

Touro Law Review

Volume 10 | Number 2

Article 2

1994

The Supreme Court and Local Government Law 1993-94 Term: Introduction

Howard Glickstein Touro Law Center, hglickst@tourolaw.edu

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.tourolaw.edu/lawreview

Part of the State and Local Government Law Commons, and the Supreme Court of the United States Commons

Recommended Citation

Glickstein, Howard (1994) "The Supreme Court and Local Government Law 1993-94 Term: Introduction," Touro Law Review: Vol. 10 : No. 2, Article 2. Available at: https://digitalcommons.tourolaw.edu/lawreview/vol10/iss2/2

This Symposium: The Supreme Court and Local Government Law is brought to you for free and open access by Digital Commons @ Touro Law Center. It has been accepted for inclusion in Touro Law Review by an authorized editor of Digital Commons @ Touro Law Center. For more information, please contact Iross@tourolaw.edu.

Vol. 10, No. 2

FUCHSBERG

Winter 1994

INTRODUCTION

Dean Howard A. Glickstein:

Good morning. I would like to welcome you to the Fifth Annual Supreme Court Conference sponsored by our Institute of Local and Suburban Law. I am Howard Glickstein, the Dean of the law school, and my only function here today is to welcome you and tell you how pleased we are that this conference has continued over the years. When we started this series five years ago, we thought it would make a great contribution to people interested in the workings of the Supreme Court and how it impacts on local government. Judge Leon Lazer, who heads our Institute of Local and Suburban Law and is a member of our faculty, has headed this effort over the last few years and has done a wonderful job keeping this conference going. As you know, the proceedings of this conference are published each year in our law review, and that, too, is a contribution to the literature of this field. This issue of the Touro Law Review is always one of our outstanding publications for the year.

This conference today, as usual, looks like a very exciting event, exploring the issues of the Supreme Court over this past year which are of great importance. I am pleased to turn the proceedings over to Judge Lazer who is chairing today's symposium.

295

Touro Law Review, Vol. 10 [2020], No. 2, Art. 2