

AN ANNOTATED CHECKLIST OF TASMANIAN MOSSES

by P.J. Dalton, R.D. Seppelt and A.M. Buchanan

An annotated checklist of the Tasmanian mosses is presented to clarify the occurrence of taxa within the state. Some recently collected species, for which there are no published records, have been included. Doubtful records and excluded species are listed separately. The Tasmanian moss flora as recognised here includes 361 species.

Key Words: mosses, Tasmania.

In BANKS, M.R. et al. (Eds), 1991 (31:iii): ASPECTS OF TASMANIAN BOTANY — A TRIBUTE TO WINIFRED CURTIS. Roy. Soc. Tasm. Hobart: 15–32. <https://doi.org/10.26749/rstpp.124.2.15>

INTRODUCTION

Tasmanian mosses received considerable attention during the early botanical exploration of the antipodes. One of the earliest accounts was given by Wilson (1859), who provided a series of descriptions of the then-known species, accompanied by coloured illustrations, as Part III of J.D. Hooker's Botany of the Antarctic Voyage. Although there have been a number of papers since that time, two significant compilations were published about the turn of the century. The first was by Bastow (1887) which included an illustrated key. Rodway (1913–14) presented a further moss flora with descriptive keys for many genera. Although published as three separate papers in Pap. Proc. R. Soc. Tasm. (1912: 3–24, 87–138 and 1913: 177–263), Rodway's work was reissued as a single volume Tasmanian Bryophyta. Vol. I. Mosses, in 1914. For clarity we refer to this single volume publication. This was the last account which dealt exclusively with Tasmanian mosses. They have since been included in wider accounts of the moss flora of Australia. Scott & Stone (1976) provided a much needed comprehensive treatment of the mosses of the southern Australian region including Tasmania. Streimann & Curnow (1989) published a catalogue of the mosses of Australia and its offshore islands and antarctic territory. In that work, the occurrence of taxa in the Australian states is based primarily on literature records, some of which are in need of evaluation.

The impetus for the present checklist arose from a need for a working document for the Australasian Bryological Workshop held in Hobart in December 1988. It is intended to provide a basis of what is known to occur in the Tasmanian moss flora by evaluation of literature records combined with re-examination of critical collections. There are Tasmanian records in the literature of a number of taxa for which there are no known collections available. It is possible that some others may be the result of misidentification or misinterpretation of the original reference. Furthermore, in recent years previously unrecorded species have been found as well as several new taxa described.

We have assigned genera to families following Crosby & Magill (1981), except where otherwise indicated in the case of more recent publications. The arrangement of families, genera and species is in alphabetic order for ease of access. Taxa known to occur in Tasmania and its neighbouring islands only are listed; those for subantarctic Macquarie Island (politically part of Tasmania) are not treated and have been presented elsewhere (Seppelt 1981).

This Tasmanian checklist complements those for the vascular flora (Buchanan et al. 1989), hepatics (Ratkowsky 1987) and lichens (Kantvilas 1989).

ANNOTATED CHECKLIST OF TASMANIAN MOSSES BY FAMILY IN ALPHABETICAL ORDER

All entries are presented in a format where accepted names are in bold type and unaccepted names or synonyms are in plain text. The synonyms given are by no means exhaustive, but the list attempts to include all names that have been used in Tasmania. Infraspecific ranks are not treated comprehensively. An asterisk indicates species or varieties which are endemic in Tasmania. Annotations include an early reference to occurrence in Tasmania, followed by general comments and taxonomic notes where appropriate. Doubtful or excluded records are listed separately in plain text.

Andreaea australis Mitt. Schultze-Motel (1970) doubts this record for Tasmania.

Brachymentium coarctatum Bosch et Lac. Watts & Whitelegge (1906), but the locality given is probably not in Tasmania.

Bryum australe Hampe. No collections in HO; Australian occurrence uncertain, see Scott & Stone (1976).

Bryum rubiginosum Hook.f. et Wils. Rodway (1914). See Sainsbury (1955d).

Camptochaete angustata (Mitt.) Reichdt. Bastow (1887) as Isothecium angustatum. However, Sainsbury (1955f) made no mention of this species occurring in Tasmania and considered it as endemic in New Zealand.

Camptochaete fruticosa Par. Mitten (1882) as Porotrichum fruticosum; Bastow (1887) as Isothecium fruticosum. However, Sainsbury (1955f) made no mention of this occurring in Tasmania.

Catharomnion ciliatum (Hedw.) Wils. Mitten (1882) as Hypopterygium ciliatum; Bastow (1887). Rodway (1914) suggested it was recorded in error as there were no collections available. Sainsbury (1956a) and Scott & Stone (1976) also suggest recorded in error.

Ceratodon crassinervis Lorentz. Occurrence in Tasmania considered tentative (Scott & Stone 1976). There are no collections in HO.

Ceratodon stenocarpus B.S.G. Mitten (1882); Rodway (1914); Scott & Stone (1976) stated the occurrence should be considered tentative. There are no collections in HO.

Cladomnion ericoides (Hook.) Wils. Although Streimann & Curnow (1989) list for Tasmania, Sainsbury (1955a) gave this as a New Zealand species only.

Climacium dendroides (Hedw.) Web. et Mohr. Martin (1946) lists for Tasmania; however, Stone (1985) recorded new for Australia only in Victoria.

Cyptodon dilatatus (Hook.f. et Wils.) Par. et Schimp. Listed for Tasmania by some authors as a result of Rodway's misinterpretation of C. parvula. Scott & Stone (1976) do not record for Tasmania.

Cyrtopodium setosum (Hedw.) Hook.f. Bastow (1887) as Cladomnion setosum. Rodway (1914) indicated there are no Tasmanian collections and possibly reported in error.

Dicranoweisia cirrata (Hedw.) Lindb. See Holomitrium cirratum.

Ditrichum brachycarpum Hampe. Streimann & Curnow (1989) list for Tasmania; however, Seppelt (1982) did not record for Tasmania.

- Entosthodon cuspidatus* Kiaer in C. Muell. nom. nud. Weymouth (1896).
- Eriopetasmanicus* Broth. Weymouth (1903); Rodway (1914) but Sainsbury (1956a) considered these collections to be referable to E. apiculatus (= Calyptrochaeta apiculata). Fissidens crassipes Wils. ex B.S.G. Streimann & Curnow (1989) list for Tasmania; however, Willis (1955a) reported this moss from southeastern mainland Australia only.
- Funaria radians* (Hedw.) C.Muell. Two old collections only held in HO which are named without authority.
- Grimmia funalis* (Schwaegr.) B.S.G. Mitten (1882); Bastow (1887), but no collections at HO. Scott & Stone suspect this is a misnomer for G. trichophylla.
- Grimmia ovalis* (Hedw.) Lindb. Record based on Sainsbury (1955c) but Scott & Stone (1976) consider its occurrence in Tasmania doubtful.
- Grimmia readeri* Broth. Scott & Stone (1976) list only for Victoria. Streimann & Curnow (1989) list for Tasmania, possibly in error.

- Hypnodendron colensoi* (Hook. f. et Wils.) Mitt. Mitten (1882); Bastow (1887) as Isothecium colensoi. Touw (1971) considered these early records to be doubtful.
- Hypopterygium commutatum* C.Muell. Sainsbury (1955a); however, Scott & Stone (1976) could find no record of this as a Tasmanian moss. There are no collections held in HO.
- Hypopterygium muelleri* Hampe. Scott & Stone (1976) record for NSW, Qld and Lord Howe Island only. There are no collections held in HO.
- Leptostomum macrocarpum* (Hedw.) Pyl. Bastow (1887). Sainsbury (1955d) and Scott & Stone (1976) considered this record may be in error. No collections in HO.

- Plagiommium novaezealandiae* (Col.) T.Kop. Weymouth & Rodway (1922) as Mnium rostratum, but Sainsbury (1955d) considered to be misidentified. Koponen (1983) excludes the record for Tasmania.
- Polytrichum novae-hollandiae* Jaeg. Streimann & Curnow (1989) report for Tasmania but the record of Watts & Whitelegge (1902) gives the locality as Mt Wellington in Victoria.
- Polytrichum piliferum* Hedw. Watts & Whitelegge (1902) considered the record doubtful.
- Racomitrium hypnoides* Lindb. Rodway (1914) nom. illeg. = Racomitrium lanuginosum ssp. lanuginosum.
- Tayloria callophylla* (C.Muell.) Mitt. Mitten (1882). Rodway (1914) listed for Tasmania but indicated that the only collection was from New Zealand. Sainsbury (1955e) stated that it had been seen only from the North Island of New Zealand and that its occurrence in Tasmania was uncertain. There are no Tasmanian collections in HO.

Thuidium incompletopinnatum C.Muell. nom. nud. Weymouth (1894).

Weissia bicolor Hampe nom. nud. The plant so-named by Rodway is Dicranoweisia microcarpa, Sainsbury (1953). Ulota fulva Brid. A misidentification; the Rodway material at HO has been redetermined as U. membranata Malta by Sainsbury.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

We thank participants in the Australasian Bryological Workshop for their comments, corrections and additions to the initial checklist.
