Hi Nic,

Attached are Covid-related materials from BUA330 this spring.

- The file "HR Role in Pandemic Planning" is a presentation I gave in class near the beginning of the pandemic to compare what happened with H1N1 to the Covid-19 situation.
- The "Employment Law Paper" assignment incorporated the current emergency laws about sick leave into an assignment about mandatory paid sick leave. The focus was on future policy, including the impact of these temporary laws.
- The remaining files are all submissions by pairs of students for HR in the News. Covid-19 related issues predominated these student presentations as the semester went on.
- Paul Bolin, CHRO at Northern Light Health, was a guest speaker in the class. There are no documents related to his presentation, but a major topic was how the hospital system has responded to Covid-19.

Let me know if there is any problem with the attachments. There should be 13 files.

Stay well. Loved your humor piece last week. We have to keep laughing.

Tracy

AD Colleagues---

For those who haven't already forwarded this material in response to other requests, thank you in advance for soliciting the following from faculty in your colleges/divisions:

1. Word or PDF copies of COVID-19-related course activities, assignments, projects, etc. from spring 2020;
2. same as above for summer and fall 2020, including syllabi for courses focused entirely on COVID-19 (all disciplinary perspectives, all areas of scholarly expertise); and
3. any materials for COVID-19-related symposia, special journal issues, lectures, colloquia, conferences, presentations, etc. planned or projected for summer or fall 2020.

We'll happily accept materials throughout the summer, but please collect and forward what you receive in response to this initial request to Jon Jue-Wong by the close of business next Wednesday, June 3. We'll organize these materials in an Academic Affairs Google Drive as a resource for the university community, and we will also pursue stories/marketing opportunities in coordination with Margaret Nagle and individual faculty to showcase the innovative work being done all across the campus.

Thanks again for your help.

Best,

Jeff
