

THE MYTHIC CIRCLE

Volume 2003 | Issue 26

Article 11

7-15-2003

The World Tree

Cameron La Follette

Follow this and additional works at: <https://dc.swosu.edu/mcircle>

Recommended Citation

Follette, Cameron La (2003) "The World Tree," The Mythic Circle: Vol. 2003 : Iss. 26 , Article 11.
Available at: <https://dc.swosu.edu/mcircle/vol2003/iss26/11>

This Poetry is brought to you for free and open access by the Mythopoeic Society at SWOSU Digital Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Mythic Circle by an authorized editor of SWOSU Digital Commons. An ADA compliant document is available upon request. For more information, please contact phillip.fitzsimmons@swosu.edu.

To join the Mythopoeic Society go to:
<http://www.mythsoc.org/join.htm>

Mythcon 51: The Mythic, the Fantastic, and the Alien Albuquerque, New Mexico • Postponed to: July 30 – August 2, 2021

The World Tree

by

Cameron La Follette

A giant tree binding ice and flame holds the star-spun sky earth hangs under milk-sweet fruit-- only birds of the sun soar so high

Here all places come to silvered end and the roads are pale and dim no guardian holds the purpled west nor any speak beyond its rim

The gold-branched tree stands alone where light fountains out of fire but few men journey ever there hearts ragged and shorn of desire

The stories all tell this tale we are born of the wine-dark seeds and no man knows more though many have done bold deeds

Truth from the amber sap and mead blooms across white-flowered sleep and over a windswept border to men walking the dark-blue deep

By radiance of the sky-wreathed tree ice never melts, nor suns burn they who see this water and light behold the heart, and never return.