From the President

Dear Tennessee State University Graduates,

On behalf of the entire Tennessee State University family, I congratulate you as you complete this milestone in your lives and launch into new endeavors. As graduates of TSU, you truly are prepared to go into the world and Think, Work, Serve, as our motto proclaims.

Remember what you have learned, both inside and outside of the classroom, as you have been working toward your degree. As you go forth to serve, allow the universe to be your best professor and look at every situation and encounter as an opportunity to learn and to provide solutions from the abundant knowledge you have acquired here at Tennessee State University.

You could say our world is full of challenges—war abroad in Iraq; terrorism at home and around the world; the building of nuclear weapons by nations who oppose democracy; natural disasters that totally destroy homes, schools, churches, lives. At TSU we educate students to know that challenges are opportunities in disguise. So the good news is Tennessee State University responds positively to those challenges. For example, our engineers have developed robots to detect danger in the battlefield and locate people in places where disaster has struck.

We responded to the victims of Katrina by enrolling displaced students, holding service fairs and fund raisers for Katrina victims, and going to the hurricane-ravaged areas to lend helping hands. These positive moments are the memories I want you to take with you.

Now you are about to embark on many adventures, one of which is life as a graduate of Tennessee State University. Your alma mater needs your continued support. I encourage you to get involved with the alumni chapter in your city or region and to come back to campus to visit often, especially during Homecoming. Share your time, talent, and resources with your alma mater and let it continue to serve you through career planning and placement, social activities, and continuing education.

I wish you much success in the years ahead. First Lady Dr. Marcy Johnson and I are very proud of you; Tennessee State University is proud of you; and the world awaits you. Be well and do well.

Sincerely,

Melvin N. Johnson

The Origin of Awarding Degrees

The first academic degree was conferred in approximately 1160 A.D. at the University of Bologna, Italy, with the practice spreading quickly to other European universities, most notably the University of Paris, Oxford University, and Cambridge University. The procedure we use for awarding degrees at most American universities is based on a practice developed at the University of Paris in the late 12th or early 13th century. In those days the Bishop of Paris, like every other bishop, was responsible for local educational curriculum and degree setting. His authority, however, soon came to be disputed by the teachers. They asserted that only they could be proper judges of qualifications of their students. The threatened impasse was resolved by a compromise, under which the teachers, or masters, judged the merits of the students and then recommended them to the Bishop for the conferring of their degrees.

The University Seal

In 1922, President William Jasper Hale, first president of Tennessee A. and I. Normal School asked Frances Thompson, Professor and Department Head of Art to design the University Seal. Enclosed in a circle, the seal is divided into three parts: Agriculture upper left, Industry upper right, Education in lower center. Education is further emphasized by a hand holding a light with rays extending above the seal. The motto, Think—Work—Serve is placed beneath the seal for support.

History of Tennessee State University

Historical Marker commemorating the establishment of Tennessee State University.

Tennessee State University is a comprehensive urban coeducational land-grant university founded in 1912 in Nashville, Tenn. The 450-acre main campus, with more than 65 buildings, is located in a residential setting; the Avon Williams Campus is located downtown, near the center of the Nashville business and government district.

Through successive stages, TSU has developed from a normal school for Negroes to its current status as a national university with students from 45 states and more than 50 countries. On July 1, 1979, the former University of Tennessee at Nashville was merged with TSU as a result of a court order in the 1968 Geier v. Tennessee case.

By virtue of a 1909 Act of the General Assembly, the Agricultural and Industrial State Normal School was created, along with two other normal schools in the State of Tennessee, and began serving students on June 19, 1912. William Jasper Hale was appointed as head of the school. The original 247 students, along with the faculty and staff, operated as a family. Everyone worked to keep the institution running in its early years, from clearing rocks to harvesting crops to carrying chairs from class to class. In 1922, the institution was raised to the status of four-year teachers' college and was empowered to grant the bachelor's degree. The first degrees were granted in June 1924. During the same year, the institution became known as the Agricultural and Industrial State Normal College. In 1927, "Normal" was dropped from the name of the College.

As the college grew in scope and stature throughout the 1920s and 1930s, so too did its impressive roster of alumni who embodied the school's charge: "Enter to learn, go forth to serve." In 1943, when William Hale retired after more than 30 years at the school's helm, an alumnus was chosen to succeed him. From 1943 until his retirement in 1968, Walter S. Davis led the institution through an era of tremendous growth, in areas as multifaceted as academics, facilities and worldwide recognition. The General Assembly of 1941 authorized the State Board of Education to upgrade substantially the educational program of the College, which included the establishment of graduate studies leading to the master's degree. Graduate curricula were first offered in several branches of teacher education. The first master's degree was awarded by the College in June 1944.

Accreditation of the institution by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools was first obtained in 1946. In August 1951, the institution was granted university status by approval of the State Board of Education. The reorganization of the institution's educational program included the establishment of the Graduate School, the School of Arts & Sciences, the School of Education and the School of Engineering. Provisions were also made for the later addition of other schools in agriculture, business and home economics.

In 1988, the university received an unprecedented $112 million from the state general assembly for capital improvements. Under this plan, nearly all buildings on campus have been renovated, and eight new buildings have been constructed, including the Floyd-Payne Campus Center, the Ned McWherter Administration Building, the Wilma Rudolph Residence Center and the Performing Arts Center. Currently, the downtown campus is undergoing an $18.5 million renovation project. Through its eight colleges and schools, the TSU of today offers 43 bachelor's degrees and 26 master's degrees, and awards doctoral degrees in six areas: biological sciences, computer information systems engineering, psychology, public administration, curriculum and instruction, and administration and supervision.

The university has been served by the following presidents:

William Jasper Hale	1912-1943
Walter S. Davis	1943-1968
Andrew P. Torrence	1968-1974

Kenneth Stanley Robinson

Tennessee Commissioner of Health

The Reverend Kenneth S. Robinson, M.D., is a native of Nashville, Tenn. He holds a bachelor of arts degree, cum laude, from Harvard University; the doctor of medicine degree from Harvard Medical School; and a master of divinity degree from Vanderbilt Divinity School. Dr. Robinson was appointed by Tennessee Governor Phil Bredesen in 2003 to be Commissioner of the Department of Health, overseeing a staff of 3,000 and a budget of $463 million.

Since 1991, Dr. Robinson has also served as pastor and chief executive of St. Andrew AME Church in Memphis, Tenn. He directs a number of programs for both the membership and the community, including alcohol and drug abuse prevention, family life enrichment, childcare services, academic instruction, and economic development.

Inspired by Dr. Robinson's theme, "Ministering to Memphis-Spirit, Soul, and Body," the congregation has developed partnerships with schools, local foundations, and healthcare providers.

Dr. Robinson founded and is the former president and CEO of the Works, Inc., a faith-based Community Housing Development Organization (CHDO). The Works is bringing "renaissance" to the church's neighborhood through the construction of affordable single-family housing and an 80-unit apartment community with support from federal programming. The corporation has also been approved by Memphis City Schools for a charter by the Tennessee Department of Education to create the Circles of Success Learning Academy, a K-5 public charter school that targets children at risk of failure in traditional classroom settings.

Health care access has been integral to Dr. Robinson's ministry. He is a diplomate of the American Board of Internal Medicine, primarily practicing and teaching general internal medicine for Vanderbilt University School of Medicine. He also was assistant dean for admissions and student affairs in the College of Medicine at the University of Tennessee, Memphis. During his tenure at the university, the matriculation rate for underrepresented minority students more than quadrupled.

Before his appointment as commissioner, Dr. Robinson was vice chairman of the Tennessee Department of Health's Minority Advisory Council. He also served as chairman of the department's Black Health Care Task Force, targeting youth health issues in Tennessee's African-American communities. He is still active in a number of national and state bodies and is widely consulted on faith-based program management, policy formulation, and partnership development. His expertise is particularly applicable to health promotion and disease prevention in African-American and religious communities. In 19 years as pastor of three congregations, Dr. Robinson has administered more than $10,000,000 from federal and private sources. Accordingly, he has received numerous honors, including the Community Leadership Award from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. In 1998, the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation named Dr. Robinson one of the country's ten Exceptional Community Health Leaders of the Year and presented him $100,000 for the church's health program. In 2000, he was the national recipient of United Way's Community Builder Award.

He is married to Rev. Marilyn Sasportas Robinson, M.P.H., senior vice president of Saint Francis Hospital (Memphis) and co-pastor of St. Andrew. A native New Yorker, she is an alumna of Harvard University and the Yale School of Public Health, where she was presented the coveted E. Richard Weinerman Award for outstanding academic performance and professional promise. The Robinsons have twin daughters, Maisha Tamar and Nuriya Desta, both 2002 alumnae of Princeton University, where they were named by the president, dean, and faculty as co-recipients of the Spirit of Princeton Award and the prestigious Class of 2002 Frederick Douglass Service Award. They are now both pursuing medical degrees.

Ambassador Bobby L. Jones '59

*Executive Producer of the Bobby Jones Gospel Show
Ambassador at Large of the Commonwealth of Dominica*

Dr. Bobby Jones is Mr. Gospel himself, credited with taking Gospel Music to mainstream airwaves via cable television. Dr. Bobby has been a mainstay and creative force behind the country's most unique and original musical genre. Bobby Jones Gospel, for which he is best known as host and executive producer, has been seen on BET since November 1980 and is one of the network's most popular shows. Jones, along with the New Life Singing Aggregation, performs contemporary gospel music and welcomes an array of gospel artists such as Kirk Franklin, John P. Kee, Yolanda Adams, The Canton Spirituals, Hezekiah Walker and more. Dr. Bobby Jones Gospel Radio Show, which airs on Sheridan Gospel Network's The Light, has become a new favorite of Gospel Music lovers from coast to coast.

Dr. Jones has revolutionized the gospel music industry. Bobby Jones Gospel is the first and only nationally syndicated black gospel television show and Video Gospel, which debuted in 1989, is the only national television outlet gospel artists have to showcase their videos. Born in Henry County, Tennessee, Jones always dreamed of a career in music. He excelled academically throughout school, graduating from high school at 15 and Tennessee State University at 19 with a bachelor's degree in elementary education. Jones continued his education by pursuing a master's degree at Tennessee State and a doctorate from Vanderbilt. While pursuing his master's, Jones taught elementary school in the Missouri and Tennessee education systems.

In his teaching days, Jones helped develop the idea for a Black Expo in Nashville, Tenn. During the effort, Jones introduced the pilot for what is now Bobby Jones Gospel to WSMV-TV in Nashville. WSMV-TV picked up the show that Jones created, produced and hosted. It ran in Nashville from 1976 until it was picked up by BET for national syndication in 1980.

During this period, Jones also created, produced and hosted Bobby Jones World, a magazine-style show that incorporated gospel music with world-renowned authors, entertainers and national leaders. Bobby Jones World ran from 1978-1984. Jones has extended his talents into the television and movie arena. In 1982, Jones made his television movie debut in NBC's Sisters, Sisters starring Diahann Carroll, Paul Winfield and Irene Cara. In 1980 he wrote and performed in Make A Joyful Noise, a black gospel opera which aired on PBS; and in 1983, he was a guest on country music star Ronnie Milsap's television special, In Celebration.

In 1980, Jones received The Gabriel Award and an International Film Festival Award for writing and performing Make A Joyful Noise. He and his group, New Life, were nominated for a Grammy Award in 1982 for "Best Performance by a Black Contemporary Gospel Group" for the album Soul Set Free. In 1984, he received the Gospel Music Association's (GMA) Dove Award for Black Contemporary Album of the Year, a Grammy Award for "Best Vocal Duo for a Soul/Gospel Performance" for the single, I'm So Glad I'm Standing Here Today, performed with country music star Barbara Mandrell, and an NAACP Image Award. In 1990 he received the GMA's Commonwealth Award for Outstanding Contribution to Gospel Music. In 1994, Jones was nominated for the CableACE Award. He resides in Nashville, Tenn.

In its 16th season, The Dr. Bobby Jones International Gospel Industry Retreat is one of the most anticipated Gospel Music conferences in the country. With support from Gospel artists, industry executives, and music fans, the conference has impacted all with the desire to take God's music into the mainstream and make a mark that cannot be erased.

Xernona Clayton

Creator and Executive Producer
Trumpet Awards Foundation

Xernona Clayton, a 1952 graduate of Tennessee State University, has been employed at Turner Broadcasting System in Atlanta for more than 25 years and has served in a number of capacities over the years. She currently serves as creator, CEO and executive producer of Turner Broadcasting's Trumpet Awards, a prestigious event highlighting African-American accomplishments and contributions. This annual program is televised nationally and distributed internationally to more than 150 countries. Ms. Clayton also created the Generation Connection, an education incentive program for high school students.

As corporate vice president for urban affairs at Turner Broadcasting, Ms. Clayton directed internal and external projects for the corporation and served as liaison between Turner Broadcasting (TBS Superstation, CNN, Headline News, TNT, Atlanta Braves and Atlanta Hawks) and civic groups in Atlanta and across the country. As a corporate executive, Ms. Clayton was one of the highest-ranking female employees in the Turner Broadcasting System.

Prior to joining WTBS, Ms. Clayton was the nationally acclaimed host of The Xernona Clayton Show. Beginning her broadcast career in 1967, she became the South's first African American to have her own television show.

Ms. Clayton moved to Atlanta in 1965, when she accepted a position with the Southern Christian Leadership Conference and worked closely with the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. She also traveled extensively with Coretta Scott King on her nationwide concert tours.

Dedicated to promoting racial understanding, Ms. Clayton has been a leader in civic projects and civil rights activities for several years. In 1966, she coordinated the activities of Atlanta's Black doctors in a project called the Doctors' Committee for Implementation, which resulted in the desegregation of all hospital facilities in Atlanta. Her persistent against prejudice and bigotry was never more apparent than in 1968, when the Grand Dragon of the Ku Klux Klan denounced the Klan and credited Ms. Clayton's influence with his change.

Ms. Clayton has received numerous media awards and has been widely honored for her contributions to humanity. She also has received an Honorary Doctorate of Letters degree from Clark Atlanta University.

In private life, she is married to Judge Paul L. Brady. She is a member of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority and is a member of Ebenezer Baptist Church.

Academic Regalia

The history of academic dress began with the medieval European universities of the 14th century. In a time when all students were clerics, the gown and its attached hood served the dual function of keeping the student warm in unheated buildings and identifying the particular order to which he belonged.

Modern academic costume in the United States is based upon an intercollegiate code established in 1895. These early agreements have been revised periodically to cover standardization of the cap (two basic styles), the gown (three basic styles), and the hood (subject to greater variation than either the cap or the gown). The cap, originally round in shape, is usually the more familiar mortarboard square with tassel or black Oxford style.

The gown, commonly black, differs in sleeves and trimming according to the level of degree. The bachelor's gown is relatively simple in design. It is full-cut, falling in a straight line from an elaborate yoke, with long pointed sleeves as its distinguishing mark. The master's gown is similar to the bachelor's except for its peculiar arrangement of the oblong sleeves which terminate in square ends at the wearer's knees; the wearer's arms emerge through slits in the sleeves made at the elbows. Short-sleeved master's gowns are also worn. The doctoral gown is an elaborate, full-cut, flowing costume distinguished by velvet panels down the front and round the neck and by three bars of velvet on the voluminous bell-shaped sleeves. The velvet is usually black, but it may be a color designating the field of study (for example, dark blue for philosophy).

The hood, traditionally bearing the heaviest symbolic burden, is the most important feature of the academic costume. The length of the hood and the width of its velvet trimming designate the level of the degree. The hood's lining identifies the institution that granted the degree, and the color of the velvet heralds the major field of learning.

Alumni Induction Ceremony

President: President Johnson, guests, members of the graduating class, ladies and gentlemen, we have a long history of promoting the progress of our alma mater, representing its image in a positive manner, serving as ambassadors to perpetuate its tradition by recruiting the most promising students, and giving of our time, service, and resources on behalf of the university while remembering our motto: Think, Work, Serve and our charge: "Enter to learn, go forth to serve." Candidates, please stand.

Candidates, for what reason did you enter the university?

Graduates: We entered to learn.

President: For what reason do you depart?

Graduates: We depart to serve.

President: Candidates, I am honored to have the opportunity to confer upon you, the Spring Class of 2006, entrance into the Tennessee State University National Alumni Association. Candidates, would you please raise your right hands as I administer the induction oath.

Do you now resolve that personally and collectively you will strive to meet the challenge of our traditions, our heritage, and give of your time, service, and resources?

Graduates: We will.

President: Do you consent to keeping your alma mater informed at all times of your new locations, professional successes and those of fellow alumni?

Graduates: We will.

President: Candidates, please read the Pledge in unison.

Graduates: I hereby pledge to uphold the traditions and heritage of Tennessee State University while recruiting the best and brightest students to matriculate at my alma mater, and, always remember my alma mater by making financial contributions to the university and the National Alumni Association.

President: By virtue of the power vested in me, I do hereby declare that you are members of the Tennessee State University National Alumni Association and bestow upon each of you membership for one year and receipt of the ALUMNI OUTREACH publication and other amenities. Congratulations on your achievement and continue to Think, Work, and Serve.

Honors

Summa Cum Laude — A senior who has earned a grade point average of 3.75 or above.

Magna Cum Laude — A senior who has earned a grade point average of 3.50 to 3.75.

Cum Laude — A senior who has earned a grade point average of 3.25 to 3.49.

University Honors — A senior who has earned a grade point average of 3.25 or above and has fulfilled other requirements of the University Honors Program.

Candidates who have achieved honors in general scholarship are distinguished in procession by three-tassel gold braid cords.

Those being graduated with University Honors are distinguished by a scarlet braid cord with three gold tassels. The scarlet is symbolic of the University Honors Program; the gold, of general scholarship. The cords are provided by the University Honors Program.

Program Notes

- Photographs: Guests are requested to refrain from taking photographs during the exercises.
- The audience is requested to remain seated during the Academic Procession and Recession.
- Main Floor Access: Please be reminded that no access to the main floor will be permitted during the commencement ceremonies.
- The assembly is requested to stand for the Alma Mater.
- An interpreter is provided by the university for hearing-impaired members of the audience. These guests should be seated near the front of the stage on the second level of the gym.
- This program is not an official graduation list. It lists students who were eligible to participate in the graduation ceremonies pending the outcome of final examinations and final grades. Therefore, it should not be used to determine a student's academic or degree status.

Fast Facts about Tennessee State University

- TSU now has about 9,000 students, from almost every state and more than 50 countries.
- TSU engineers have developed new robots that are being used to sweep for mines and save soldiers' lives in the battlefield. They also are developing robots that can detect life during disaster, such as the recent mining disasters, and any natural disaster that may occur throughout the world.
- This spring, TSU launched a new Pilot Center of Academic Excellence for Intelligence Studies, which will prepare students to work in such agencies as the CIA, FBI, Homeland Security, and all branches of the military. This program also will allow students to study abroad, in China, South Africa, Australia, and Central and Eastern Europe.
- TSU astronomer Greg Henry, the first to discover a planet outside our solar system, was part of a team last year that discovered the first planet outside our solar system with a solid core, which may help explain how Earth developed.
- In recent years, TSU has built eight new facilities and renovated every existing structure on campus. Our newest buildings are a $9 million performing arts center, a $1.5 million fitness center, and a $1 million technology center for agricultural research. And after an $18.5 million renovation, our downtown Nashville campus will feature such facilities as a mock stock trading room, so students can receive first-hand Wall Street experience.
- TSU is a leader in the field of supply chain management. Supply chain management is the fine art of bringing together from all over the world the parts and delivery that make up the products you buy. U.S. News & World Report describes supply chain management as one of the 20 hottest job tracks for this century.
- Tennessee State University has experienced an explosion in sponsored research in recent years, surpassing $30 million annually, making the university a leading institution in the state of Tennessee for research funding. The university has established a Center for Neural Engineering, a Center for Automated Space Science, and a myriad of other programs through sponsored research funding.
- Tennessee State University is an economic powerhouse. According to TSU's Office of Business and Economic Research, the University had an economic impact on the greater Nashville area of nearly $500 million in 2001-2002. TSU created more than 9,000 jobs and attracted visitors who spent $42.4 million.
- Tennessee State University's Business Incubation Center has launched numerous small businesses in Tennessee, including Christie Cookies, which now has national sales through its web-site and eight-person sales force.
- The university offers 43 bachelor's degrees and 26 master's degrees and awards doctoral degrees in six areas: biological sciences, computer information systems engineering, psychology, public administration, curriculum and instruction, and administration and supervision.
- Tennessee State University is home to two centers of excellence: the Center of Excellence for Research and Policy on Basic Skills and the Center of Excellence for Information Systems Engineering and Management. TSU is also home to the Samuel P. Massie Chair of Environmental Engineering, funded by the U.S. Department of Energy.
