Charge against Ehrlichman to be dismissed?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge, saying the FBI "plays cat and mouse" with people it is investigating today indicated he is considering dismissing one charge brought against former presidential aide John D. Ehrlichman in the White House Plumbers case.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell raised the question in reference to a charge that Ehrlichman lied to the FBI about his knowledge of the White House Plumbers unit's investigation of the Pentagon Papers case.

Gesell said that an FBI memo summarizing the interview with Ehrlichman did not make it clear whether the agent asked Ehrlichman about the "Pentagon Papers case" or, more specifically, about the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

Ehrlichman told the FBI more than a year had elapsed since he had seen papers relating to the Pentagon Papers investigation. Gesell said that might have been correct if Ehrlichman was referring to the original case brought against Ellsberg.

Ehrlichman and five others were indicted by a grand jury on March 7, 1974 on charges of conspiring to violate the civil rights of Dr. Louis Fielding, a Beverly Hills psychiatrist who had treated Ellsberg.

The Plumbers unit allegedly engineered the break-in in an attempt to put together a psychological profile of Ellsberg. Ellsberg was then under indictment on charges stemming from the leak of the Pentagon Papers.

In addition, Ehrlichman was indicted on one count of lying to the FBI and three counts of lying to the grand jury.

The other defendants are Charles W. Colson, former White House special counsel; Felipe de Diego, a Cuban exile now living in Miami, and three Watergate conspirators, G. Gordon Liddy, Bernard L. Barker and Eugenio R. Martinez.

Meanwhile, Watergate was said to be hurting Republican fund raising efforts, and President Nixon's chief of staff Alexander M. Haig Jr. was quoted as saying he was so disturbed by the transcripts of the Watergate tapes that he had to re-evaluate his job.

Playing of key tape slated

By IRA R. ALLEN
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Judiciary Committee and a federal court get down to specifics this week in trying to interpret whether President Nixon meant to authorize payment of "hush money" to Watergate defendants and the burglary of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

In addition, Nixon's role in an increase in milk price supports, allegedly in exchange for hefty campaign contributions, comes up again in a new complaint filed by a lawyer for consumer advocate Ralph Nader.

The impeachment panel Tuesday will listen to the tape recording of the crucial March 21, 1973, conversation between Nixon and John W. Dean III, his former counsel and now chief accuser.

It was at that meeting, according to edited White House transcripts, that Nixon discussed raising $1 million to pay off Watergate burglar E. Howard Hunt. A few hours later, according to a grand jury, Hunt received $75,000.

The White House has said the conversation was open to different interpretations and Nixon really was discussing only the possibility of buying Hunt's silence. The White House says it knows nothing of the payment.

U.S. District Court Judge

Gerhard A. Gesell, who already has indicated Nixon's national security powers might include the authority to order burglaries, hears oral arguments starting today on motions to dismiss conspiracy charges against six men who allegedly broke into the office of Dr. Lewis Fielding, Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

Charles W. Colson, a former Nixon counsel, has told the court "national security considerations . . . were of concern to the defendants at the time of the Fielding break-in." He quoted Nixon as telling him several times in June and July, 1971, "in effect, 'I don't give a damn how it is done, do whatever has to be done to stop these leaks...'"

Leon Jaworski said Friday, however, that while claiming national security, "not one of the defendants has attempted to contradict the President's assertion that he had no prior knowledge of the break-in."

In a letter calling President Nixon head of a conspiracy to raise milk price supports in return for campaign contributions, a Ralph Nader lawyer has demanded that the government find out the cost to the taxpayer.

Judge refuses to dismiss Reinecke perjury indictment

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge today refused to dismiss a perjury indictment against Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke of California or shift his trial to that state.

U.S. District Judge Barrington Parker denied motions by Reinecke's attorneys who contended among other things that he had been misled and trapped by federal prosecutors into cooperating with their investigation.

"The court finds that Mr. Reinecke was unable to point to any statement made to him about a promise of leniency . . . in the unequivocal manner he suggests," Judge Parker ruled.

Hearings set Nixon pushes health policy

KEY BISCAIYNE, Fla. (UPI) — President Nixon appealed today for rapid congressional approval of his national health insurance program, claiming that health care charges will continue rising and that every American must be assured adequate means to meet the cost.

In a nationwide radio address, the President also urged the health care industry "to take every action at their disposal" to hold down prices

SWEET VICTORY . . . French Finance Minister Valery Giscard d'Estaing, conservative candidate for the presidency, claims his victory at the polls over socialist Francois Mitterrand in Paris Sunday. (AP Photofax)

Friction with U.S. may ease

Conservative wins in France

PARIS (UPI) — Valery Giscard d'Estaing, winner of France's closest presidential election, moved quickly today to put together a "new era" government to face challenges by a powerful left that nearly defeated him.

The 48-year-old conservative called meetings with his political supporters this morning after defeating communist-backed Socialist Francois Mitterrand by a tiny, 1.4 per cent margin.

Mitterrand and his backers vowed, however, to keep on fighting to end conservative rule in France despite the defeat of the left's most serious bid for power.

"Our combat will continue," Mitterrand, 57, said after Sunday night's runoff election loss. "Our victory is inevitable."

Giscard d'Estaing, the youngest French president of the 20th Century, vowed Sunday night to carry out to "the last iota" his campaign promises of sweeping economic and social reforms.

The president-elect promised new welfare measures, higher wages, improved working conditions and fringe benefits to "surprise all by their scope and portent."

"A new era of French politics starts today," he said. Official returns showed Giscard d'Estaing defeating Mitterrand by a 50.7 to 49.3 margin with only a handful of votes in France's overseas territories yet to be reported. A record 87 per cent turnout gave the president-elect 13,214,648 votes to 12,842,834 for the defeated leftist.

Political analysts said Giscard d'Estaing, finance minister under the late President Georges Pompidou, would have his hands full trying to appease the labor movement, restless over a 15 per cent annual inflation rate.

In foreign policy, he was expected to be friendlier with the United States and more sympathetic to Western Europe than his Gaullist predecessors were.

During his campaign, Giscard d'Estaing picked up rightist votes by attacking Mitterrand's decision to give communists a half-dozen cabinet posts if he won.

A spokesman for the president-elect said a premier and a full cabinet would be named by next week and the new administration would be able to take power by the end of the month.

The spokesman said the new cabinet would represent Giscard d'Estaing's Independent Republican party as well as other political groups, including the Gaullists, who have faded since the April 2 death of Pompidou.

House will vote on oil allowance

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House vote is expected sometime this week on legislation to end one of the oil industry's biggest taxbreaks, the 22 percent oil depletion allowance.

The House will consider an oil and gas energy tax bill drafted by the Ways and Means Committee later this week. The measure would phase out the depletion allowance gradually, making all oil industry profits subject to taxation in three years.

Experts estimate the bill would cost the companies an additional $12.9 billion over the next six years.

House liberals, however, are pushing too far an immediate end to the depletion allowance—retroactive to Jan. 1 of this year—and they have plenty of support.

The depletion allowance, which has been around in one form or another for 50 years, permits oil and gas companies to deduct 22 percent of the gross income from their taxes of an oil property up to 50 percent of the taxable income of the property before depletion.

Warrant for Patty Hearst issued

By WILLIAM SAUL
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Patricia Hearst, the soft-spoken coed who screamed "let me go" as she was violently kidnapped 3½ months ago, was hunted today by hundreds of lawmen as an "armed and extremely dangerous" member of the terrorist group which abducted her.

With six of Miss Hearst's alleged captors dead after a series of weekend developments in which the case began to break open, the FBI led a blitzing search in this city today for the remnants of the nearly decimated Symbionese Liberation Army, and for Miss Hearst.

The FBI said Sunday night it would charge Miss Hearst as the woman who pumped automatic rifle fire into a sporting goods store on Thursday, the incident that triggered the army of lawmen into action as they began to close in on the SLA.

The woman was described as 18 to 20, blonde hair, blue eyes, with a sawed-off shotgun on a sling concealed under her coat. Miss Hearst has brown hair and brown eyes. The men were described as in their 20s, one 6-foot-3 and the other 5-foot-4.

Police said when the landlady refused to rent the room, she was slashed at with a knife. Her clothing was cut but she was unharmed. Her assailants reportedly fled in a red and black sedan.

Named in a warrant charging federal firearms violations were Miss Hearst and William and Emily Harris, a husband and wife in their late 20s. The Harrises are white. If there was any solid SLA connection with the two black men sought early today, police did not give it.

Six persons, including acknowledged SLA leader Cinque, are dead, victims of a Friday night shootout with an estimated 500 law officers that lasted more than an hour before their hideout house burned. When the charred remains of all six were finally identified by Sunday afternoon, the dead in-

Police said early today all units were seeking a young white woman and two black men "considered armed and dangerous and may be suspected SLA members" who tried to offer "several hundred dollars" to a landlady if she would give them a room Sunday night.

Details begin to leak Kissinger tying up loose ends of plan

By BARRY SCHWEID
DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Details of a general agreement to separate Israeli and Syrian forces on the Golan Heights began trickling out today as Secretary of State Henry Kissinger arrived for discussions with Syrian leaders to overcome the few remaining obstacles.

A senior American official said a buffer zone separating the two armies will vary in depth from less than half a mile to a little over one mile.

According to this official, Israel has agreed to permit Syrian policemen to re-enter towns and villages within the demilitarized zone along with Syrian civilians.

Newsman also were told on the one-hour flight from Jerusalem that verification of the thinning out of armor immediately behind the disengagement lines would not cause a problem because the distances involved are not great. Now in the 22nd day of his marathon peace mission, Kissinger brought to Damascus Israel's approval of his proposals to separate the opposing forces, which the Israeli negotiating team gave Sunday.

Syttende Mai Fest concludes

SPRING GROVE, Minn. (Special) — The fourth annual Syttende Mai Fest here was concluded Sunday with church services, Norwegian meatball dinner, flea market, quilt show and a Norwegian program.

More than 800 persons attended a Norwegian meatball dinner in the Trinity Lutheran Church basement, sponsored by the Sons of Norway.

The flea market in the Vaaler Feed building and the quilt show, which was a first, were well attended.

Other Sunday events included: a fiddlers' bee in downtown city park, the Norwegian program, entitled "Young Americans Speak," in the Spring Grove High School auditorium, and an evening missionary service with Nils Oldberg as guest speaker at Calvary Free Church.

Broiler Days queen entrant listed 'serious'

STRUM, Wis. — Geraldine Dubiel, 18, rural Strum, injured in a one-car accident early Saturday morning, was listed in serious condition today at St. Francis Hospital, La Crosse, Wis.

A hospital spokesman said she was in the special care unit receiving treatment for a fractured femur and arm and internal injuries.

Miss Dubiel, a candidate for Arcadia Broiler Dairy Queen, had participated in the pageant judging at Arcadia Friday evening.

According to Trempealeau County Deputy David Galewski, she was alone in the car. The accident occurred at 3:57 a.m. on Highway 93 about six miles north of Arcadia.

Miss Dubiel was northbound in a 1969 hardtop. The car crossed the highway into the left lane striking the left abutment on the south side of the bridge near the Ralph Skroch farm, Galewski said. The impact swung the car around and backwards across the bridge. It came to rest on the right lane of the highway facing the north side of the bridge.

Galewski, traveling south on 93, arrived at the scene a few minutes after the accident occurred. Skroch was at the scene when he arrived.

MISS DUBIEL was pinned in the car, Galewski said. She was taken by Arcadia Ambulance Service to St. Joseph Hospital, Arcadia, then transferred to the La Crosse hospital.

Assisting in the investigation were county deputies Duane Pape, Independence, and Robert Berg, Whitehall.

Men's yard and garden club elects officers

LAKE CITY, Minn. (Special) — Officers of the newly organized Lake City Men's Yard and Garden Club, elected at the May meeting, are: Jerry Rutz, president; Charles Bair, vice president and Gerry Swanson, secretary-treasurer.

The constitution will be adopted at the June 13 meeting at the Jerry Rutz home. The program will include a demonstration on air layering.

Most still believe Dean

Despite heavy attacks on John Dean's credibility by the White House and statements by jurors in the Mitchell-Stans case that they were skeptical about testimony by the former White House counsel at that trial, a plurality of the American people (45-32 percent) believe that "John Dean has been more truthful about the Watergate cover-up than President Nixon."

Significantly, a 52-30 percent majority said it "believes Dean's charges that President Nixon knew about the Watergate cover-up." Dean was scheduled to be a key witness before the House Judiciary Committee in its hearing to determine whether or not to impeach President Nixon. A pivotal question will be just how credible a witness the former White House counsel will be.

THE OUTCOME of the Mitchell-Stans trial, in which the two former Nixon Cabinet members were found not guilty, did shake the credibility of Dean in the eyes of 26 percent of the public. However, twice that many, 52 percent, said the episode left them unshaken in their estimate of Dean's veracity. Both senators Sam Ervin and Howard Baker of the U.S. Senate Watergate Committee have expressed the view that Dean's testimony before their committee last summer by and large had been substantiated by the transcripts of the edited tapes recently released by President Nixon.

On May 7 and 8, a nationwide cross section of 1,555 adults was asked by the Harris Survey: Who has been:

MORE TRUTHFUL ABOUT WATERGATE COVER-UP
	Nixon	Dean	Not Sure
May 1974	32	45	23
April	28	49	23
March	29	46	25
July 1973	38	37	25

While the gap between the President's and Dean's respective credibility has narrowed since April, there is little doubt that more Americans are prepared to believe Dean's word than Mr. Nixon's on the cover-up story. These results are in marked contrast to the prevailing public view last July, right after Dean's original testimony, when by a narrow 39-37 percent margin, people tended to believe the Nixon version of the facts.

Dean became an overt target of Mr. Nixon, both in the President's April 29 speech on Watergate and in a 50-page brief accompanying the transmission of 1,300 pages of edited tape transcripts to the House Judiciary Committee. The thrust of the White House attack on Dean was that he, rather than Mr. Nixon, would be proved to be "guilty of improper and illegal acts" in connection with the Watergate break-in and cover-up. The cross section was asked:

BELIEVE NIXON OR DEAN?
	Total Public	Believe Nixon	Do not believe Nixon
Trust Dean less	52	28	46
Don't feel that way	32	44	25
Not sure	16	28	29

Clearly, the Nixon counter-offensive against Dean has simply not taken hold, despite the fact that one in four was shaken by the verdict in the Mitchell-Stans trial as indicated here:

TRUST DEAN LESS?
	Total Public	Trust Dean less	Don't feel that way
Trust Dean less	52	28	46
Don't feel that way	32	44	25
Not sure	16	28	29

White House hopes that the Mitchell-Stans trial would mark a turning point in public opinion away from John Dean and toward Richard Nixon simply have not materialized. What does remain is the basic credibility of John Dean's charges of involvement by President Nixon in the Watergate cover-up.

BELIEVE DEAN'S CHARGES AGAINST NIXON?

	Believe Dean	Do Not Believe Dean	Not Sure
May 1974	52	30	18
April	55	28	17
March	52	28	20
July 1973	50	30	20

There is little doubt that before the House Judiciary Committee and possibly before the entire U.S. Senate, White House lawyers are going to have to defend John Dean's credibility more than has occurred up to now, or the former counsel's testimony can be expected to be damaging to President Nixon's case in proving he is not guilty of a Watergate cover-up.

For safety's sake, call a pro.

Never fly a kite near power lines. Those lines on the poles near your home are not insulated and they carry up to 13,800 volts of electricity. That's more than enough to critically harm anyone who comes into contact with them. So stay away from electrical wires. That's important for everyone in the family to know. And never use metal wire for kite string. If a kite or anything gets lodged in or near overhead lines or if you see downed wires from a power pole or any other electrical hazard, call an NSP professional. Electricity is his job. Safety should be yours.

SESSION

Presented by the Family Chiropractic Health Service

TUESDAY, MAY 21

Starting at 6:30 p.m. at the offices of Dr. R. C. Cone

278 East 5th St. — Winona

In addition to a short lecture on the Chiropractic Science, a question and answer period will be held. It is our hope to be able to answer any and all questions you may have regarding Chiropractic. We anticipate questions such as those that follow:

- What is Chiropractic?
- How long will it take to get well?
- Can a condition go too far for Chiropractic care?
- Must I be X-Rayed?
- Do I have to continue periodic check-ups after I am well?
- Why come in so often for check-ups?
- Do Chiropractors treat children?
- Why should my spine be checked?

You may have questions that you want answered. If you do, we urge you to attend this FREE session. There is absolutely no obligation and you do not have to be a patient to attend. We just want to answer your questions as straightforward as possible so you know about Chiropractic.

Tension in religion said to be healthy

"With the dual concepts of do and tell, faith and works, heart and mind, nurture and witness, we can achieve and live the concept of a commitment faith. We can live a life with God, in a church for the world," said Harold F. Hufendick Sunday.

Hufendick, associate minister, Minnesota Conference of the United Church of Christ, spoke on, "The Church in the 70s," Sunday at First Congregational Church here.

He cited a passage from the 12th chapter of Paul's Letter to the Romans, "Do not be conformed to this world, but be transformed by the renewal of your mind, that you may prove what is the will of God, what is good and acceptable and perfect," as a theme that will be very important for the church in the 1970s.

"This passage, it seems to me, epitomizes the struggle, the state of tension the church finds itself in when it tries to be faithful to its calling of being in and for the world, but not being of the world," Hufendick said.

Two men sentenced in Trempealeau Co.

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — Two area men were sentenced Friday in Trempealeau County Court by Judge A. L. Twesme.

Timothy R. Colassaco, 28, rural Whitehall, was sentenced to one year at Waupun State Prison on a battery charge.

Colassaco, who was represented by court-appointed attorney Fred Berns, Whitehall, had been charged with assaulting a police officer.

John Eno, 23, La Crosse, also charged with battery, was sentenced to four months in the La Crosse County Jail, under the Huber Law.

He was charged with assaulting a rural Whitehall man April 14 near Arcadia.

High School in Buffalo County, Wis. One of the passengers in the Herold car is in critical condition and another is in fair condition. The wrecked vehicles came to rest crosswise on the highway. All three occupants were thrown from the vehicle. (La Croix Johnson photos)

12 polling places ready for school board races

Voters of Winona Independent School District 861 will elect three members of the district school board at this year's annual school election to be conducted Tuesday at 12 polling places throughout the district.

Polls will be open from noon until 8 p.m. and the school board will meet in special session Tuesday night to canvass the returns as they are received.

THE 1ST District, will elect a director to serve for the unexpired two years of the term to which Kenneth P. Nelson was elected in 1973.

Nelson resigned shortly after the election and Norman J. Decker, 1751 W. Mark St., was appointed by the board last summer to serve for the remaining portion of the first year of the term.

Decker, vice president for administrative affairs at Winona State College, is a candidate for election to the two-year term and is opposed by Roderick (Rod) Henry, 4330 7th St., Goodview, a member of the history department at Winona State College.

The 1st District includes the 1st, 2nd and 3rd precincts of the 1st Ward — excluding Wincrest Addition, St. Mary's College and Knopp's Addition — and Goodview.

POLLS WILL be at Jefferson School, and for residents of Goodview, at Goodview Elementary School.

In the 2nd District, a director will be elected to a three-year term to succeed Mrs. Sharon Hull who is not a candidate for reelection.

The candidates are Mrs. Elaine Baron, 462 W. King St., resigning as a Winona State College nursing faculty member to attend a course at the Mayo School of Graduate Studies, Rochester, Minn., and Mrs. Mary A. Trautner, 1394 Conrad Dr., a housewife and former nurse.

Seeking the at-large directorship are Dr. Curtis M. Johnson, 1306 Conrad Dr., a Winona pediatrician, and William J. Ferguson, Prairie Island, a representative of Motivation Institute, a professional motivational program, who is also purchasing the Magic Mist Car Wash, 408 W. 4th St.

The areas included in the remaining three election districts of District 861 and the polling places are:

DISTRICT 2 — The 1st, 2nd and 3rd precincts of the 3rd Ward, the 4th Precinct of the 2nd Ward and Sections 34 and 35 of Winona Township. Polls will be at Central Elementary School.

District 3 — The 1st, 2nd and 3rd precincts of the 3rd Ward, the 4th Precinct of the 2nd Ward and Sections 34 and 35 of Winona Township. Polls will be at Washington-Kosciusko School.

District 4 — The 4th Ward and the 4th Precinct of the 3rd Ward. Voting will be at Washington-Kosciusko School.

District 5 — All areas outside the city of Winona except Goodview and Sections 34 and 35 of Winona Township. Polling places will be at Rollingstone, Minnesota City, Stockton, Pickwick, Ridgeway and Dakota schools and at the Homer Town Hall.

County board, council to discuss jail plan

The Winona County Board and the Winona City Council will talk about the future of the county jail Tuesday.

A special joint meeting of the two governments has been set for 7:30 p.m. in the commissioners room of the temporary courthouse.

The jail is the only topic expected to be discussed. The county board has learned it may cost $1 million to remodel or replace the jail and is interested in learning if the council might be willing to contribute financially to creation of a joint law enforcement center.

The cost difference between a facility for county use only and a joint facility is about $200,000, and commissioners have considered asking the city to pay that differential. The county board has also discussed entering joint ownership of a facility with the city and splitting the cost in two.

Another joint meeting is anticipated soon to discuss the fate of parking ticket collectors. The parking fines are now handled by the city, but state law requires the county court to handle collection.

City Design expected to make report to HRA

City Design Development Co. should report on urban renewal progress and setbacks at Tuesday's meeting of the Winona Housing and Redevelopment Authority (HRA).

Among setbacks was a federal Housing Administration Section 220 project, which would aid low interest financing for the 80-unit apartment tower on the Latsch half-block.

The application reportedly was denied because the city did not have certification of a workable program. The certification was allowed to expire, local officials said, because the department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) said last year it would not be necessary.

City Design instead is applying for a similar Section 221 (d) 4, which does not require the certification, according to developer Louis Lundgren. Another City Design spokesman is expected at the Tuesday meeting.

A citizens' group which favors urban renewal as planned also has asked for time at the session. The HRA meets at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in Valley View Tower.

Probe continues into city tavern armed robbery

Winona Police Chief Robert Carstenbrock said today that there are no new developments in an investigation concerning an armed robbery Friday night at the Handy Corner Bar, 700 E. 5th St.

According to bartender Lois Schwartz, two men entered the bar through a rear door shortly after 11 p.m., ordered nine customers into a corner, and told her to "get the money."

Both men were carrying rifles, she said, and both wore ski masks and gloves. An estimated $1,150 was taken in the incident.

According to Mrs. Schwartz, both men appeared to be in their early twenties, and both were short. The pair escaped through the back door before police arrived.

Another robbery was attempted at the bar April 21, when an armed man described as being about 5 feet, 4 inches tall fled after Mrs. Schwartz refused to give him money.

Three others injured

Cochrane man killed in crash

COCHRANE, Wis. — Buffalo County recorded its third traffic fatality for 1974 when a Cochrane man was killed in a two-car, head-on crash near here at 8:39 p.m. Sunday.

Two other persons are in critical condition and another is listed in fair condition.

PRONOUNCED dead on arrival at Community Memorial Hospital, Winona, was Bruce W. Herold, 20, Cochrane.

Dr. Robert Tweedy, Winona County medical examiner, said that Herold died of a fractured neck.

Stanley Knosp, 54, Cochrane, driver of the other car, was reported in critical condition this morning at the Winona hospital.

He is in the hospital's intensive care unit with chest and hip injuries and head lacerations.

Two passengers in Herold's car were injured. Wendy Vesperman, 15, who lives with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schlavin, Cochrane, Rt. 1, was listed in critical condition at St. Mary's Hospital, Rochester. She is in the hospital's intensive care unit with head and facial injuries and a fractured left leg.

Cindy Kamrowski, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kamrowski, Fountain City, Rt. 1, was reported in fair condition at the Winona hospital. She has back and jaw injuries.

THE CRASH took place in the northbound lane of State Trunk Highway 35, about two miles north of Cochrane-Fountain City High School.

Herold had been heading south on the two-lane, straight stretch of asphalt roadway, according to Buffalo County Deputy Edward Brantner, and Knosp, who was alone, was traveling north.

Both cars caught on fire when they collided. Flames were put out with a hand fire extinguisher by some of the first persons at the scene.

After the impact Herold's 1974 compact car came to rest crosswise on the highway, mostly in the northbound lane.

All three occupants were thrown out: one landed on the roadway, fairly close to the car; another was on the shoulder between the two cars, and the third person was tossed down the highway and onto the shoulder.

Knosp's full-sized car wound up upside down in the ditch about 14 feet off the highway on the northbound side. He was not thrown out of the vehicle.

THE ACCIDENT victims were taken to the Winona hospital in two ambulances owned by Praxel Ambulance Service, Winona.

Officer Brantner said the sky at the time of the accident was cloudy and the roadway was dry.

Both cars were total losses. An investigation of the accident is continuing.

Herold had been employed the past four months at the Plastic Trading Co., Winona. He was born Sept. 28, 1953, in Winona to Clem and Beverly Keeler Herold and was graduated from C-FC High School in 1971. An Army veteran, he served in Germany for 2½ years. He was a member of Christ Lutheran Church, Cochrane, where he was confirmed June 11, 1967.

Survivors are: his parents; three sisters, Mrs. Roy (Betty) Mueller, Poyntette, Wis.; Mrs. Charles (Judy) Brust, Memphis, Tenn., and Mrs. James (Patsy) Banicki, Winona; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Herold, Winona, and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Keeler, Winona.

Funeral services will be Wednesday at 2 p.m. at Christ Lutheran Church, Cochrane, the Rev. Wilbur Beckendorf officiating. Burial will be in Buffalo City Cemetery.

Friends may call at Voigt Funeral Home, Cochrane, after

2 p.m. Tuesday and until 10 a.m. Wednesday and then at the church from 11 a.m. until time of services.

Elgin residents honor doctor

By EVELYN SCHUMACHER Daily News Correspondent

ELGIN, Minn. — Practically the whole town — population of about 550 — turned out Sunday to honor Dr. Earl W. Ellis at an open house and program in Elgin-Millville High School.

Dr. Ellis Appreciation days also included a "Beat Doc Ellis" competition Saturday at Piper Hills Golf Course, near Plainville.

MILO PETERSON was master of ceremonies for the Sunday program entitled, "This is Your Life," in the high school auditorium. Piano and vocal selections were offered by Dr. Ellis' daughters, Mrs. Ronald (Carol) Prescher, Wabasha, Minn.; Mrs. Kenneth (Charlotte) Cummings, Mercer, Wash., and Miss Carol Ellis, Minneapolis.

Persons honoring Dr. Ellis, who has been Elgin's physician for more than 40 years, attended from:

Rochester, N.Y.; Mercer Island, Wash.; Ann Arbor, Mich.; Redwood Falls, St. James, Taylors Falls, New Ulm, St. Louis

Park, Shakopee, Edina, Shafter, Chicago City, Adams, Lewiston, Minneapolis, Claremont, Red Wing, Winona, Wabasha, Zumbrota, Stewartville, Reads Landing, Lake City, Rochester, St. Charles, Plainville, Millville, Minn., and Alma, Wis.

Guests in attendance included Dr. Dean Swanson, former principal at Elgin High School, and former Supl. C. J. Welsbrod.

MENTIONING the many things Dr. Ellis has done for the community, Peterson said: "The old adage, 'If you want something done, go to the busiest man in town,' certainly applies to this man."

Dr. Ellis was presented a camera and a photography album from the community by Robert Schmall. Appreciation buttons had been sold in the community to defray expenses for the two-day event.

Dr. Ellis estimates he has delivered between 2,500 and 2,600 babies during his 40 years in Elgin, some of whom were present Sunday as adults.

A COURTESY staff member of the Olmsted Community Hospital, Rochester, and St. John's Hospital, Red Wing, Minn., Dr. Ellis will continue in practice.

His interests range into other fields. He is a member of the Minnesota Medical Association, a director of the Elgin State Bank, and a director of the Elgin Lions Club. A past president of the Elgin Commercial Club, he also has been active in the United Methodist Church and serves as its choir director.

A hunter and fisherman, Dr. Ellis is a past president of the Rod and Gun Club.

Police disperse downtown crowd

Winona police early Sunday dispersed a crowd of about 50 persons gathered in the street near The Levee Bar, 115 Main St., Police Chief Robert Carstenbrock said today.

Carstenbrock said that police received a call from an unidentified person at 12:54 a.m. and that five squads were dispatched to the area.

He said that "about 40 or 50 people" were involved in the incident, and were apparently congregating to watch a verbal disagreement among several other persons.

Carstenbrock said that no arrests were made, and that police remained at the scene until the streets were cleared.

Hurt mowing lawn

ETTRICK, Wis. (Special) — Mrs. Henry Onsrud, French Creek, sustained fractured toes and cuts and lacerations to both feet Thursday evening. While cutting the lawn, the mower ran over her feet when she slipped. Several toes were broken and 20 stitches were required to close cuts on her feet.

She was taken to a La Crosse, Wis., hospital where she remained overnight for treatment.

SILVER JUBILEE . . . The Rev. Matthew Molinaro, pastor of Immaculate Conception Catholic Church, Fountain City, Wis., celebrated his Silver Jubilee of ordination into priesthood Sunday with a Mass of Thanksgiving. A noon dinner was served by the Altar Society for about 175 relatives and friends and an open house, in the afternoon, was attended by about 650 persons. (La Croix Johnson photo)

Froehlich asks for court action on tapes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Harold Froehlich, a member of the House Judiciary Committee, called on the committee to "go to the courts" in its quest for additional subpoenaed evidence from President Nixon in the committee's impeachment inquiry.

Froehlich said the committee must take steps to avoid "an ultimate confrontation" with the President over the subpoenaed tapes and documents.

In a release from his office, the freshman Wisconsin Republican said he wrote Committee Chairman Peter Rodino, D-N.J., and said "the committee does not have unlimited power to secure evidence from the President."

"Thus it should not be the final arbiter of when the President is justified in not fully complying with a Committee subpoena," Froehlich said.

"The President, in some instances, may raise a valid legal objection to a demand for full compliance with a Committee subpoena," Froehlich said. "The Committee must not assume a position in which it can dismiss all these claims out of hand."

"For the Committee to adopt such an extreme view of its power would be to embrace a mechanism for harassing, confounding and eventually dismantling the executive branch of government, not only at this time in this Administration, but

Soviet nuclear strike force in Cuba backed up

MIAMI (UPI) — A study on Soviet nuclear arms strategy lends credence to reports that the U.S.S.R. maintains a permanent nuclear strike capability in Cuba which could wipe out as much as two-thirds of the United States in the event of atomic war.

The strike capability is in the form of ships docked or anchored in Cuban waters rather than land bases, according to experts here.

The report published in book form today by the Center for Advanced International Studies at the University of Miami, said the Soviet nuclear strength was considered by the Kremlin to deter U.S. intervention in the Caribbean island.

The study is authored by Prof. Foy D. Kohler, former U.S. ambassador to Moscow; Prof. Mose L. Harvey, director of the center, and Dr. Leon Gouré, director of Soviet studies at the center.

For several years, Dr. Manolo Reyes, an exiled Cuban civil leader and newscaster for Miami's WTVJ-TV, has appeared before various congressional committees with reports from inside Cuba concerning Soviet arms build-ups. His appearance before the House Internal Security Committee last October is a matter of public record.

Eleven days ago, Dr. Reyes said he had learned the Soviet 12th naval fleet was anchored in Cuban waters. "It is

Army secretary expects to make decision on Calley

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Army Secretary Howard H. Callaway, who last month cut in half the My Lai massacre sentence of William L. Calley Jr., expects to decide personally whether the former lieutenant wins parole in six more months.

In an interview with UPI, Callaway said there was no doubt in his mind Calley was guilty as charged of murdering at least 22 Vietnamese civilians. "That decision was fairly easy," he said.

The world was stunned when stories of the massacre at My Lai leaked out. It never has been established exactly how many men, women and children died when troops from the American Division swept through the village March 16, 1968, but estimates have ranged as high as 500.

Calley is the only soldier who has been convicted of crimes in connection with the massacre, and he has spent only one night in jail. Since his conviction, Calley was restricted to his bachelor officer's quarters at Ft. Benning, Ga., until he was freed on bail earlier this year.

Calley's case came to Callaway's desk earlier this year after appeals through the military courts had been exhausted. On April 16, Callaway confirmed the conviction and the 20-year sentence as well.

But Callaway also had on his desk a separate issue, a report from the Army's Clemency Board that suggested cutting the sentence to 17 years. Looking at that issue, Callaway said he found two mitigating circumstances that warranted his reducing the sentence to 10 years.

First, the Army secretary said, "Calley was only one of a number involved...to that extent he was looked at as a scapegoat." Callaway noted that 13 men were charged with crimes at My Lai and five were court-martialed, although only Calley was convicted.

The other mitigating factor, the Army secretary said, was his feeling that "there was a good deal of evidence Calley thought he was obeying legal orders." Military law states that an illegal order must not be carried out. The law also states that it is illegal to shoot unresisting captives whether they are civilians or enemy troops.

During Calley's officer training, he was given one hour of group instruction in the laws of war. Since the My Lai massacre, the Army greatly has increased the emphasis given the laws and the importance of disobeying illegal orders.

Calley contended he only was obeying orders from his superior, Capt. Ernest L. Medina, who denied giving the order and who was found innocent of any crime.

The Army secretary refused to step into the middle of that dispute but said even if the

Aussie Laborites apparent winners

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Prime Minister Gough Whitlam's Labor government appeared today to have won reelection, but newspapers and opposition politicians said the Laborites' narrow victory margin was a warning from the voters.

The latest returns showed Sunday that Labor had won 64 seats in Saturday's race for the 127-member House of Representatives, while Bill Snedden's Liberal-County party coalition had 57. Six seats were undecided. The old House had 125 seats, 67 held by Labor.

Most analysts predicted the final results — which may not be known for several days — will give Labor a majority of one to three seats. The leader of the majority party or coalition in the House becomes prime minister and forms the government.

In the tight race for the Senate, the experts predicted Labor may take from 29 to 31 of the 60 seats. It held 26 in the old Senate.

Snedden, 47, had forged his campaign on what he saw as voter discontent over the country's 14 per cent inflation rate. He refused to concede the election by Sunday night, although he said Labor appeared to be winning a majority.

Whitlam, who became prime minister in December, 1972, has pledged to continue to carry out his legislative program, which includes a state-controlled health insurance plan and a government-run petroleum and mineral resources authority.

The heaviest recorded haul of narcotics was made off St. Louis at Rhones, France, where 78,400 pounds of floating bales containing unprocessed morphine, opium, heroin and hashish worth $75 million on the retail U.S. market, were found being loaded into canoes by three men on Feb. 25, 1971.

order had been issued, Calley "should have known it was not a lawful order."

President Nixon two weeks ago reviewed Callaway's action and decided to make no changes although he could have reduced the sentence still further.

Under military law a man is eligible for parole after serving one-third of his sentence, which would be 40 months in Calley's case. Calley was jailed one day and then released under orders from Nixon and confined to his quarters for 34 months, all of which counts as jail time.

Two months ago Calley was ordered released on bail by a civilian court while his lawyers appeal the case through the civilian judicial system. Should that appeal fail, Calley will be taken to the stockade at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., and six months later come before the Parole Board.

If that board recommends parole, the case will return to a section of Callaway's office. Normally such recommendations would be processed by junior officers and never come to an Army secretary's attention. But Callaway said, "I expect I would take up the case again. There's no reason to avoid it."

SLA words ring hollowly prophetic after shootout

By TIM REITERMAN
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A black prison escapee and five young white radicals lived briefly with guns, leftist rhetoric and dreams of revolutionary victory.

But as their charred, disfigured bodies were dug from the ruins of a Symbionese Liberation Army hideout during the weekend, the words from one of their threatening communiqués rang hollowly prophetic:

"There are two things to remember about revolution. We are going to get our asses kicked, and we are going to win."

Behind the words and exploits of the SLA and its leader, Donald David DeFreeze, were five people whose backgrounds hardly would portend their deaths in a blazing Los Angeles bungalow:

Nancy Ling Perry, 26, former high school cheerleader and supporter of Barry Goldwater for president in 1964;

Angela Atwood, 25, a one-time student teacher in Indianapolis; William "Willie" Wolfe, 23, a gifted young man who in high school was a National Merit

Scholarship finalist; Patricia Monique Soltysik, 24, who was a high school honor student;

Camilla "Candy" Hall, 29, Minnesota-born daughter of a Lutheran minister and a former social worker.

Their paths began to cross at the California Medical Facility at Vacaville, where some of them tutored a prison support group called the Black Cultural Association.

Imprisoned there was DeFreeze—the acknowledged head of the SLA and the man who called himself Cinque, after the leader of a slave rebellion. Here is some of what is known of them:

DeFREEZE

The eldest son of a middle-class black couple from Cleveland, DeFreeze dropped out of school at 14, went to reform school for two years, then was paroled.

"I was still lonely," DeFreeze later wrote to a judge. "I didn't love anyone nor did anyone love me." He subsequently married a Newark, N.J., mother of three. "I worked two jobs and was a thief in between," he wrote. "She had all that she wanted, TVs in every room. Her home looks better than a movie star's and still she wanted more."

Distraught over a legal separation, he diverted himself with guns and firecrackers. He was arrested in California and New Jersey on weapons charges but evaded jail.

In his last arrest, DeFreeze was wounded in a 1969 gun battle with police after trying to cash a stolen check. Sentenced to five years to life, he was sent to Vacaville, where authorities say he was obsessed with religion.

Later he was transferred to Soledad Prison and escaped in March 1973. But it was at Vacaville that he apparently laid the groundwork for the SLA's cause and recruited the other members.

PERRY

Nancy Perry frequently visited Vacaville when she was not selling fruit juice at a Berkeley street stand. The one-time conservative who endorsed Goldwater for president in 1964 had undergone a transformation that included drug use and leftist political beliefs.

Born in Santa Rosa, Calif., the daughter of a furniture store owner, the petite young woman with piercing dark eyes was a high school cheerleader and a class secretary. She attended Whittier College and then transferred to the University of California at Berkeley to study English.

She was married in 1967 to Gilbert Scott Perry, a pianist and composer who described her as "loving." The couple separated after six years.

Rushford library sets summer hours

RUSHFORD, Minn. (Special) — The summer schedule at Rushford Public Library was set by members of the library board in session Tuesday.

The new schedule: Monday, 9 a.m.-noon; Tuesday, 9 a.m.-12:30 p.m.; 7 to 9 p.m.; Wednesday, 9 a.m.-12:30 p.m., 2-5 p.m.; Thursday, 2-5 and 7-9 p.m.; Friday, 2:30-5 and 6:30-9 p.m.; Saturday, story hour from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m.

A 10th-grade student will be employed at the library during the summer months with funds paid by the Southeastern Minnesota Community Action Council.

In communiqués as chief theoretician of the SLA, Mrs. Perry took the name "Fahizah."

ATWOOD

Angela Atwood was believed to be "Genina" on one SLA tape.

The Indiana University graduate came to Berkeley with her husband, Gary, in 1972; they split up a year later. Mrs. Atwood later moved in with fellow Indiana natives and reported SLA members Emky and Bill Harris. The Harris was charged Sunday with gun violence in connection with a

Rev. Hall mourns his 'martyr' child

LINCOLNWOOD, Ill. (AP) — The father of a slain Symbionese Liberation Army member says his daughter was a martyr for the causes she believed in.

The Rev. George F. Hall also criticized the burning of the Los Angeles house where his daughter died Friday in a gun-battle with police.

"She was not a martyr in the religious sense," Hall said at a news conference Sunday. "But when people die in standing up for what they believe that makes them a martyr."

Camilla Hall's body was identified Sunday afternoon as one of six reported SLA members who died in the gunbattle.

"I think the method which was used to stop this movement, the burning of the house, was certainly overreacting," said Hall, pastor of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church in the northeast Chicago suburb of Lincolnwood.

Hall said there never was any indication that his daughter, 29, was involved with the SLA or that she had "proclivities toward violence." Although police identified Miss Hall from pictures taken during a San Francisco bank robbery several weeks ago, Hall said he did not believe his daughter was involved.

Los Angeles Coroner Thomas Noguchi said Miss Hall, whose body was found by medical examiners sifting through the rubble of the South Los Angeles home which police raided Friday, had died of gunshot wounds.

Miss Hall, whose body was found crouching under the floor of the house, was wearing a gun belt and a watch, which was still ticking, despite the fire that destroyed the home and charred the bodies beyond recognition.

She graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1967 with a degree in humanities. She took a job in Duluth with the St. Louis County Welfare Office two months later.

About 10 months later, she moved to Minneapolis and began working at the Hennepin County Welfare Department in the unwed mother's division.

"I think there was a certain amount of frustration. She worked with unwed mothers. She felt she was not prepared and was too young," Hall said.

In Los Angeles, she made a living by selling "James Thurber" like drawings on street corners and was doing well at it, he said.

"She composed music and was something of a poet," he said.

"I think there is a great deal we can learn from this, especially from the two people I know in the group. They both loved their country and were dedicated persons."

He said he did not approve of the kidnapping of Patricia Hearst, for which the SLA took credit.

"But the causes they were concerned about, ecology, air pollution and women's rights, are important to us all," the Rev. Mr. Hall said. He said his daughter stood up for what she thought was right.

"After all, we have not been brought into this world to be defeated but to be conquerors."

A friend of Miss Hall's when she worked in Minneapolis, who declined to be identified, said she knew Miss Hall for about four years.

She said "She was deeply involved with the campus protest movement during the 1960s. She believed in fighting for her convictions."

She pictured Miss Hall as a liberal, but added, "I can't believe she would shoot or otherwise harm anyone. She just wasn't that kind of person."

"Candy was always very liberal, very concerned with people . . . but I can't understand how she could become involved with such a radical group."

Hiss Hall's friend said she had no idea what would drive Miss Hall to join a radical group like the SLA.

"Candy was a happy, kind person, very concerned for others, but she has been gone four years now, and a lot can happen in that time," she said.

She came to Berkeley in 1971 after social work in Minneapolis and got a job as a maintenance worker for the East Bay Regional Park District. She worked avidly but peacefully in the antiwar and women's liberation movements.

"She was really angered that she couldn't do something constructive in society," said a friend, Joyce Halverson.

WOLFE

"Willie" Wolfe was characterized as an apolitical underachiever while a student at Mt. Hermon Academy in Northampton, Mass.

"Willie would go out of his way not to break the rules. The whole year I roomed with him, I don't think he read one political book," said Nicholas Monjo, a Mt. Hermon schoolmate.

Later Wolfe attended UC Berkeley where his black studies course took him to Vacaville and to DeFreeze.

"He was constantly talking about Red China," said his brother John. "He was trying to look like Che Guevara."

Wolfe moved to the Maoist-oriented "Peking House" commune in Berkeley, dropped out of school, then reportedly sold hot dogs.

SOLTYSIK
Patricia Soltysik came to Berkeley after high school at Goleta, Calif., where she conformed as an honor student. She became a militant feminist and took the name "Mizmoon" from a love poem written to her by another woman.

"Some people can live in Berkeley and come out of it unscathed," said her brother Fred Soltysik. "Others are consumed by it. Mizmoon was consumed by it."

In February 1972, she tossed away her cashmere sweaters for coveralls and started work as a janitor at the Berkeley Public Library. She worked on a photo essay on elderly San Francisco women and wrote letters to prisoners.

HALL

Friends say Miss Soltysik met and lived with "Candy" Hall. Miss Hall was the only surviving child of The Rev. George F. Hall, a pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church in Lincolnwood, Ill.

... and our special thanks to everyone for your response and participation in helping to make this 18th Annual May Marathon another huge success.

Here's An Interesting Fact!
Did you ever wonder why more people are right-handed instead of left-handed?
One interesting theory is that originally all human beings used their left and right hands, equally, favoring neither. But as weapons developed, most people got in the habit of holding a shield or some other protection over their hearts, using their left hand to do that since the left hand is closer to the heart; meanwhile, they would do the actual sword fighting or other weapon fighting with their right hand.
Over a period of years this made for a stronger right hand in the majority of humans, and this trait was passed on to future generations.

Blow out GASP

William Safire

Sapio.

THE CIGARETTE smoker is already the target of too many government agencies. He cannot be advertised to on television; he must carry around on every pack a dire warning about killing himself; he is taxed progressively and punitively.

Yet the smoker continues to smoke; in the U. S. last year, 588 billion cigarettes were puffed, dragged upon and choked over, and thanks to the growing interest in smoking by teen-age girls, the market continues to grow.

This perverseness — the refusal of people to do what is good for them — activates the anti-smoking brigade, I think, even more than the annoyance caused by the exhalations of the coffin nailers. If smokers do not respond to reason, to warnings, to the silencing of advertising, to tax disincentives, then perhaps the only way is to make it more difficult to find a place to light up.

"You are not denying the smok-er's right to smoke," GASP assures its members. "Only his/her right to smoke in your breathing space." Not true; any harassment, especially harassment by executive regulation, is part of a process that infringes on our liberties and pollutes our statute books.

Today the smoker, tomorrow the onion-eater, and the day after tomorrow the person who prefers cheap perfume to the taking of baths — once government gets its nose under the tent of social intercourse, there will be no privacy for anyone.

THE BOSSISM of the do-gooder is intolerable, even when he/she (fight linguistic pollution!) cloaks paternalism in the guise of selfishness. Not every social inequity needs a legal cure; social, not government, pressure is appropriate to curb the smoker.

I gave up smoking two years ago; and it is like losing a friend. I don't feel any better, and am not inclined to bauger others into sacrificing one of life's little pleasures. What incenses some people is incense to me; blow some my way.

Public hearing Thursday Land use plan: changing city's face

By STEVEN W. JOHNSON
The city's planning commission will hold a public hearing on a proposed new city land use plan that could change the whole face of Winona.

We plead guilty to failure in communications

Since June 1971 the Daily News has devoted about 6 1/2 pages to something called a land use plan for the city of Winona. Radio stations have aired elements of the proposal, and the city planning commission has distributed hundreds of copies of the brochure detailing the proposal.

For someone who was involved in part of the process as a member of the planning commission, there also seemed to be an endless series of information meetings and official hearings.

WHEN THE City Council held a public hearing on the plan a week ago today, eight from the public spoke: a contractor, an architect, a perennial planning critic, two preservationists, a college student and two other citizens.

But later last week the industrial community became aroused on learning the existence of a land use plan and its contents. At what appeared to be an emergency meeting, surprise was expressed that a land use plan was being considered and that it involved a proposal to encourage riverfront industries to relocate in the industrial parks.

This relocation — and preservation of the bluff lines — has been among the most discussed and most reported facets of the land use plan.

Last June 15 the Daily News reported after a commission public hearing, "One of the most radical changes the plan makes to shift the city's pattern deals with the riverfront. Proposals call for relocation of industry out of the area from Levee Park east to the Burlington Northern Railroad bridge and that land's return to public use."

It was discussed in the public information meetings and hearings in 1971 and 1972 when the plan was being developed and it was discussed and reported again at the commission hearings on the specific plan itself a year ago.

Last June 10 we published the eight-column-wide map — providing the background for the montage above — with commentary, including this: "The plan envisions relocation of industries now situated along the riverfront." In an editorial two days later we noted: "The planning staff is proposing several major changes in land use, particularly along the riverfront."

WE CANNOT recall a single adverse comment — written or oral — against the industrial relocation plan during all those meetings and hearings, including testimony from the Winona Area Chamber of Commerce, which, of course, had discussed the land use plan at its own meeting and in its bulletin to members. All of its members, by the way, received written invitations — as well as telephone calls in many cases — to attend an information meeting in October 1971. A total of 17 people from the entire community came.

Later on, we found occasion to comment that the small attendance at meetings might be deceptive, that the information was getting out through the media, that the plan was being discussed in group sessions, and that representatives were delegated to attend the hearings.

Still now, in May 1974, we find that those who are potentially most seriously affected economically by the new land use plan may have been in complete ignorance of it until five days ago.

Obviously what we, the other media and the planning commission staff did was not enough. We are not applauding ourselves. But we are at a loss, for the moment, as to what else we might have done to achieve communication.

AS FOR THE issue itself, the industrialists and others who now have an opinion about the land use plan should, of course, express themselves to the city council, late though they may be.

We would hope, however, that they see the land use plan for what it is: a plan, a hope, an ideal. It is not a zoning map. And who can dispute that from the community standpoint more public access to the river would be desirable? — A.B.

The Cabinet is confused

James Reston

WASHINGTON — The President's Cabinet has been put in an awkward position by the impeachment inquiry in Congress, and it is clear from Cabinet members' public statements that they have been neglected by the White House and that they have not yet sorted out their loyalties.

For example, Claude Brinegar, the President's transportation secretary, told the National Press Club here the other day that he was "shocked, offended and discouraged" by the Watergate "mess," but didn't want the president to resign.

ON THE same day, Secretary of Commerce Frederick Dent told an audience in Greensboro, N.C., that the President's Watergate transcripts show that the president is not guilty of any criminal act. But he added that the President's political enemies are leading the impeachment drive and that the media have tried to obscure "these facts and dwell on this subject with a vindictiveness and glee that distort a fair evaluation of the broader issues of the day."

Meanwhile, senior members of the Cabinet like Henry Kissinger at State and James Schlesinger at Defense, though they are constantly invited to pass judgment on the transcripts, have tried to stay out of the public controversy.

The main thing for the moment is that the executive branch of the government should keep going at maximum efficiency while the President is preoccupied with his own defense. He has set the direction of policy, but it is carried out by the Cabinet and the civil service.

ACCORDINGLY, divesting the Cabinet members from their main work in speeches like Dent's, proclaiming the President's innocence, or like Brinegar's, deploring the transcripts and the "mess," only add to the confusion.

The Cabinet, under the American presidential system, is not like a Cabinet under the British or parliamentary system.

Actually, there is no institutionalized Cabinet in Washington. May be there should be, and if there had been the Watergate scandal and the cover-up could not possibly have happened, but there isn't. Cabinet members here have no constituencies of their own. Their main job is to administer the President's policies as the principal executive officers of their departments.

THAT IS the present situation of this Nixon Cabinet under the prevailing difficulties, but it does not mean that it is bound to support whatever the president does. Members can resign if they think Mr. Nixon's policies are wrong or that he has lost the confidence essential to win consent for his policies in the Congress or in the world.

Some members of the Cabinet may quit if the erosion of respect for the president's character and authority go on, but it has not reached that point yet.

But the White House cannot use Cabinet members like Dent as propagandists against impeachment without getting into deep trouble with other members of the Cabinet. Anyway, Patrick Buchanan on the White House staff is much better at propaganda than Dent. When Buchanan defends the president, but disarms the opposition by saying he doesn't find the White House tapes "spiritually uplifting," who needs Dent?

THE POSITION of the Cabinet can be important. It could even be decisive, particularly if Kissinger felt he could no longer carry out his responsibilities to an impeached president. But Mr. Nixon is not talking to his Cabinet members about that problem. He is assuming their loyalty to him, forgetting that, unlike John Ehrlichman and H. R. Haldeman, they may be driven in the crisis to consider a higher loyalty to the nation.

Divorce—Italian style

From an editorial in New York Times

The surprising 3-to-2 referendum vote in favor of Italy's three-year-old divorce law may alter the country's political future more than the institution of marriage.

Family traditions in Catholic Italy, which are unlikely to undergo revolutionary change, have combined with the divorce law's stringent requirements to limit divorces to 66,000 so far, not the million predicted by clerical opponents of the law for its first year alone. Inasmuch as three quarters of the divorces thus far granted have been to couples separated more than 20 years and new divorce suits declined to a rate of only 14,000 last year, common sense counseled Italians to repudiate the hysterical campaign that portrayed retention of the divorce law as a step toward permissiveness, sexual promiscuity, pornography and communism.

Politically, the referendum was a defeat for conservative elements in the dominant Christian Democratic party led by former Premier Amintore Fanfani, who evidently sought to use the divorce issue as a stepping stone to personal power.

Rumor's Cabinet is the 36th since World War II and Europeans now refer jocularly to Italy as the country that has proved that it doesn't need a government. But there has been less instability than meets the eye.

That could change now. The emotional divorce issue, which split the Socialists and Social Democrats from the Christian Democrats, and the strains of the current economic crisis are polarizing opinion.

Italy's powerful communist party, which has even endorsed the Common Market in its search for respectability, is capitalizing on the divorce and economic issues in its effort to form a Popular Front alliance that would include the Christian Democratic left as well as the Socialists.

I remember covering the murder trials, large and small, from little towns in Texas to courtrooms in Manhattan. I remember watching the agonies of a Tammany Hall which, as a beheaded British king once said in another connection, was so unconscionably long time adying.

I remember the onset of Hitlerism which, in the days of the so-called phony war, made me war editor of the Associated Press. I remember leaving the AP after Pearl Harbor to enlist all gung-ho as a private in the infantry.

I remember crossing the English Channel on the night before D Day as a war correspondent; participating in the British assault upon Caen in Normandy; then participating in a vast and endless storm of violence with American forces across France, across Belgium and into Germany at a little place called Roetgen.

I have known many of the world's statesmen. I saw Winston Churchill feeling no pain on a British beachhead in Normandy with a large brandy bottle sticking out of his coat pocket. I saw a President — Lyndon Johnson — weeping in the nighttime when the casualty figures came in from Vietnam. I have heard Golda Meir tell it like it really was — and is — in language they don't teach at any girls' school.

Here's latest wrinkle in belly dancing debate

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for saying that belly dancing is a respected art form. You're absolutely right. It's also marvelous exercise for toning up the muscles and trimming off fat. In our little town of Ashland, Ky. (population 2,000) 50 of us women (mostly senior citizens) are taking lessons in belly dancing at the YWCA. And we're considered part of the Bible belt!

ANITA HOWERTON

DEAR ANITA: Since belly dancing originated in the Middle East during Biblical times, it's entirely appropriate that it should be taught in the Bible belt.

Let's hear it from Suzanne Hunsucker, a reporter from the Coloradoan in Fort Collins, Colo. She visited a belly dancing class sponsored by the Parks and Recreation Department because belly dancing had become a hot issue in that community, and she wanted to get the straight dope. She wrote:

"One middle-aged student said, 'There's nothing sexy about it. Anyone watching us sweat it out would hardly get aroused. It's exhausting physical exercise. At first it nearly killed me. I started using parts I never knew I had. However, soon I got to know my body and began talking to my joints.'"

"The instructor said, 'I notice a real change in the women taking the class. They become much freer in their movements after a while. When they dance, they lift up their heads and smile.'"

"Who knows," wrote the reporter, "with inhibitions being shed and bellies being strengthened, Fort Collins may someday be the belly dancing capital of the West."

Wait. There's more: From New Orleans came a feature story published in the States — Item by Rosemary Ruzi, a reporter who actually joined a belly dancing class in order to get some first-hand information about it. She wrote:

"Until now, belly dancing has always had a certain seedy aura about it, seldom suggesting anything more refined than a carnival 'hokey koochy dance,' but lately the dance has enjoyed a surge of popularity. I got my best friend and my sister-in-law to enroll with me. We were relieved to see ourselves duplicated in the other students, ordinary coeds and housewives ranging in age from 18 to 55. All quite sheepish about it."

"My daughter thinks it's hilarious," said one.

"I told my husband I was taking ballet," says another. "My husband is a school principal," said Lucille V., "so I'm furthering my education." She laughs, but comes back in five minutes to add quite soberly, "Actually, I also own Arabian horses and am very interested in the Arabic culture. Please put that in."

"The instructor, Habena, whose real name is Habena, (but whose real measurements are 43-26-35) said, 'People put belly dancing in the same category as stripping. It isn't. Stripping is artless and vulgar; belly dancing is an ancient art. There are many reasons why women take belly dancing lessons, but most of them want to lose weight, which can't be done by belly dancing alone, so the real motive usually lies somewhere else.'"

I'll buy that. DEAR ABBY: We in the dancing profession commend you for upholding the dignity of belly dancing. It's the name that so many people find offensive. The dance is beautiful when artistically performed. I wish they would change the name to "Oriental dancing."

If you think it's easy—like the hula, just try to move the upper half of your body while keeping the lower half perfectly still. Then try to move the lower half of your body and keep the upper half still.

I'll bet you can't do it. TARA FROM ISTANBUL

DEAR TARA: You're right. I tried and I couldn't. But you've given me an idea. I think I'll take some lessons. (Privately, of course.)

DELIGHTFUL expansion ranch combines contemporary and traditional features. Projecting master bedroom at right is covered with stone veneer to set off siding and wood shingles on the rest of the house. Small hip roof adds interesting structural touch.

SECOND FLOOR PLAN

R-64 FIRST FLOOR PLAN

FLOOR PLANS: Here's an ideal traffic circulation pattern. Every room can be reached directly from the front foyer without crossing any other. In addition, it is possible to go from the porch through the mud room to the large country kitchen without going through the main part of the house.

House of the week

Ranch contains many options

By ANDY LANG
The crisp charm immediately apparent in this expansion ranch comes from its blend of traditional lines and contemporary windows. Combined in the exterior are stone veneer, board and batten siding, wood shingles, large windows, a recessed portico and a small front hip roof.

On the inside, flexibility is the outstanding feature, making possible almost any kind of living arrangement. While the main floor is basically a modest, three-bedroom ranch, a partially dormered second floor provides several possibilities.

The additional space could be utilized for three extra bedrooms and a bathroom, offering, in all, six bedrooms and three bathrooms for a very large family; or two additional bedrooms, a playroom, and a bathroom; or one extra bedroom, a gigantic recreation room or playroom, and a bathroom; or a separate apartment for a relative.

There are two more possibilities. A lowering of the roof-line would give the owners a charming one-floor ranch. Or the upper floor could be left unfinished for those who might want to utilize the space at some later time but don't need it at present.

Adding to the flexibility of the house is that architect Samuel Paul has included plans for either a basement or slab construction, making possible a choice based on requirements, preferences and land location. Whichever way the owner chooses to build Design R-64, the main floor is highly livable, with excellent circulation and plenty of eye appeal. The entrance from the portico is into a modest-sized reception foyer, with a vaulted ceiling extending to a second-floor balcony. A cul-de-sac formal living room is to the left. To the right is the bedroom area with its own private hall off of which are the three bedrooms, two full baths and an abundance of closets.

The foyer connects directly with a center hall which leads to the rear-facing dining room and country kitchen. The dining room features a large bay window overlooking the rear garden. The country kitchen is truly a housewife's delight. It includes a U-shaped kitchen work area, filled with counter tops and cabinets, and an eating-lounging area with panoramic windows overlooking the rear patio and garden. A beamed ceiling extends through both areas adding further charm. There is a door leading to the patio as well as an opening to a spacious mud room which adjoins, providing laundry space, a pantry closet, as well as direct access to both the two-car garage and the front porch.

With all the options open to the owner, it is noteworthy that no matter which choice is made, the result is a complete house without any sacrifices.

Retired employees discuss phone future

Members of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees, Winona chapter, meeting Thursday at Lake Park Lodge, heard future plans for telephones. In a slide presentation, Larry Fierke, Northwestern Bell Telephone Co., explained tomorrow's telecommunications systems in which underground tubes, called waveguides, will be carrying telephone messages; telephones will be dialed by the sound of the human voice, and how the telephone of the future may be used to obtain information that has been stored in a computer on electronic bubbles. In a case reported in 1888, a 15-year-old female patient yawned continuously for a period of five weeks.

Hearing set on release petition

WAUTOMA, Wis. (UPI) — A hearing has been scheduled June 27 in Waushara County Court on a release petition requested by Ed Gein, the Wisconsin farmer who was arrested 15 years ago in connection with a series of slayings and grave robberies. James Poole, a defense attorney, said Saturday Gein was petitioning the court to obtain his release from the Central St. Hospital.

"If the court makes a determination that he is sane and capable he will be released," Poole said. "If not, he could be transferred to another institution where the security isn't so stringent."

The hearing will be held before Circuit Judge Robert Gollmar, who in February ordered two psychiatrists to review Gein's case and present their findings to the court.

Gollmar's February ruling came on a petition for re-examination filed by Gein, which stated Gein "has now fully recovered his mental health and is fully competent."

Gein, now 66 was committed to the Waupun hospital in 1958 after he was found incapable of standing trial on murder and armed robbery charges.

Psychiatrists found him able to stand trial 10 years later and Gein was convicted of first degree murder in the death of Mrs. Bernice Worden of Plainfield.

However, Gollmar ruled in the second part of the trial that Gein was innocent by reason of insanity at the time of the slaying and ordered him back to the hospital until officials pronounced him sane.

Gollmar has appointed Robert Rudolph of Wautoma as prosecuting attorney for the June hearing. Richard Boelter, of Wautoma, will also be working on the defense.

India jubilant over its bomb

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Saturday 300 feet below the desert in western Rajasthan State.

The explosion gained new domestic stature for Mrs. Gandhi, whose administration has been rocked by devastating economic problems and a series of labor protests.

About 30 per cent of India's 580 million people live below the subsistence level. Some 75 per cent of recent university graduates are unemployed. Food consumption has dropped despite a 13 million annual rise in population.

The nuclear test was hailed by politicians from the extreme left to the extreme right, with only one significant exception—the communists.

Communists warned Mrs. Gandhi against trying to hide economic troubles under the "smokescreen of a nuclear explosion" and called for India's atomic power to be used "only for peaceful purposes."

Defense Minister Jagjivan Ram said, however, India would never use its new-found nuclear clout for military purposes. "Our objective is to use our knowledge in nuclear science only for peaceful purposes," he said.

"Our armed forces know this is not for their use," Ram said in an interview. "I think any government will have to think many times before it reverses our decision."

India set off the 10 to 15 kiloton nuclear blast (equal to 10,000 to 15,000 tons of TNT)

Two men hurt when truck strikes horse

COCHRANE, Wis. — Two men were injured near here Sunday evening when a pickup truck struck and killed a horse.

Francis E. Weaver, 32, 4050 5th St., Goodview, driver of the pickup, was treated for facial cuts at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Wabasha, Minn., and released.

The accident took place about 7 p.m. Sunday on State Trunk Highway 35, about one mile south of Cochrane.

Becker, who was riding the horse on a narrow roadway adjacent to a field, said the animal got away from him and was heading for home.

He was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital and transferred to St. Mary's Hospital.

There was extensive damage to the pickup, owned by Tri-State Construction Co., Nelson, Wis.

Buffalo County Deputy Edward Brantner is continuing his investigation.

Landfills, falling radiators to get board's attention

Landfills and falling radiators are on the agenda when the Winona County Board meets Tuesday.

The all-day meeting will begin at 9:30 a.m. and is slated to include a 4:30 p.m. joint session with the Wabasha County Board on landfills.

The Wabasha board is under Minnesota Pollution Control Agency (PCA) pressure to create a solid waste disposal system for that county.

The Winona board granted that request a year ago, but withdrew it several months later when the Wabasha board failed to implement a system.

County highway negotiations may resume

Efforts will be made next week to resume negotiations between the Winona County Board and county highway department maintenance workers.

The workers, members of the Winona County Highway Association (WCHA), have been working without a contract since January and have not had a wage increase since January 1973.

After obscenities complaint

Woman's life tormented by threats

CHICAGO (AP) — A Chicago woman's life has turned into a torment of telephone threats and vandalism since she reported to authorities that a stream of obscenities was coming across her citizens' band radio.

went to state authorities, and on her complaint they charged radio operators Ronald Talone, 26, and George Witczak, 28, with disorderly conduct and criminal damage to property in connection with the threats and vandalism.

And then came an unbelievable Mothers Day weekend. During nine hours Sunday night, she had at her door two pizza deliveries for $18.45, five electricians reporting for emergency service at double-time rates, a plumber on double overtime, two taxi cabs, two ambulances and six fire trucks.

On Monday she received a funeral wreath C.O.D., said prosecutors. "These people are sick."

House fight seen over S. Vietnam military aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new effort to boost U.S. military aid for South Vietnam by $274 million threatens a floor fight early this week as the House acts on a $22.6 billion weapons authorization bill.

and a boost of the national debt limit. New bills that would give President Nixon power to ration gasoline and other fuels are in both the House and Senate.

year ending June 30. But the new $22.6 billion weapons bill would boost it that much for the next year.
