New in 2020, PlumX Metrics are now integrated into the Digital Commons Dashboard to gain insight about repository usage. PlumX Metrics provide insights into the ways people interact with individual pieces of research output in the online environment, such as when research is mentioned in the news or it is posted on social media. These metrics are divided into five categories to help make sense of the huge amounts of data involved. The categories include: Citations, Usage, Captures, Mentions, and Social Media. To learn more about the categories, see:
