FREEZE DOES LITTLE DAMAGE LAST NIGHT

Seen & Heard Around Murray

One of the prettiest sights in town is the azalea of the T. Stedds.

Several phone calls on the big dog that took up at our house. No one claims him. Anybody can have him.

We could use a good system on stray dogs. They should be held for a week for claiming by the proper owner, then if no one wants them, they should be destroyed. This, for the protection of dogs owned and cared for by someone, and for the many children who will pet most any dog.

Lots of folks out yesterday covering up plants trying to protect them from the freeze.

We tried it last week when the frost came and after breaking off a limb on the Rhododendron, we decided we were doing more damage than the frost or freeze would.

Apparently little damage was done last night.

Let's hope that this was the last fling of winter in our section, so we can sit back and watch things grow.

Mrs. W. P. Dulaney's iris are blooming early this year it seems.

Today is the last day for filing for an office. We should have plenty of politics between now and May 28.

A number are expected to file this afternoon for city offices.

Mrs. J. O. Parker is reported to be progressing well. She suffered an attack several days ago.

Three of the kids were out of town this week visiting grandparents. The house had an unnatural quiet about it that was downright scary.

Many Gather At 4-H Club Rally

A large community turn out greeted the 4-H club rally at Kirksey High School Thursday night, according to assistant agent John Vaughan.

A total of 68 projects were shown with Chester Murphy and Loretta Wyatt judging the electrical works and dresses respectively. Afterward a luncheon was held and the Kirksey 4-H officers were introduced.

The senior officers are: Annette Palmer, president; Lorna Ross, vice president; Linda Lawson, secretary; Mary Beth Bazzel, song leader; Tom McCallon, reporter.

No small area in the world is known to have a greater variety of minerals than are found at Magnet Cove, Ark. Some 80 different minerals can be found there. Barite mining is the biggest industry.

Some 5.30 a. m. temperatures: Louisville 31, Covington 26, Paducah 29, Lexington 26, London 31, Hopkinsville 36 and Bowling Green 33. Evansville, Ind., 27.

Cooper Introduces TVA Bond Issue Bill

WASHINGTON — Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., Friday introduced a bill to enable the Tennessee Valley Authority to float a bond issue to obtain funds to expand electric power production.

The expanded production would be confined to TVA's territorial limits as of last February. The bill would permit TVA to raise and spend $750 million over a five-year period to increase its capacity by 750,000 kilowatts each of the five years.

New legislation would be required for additional borrowing authority at the end of the specified period.

Cooper said he rejected the requests of the Kentucky rural electric co-operatives that there be no geographical limits on the expansion.

"I believe that a limitation is necessary in order to make it clear to Congress that the TVA is planning to expand its power operations only within a specific service area. The bill would allow for later additions to the territory if they were approved by separate legislation," he added. The bill is considered a "middle ground" measure halfway between one introduced in the last Congress by TVA supporters and another sponsored by the Bureau of the Budget providing federal veto power over portions of the measure halfway between one introduced in the last Congress by TVA supporters and another sponsored by the Bureau of the Budget providing federal veto power over portions of the agency's financing.

Futrell Not Candidate This Year

"I am not a candidate for public office this year," Sheriff Brigham Futrell said yesterday on the eve of the deadline for filing as a candidate.

This put an end to wild rumors concerning Futrell's political plans.

Futrell, who will leave the sheriff's office next January, added that he would be too busy settling his 1957 report to the state to become active in politics at this time. By law he cannot succeed himself in his present capacity.

Soviets Hit At America-Austria

LONDON — The Soviet Union's rampaging propaganda machine loosed barages at the United States and Austria today. It accused Washington of "pursuing the path of unleashing a new war" and said Austria was a Western intelligence camp.

The new blasts, broadcast by Moscow radio, came as Norway gave Russia an answer to Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin's threat to "obliterate" the Scandinavian country.

The answer, a note from Norwegian Premier Einer Gerhardsen to Bulganin, was handed to the Soviet premier in Moscow by the Norwegian ambassador today. Details were not disclosed. The broadside at the United States, marking the 12th anniversary of Franklin D. Roosevelt's death, charged the man who succeeded Roosevelt have reversed his policy of wartime friendship with Russia.

"Today, when Washington policy makers treat ex-Nazi generals like long-lost friends, when the U.S.A. places atomic weapons in the hands of yesterday's war criminals, the disturbing question arises: On whose side are your Americans?" the broadcast said.

Postoffices In Nation Close

By HELEN THOMAS
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Only a trickle of mail got through Saturday.

A drastic cutback in postal service ordered by Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield because of a lack of money went into effect last midnight.

Not even last minute approval by the House Appropriations Committee of a 41 million dollar emergency appropriation stopped the scheduled drastic cuts in postal service.

Summerfield said he had no choice.

He said under the law his department could operate only with funds actually appropriated. Therefore, he said, the cuts would have to stay in effect until President Eisenhower signed the necessary emergency appropriation.

Curtailments Begin
Summerfield ordered the following cuts into effect as of midnight Friday night:

—Halt window service in all post offices on Saturdays. However, post office lobbies will be open and patrons may deposit letters and get mail from their locked boxes.

—Deliver no mail on Saturdays except special delivery.

—Reduce collection of mails on Saturday to the limited schedules which normally prevail on Sundays.

—Starting Monday, keep post office windows open only 8 1/2 hours a day Mondays through Fridays. Each local postmaster will determine his window schedule to accommodate his community's needs.

—Starting Monday, limit mail deliveries in all downtown business areas to two a day Monday through Friday.

—Starting April 29, embargo third class mail and end sale of postal stamps orders.

Nationwide Effect
The cuts affected every metropolitan and hamlet across the nation.

But a post office spokesman said some 39 government agencies and departments including Congress and the White House will receive their mail as usual.

Postal officials also said the cuts will not affect the flood of last minute income tax returns which must be postmarked before midnight Monday to avoid penalties.

Moreover, the cuts were expected to be short lived. Congress, next week was expected to appropriate emergency funds, ending most or all of the cuts.

Republicans and Democrats Saturday blamed each other for the drastic curtailment of postal services.

But by next week both parties were expected to rally behind a drive to push a big emergency postal appropriation through Congress to end the cuts.

The House Appropriations Committee already has approved appropriation of 41 million dollars of the 47 million dollars called for by Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield.

But Summerfield put the cuts into effect at midnight Friday night on grounds committee action wasn't enough. He said under the law he had to have the money in hand.

Summerfield said he would still try to get all 47 million dollars. The House Appropriations Committee said the extra six million was for equipment purchases that could wait.

Nine Murray High Students Attend Meet

Nine Murray High School students attended the 12th annual Kentucky Youth Assembly, held April 1, 2, 3, in the State Capitol at Frankfort.

Tri-Hi-Y members attending were: Peggy Outland, senator, Edwina Kirk, commissioner of education for 58, Betsy Houton, floor leader of the house, Julie Foy, press representative, and Gayle Douglass and Carmerita Talent, representatives.

The Hi-Y members attending were: Mike Rayburn, representative, and Eddie Wells, Sr. clerk of the house for 58.

Mrs. Allen Russell and Mr. W. B. Moser were the adult advisors who accompanied the group.

The youth Gov. Dave McClacken was in charge of the Youth Assembly. Other state officers were: David Skeen, Lt. Governor, Linda Rue, Speaker of the House, and Wilhoit, Secretary of State.

On Tuesday, April 2, Governor A. B. Chandler spoke to the assembly. In his speech he spoke of the need for doctors, dentists, engineers, and teachers in Kentucky, trying to encourage the youth of Kentucky to help Kentucky get ahead in these fields.

While there the 600 delegates from 11 districts occupied the seats of both the House and Senate, passing bills which they thought would make Kentucky a better state.

Another activity of the youths was the election of the state officers for 1958. Dono Curris was elected governor, Earl Dean, Lt. governor, Phillip Bryan, speaker of the house, and Jim Pitcock, secretary of state.

The delegates returned home Wednesday afternoon.

To Attend Speech Fraternity Meet

Several local college students leave today for Indianapolis, Indiana for the national conference of Tau Kappa Alpha, speech fraternity. Making the trip with Professor Albert Tracy are Nancy Crago, Edith Herndon and Nancy Paschall of Murray and Carlyle Bostic of Sedalia.

Enroute they will judge a speech meet at Reitz High School, Evansville, and will spend the night in Evansville.

Presence Of Moisture In The Ground Holds Down Damage

Freezing temperatures hit Caloway County last night, however the mercury did not drop 22 as forecast.

The extent of damage is not known at the present time, however it is not as bad as at first anticipated.

County Agent S. V. Foy said there was little frost last night and that he believed there was enough moisture present in plants to minimize the damage done by the freeze.

Many plants close to the ground, such as strawberries received some warmth from the ground, he said.

Fruit is far enough along, he said, that little damage is expected.

This is the second "sear" county residents have had from cold weather in the past two weeks. A frost several days ago did little damage also.

Plants in some low areas may have been nipped by the untimely cold last night, but generally speaking little damage resulted.

Many residents covered azaleas.

Site Of Tournament Will Be Selected At Meeting Today

LOUISVILLE — The Kentucky High School Athletic Association Board of Control was scheduled to meet today at the Kentucky Hotel to attempt to choose a site for the 1958 State High School Basketball Tournament.

Ted Sanford, Lexington, KHSAA commissioner, said Friday, "We may not decide on the site, however."

This year's tournament was played at Freedom Hall at the Kentucky State Fairgrounds, Louisville, after having been held at Lexington's Memorial Coliseum since 1951.

There has been some criticism, particularly from the Bluegrass area, of holding the tournament at the Fairgrounds. The criticisms were based largely on the distance from the downtown area, allegedly high taxi fares, and parking rates at the Fairgrounds parking lot.

Sanford, in his annual report to the group's delegate assembly, said the 1957 state tournament broke both profit and attendance records. He said the tournament profit was $100,000—which was $11,000 more than the previous record.

The tournament also set a new attendance record of 108,203, including 18,161 who jammed Freedom Hall for the final game between Lafayette and Eastern High School.

W. H. Crowder, Franklin, a member of the control board, said the increased tournament receipts probably mean it is all KHSAA insurance on athletes will improve "tremendously."

Carlos Oakley, Morganfield, former president of both the Kentucky Education Association and the KHSAA, said Friday, "During my eight years on the board we always played tournaments at the biggest available gyms. That went for district, regional and state tournaments."

"We're just restates of habit. After a couple of years, we'll all be used to the Fairgrounds."

In other action Friday, the board's Delegate Assembly passed nine of 12 proposals, including one requiring football and basketball coaches to attend clinics for referees.

It also ruled that schools cannot use cheerleaders unless they are enrolled in the school, Flag and Trinity high schools, Louisville, which are all-male schools, had been using girl cheerleaders from Catholic girls schools.

The board also approved counting track relay races twice as much in scoring as they do now.

The cocoon of a single silkworm will produce a mile and a half of silk thread.

and other plants last night in an effort to protect them from the cold.

A spring cold wave wrapped the southeastern section of the nation in its icy cloak Saturday, allowing the frosted central region to warm up a bit.

The movement of the arctic air into the Gulf States and Eastern Seaboard was detected early Saturday by the sharp temperature drops.

Night-time readings ranged as much as 35 degrees lower than the previous morning's readings in some areas, the U.S. Weather Bureau reported.

Mercury moved up into the 20s and low 30s from the Great Lakes westward across the Northern Plains to the Rockies, the region which had shivered in record-breaking temperatures Friday.

An aftermath of the frostiness left 25 ships ice-bound in the St. Mary's River at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. today. Gigantic ice fields, described as the worst in the memory of veteran Great Lakes skippers, halted shipping on Lake Superior.

The ice field was some 65 miles long and from 30 to 60 miles wide.

A low pressure area lurking off the Washington coast spurred 75.3 mph winds toward the Pacific Northwest again today and deposited snow on western Montana.

Weathermen forecast a cold, rainy day for the southern half of the country—from eastern Texas to the Atlantic Coast. Snow flurries fluttered over the northern and lower Great Lakes areas as well as northern New England.

A pleasant day with mostly fair skies was predicted for most of the rest of the nation.

Fish Fry Caravan To Visit Murray

PARIS, TENNESSEE: A bevy of west Tennessee's most beautiful girls garbed in shorts, pedal pushers and other holiday attire, will be a feature of a 20 automobile caravan to arrive in Murray at 10 A.M., Tuesday April 23, to give residents a taste of The World's biggest Fish Fry and fishing rodeo to be held in Paris April 26 and 27.

Mayor Aaron Brown, the Hostess Princess and her court will head the parade which will make a tour of a dozen or more Tennessee and Kentucky cities the week of the Fish Fry.

Circuit Court Clerk "Cutworm" Pierce is busy commandeering low-slung convertibles, and providing loud speakers for which the story of the Fish Fry will be broadcast along the routes, and colorful posters and placards to be distributed in the caravan's wake. Also with the caravan will be General Chairman of the Fish Fry, Harold B. Jackson, Jack Hamilton and his Queen's Ball committee, Mrs. E. C. Covington, Mrs. E. W. Graves, and Mrs. Aaron Brown, of the busy corraling the beauties who took part in the Hostess Princess Beauty Revue committee who are Revue and others who will be a part of the caravan.

The entire personnel of some 60 to 75 persons are expected to be received by the mayor, who is being notified of the caravan and its hour of arrival, and after extending official greetings from Paris and Henry County, the Fish Fry officials will fan out over the community distributing posters and placards.

Meeting neighbors in nearby communities on the pre-Fish Fry tour last year was one of the most pleasant experiences of the event and the participants are looking forward eagerly to the trip this year.

Bark Developed As Soil Builder

Chicago — Scientists at the Armour Research Foundation report they have developed a method of converting bark into an inexpensive and unusually effective soil-builder.

In tests with greenhouse plants was found more effective in promoting growth and improving the soil than either peat moss or a commercial soil conditioner, the ARF said.

Dr. C. Roland McCully, scientific adviser in the foundation's chemistry and chemical engineering research department said the bark soil-builder, used with fertilizer, turns dry and sand into rich, loamy soil in which plants grow at a surprising rate.

McCully said the soil-builder loosens the soil and improves its moisture-holding capacity, serves as a base for fertilizer and controls the rate at which the plants obtain food from the soil.

Migratory Farm Workers Receive Inferior Benefits

CHICAGO — The migratory farm workers plays a vital role in agricultural economy, but he's low man on the totem pole when it comes to community benefits, a study shows.

The study was made by the American Society of Planning Officials, which said housing, medical facilities and schools for migratory farm workers are inferior.

Such workers are employed in nearly every state, the planning society said, and every level of government has a responsibility for helping to solve some of their problems.

Migratory workers leave their homes temporarily to work at seasonal jobs, and they play a critical role in farm production. Local governments should see

THE FIRST GIRL born in the Spellman family in 105 years is admired by mother, Mrs. Robert Spellman, as a nurse holds the baby close to grieve partition in a Chicago hospital. Baby is Susan Elizabeth, and her two brothers, Bobby, 7, and Bill, 3, declared "girls don't belong in our family."

Two Specialists To Study Yogis

Los Angeles — A University psychologist and a brain wave expert will conduct a six-month study of yoga in India in an attempt to determine whether there is a "third state of mind" so-called suspended animation.

The study will seek to establish if a human being actually can shut off a portion of his brain or numb normal cellular functions at will so he feels no pain.

The investigators, UCLA psychologist Dr. Marion Wenger and a University of Michigan brain wave authority, Dr. B. K. Bagehi, said they are primarily interested in fundamental physiological changes that take place in the body, if any, during the practice of yoga.

"For hundreds of years there have been many unverified reports of the ability of Indian yogis to withdraw themselves from known manifestations of consciousness," Dr. Wenger said.

"During these self-induced 'trances,' the yogis apparently approach a state that is close to suspended animation. It has been reported that their heart beat is slowed considerably and that they are able to go for long periods without breathing."

The two investigators will use a special 78-pound transistorized machine for their research on control of the central nervous system and involuntary responses in the mystery men, such as heart action and breathing. The machine is capable of recording impulses from eight different parts of the body at one time. Data will be recorded from the brain nervous pathways, muscles and internal organs of the body.

Safer Ladle For Metals Developed

BUFFALO, N. Y. — Development of a safer stopper-head for huge ladles that promises to lessen pouring accidents in steel mills and prevent costly spillage is disclosed by the Electro Refractories and Abrasives Corp.

The improved stopper is reported to be able to regulate the flow of molten steel as many as 50 times during a single heat without giving indications of cracking from heat shock or "spalling." This is important because stopper failure could result in an uncontrolled flood of molten metal to cause worker casualties. It also could mean serious steel loss—as much as 250 tons in some cases.

The new stopper is made from flake graphite, fused silica and fire refractory clay. For operating temperatures above the normal 2,900 F., aluminum oxide is added to the mixture.

It is said to be so durable that it can be removed from a white hot furnace and placed on a cold floor without cracking.

CHAPTER 23

THE GREAT gates of Fort Phil Kearny yawned wide and followed immediately by General Wessels' colors. The entire regiment marched into view, stopped, and waited in stunned silence while the battered remnants of Lieutenant Emil Schwabacker's troop approached.

General Wessels gave an order and a Company broke ranks, running forward, hands lifted to dismount the wounded tenderly. Schwabacker began his account at the point when he made contact with the command bivouacked on Crazy Woman's Fork. He spoke clearly, concisely, and omitted nothing, even the irregularity of relieving Captain Jocelyn of his command by force.

General Wessels sat stolidly throughout the report, turning the air blue with his strong cigar. It was only when Schwabacker spoke of his decision to charge the enemy that Wessels interrupted.

"Lieutenant, it seems to me that you took quite a gamble."

"Yes, sir," Schwabacker's first thought was of the cost in men, his unforgeable tactical blunder. The general was apologizing. "I've talked to Captain Jocelyn," Wessels was saying, "and I'm convinced the force you engaged was commanded by Red Cloud himself; the whole thing smacks of his generalship." Wessels slid his chair back and stood up. "It may please you to know that upon Captain Jocelyn's recommendation, I am brevetting you to the rank of captain for this action."

"Sir, I..."

"Save your thanks," Wessels said. "Captain Jocelyn is drawing up charges against you for what he considers unauthorized action in relieving him of his command."

Wessels turned to the door, his passage stirring the fog-thick smoke. His smile was genuinely paternal. "Get some rest, Captain."

He closed the door softly behind him.

Captain! Brevet Captain! The same pay, to be sure, but the rank was real. There would be no turning that back now, no taking it away for a brevet rank was given by a general officer only for outstanding bravery. Schwabacker closed his eyes, for he felt slightly dizzy.
