A team of committed members, consists of Ahmad Ziadi b. Zaidon, Mohamad Siddiq b. Mohd Azani, Mohd Fadhli b. Yahya and Norsyafiqah bt. Naibmuddin, had worked together to ensure the completion of this project.

This journey that was filled with challenges and pressure together with immeasurable problems has started in July 2009 and ended in October 2009. With the help of our course mates, friends and others we manage to overcome such problems in order to complete this research paper.

Our innermost appreciation goes to our beloved supervisor, Puan Norila bt. Abu Hassan, a lecturer from the Faculty of Law, Universiti Teknologi Mara, Shah Alam. We are grateful for the continuous support and encouragement, which she provided to us along this research. We are in debt with her so much for her patience, support, knowledge and assistance throughout our research period.

We also would like to thank all the departments and officers that have been interviewed for the completion of our findings.

Finally, we would also like to thank our family for their prayers for our success, financial assistance and moral supports. Not to forget, thank to others who have help us some way or another, directly or indirectly, in the process of completing this project paper.

ABSTRACT

This research is a study on the establishment of the Malaysian Anti Corruption Commission (MACC). The problem of corruption must be given a wide attention as it had become a huge problem nowadays. The new establishment of MACC is said to replace the Anti Corruption Agency (ACA). It is said that the MACC is more effective in combating corruption due to its independent and transparent status. MACC is also established in accordance to the successful body of Independent Commission Against Corruption of Hong Kong (ICAC).

The reason for this research is to look at the jurisdiction of this newly established commission. It is to see whether the commission is just propaganda. Based on the research done, it was found that MACC is not really independent as it is still depending on the Act and Public Service Commission. For the effectiveness and the impartiality of this commission, it is still early to say as MACC do prosecute from both governing and opposition party but it is still early to be judged as most of the cases are still not yet being decided.
