Fourth group of prisoners wing to freedom

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (AP) — The fourth release of American prisoners of war began today with the freeing of 107 military men and one civilian by the North Vietnamese.

The first of three big Air Force C141 flying hospitals landed 40 POWs at Clark Air Base at 5:08 p.m.—3:08 a.m. CST—about 15 minutes earlier than expected after the 900-mile flight from Hanoi.

Two more C141s picked up the other 68 men.

The men aboard the first plane held an impromptu thanksgiving service during the flight from Hanot, a military spokesman reported. Navy Capt. Charles R. Gillespie Jr.

of Miramar, Calif., who had acted as their chaplain in camp, led them in The Lord's

His eyes brimming with tears, the senior man aboard the flight, Navy Capt. Leo T. Profilet of Palo Alto, Calif., told the cheering crowd of Clark Base personnel:

"From the bottom of our hearts, I want to thank God, the United States of America and all you wonderful, goodlooking people."

The crowd responded with cheers, whistles and applause. Aboard the second flight were Air Force Col. John P. Flynn, 50, the senior POW, and Lt. Cmdr. John S. McCain III, 36year-old son of the commander of U.S. forces in the Pacific in 1968-72.

Flynn, speaking for the 40 men on his plane, gave thanks for their release and also praised the morale of the POWs during their captivity.

"I would just like to state simply that as a group we have been privileged to serve our country under very difficult circumstances," he said. "And I would also like to thank our President, the services, the people of the United States for their support in efforts, in lives which were expanded in our be-

"I would like to particularly acknowledge the courage and faced with many difficult decisions and circumstances such as the bombings of Hanoi. He held our support and our prayers always.

McCain, whose wife lives in Orange Park, Fla., was given one of the loudest cheers when he emerged from the plane. He saluted the colors smartly, then walked smiling down the ramp to salute and shake hands with the welcoming officers. They included Adm. Noel Gayler, who succeeded McCain's father as chief of the Pacific com-

McCain limped heavily on his right leg, but he told a newsman he was "fine."

McCain and several other men reported that the morale of the POWs remaining in North Vietnam was high and they were looking forward to their release. North Vietnam has said it will release all the Americans before March 28, the deadline set by the Vietnam cease-fire agreement.

Aboard the third plane was the only civilian in the group, Bobby Joe Keesee, who deserted from the Army in 1962, took a rented plane to Cuba, served two years in an Arizona penitentiary and in 1970 forced a Thai pilot to fly him to North

Keesee evaded newsmen by getting Operation Homecoming officials to run a bus up to the rear entrance of the plane for

"He wasn't feeling well and decided to come out that way," a guard said.

Another official said Keesee acted like all the other POWs on the flight from Hanoi-"He talked happily with the others and he didn't appear to be in-

A State Department official said Keesee was taken to the base hospital for a medical examination like the other POWs. Apparently the United States has no charges awaiting Keesee. But in Bangkok the chairman of the charter company whose pilot was forced by Keesee to fly to North Vietnam said he would seek the American's extradition to face hijacking charges.

For the first time since repatriation of the prisoners began, one of the POWs did not have to wait until he got home to be reunited with his wife. Waiting at the hospital was Roberta Stafford, wife of Cmdr. Hugh A. Stafford of Aiken, S.C., who was shot down in August 1967 and who arrived aboard the first plane.

The Defense Department had suggested to the prisoners' relatives that they wait in the United States for their men, but Mrs. Stafford lives in Hong Kong.

Communist China on Thursday is scheduled to release two fliers who strayed over China while on missions in Vietnam, and the Viet Cong are to turn over 27 military men and five civilians on Friday at Hanoi's Gia Lam airport.

PORTRAIT PRESENTED . . . A portrait of the Polish patriot and Revolutionary War military figure, Gen. Tadeusz Kosciusko, has been presented to Washington-Kosciusko School, named after George Washington and the man who assisted America in its fight for independence. The portrait was obtained by Paul Libera, second from the right, who recently addressed Washington-Kosciusko School students on the life and achievements of Kosciusko, from the Kosciusko Foundation in New York. The foundation was established in 1925 to encourage the exchange of students and professors between Poland and the United States and cultivate 'cultural and intellectual relations between the two nations. Jurors hear testimony on barn damage Winona County Court proceedings were expected to conclude late this afternoon in the civil jury trial of Wayne G. Schmidt, doing business as Schmidt Sales & Service, against Ronald O. Straight.

Plaintiff's attorney Kent A. Gernander rested his client's case at 9:40 a.m. today. His witnesses included plaintiff Schmidt, a Wilson businessman specializing in farm equipment and contracting; Neil Nelson, 1355 Crocus Circle, manager of distribution at Northern States Power Co., and Donald C. Allen, address unavailable, an employe at Schmidt's Sales & Service. Defendant Straight, a Dakota Ridge farmer, was also called for cross examination.

The suit and countersuit concern costs of remodeling a dairy barn at Straight's farm during summer 1971. Schmidt claims the defendants did not pay a portion of charges as agreed to in a written contract dated

May 12, 1971. Straight contends that wind damage to his barn in a June 24 storm, during remodeling, was caused by negligence on not pay Schmidt the full amount stipulated in the earlier con-tract for this reason, and is seeking additional moneys for damage to the barn, and for expenses incurred by the damage.

The plaintiff contends damage to the Straight barn was caused by winds of unusual intensity, for which the plaintiff took reasonable precautions.

The barn was raised from its foundations and balancing on supports so that a new foundation could be laid on the day of the storm. Heavy winds blew the barn from its supports.

Defense attorney William A. Lindquist told the jury of six that an important aspect of the case would rest on whether diagonal side braces had been installed against the supports. Defense witnesses contended the braces were not installed prior to the storm. Straight testified for the defense this morning.

An expensive temporary courthouse

Not only has the Winona County Board of Commissioners wrestled long with the issue of a new courthouse or remodeling/restoration of the old, but more recently it has agonized over what to do with the county offices during the 18-month remodeling period.

Its first inclination was to permit (or perhaps better, to direct) the contractor to work around occupied offices. But this was rejected for a number of reasons. That would have resulted in relocation of offices within the structure, prolongation of the remodeling, additional contract cost and disturbances to office routines and particularly court

One alternative was to disperse the offices all or some - into various available buildings. It was the consensus that dispersal would handicap day-by-day relationships between offices. In addition, if the department of social services were transferred out of county facilities, the county could lose the federal rent money it is now collecting.

Centralization of offices in temporary quarters was not easily accomplished. The Winona County Historical Society offered its museum — the former National Guard Armory - but the space was inadequate.

So now the county board has contracted for the former Boland Manufacturing building less than a block from the courthouse. It seems that the quarters will be adequate, but it also seems that the county board has chosen an expensive route.

• It will pay $840 a month rent; that's $15-120 for 18 months.

• It will pay the real estate taxes; for 11/2 years that would be about $8,856.

• It will pay the cost of remodeling; that's approximately $58,000, plus the architect's fee, and that's another $6,380 (at 11 percent).

• For a grand total of about $88,356, so the true rent is about $4,908 a month. Plus, of course, the moving expenses, heat and light.

And when the 18 months are up the county offices will be moved out and the present owner will possess what should be a usable office build-

For the amount of money the county board is putting into a rented building, the inconvenience from dispersal of county offices into various locations for 18 months might have been tolerated, or, in lieu of that the county board should have given more serious consideration to buying the building at the market value on the assessors' books. It is $147,400. — A.B.

Support for arts council deserved

If you like the idea of having the St. Paul Chamber Orchestra in Winona, or the St. Paul Opera Company, or Guthrie actors Peter Goetz, Bernard Behrnes and Allen Hamilton, for example; or if you approve of financial underpinning for the Winona Communty Theater . . . well, you then should consider supporting an expanded appropriation for the Minnesota State Arts Council.

The council is trying for an appropriation of $720,000 for the blennium, which is double for the blennium now ending.

Backers say that with the increased funding the council could seriously consider a proposal of the Community Theater to develop a children's theater program here, as well as $25,000 in funding for the newly organized Southeastern Minnesota Regional Arts Council — the first such regional council in the nation.

The quality of life in Winona is characterized by a high level of cultural activities, provided in the main by the three colleges although not exclusively. What the council funds do is augment college and community financial resources to enhance this quality of our lives.

Whenever such funds are administered at the state level there is concern about equitable distribution of them — that is, to put it pointedly, whether enough gets out of the metropolitan area. In this instance, it appears to.

You can express your appreciation for the cultural offerings of the colleges and community organizations and expedite their development by supporting increased fundings for the Minnesota State Arts Council. — A.B.

British hard on criminals

LONDON — Headline-writing has long been a curious special art on British papers. There was a splendid example in the banner on last Wednesday's London Evening News.

> ABSOLUTE CHAOS TONIGHT: OFFICIAL

The news was about a railway strike due to begin that night, leaving thousands of commuters stranded in London. When I read the headline, I thought it caught the public mood perfectly - annoyance at the inconvenience, but with it a certain insouciant pride in the fact of chaos and the expectation of being able to surmount it.

The British are just not a hysterical people: their reputation for phlegm is deserved. They complain as much as the next fellow, about money and politicians and foreigners. But the idea of going to the barricades, of playing out their discontent in some ideological drama,

Crime is an important measure of social health. Like other countries, Britain is worried about rising crime figures. There are scary newspaper stories. The other day they spoke of a sharp rise in muggings in London, up 32 percent in 1972. On average, there were now four muggings a day.

FOUR A DAY! That is four too many, but think what the authorities in, say, New York would do to cut the rate of muggings there down to four a day. In London it remains safe to walk just about anywhere, day or night.

The crime figures for London and New York in general are staggeringly different. Consider the four principal crimes in 1972:

| | London | New York |
|-----------|--------|----------|
| Murder | | |
| Rape | 135 | 3,271 |
| Robbery . | | 78,202 |
| Assault | | 37,130 |

They are the product of historical circumstances as well as the wisdom or foolishness of men. But they do reflect the undoubted fact that by world standards Britain, for all its economic strains today, remains a healthy society.

This country may become less complacent about urban violence, or one might say less innocent. But in the sense of deeper social warfare, of terrorists finding implicit support in some significant disaffected minority: No. The British are more likely now to turn harder against any force seeming to threaten disintegration of the society they rightly value so highly.

The other prisoners

NEW YORK - Two young French school teachers, Andre Menras and Jean Pierre Debris, left New York last week to speak in cities across the United States about a matter that stands in sad counterpoint to the return of American prisoners of war from North Vietnam.

In 1963, they went to South Vietnam as exchange teachers in a French government program. In July 1970, outraged by what they regarded as the garded as the coraption and tyranny of the Thieu regime, they mounted a monument in downtown Salgon, unfurled a Liberation Front flag, and started handing out peace leaflets. This was unwise, if bold; they were immediately jailed by South Vietnamese military police. After a trial in which they were not allowed to speak, they remained in Chi Hoa prison in Saigon for more than two years, until they were suddenly released and deported last Dec. 29.

NOW THEY HAVE a grim story to tell about the inhumane treatment, starving, beating and torturing of political prisoners in South Vietnam, of whom they maintain there are at least 200,000 (other estimates range from 35,000 to 300,-000 a lot in any case).

Somehow, American public opinion has never been aroused by these activities of the nation's ally in Saigon, even though it has been documented - for example in Don Luce's authoritative study, "Hostages of War" - that American funds and companies heped build the "tiger cages" and American personnel sometimes helped in the political roundups.

Nevertheless, there was one ele-

Tom Wicker ment of the Menras-Debris account

that needs repetition, if only because it could bode trouble for the cease-fire agreements now uneasily in force. They contend, with a wealth of eve-witness detail, that the Thieu government is systematically forging records and callously shifting bodies about from prison to prison, so that thousands of its political captives can be reported as common criminals and kept in jail, cease-fire or no cease-fire. The reason is obvious; once released, most of these political prisoners are not likely to support President Thieu in the political struggle for power.

ASIDE FROM questions of compassion and justice, this effort by the Thieu regime to hold on to its civilian political prisoners (its exchange of prisoners of war with Hanol and the Viet Cong is a separate matter) is a direct violation of the Paris accords. They define "civillan internees" as anyone arrested for "having in any way contributed to the political and armed struggle" in South Vetnam, and provide that such persons shall be released, by agreement between Salgon and the Viet Cong, who are supposed "to do their utmost" to accomplish this within 90 days.

It may be of little interest to some Americans that, aside from its general sponsorship of President Thleu's regime, the United States has aided and abetted his political repressions; but it ought to concern all Americans that, by violating the accords on the release of political prisoners, he could endanger the cease-fire, not to mention the peaceful political development of South

A primer on enrollments and reductions in faculty

Excerpts from a statement by Dr. Robert A. DuFresne, president of Winona State College, in the college newspaper last week:

• The State College System is expecting a reduction of students to a level of 32,000 next year. That is an optimistic view — it could well be less. This represents a reduction from a peak system enrollment of over 38,000 in 1969.

• The total number of positions being lost to the system next year could be as high as 165.

• Since Winona State is part of the system, it can expect to share some of the total loss, although up to now our loss has not been proportionate.

• All of the colleges, including WSC, are financed by the legislature at a ratio of 19 to 1, that is, for every 19 full-time students (15 hours), we are authorized one faculty position plus the money to pay that faculty member's salary - no more, no less.

• By the same token, whenever the student population decreases, we lose one faculty position and one salary for every 19 full-time students who leave.

This is nobody's fault - it's simply the way state colleges and universities are financed throughout the country, and if students don't show up you reduce accordingly. We could not logically expect the state to pay for a larger faculty or facility than is necessary to take care of a given number of students.

• We will not be reduced or cut back because of what happens somewhere else. Our faculty positions and salary allocation for next fall will be proportionate to our student population. In the meantime we are required by the Board Office (and common sense, for that matter) to hedge against the possibility of a large enrollment drop.

WHY LETTERS WERE SENT

This past fall we experienced a loss of about 100 students and had already lost about that many the previous winter and spring quarters. That gave us a faculty authorization of 218 positions as of this fall quar-

Board office calculations of prospective enrollments for next year (1973-74), caused them to decide that all colleges should be reduced further in order to prevent possible over-staffing next year. We were notified on Dec. 10, that our reduction was from 218 to 210, eight fewer positions. This meant that by Dec. 15 we were required to send out letters to enough faculty to effect that reduction should it become necessary.

DECIDING ON WHICH FACULTY MEMBER:

The most simple and just way of reducing people is to lay off in reverse order of appointment. This means that the last person hired would be the first to leave, everything being equal. However, we know that things are not all that equal. Consequently, this procedure was modified to take into account the question of growing programs, overstaffed departments, credit production, etc.

CAUSES FOR ENROLLMENT FALL-OFF

No one knows the answer to this for certain but the most obvious answer is that there are fewer students from which to draw. The high school senior classes are smaller than for many years. Other factors included the dramatic rise in the number of junior colleges and area vocational-technical institutes in the state which have tripled in 10 years. There are others, too.

WHY HAS WSC SUFFERED AMONG THE LEAST?

We feel that along with a certain amount of good fortune, we made good guesses and choices two or three years back; i.e., we did not overstaff as did several colleges only to have that problem in addition to the problem of student falloff; and we have not evolved a lot of low production-high cost programs which demand excessive faculty positions; we have not gotten ourselves in financial binds which required unclassified (salary) moneys to bail us out; we did not build a dorm which was authorized three years ago, hence our dorms are full; we have not used excessive faculty positions for administrative jobs and. in spite of an occasional outburst, we have not ruined our image as a college for the people of this re-

We have a good_reputation_andhigh credibility with both the State College Board and the legislature. We have good support from the region and the city of Winona.

We have a good academic program and faculty which continues to improve, expand, and adapt itself to new needs and new demands. We are, without question, one of the cleanest colleges in the state with regard to finances, building programs, maintenance, equipment, etc. I would agree with anyone who feels that all of the above sounds like boasting, but yet it seems to correlate with the kind of stability we enjoy at this point.

PROSPECTS AND PROGNOSTICATIONS

I personally feel that Winona State will continue to fare comparatively well, but I expect we will see a further leveling off nevertheless. The latest figures predict about a 4 percent drop in the next several years.

But we aren't going to get into the business of giving away credits, and dragging anybody and everybody in by the coattails just to keep up enrollments. Evidence seems to show that those things are counter productive. People will come if we are good and if they are motivated. And they will think we're good if the students think we're good. If we put each other down it will have the opposite effect.

We are evolving new programs for people not now in college; we will be doing more off-campus; in Rochester, etc. A lot will depend on the legislature this year, too. As usual we won't have everything we want, but we probably didn't need it all in the first place.

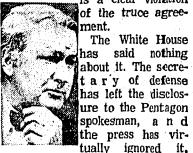

BUT THE ONE thing we do need is the loyalty of WSC students and their understanding of what we, as an administration and as a faculty.

are trying to do. We are here by and large because we are academic people who believe in what we are doing and want to do it well. We come in all shapes and sizes and represent many diverse points of view and personalities, so we make mistakes and misjudge things, and each other. But that proves nothing more than the fact that we're all human. If we can continue to improve, to come closer together among ourselves and with students, adapt to new ways and new ideas, and if students continue to work with us, learn to understand the problems of the college, and not push the panic button during these times of stress, we will make it. I believe that in spite of national and local trends we can achieve the things we all desire and can keep moving forward.

But it won't happen unless we all work at it-and I suppose we don't deserve it otherwise.

Administration plays down North Vietnamese violations

WASHINGTON — In the last few days, the Pentagon has been complaining that North Vietnam has been moving substantial quantities of military arms, including tanks, into South Vietnam, but it has not made much of the point that this is a clear violation has said nothing about it. The secret a r'y of defense has left the disclos-ure to the Pentagon spokesman, a n d the press has virtually ignored it, but while the Pen-

Reston tagon normally overstates its military problems, ironically it is now underestimating its own intelligence

FOR THE PLAIN fact seems to be, if U.S. intelligence reports are even close to the mark, that Hanoi has shipped as many as 300 tanks into the south, which is more than many well-informed Pentagon officials thought were available when the truce was signed, and this is going to create a fundamental problem for both the Nixon administration and the North Vetnamese when the facts are widely known on Capitol Hill.

The administration has been trying to persuade Hanoi that it has more to gain by being fathful to the truce agreement than by violating it. That was the main theme and objective of Henry Kissinger's recent mission to the North Vietnamese capital.

HE TRIFF to persuado LeDuc Tho and the other officials in Hanoi that it was better to follow China's model of keeping strictly to agreements than trying to get around them, and that U.S. reconstruction aid to North Vietnam would be influenced by their integrity in keeping to the spirit and letter of the truce agreement.

But now the evidence is that the North Vietnamese are cheating on it, and the administration does not want to make a big issue of the violations for the moment, because it knows that that will interfere with its policy of giving economic aid to Hanol.

James Reston

But that is clearly not going to

The South Vietnamese, who are very quiet about their own violations of the truce agreement, are beginning to distribut here the news of North Vietnam's violations, so the facts had better be faced.

EVEN BEFORE the Intelligence reports of North Vietnam's resupply of its men and allies in the south with heavy armor, the administration's policy of giving substantial economic aid to the north was in trouble on Capitol Hill. Many awkward questons were being raised. Why send vast sums for the reconstruction of Hanoi and Haiphong when the President was cutting down reconstruction funds for the America cities? Why ask for an even larger U.S. defense budget when the President was claiming that the Cold War was now much safer, is not over, and proclaiming that we not only had "peace with honor," but were on the verge of a "generation of peace"?

In addition, the emotional amnesty question: Why "forgiveness" and even financial aid for Hanoi, but no "forgiveness," not even compromise, for the Americans who refused to serve or deserted in Viet-

THE PRESIDENT's argument for reconstructing North Vietnam is that it is an "investment for peace," and despite all the legislative complications, it is probably a good argument. All he has now is an American exit-visa from Vietnam, and funds from the Congress are his main hope of persuading both Hanot and Salgon to reach an accommodation with one another and settle down to a long period of peace. But he is not likely to get these funds without a lot more help from a lot more people. He cannot get the funds if he tries to take them out of the domestic budget, which he now says he won't do. He cannot get them unless other countries, which have been sympathetic to North Vietnam, now agree to help with the reconstruction of that coun-aid for North Vietnam to support the truce agreement if the North Vietnamese insist on violating that truce. Maybe a little cheating would be ignored, but 300 tanks and supporting arms into the south is a clear defiance of Le Duc Tho's agreement with Kissinger, and virtually a preparation for a renewal of the war.

And particularly, he cannot get

THAT, OF COURSE, would surprise nobody. It has been generally assumed that, after the withdrawal of the American troops there would be a pause and, after a year or two, a renewal of the military struggle, but Hanoi and Saigon have to choose.

They can prepare for peaceful reconstruction with the help of the United States, or they can prepare for war, without help from the United States, but they can't easily get away with both.

For Washington has too many other problems to deal with now to finance preparation for another round in the battle. It will undoubtedly provide aid for peace, even if it has to take it out of other budgets, but it is not likely to provide aid for war, or to ignore the spectacular truce volations now going on.

High school student disagrees on abortion

In reply to Jill Hengel (March 5):

I too am a high school student. I am opposed to the recent Supreme Court ruling on abortion. No one has the absolute "freedom to choose what is best for them." We are all bound by the large of Chair is best for them." all bound by the laws of God and state. I'm writing this to tell you why I feel I must make my views known.

Simply put, I believe abortion is murder. I don't use the word "murder" just for shock value. I use it because I sincerely believe abortion is the taking of a human life. From the point of conception on, the unborn child possesses its own unique set of chromosomes, different from both the mother's and the father's. These chromosomes determine what and who the unborn child will be. They are his biological identity. In my opinion a fetus is human, not a "blob of protoplasm." It's alive, its cells divide. It doesn't resemble any other animal's fetus because it contains the 23 pair of chromosomes unique to a human being.

With this in mind it is impossible for me to stand by and not react, not voice my views, not hide my feelings. I cannot do this anymore than you could stand by and not become involved if you saw someone being murdered out in a street. For me there is no freedom of choice in this issue. The taking of a human life is the taking of a human life.

For me, this ruling has made me question very seriously American values. I suppose the purpose of the young is to be disillusioned so that we may not be so young and naive. I wish it wasn't so. I'm sorry, I'm sorry for us all.

CAROL EIKENS

Biblical admonition clear on taking life

I was really saddened by Jill Hengel's letter (March 5). It seems she has completely missed the main reasons of the anti-abortion campaign.

Yes, God gave us a free will to decide what is right or what is wrong for me. But what about the unborn child? Does he not have these same God-given rights? It is the life of this child we are fighting for. If the "mother" (and I use the term loosely) can somehow convince herself (and I can't believe she really can) that an abortion is "right" for her who will decide for the child?

The Bible says, "Thou shalt not kill."

Does this mean "only as long as no one is in the way of what I decide is right for me?" According to her thinking, if "he" got in my way I could kill him. Anyone in the way of what I think is right for me has no rights.

It's hard to comprehend how in a matter of a few days seven men could decide that what has been considered immoral, degrading, unthinkable, murder - for centuries, is suddenly permissible, and, in her words, be "one of the best decisions made by the Supreme Court."

I sincerely pray that Miss Hengel will reconsider the thoughts expressed in her letter for we are "our brother's keeper" and must think and act beyond "what is right for

MRS. LEO M. ROWEKAMP Lewiston, Minn,

The inconsistencies of some Americans

One very hot afternoon in July or August 1926, during a long drought, Winona's wood block paving east of Main exploded when a soothing downpour caused the cedar bricks to swell too rapidly.

I am reminded of this while speculating upon the coming terror amid, among and amok the profit system that is already busy accusing the Viet reds of torturing POW's. We, who own shares in U.S. industry invest the profits in foreign factories, for more profits, while roaches and rats torture bables in our ghetto areas, bables perhaps better to have been aborted, but only after two months.

Not much fuss is being made over the 46,000 non-officers who died for big oil and big bankrupt plane and railroad leeches. Mr. Nixon's administration enraged mother nature (as did also John Wayne's pseudo-patriotism: Hardly had Wayne bragged of his 19,000 irrigated acres, on the Carson show, Feb. 8, 1971, when a devastating earthquake struck Los Angeles, killing veterans of World War II). Floods and forest fires (ignited by lightning) ravaged the west as well as the northwest ,and Alaska, Rapid City, the Sunshine Mines disaster in Idaho, the Buffalo Creek flood in West Virginia, several Texas holocausts, then Hurricane Agnes, which wiped out most of the Susquehanna valley in Pennsylvania during 1972's first anniversary of the bombing of Cambodia and Laos.

And now, the energy crisis: "Big Oil" blew an awful lot of oil via eight-engine bombers, ships at sea, power for chemical plants at home.

Since 1954, when Congress and Ike inserted "under God" in the 1893 pledge of allegiance, this nation has assumed what Hitler left unfinished. The same people who fight integration by opposing public schools while they drink integrated lake or river water with no qualms. Fascism, anybody? Torture? Get this: John Wayne may now be heard on La Crosse WKTY reciting the pledge about 6 a.m. GORDON GUSTAVE GOLTZ

Youth Art Month involvement asked

Art Educators of Minnesota express appreciation for your Feb. 27 article encouraging the need for development of special interests and talents. Our schools and youth organizations are involved in art instruction that develops these talents and opens doors to new interests. Mayor Norman Indall has proclaimed March as Youth Art Month and urges all citizens to become interested in, support and encourage these art programs.

Youth Art Month is a national observance sponsored by the Cravon. Watercolor and Craft Institute of America and is aimed at promoting a greater need for quality art programs. Special events are planned in many schools to acquaint citizens with their art programs. It is hoped many parents will attend these events and encourage their children to become actively involved in "making and doing".

Wisconsin court—

4-year-olds may attend kindergarten

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A 4-year-old youngster has the right to enroll in kindergarten if he celebrates his fifth birthday by Dec. 1, the Wisconsin Supreme Court decided Tuesday.

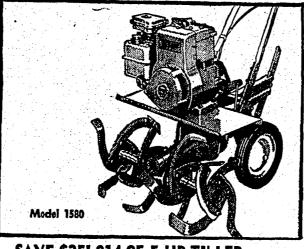

The ruling contrasts with decisions of many school districts which require birthdays earlier in the autumn school term to assure that kindergarten teachers don't have to handle youngsters who are too immature for school. The state had said a fifth birthday by Dec. 1 is sufficient for kindergarten enrollment. The ruling stems from an opinion by Judge Robert C.

Jenkins of Portage County Court. Jenkins had told the Stevens Point school board in 1971 that its refusal to admit children to kindergarten unless they were five years old by Sept. 1 was unconstitutional.

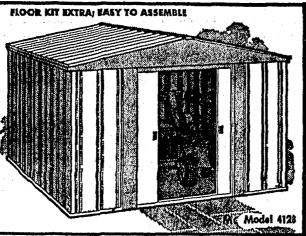

The board appealed to the Supreme Court, arguing its policy violated neither the Constitution nor state statute. Educators have argued some parents use the later birthday privilege as a means of having teachers baby-sit their

The educators contend many 4-year-olds would do better in school in subsequent grades if enrollment were postponed a year, saving the student from having to compete with youngsters who are a half year or so more mature.

A teacher exchange involving two teachers each from Aurora, Ill., elementary school system, Good-view Elementary School and Winona Lincoln Elementary School was in progress Monday and Tues-

All of the teachers have one thing in common: each is teaching in a school utilizing the Westinghouse Cor-porations's Program for Learning in Accordance With Needs (PLAN).

While Miss Dorothy Mc-Bride, an instructor in Learning Center 3 (grades 5 and 6) and Miss Diane Scharmer, a teacher in Learning Center 2 (grades 3 and 4), at Goodview School were spending Monday and Tuesday teaching at Oak Park School in Aurora, Mrs. Maurice McClelland, a social studies instructor at Level 3, and Philip Anderson, science teacher at Levels, 4, 5 and 6 at Aurora, taught classes at Goodview Monday and at Lincoln Tuesday.

PLAN was incorporated in the Goodview instructional program when the new school was opened in the fall of 1971 and while the School Board of Winona Independent District 861 was investigating the feasibility of embarking on a PLAN program, Goodview Principal Richard Adank and other Winona school teachers and administrators visited Aurora to observe PLAN in operation, where it has been used for several years.

While Goodview was constructed with an open space design concept, PLAN was inaugurated last fall at Lincoln to test its effectiveness here in a school with the traditional self-contained classroom design.

Adank said the exchange was arranged to afford the teachers involved an opportunity to work with PLAN

Separation of smokers urged

A bill urging state office supervisors to separate smoking employes from nonsmokers began to filter its way through the legislative process Tuesday.

Citing articles which outline health hazards for nonsmokers who breathe the air of a "smoke-filled room," Rep. Joanne Duren told the Assembly State Affairs Committee that the bill "is not frivolous. It involves the lives of many people."

Torrijos wants the United States to increase the $1.9 milion it now pays annually as rent for the canal.

The Security Council will meet for a week and sovereignty over the Canal Zone will be the No. 1 issue.

The United States has controlled the 58-square-mile zone since 1903, when after helping Panama win its independence from Colombia it was rewarded with a treaty giving it control "in perpetuity." The canal, which the United States built, opened in 1914, and the Canal Zone is also the home of one of the chief U.S. military installations in Latin America.

Torrijos now wants the United States to recognize its full sovereignty over the canal zone and give it a share in the administration of the waterway as well as more money.

McCauley, Lemke sponsor bill on police reports

State Rep. M. J. McCauley, R-Winona, is a sponsor of a bill proposed to require reports to police on all physical injuries to people cared for in hospitals or nursing institutions.

Lake City DFLer Richard Lemke introduced House File 975 to require physicians, persons authorized to engage in healing, nurses, pharmacists, hospital superintendents and nursing homes to report to police immediately all cases of physical injury to persons in such institutions.

The Senate companion version was introduced by Robert J. Tennessen, DFL-Minneapolis. Both versions are in health and welfare committees.

McCauley also is a sponsor of a bill on planning and zoning of the lower St. Croix River. The bill introduced by Rep. Michael R. Sieben, DFL-Newport, would recognize the St. Croix between the Taylors Falls dam and the Mississippi River confluence as part of the fed eral Wild and Scenic Rivers

The bill would direct the natural resources commissioner to ioin with the federal interior secretary and Wisconsin officials in preparing a master plan under the 1972 Lower St. Croix River Act.

After adoption of the plan, the commissioner would have power to acquire land and set up guidelines for local zoning ordinances for the area. Guidelines would prohibit new residential, commercial or industrial uses other than those consistent with federal laws and protect the riverway land from development.

The lands and waters would be administered by the state commissioner.

The bill, H.F. 942, is in the House Environmental Preservation and Natural Resources Committee. A companion Senate bill, S.F. 902, introduced by North Branch DFLer Jerald C. Anderson, is in the Natural Resources and Agriculture Com-

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Bills to revive the death penalty for specified types of murder have been sent to the Illinois House floor for action.

The Judiciary Committee voted approval Tuesday of the three Republican-sponsored bills pills a Democratic sponsored measure to repeal the stop-and-frisk" provisions of the Illinois Criminal

It rejected a bill sponsored by Rep. Raymond Ewell, D-Chicago, to ban the possession and sale of handguns. More than 30 witnesses, most from downstate gun clubs, indicated they opposed the

The death penalty bills were sponsored by Reps. Henry Hyde, R. Park Ridge; Roscoe Cunningham, R-Lawrenceville and Romie Palmer, R-Blue Island. The measures were barely kept alive last week as liberals threatened to kill them, arguing they were unconstitutional.

A subcommittee headed by Rep. W. Joseph

Gibbs, R-Springfield, drafted an amendment setting up the procedure under which the penalty could be applied and the sponsors of each of the three bills accepted it.

want you to know I may just want to bring my bill back to its original form on the House floor," Hyde said before a vote was taken on his measure. Cunningham later said that he accepted the amendment "to get the bill onto the floor. I may restore my original version by an amendment on

The bills each specify certain crimes of murder for which the death penalty would be mandatory. These include slayings of prison guards, peace officers and elected officials.

In addition to the crimes specified in the Hyde and Cumuligham bills, Palmer's version would require execution should death result "from the unlawful distribution of heroin or other illegal controlled substances.

Two bills, each sponsored by Rep. John Jacob Wolf, R-Chicago, did not receive a majority vote for recommendation to the House and will remain in committee.

The Wolf bill called for mandatory death penalties in case of the murder of prison employes and murder coupled with rape. Wolf had refused to accept the subcommittee amendment and told the committee after the bill received 7-8 votes he would ask the House to force the bill from committee.

The stop-and-frisk provision, approved by an 11-8 vote with four members registering present, was sponsored by Rep. Harold Washington, D-

Witnesses speaking in favor of the repeal argued that it was used by police to discriminate against blacks on the South Side of Chicago.

Opponents of the repeal measure said the law has helped police in other parts of Chicago and in the rest of the state.

Mid-decade census may be undertaken

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Census Bureau is ready to push ahead in 1975 with the nation's first mid-decade sample survey of the population if Congress votes the money to pay for it.

Census officials said plans call for surveying about one million households, or about 1.5 per cent of the population, to find out how the nation changed socially and economically since the 1970 census.

The Nixon administration's fiscal 1974 budget seeks $6 million to get the process going, but the total cost of the sample survey is estimated at $45 million. The 1970 census cost $220 million.

If it comes off as expected, it will be a much-needed updating of economic and social statistics used by governments at all levels, businesses, labor unions and other segments of the population. Consum officials said

But it would be different from a full-scale census. The bureau said an estimated 15,000 representatives would seek indepth social and economic information from each family questioned. During a complete census, most people fill out a short form seeking only basic

In addition, said Deputy Director Robert Hagan, "We would not contemplate making it a mandatory sample survey." During a full population count, persons who refuse to provide the information to the bureau risk prosecution.

Newspaper firm offers to pay stadium losses

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)

— The Minneapolis Star and Tribune Co. reportedly has offered to assume up to 25 per cent of the $600,000 per year business guarantee against potential losses from the proposed downtown domed stadium.

Spokesmen for the newspaper declined to comment but a businessman, who asked not to be identified, confirmed the report Monday.

An offer to assume up to 25 per cent would mean paying up to $150,000 per year of any losses by the stadium.

The proposed $53 million facility is stalled in the city Board of Estimate and Taxation, which must approve the sale of bonds to finance the venture.

City officials have said they want assurances of funds from the business community so any deficits of the stadium will not fall on city taxpayers.

Members of Congress contend that Nixon has ignored the Constitution and tipped the balance in his favor. Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., for one, contends the Republican chief executive has built up "the most dangerous concentration of executive power in our history.'

Nonsense, respond aides. They contend the President is using "a limited number of government tools" in behalf of the public interest.

But Nixon's top domestic adviser, John Ehrlichman, acknowledged recently that the President exercises "one-man rule." This is because he has to "step into the vacuum" left by congressional inaction, Ehrlich-Examples abound of Nixon's

• Establishment of a socalled "super cabinet" by designating three Cabinet members as presidential counselors and giving them broad authority over the areas of natural resources, human resources and community development.

• A widespread series of freezes directed at programs he seeks to curb or eliminate in his second term. He acted without consulting Congress, and protests quickly came from

• The withholding of federal funds voted by Congress in an effort to keep spending to about $250 billion this year.

The downgrading of the Cabinet's traditional role as a deliberative body.

"The real, productive work" in shaping government policy is done in smaller groups, such as the National Security Council or the Domestic Council, Ehrlichman said, and "I don't think anybody would try to tell vou differently."

The fact that Nixon uses the doctrine of executive privilege to keep these policymakers from testifying before congressional committees rankles on Capitol Hill.

The making of foreign policy, for example, has been centralized in the White House under presidential adviser Henry Kissinger, rather than the State Department under Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

DEAR ABBY: For 25 years I have been very close to a widower. I am divorced. This man owned considerable rental property, and I lived in one of his apartments. I paid rent like everybody else, but I cooked for him and helped him rent and clean apartments when tenants vacated them. I was a trouble-shooter for violations, inspectors, routine checks, etc.

He was close with his money and paid me nothing. I didn't demand anything because he often talked about "our future" when he would sell his property and we would retire together in

I heard he left no will, or any mention of me. A friend advised me to put in a claim for the work I did. I was not exactly a common-law wife, but I was more like a free maid, housekeeper, rental manager and his best friend for 25 years. Do moral issues count in court? Or is it too much of a long-shot? I don't want to make a fool of myself.

DEAR ABBY: My husband received a wedding invitation addressed to "Mr." only—no mention of his wife. The people who sent it have met me, so I can't imagine why they would exclude me. My husband doesn't work with either one of them, so it can't be a business friendship. (It was sent to our home.)

What really hurt me more than anything was the fact that my husband accepted the invitation!

Maybe I am stupid, but this has me puzzled. Do you ak my husband should have accepted? MRS. NOBODY think my husband should have accepted?

DEAR MRS.: Had your husband asked if your name was left out on purpose or by mistake, he would have known whether to accept. He should have asked.

baby, and we've never had a sitter, but we wanted to go to a late party last Saturday night, so we asked my mother-in-law to sit for us. She seemed happy to do it, and we knew we could trust her with the baby.

When we got home, did she ever let us have it! She said I was a very poor housekeeper, from the condition of my refrigerator, cupboards and closets. Also, that I didn't do my laundry often enough from the looks of my stuffed clothes hampers. (Abby, I go to the laundromat twice a week.) Then she said we ought to be ashamed of ourselves for running up such hig bills, and she named off some of for running up such big bills, and she named off some of them. North Stars salvage 2-2 tie with Kings lowing Tuesday night's 2-2 tie. The stalemate left the North Stars five points ahead of fourth-place St. Louis in the battle for a playoff berth. The Kings were leading 2-1 in the third period but Dean Prentice took Murray Oliver's centering pass in the slot to beat Rogatien Vachon for the tie.

Buster Harvey opened the scoring at 2:49 of the first period as he drove through one of Vachon's pads with Los Angeles two men short.

The Kings came close to winning the game in the third when Butch Goring broke through the defense and got past goalie Cesare Maniago with a shot that hit a post. It lay there until Minnesota defensemen moved it out. The North Stars host Toronto Thursday.

"It's really big," he echoed, "And I remember the crowds made so much noise and one this week. Dougherty pointed the first game meet Saturday later."

While McFarland and Crivitz have been given the early nod by many, no one is counting out either Luck or Blair, Basketball people know when a team gets to Madison anything can happen. Records, rosters and those other things that look good on paper make little difference on the court of the UW Field House.

After a near miss in Regional CLASS B ACTION doesn't play last year, the Cardinals Luck Friday night at 7 p.m. with a heavy dose of action in Class B there is no concoupled with a nice hefty tro-

TOURNAMENT SPOILS . . . Blair High School, and in fact the entire town, is talking basketball this week and these three cagers needed little encouragement to take time out from a busy class schedule. While they discuss their trip to Madison, they admire the spoils of tournaments past. Mark Frederixson, left, holds the trophy collected for Saturday's

Sectional triumph, Allyn Johnson, background, lofts the trophy claimed in Regional play and Dennis Stephenson brandishes the nets claimed after the Sectional win. The school's trophy case is full now, but the Cardinals have hopes of making another addition soon. (Daily News photos by Jim Galewski)

Experts noncommittal about Class B favorite

Daily News Sports Writer

Basketball experts-coaches, sports writers, barbers and bartenders - are at a loss to choose a favorite in this year's Class B WIAA State Basketball tournament.

Four Class B schools will converge on Madison today to vie for the annual title. From the shadow of the University of Wisconsin Field House, the McFarland Spartans will be making their first trip to the state meet in the school's history.

From the center of Polk County the Luck Cardinals will be making their first trek to the state meet, and from west central Wisconsin Blair's Cardinals will be heading south for the first time since 1947.

ONLY CRIVITZ, from the wilds of Marinette County, has recent experience in state tournament competition. The Wolverines finished second last year to ing 78-56 in the finale.

Wolverines have been in this position before, and that six of this year's performers were on the tourney squad in 1972, many experts are tabbing them as the tourney favorite, and coach Doug Carriveau doesn't deny it will certainly help.

"None of our guys started on that team last year, but the fact that they were there, they saw the place and heard the crowds, will help us some," he explained. "You can't really compare this year's team with last year's, we've changed our complete style."

The Wolverines were a high-flying offensive unit last year, averaging more than 80 points a game, but this year they have aboutfaced to a deliberate, patient style and a 58 point per game average.

"WE LIKE TO take the high percentage shot, and we aren't in a big hurry,' Carriveau says. "We like to take our time on offense and concentrate on a tough manto-man defense."

The Crivitz contingent boasts one of the biggest starting line-ups of the field. John Kradecki at 65 leads the way with Jerry Fancher at 6-4 and Al Behnke at 6-1 rounding out the front line. Fancher and 5-8 guard Pete Kertesz lead the Crivitz attack, with Kertesz hitting at a 14.2 clip and Fancher 14.0. The Wolverine offense and tight defense have earned them a 21-2 season mark going into Friday's opener with McFarland at 1 p.m. The tourney favorite could be decided in that first game, as McFarland is the other team most often tabed as the team to beat. The Spartans, representing the largest school in this year's Class B event with 364 students, have earned a 23-1 mark on the season. COACH SAM Mills' team.

like McFarland teams in the past, has never been to the state meet as anything but a spectator. With the UW Fleld House practically in their back yard, the Spartans are not strangers to the ancient structure and the frenzy of tournament fans, yet as all coaches are quick to point out there's an entirely different perspective from the floor looking up at those acreaming

Mills is confident his team has the inside shot at the title, making no bones about tabbing his team the favorite, "These kids have worked so hard and come so far, I don't think they're going to fold now, I think we can come through."

Although confident, Mills, isn't making arrangements for the trophy, he has plenty of respect for Crivitz, his first opponent and both Blair and Luck.

Mills is no stranger to the kind of sports in Western Wisconsin, having spent his graduate student years at Winona State College.

ON PAPER the Spartans do indeed look to be the favorite, with four starters averaging double figures and a front line going 6-6, 6-4 and 6-3.

Center Bill Pearson, 6-6, leads the way with a 23point average while junior guard Tom Sawyer is hitting about 16 a game. Junior Jim McFall is averaging 12 and junior Tim Dunston hitting at an 11 point per game clip.

In compiling their 23-1 secord the Spartans have stressed defense, and Mills is sure the team with the best defense will come out on top Saturday.

Offensively, McFarland looks for the fast break when it's there, but Mills is quick to point out that he doesn't want to force it.

"WE'LL SET UP and run either a one guard offense or a two guara offense - a lot depends on who we're playing at the time and how we match up size wise - if the fast break isn't there," he says.

Coach Jim Bade's Blair Cardinals, while most of them haven't seen the Field House and none have played there, carry themselves with a quiet confidence. With polse belying the fact that they are a junior ball club, the Cards left today for their tourney stay-in time to get settled and practice Thursday morning before the Class A games begin.

The Cardinals from Luck have the dubious honor of nipping Blair in the runnng for smallest school in the Class B field - Blair has 208 students and Luck

Luck also doasts contingent, but most experts contend they will have to live up to their name to bring home a title. COACH ANDREW Dolny's squad is basically a senior unit and is the smallest Class B school. Although lacking size, the Cards have given opponents more than they could handle in most cases with a quick, aggressive battle on both ends of the court. The Cards like to run, taking advantage of their quickness to overcome lack of a big board man. Defensively they are comfortable in an assortment of positions-various zones and combinations-but lean toward a man-to-man approach. Dolny's squad is expected to press right from the opening tip.

"We want them to press all the time," he says, "But sometimes they don't get around to it," he chuckles. A leading scorer for Luck is a toss of the coin proposition. On any given night one of eight men might be the top scorer and practically every time one of the Cards scores the team leadership changes hands. A pair of twins, Rick and Rande Giller will join Dolny's son Mike along with Al Nilsen and Bob Larson in the likely starting five. Nilsen is the top rebounder at 5-11 and Larson the biggest man in the lineup at 6-2. The big man on the Cardinal squad is sophomore Paul Petersen at 6-

The fact that the Cards haven't played in the tournament before in the school's history, and that none of the players have experienced the excitement generated in Madison gives Blair an edge in the minds of many, but Bade doesn't agree. For his Cardinals Luck is definitely the team to beat, as Friday's loser winds up the season while the winner goes on to a berth in Saturday afternoon's finals.

BIDING HIS TIME . . . Free periods often drag past for high school students this time of year, but they seem to take for ever - as do most classes - when you're walting to play in the state basketball tournament, John Dougherty makes some of the time go by working in the audio-visual aids room during his free periods. Here, he assembles a video tape camera. The poster behind him represents the feelings of the entire town and similar greetings can be seen in practically every available corner.
