New Journal

Buildings & Landscapes

Journal of the Vernacular Architecture Forum

Edited by Marta Gutman and Louis P. Nelson

University of Minnesota Press, ISSN: 1934-6832.

Description from the Publisher:

Buildings & Landscapes is the leading source for scholarly work on vernacular architecture of North America and beyond. Under its new name, the journal continues VAF's tradition of scholarly publication going back to the first Perspectives in Vernacular Architecture in 1982. Published through the University of Minnesota Press since 2007, the journal moved from one to two issues per year in 2009.

Buildings & Landscapes examines the places that people build and experience every day: houses and cities, farmsteads and alleys, churches and courthouses, subdivisions and shopping malls. The journal's contributors -- historians and architectural historians, preservationists and architects, geographers, anthropologists and folklorists, and others whose work involves documenting, analyzing, and interpreting vernacular forms -- approach the built environment as a windows into human life and culture, basing their scholarship on both fieldwork and archival research. The editors encourage submission of articles that explore the ways the built environment shapes everyday life within and beyond North America. Articles submitted to Buildings & Landscapes will be assessed using a double-blind peer review process; manuscripts should not be submitted for publication elsewhere while under review by the journal.

Contributors should submit manuscripts based on original research, not previously published in print or electronic media; manuscripts need not be based on material presented at a VAF annual meeting. Visit <http://www.vafweb.org> for guidelines. Please send electronic copies of completed articles (approximately 25 pages of text) with illustrations (15-20) and bibliographic endnotes by email to both editors: Marta Gutman, Associate Professor of Architecture (History and Theory), Spitzer School of Architecture, City College of the City University of New York, mgutman@ccny.cuny.edu; Louis P.
