To some districts

Nixon administration to free school funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration today confirmed it will release $507 million in impact aid to thousands of school districts located near federal installations.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare said a statement will be released later explaining how the money will be distributed. The decision marks a sharp turnaround in thinking at the White House. Earlier, it had impounded a substantial portion of the funds.

The impact aid to be distributed to some 4,500 school districts by midyear includes $88 million in one-time assistance to areas hit by Tropical Storm Agnes last June.

The decision will be especially important to districts with large numbers of non-military federal employees living but not working in their communities.

Many had feared they would lose millions of dollars already locked into their budgets.

The allocations will be prorated under last year's formula, HEW sources said.

Districts will receive 100 percent of their entitlement if children of federal employees living and working on federal premises make up at least 25 percent of total enrollment, 90 percent if less than 25 percent of enrollment, and 73 percent in other categories.

The entitlement figures are based on what districts would have received had the program been funded at 100 percent of authorization.

Most of the money in the 22-year-old program goes to school districts on the basis of two categories. Children in Category A are those who live on federal property and attend nearby public schools. Parents of Category B children live in private residential areas but work at federal installations.

Until now, the U.S. Office of Education had been distributing 1972-73 funds only for Category A, which has the heaviest impact on local tax revenues, and for Category B children whose parents are in the military.

This eliminated aid to districts with heavy concentration of nonmilitary federal employees who work on government installations.

School districts in every state, and in nearly all the 465 congressional districts, will receive money.

U.S. faces confrontation with Arabs

By GENE KRAMER
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States and the Arab world headed into a confrontation at the U.N. Security Council today over Palestinian charges of U.S. involvement in the Israeli raid on Beirut.

Delegates predicted the debate, which started late Thursday and could stretch over the weekend, would produce the second U.S. veto in the council in less than a month.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Mohamed Hassan el-Zayyat was en route to U. N. headquarters to deliver a major speech.

Arab anger over the Israeli slaying of three Palestinian leaders in Beirut Tuesday was matched by official U. S. anger over Palestinian broadcasts charging American involvement.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers called envoys of 13 Arab countries to his office in Washington and asked them to have their government radios carry the U.S. denial of the charges as an "absolute falsehood."

U. S. Ambassador John A. Scali told the Security Council "the monstrous accusation that the United States somehow helped carry out the events in Lebanon . . . originated with those who oppose at all costs and by any means a peaceful settlement."

Scali warned that the Palestinian accusations could encourage new violence, presumably meaning against Americans. He demanded that "all governments concerned . . . disassociate themselves from this outrageous lie and take steps to prevent the spread of such slander, which can do great harm to the cause of peace."

Lebanon called on the council to produce a resolution against Israel stronger than condemnation. Ambassador Edouard Ghorra asked the council to use "force—moral force, political force, legal force" to punish Israel and end "Israeli aggression against Lebanon. Condemnation of her action is not enough."

Israeli Ambassador Yosef Tekoah in reply charged that Lebanon "has convened the Security Council to ask license for the continuation of terrorism."

He said the raids against Lebanon were undertaken out of "necessity to stamp out such outrages as the Lod Airport massacre and the Munich murders," the "assassination of diplomats in Khartoum" and the Palestinian attacks last Monday on an Israeli airliner and the Israeli ambassador's home in Cyprus.

"Most of the attacks carried out by Fatah and other terrorist organizations have originated in Beirut," Tekoah said. "It is from that city that terrorists are dispatched on their missions of death to different parts of the world."

He said that under the leadership of men such as those killed in Beirut this week, the Black September organization has carried out 105 murder missions in the last two years.

Queen 2: floating fortress

By ED BLANCHE
LONDON (AP) — The luxury liner Queen Elizabeth 2 is being turned into a floating fortress with a private army of armed guards for its month-long cruise to Israel next week.

Twenty Marine commandos, a team of bomb disposal experts, two dozen American detectives and an undisclosed number of undercover security agents boarded the ship Thursday. As they came aboard, a third of Queen 2's 900 crew members were reported to have walked off in fear Arab terrorists would attack the 1,700 passengers bound for Israel's 25th anniversary celebration. Most are well-to-do American, British and European Jews. "I'm damned scared and I'm not ashamed to admit it," said Ray Digweed, a cabin steward.

"I signed off today because of the risk of terrorist action."

The ship's owner, the Cunard Line, promised a $150 "danger money" bonus for every crew member making the trip plus four years' salary to the family of any crewman killed in a terrorist raid.

The special security arrangements are costing Cunard $25,000.

"We're well satisfied with the security arrangements, but we don't think there will be any threat from the Arabs," said Oscar Rudwick, an American who organized the cruise.

The liner has been sealed off, its hull constantly checked for magnetic mines by a team of 12 Navy frog-men, and combed from stem to stern for explosives since she docked at Southampton early Thursday.

Guards are checking everyone who boards the vessel and screening all provisions being loaded aboard.

British Navy destroyers will escort the liner through the Mediterranean and Royal Air Force planes will shadow her all the way.

Adding to the security problem will be stops in Lisbon on the way out and in Majorca on the return voyage.

Consider action against 12 POW's

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP) — Military officials are studying transcripts of the debriefing sessions with freed POWs to determine whether there is a basis for misconduct charges against a dozen of the 666 returned U.S. war prisoners.

After analyzing the mass of material, legal officers expect to be able to advise certain former war prisoners if there is enough evidence to warrant formal charges against other American military men for actions while held captive by the North Vietnamese or Viet Cong.

Some officers came out of the POW compounds in a mood to file charges against men they felt cooperated willingly with the enemy. Several are reported to have mellowed since their release but others are said to remain adamant.

Pentagon sources said the sifting of debriefing transcripts is informal. If formal charges follow, they said, there will be full-fledged investigations before any decisions are made on bringing freed POWs to trial before court-martial.

Civilian Defense Department officials have emphasized there will be no prosecutions for making propaganda statements while a war prisoner.

But, under the Uniform Code of Military Justice, a serviceman of any rank may file charges against another.

Dr. Roger Shields, head of the Pentagon's POW-repatriation program, told a news conference Thursday that "there are no charges pending against any man who has returned, right now."

Asked whether investigations are under way, he said: "I really don't care to comment in this area . . . if there were investigations going on it would indicate something improper. I don't think we ought to indicate anything at all."

Many returned POWs have acknowledged signing anti-war statements; making broadcast tapes; and similar actions, but said they did so only after undergoing torture and severe beatings.

However, several POWs have said privately some Americans cooperated willingly and made propaganda statements without being tortured.

These are the men who may face charges.

In California

Planes collide; 16 killed

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (AP) — "The flames were 30 to 40 feet in the air and the wreckage was covered with black smoke. There was no way to get in there."

Fireman Ron Kimball was describing the scene after a National Aeronautics and Space Administration plane and a Navy aircraft collided in flight, plummeted onto a golf course in piggyback fashion, exploded and burned. Sixteen men aboard the planes died; one was critically injured.

"The one plane just set down on top of the other," said David Frame, 25, who was working on the Sunnyvale Municipal Golf Course when the planes crashed Thursday. None of the golfers or employees on the course was hurt.

The Navy immediately named a board of investigation to try to learn why the two four-engine planes were so close while approaching the Navy's Moffett Field, less than a half mile away. Both aircraft were on short test flights from Moffett.

Eleven of the men killed were in a Convair 990, a $2.5 million transport-type jet the National Aeronautics and Space Administration used as a flying laboratory.

The other five victims and the survivor were aboard a Navy P3 Orion turboprop, described by the Navy as a $10 million submarine chaser.

"The two aircraft were on their final approach, and the turboprop was in front of the jet," said Bill Brand, 47, the fire chief at Ketchum, Idaho, who witnessed the crash from a practice fire tower about a mile away where he was working with Mountain View firemen.

"The jet was gradually overtaking when the turboprop pulled up vertically," said Brand, who also is a pilot. "Then one of the jets caught the tail of the turboprop and turned it over."

The planes came down locked, with the Navy plane beneath.

"People just started to run," recalled Dennis Castillo, an 18-year-old caddy. "Someone yelled, 'It's going to blow up.'"

PO 3. C. Bruce N. Mallibert, 22, of Mountain View, an anti-submarine warfare technician, was thrown clear of the Navy plane. He was taken to a hospital, where doctors said he was in critical condition with burns and fractures.

Senatorial concern rising

Hatfield: Cambodia another Vietnam?

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, fresh from briefings by Pentagon and State Department officials, says he believes events in Cambodia are following the pattern of secret commitments that preceded U.S. entry into Vietnam nearly a decade ago.

The Oregon Republican's statement came amid rising senatorial concern over Cambodia and as President Nixon received a 45-minute report from trouble-shooter Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr. on his Southeast Asian fact-finding mission.

The White House gave no details on Haig's 45-minute meeting with Nixon Thursday afternoon. Secretary of Defense Elliot L. Richardson, meanwhile, said "there are no proposals" for a possible South Vietnamese drive into Cambodia to ease communist pressure. But he said the presence of North Vietnamese troops in Cambodia in violation of the cease-fire agreement gives South Vietnam "a basis for retaliatory, self-protective action."

Hatfield, a long-time critic of U.S. policy in Southeast Asia, said "my anxiety has intensified" that U.S. actions in Cambodia may be repeating "the pattern of secret commitments and public denials" of Vietnam.

He made the comments in a statement issued following a secret briefing by administration officials to a Senate Appropriations subcommittee on which he serves. "Developments in the past days heighten the unpleasant but unavoidable truth that we are on the verge of more, rather than less, involvement in the continuing Indochinese war," Hatfield said.

He indicated that the State and Defense Department officials who appeared Wednesday had pictured U.S. bombing, military aid and airlift—plus support for a possible South Vietnamese invasion—"as indispensable for the survival" of the current Cambodian government.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, in a floor speech, cautioned that use of South Vietnamese or Thai troops to stabilize the Cambodian situation "would be a most dangerous procedure and could have the possible effect of once again involving this country in a quagmire because the support—logistical and otherwise—would come from the United States."

There was more disapproval on Capitol Hill over the legality of any U.S. moves in Cambodia.

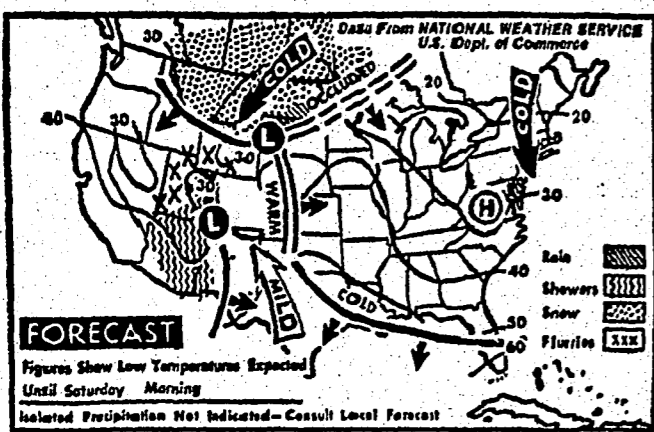

State Department legal adviser Charles N. Brower told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee "it is clear beyond a doubt" that Nixon has authority to conduct air strikes in Cambodia.

Mansfield, however, said that "in my opinion, there are no legal or constitutional grounds for our becoming involved in any way, shape or form in the Cambodian civil war."

Hatfield said in his statement that "no shred of constitutional authority nor any legal justification exists justifying our military actions in support of the Lon Nol government."

A House Foreign Affairs sub-committee put off action until next week on a measure to define and limit presidential authority to commit U.S. troops overseas without congressional approval. It voted to eliminate a provision that the President could commit troops when American citizens are endangered.

Fire destroys hog pen near Durand

DURAND, Wis. — A new farrowing hog pen owned by Stanley Kievgard was extensively damaged by fire Thursday about 6:30 p.m.

Members of the Durand volunteer fire department extinguished the blaze and saved all of the young pigs. It was believed that a heat lamp had broken and ignited the straw. The farm is located on Highway 85, three miles east of Durand.

Mrs. Caine described what she seemed to sum up as the "after-you-honey" attitude of women in party politics — the way women defer to men in politics and guarantee a male-dominated government.

The caucus helped get four women elected to the state legislature last year. Some women, Mrs. Peek said, campaigned against women candidates, and some of the election victories were "tokenism" in voting.

Bloodmobile gets 160 units at Lake City stop

LAKE CITY, Minn. (Special) — A total of 160 units of blood were donated when the American Red Cross bloodmobile stopped at the Jefferson Elementary School gymnasium here Tuesday. It was the bloodmobile's first visit to Wabasha County this spring.

There were 22 rejects, 33 first-time donors and 29 18-year-old donors.

Arlan Johnson was the recipient of a four-gallon pin. Three-gallon pins were given to Russell Meyer and Frank Coyke; two-gallon pins, to Reynold Kohrs, Mrs. Edgar Asleson, and Kenneth Simpson, and one-gallon pins to Mrs. Elmer Bronkhorst, Mrs. Reynold Pahl, Mazepa, William Herman, Mrs. George Partington, and Mrs. John Poss.

Women from First Congregational Church served the meal for the staff and volunteer workers with Mrs. Helen Blattner as chairman.

Mrs. Pat Oldenburg is chairman of Lake City Bloodmobile operations, succeeding Mrs. John Peters, Jr., who held that position for 15 years. Mrs. Peters was recently elected chairman of the Wabasha County Red Cross. Mrs. Carl Bainter is co-chairman with Mrs. Oldenburg.

Mrs. Earl Hassler was canteen chairman; Mrs. P. Gjerde, chairman of nurses and nurses aides; Mrs. E. J. Wilson, registration; Mrs. Pat Wise had charge of Mrs. Jaycees, calling for blood donors. Leaders were Herman Harstadt, W. Ryan and W. Breuer.

Prairie Island cleanup stopped by snow cover

The drive to rid Winona's Prairie Island of a winter's worth of trash has been postponed, according to spokesmen for area sportsmen's groups planning the cleanup.

The Tri-State Hunting Dog Association, the Izaak Walton League and the Minnesota City Boat Club planned to conduct a cleanup drive on Prairie Island Saturday afternoon, but this week's white blanket forced a change of plans.

With a thin layer of snow still hiding many of the treasures the clubs hoped to find and the soggy ground left nearly impassible, the clubs spearheading the collection have decided to wait for more favorable conditions.

The Prairie Island cleanup campaign will still be completed, but a date will have to be set later.

Coin, ceramics show scheduled this weekend

The annual Winona Coin and Ceramics Show will be in progress Saturday and Sunday at the National Guard Armory.

Sponsored by the Winona Coin Club, the show this year will feature a display of obsolete 19th century Minnesota bank notes, an exhibit by the Franklin Mint, the world's largest and foremost private mint, and an exhibit by Arthur F. Gier, Galesville, Wis., of ancient Greek and Roman coins.

Coin club President Richard Drury said that $10, $5 and $2.50 gold pieces will be awarded as prizes. Silver dollars will be awarded each hour and there will be smaller prizes.

Roy Wilsey is chairman of this year's show, which will be open to the public from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday.

When you make sandwiches ahead, cover them with a damp cloth and refrigerate them.

Friends may call at the Jacobs Funeral Home in St. Charles from 3 p.m. today until noon Saturday and at the church until time of services.

Florida man in Wisconsin jail to get new trial

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Attorney William Stafford of Madison says a Florida man serving a two year prison term on a burglary conviction will get a new trial through testimony he provided on the inmate's behalf.

Stafford said Thursday he had been informed a retrial is scheduled May 7 for George M. Williams, who was convicted of breaking into a Key West, Fla., store last year.

The Madison attorney, who was vacationing in Key West at the time, claimed he witnessed the break-in—seeing a woman, not a man, commit the crime—and told authorities of this before the original trial.

Police commissioner named in New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Chief of Patrol Donald F. Cawley has been named New York City's police commissioner to succeed Patrick V. Murphy. The 43-year-old career policeman pledged to continue Murphy's policies.

Cawley will receive $41,000 a year. Murphy is resigning, effective May 7, to head the National Police Foundation in Washington, D.C., at a $50,000 annual salary.

Mayor John V. Lindsay announced Cawley's appointment Thursday.

Mayor to head walk for cerebral palsy

Mayor Norman Indall has been appointed honorary campaign chairman for the upcoming Spring Walk for United Cerebral Palsy in Winona.

Mayor Indall's appointment was announced by Marcia Smith, coordinator of the UCP Spring Walk Thursday noon, and the annual walk will set for May 5.

The Mayor will give the walkers their official send-off at 9 a.m.

TOPPLED CARS . . . At least 100 feet of track were torn up when 13 freight cars of a 72-car westbound North Western Railroad train left the tracks near Dover, Minn. Half of the railroad trestle over the middle branch of the Whitewater River was destroyed. The other half was still standing this morning. One of the cars contained cheese, another canned goods and the others were filled with wood chips or were empty. (Daily News photo by Merritt W. Kelley)

13 boxcars derail on outskirts of Dover

DOVER, Minn. — The single lane Chicago & North Western Railroad track, 2 of a mile west of Dover, was expected to be back in operation at midnight today following a 13-car freight derailment Thursday evening.

There were no injuries.

AN ESTIMATE of damage to the freight cars and their contents and to the tracks has not been determined.

Cause of the 8:20 p.m. derailment is not known. The engineer, Earl Mannie, Waseca, Minn., said this morning, however, he believes wheels of a boxcar climbed a rail and then jumped the tracks.

"We were going along, traveling the speed limit of 35 miles an hour," said Mannie, "when the air stopped (this happens when the train breaks in two). I stopped the train and didn't realize what had happened until I walked back and saw the wreckage."

THIRTEEN cars in the middle of the 72-car westbound freight jumped the tracks, toppled and came to rest near the tracks, narrowly missing nearby houses.

About 100 feet of track were torn up and half of the railroad bridge over the middle branch of the Whitewater River was smashed. The other half was still standing this morning. One of the freight cars was tossed into the river.

One of the cars contained cheese, another canned goods and the balance were either filled with wood chips or were empty.

THE OLMSTED County sheriff's office received a report of the derailment at 8:20 p.m. A deputy stood guard over the wreckage through the night until the railroad employees took over.

A railroad agent reported that the cleanup operation should be completed by midnight and the line back in service. In the meantime, two trains are on the single track, one at each end of the wreck, waiting to pass through. A total of 150 cars were being held up in Winona this forenoon and another 100 cars were being detained in Waseca.

Bob Schiflet was the conductor on the freight train and Greg Ziegler was the brakeman. Both are of Waseca.

Train aims for kitchen—and nearly makes it

DOVER, Minn. — It looked to the two young guests in the Howard Olson home Thursday night as if the train were coming right through the kitchen.

It nearly did. Thirteen cars of the Chicago & North Western freight train derailed just inside the west limits of Dover Thursday night.

WHEN THE dust and sparks had settled, one of the cars was less than 50 feet from the corner of Olson's house and a utility pole snapped off by one of the cars had slammed into the west side of the house.

Olson said he, his wife, one of their children and two young friends were sitting at the kitchen table when the reflection of the train's headlight appeared on the wall, causing some anxiety on the part of the visitors.

"This happens every night when the train comes by," Olson told the visitors.

Seconds later, the middle section of the train derailed right outside Olson's house. The track is some 200 feet from the house.

When they heard the grinding roar of the derailed cars, the group jumped up as Olson yelled for everyone to run for the back door on the opposite side of the house from the tracks.

"ALL I COULD think of was my baby in the crib," said Mrs. Olson. The couple's two-year-old child was sleeping in a room on the side of the house where the utility pole struck, denting the side but not penetrating the wall.

Mrs. Olson retrieved the child and escaped with the others into the backyard.

An Olmsted County deputy related another incident. Some young girls were staying overnight in a home which is in the area of the railroad tracks, and when they heard the train whistle it "scared the daylight out of them."

Their hosts kidded them by saying, "this is the house where the train runs right through the middle of it." The girls looked out the window and saw the train coming right at them. One of the cars stopped only about 30 feet from the house.

Wounded Elgin man released from hospital

ELGIN, Minn. — An Elgin man injured in a car accident in Olmsted County March 24 and mysteriously shot in the arm about the same time was released from Rochester Methodist Hospital Thursday.

Merton Koelsch, 78, had been hospitalized since the accident. During emergency treatment for the accident injuries, hospital authorities found a .22 caliber bullet near his left elbow.

The Olmsted County Sheriff's office was never able to determine how Koelsch got the bullet, but speculation was that a stray shot from a hunter may have wounded him shortly after the accident, before an ambulance arrived.

Contractor fined in Lake City after explosion

LAKE CITY, Minn. — A Lake City contractor has been fined $200 as the result of a follow-up investigation of the explosion that leveled the Ben Franklin Store here Oct. 30, 1972.

The Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) conducted the investigation and Bernard Tibesar Construction Co. was assessed with the fine. It was reportedly determined that Tibesar had been doing excavation work next door to the variety store and had failed to check where the gas lines had been laid.

When a gas line was allegedly broken, there was an explosion in the store that killed six persons and injured ten others.

Alma receives federal grant for sewer plant

ALMA, Wis. — The city of Alma will receive a federal rural sewer improvement loan, 3rd District Rep. Vernon Thomson announced today.

The loan amounts to $255,000 and will be repayable in 40 years at a rate of five percent.

The money will be used to construct an aerated lagoon treatment facility to include the extension of sewer lines to service 45 homes, five places of business, one school and a mobile home park. As of now there is no sewer system to service those places.

The enlarged system will provide sewer services for a total of 325 homes and other establishments and will allow for the erection of a cheese factory and other home building sites.

The loan is to be mailed out Monday.

Woman injured in Dresbach car-truck crash

DRESBACH, Minn. — A car-truck accident on Highway 61-14 at the Interstate 90 interchange bridge area near Dresbach this morning resulted in the car being destroyed and $300 damage to the left front of the truck.

Sister Angelo Grose, 55 W. Sanborn St., Winona, in a 1970 sedan, and Ivan J. Putzier, St. Charles, Minn., in a 1965 two-ton truck, were both northbound on the highway when they collided at 8 a.m. today.

According to the Minnesota Highway Patrol, Sister Angelo had apparently slowed or was stopping in the left lane to make a left turn when her vehicle was struck in the rear by the Putzier truck.

The car was pushed up onto the center island and stopped facing south. It was owned by the Winona Diocese Office of Education, officers reported. Sister Angelo was taken to the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, by private car following the accident. She was being examined there at noon today.

Arkansaw woman hurt slightly in collision

DURAND, Wis. — A rural Arkansaw woman was slightly injured in a car-truck accident at 8:30 p.m. Thursday at Pepin County Road G and Highway 10, about five miles west of here.

Mrs. Charles Hutter, Arkansaw Rt. 1, was taken to Chippewa Valley Area Hospital here, where she was released after treatment.

The other driver, David Bauer, Arkansaw Rt. 1, was not injured. A Pepin County traffic officer reported that as Bauer was headed east on Highway 10, in the process of making a left turn on County G, the 1965 truck he was operating was struck in the rear by Mrs. Hutter's 1971 sedan.

The truck, which was loaded with ear corn, was extensively damaged. Mrs. Hutter's sedan was termed a total loss. An investigation is continuing.

DFL Women's Caucus

'Sexist' group seeking equality

By DAVID C. MCKAY
Daily News Staff Writer

Ask Ruth Caine if it makes sense for women wanting equality to form a special "sexist" group to organize the demands for that equality, and she'll say, "That's one of the ironies, I guess."

Ironic or not, the Democratic-Farmer-Labor Women's Caucus came to Winona Thursday night, brought by associate state DFL chairman — person — Ruth, also-known-as Mrs. Richard Caine, Minneapolis.

THE WAY Mizz, Ms. Mrs. Caine explained it, a women's caucus is needed now while there is anti-women discrimination in areas such as politics, economy and education.

Someday, she said, separation by sex not only won't be necessary, it won't be considered. In the end, she said, women will be considered equally capable of holding the chairmanship of a party or the governorship, and "The problem of sexism wouldn't enter into those decisions."

But today, while the DFL Women's Caucus is stumping Minnesota's county level DFL organizations, she wears a button that reads, "DFL Women Unite."

Some of Winona County's DFL women met with the first associate DFL chairperson in Minnesota — a salaried party worker in the second-highest office until now closed to women. They met at the Winona Senior High School lower library to talk about the caucus's organization, needs and goals.

HERE, TOO, was Mary Peek, St. Paul Park, member of the caucus and one of its organizers and steering committee "persons." She's also married, but she's not known by her husband's name. When she talks about sexism, feminism and women's equality, you don't ask.

Both women from the Twin Cities were here to listen to local women's ideas on what a

WOMEN ONLY . . . Politics and feminism brought Winona County DFL women together Thursday night to hear about the state DFL Women's Caucus, a two-year-old group for equal political and economic rights for women. Ruth Caine, right, state associate DFL chairperson, talked about the caucus and asked women for ideas and support. With her

Court showdown shaping on presidential powers

By VERNON A. GUIDRY Jr. WASHINGTON (AP) — A Supreme Court showdown is shaping up in the growing controversy over presidential power.

—if the Nixon administration wants to test the issue.

Federal judges within the last two weeks have disagreed with White House actions. The Nixon administration has yet to say whether it will appeal the decisions that ruled against presidential power to impound appropriated funds and halted dismemberment of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

The Administration maintained that both questions were political ones to be thrashed out between the President and Congress without a judicial referee.

In each case, that argument was rejected by the courts.

In halting an illegal administration plan to abolish OEO, U.S. District Court Judge William Jones placed his as-essment of the government's present policy in stark terms.

"The government 'really argues that the Constitution confers the discretionary power upon the president to refuse to execute laws passed by Congress with which he disagrees,'" Jones wrote Wednesday.

Jones ruled to the contrary as did the U.S. Circuit Court at St. Louis in a much more-limited opinion issued last week.

In that case, now ripe for appeal to the Supreme Court, the 21 Circuit Court decision told the President he could not withhold highway-construction funds appropriated by Congress for reasons unrelated to the purpose of the appropriation.

Nixon has declared he will not spend appropriated money if he needs to withhold it in the fight against inflation. Depending on who does the counting, estimates of money currently impounded range from $8.7 billion to more than $14 billion.

The government argued in each case that the discretion granted the executive branch by Congress authorized both the impoundment and the dissolution of OEO.

Again the courts disagreed. Jones applied the reasoning of the Circuit Court in St. Louis to the OEO dispute. "An administrator's responsibility to carry out the congressional objectives of a program does not give him the power to discontinue that program, especially in the face of a congressional mandate that it shall go on," Jones wrote.

The Circuit Court majority had found it "difficult to perceive that Congress intended" the administration to curtail the highway-building program when it gave the secretary of transportation discretion in administering the law.

Visits with businessmen

Nixon seeks price answers

By BILL NEIKIRK WASHINGTON (AP) — With a showdown set next week on the future of wage-price controls, the Nixon administration has summoned representatives of key industries to find out why their prices have skyrocketed.

The Cost of Living Council will call in representatives from the textile, canning, paper, nonferrous-metal and machine-tool industries, among others, it was learned. "We want to try to find out more about these industries, take a harder look at the problem areas," a council source said.

The goal is to try to hold down these prices.

The industry sessions will open next week and will continue for several weeks.

The council has been edging back toward Phase 2-type mandatory controls in several problem areas as Congress debates proposed new ceilings on prices.

Meantime, House Democratic leaders decided Thursday that legislation to set ceilings on most prices and interest rates at their March 16 levels will go to the House floor Monday and a vote will come later in the week. If the bill passes the House, it must go to a Senate-House conference.

Congress plans to adjourn next Thursday for an Easter recess. If it does so without approving President Nixon's request for a one-year extension of his authority to control wages and prices, the power would expire 11 days later.

The Nixon administration wants a simple extension of the law and is strongly opposed to the proposed price ceilings up for a House vote.

The administration criticized a proposal that would have extended controls temporarily for 60 days while Congress debated the bill. This would have caused companies to raise prices in anticipation of stronger controls by Congress, administration officials said.

The bill up for a House vote would roll rents back to the Jan. 10 level while allowing landlords to pass on, dollar-for-dollar, increases in taxes and other costs.

The president would be required within 60 days to bring about further rollbacks in prices or explain why they were not feasible.

Judge won't suppress Watergate testimony

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal district court judge has refused the request of Sen. Sam J. Ervin to suppress publication of future lawsuit testimony by Watergate burglar James W. McCord Jr.

U.S. District Court Judge Charles Richey ruled Thursday that such an order would violate the independence of the court and the public's right to free speech and free press.

Ervin heads a Senate unit investigating the Watergate wiretapping and other political espionage. He argued in an April 9 letter to Richey that McCord's testimony should be sealed to prevent "premature public release" and to avoid "unfair public implications of persons in criminal activities who may be innocent."

McCord is scheduled to begin telling what he knows soon about the Watergate burglary and related events to lawyers representing the Democratic and Republican parties in suits arising from the case.

Unlike McCord's previous testimony before a federal grand jury and Ervin's Senate committee, the lawsuit depositions will be made public as soon as transcripts are ready. This could be within a few days.

Ervin's committee, engaged in staff investigations, has yet to schedule a start for its promised public hearings.

McCord had planned to hold a news conference before release of the lawsuit testimony but Thursday his lawyers called it off. One of them said it was because Ervin objected.

Qualified sources have reported that McCord, in his grand jury testimony, said he had received $3,000 a month to keep quiet, and that other defendants received $1,000 a month.

He reportedly said the money came from Mrs. Howard Hunt, wife of another of the Watergate conspirators, and that she told him it came from Kenneth W. Parkinson, an attorney for President Nixon's re-election committee. Mrs. Hunt died in a commercial plane crash last December.

Parkinson was present in court Thursday, representing the Republicans in the civil actions. He again denied McCord's reported allegation, and argued strongly against sealing McCord's future testimony.

"If ever a deposition in a civil case ought not to be under seal it is that of James McCord," Parkinson said.

In other Watergate developments:

Clark MacGregor, who headed the 1972 Committee to Re-elect the President, was quoted by the Christian Science Monitor as saying "public anger has probably deepened" over the Watergate affair, which he said probably cost Mr. Nixon "between three quarters of a million and a million and a half votes." MacGregor said when he took over the committee he asked "each of the principals in the committee" whether they had any knowledge of Watergate and "I got a straight, factual, look-me-in-the-eye negative."

George Bush, chairman of the Republican National Committee, said President Nixon "fully understands the Watergate problem" and "will clear it up totally." He wouldn't elaborate.

Soglin concerned about disappearance of files

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Madison Mayor-Elect Paul Soglin expressed concern Thursday that various files might disappear from the offices of city government before he assumes office Tuesday.

Soglin, talking to a newsman about the transition between his administration and that of outgoing Mayor William Dyke, said he was worried Dyke might be taking government documents with him.

"I'm incredibly concerned — we've already seen this sort of thing happen in one department," Soglin said. "The problem is that if he (Dyke) is moving anything germane to the operation of city government."

Soglin's comment referred to reports this week that Police Inspector Herman Thomas had removed at Dyke's request some confidential police files on undercover work.

Dyke's administrative assistant, Robert Heck, said the files the incumbent mayor has removed from his office contained only personal memorabilia and reference material.

Dyke expressed regret

Thursday that Thomas was resigning following the reports about the taking of undercover files.

"It's a shame for the city to lose Herman Thomas, being vilified for doing his job by the same people trying to make a hero out of Daniel Ellsberg," Dyke said, referring to one of the defendants in the Pentagon Papers trial.

"Thomas' service to Madison is something that cannot be measured," the outgoing mayor added.

Police Chief David Couper said the files in question concern records of radical activities and demonstrations in the University of Wisconsin area since 1967.

Thomas had been in charge of the plainclothes "affinity squads" detachments of young policemen who dress in hippie clothing and long-hair wigs to help make contacts with radicals and drug dealers.

Dane County Dist. Atty. H. J. Lynch has said he will investigate the situation.

Some dairymen have had to dump a two-day supply of milk because pickup was impossible with county roads blocked by snow, an agent said.

A Sauk County agricultural agent, Richard Halbach, said there may be some advantage realized from the snowfall.

"There's an old adage, saying that snow is the poor man's fertilizer," Halbach said. "It brings down a certain amount of nitrogen from the air."

Barring frost damage, the snow should stimulate crop growth, he said.

Woman who never learned to swim does — to live

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP) — Mrs. Ruth Wiley, a 50-year-old Catlettsburg, Ky., woman, is described by her husband as an unathletic person who "never did learn how to swim."

Yet following an auto accident early Wednesday which sent her car plunging down a 360-foot highway embankment, Mrs. Wiley escaped as the vehicle sank in 20 feet of water, swam across a creek, scrambled up an embankment and scaled a 10-foot fence to warmth and safety.

"It was just a matter of keeping her head," said her husband, Raymond. "If you knew my wife, you wouldn't believe it."

Police said Mrs. Wiley was found huddled inside a building owned by a nearby lumber company shortly about an hour after the accident. She was reported in fair condition at a local hospital Wednesday evening.

Brandt's party holds off left

HANNOVER, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Willy Brandt's party has overwhelmingly endorsed West Germany's alliance with the United States and its full participation in the North Atlantic alliance.

Court delays mailing of NSP proxies

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—Proxy statements to Northern States Power Co. (NSP) shareholders cannot be mailed before next Wednesday under an order by U.S. District Judge Miles Lord.

The restraining order Thursday followed a lengthy hearing the day before. It came on a motion by a Twin Cities consumer group which has filed suit against NSP.

Lord scheduled another hearing for next Wednesday and ordered attorneys for NSP and the Coalition to Advocate Public Utility Responsibility Inc. (CAPUR) to meet before then in an effort to reach agreement.

NSP announced plans last Friday to change the method of election of its board of directors and to reduce the number of directors from 14 to 12.

CAPUR said it sought the restraining order because it would not have had time between the announcement and the May 9 stockholders' meeting to prepare its own proxy statements, mail them and get a return.

In its suit, CAPUR alleges that NSP misled the consumer group about plans to change the election system. The suit asks that NSP be enjoined from making the change this year.

In its announcement of the proposal, NSP said the changes were designed partly to "make it more difficult for small groups of shareholders who oppose management to gain representation on the board."

CAPUR is backing former state Rep. Alpha Smaby for the board of directors. The consumer group said she would need just over 7 per cent of the total votes cast to win under the present system, but would have to get more than 20 per cent if the proposed change were made.

The Social Democratic party convention rebuffed left-wing attacks on pro-Western aspects of Brandt's foreign policy, including his staunch support for U.S. troops in Europe.

The vote Thursday night, by show of hands, looked to be about 370-3 with some 30 abstentions. The convention has 435 delegates, including about 110 leftists.

Party insiders say left-wing strength has grown considerably but not enough to change Brandt's policies. The voting today for the party's 35-member executive committee would normally give some indication of the size of the various party factions, but leftist maneuvering may cloud the picture.

Convention sources said the leftists offered to support a number of center-left candidates in return for support of 11 left-wingers. The leftists also were trying to oust right-wing members of the committee, including Annemarie Renger, speaker of the lower house of parliament, and Egon Franke, Brandt's minister for Inter-German affairs.

In the voting Thursday night, the convention rejected leftist resolutions calling for a freeze on military spending this year and a cut in it next year, cancellation of Bonn's payments to Washington for the U.S. troops in Germany and withdrawal of the 200,000 GIs.

One of the resolutions referred to the American force in Germany as "an anachronism" at a time of improving East-West relations, and one young critic accused the Brandt government of "wasting billions of marks on the army."

During the heated debate Brandt repeatedly took the floor to rebuke the leftists. He defended his policies and said it was not possible to cut the defense budget.

Defense Minister Georg Leber told the left wing to be patient and await the outcome of the exploratory talks on an East-West reduction of forces in Central Europe and on European security.

Cleaning up where we live and re-create

If everyone cleaned up his own property, it would be the city beautiful. Right? No. That still leaves the city streets and county roadsides and the acres of parks and public areas.

Is it right to expect the people who work for government to pick up all the litter that some of us have thrown there?

No, at least that's the encouraging viewpoint of many adults and young people.

Members of the Tri-State Hunting Dog Association, the Izaak Walton League of America and the Minnesota City Boat Club plan to clean up the mess at Latsch Prairie Island Park this Saturday. They'd appreciate help. Anyone's.

This week, too, a Winona State College fraternity will remove the debris from County Road 17, which is Pleasant Valley Road.

And a group of high school students has asked the assistance of the Kiwanis Club in conducting a cleanup drive on the second Saturday in May.

Finally — to cite just a few examples of a realistic concern for the environment — another WSC fraternity, Sigma Tau Gamma, will be conducting a door-to-door bottle collection Saturday. Proceeds will go to the Save Lake Winona fund.

Want to write congressman? Here's a subject

On this page the other day we passed along Chamber of Commerce suggestions about how to write your congressman about legislative issues that concern you — whatever.

Now here's a suggestion for a subject:

COMPLETION of flood controls for Winona.

Write the two senators, Hubert H. Humphrey and Walter Mondale, at the Senate Office Building; write Rep. Al Quie in the Rayburn Office Building, and write to Rep. John Blatnik, House Office Building. The Minnesota congressman is chairman of the House Public Works Committee. That's the committee that clears planning and construction funds for projects such as a dike system to protect the city against the Mississippi River.

Here's the situation:

About half of the permanent dike system was completed by the Corps of Engineers six years ago, from 5A spillway to Olmstead Street. Congress finally authorized the remainder in 1971 and even appropriated $90,000 for planning. But not until April 1, 1973, was any of that money released, and then only $20,000.

City officials have been advised that the corps needs a total of $130,000 in preliminary planning funds now. If the engineers get that amount in bits and pieces it may be forever before they get beyond this stage. At best, it would be 4½ years before construction begins. If more planning funds were available now, one year might be saved.

After this preliminary plan is completed, then Congress must appropriate — maybe as much as $800,000 — for construction plans and then it must appropriate construction funds, which might be as much as $12 million. And then the dike must be built.

Obviously there are many hurdles.

BUT THE BIGGEST hurdle right now is apathy, or, putting it another way, lack of support.

What the senators and congressmen need is citizen expressions of the need for a flood control system.

It was in 1951, after the first major modern-day flood, that everyone agreed that a dike system would be required. Your help is needed to make that a reality before the 30th anniversary of that agreement. — A.B.

A case for population growth

In our present world situation there exist undeniable problems of food shortage, pollution, war, crime, congestion, etc. that must be properly dealt with.

POPULATION AND POLLUTION

Conrad F. Taebuer, supervisor of the 1970 census declared, "Economic and social factors are more important than population growth in threatening the quality of American life. The population problems in the United States are and will be much more a matter of geographic distribution and the way we use our resources than the rate of increase in our total numbers. For the time being population growth is not a threat to very much of anything. Changing standards and habits, in activities, technology and style of life have much more to do with the accumulation and disposition of waste materials and pollution than does the number of persons involved."

"While the U.S. population increased 13 percent in the last decade, the total volume of goods and services grew about 60 percent. Between 1930 and 1968 the population grew 63 percent, but the consumption of crude petroleum increased by 300 percent and that of natural gas by nearly 900 percent."

Henry C. Wallich has said, "If large parts of our own country are polluted, it is not because we are too numerous, but because we pollute. The way to stop that disgrace is not to stop having children, but to start cleaning up."

Next, it is important to know that it is difficult if not impossible, to make accurate predictions about population levels of the future. This is because factors that control population do not remain constant. Therefore caution should be exercised in forecasting future populations. But, any alarmist might be interested in knowing that President Nixon's National Goals Research Staff predicts that the U.S. population will have a zero growth rate by the year 2000.

In summation, Donald J. Bogue, director of the Family Planning Center of the University of Chicago points out, "For more than a century, demographers have terrorized themselves, each other, and the public at large with the . . . 'population explosion' via exponential growth. Their prophecies have all been dependent on one premise: 'If recent trends continue. . . ."

FOOD AND WATER

Since 1935 yield per acre of all grains has taken a sudden upward trend. Agronomist L. R. Brown has said, "Once under way, yield take-offs appear to be irreversible. . . . Thus far, all have continued indefinitely. . . . the rate of yield increase tends to accelerate as the country becomes more advanced."

Agronomist Philip F. Low, Purdue University, points out, "Millions of acres of arable land are being held in reserve and could be used, along with millions more of marginal land for food production. Few agronomists that I know would contend that the U.S. is in danger of shortage of quality food in the foreseeable future."

Dr. George Harrar, president of the Rockefeller Foundation estimates that with present technology, food output could be doubled or trebled without bringing one additional acre into cultivation."

It has been estimated that only half the world's arable land is now being used. Conservative estimates among agronomists indicate that through the use of present technology and all of our arable land, food production could be increased six-fold.

R. T. F. King of the University of Cambridge says, "It appears to be technically feasible to feed the growing population of the world, but, as noted, it may cost more for unit of output to do so, and so food prices may rise."

The most serious limiting factor in food production around the world would be water. Fortunately man's ingenuity may take care of this problem. Alvin N. Wienberg believes that seawater can be desalted by using part of the energy generated in a nuclear-powered agro-industrial complex. Cost of desalting could easily fall between 10 and 20 cents per thousand gallons, which is cheap enough to produce wheat at competitive prices.

According to Charles E. Kellogg, deputy administrator of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service and probably the world's leading authority be possible to operate nuclear power plants with no air pollution, few radiological hazards, and even little thermal pollution. Alvin N. Weinberg, director of Oak Ridge National Laboratory, U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, visualizes that nuclear energy can supply the energy needs of the world without creating insoluble problems of pollution even if its population reaches 20 billion and that nuclear energy can be used to desalinate seawater and to extract minerals from low-grade ores that are currently unusable.

CONCLUSION

In summary, the world does have a burgeoning population. There are

WAR AND CRIME

It has been said that overcrowded conditions are conducive to aggression and criminal behavior. However, these conditions are not the basic cause of crime. If they were, the most crowded areas of the world would be expected to have the highest crime rates. The Netherlands, for example, with the highest overall population density in the world has one of the lowest crime rates in the Western world. And while England has 50 million people crowded into an area smaller than California, there are fewer murders in the entire British Isles every year than in Chicago or Cleveland alone. Population itself does not produce crime.

NATURAL RESOURCES

Nuclear energy, as a source of power, is being developed rapidly. There is a limitless supply of nuclear energy, and it will likely problems concerning overpopulation, food production and pollution, but they can be solved with dedication and ingenuity. And there is reason for optimism. Drastic and undemocratic action is neither advisable or necessary. Parents should feel free to have the children they want. Certainly there is no need for them to feel apologetic about following the dictates of their conscience and their religious convictions. They should be concerned primarily with the engendering of a spirit of love and happiness within the home and with teaching their children correct principles. If they can do this, they can make the world a better place to live in.

In absence of serious men

Russell Baker

The admission by the President's man, H. R. Haldeman, that he was responsible for intelligence during the Nixon campaign of 1972 is gravely damaging, for intelligence was the one commodity in which the campaign was poverty stricken.

It had millionaires in surplus and hard hats in the side pocket, and as soon as President Nixon decided not to campaign he could have been declared the winner by forfeit, for in George McGovern the Democrats had contributed a candidate who could have been beaten no one except that Mr. Hyde whom Richard Nixon becomes when he takes to the stump.

The President said afterwards it was all over the night the Democrats nominated McGovern. One wonders why he didn't tell Haldeman. Perhaps he thought a man responsible for campaign intelligence would not have to be notified of the obvious.

WHATEVER the case, the Nixon campaign without Nixon was permitted to proceed at peak output as though up against a Roosevelt or an Eisenhower. Maybe the President didn't have the heart to call it off. Everybody, after all, had been looking forward to a fight, and now if there was to be no fight there could at least be a picnic.

Intelligence failure was rampant. First off, somebody decided that the White House front organization for the campaign would be called the Committee to Re-Elect the President. Where was the Intelli-dent had lost a few friends in his own party because of CREEP'S sitting on that superfluous hoard.

Everything was superfluous in the best Laurel and Hardy tradition. Stan's millions. The Mexican laundry. ITT's $400,000, or $100,000, depending upon which superfluous figure you choose to believe. CREEP itself was the ultimate in the superfluous, and so, naturally, remains in business to this day, although the President was reelected five months ago, returning unwanted money and sending starchy letters to the editor.

THE WATERGATE business, the well poisoning, the electronic eavesdropping, the gumshoe surveillance of important Democrats — it is too kind to dismiss all this as merely superfluous dumbness. It is all too strongly suggestive of overgrown boys playing at a fantasy of government, instead of men at work on the intractable complexities of the state's business.

Haldeman opens the question when he says he was responsible for intelligence. Intelligence! Why in the world does a political party require a big White House mucky-muck to play CIA and KGB when any respectable newspaper reporter in Washington can spend three hours on the telephone and learn more about the Democratic party than even a Republican President wants to know?

This suggestion of men enacting boyish fantasies is worse than whatever crimes may have been committed in the heat of game playing. Serious men do not carry on the way these people have. It is disturbing to suspect that this huge, potentially demonic superstate in which we abide is not in the hands of serious men.

Youths thanked for changing tire

I have had in mind for several days to report a recent experience I had in your fair city.

About 8 p.m. March 29, as we were leaving the Fawcett Funeral Home, my right front tire went flat and I parked over to the curb in front of the Dairy Queen.

Ralph Bowers, noticing our stop, pulled up in front and graciously delivered my passengers, my wife and Mrs. Viola Curtis to their destination.

I hurried over to the Dairy Queen to call the Gulf Oil station a few blocks east on Broadway to come to my rescue.

There was no outside telephone booth, so I asked a young man sitting in his car with family having ice cream if when he was ready to leave to please alert the Gulf station. He readily agreed. I started back to my car to wait but had only gone a few steps when he caught up to me and said he would change the tire for me. By the time we reached the car another young man who must have overheard the conversation joined us to help.

I unlocked the trunk and they got the bumper jack out and one got going on the front end while the other lad removed the spare tire. They completed the operation in nothing flat.

I tried to pay them but they would not take a cent. I did ask their names and one was "Sharmen" and the other was "Deeda."

You hear a lot these days about the "generation gap" but to me these young men effectively closed the "gap" and I wish there was some way they could be thanked publicly.

Cat set afire; reward offered

It has recently come to the attention of the Winona County Humane Society that a cat was seriously injured by being set on fire. It will live. But the pain suffered by the animal and the hours of anxiety endured by its owners can never be erased.

The WCHS is prepared to offer a substantial reward for information leading to apprehension and conviction of the person(s) involved. Chapter 349.21 of the Minnesota Statutes reads in part: "No person shall torture, cruelly beat, neglect, or unjustifiably injure, maim, mutilate, or kill an animal, whether belonging to himself or another." A violation of this provision of state law is a misdemeanor.

And, by the way, don't forget to feed the birds who really need help with this week's snow.

To the editor ZPG supporters want it everywhere

A recent editorial (April 8) suggested applying zero population growth to big cities as a way to make their traffic problems manageable. You then stated, however, that ZPG was presently being urged on rural areas only. This simply is not true. The majority of ZPG chapters are in larger cities, probably because they feel more acutely the pressures of overpopulation.

ZPG states in its literature, "Zero Population Growth, Inc. (ZPG) is a nationwide nonprofit organization formed for a single purpose: to stop the population explosion, first in the U.S. and then in the rest of the world." Nowhere is there mentioned an effort to stop rural population growth and let the cities continue on their present destructive courses. Certainly migration to the cities is a problem, but it cannot be solved only by halting the population explosion.

I am in the process of forming a ZPG chapter in Winona. We must stop assuming that more and bigger necessarily means better, we must realize that our resources are finite, and we must recognize that other nations will not be able to continue supplying America with their own raw materials as their growing populations need more and more. Anyone who is interested in joining this organization is welcome to contact me.

SUE M. JOHNSON
Lamolle, Minn.

Editor's note: What we said was that if the cities are in an environmental and financial crisis, it is because of the concentration of people. To introduce more people as they persist in doing, will only compound the problem. Cities can begin to solve the root cause of their problem by limiting their population.

A tribute to city street department

The snow had begun in the gloaming,
And busily all the night
Had been heaping field and highway
With a silence deep and white.

James Russell Lowell

Winona is a most fortunate city in having such an excellent street department.

Street Commissioner Arthur L. Brom and his dedicated workers do a real fine job in clearing the streets, sanding intersections and snow removal. The work is staggered so that many of the men work right through the night.

Hats off to all of these fine employees.

How I got an original Picasso

WASHINGTON — I never met Pablo Picasso, but I have an original sketch of his personally dedicated to me and I owe it all to a fellow named Harvey Brodsky of Philadelphia, Pa.

Art Buchwald

One, I received a letter from Mr. Brodsky telling me he was in love with a girl named Gloria Segal, but they had broken up. Gloria had a fantastic crush on Picasso, Mr. Brodsky wrote, and if I could get the artist's autograph, he was sure that the romance would bloom again.

The story behind the sketch began in Paris in 1898 when I was working on the International Edition of the New York Herald Trib-

I WAS DOING a column on the ridiculous requests a columnist gets in Paris and I included Brodsky's letter as an example.

I knew I had no way of getting the great artist's autograph, but it made the best point of what I was up against when it came to my mail.

Now, as luck would have it, Mr. David Duncan, the photographer, was working with Picasso in Venice, on the Riviera, and he took the Paris Herald with him that morning.

For some reason, Picasso was very moved by the request and with colored crayons he drew a beautiful bouquet of flowers. On top of the sketch he wrote "pour Gloria Segal" and signed it with the date.

Since Picasso never did anything like this, Duncan was very excited and called me from Venice. "He did it!" Duncan announced. "He not only gave me his autograph for Gloria Segal but also a crayon sketch which I have in my hand!"

Mondale asks route study for pipeline

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill which would provide for a study to select the best route for a pipeline to carry oil from Alaska to the rest of the United States was introduced Thursday by Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., and six other senators.

In addition to authorizing the study, the measure would:

- Urge the State Department to negotiate with Canada on the feasibility of a pipeline from Alaska through Canada to the Midwestern United States.
- Instruct the Interior Department to report to Congress within 11 months its recommendations for the most desirable pipeline route.

Mondale and Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., said in a news release that Congress should reserve the right to decide whether Alaska oil should be brought to market through an overland trans-Canada line or a land sea trans-Alaska project.

Alyeska Co., a consortium of energy firms, is seeking to build an 800-mile pipeline to carry North Slope oil to the Gulf of Alaska port of Valdez for shipment by tanker to the Pacific Northwest.

The Interior Department is backing the proposal, but the courts have held that a right-of-way made to cross federal lands is too wide under the 1920 Mineral Leasing Act.

Other sponsors of the bill introduced Thursday are Sens. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont.; Charles H. Percy, R-Ill.; Adlai E. Stevenson, D-Ill.; Robert T. Stafford, R-Vt., and Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H.

"THE HELL with Gloria Segal!" I screamed over the phone, "what about me?"

"I'll call you back."

Duncan returned to Picasso's studio and told him that as long as he was doing sketches for girls from Philadelphia he didn't know, the writer of the column felt he deserved one, too.

Picasso looked at my photograph in the paper and with the same crayons drew another sketch of him and me having a drink together under the Riviera sun. On top he wrote "pour Art Buchwald."

I received my sketch and the one for Gloria Segal. By this time, Associated Press had heard about the story and was very interested in following up the Brodsky-Segal romance. Would this beautiful bouquet of flowers bring the lovers together? Would Gloria forgive Harvey when she saw the sketch? Would Picasso's unheard-of gesture send them off to live happily ever after?

TO FIND OUT the AP sent their Philadelphia correspondent to Gloria's house one day after the picture arrived. Gloria said she was very thrilled with it, but in answer to the big question as to what would now happen between her and Brodsky, she said with a brave smile, "Harvey and I will always be good friends."

Even an original Picasso was not enough for Gloria to take Harvey back again.

I don't think the master ever found out the end of the story. At least I hope he didn't because I'm sure it would have broken his heart.

But I have to admit that I personally wasn't too upset over the fact that this great love story of 1958 did not have the ending everyone was hoping it would.

After all, I got an original Picasso out of it, as did Gloria Segal. The only loss in the deal was Harvey Brodsky who got neither the girl nor a painting. But that's the way the ball bounces in Philadelphia, and as I wrote to Harvey after I got my Picasso framed, "You can't win them all."

To VICTORY

... that is the cry of the multitude. Today we join the happy throngs around the earth as we together, "Hosanna! Whatever the morrow may hold of suffering, today we declare to the world... 'Christ has come.' Because we are in His company, we know that God ultimately will be sovereign over all the world. We are confident that goodness is stronger than evil. We are sure love will triumph over hate. Whatever a Friday of crucifixion may bring of temporary defeat, we know life will triumph over death, and the Christian way will resolve itself supremely in the final destiny. Then Palm Sunday is a day to celebrate and set up our banner of hope. For right is right as God is and right the day must win." This hope will convert, for us, spiritual defeat into eternal victory.

On defining evangelical

By THE REV. PATRICK CLINTON, Pastor Pleasant Valley Evangelical Free Church

It is not surprising to me that so few people understand the meaning of the word evangelical. I believe it is most important that all understand this term.

Rev. Clinton

An evangelical Christian is one that is evangelical in Biblical persuasion. That is, he takes God at His plain word. Thus we believe and proclaim the "evangel," which is the English transliteration of the New Testament Greek word for "gospel," which means "good news."

The light of the gospel, however, can only be seen in the darkness of our sinfulness, condemnation, and ultimate judgment by God. The hardest part of the evangelical message for any of us to accept is God's evaluation of us as selfish rebels. But until we see ourselves as God does, as bad enough to go to hell, we are not prepared to see our need for God's "good news."

As long as we merely compare ourselves with one another, we will maintain a barrier of self-righteousness that says, "I'm not so bad. There are many worse than I am. It's only right God loves me." This barrier can only be shattered if we humbly, honestly, and courageously agree with God that our need for His forgiveness is total and not partial. The Scripture says:

"There is none righteous, not even one." "For all have sinned and come short of the glory of God." "For the wages of sin is death."

... he who does not obey the Son shall not see life, but the wrath of God abides on him." (Romans 3:10, 23; 6:23; John 3:36)

There are no exceptions; God has no blindspots! The floodlight of the "evangel" in the midnight of our desperate need for cleansing from sin is summarized by the Apostles John and Paul:

"For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whoever believes in Him should not perish but have eternal life." (John 3:16)

"For I passed on to you... that Christ died for our sins, as the Scriptures said he would; that he was buried and rose again on the third day, again as the Scriptures foretold" (I Corinthians 15:3-5)

The brilliant light of God's concern for us shines in the sending of His son, Jesus Christ, and in His life, suffering, death, and physical resurrection. The key to understanding the death of Christ is to realize that Jesus was miraculously the enfleshment of God Himself, who willingly chose to die in our place and on our behalf in order to satisfy the justice of God towards us. Therefore, at the center of the evangelical message is the declaration of our need for forgiveness and of God's provision of that forgiveness through the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ. However, that proclamation must be personalized in order to be enjoyed.

The evangelical message climaxes in God's free offer of forgiveness and life to anyone and everyone who will abandon the lordship of his own life to the lordship of Christ. God longs to forgive our sins and to give new life to all. But this can only take place when a person is more sorry for living in rebellion from God than he is for the consequences of his sin.

Most everyone is sorry for the consequences of breaking God's laws, but until one is deeply grieved over the cause of one's sins, it is impossible for him to avoid the consequences of divine judgment.

Most of us act like the little boy who disobeyed his father by playing in the street. When he was hit by a car and lay in the hospital, he said to his grieving father, "I'm sorry I got hit by the car, Dad." The boy should have been repentant for his self-willed disobedience, which was the cause leading to his injuries.

Too many people live under the tragic illusion that God has forgiven their sins and that they will be going to heaven because they have been baptized, confirmed, and taken communion, while at the same time they live with no real love for Jesus Christ. He makes no real, practical difference to them in their daily lives.

Evangelicals, however, have a personal relationship with Christ. It's an intimate relationship of love, freedom, and security. It's a maturing relationship of growing lordship of Christ over one's entire life. It's a lasting union that will never end, carrying us to eternal life with the Heavenly Father.

There is one more cardinal aspect of the evangelical message — that Jesus Christ is soon coming back to earth to establish His kingdom and to judge the wicked. The Scriptures say:

"Beloved, now are we children of God, and it has not appeared as yet what we shall be. We know that if He should appear, we shall be like Him, because we shall see Him just as He is." (I John 3:2)

"For our citizenship is in heaven from which also we eagerly wait for a Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ." (Philippians 3:20)

"... the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with his mighty angels in flaming fire, dealing out retribution to those who do not know God and to those who do not obey the gospel of our Lord Jesus." (II Thessalonians 1:7, 8)

ETTRICK priest to note anniversary

ETTRICK, Wis. (Special) — The 25th anniversary of the ordination of the Rev. Francis McCaffrey, pastor of St. Bridget's Catholic Church, Ettrick, and St. Ansgar's Church, Blair, will be observed April 24 at St. Bridget's.

A Thanksgiving Mass will be celebrated at 8 p.m., to be followed by a reception. Parishioners of both congregations will be hosts.

Fr. McCaffrey was born March 29, 1918, at Pittsburgh, Pa. He was ordained April 24, 1948, in the old cathedral of St. Joseph the Workman, La Crosse, after attending St. John's Seminary, Collegeville, Minn. He was pastor of Pius X parish in La Crosse for eight years, coming to Ettrick to serve St. Bridget's and St. Ansgar's parishes in June 1968. Prior to his service in La Crosse, he served at Alma Center.

Confirmation set at Bethany Moravian

BETHANY, Minn. — Three young people will be confirmed at the Palm Sunday service at Bethany Moravian Church at 10:45 a.m.

The sermon topic will be "To the Confirmation Class of 1973," and music by the choir will include, "Lead Me, Lord, in Thy Righteousness," and "The One Thing Needful, That Good Part."

Aging teacher brings Krishna to U.S.

By GEORGE W. CORNELL NEW YORK (AP) — A high, weathered wall ringed the garden behind the big, red-brick building in Brooklyn. A sign on the front door admonished callers to silence, adding: "Sri Prabhupada needs quiet."

Society for Krishna Consciousness. "He's napping," whispered a devotee, Panchartna Dos, 22. "He cannot be disturbed."

That apparently scuttled the planned interview, which had been scheduled in advance, with the aging religious teacher from India who seven years ago started a movement in the West that has sung and danced its way across America.

In almost every major city nowadays, you frequently spot his followers, young men with shaven heads and topknots, wearing saffron, wrap-around dhotis and tunic-like kirtas, sandal-footed young women in flowing saris with painted marks of dedication, the tiarkas, on their foreheads.

MOVE TO NEW CHURCH... The Rev. James I. Mikkelson, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, Alma, leads the congregation from the old church to the new church building. The move, last Sunday, was made following hymns and prayers in the old sanctuary, with members carrying church appointments, marching to the new building to the tune of "Onward Christian Soldiers." Bishop named to Papal order

The Most Rev. Loras J. Waters, D.D., Bishop of the Diocese of Winona, is one of three men from the Winona diocese approved to membership in the Equestrian Order of the Holy Sepulchre of Jerusalem by Pope Paul VI.

Bishop Waters

Investiture for Knights of the Order will be held at the Cathedral of St. Paul, Minn., April 29.

BISHOP WATERS will be invested as a Knight Commander with Star, and two laymen, James W. Reynolds and Daniel J. Coughlan, both of Mankato, will be invested in the order.

The Holy Sepulchre Order was established by Godfrey de Bouillon, leader of the first crusade in 1099, as guards of the sepulchre of Christ in Jerusalem. The order was approved in a Papal Bull by Pope Paschal II in 1113.

John Joseph Cardinal Carberry, Archbishop of St. Louis and Grand Prior of the Northern Lieutenantancy of the United States will preside at the investiture ceremony.

BISHOP WATERS has served as Bishop of the Diocese since January 1969. Born in Dubuque, Iowa, and educated at La Crosse College, Dubuque, and at Catholic University of America and in Rome, he was ordained in 1941 and became a Bishop in 1965.

Besides responsibilities in the Dubuque Archdiocese and in the Diocese of Winona, he is a member of the administrative committee of the U.S. National Conference of Catholic Bishops and is chairman of the group's standing committee on priestly formation.

Covenant Players will appear at St. John, Alma

ALMA, Wis. — The Covenant Players, an interdenominational drama group, will appear at St. John Lutheran Church, Alma, Tuesday at 6:30 p.m.

Organized in 1963, the self-supporting group has performed more than 65,000 times in 10 countries.

The group's repertoire includes more than 300 one-act plays and shorter vignettes written without emphasis on a special denominational theology.

The public may attend. A free will donation will be received at the end of the program.

Passion reading set at St. Stanislaus

The Passion of Our Lord according to Matthew will be read by three youths at Masses at St. Stanislaus Catholic Church 625 E. 4th St., at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, and Sunday at 8:30, 7:15, 8:30, 9:45 and 11:15 a.m. and 5:15 p.m.

The blessing and distribution of the palm will be a part of the 7:30 p.m. Eucharistic celebration.

Winonan will be ordained on Saturday

William Kulas, son of Mrs. Loretta Stelmach Kulas, 1709 W. Mark St., and the late James Kulas, will be ordained a deacon of the Roman Catholic Church Saturday.

The ordination rite will be performed by the Most Rev. Loras J. Waters, D.D., Bishop of the Diocese of Winona, during the 6:45 p.m. Mass at St. Mary's Church.

Kulas was born at Dodge, Wis., and attended Sacred Heart School there. He graduated from Cotter High School and the Immaculate Heart of Mary Seminary on the campus of St. Mary's College. He is presently completing his third year of theology at St. John's University, Collegeville, Minn., in preparation for his ordination to the priesthood in early 1974.

St. Casimir sets Procession of Palms

Sung Masses and the Procession of the Palms will be at St. Casimir Church, 626 W. Broadway, at 5:15 p.m. Saturday and 8 and 10 a.m. Sunday.

The Palm Sunday worship consists of two parts. The procession with palms is a joyous, public demonstration of loyalty to Christ the King. The Mass, however, with its reading of the Passion, is already under the sorrowful shadow of the Cross.

Translators for blind, deaf workers sought

RACINE, Wis. (AP) — United States industries should provide translators or co-ordinators for the deaf and the blind such as Soviet industries do, an assistant state superintendent of public instruction said Thursday.

John Melcher, who toured Russian schools for the handicapped last year as part of a cultural exchange, told a seminar at the Wingspread Conference Center that the American educational system was doing a poor job of helping such workers.

"Even if the number of deaf employees is small, Russian industry almost always has a translator," he said. "This is definitely something we could import."

"I would also like to see this in vocational schools. We would not need all of the special schools we now have if we had interpreters in our regular schools."

Melcher said there are also special factories operated by the blind and the deaf in the Soviet Union, which are surrounded by special housing developments, theaters, restaurants and shopping areas.

"In Russia, up to 25 percent of the work force in those blind and deaf factories can be seeing and hearing employees," he said.

"Now, get this switch, the seeing and hearing employees have the same benefits as the blind and the deaf, rather than the other way around."

Communism's growth warned in S. America

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — Brig. Lai Ming-tong, chairman of Nationalist China's Joint chiefs of staff, said Thursday that "Communism is trying, through subversion, to build a platform whose starting base is now the Latin-American continent."

Lai is in Brazil on a six-day official visit.

Ordination set at Church of Brethren

LEWISTON, Minn. (Special) — Special ordination services will be held Sunday at the Lewiston Church of the Brethren for the Rev. Laurence R. Taylor.

Educated at the Baltimore Polytechnic Institute and Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md., Rev. Taylor majored in social and behavioral sciences, including 30 hours of Biblical research and theology.

His home church is the Trinity Church of the Brethren, Baltimore-Mid Atlantic District, where he served as youth director two years.

He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. N. Rowland Taylor, Baltimore. He and his wife, Betty, have a son, Elliott, 2, and a daughter, Rebecca, nine months old.

Cutting down your meat bill can be as simple as rearranging your dinner. Serve spaghetti as a first course, as the Italians do—then follow it with a smaller portion of meat and vegetables. Finish with fruit and cheese.

There are nearly as many sauces to serve with spaghetti as there are cooks in Italy. Many of them are easily made while the spaghetti cooks.

SICILIAN SPAGHETTI
1 (10 oz.) pkg. thin spaghetti
3 tablespoons olive oil
1 small clove garlic
1 1/2 cups bread crumbs (dry or fresh)

Bring at least 4 quarts of water to a vigorous boil in a large kettle. Add a tablespoon or two of salt and a tablespoon of oil, to keep the spaghetti from sticking together. Put in spaghetti and cook just until done. Test for doneness by tasting a piece. The spaghetti should still be a little firm, but with no hard core in the center. Do not overcook. It will take 6 to 8 minutes.

While spaghetti cooks, heat olive oil with garlic, peeled and split, in it. When edges of garlic start to brown, remove. Put in crumbs and stir over medium heat until brown and crisp.

Drain spaghetti but do not rinse. Toss spaghetti in large bowl with a tablespoon or so more oil, then divide among four salad plates. Top each serving with a spoonful of crumbs and pass rest of crumbs at the table. Serves 4.

SPAGHETTI WITH BUTTER
1 (10oz.) pkg. thin spaghetti
1/2 cup whipped butter or margarine
1 tablespoon parsley, minced
1 tablespoon green onion tops, minced
1 tablespoon green garlic tops, minced
1/2 cup grated Romano or Parmesan cheese (optional)

Cook spaghetti as above. Melt butter and add any of the minced greens. Toss with hot drained spaghetti and divide among 4 salad plates. Top with grated cheese if desired and pass more cheese at the table. Serves 4.

How much does daughter owe mom?

DEAR ABBY: How much does a daughter owe her mother? Mom divorced Dad when I was five. I'm 23 now, and Dad has paid her a generous alimony all these years, plus child support which enabled me to have the best clothes, music lessons, dancing lessons, and a college education. Mom never had to go out and work.

I recently married a wonderful man whose work takes him all over the world. At first Mom sulked because we didn't ask her to live with us. Now she wants me to stay home with her or invite her to travel with us. Abby, I love my mother,

Dear Abby:
By Abigail Van Buren

and my husband is very considerate of her, but he doesn't want to make it a steady threesome.

Mother is 56, attractive, and could easily marry again but she says she won't let Dad off the alimony hook as long as she lives. (She's bitter because he's happily married now.)

I feel guilty leaving her. In fact, I feel guilty just writing this. What should I do? LIFE OF MY OWN

DEAR LIFE: If you want someone to tell you not to feel guilty, count me in. A woman who makes a martyr of herself because she's determined to keep her husband on the alimony hook doesn't deserve much sympathy. You'd feel less guilty if you told her how you felt. It might cause her to take a good hard look at herself and possibly change her life's direction.

DEAR ABBY: We were planning a lovely big church wedding for our daughter in June. Well, she got pregnant, and she and her boy friend panicked and drove to Reno and got married there.

Now she wants to be married in church by our priest. (Do we have to tell him the truth?) Of course, the wedding won't be as big and elaborate as the one we planned originally, but I wonder if we could still have a flower girl and ring bearer? We promised my little niece and nephew, and they will be so disappointed. MRS. J.

DEAR MRS. J.: Under the circumstances I think simplicity should be the keynote in this wedding. Discuss it with your priest. And, yes, tell him the truth; he can count and will probably be asked to baptize the baby in six months.

DEAR ABBY: A girl with whom I work is getting married soon. She and I have spent our lunch hour together nearly every day since she came here a year ago. I was quite sure she would invite me to her wedding, but the other day she said she wasn't having anybody from the office because if she invited one she'd have to have them all or there would be hard feelings.

Abby, she isn't friendly with any of the other girls, and I'm sure there would be no hard feelings if she were to invite me. I am very hurt, and I don't know how I can continue to have lunch with her every day and keep a plastic smile on my face. If the situation were reversed, I'd have invited her to my wedding. I think she should be more concerned about hurting MY feelings than the feelings of the other girls in the office who are mere acquaintances.

Should I tell her how hurt I am? Or should I let it slide? HURT

DEAR HURT: Let it slide, dear. Some people don't feel as close to us as we feel to them.

DEAR ABBY: I was taught that if you didn't have something, you did without it, but we have neighbors who borrow, borrow and never return anything, and I am sick of it. When they moved in next door they asked if they could borrow our phone until they got theirs. Well, it has been five months and they still don't have their own phone, and I doubt if they even ordered one.

They started using our baby's stroller, and now they use it more than we do. It's a good one which I bought second-hand for $7 through an ad in the newspaper, and they could get one the same way if they tried.

I won't even mention the light bulbs, cigars, coffee, and other things they have borrowed and never returned. What should we do? If we were as crude as they were we wouldn't have a problem. TAKEN ADVANTAGE OF

DEAR TAKEN: If you don't cut off the easy supply, they'll continue to take advantage of you indefinitely. Simply tell them you are not able to lend them anything anymore. You needn't be crude. Just be firm.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif., 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Schultz-Knox vows pledged at Mabel

MABEL, Minn. — Henrytown Lutheran Church, Mabel, was the setting for the April 7 wedding of Miss Alice Marie Schultz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schultz, Whalaha, Minn., and Stephen Knox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Knox, Mabel.

The bride wore a gown of white satin-faced organza designed with empire bodice, high neckline and full bishop sleeves. English cluny lace detailed the neckline and the ruffled hemline. Cluny lace edged the cathedral-length mantilla veil.

Miss Nina Schultz was maid of honor and Miss Jeanne Zelter and Miss Gloria Schultz were bridesmaids. They wore floor-length skirts of yellow chiffon with white empire bodices accented with lace. They wore wide-brimmed yellow hats.

Best man was Dick Suk with Charles Johnson and Richard Smith as groomsmen. Ushers were Curtis Schultz and James Knox.

Following a reception in the church parlors the couple left for a honeymoon in Florida.

The bride is a graduate of Mabel-Canton High School and Winona Area Vocational-Technical Institute. She is employed as a hairdresser. The bridegroom is a graduate of Mabel-Canton High School and the University of Chicago. He is employed by Olmsted County Bank, Rochester. The couple will live in Rochester.

Bottle pickup to aid lake

Winona residents will have another chance to assist the efforts of the Save Lake Winona Committee by making all their returnable beverage bottles available to members of Sigma Tau Gamma Fraternity.

The Winona State College fraternity will be making a door-to-door collection Saturday and all the bottles collected will be returned to appropriate distributors with the proceeds going to the Save the Lake Fund.

Anyone with returnable bottles to donate to the drive should contact Sigma Tau Gamma and leave their address so fraternity members may make the collection.

Your horoscope — Jeane Dixon

FOR SATURDAY, April 14
Your birthday today: Finds you affirming your faith, building slowly and surely for future happiness and prosperity. Serious relationships take up more of your attention. Today's natives are of many vocations, and share a profound interest in spiritual matters.

Aries (March 21-April 19): Today we sort out the results of yesterday. Solitude, exercise and fresh air help relieve pent up emotions. Home life is better later.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): It's a busy day and nobody's in a helpful mood. Your share in overlooking minor irritations is much appreciated.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Your ability to manage in limited conditions is tested. Keep your mind occupied during delays.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Somebody will demand all of your time just when you have many other things to do. Anger will not help.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Little progress is likely in finances, as you wait for the situation to ripen. Pick up a long-neglected hobby.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You differ drastically with associates. Pursue recreation rather than serious negotiations.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Communications are snarled. No big issues involved, so relax. Health care can be studied at leisure.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Keep your plans to yourself. Friends could complicate matters. Financial negotiating runs into obstacles.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Stop, look, listen, then pray for guidance. All will be well with you and your loved ones.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): An impatient move is likely premature. Much can be gained by caution. Avoid haste and fatigue.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Accept delay and disappointment as inevitable. Keep careful records of what you attempt.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): In giving advice be systematic and take into full account the emotional states of the people you advise.

House approves resolution to ask Congress to ban abortion

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—The Minnesota House has approved a resolution urging Congress to ban abortion, despite an opponent's charge that the approval was grounded in fear.

In a related action, the Senate gave preliminary approval to a bill prohibiting the use of living fetus matter for any type of research.

The preliminary House tally on the abortion resolution Thursday was 101-21, with final approval of the resolution expected late today.

The resolution which Congress would be urged to pass as a constitutional amendment says:

"No persons shall be deprived of life, liberty or property from conception until natural death without due process of law, nor denied the equal protection of the laws; provided that this article shall not prevent medical operations necessary to save the life of a mother."

Although memorials to Congress have no legal status, if Congress were to pass such a constitutional amendment it would have the effect of overturning a Jan. 22 U.S. Supreme Court decision that struck down most state prohibitions on abortion.

Among the state statutes which fell as a result of the high court decision was Minnesota's, which allowed abortion only to save the life of the mother. The constitutional amendment asked in the resolution would reinstate that law on a nationwide basis.

Rep. Robert Bell, R-Roseville, led opposition to the resolution.

"You're going to vote for it," Bell told his colleagues, "because you're afraid to vote against it." He said the majority of House members had "complained so far" with instructions from the Minnesota Citizens Concerned for Life (MCCCL) to oppose all amendments not accepted by the resolution's sponsor, Rep. Thaddeus Jude, DDL-Mound.

In typed statements delivered to House members earlier this week, MCCCL described the resolution as "the strongest expression of intent this legislature can make to help correct the monstrous abortion decision of the Supreme Court."

The statement went on to urge lawmakers "to vote against any amendment to the resolution not accepted by the author, and to prevent any other effort to delay or defeat the

House OK's truck bill, with changes

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—The Minnesota House has approved a bill permitting 65-foot twin-trailer trucks, but tacked on amendments a Senate leader dislikes.

Senate Minority Leader Harold Krieger, the chief Senate author, said he would not accept provisions for added taxes on the longer trucks. He predicted the bill would be sent to a conference committee to resolve the differences with a Senate version passed earlier.

The House vote Thursday to relax the current 55-foot limit and single-trailer rule was 90-37. The Senate vote on the bill about 10 days ago was 45-19.

Supporters said the bill was favored by farm, labor and business groups as a means to provide efficient, low-cost transportation.

Rep. Jack Lavoy, DFL-Duluth, chief House author, said the bill would allow three twin-trailer trucks to haul the same amount of goods that four trucks now carry, at a savings in fuel.

Rep. Carl Johnson, DFL-St. Peter, said the twin-trailer rigs would make it economical to serve rural Minnesota towns cut off by railroad branch line abandonments.

Rep. Walter Hanson, DFL-St. Paul, opposed the bill and said it would not help the boxcar shortage because "you can't haul grain in double bottom trucks because of the weight restrictions."

The bill, which would take effect July 1, would not change the current maximum weights allowed on state roads.

The amendments added by the House would impose a $100 tax on 60-foot twin trailers and a $200 fee on 65-foot double bottom trucks.

The House bill also permits the state Highway Commissioner, county boards and municipalities to approve two-lane highways for use by twin-trailer trucks. The longer rigs would generally be limited to four-lane divided highways but would be permitted use of connecting two-lane routes and two-lane roads leading to truck terminals.

The Senate bill calls for public hearings before two-lane routes are approved, while the House version does not.

who did not accept the Supreme Court decision, this is a legitimate exercise in their right to petition Congress."

Rep. Joan Growe, DFL-Minnetonka, abstained from voting. She explained that although she personally opposed abortion, the resolution went "far beyond" that question, without offering any alternatives to abortion.

"Voting abortion up or down will not solve the real problem—the reason people seek abortions in the first place," she said. "Abortions will continue to be performed."

If the resolution wins Senate approval as expected, Minnesota would join several other states which have asked Congress to pass an anti-abortion amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

The Senate-approved bill would prohibit use of a "living human conceptus" for any type of laboratory research. The bill also declares that human life begins at conception, a point anti-abortion groups have long argued.

Under the bill, medical researchers could use human fetal tissue such as obtained in an abortion, but could not tamper with the tissue until all signs of life were gone.

Sen. George Pillsbury, R-Wayzata, read a leader opposing the bill from Dr. Bernard Mirkin, director of clinical pharmacology at the University of Minnesota.

Mirkin's letter said the measure "would significantly hamper and indeed cripple our capability for developing the information necessary to prevent the potential adverse effects of drugs or environmental pollutants in millions upon millions of unborn children."

The bill's chief sponsor, Sen. Robert Brown, R-Stillwater, said it would prevent any research being performed at the university.

Like the House-passed resolution, the bill was supported by MCCCL.

'Drummer Boy' brings price of $125,000

NEW YORK (AP)—A Civil War study by Eastman Johnson, "The Wounded Drummer Boy," brought $125,000 at auction Wednesday night, one of two American paintings that sold for more than $100,000 at a Sotheby, Parke-Bernet Galleries auction.

The highest previous price for a work by Johnson was $28,000.

The painting, which was an 1870 study that preceded the final work hanging in the Union League Club of New York, depicts a wounded boy drumming while borne on the shoulder of a Union soldier, with a battlefield in the background.

"Parallon Island," painted by Albert Bierstadt in 1887, sold for $110,000. Bierstadt had sold previously for a high of $22,000. Anonymous buyers were the high bidders in each instance.

County denies variance on lot dimensions

A request for a variance for the reduction of frontage size on lots in an A-1 zoning district was denied Thursday by the Winona County Board of Zoning Adjustment.

Larry Roemer, Minnesota City, had petitioned the board to grant variances for the reduction of the 300-foot required frontage area be reduced to 175.65 feet and 225.15 feet on a parcel of property he owns off CSAH 17 in Wilson Township in Pleasant Valley.

The variance would have split the property into two parcels of about five acres each.

Roemer has built a house on one portion of the property and told the board that a potential buyer of the property wants the property split into two parcels.

Board members agreed that there was no land hardship involved and that to grant the request might establish a precedent for other landowners to request splitting their property.

It would conflict with the county comprehensive land use plan, they agreed.

Board chairman Cy Hedlund advised the petitioner to attempt to have the property rezoned in order to split the property and build additional housing.

MacGregor: public anger deepening over Watergate

BOSTON (AP)—The Christian Science Monitor quotes Clark MacGregor, who headed the 1972 Committee to Reelect the President, as saying that "public anger has probably deepened" over the Watergate affair.

In a Washington dispatch, the Monitor said it has been MacGregor's judgment all along that "Watergate cost Mr. Nixon between 1 and 2 percentage points in the election. In votes that would be between three-quarters of a million and a million and a half votes."

MacGregor took over leadership of the President's campaign when John N. Mitchell resigned in June, 1972, after the "bugging" of the Democratic National Committee offices in the Washington Watergate complex had been discovered.

At that time, the Monitor said MacGregor recalled, "I had never met any of the 'Watergate 7', and I still have not met them."

"I asked each of the principals in the committee who had been on hand at the time of the Watergate affair whether they had any knowledge of or were in any way involved. I got a straight, factual look-me-in-the-eye negative."

Nothing that has happened since, Mr. MacGregor said, has caused him to change his mind, the Monitor reported. "He said that he was primarily concerned with the 'nuts and bolts' get-out-the-vote side of the campaign and the first he heard of the political espionage beyond that in the Watergate was the newspaper reports involving Donald H. Segretti and presidential aide Dwight L. Chapin.

"Mr. MacGregor said that as a lawyer, he will withhold judgment until there is factual proof," the newspaper said. The Monitor quoted MacGregor as saying the loss of votes was only one aspect of the damage to the President's campaign.

"Its impact went far beyond that with people who said this is a reprehensible thing..." MacGregor was quoted. "But quite obviously Richard Nixon would have no hand in such an absurd, idiotic operation."

The day after the election, MacGregor resigned to head the Washington office of United Aircraft.

The Monitor quoted MacGregor as saying the standing of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew is high among party workers and party officials because of reasons which are "partly ideological" and "partly the fund-raising ability" of the vice president.

"Most people like Ted Agnew very much...and come away from any association with him with a very high regard for the man personally," he said.

MacGregor was asked about working with President Nixon.

"He is soft spoken and whenever I had to lean forward to hear what he was saying I knew I had better do so because when he wants to make a major point he usually lowers his voice rather than raising it," MacGregor said.

"He is very gentlemanly in dealing with people who work for him. I never saw an exception to that."

"He is impatient at times with things that don't work. I remember one time when a telephone call was broken off because of some technical problem and he was impatient. I never saw him abuse anyone who worked with him. He is, in the finest sense, on the basis of my personal dealings with him, a gentle man."

Before he replaced Mitchell as head of the reelection committee, MacGregor was chief congressional liaison for Nixon for a year and a half.

When he accepted the White House job, the Monitor said, it was with the understanding he would leave after the presidential election, and this was reaffirmed with the President.

Committee refuses to alter Lucey prison plan

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—The Democratic majority of the Wisconsin legislature's Joint Finance Committee refused to make alterations Thursday in Democratic Gov. Patrick J. Lucey's proposal to close three state institutions. But it didn't foreclose the possibility that some changes might still be made.

"We simply haven't reached agreement yet on what to do with the governor's prison reform proposals," Rep. Dennis Conta, D-Milwaukee, a co-chairman of the panel said.

Lucey has called for closing the Green Bay Reformatory, the Central State Hospital at Waupun and the Sparta Child Care Center.

The committee rejected 8-6, on a party-line vote, a motion by Sen. Walter Hollander, R-Rosendale, to delete the portion of the proposed state budget involving the closing of Central State Hospital. And a motion by Rep. Kenneth Merkel, R-Brookfield, to close only half of the Green Bay Reformatory was also unsuccessful.

Hollander contended it would cost more to move Central State patients to other state institutions than to close the hospital.

Rep. Byron Wackett, R-Wartown, contended putting the closing of the institutions in the budget was a usurpation of legislative powers.

"This is going to be the greatest abortion ever in the state of Wisconsin," he said.

But Conta said the governor's proposal was merely "one component in a total effort to make the prison system more efficient."

The committee approved, on another party-line vote, a motion by the Milwaukee Democrat to add $700,000 for the purchase of services aimed at rehabilitating parolees and probationers.

"Every effort must be made to rehabilitate the prisoners," Conta said.

The state budget director, Harry Schmidt, announced meanwhile that he expected 400 to 450 jobs to be available for the 550 state employees who would be displaced if the three institutions are closed.

New SMC coach has no qualms about wearing 3 hats

Bill Stier

By STAN SCHMIDT
Daily News Sports Editor

Dr. William F. Stier, Jr., as of August 1, will be more than just the new basketball coach at St. Mary's College. He'll also be athletic director and chairman of the physical education department.

But Stier, 30, has no qualms about wearing three hats at the same time.

"I'm sure going to try to do justice to all three jobs," Stier said at a press conference at SMC this morning. "I held all three jobs at another college (Briar Cliff, Sioux City, Iowa). I couldn't have done it at Shepherd College because there we had 14 intercollegiate sports and 300 physical education majors.

"BUT I WOULDN'T have taken this job unless I thought I could do the job. As the program grows, in five or 10 years, I may relinquish one.

Stier replaces Ken Wiltgen, who was fired March 30 after 19 years as athletic director and basketball coach. Stier is currently athletic director at Shepherd College, Shepherdstown, W. Va. His appointment is effective August 1.

Stier is a native of Springfield, Mo., and was graduated from St. Ambrose College, Davenport, Iowa, in 1965. He earned a master of education degree from Temple University, Philadelphia, Pa., and completed a doctorate in education at the University of South Dakota in 1972.

Although Stier hasn't held a coaching position since 1971 (he coached briefly at two high schools and led Briar Cliff to a 39-34, three-year record) he doesn't feel he's gotten out of touch.

"I MIGHT HAVE gotten out of touch with the day-to-day problems," he explained. "But the most important part of coaching is the interrelation with the young men, and I don't think I've gotten stale on that."

Stier also expressed his dislike of the word "winning" after he was asked if he could improve on SMC's record next year. The Redmen were 6-19 this season and have suffered through four straight losing seasons.

"Can I produce a winner? I don't know, but I sure hope so," he stated. "I don't like the word 'winning'; I prefer the phrase 'to be successful.' I'd be a jerk, just from looking at the six video tapes (of SMC games) that I've seen, to be able to say what we'll do next year.

"I just want to be successful. I'm not overly concerned with a win-loss record, but it'd be nice to win the conference championship.

"I HAVEN'T HAD the opportunity to evaluate the team, their stats, their strengths, their weakness. Next September we'll know."

Stier went on to say that he will concentrate his recruiting efforts within a 200-mile radius of Winona, although he wouldn't put a strict limit on that, adding that "Chicago is certainly included."

"Within those 200 miles," he said, "there has to be one or two players who can really help us. We've got to look in our own back yard. There's a heck of a high school program right here in Winona."

The new addition to SMC's coach staff said he saw "a lot of good things" in the video tapes. "But I'm not concerned with the past. There's 10 ways to skin a cat and all I'm concerned with is can they play our system."

North Stars ousted by Flyers, 4-1

By PAT THOMPSON

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — The Philadelphia Flyers, for the first time in their six-year history have advanced past the first round of the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup playoffs.

"The difference in getting this far is like the difference between drinking draft beer and bottle beer, between driving and flying on summer vacation," said defenseman Joe Watson after the Flyers beat the Minnesota North Stars 4-1 Thursday to win their quarter-final playoff.

Watson, defenseman Ed Van Impe, right wing Gary Dornhoefer and goalie Doug Favell, the key man in the play-off, are the remaining four players from the original Flyer expansion team of 1967-68.

"Would you believe it took us six years to advance past the first round?" said Dornhoefer, whose overtime goal beat Minnesota 3-2 Tuesday night in Game 5. "We've got more togetherness on this team than we've ever had before. Everybody believes we can win. I just knew we were going to win and we got another great effort from Dougie in goal."

Favell was the most sensational in the series, allowing only three goals the last three games of the series and turning aside 37 of the 38 North Stars shots Thursday night.

"Favell was the big difference," said Minnesota's all-star winger J.P. Parise. "He made the key stops when they counted."

The North Stars took a 1-0 first period lead on Bill Goldsworthy's power play deflection with a leg.

But the Flyers opened up a 3-1 margin with second period goals by Terry Crisp, Ron Lonsberry and Dave Schultz, and Lonsberry finished it up with an empty goal with 12 seconds to play.

"Our team was fantastic," said Favell. "The defense was just great. Name every guy on the team."

There was speculation before the game that Favell might have to sit out the game because of a back injury that sidelined him during a 15 game stretch in the regular season.

And he appeared to have trouble regaining his footing after making some saves.

"I have some bad skating...new ones," Favell said, denying a back injury.

The Flyers will head directly to Montreal while the North Stars will be canceling the weekend reservations they made to Philadelphia for a possible seventh game.

"I look for a physical series in Montreal," said Flyer Coach Fred Shero. "We've had a lot of success against them by covering their wings and not letting them get going."

The Flyers were 2-21 against the Canadiens in the regular season.

Shero cited a number of reasons for Philadelphia's victory, citing Lonsberry's play as a factor.

"He has been a big key in the series," said Shero. "He controls the puck well, kills penalties and scores goals. We've got younger legs than the North Stars. Favell played well for us—made a lot of key saves. Everyone played well."

Lonsberry said, "We've got the combination of experience and youth that has made the difference. I think we're capable of playing against Montreal on their ice at anytime. I expect the series to be rough."

We've hit all year and we don't expect to change now."

Coach Jack Gordon of the North Stars praised the play of Favell and Flyer forwards Bobby Clarke, Lonsberry, Dornhoefer and Rick MacLeish and "a particularly sound defense."

"You have to give them credit—they were aggressive and had good checking," said Gordon.

First period—1, Minnesota, Goldsworthy 1 (Moyn, Mann) 13:46. Penalties—Dornhoefer, Phil, 1:10; Barrett, Min, 7:23; Harris, Min, 10:07; Dupont, Phil, 11:00

Lonsberry, Phil, 14:28.

Second period—2, Philadelphia, Crisp 1 (Bladon, Lonsberry) 4:10; 3, Philadelphia, Lonsberry 2 (Dornhoefer) 14:42; 4, Philadelphia, Schultz 1 (Flett, Clarke) 18:01.

Penalties—Harvey, Min, 1:17; Parise, Min, 2:30; Harris, Min, 7:37; Ashbee, Phil, 10:30.

Third period—3, Philadelphia, Lonsberry 3 (unassisted) 19:48. Penalties—MacLeish, Phil, 12:07; Hextall, Min, 12:07; Ashbee, Phil, 14:48.

Twins hope to get back KO punches

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — The Minnesota Twins hope to regain use of their KO punch—Killebrew and Oliva—this weekend when they play their first home stand of the 1973 season against the Oakland Athletics.

The Twins planned to send Jim Kaat, 1-0, to pitch their home opener against Oakland's John "Blue Moon" Odom, 0-1, at 1:15 p.m. (CST) today.

Harmon Killebrew, whose 541 home runs rank him No. 4 on the all-time list in that department, missed the team's first five games because of bursitis in his left knee.

Tony Oliva, the three-time batting champion, has been used only as the club's designated hitter because he has not yet been running adequately to take an outfield post while trying to make a comeback from knee surgery.

Still, Oliva has four hits in 16 at-bats as the designated hitter, including a home run in the season opener a week ago at Oakland.

Killebrew hopes to get into action sometime this weekend, but the Twins continued to list him as questionable.

"If I don't start playing pretty soon, I'm not going to get in enough games to earn my letter," Killebrew joked.

The Twins won their first three games of the season, against Oakland last weekend, then dropped 4-2 and 4-1 decisions at Anaheim against the California Angels.

The A's, defending World Series champions, have lost four of their first games. Bert Campaneris, the A's little shortstop who was suspended the first week of the season for throwing his bat at a Detroit pitcher in the playoffs last fall, was eligible for the first time today.

Air Force Maj. Richard Bolstad of Minneapolis, a prisoner of war in North Vietnam for 7½ years, was to throw out the ceremonial first ball.

Bert Blyleven, 1-1, and Bill Hands, 1-1, will pitch for the Twins in the Saturday and Sunday games respectively against Ken Holtzman, 0-1, and Vida Blue, 1-0.

Twins Manager Frank Quilici is happy with the team's start despite the back-to-back losses in Anaheim.

"We showed that our pitching will keep us in every game," he said. "We proved that we can get some runs against that type of pitching and that's got to help our confidence."

The eight newcomers on the roster include pitchers Hands, Joe Decker and Ken Sanders; infielders Joe Lis, Jerry Terrell and Danny Walton, and outfielders Larry Hise and Mike Adams.

Gabriel to play in minor league

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Roman Gabriel's attorney says he has reached a tentative agreement for the unhappy Los Angeles Rams quarterback to play with a minor league club next season, despite threats he could be dropped from major league football.

But there were indications Gabriel was using the proposed contract with the Las Vegas Casinos to force a trade to some other National Football League club. Gabriel's attorney, Ed Masry, declined to comment on the matter after arriving here Thursday night, saying only, "Roman wants to be traded. If this helps him to be traded then as far as he's concerned it's beneficial."

Masry later met with owners of the Casinos and in a joint statement said the tentative agreement called for the 8-foot-4 signal caller to be paid $100,000 for an eight-game summer season with the team and be free to report to an NFL team by mid-August.

Midnight comes early for Sabres

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Midnight came 90 minutes early for the Buffalo Sabres. The Sabres, the Cinderella team in this year's Stanley Cup playoffs were finished off by the powerful Montreal Canadiens 4-2 in goals Thursday night and 4-2 in games in their quarter-final playoff round.

Elsewhere in the National Hockey League, the Philadelphia Flyers eliminated the Minnesota North Stars in six games with a 4-2 victory while the Rangers skated to a 4-1 opening-game win in their semi-final round series with the Chicago Black Hawks.

In the World Hockey Association, New England gained a 3-1 lead in its quarter final playoff series by defeating Ottawa 7-3

At approximately 9:30 CST Buffalo's dream of upsetting the mighty Canadiens, losers of only 10 regular season games, ended. It was the witching hour for the Sabres, but there were no pumpkins in sight.

The only transformation was that after a hard-fought six games, the Canadiens turned into winners while the Sabres became losers.

"Well we tried, but it just wasn't in the cards," said Sabres' Coach Joe Crozier, whose team made the playoffs for the first time in its three-year history. "The kids matured," he added. "They really came a long way."

As far as the Canadiens were concerned Buffalo almost came too far. "I feel like somebody has just taken a plane off my back," said Montreal's Coach

Scotty Bowman. "I don't think any team can be any tougher than the Sabres."

And he wasn't even on the ice. Someone who was, Ken Dryden, spent most of Thursday night throwing his large frame in front of 44 Buffalo shots and he was duly impressed. "They just kept coming on and on," he said, after watching the Sabres give up four first period goals without giving up.

The Montreal goal scorers were Serge Savard, Murray Wilson, Guy Lafleur and Jacques Laperriere while Buffalo's Rene Robert and Jim Lorentz scored third-period goals to halve the final margin.

For the New York Rangers, there's no place like home, but the road isn't bad either.

With Thursday night's victory in Chicago added to the three previous road wins over Boston, the Rangers are now 4-0 in away games in this year's playoffs.

Another New York trick is to spot the opposition an early lead and then come storming back. "That's been the story of the playoffs for us," said Ranger Coach Emile Francis. "They go ahead early, but we don't give them much time to enjoy it."

In the only WHA action, Tom Williams, who only scored 10 goals during the regular season, scored three Thursday night to lead the New England Whalers to the victory over the Ottawa Nationals.

Trout streams in trouble

SOUTHEASTERN MINNESOTA's trout streams might not get their allotment of trout this spring and that's bad for both the streams and the trout fishermen.

Why not? Because of landowners. Mel Haugstad, fisheries manager in charge of trout stocking programs in the area, points out that there has been a noticeable increase in posted land along trout streams in this region...

The law defines suitable access as walk-in access. Most trout streams have roads crossing them where anglers can approach the stream and this is what Haugstad's crews are concerned with.

"Fishermen who like to drive right to the stream are expected to negotiate this with the landowner on their own," Haugstad explains. "Failure to obtain drive-in access doesn't affect the stocking program at all."

Because many of the signs posting land are near walk-in access points, the streams won't be stocked unless landowners remove the signs soon.

Haugstad and his staff are urging landowners to cooperate in making possible the stocking of trout streams in the area. He is also asking for the assistance of sportsmen's clubs and fishermen in getting the word to landowners and negotiating for the lifting of the no trespassing signs.

There's no time to waste, stocking will begin soon and the season opens in a matter of days. If the signs aren't down when the time comes to release the fish, many streams will go without their annual consignment.

Touring with Towser

THE GAINES DOG Research Center has announced that the 1973-74 edition of "Touring With Towser," a book for the traveling dog owner is now available.

The book holds some invaluable tips on how to travel with your canine friends and lists thousands of hotels and motels throughout the United States and Canada which accept pets at their facilities.

The book is available for 50 cents from Gaines TWT, P. O. 1007, Kankakee, Ill. 60901.

The publishers point out that although you might have a copy of the 1971-72 edition, consider obtaining the new one because it includes about 1,000 more hotel and motel listings in 400 more cities and towns.

While giving pet owners "rules of the road" for traveling with their dogs, it also gives them a fine reference book for planning accommodations on their travels.

Badgers suspend grid workouts

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Heavy snow this week has forced the University of Wisconsin athletic department to suspend spring football practice, move two baseball doubleheaders to Illinois and cancel an outdoor track meet.

Coach John Jardine has suspended football practice until April 24, the day after Easter vacation, because it would be difficult to clear the Camp Randall Stadium field without damaging the artificial turf.

"It will give a lot of guys a chance to heal bumps and bruises," Jardine said. "But it also will mean that we'll have to go over a lot more when they return because they'll have forgotten some things."

The Badgers have gotten in 11 of the 20 spring practices allotted by the National Collegiate Athletic Association. Jardine plans a total of only 16 sessions this spring.

The baseball team, scheduled to play doubleheaders here against Indiana today and Ohio State Saturday, has moved the games to Niles West High School, Skokie, Ill.

An outdoor track meet scheduled against Iowa here Saturday was canceled, although Coach Bill Perrin said an intrasquad meet may be held.

Swanson rolls 268, Chuchna tallies 653

Dennis Swanson rolled a 268 game and Rich Chuchna a 653 series to highlight league bowling in Winona Tuesday night.

Swanson, who finished with a 610 series, rolled his 268 in the Mapleleaf Eagles League, where Tom Smokey also had a 615, West End Greenhouse a 1,018 and Rocco's Pizza a 2,937.

Chuchna, who had games of 230 and 234, rolled his 653 in the Westgate Classic League, where Steve Larson had 213-619, John Tibor an errorless 227-611, Mike Yahnke 242-605, Ray Thrune 204-602, Warren Bonow 213-601, Bob Skeels an errorless 543 and Rollingstone Lumber 1,032-2,895.

WESTGATE: Keglerette Ladies — Elaine Thode had 190, Gloria Rockwald 497, Bauer Electric and Town & Country State Bank 853 and Dison's 2,492.

Pin Drop — Rosemary Winiewicz had 189, Rita Troppe 500, Ray's Trading Post 898 and Lake Center Industries 2,520. Action — Ron Blank had 220, Ted Block 576, Bay State Boxers 977 and Bay State Blacks 2,776.

3 NBA teams face elimination tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Superstitious? Three National Basketball Association teams facing play-off elimination, better not be Chicago, Milwaukee and Atlanta all trail their best-of-7 postseason series 3-2 with Game 6 scheduled for tonight, Friday the 13th.

In the only pro basketball playoff action Thursday night, the Utah Stars defeated the Indiana Pacers 124-107 to take the opening game of the American Basketball Association's Western Division finals.

The defending champion Los Angeles Lakers will try to finish off the Chicago Bulls, Golden State goes for the wrap-up victory over the Milwaukee Bucks and Boston tries to eliminate the Atlanta Hawks in tonight's NBA action. There are no NBA playoff games scheduled for tonight.

Chicago and Atlanta will at least have the home court advantage going for them and in the series between the Bulls and Los Angeles, that advantage has been a factor so far.

In the first five games of that series, the home team has won each time.

"Our fans really helped," said Los Angeles Coach Bill Sharman of Tuesday night's victory which gave the Lakers the edge. "They were behind us every step of the way. In a playoff situation when the games get more physical, fans can really pick you up."

Boston, which dominated the first two games of its series against Atlanta only to drop the next two, staged a second half comeback to take Game 5.

Golden State has been doing just that at Milwaukee's expense, winning two straight to go ahead in the series. The Warriors would love to finish the Bucks off at home and avoid a return trip to snow-bound Madison, Wis.

It was in Madison Tuesday night that Milwaukee, denied a delay in the series requested because the storm had prevented them from reaching the arena for a practice, dropped the pivotal fifth game.

There has been no snow in Oakland and presumably both teams will have had their full quotas of workouts before tonight's Friday the 13th showdown.

At Salt Lake City, Utah's Willie Wise and Zelmo Beatty supplied most of the offensive damage in the final period when the Stars outscored the Pacers 35-23 to open up a previously tight game.

Wise scored 29 points and Beatty added 21 while Indiana's George McGinnis led all scorers with 31.

Plainview '9' in tie again

BYRON, Minn. — Plainview's baseball team battled to a tie for the second straight game here Thursday afternoon after settling for a seven-inning 7-7 deadlock with Byron.

The Gophers trailed 4-0 going into the top of the sixth inning but erupted for five runs on a bases-loaded double by Jon Marsman, a single by John Anderson, a double steal and a triple by Mark Standing.

Byron scored three runs in the bottom of the frame to take a 7-5 lead, but Plainview came back with a pair in the seventh on a walk, an error and a two-run double by Joe Anderson.

Joe Anderson also finished up on the mound for the Gophers in place of starter Jeff Wedge. Dan Peterson went all the way for the host team.

Plainview, now 0-1-2, will be at Glencoe for a twin bill Saturday.
