NSU LAW

Health Care Policy Discussion

featuring Professor James Hodge, Jr.

Wednesday, February 19, 2020

6:30 p.m. - 8:00 p.m.

NSU Shepard Broad College of Law
Panza Maurer Law Library

The Health Law program at NSU emphasizes the main areas of the health law practice and offers a diverse and varied curriculum for students to become health law practitioners and policy makers. NSU Law continues its interprofessional collaboration with the NSU health professions colleges in providing engaging research between disciplines as well as commitment to community efforts to address legislative issues.

NSU Law offers a concentration in Health Law, permitting students to obtain recognition for their health-law-related studies. Completion of the requirements for this concentration leads to a notation on the qualified student's transcript and a certificate

Welcome

Kathy Cerminara, Professor NSU Shepard Broad College of Law

Professor Kathy Cerminara bridges the medical and legal professions with her work on patients' rights in the end-of-life decision-making arena. She co-authors the nationally known treatise, The Right to Die: The Law of End-of-Life Decision making, and is a reviewer for several medical and medical-legal journals. Her scholarship most recently has focused on the intersection between end-of-life care, palliative care, and health care coverage policy. At the Nova Southeastern University Shepard Broad College of Law, she is a full professor. She is also an affiliate faculty member at NSU's Dr. Kiran C. Patel College of Allopathic Medicine.

Presenter
