Santee Cooper Lecture Series: "Sustainability in Cities" with Will Wynn

Date/Time: 10/25/2010 11:00:00 AM

Location: Leonard Auditorium

Cost: Free

Details: "Sustainability in Cities", featuring a talk by award-winning recent two-term mayor of Austin, Texas, Will Wynn, will be the second installment of the 2010-11 Santee Cooper Lecture Series at Wofford College on Thursday, Oct. 28. The program, which is free and open to the public, will be held at 11 a.m. in Leonard Auditorium in Main Building on Wofford's campus. Wofford and Santee Cooper, the state-owned utility, began the Santee Cooper Lecture Series in 2009 to provide the college and the Spartanburg community with "a powerful forum for meetings and discussions with some of the leading thinkers in the world on the issues of energy and sustainability," according to John Lane, director of the Wofford's Goodall Environmental Studies Center and an associate professor of English. The series is being hosted by the college's Environmental Studies Program. Wynn served two terms as mayor of Austin, after having served on the city council. He is internationally-recognized in the fields of energy efficiency and policy, greenbuilding, sustainability, and climate protection. A graduate of Texas A&M University with a degree in environmental design, he chaired the U.S. Conference of Mayors Energy Committee and helped to drive national debate on federal energy policy and climate protection. As mayor, he also served as chairman of the board of Austin Energy, now considered by industry experts to be one of the most progressive, environmentally friendly electric utilities in the country. Under his leadership, Austin dramatically expanded both the requirements and market penetration of its green building program; nationally promoted plug-in hybrid electric vehicles; created the country's most aggressive solar rebate programs pushed for substantial upgrades to the International Energy Conservation Code; and created a citywide climate protection program, seen by environmentalists as "the country's most aggressive municipal initiative aimed at reducing greenhouse gases," according to Newsweek magazine. President Obama has called Wynn "a national leader on energy policy."

From: WoffordNews WoffordNews@Wofford.Edu
Subject: PLEASE READ - Procedures for Daily Announcements and Calendar
Date: October 4, 2010 at 9:41 AM
To: Wofford Staff WoffordStaff@Wofford.Edu, Wofford Students WoffordStudents@Wofford.Edu

Wofford Faculty, Staff and Students are reminded of the following with regards to Daily Announcements:

1. An event is anything that has a DATE, TIME and LOCATION. When you submit an EVENT announcement you should choose EVENT so that your announcement will show up either under TODAY'S EVENTS or under UPCOMING EVENTS. If you do not choose EVENT then your announcement will appear under the general announcement section of the daily announcements.
2. You may submit an announcement to run TWICE in any one week. If you submit an announcement to run more than TWICE in any week it will only run for the first two times it was submitted.
3. Please remember to submit your EVENTS to the Wofford Calendar. The events that appear on the home page of the Wofford web site are taken from the Wofford Calendar. If you do not submit your event(s) to the calendar they will not appear on the web site home page. (Please note that due to space limitations not all events scheduled for a particular day may appear.)
4. CORRECTIONS TO DAILY ANNOUNCEMENTS: The daily announcements are sent to Wofford News via an automated system. Staff cannot make changes to announcements until the day on which they are to appear. If you have a change or a correction to an announcement please email WoffordNews@wofford.edu. with the change or correction as well as the day(s) that you have submitted your announcement to run.
5. CORRECTIONS TO CALENDAR: If you have a correction to an event on the calendar or need to change a date or cancel an event, please email WoffordNews@wofford.edu. Please remember to email Wofford News if you cancel an event. Otherwise your event may appear on the Wofford web site homepage.

The instructions for submitting to Daily Announcements and the Calendar are attached. We suggest that you save and/or print this file for future reference.

If you have questions about posting to the Wofford Calendar or to Daily Announcements, please email: WoffordNews@wofford.edu.

If you have questions about the procedures for posters, please email Janella Lane at lanejm@wofford.edu or call ext. 4184.

Thank You!

Marketing Internship for This Spring or Summer

Details: Missy Derouin, the Communications and Marketing director at Blue Ridge Log Cabins in Campobello, South Carolina, is currently looking for 2 or 3 exceptional students who are interested in a marketing internship. As marketing interns, the students will have the opportunity to work with a national brand that builds log homes across the United States. Blue Ridge Log Cabins is headquartered in nearby Campobello, SC, on a 40-acre campus that includes a model center and state-of-the-art manufacturing facility. Blue Ridge Log Cabins has been recognized by Inc. Magazine as one of America's Fastest Growing Companies and has been featured on HGTV's Amazing Log Homes television program. By building true log homes in a controlled manufacturing environment, BRLC has become the log home leader in the U.S., using innovative practices that reduce cost and construction time. Our interns are thrown directly into projects and are challenged with real responsibilities and accountability. Students with strong verbal and written communication skills will be working directly with our staff, carrying out research, attending meetings, and working on projects relating to marketing, advertising, PR, business development, interactive/Web and social media. Students who are interested should email their resumes to Ms. Missy Derouin at derouin@blueridgelogcabins.com. Positions are available immediately for the spring semester as well as summer internships for 2011.

You have all heard of the suicide of a Rutgers University student that was precipitated by a cruel and malicious invasion of privacy. Whether conceived as a thoughtless prank or a deliberate effort to harm, the action that caused Tyler Clementi's death has a deplorable parallel in websites that invite anonymous slander about their peers from students at various institutions, including Wofford. Please join me in expressing contempt for those who submit such hurtful remarks and those who, by their prurient curiosity, abet such cowardly gossip.

Marketing Internship for This Spring or Summer

Details: Missy Derouin, the Communications and Marketing director at Blue Ridge Log Cabins in Campobello, South Carolina, is currently looking for 2 or 3 exceptional students who are interested in a marketing internship. As marketing interns, the students will have the opportunity to work with a national brand that builds log homes across the United States. Blue Ridge Log Cabins is headquartered in nearby Campobello, SC, on a 40-acre campus that includes a model center and state-of-the-art manufacturing facility. Blue Ridge Log Cabins has been recognized by Inc. Magazine as one of America's Fastest Growing Companies and has been featured on HGTV's Amazing Log Homes one of America's fastest growing companies and has been featured on HGTV's Amazing Log Homes television program. By building true log homes in a controlled manufacturing environment, BRLC has become the log home leader in the U.S., using innovative practices that reduce cost and construction time. Our interns are thrown directly into projects and are challenged with real responsibilities and accountability. Students with strong verbal and written communication skills will be working directly with our staff, carrying out research, attending meetings, and working on projects relating to marketing, advertising, PR, business development, interactive/Web and social media. Students who are interested should email their resumes to Ms. Missy Derouin at derouin@blueridgelogcabins.com. Positions are available immediately for the spring semester as well as summer internships for 2011.

Religion in the Courts: A Panel Discussion with State and Federal Judges

Date/Time: 10/12/2010 7:00:00 PM

Location: Leonard Auditorium

Cost: Free

Details: Two judges, who are also Wofford alumni will discuss a recent Supreme Court decision (Christian Legal Society v. Hastings). This case involved a California law school's refusal to charter a religiously-affiliated student group, due, in part, to the student group's policy of refusing membership to gay students. The Honorable Costa Pleicones (of the South Carolina Supreme Court) and the Honorable Dennis Shedd (of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit) will discuss the reasoning behind the decision and then participate in a question and answer session with the audience.

Faculty Talk

Date/Time: 10/14/2010 4:00:00 PM

Location: Montgomery Room, Burwell Building

Cost: Free

Details: David Alvis, Government "This is the Tale of the Heavens and the Earth:" Reason and Revelation in Genesis 1-3. The two accounts of creation in Genesis are often regarded today as either a primitive (and implausible) scientific account about the origins of the visible universe or a morally antiquated account of male and female relations. However, the text actually reveals a sophisticated argument about the limitations of human reason and piety. Rather than allay our concerns about our nature simplistically, the paired creation accounts in Genesis are designed to demonstrate the inner tension of human life and, ultimately, to anticipate Israel's tragic demise over the historical course of the Hebrew Bible.

Reason and Revelation in Genesis 1-3. The two accounts of creation in Genesis are often regarded today as either a primitive (and implausible) scientific account about the origins of the visible universe or a morally antiquated account of male and female relations. However, the text actually reveals a sophisticated argument about the limitations of human reason and piety. Rather than allay our concerns about our nature simplistically, the paired creation accounts in Genesis are designed to demonstrate the inner tension of human life and, ultimately, to anticipate Israel's tragic demise over the historical course of the Hebrew Bible.Contact: Alan D. Beacon Bowl Shirt

Details: Since 1998, every Wofford-Citadel football game played here in Spartanburg has been sponsored by The Beacon Drive-In and dubbed "The Beacon Iced Tea Bowl." The 2010 game is this Saturday at 1:30 p.m., as the Terriers and Bulldogs meet at Gibbs Stadium at 1:30 p.m. The Beacon Iced Tea Bowl was born through a friendly wager in 1998 between Beacon owners Sam Maw (Wofford graduate) and Steve McManus (Citadel graduate) and a dozen years later the tradition continues.

A limited number of commemorative 2010 Beacon Iced Tea Bowl t-shirts are now available for sale!

Sizes available are adult small, medium, large, XL and XXL. The attached photo shows the back of the shirt with the commemorative game logo, the front is the Wofford "W" logo on the left chest.

The shirts are $10 and may be purchased at the Joe E. Taylor Center on Cummings Street between the hours of 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. Or order over the phone by calling Gregor Walz at 597-4023.

Guy Jacobsohn Memorial Mathematics Colloquium Series

Date/Time: 10/28/2010 3:30:00 PM

Location: Olin 101

Cost: Free

Details: Wofford's own Joseph Spivey will be speaking about the Euler Characteristic. The Euler Characteristic is an example of a topological invariant: that is, a property of a space that does not change when the space is bent or stretched. Take a space like a sphere or a donut and completely cover it with triangles that fit together along their edges. The Euler Characteristic is defined to be the alternating sum (# of vertices)-(# of edges)+(# of triangles). Amazingly, you always get the same answer for a particular space, whether you cover the space with 42 or 1042 triangles! In this talk we will use the Euler Characteristic to prove that there are only 5 Platonic solids, analyze the game of Brussels Sprouts, and relate the Euler Characteristic to the Hairy Ball Theorem.
