The final archaeology report for the New York African Burial Ground Project is now available on the web site of the General Services Administration, at: <http://www.africanburialground.gov/>.

The "Reports" section of this web site presents the final report and past reports in Adobe .pdf format, as well as detailed tables of contents with links to individual chapters within each report. Many illustrations, artifact photographs, the inventory, drawings of each burial excavated, numerous tables with data on every burial, and a study of the 18th century New York stoneware that was strewn all over the site, are included. The report is co-edited by archaeologists Warren R. Perry and Jean Howson and cultural anthropologist Barbara A. Bianco. Contributors include Leonard Bianchi, Chris DeCorse, Augustin Holl and others.
