Good day to you all:

The UMaine community has amazing people. As we continue to work together, we will ensure that every student has an opportunity to complete this term well. We reach out to you today to highlight a few news items on this theme.

- Classes will resume on Wednesday, March 25, 2020. You can find the Chancellor's message here.
- An extended timeframe for students to choose a Pass/Fail option in courses will be effective from April 10–May 1, 2020. More detail about the Pass/Fail option can be found here.
- We will ensure a continuity of service for our students who need accommodations. Please contact Student Accessibility Services if you have questions or concerns. The latest FAQs about accessibility accommodations and Student Accessibility Services are online.
- As we move to remote instruction, please ask for assistance as needed. We are here to support each other during this time.

We are grateful to be part of the University of Maine community and hope you will continue to ask for clarification and to connect with each other as this situation continues to progress.

Robert Dana, Vice President of Student Life and Inclusive Excellence and Dean of Students
Faye Gilbert, Interim Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost--
