brewers had won only a third of their encounters and were batting only .185.

"Things have gone bad all season," Crandall said. Then, noting the club's Memorial Day performance in Boston, he said: "If they can keep hitting, I think we will be all right."

Perry seeks end of slump vs. Royals

ST. PAUL (AP) — Jim Perry, ineffective his last three starts, will be attempting to break his pitching slump tonight against the Kansas City Royals at Metropolitan Stadium.

Perry was originally scheduled to pitch Monday, but rain forced postponement of that game. It was rescheduled as part of a two-night double-header June 29.

In his last three starts, Perry has given up 14 hits and 12 runs in 12 1-3 innings. This prompted Manager Bill Rigney and pitching coach Al Worthington to spend extra time with the former Cy Young Award winner.

"Both Al and I worked with Jim a couple of days ago when he threw some to loosen up," Rigney said. "He hasn't been getting a good turn and everything's been a little too quick. As a result, he hasn't been getting on top of his pitches like he normally does."

Perry faces the Royals' Paul Splittorff as the rainout forced pitching rotations to move back a day.

A bit of bright news under the rainy skies Monday was the report that Tony Oliva would be activated Friday.

Oliva, the defending American League batting champion, has been on the disabled list this season with a bad knee. But outfielder Steve Brye leaves Friday for two weeks of military reserve duty and a Twins spokesman said Oliva would probably be activated at that time.

He would be available for pinch-hitting duties.

"We'll use Oliva as a pinch hitter and work him into the lineup slowly," Rigney said. "Can you imagine how many more games we might have won this season with Oliva's bat in the lineup?"

Milwaukee overpowers Boston 11-3

By DAVE O'HARA
BOSTON (AP) — What can a manager say after his team takes an 11-3 shellacking?
"Nothing—we got beat," Manager Eddie Kasko replied to the question Monday after the Milwaukee Brewers overpowered the Boston Red Sox 11-3 before 15,486 fans at Fenway Park.

"Milwaukee was ready to break loose, and they sure did," Kasko said. "They got 48 hits in four games, and we won three. Any time the other team gets that many hits, you have to feel very fortunate to come out with three wins."

The Brewers, led by Billy Conigliaro and George Scott, had 12 hits, including eight for extra bases, in snapping Boston's four-game winning streak. Conigliaro hit his fifth and sixth homers and a run-scoring triple, while Scott drilled his fourth homer and collected a triple and a single. The two Boston favorites drove in four runs each, and scored two apiece.

Marty Pattin, a right-hander obtained in the 10-player trade with Milwaukee last fall, took his sixth loss in seven decisions. He was tagged for six runs, but was the victim of an error and two balls which sailed over Tommy Harper's head in center.

Gary Peters and Bob Bolin were ineffective in relief, but it didn't make much difference as Bill Parsons was in command most of the way.

First-baseman Bob Burda and Reggie Smith hit solo homers for the Red Sox. Doubles by Doug Griffin and Pattin accounted for the other Boston run. Smith, who twisted his right ankle Sunday, also had a double, which was wasted.

The Red Sox wound up the weeklong home stand with a 5-2 record.

WSC's Lenoach finishes 5th in NIC links

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Mike Harvey of Michigan Tech won the Northern Inter-collegiate Conference golf championship Friday with his second straight three-over par 75 for a 36-hole total of 150.

Moorhead State won the team title during the two-day tournament at the St. Paul Keller course with a 780 total. Bemidji was second with 785, Minnesota-Morris had 786, Michigan Tech 792, S. Cloud 793, Winona and Southwest 813 each.

Burt Keiger Morris, and Dan McGrath, Bemidji, tied for second with 151 totals.

Larry Lenoach, a junior from Austin, was the only Warrior golfer to finish in the top 14 after firing successive rounds of 77 and 78 in the two-day meet for a 36-hole total of 155. Lenoach's score was five strokes off the pace set by Harvey and was good for fifth place in the individual standings.

Crandall's popularity as a household hero for the Braves during Milwaukee's pennant years in the 1950s might restore some ticket-window health to the owners' pocketbooks.

The former all-star catcher, who left the Milwaukee Braves in 1963, has been manager of the Evansville minor-league club for more than a year.

In contrast to Bristol's iron-fist attitude toward exhausting drills and clubhouse training rules, Crandall radiated bliss as he checked in Monday.

"I don't plan any changes in rules and regulations because I don't know what the current ones are," he said, adding he doesn't even object that Selig is retaining Bristol's coaching staff for the rest of the season.

"If I have any conviction about managing," he said, "it is that baseball should be fun for the players and fun for the fans."

Al Unser, 3rd in running, boosted to 2nd Ruling bumps Grant from 2nd to 12th in '500'

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — "It's kind of bad to take somebody's place," Al Unser said. "I don't feel like we belong up here in second place."

Nobody took Mark Donohue's place. He won the Indianapolis 500-mile auto race. But Unser, who finished third in the running, wound up second after original runner-up Jerry Grant was bumped down to 12th for illegal refueling.

Donohue, a 35-year-old engineering graduate from Brown University, captured the 56th edition of the Memorial Weekend classic Saturday and took home a cool $218,767.90 for it.

Gary Bettenhausen, of Tinley Park, Ill., led for 126 of the 200 laps. But with only 18 of them remaining, ignition troubles knocked him out of the race, leaving Grant in front.

And just six laps later, Grant, of Seattle, scooted into the pits for quick repairs on a vibrating right front wheel—and Donohue had the lead.

He held it for the remaining 12 laps—30 miles—to win with a record average speed of 182.962 miles an hour. He also turned the fastest single lap at 187.539.

Al Unser, who failed in his bid to win his third straight Indy, was third when the cars crossed the finish line and Joe Leonard was fourth.

But after speedway officials upheld a protest by Unser's chief mechanic, George Bignotti, Grant was bounced out of the top 10, boosting the other finishers up a notch. The officials said Grant improperly took fuel from teammate Bobby Unser's tank during that final pit stop.

The infraction cost Grant more than just the No. 2 spot. While Al Unser took home $95,257.89 for second place and Leonard received $58,797.89, Grant wound up with $23,852.85—a loss of some $72,000 for the penalty.

right rear tire flattened. Charlie Glotzbach finished third in a Dodge, more than 12 miles back. Benny Parsons was fourth and LeeRoy Yarbrough fifth, both in Mercurys.

Also Sunday, three-times Indianapolis 500 winner A.J. Foyt was hospitalized with first and second degree burns suffered during a pit stop in a 100-lap United States Auto Club dirt-track event at Du Quoin, Ill. The mishap occurred when Foyt jerked a gas hose loose, spilling on his back and over the cockpit of his car. Foyt jumped from the car, his clothing ablaze. He was hospitalized and listed in "good" condition Monday night, but will have to undergo ankle surgery.

Denis Hulme of New Zealand outdueled Emerson Fittipaldi of Brazil to win Monday's Formula 1 Gold Cup race at Oulton Park, England, averaging 115.17 miles per hour. Hulme was driving a McLaren, Fittipaldi a John Player Special (Lotus).

George Folmer, who lost his pole starting position at the Bryar 200 Trans-Am road race at Loudon, N.H. Monday because his car wouldn't start, took over his teammate's Javelin and drove it to victory, averaging 75.351 miles per hour. Milt Minter, driving a Pontiac Firebird, finished second, two laps back.

Lunn ends winless drought at Atlanta

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Soft-spoken Californian Bob Lunn departed for another stop on the PGA tour with a 16-month winless drought broken, and Jack Nicklaus didn't think his Atlanta Classic downfall would affect his preparation for the United States Open.

"I really didn't think about winning the tournament until the 18th hole when I made that last putt," said Lunn, who had won only $7,300 this year before pocketing the $28,000 first prize in the $130,000 Atlanta tournament.

It was Lunn's first victory since his January, 1971 triumph at Los Angeles. It also was his second Atlanta title; he won this tournament in 1968.

Lunn started the final round Sunday in a deadlock for the lead with Gary Player, while Nicklaus, who had a course record 64 Friday, was only three shots back.

Player drew even when Lunn bogeyed the 14th, but the South African fell one shot back when he bogeyed at 15.

Lunn was standing in the 18th fairway watching as Player sank a 12-foot birdie putt, forcing the big Californian to par the final hole to avoid a tie.

Lunn sent his approach only six feet from the pin and made it for a birdie that gave him a 69 for a 275 total over the par 72, 6,883-yard Atlanta Country Club course.

Meanwhile, Nicklaus had skied to a 75 in the third round and went to a fat 76 on the final day.

Player was second with a 277 total, followed by Lou Graham at 278, Romero Blancas and Dave Hill at 279, and Gay Brewer at 280.

Dakota	1 0	Caledonia	0 1
West Salem	0 2	Lansing	1 1

Winnabago Valley and Bangor, Wis., posted victories in an abbreviated slate of Tri-State League baseball action over the weekend.

After losing to Pepin, Wis., in a non-league contest Sunday, Winnabago Valley came back strong on Monday to stage a 15-2 rout over Lansing, Iowa. The winners pounded out 15 hits in the game including a home run, a double and a single from Dave Darling and a 3-for-3 performance from Earl Benson.

Bangor edged Caledonia 3-2 by scoring twice in the bottom of the ninth inning to hang the loss on Craig Anderson.

In the only Hiawatha Valley League game played, Dakota knocked off West Salem 6-1 on the pitching of Terry Beach and a two-run homer by Tom Thesling in the fourth inning. All other HVL tilts were postponed due to wet grounds.

Results from the Eastern Division of the Tri-State League has Chaseburg whipping DeSoto 5-1, Stoddard nipping Viroqua 5-4, Wauzeka battering Eitzen 13-2, and Harper's Ferry edging Genoa 7-6.

There was auto racing in places other than Indianapolis over the Memorial Day weekend, too.

At Charlotte, N.C., Buddy Baker drove his red Dodge to a one-mile victory Sunday in the World 600 stock car race, averaging 142.255 mile per hour and earning $21,975.

Bobby Allison gunning for his third consecutive victory in the race, had his Chevrolet 100 yards in front of Baker with just 50 miles to go when his

WJHS thinclads bury area foes

The Winona Junior High track team breezed past Peterson and Houston in a triangular at Jefferson Field with victories in 10 of the meet's 16 events.

The fledgling Hawks wound up with 105 points while Houston was second with 32 and Peterson last with 29.

Three school records fell and a fourth was equaled in the win. Mike Aeling set the pace with three solo wins for the Hawks, including new school records in the long jump and the 440-yard dash. A leap of 17-9/4 was good enough to better the long jump mark, while a clocking of :56.15 in the 440 chalked up that record. An 11.9 in the 100-yard dash completed his day.

Larry Brown tied a school record in the 60-yard dash with a :7.3 clocking, but finished second, 2 off the pace.

The third school record fell to the 880-yard relay team of Brown, Dean Emanuel, Scott Erwin and Todd Duffy with a time of 1:43.5.

Steve Olson, Peterson, also notched firsts in three events, with a 25.5 clocking in the 180-yard low hurdles, a leap of 5-6 in the high jump and a vault of 9-6.

Speltz quartet wins horse race golf at Westfield

The John Speltz team captured top honors in the Memorial Day Horse Race Tournament held at the Westfield Golf Club Monday.

Team No. 6, one of a total of 20 teams, in the tourney consisting of Speltz, Cliff Koxlien, Gordie Fakler, and Gale Schultz, compiled 153 points, seven more than their nearest challengers. Scoring was kept on a basis of three points for a birdie, two for a par, and one for a bogey.

Finishing second with 146 points was Team No. 1 consisting of Girard Jankowski, Jerry Rodgers, Dean Brown and Edward Hemmelman. Third place went to Team No. 7 which piled up 141 points. Making up the team were Earl Buswell, Ken Pohlack, Bob Ives and Don Kaufmann.

Durand golfers ousted, Bauer's 73 is 2nd best

BLACK RIVER FALLS, Wis. — Sparta and La Crosse Central will represent Western Wisconsin in the state high school golf tournament as the result of Friday's sectional action in Black River Falls.

Sparta finished with an 18-hole total of 307 with Central just one shot back with 308 and Black River Falls tied for third with Durand at 309.

Trailing the leaders were Wisconsin Rapids, 320; Stevens Point, 328; Neillsville, 334, and Eau Claire Memorial, trailing the rain dampened field, withdrew.

The top two teams in the sectionals advance to the state meet in Madison June 2-3, as does the sectional medalist. Black River Falls' Dave Young nipped Durand's Tim Bauer by a stroke to gain the berth, finishing with a 72.

Neither the afternoon nor evening events scheduled Monday will be made up.

Tri-Oval will continue its normal slate of races Friday at 8:30 p.m.

A total of 21 senior lettermen were honored, and the cheerleaders and girls' gymnastics team were also recognized.

G-E-T's Byom named top athlete

GALESVILLE, Wis. — John Byom was the recipient of the Butch Gardner Memorial Award presented to the outstanding senior athlete at the Gale-Ettrick-Trempealeau Awards Banquet held here recently.

Byom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Byom of Galesville, was a standout receiver for the Redmen's unbeaten Caledonia Conference champion football team last fall, was a top scoring threat for G-E-T's conference co-champions in basketball and was the leading quarter-mile on the Redmen's track team this spring.

The event was sponsored jointly by the Galesville, and Ettrick Lions Clubs, Don Hendrickson served as master of ceremonies, and Larry Fronberg, a former Gale-Ettrick and University of Wisconsin-La Crosse star athlete who is now a coach at Shawano, Wis., was the featur-

MADISON, Wis. — Pamela Grover of Winona, riding her thoroughbred hunter, Lady Steel Blue, placed in three different classes at the Madison Charity Horse show held at the Dane County Coliseum here over the weekend.

Miss Grover earned a second in the Hunt Seat Equitation Under Saddle for 13-year-olds and under, followed by a fifth place in Junior Hunter Under Saddle, and a sixth in Junior Hunter Stake competition.

Judging the American Horse Show Association and tri-state approved show was Solon Palmer of Upper Montclair, N.J.

Hitting won tourney for us, claims Grob

us. It took a lot of pressure off our pitching and defense; you can play much more relaxed with that big lead. And the depth on our ball club was really a definite factor."

One Warrior who noticeably wasn't hitting as well as expected was Dick McNary, who earlier this season had captured the Northern Intercollegiate Conference batting championship. McNary went only 3-for-19 in the tournament, driving in three runs. He did, however, turn in a superlative defensive performance at first base.

Grob revealed that McNary had been playing with a bone bruise on one hand, impairing his hitting ability.

Grob explained the Warriors' sudden surge at the plate, after several games of hitting that just managed to eke out victories, in this way:

"We had a meeting one day, and I told the team not to try to hit with McNary. This was when Dick was still hitting that ball very well. I told them that Dick was an exceptional hitter.

"But I think this might have put too much pressure on Dick. He started to slump and the team thought 'if he can't hit, we can't hit either. Before, Dick was carrying the team, now, in a way, the team is carrying Dick."

"But we're putting the ball on the ball now and it's all kinds of culminating together. They played ball down there like we expected them to all year.

"How does it feel to be going to Phoenix? It's pretty good, pretty good. You know, this was a goal I set when I first started coaching here. We had two other chances to go in 1968 and last year, and we didn't. But now it's a pretty good thrill."

The Warriors will be carrying a 29-10 record into the national tournament, which they will enter for the first time since 1963.

7 Warriors are All-NIC

MOORHEAD, Minn. — League champion Winona State College led the balloting for the 1972 All-Northern Intercollegiate Conference baseball squad with seven selections, including three pitchers.

Winona hurlers Terry Brecht, Lee Boettcher and Steve Kinkne were among the 16 NIC athletes selected. Winona also placed first baseman Dick McNary, second baseman Dean Yoost, catcher Dan Halvorson and outfielder Tad Bothwell.

St. Cloud State, the NIC's runnerup with an 11-4 league mark, had three selections in shortstop Bob Kelly, centerfielder Mike Stoull and pitcher Brock Kiecker.

Minnesota-Morris finished last with a 3-11 conference log but gained four All-NIC choices in catcher Ron Raasch, utility infielder Doug Patnode and outfielders Scott Backer and Steve Long.

Moorhead State landed pitcher Mike Wilson on the all-NIC squad while Bemidji's Lee Patten was named the all-conference third baseman. Southwest State did not have a man on the All-NIC team.

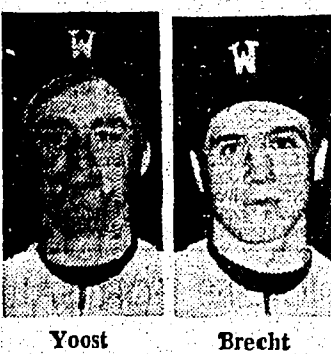

Halvorson, Patnode and Kinkne are repeaters from the 1971 All-NIC team, while Long was an all-conference choice in 1970 and McNary in 1969. McNary led the NIC in hitting this spring with a .444 average, including 20 hits and 12 runs scored. Raasch placed second behind McNary with a .439 mark, followed by Backer at .369.

Brecht topped the NIC pitchers with a 5-0 mark and a sparkling 0.49 ERA. Wilson finished 4-1 in NIC action, while Kiecker and Kinkne were 4-1.

There were six seniors on the All-NIC squad in Halvorson, McNary, Yoost, Kelly, Patnode and Kinkne. Eight junior selections included Raasch, Patten, Bothwell, Long, Brecht, Boettcher Kiecker and Wilson.

Backer was the lone sophomore on the squad while Stoull who led the NIC in runs-batted-in with 14, was the only freshman honored.

Yoost Brecht

Only 2 Warriors on all-tournament

three earned runs, five hits and struck out nine in losing to Missouri Western in the tourney's opening game.

Notably missing from the all-tourney team was the Warriors' third baseman Jeff Ross, who led the tourney in hitting by going 9-for-16, driving in nine runs, rapping a home run and collecting four doubles.

Other Warriors who could just as well have been chosen were shortstop-outfielder Dave Lingo, who went 7-for-16; outfielder-pitcher Tad Bothwell who went 5-for-16, drove in four runs and yielded only four hits and struck out 11 in pitching the championship game against La Crosse; pitcher Lee Boettcher, who tossed a three-hit shutout against Missouri Western; outfielder Doug Sauer, who went 2-for-10 and drove in six runs; and second baseman Dean Yoost, who went 4-for-15.

"I was disappointed with the all-tournament team," commented Winona State Coach Gary Grob, "and I know a few of our kids were disappointed too. Three or four more of our kids could have made that team."

"Jeff Ross, to me, was our Most Valuable Player. Jeff drove in nine runs and went 9-for-16 and twice drove in runs that broke games wide open for us—and yet he doesn't even get mentioned."

"The thing is, they picked the team too early. The ballots, I understand, were submitted before we played La Crosse Saturday."

Others named to the All-Area Four team were: Steigerwald; third baseman Ralph Saucedo of Missouri Western; shortstop Jack Tumble of St. Thomas; catcher Rick Knipper of Upper Iowa; outfielders Brian Felda of UW-Oshkosh, Steve Proeschel of UW-Stevens Point and Rick Inetolicky of Upper Iowa; and pitchers McDonald and Madsen.

Glennie offsets fighting of Saints
OSHAWA, Ont. (AP) — Bob Kelly and Brian Glennie still are in the National Hockey League as of Monday night.

Kelly, a winger with the Philadelphia Flyers, denied he has signed with the Chicago Cougars of the new World Hockey Association and Glennie offset rumors he has joined the Minnesota Fighting Saints of the WHA.

Glennie, a defenseman, said it would be one or two weeks before his lawyer, Alan Eagleston, settles contractual talks with his current employer, the Toronto Maple Leafs, or the Saints.

Kelly, in denying the Chicago claim in his service, said he had signed a two-year contract with the Flyers.

Hansen wins everything at Donnybrook

BRainerd, Minn. (AP) — Jerry Hansen of Bloomington climaxed a most successful Memorial Day weekend Monday when he and co-driver Fred Baker of Mound captured first place and $3,000 in the Uncola 500 endurance race at Donnybrook Speedway.

Hansen, who had won the feature races Saturday and Sunday, built a commanding lead through the heavy rain at the outset of the race.

Driving a production Chevrolet Corvette, the Hansen-Baker duo averaged 92.332 miles an hour over the three-mile circuit.

Tony DeLorenzo of Detroit, Mich., and Bill Morrison of Blue Island, Ill., also driving a Corvette, finished six laps behind the winners but still pocketed $1,000.

Another Corvette, piloted by Mike Murray of Toledo, Ohio, and Dwight Knupp of Southfield, Mich., finished third.

Finishing third with 142 points was the team of John Pendleton, Bill Laurie, A. L. Nelson, and Chuck Merkel.

In a club tourney held Saturday where only the two best balls out of a foursome were counted for score, top honors went to Neil Werner, R. E. Miesbauer, R. J. Ritter and Dr. John Alampi with 12 strokes for 18 holes.

The team of Jim O'Laughlin, Bob Jacobsen, Mark Modjeski, and Wally Friend wound up second.

Low net honors for the same tournament went to Carl Klage with a 68, Jacobsen and John Clemens both carded 70's, and C. W. Olsen, Mike Gostomski, and U. F. Albrecht all had 71's.

field, 6; Augusta, 4 1/2; Holcombe, 3; Osseo-Fairchild and Weyerhaeuser, 2; Eleva-Strum, 1; and Flambeau, 0.

The first and second place winners in each event qualified for next weekend's state meet.

WARD FOURSOME WINS HORSE RACE TOURNEY AT WCC
The Memorial Day Horse Race Tournament held at the Winona Country Club Monday was won by the Bill Ward team with a total of 148 points.

Completing the Ward foursome were Stan Sorren, Tom Underdahl, a 1 and Gene Wicka. Taking second place some four points back were Jim Sullivan, Dr. J. V. Testor, Warren Wunderlich, and Lee Newberg.

Finishing third with 142 points was the team of John Pendleton, Bill Laurie, A. L. Nelson, and Chuck Merkel.

In a club tourney held Saturday where only the two best balls out of a foursome were counted for score, top honors went to Neil Werner, R. E. Miesbauer, R. J. Ritter and Dr. John Alampi with 12 strokes for 18 holes.

The team of Jim O'Laughlin, Bob Jacobsen, Mark Modjeski, and Wally Friend wound up second.

Low net honors for the same tournament went to Carl Klage with a 68, Jacobsen and John Clemens both carded 70's, and C. W. Olsen, Mike Gostomski, and U. F. Albrecht all had 71's.

Stock prices ease ahead

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices eased ahead today as the Dow Jones blue-chip indicator moved closer to an almost 3 1/2-year closing high.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks gained 2.71 to 973.96. On Dec. 18, 1968, the Dow closed at 975.14. The all-time closing high for the blue-chip indicator was 995.15 set on Feb. 9, 1966.

Advances led declines by a small margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said there was little in the news background to stimulate the market's rise. They noted that many investors had stepped out of the market to see how long the market would continue its advance. The Dow average has climbed some 46 points in less than 2 weeks.

Oils, motors, rubbers and mail order-retail were up. Aircrafts, electronics and chemicals were lower. All other stock categories were mixed.

Pacelli, Cadets win state meets; Cotter near last

ST. PAUL, Minn. — Austin Pacelli captured the Minnesota Independent High School girls track championship here at Macalester College Saturday, while St. Thomas Academy grappled the boys crown.

Winona Cotter finished 13th in the girls meet and 22nd in the boys meet.

Pacelli tallied 99 points in the girls meet, nipping St. Margaret's by a mere two points. Fridley Grace was third with 34 points, followed by Rochester Lourdes 23, Concordia 12, Minnehaha 16, Dul

Permit valuation $238,700 in county

Nine building permits were issued in rural Winona County in March and ten in April, according to County Zoning Administrator Vernold A. Boynton.

Those permits bring the total valuation so far this year to $238,700. Comparable figures were not kept in 1971.

Building permits issued by Boynton's office are for all building done outside of municipalities in the county.

BOYNTON has issued 25 permits so far this year, compared with 18 at this time in 1971. Eleven of the permits this year are for new homes, compared with eight a year ago.

Permits issued in March included one to the village of Rollingstone for construction of a sewage treatment plant southeast of the village in Rollingstone Township, and a permit to the A. J. Ostrem Construction Co., La Crosse, Wis., for operation of a rock quarry in Wilson Township. Boynton's files did not list a dollar valuation for either of those two permits.

Total valuation in March for those permits for which it was recorded was $77,300. April valuation was $171,000. Comparable figures were not kept in 1971.

Wisconsin high court to hear remap appeal

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The Wisconsin Supreme Court has scheduled a hearing for Friday on whether to take original jurisdiction in a challenge of the state's legislative reapportionment law.

Aldwin Seefeldt, the Washington County corporation counsel, and Milwaukee attorney Timothy Frautliche filed a petition Friday asking the high court to consider the case.

Seefeldt, who said he was filing the suit as an individual and not in his official capacity, acted after Atty. Gen. Robert Warren's office said it would not challenge the redistricting law because the legislative election process had already started.

The suit contends the reapportionment law violates state constitutional provisions "designed as safeguards against legislative gerrymandering and voter inconvenience," and departs more than necessary from population equality guidelines.

Plaintiffs in the case are Seefeldt and Milwaukee attorney Patrick Fass. Secretary of State Robert Zimmerman was named a defendant along with the clerks of Washington County, the city and town of West Bend and the village of Kewaskum.

LCA to meet Friday; no agenda set

ST. PETER, Minn. (AP) — The Minnesota Synod of the Lutheran Church in America (LCA) meets at Gustavus Adolphus Lutheran Church Friday through Sunday, and delegates themselves will set up the agenda.

The opening meeting will take up housekeeping procedures required by the synod constitution, and in the afternoon the 13 districts will hold three-hour caucuses to develop resolutions on how the convention time should be spent.

In the past, the agenda has been laid out by the executive board in advance.

Calgon reports 20 percent sales hike

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Bruner Division of the Calgon Corp. has announced a 20 percent increase in sales in 1971 over 1970.

Marketing director J. L. Bruner said the household water conditioning equipment firm hiked sales because of an increase in housing starts and greater public concern for water quality.
