Trio Top Talent In Variety Show

A collection of Eastern talent will tread the boards in front of the Showalter auditorium footlights when the Savagettes present the "Fall Follies" Tuesday, November 10, at 8:15 p. m.

Top billing, according to a Savagette spokesman, will go to the Gary Owsley trio. The newly formed group of Ed Barnhart, Ron Jones and Owsley will present original interpretations and arrangements of the popular Kingston trio.

Another campus vocal group, the Larry Leal trio, the Easterners, and the Armand Boatman quartet make up the bulk of the musical presentations.

Paul Aust will direct the program as master of ceremonies.

Paul Barton will offer a characterization of Andy Griffith and also included in the program will be Rita Foy, Wanda Bryceson, Gloria Schlenker, Bob Bruya, Pam Berry and Stan Rizzuti.

Rizzuti Lands Lead In Political Drama

Stan Rizzuti, a sophomore speech major, was picked during auditions last Wednesday afternoon to play the leading role in "All the King's Men," Dr. Harold K. Stevens selection for this year's college play.

Rizzuti has the role of Stark in the drama about politics written by Robert Penn Warren.

Wesley Stoff, a news photographer in real life, landed the major supporting role of Jack, a newspaperman.

Others in the large cast are: Lucy, Carolyn Davis; Sugar, Joe Basta; Duffy, Michael Smith; Adam, Don Corrier; Anne, Karen Heindl; Sadie, Sandra Norris; Irwin, Paul Barton; Slade, Steve Young; Sandeen, Dennis Sanders; White, Rod Thompson; a cop, Jim Murphy; Larson, Marvin Morasch; Doris, Pat Hatcher; an unnamed woman, Sharron Harris; Freddy, Lee W. Schorzman, and mother, Gaye Wood.

Jan Hough will act as assistant director for the production and Morasch will be stage manager and chief electrician.

Fund Drive Sputters, But . . .

Sacajawea Disappears

Sacajawea is gone. Sometime during last Thursday night, Eastern's symbol disappeared from its place in Showalter hall.

With the impending Eastern-Whitworth game, it was thought at first that students from Whitworth may have kidnapped Sacajawea.

Later, suspicion turned to The Easterner staff.

Honest, we had nothing to do with it.

Even though we're in the midst of a campaign to replace her, we don't want to get rid of her.

The fund drive for a new Sacajawea is moving—slowly.

The Easterner staff contributed $5.

It was matched with another $5 by John Andrist, Eastern alum, and former Easterner editor, now a KHQ-TV news editor.

That makes $10 toward a new statue.

Dr. Edgar Stewart says he will contribute $10 as soon as we collect $10 more. When—and if—we do, that will make $30.

Still, a long way from the $1600 to $3000 a new statue will cost.

Isn't there a school spirited organization that can take over this drive? Unless Sad Sac shows up, the school will really need a new Sacajawea.

Finnish Ballet Company Slates Three Major Works

The National Ballet theater of Finland will present three major works at Eastern Washington College of Education November 12.

On its first tour of the United States, and celebrating its thirty-seventh anniversary, the ballet will be the first presentation of the student-community artist series sponsored jointly by the college and the community of Cheney.

The program will be presented in Showalter hall on the EWCE campus at 8:15 p. m.

Several years ago, the National Ballet theater of Finland performed in the Soviet Union where it was received with enthusiasm by audiences accustomed to the best from their own Russian companies.

The repertoire for the appearance at EWCE includes "Circle of Roses," based on Finnish folk dances and music; "Odysseus," drawn from Homer's epic and created especially for the American tour, and "Harlequin's Millions," a dazzling ballet that originated at the Imperial opera of St. Petersburg.

Firms Plan Interviews For Positions

Two different firms will be on the Eastern campus to interview students interested in positions with their firms.

W. E. Wing, manager of the Northern Life Insurance company, will be on campus November 5, at 9 a. m. to interview individuals interested in positions with his company.

J. M. Gregg, branch manager for Burroughs Corporation, will be on campus November 12, at 9 a. m. for the purpose of interviewing candidates for positions in that company.

Anyone interested in interviews with these representatives should contact the placement office and arrange for an appointment.

K. LADD KAFFLEN QUILTS AS SUB BOSS

Now It's Monday For Kinnikinicks

Latest word is that the 1959 Kinnikinicks are due to arrive at Eastern some time this week.

Pat McManus, adviser to the annual, says if all goes according to schedule, the yearbooks will be distributed Monday, November 9, at the Kinnikinick office, upstairs in the student union building.

Gospel Singers Set For Eastern Nov. 5

Clara Ward and the Ward Singers, famous gospel singing group, will present a performance at Eastern Thursday November 5 in Showalter auditorium at 10 a. m.

The Ward Singers will present a program of gospel singing, a blending of hymns, spirituals, jazz and the blues.

Since the Ward group, which includes Clara's mother, was

K. Ladd Kafflen, manager of Eastern's student union, has tendered his resignation effective December 31, senior Dean M. Owen, chairman of the student union board of control, announced.

Kafflen will have completed almost eight years on the job. He became manager of the EWCE book store in February,

K. Ladd Kafflen

1952, and moved to the managership of the student union when the building was completed last year.

He is a 1952 graduate of Eastern.

The resignation was accepted with regret by the union board, which will recommend acceptance to the college's board of trustees.

Kafflen will move with his family from Cheney to Spokane, he said.

Reason for the resignation, Kafflen added, was another job in Spokane.

Clara Ward

founded in 1943, it has traveled nearly a million miles in this country and in Europe. The group has sung before 25,000 persons at Griffith stadium in Washington, and last year in Stockholm played before more than 100,000.

Clara Ward and the Ward Singers were acclaimed in 1957 in their first appearance at the Newport Jazz Festival. Since then they have sung at the Ravina Music Festival in Chicago and at the French Lick, Indiana Jazz Festival.

"Gospel songs are the Bible set to music," Clara Ward said. "Call them blues with a message."

The group has also appeared on television, in theater performances and concert halls, and have recordings by three record companies.

Art Staff To Attend Conference On Coast

Five members of the Eastern Washington College of Education art department will attend the state convention of the Washington Art association in Everett, November 5, 6 and 7, Miss Nan Wiley, department chairman, announced.

Exhibition of the work of 10 EWCE students is scheduled during the convention, Miss Wiley said.

Dr. Stewart Writes For Historial Mags

Two quarterly magazines of western history, just issued for fall, contain reviews of historical Society, contains Dr. Stewart, Eastern professor of history.

Dr. Stewart is the author of several books on history of the west, the best-known of which are "Custer's Luck" and "Diary of the Little Big Horn."

Nebraska History, published by the Nebraska State Historical Society contains Dr. Stewart's review of "Montana: An Uncommon Land."

For Montana, published by the Historical Society of Montana, Dr. Stewart reviewed "The Diaries and Letters of Henry H. Spalding and Asa Bowen Smith Relating to the Nez Perce Mission, 1838-1842."

Easterner To Skip Issue For Holiday

Because next Wednesday is a holiday—Admission Day, Armistice Day and Veterans Day, in the order named—and because there will be no classes, The Easterner will not be published.

Next issue of your favorite weekly will be Wednesday, November 18.

IKs Slate Playboy Dance

This fall's Playboy dance, sponsored by the Inter-collegiate Knights, will be the second annual event of this type to be presented on Eastern's campus. This event will take place Saturday, November 7, at 9 p. m. in the Ball lounge and Cove room.

Decorations will be based on the "sophisticated" Playboy Rabbit. They will have several additions compared to last spring's affair.

Men's dorms will be promoting the Playmate candidates of their choice. The candidates are Molly Haney, Monroe; Faith Mason, Sutton; Kay Everson, Garry hall, and Shannon Harris, Hudson.

The Playmate will be selected by the vote of each male student at the door the night of the dance. The winner will be presented at intermission.

Music will be furnished by Ralph Dickenson's band. The Gary Owsley trio will provide half-time entertainment. Admission is $1.50. It will be a dressy-dress, and a non-corsage dance.

Let's Get A New Sacajawea

Last week the editors and staff of The Easterner assumed the initiative in raising the money to buy a new statue of Sacajawea for the rotunda of Showalter hall.

We took this action only after much thought and discussion. A very large sum will be needed to acquire an adequate replacement, and it will be a big job raising it. But we believe it is a worthwhile undertaking and we will stay with it until the new statue is in place.

The present statue has been the center of a recurring campus controversy for several years. It has been the subject of much humor and sarcasm. But it remains one of the most worthwhile symbols on the campus.

It is worthwhile because of what it represents. It is more than just a statue of an Indian girl whose role in history is much in doubt. It is a symbol of the spirit, the dedication, and the guts that made our nation the greatest on earth. As such it deserves to be preserved.

Once again, we call on all students, faculty, and alumni to give and give generously to the perpetuation of the spirit of Sacajawea.

Triple Holiday Is Food For Thought

The coming November 11 holiday is unique among holidays. It is unique because it is three holidays in one.

The current generation will celebrate it as Veteran's Day, in tribute to those who gave of their youth that our nation might live.

The generation which remembers "The Big War" will celebrate Armistice Day, in commemoration of the day ending the "war to end all wars."

And those of all generations who have an historical bend of mind will remember it as the day on which Washington became a state.

Perhaps it is sufficient editorial comment to point out that on one day we commemorate two wars.

Perhaps it is comment enough on man's "civilization" to indicate that on the day when we remember having created one small state, we also remember having twice nearly destroyed the entire world.

Perhaps there is a great deal more to think about on this November 11, than we have yet realized.

Security Unit Would Be Boon

A proposal is now before the state department of public institutions to build a new maximum security unit somewhere in eastern Washington. The Cheney area is high on the list of possible locations.

The opening of such an institution in this area would be an economic asset to the community of Cheney. It would open about 200 full-time jobs, thus bringing new people and new business to the community.

It would also be an asset to the college, as a large part of those jobs could be available to college students.

We believe that the students and faculty of Eastern should support the location of this new institution in the Cheney area both in their own, and the community's interests.

Responsibility For Steel Debauchery Lies With Ike

By Bill Brophy

This will be the last of a series of five columns dealing with the steel strike. I have by no means covered the topic fully. I have, however, tried to emphasize the underlying issue which I believe to be most important. That issue, plainly stated, is: In the modern technology of mass production and mass distribution, when each man's economic security is totally dependent on the adequate performance of economic duties by every other man, can we afford to tolerate either excess profiteering or destructive work stoppages by economic minorities at the expense of the total public?

Bill Brophy

It is my belief that we cannot, and, in fact, we will not.

The growing demand for legislation to curb the excesses of irresponsible labor leaders, and the growing willingness of congress to defy the labor lobby in passing labor legislation support this conclusion.

The right of business to operate free of unnecessary government interference is a traditional value in our culture. But changing circumstances have altered the definition of what constitutes "necessary" interference. Today we demand a great deal of government regulation of business in the interest of the public welfare.

The right of labor to organize, to strike, and to bargain collectively for better wages, hours, and working conditions is a more recent tradition. But it is just as legitimate.

Here again we traditionally oppose government control of labor unions. But changing circumstances have made more government control of unions inevitable.

The role of government in the modern society must be that of an economic referee between the various contending power centers in the society. As such, it can never allow any one such power center to become stronger than itself. To avoid this it must act as a balancing force siding with first one faction and then another in order to keep the economic forces in a state of near equilibrium. Such a concept of government is, I believe, the only hope of making democracy work in a modern industrial society. In effect, it is the responsibility of the state to protect the people from their own economic excesses, while at the same time remaining as responsive to their desires as is consistent with the public good.

In the current crises in steel the government has failed miserably in this function. It has not failed for lack of power. The power is there. It has not failed for lack of public support. The support is there. It has allowed this unprecedented rape of the American economy for the same reason that, thirty years ago, it allowed an unnecessary depression to plunge 12,000,000 American families into the depths of despair and starvation. It has failed because the President and his party lack the intelligence, the understanding, and the guts to act as a government should act. It has failed because Mr. Eisenhower, like Mr. Hoover, does not believe that the government has a responsibility to protect the nation from itself.

Hooper And Associates Make AMS Forum A Success

By Chief Gary

Hats off to AMS president Paul Hooper for the fine job he did in promoting last week's political forum. Commendation also goes to those whose work with Paul helped to make the forum a big success. In particular Dr. Kenneth Hossom, Dr. Raymond Schults, Gloria Zitterkopf, Bob Short, and Anne Johnston.

Chief Gary

Eastern's new trio composed of Gary Owsley, Ed Barnhart and Ron Jones has decided upon a name for their group . . . they call themselves "The Travelers" . . . They will be featured next Tuesday in the variety show in Showalter auditorium.

For those of you who may be wondering why Eastern failed to have its Homecoming activities televised while Whitworth had a special Homecoming show on KREM-TV, the answer is simple . . . According to Walt Schaar, television program director for the channel two outlet, all Eastern had to do was ask . . . Next year's Homecoming chairmen might bear this in mind when planning next year's festivities.

Here's one I picked up at the Political forum . . . Definition of a redhead . . . a Russian outhouse.

Well the team put up a tremendous fight but against the overwhelming odds they faced the outcome was inevitable. Consequently yours, truly, along with your sports editor, Al Ruddy, and your president and vice-president, Tom Ennis and Rich Hilty, will be pushing their counterparts from Whitworth down Riverside avenue in wheel barrows some time in the near future.

And you bird lovers be sure and pick up an extra copy of the Easterner this week . . . we won't have an issue November 11.

ASB President Says

Student Government Loans Union $24,510.63

By Tom Ennis

If of late you have had cause to comment on the coverage given certain events in the newspaper you might look at the cause. There are only a few persons who put out this publication and they are almost exclusively commuters.

Tom Ennis

Because of this, some news regarding student government that should appear in other parts of the paper will appear here.

On October 15, the finance committee loaned to the student union the sum of $24,510.63, to be considered as a long-range loan to be paid back at the rate of $1000 a year or 15% of the net profit of student union operations, whichever is greater.

This was necessary because the student union book store was in the red to the tune of approximately $12,000, the food service was in the red $7000 and student services, $4000 in the red.

Before everyone "pushes the panic button" I will explain.

For many years the profit that the student government received from the bookstore was used for scholarships. This left the bookstore always with a net loss due to overhead charges, so as you can see, this $12,000 is not just a recent debt that has been incurred.

Under our former system of operating the food service, we hired a manager and paid his salary and assumed all expenses in the operation. This system resulted in the loss of approximately $7000.

The present system of the food service area is as follows:

The student union board, acting for the student council, has leased the food service area to the college dining hall, under the supervision of Murle Johnson, who hired Ann Johnston to manage the food service of the student union. This lease gives each party the option of terminating the lease with 90 days notice, and the student union receives 5 per cent of the gross profit from the operation of the food service.

It seems obvious that the reasoning at the time of the lease was that it would be better to be assured of no loss on the operations of the food service than continue to go in the red under the system as it had been operating.

All confused yet—keep reading.

The $4000 loss under the area titled "student services" includes such things as the salaries and wages of employees of the union, (other than the food service area) cost of maintenance and repair of the union, the art exhibits furnished; etc.

This expense will occur every year. However, now that the loss of the union is removed by this loan, the net profit should make the union self-sustaining.

Beauty And The Bull

FERDINAND AND THE FROSH—Freshman co-ed Judy Lowe and her prize steer take time out from an early breakfast to have their picture taken.

By Lloyd Humphrey

"Early to bed and early to rise . . ."

While this famous old formula for success may have sufficed a few years ago, at least one EWCE co-ed has found it necessary to rewrite the saying in order to keep up with the fast-moving world we now live in.

Judy Lowe, a freshman at Eastern, has found her own formula for success reads: "Late to bed and early to rise . . ."

Judy and her sister Joy, who commute from St. John to Eastern every morning, have found that they have to get up at an early hour in order to arrive in time for their classes.

After hustling and bustling around to her various classes, this pert, brown-eyed, brown-haired co-ed jumps into the family car in order to complete the 90-mile round trip that faces her each day.

And her reasons are a lot of bull.

Well, really, her reason is a lot of steer. Judy makes the long drive each school day in order to care for her Hereford steer. Her steers have been winners of the title Grand Champion three times and Reserve Champion several times.

Judy bought the steer from her uncle when it was just a spindly-legged calf. She lavished hours of loving care on the animal, and it soon blossomed into a fine specimen of bovine beauty.

After arriving home each night, Judy grooms and feeds her steer, eats dinner, and works at the other farm chores until it is time for her session with the books. After burning copious quantities of midnight oil during her study period, Judy hits the hay. (She doesn't really sleep in the barn, with her steer, she has her own room, but her folks have a hard time keeping her from it.)

After an all too short night Judy and her sister arise at 4 a. m. and begin another hectic day of driving, classes, grooming, and study.

Judy has found that her early-rising schedule has paid off. She was president of the

In The Past

Steven's Play 1934 Homecoming Hit

The 1934 Homecoming comedy, "There's Always Juliet," proved to be a tremendous success. Cheney's drama head, Dr. Stevens, then minus a doctorate, played an American architect with what was termed as "spontaneous and natural wit."

The subject of silk stockings was a hot one on the campus in 1939. EWCE women had switched to the wearing of cotton stockings to "make Americans aware of the good it may do by preventing the sale of Japanese goods in the U. S."

Swing music, opera and the classics were found to be tops on the radios of the 1944 Eastern College men. Tommy Dorsey headed the list of favorites.

Walter W. Isle, in 1949, issued a statement which appears to be of current value, "When festivities get under way this Homecoming, there will be many things you can do: Get into the spirit of the occasion yourself; be there; get acquainted with a visitor, and for heavens sake help win the game."

Final registration for the fall quarter five years ago totaled 990 students—a phenomenal increase over the figures from previous years.

St. John 4-H club two years ago and last year was junior leader. The livestock show at Auburn next April will be the culmination of a long year's work. This is, the day that Judy's steer will win, lose, or draw. There's no doubt in Judy's mind which it will be.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Lowe, Judy's parents, can rest assured that in this day of teenage gangs, delinquency, and general teenage mayhem, their two daughters are a credit to youth.

Even if they had the inclination, when would they find the time?

Music Division Sets Sunday Concert

A Handel Bicentennial concert will be presented by the division of music in Showalter auditorium Sunday afternoon, November 15, at 4 p. m.

Dean Hagie Thanks Orientation Guides

A vote of commendation was given Eastern's Orientation week guides by the college's administrative council in a meeting last week, Dr. Daryl Hagie, dean of students, announced.

Dr. Hagie said the council, made up of division and administrative heads, voted the commendation unanimously because of the outstanding job the guides did in orienting freshmen to Eastern during their first week here.

Omar Khayyám writes a new jingle

Old Omar has come up with another corker of a couplet. Freely translated from the Persian:

It's what's up front that counts
If it hasn't got it there it hasn't got it

True, the lines don't scan. But what do you expect from a tent-maker—the perfect rhyme of "Winston tastes good like a cigarette should"?

We'll admit that something may have been lost in the translation. But when it comes to Winston, nothing is lost in the translation of rich, good tobacco taste. That's because up front of a pure white filter Winston has Filter-Blend—a special selection of mild flavorful tobaccos specially processed for filter smoking.

Winston is designed to taste good.

Or, as Omar puts it:

The Moving Lighter lights;
and having lit,
Flicks off. Then you draw on IT,
And bit by bit smoking pleasure
mounts;
With Filter-Blend up front,
Winston's got what counts!

Gridders To Meet SOC

Eastern's grid squad, riddled with injuries, takes to the road this week for its final guest performance of the season with Southern Oregon college at Ashland.

The Savages came out on the long end of a 34-0 score when they hosted the Ashland eleven last year, playing in a foot of snow.

SOC finished third in its Oregon Collegiate conference last year with a 2-2 record, and marked a 4-6 for the season.

In two of SOC's early contests they were defeated, once by the University of Hawaii 20-13, and by Linfield 34-12.

Later they registered wins over Oregon college, 20-7, and Portland State, 12-7.

According to head coach Ed Chissus the Savages sustained only a few minor scrapes and bruises in the 38-14 loss to the Whitworth Pirates, and everyone that was ready last Saturday is expected to be in uniform.

"We played them about even," said Chissus, referring to the Whitworth game, "until the second half. Then we got tired and we didn't have the reserve strength to keep going."

"We don't have much information on Southern Oregon so we will have to form our defense patterns when we get down there. The challenge will be good experience for us," Chissus continued.

Out of the lineup for EWC are starters Stan Rhodes, offensive halfback, who underwent knee surgery last week; and defensive halfback Bill Lavigne, who suffered a broken leg during the Homecoming game.

Joe Evans, who was benched during the Whitworth game, is expected to be ready for action, along with Bob Nance, one of Chissus' best defensive backs.

"Now that the conference is over we will have to start looking to next season, so we will probably use most of our newcomers for the experience," said Chissus.

"With the conference ruling not in effect for the last two games we will be able to take a few more. The more we can get into the game the better off we will be next season," he concluded.

Sutton Wins IM Football

The intramural football season came to a close last week as Sutton "A" took all the honors in winning four games without a defeat.

In last week's games, Sutton "A" defeated Sutton "B" 25-14 in a game that was later defaulted to Sutton "A" because of an ineligible player. All of Sutton "B's" games were wiped from the slate because of the disqualification.

In other games, Hudson "B" defeated Hudson "A" 20-12 in a mild upset; Sutton "A" defeated Gary "A" 27-7, and Hudson "B" defeated Monroe "A" 26-12.

CCH-AMS Political Forum Big Success

The 1959 Political Forum, jointly sponsored by the local Citizenship Clearing House and the Associated Men Student, got off to a rousing start Friday morning with a panel discussion featuring Rep. Stewart Udall (D-Ariz.), Rep. Bob Wilson (R-Calif), and Professor Claudius O. Johnson of Washington State University.

The topic of discussion was, "Academic Freedom and National Security."

Dr. Johnson defended the right of professors and students to speak out "in areas of their competence," but pointed out that those who do so too frequently and on too many subjects may imperil the freedom of his colleagues as well as himself to do so.

Congressman Wilson pointed out that the Hungarian Freedom Fighters were mainly students and intellectuals who felt their freedom was being denied. He later said that he felt that there was enough academic freedom for the "peculiar circumstances in which our nation finds itself."

Rep. Udall argued that academic freedom could not be adequately defined, and that the history of our nation was one of unpopular ideas which later became popular.

A lively question period followed in which students participated.

Mr. Murlin Spencer, chief of the Associated Press Bureau at Seattle, was the luncheon speaker for the Forum. He spoke out against "creeping secrecy" in government and its dangers to democracy and the free press. This problem was also discussed by a later forum.

The Political Forum was attended by students of five area colleges as well as local educators and political leaders.

Savage 11 Swamped By Spurlock's Slings

By Walt Hartman
Eastern Washington College's football team dominated the first half of the game against Whitworth but were swamped under by the Pirates' passing game in the second half, bowing 38-14 last Saturday at Country Homes.

Whitworth scored first in the first quarter on a 52-yard drive climaxed by Denny Spurlock's one-yard plunge.

Eastern came right back in the second quarter as Dave Davis and Tom Meier led a sustained drive from deep in Whitworth territory. A great catch by Gary Fuller was the leading gainer of this drive. Jack England plunged over from the one-yard line to put Eastern on the scoreboard. Alfons Alt kicked the extra point clearly between the uprights to tie the game for the Savages.

Les Rurey, Whitworth back, was the leading ground gainer of the afternoon, picking up 73 yards in 13 carries.

Dave Davis, frosh from Otis Orchards, was the standout of the afternoon for the Savages as he was their leading ground gainer and played a standout game on defense.

Pass defense was the Savage downfall as they were able to contain the Whit ground game much of the day, but were snowed under by the passing.

Next week sees the Savages travel to Ashland to play Southern Oregon, and the following week they have a bye.

UBC Game Delay Told

A one-week postponement of Eastern Washington College's football game with the University of British Columbia has been authorized by the EWCE athletic council, Orland B. Killin, chairman, announced.

UBC asked for postponement of the game from November 14 to November 21 to enable them to play for the Canadian championship. The game is scheduled for Woodward field in Cheney at 1:30 p. m.

The British Columbia college dropped out of the Evergreen conference this year to join a Canadian league, but has still scheduled games with some Evergreen teams.

Hoop Schedule Set For 1959-60 Squad

Eastern's basketball squad, now in its fourth week of practice, has to look forward to one of the toughest 26-game schedules ever developed for a Savage team.

Before the conference action begins the hoopsters will have to face two of the top independents in the northwest, Gonzaga university and Montana State college.

The Evergreen conference inaugurates its new schedule system this season, advancing the conference load from 12 to 14 games.

Eastern will play both Central and Whitworth four times during the season, along with the normal home and home series with the western division schools. Western, Pacific Lutheran and College of Puget Sound will also operate on the same league schedule.

SCHEDULE

Dec. 1, Seattle Pacific College, Cheney; Dec. 4, Gonzaga, Cheney; Dec. 5, Whitman College, Cheney; Dec. 10, Whitman College, Walla Walla; Dec. 19, Montana State College, Bozeman; Dec. 21, Western Montana College, Reardan; Dec. 25, St. Martins College, Cheney; Dec. 29, St. Martins College, Cheney; Jan. 1 & 2, Tournament, Caldwell, Idaho. Northwest Nazarene College, Eastern, College of Idaho, Whitworth; Jan. 8, Pacific Lutheran College, Tacoma; Jan. 9, Western Washington College, Bellingham; Jan. 11, Gonzaga, Spokane; Jan. 15, Central Washington College, Cheney; Jan. 16, College of Puget Sound, Cheney; Jan. 22, Seattle Pacific College, Seattle; Jan. 23, Central Washington College, Ellensburg; Jan. 29, Whitworth College, Cheney; Jan. 30, Whitworth College, Spokane; Feb. 5, Western Washington College, Cheney; Feb. 6, Pacific Lutheran College, Cheney; Feb. 12, Central Washington College, Ellensburg; Feb. 13, College of Puget Sound, Tacoma; Feb. 19, Whitworth College, Cheney; Feb. 20, Whitworth College, Spokane; Feb. 23, Central Washington College, Cheney.

However, with just three minutes remaining in the half, Whitworth recovered an Eastern fumble on their own 45-yard line and it took them only two minutes to go over for the score, mainly behind the accurate right arm of quarterback Spurlock.

Eastern did not have enough time to get anything else started in the second half so it remained Whitworth 13, Eastern 7, at intermission.

After a few half time festivities that are typical of an Eastern-Whitworth game the second half got under way.

During the second half Whitworth showed why they are one of the top teams in the nation in passing as they had a string of nine straight completions in the third and fourth quarters. During this string, they scored four more times as Eastern was able to cross the goal line only once.

Whitworth scored all four times via the air, two of them to all-American candidate Bill Cole and the other two to speedy back Dick Moultrie. Three of these passes came from Spurlock and the other was a pass-run option from Warren Lashua.

Eastern finally scored with just thirty seconds remaining in the game as Dave Davis intercepted a pass that had been knocked into the air and went over for six points. Alt added the extra point.

Mass Hysteria Tipifies Vienna Youth Festival

(Ed. note—Dave Sherman, senior political science major at EWCE, attended the seventh World Youth Festival in Vienna, Austria, as an official observer. This is the second in a series of articles on his impressions of the festival.)

By Dave Sherman

The mass hysteria, military pace and emotion created at the opening of the VIIth World Youth Festival were similar to what transpired in Germany during the late 1930s.

To me it was quite alarming. The opening session was held in Vienna stadium and in attendance were youths from almost every country in the world. All the delegates paraded into the stadium dressed in native costumes, each group singing the "Song of Peace and Friendship."

There were Africans with their drums and dances, Chinese with their dragons and Arabs with dancing girls. All the delegates from the other countries continually shouted "Freedom! Friendship!" and clapped their hand and stomped their feet in cadence.

This is one of the methods used by the Soviets to inject the unknown needle. The participants become so emotional that they don't attempt to reason the motives behind the stories that they are being told: That the Soviet Union is their liberator of those caught in the chains of oppression by the Western powers.

They feel that if Russia continually talks of peace and friendship, she must really want it.

What they fail to realize is that the peace and friendship is available only on Russian terms.

The anti-communist youth of Austria were very effective in pointing out that the slogan "peace and friendship" really was a myth. They even sent planes carrying banners that read "Think of Tibet," "Is Hungary Free?", flying over the festival grounds.

They had buses running to the Hungarian border where one actually could see the "iron curtain." Several students from Iran refused to believe that there was an "iron curtain" and accompanied me on such a trip.

We walked through the woods for about 100 yards and came to a massive barbed-wire entanglement. About 300 yards behind the wire were tall, wooden towers about one half-mile apart. On the towers occupied by two guards, were machine guns and searchlights.

The area between the towers and barbed wire entanglements was heavily mined.

The Iranians with me couldn't understand why they hadn't seen the "curtain" before. When it was explained further that such areas on each side of the checkpoints had been removed just before the festival began, they wondered aloud about the freedom slogans being used so much by the communists.

I also couldn't help but wonder, "Is this a step toward achieving freedom and friendship?"

(Another article in this series will appear in next week's Easterner).
