May 3, 1912.

Mr. W. B. Treadway,
Columbus, Indiana.

Dear Brother Treadway:

Your nice letter was received some time ago, and should have been answered sooner, but it has been first one thing and then another which has kept me from giving it the proper attention.

I am of course sorry to learn that you are not in position to help us out any in our great school work contemplated, but I am glad to say that we believe we can make arrangements now to put the proposition on its feet, and doubtless we will at no distant day, have something mighty fine.

The weather has been mighty fine here for a long time, but now is getting warmer and we are having some showers. I do not see Brother and Sister Brown very often. They live out in North Gainesville and I hardly ever get out ~~that far~~ for any length of time. We certainly miss you and your good wife. You should have been down here this winter, and I want you to be sure and make your arrangements and spend next winter here any way. I am glad to say that Perry is getting better, and that all our folks are doing well now. Would be glad to hear from you any time you feel like writing.

With best wishes, I remain,

Yours very truly,

Dictated B.R.C.
