Mandalay U. President Speaks At Commencement Exercises

Commencement Held On Sunday, June 3

U Ko Lay, President of the University College, Mandalay, Burma, will present the guest address of the commencement program. The speech will be entitled, "The Role of Education in the Regeneration of Burma."

This year Commencement, Baccalaureate, Induction Services, and a recognition dinner are all scheduled for Sunday, June 3, when the entire day will be devoted to the graduation

U Ko Lay, the guest speaker, has been a personal friend of Dr. A. L. Knoblauch since President Knoblauch was in Burma. He is visiting United States colleges in order to gather information that will help him in reorganizing the Mandalay University.

Since the College reopened in 1947 with 150 students, its president, U Ko Lay, has devoted himself to the founding of the university. The students now total 1,500, and the government is considering raising the school in Mandalay to the status of an independent university. It is to this end that the president is studying problems of aims, curriculums, administration, and university and state relationships.

The commencement program will be at 3:30 p.m. in Weld Auditorium. Reverend James Henderson, of the First Presbyterian Church of Moor-the Lower Divisions, will present the candidates for the AA and the AE Degrees, and Dr. Byron D. Murray, Director of the Upper Divisions, will present the candidates for the BA and BS Degrees. Dr. Knoblauch, President of MSTC and Mr. Norman Nelson, Resident Director, will award the diplomas to the graduates.

The induction services will be incorporated into the Commencement exercises. Dr. Robbins will present the teaching certificates to students completing the requirements in Associate of Education and Bachelor of Edu-cation and will administer the Teacher's Pledge.

The graduates will meet in Mac-Lean Hall for a formal procession across the circle. Miss Elinor Mohn and Dr. Amos Maxwell will supervise the commencement processional.

Reverend Lars Larson of our Savior's Lutheran Church, Moorhead, will give the address for Baccalaureate which will be at 11:00 a.m. He will be assisted in the service by Mr. Bernard Gill, director of the library. The Euterpe Girl's Choir will provide two musical selections.

A recognition dinner will be served to all graduates, parents and invited guests, faculty and staff members, and dormitory residents at the Comstock Dining Hall at 1:00 p.m. The dinner will replace the graduation reception. Tickets may be secured through the business office on May 24 and 25. Advance reservations will be accepted until May 29. The price of the dinner will be $1.25 per plate.

Commencement reservation tickets may also be secured from the business office on May 24 and 25. Graduates not enrolled this quarter are requested to write for tickets not later than May 25. Each graduate will be entitled to receive four tickets. Any remaining tickets will be available to students, faculty, and others upon request during the week of May 28 through June 1.

Comedy Centers Around Family And Their Crusading Daughter

given May 25 and 26 at Weld Hall Theatre. The story is a comedy involving the Wilkins family who live in Kew Gardens, Long Island. The family consists of the father Judge Harry Wilkins, Mrs. Edith Wilkins, Ruth Wilkins, and Miriam Wilkins. Miriam is the typical younger sister who has a habit of being over patriotic toward her country during the war which somethimes involves others more than they care to be.

On one of her loyalty crusades Miriam begins coresponding with a soldier in Europe in her older sister's name. The soldier falls head over heels and comes home to see Ruth with wedding bells ringing in his ears. Ruth has just become engaged to Albert Kummer, an executive at the bank where she works. When Bill, the soldier, appears on the scene, things begin to go around and around Ruth ends up engaged to both of them, in love with one and intending to marry the other. Two rush marriages and everyone's head spinning concludes the production.

Committees for this production are as follows: Publicity – Russ Coa, Joanne Lewis, and Sharon Chinn; Stage Crew – Dick Bennett, Ron White, Russ Cox, Vivian Floberg, Rowland Oyen, Ted Pease, Gloria Ei

Mpls. Paper Challenges TC Summer Sessions

FROM THE MINNEAPOLIS STAR AND TRIBUNE:

Elimination of summer sessions at the five Minnesota state teachers colleges probably will not materially affect the production of much needed teachers in the state, but it will lessen opportunities to improve the quality of teaching in our schools.

It is estimated that the teachers colleges will be $280,000 short in the 1956-57 fliscal year, even with an increase in tuition from $30 to $35 a quarter which will bring in an additional $110,000.

At the time of the 1955 legislative estimates, the teachers college board calculated enrollments at 6,373 students, whereas today estimates have had to be revised upward to about 7,600. Obviously something had to give somewhere, and the board tried to cut corners by eliminating the summer sessions and raising tuition.

It is unfortunate the decision will affect many teachers who use the teacher colleges in the summer to upgrade themselves. Programs leading to the master's degree had just been instituted in the colleges and undoubtedly many teachers were looking forward to this Summer sessions if reinstated, might well be placed on a selfsupporting basis. A high percentage of summer session students, probably between 40 and 50 per cent, are post-graduates who return for advanced work. This, of course, leads to job advancement and in most cases to higher salaries. How much of the freight should the taxpayers be expected to pay in such situations?

It can be argued, of course, that high quality teaching is a concern of the general community, and it is. Who should pay the costs is another question. It would seem reasonable to expect those looking for professional advancement to pay more than they have in the past.

In the present educational crisis, clearly, production of new teachers must come first.

EDITOR'S NOTE:

Actually, according to figures prepared from summer session enrollment data from the five colleges last year by Dr. Byron D. Murray, the percentage of students enrolled in summer sessions to pursue post-graduate curricula is much lower than the figure cited by the Minneapolis Tribune. Approximately 9½ per cent of summer session students were in graduate and postgraduate work last summer.

It is obvious, then, that the re-mainder, and by far the greater number, are pursuing undergraduate courses, preparing for the teaching profession, to relieve the shortage that the Tribune mentions. There are a large number of regular students in MSTC who are finishing college on a self-accelerated schedule, attending summers to graduate in three years. These people are becoming ready to enter the profession earlier.

Also, many teachers who hold positions during the year regularly return during the summer to complete their BS degrees, a requirement which will soon be general all over the state for any teacher. Many of these people are financially unable to attend college during the regular school year. It is indeed beneficial to improve the standards of our teachers, and that is precisely what the summer schools in our teachers colleges are doing. They make it possible for teachers to remain on the job while they are needed, and still prepare themselves for the time when the BS degree will be required

Representative Senior

Torgerson Captains Basketball Team

· by Joanne Baugh Have you ever tried pulling a horse's tooth with an eye tweezer? Maybe not, but if you've ever tried to find Don Torgerson unoccupied for an hour, you'll know that it is almost as difficult a task.

Six foot two with eyes of blue and a head of red hair distinguishes Don, better known as "Red," from all other seniors. Red says that with student teaching this quarter he is kept quite busy, and that he spends his spare time in the industrial arts department.

Red has been active in athletics at MSTC from the time he started college as a freshman. He participated in basketball for four years and was captain in his senior year. He played baseball for two years and intramural football four years. He boasts that he played with the "Dawgs" who took the football intramural championship for the last four years. Along with these activities, Red is a member of the "M" Club and Iota Alpha, an industrial arts fraternity.

An experience Red labeled as the "world's worst" was the basketball trip to Michigan Tech this year. It seems that the team ran into a snow storm on the way home and "We had to push that big 'black banana' (referring to the school car) practically all the way back to Moorhead." Red's most exciting game was when the Dragons defeated Mankato 82-75 in an overtime thriller last winter.

Red is an industrial arts major and has a minor in physical education. He has signed for a teaching position at Sandstone, Minnesota, next fall. Student teaching was a pleasant task for Red and he says that he hopes he will enjoy teaching his own class as

Red is not the only Torgerson to attend MSTC. His brother, John, graduated from here last year and he has a sister, Helen, who is a freshman. Hancock, Minnesota, is his "old stamping grounds." During the summer he works there with his Dad as a carpenter. At the present time he works in the school cafeteria and has worked in the school laundry in the

Along with his plans for teaching in the future, Red will be getting married to Kay Swenson in August.

MiSTiC Mail Box Contains Strange Item

Dear Mr. Editor, Sir:
As a member of the student body of this institution, and a subscriber to this sheet, I feel it my right and my duty to offer my opinions and sug-gestions concerning a problem which faces this school.

All of us feel that MSTC surely should be rated among the Big Ten. But we do nothing to prove our ability to hold such a position of honor. We must start now to make this campus even better than the Ivy League schools.

We know that we have the best instructors and administrators available. We know that the beauty of our campus is unsurpassed. We also realize that we excell in every activity except intercollegiate shuffleboard.

There is but one thing lacking. We don't have a sufficient number of coke machines.

Yes, think of it. Only two coke machines on the whole campus which are readily available to all students. Now surely any reasoning red-blooded American man or woman can see the disastrous consequences in such an oversight.

Minnesota has coke machines, candy machines, ice cream machines, and milk machines in every corridor. We have only two coke machines.

I would suggest that the student commission carefully consider making every foot of wall space in our buildings immediately available for the use of vending machines. Then it will truly be said that MSTC is outstanding.

Sincerely,

C. Cola III

Moorhead Daily News Blasts Legislature

FROM THE MOORHEAD DAILY NEWS:

Once again Moorhead State Teachers College has come out on the short end of the stick.

In approving 1956-57 budgets for the five colleges, the Minnesota State Teachers College Board increased the Mankato college by $94,018 over the current school year. Mankato's $1,313,208 budget tops the five.

St. Cloud was raised $68,166 to $1,522,580. Winona was granted an additional $44,297 for a $589,416 total and Bemidji was hiked $33,218 to $572,568.

Moorhead's increase was the smallest, $13,688. Its budget is midway between the two largest and the two smallest - $699,946 for the coming school year.

The United Press reported that the increases are "geared to an enrollment increase of 15 per cent." It is obvious from the budget which college will get the smallest increase of enrollment, but that has been foretold for years by the Legislature's neglect of Moorhead.

During these years of neglect, Moorhead has not lacked the potential for a larger enrollment, for the city's growth alone has provided a substantial reservoir of young men and women reaching college age the last few years. Add to that the expanding area Moorhead is serving and it is obvious Moorhead State Teachers College has not obtained the percentage of students one would expect.

Meanwhile the supporters of Man-kato and St. Cloud were busy selling those colleges to the Legislature.

The University of Minnesota has become a giant in the nation, swallowing up Duluth Teachers College in the process. Here in Moorhead, Concordia College went to work on a vigorous expansion program. Through the state other church colleges did the same.

Meanwhile, Moorhead State Teachers College stood still in comparison to the money spent on the physical plants of other colleges and universit-

College enrollment is not something that booms overnight. It can be forecast far in the future, beginning with pre-school census-taking, kindergarten, and first grade enrollment. Through the years educators have learned what percentage of first graders will graduate from high school, and again what percentage will go on to earn a college diploma.

Tuesday's school bond election, which saw voters approve a 2½ million dollars bond issue to build more schools for Moorhead's mushrooming enrollment, ought to be proof enough that the Legislature no longer can pass Moorhead at appropriation time. The lawmakers must either begin expanding the college's facilities adequately without delay or abandon any pre-tense of properly serving this area with a teachers college.

Unfortunately, we cannot go to the polls to solve the college problem as directly as the high school and elementary schools building program. But we can and must demand that anyone we send to the 1957 Legislature fight for Moorhead State Teachers College as loyally and vigorously as other legislators do for Mankato, St. Cloud and the University. It is time for results, not excuses.

"Anyone interested or willing is urged to get in touch with us," said Homecoming chairman Dick Bennett yesterday. Volunteers for work on next fall's homecoming can volunteer for any specific committee or can leave their names with the co-chairmen, Bennett and Fran Berkley. If no specific duty is requested, the co-chairmen will assign volunteers to whatever committee needs additional members.

The committees for homecoming are dance decorations, punch and cookies, tickets, football field decorations, downtown decorations, coronation, queen, parade, posters, and Advertising posters will be completed this week, and football-shaped stickers for car windows and downtown business places are under production. Bennett said, "Not much can be done until we get the freshman organized next fall, but we must lay the foundation of the homecoming now. We need help from everyone on campus. It is a big job.

For the first time in a number of years the district 23 track meet will be held on the MSTC track this Friday afternoon. Moorhead high will be the favorite to grab the honors with Frank Torson leading the way.

In a track meet held at MS Tuesday afternoon Oak Grove won its fifth straight Minn-Dak Conference track meet as 8 new records were set. Two MSTC High athletes set five of the new records as Don Volker set new marks in the high jump, 100-yard dash, and the 220 yard dash. In the only other event he entered, Volker came within inches of tying his own, record in the broad jump. Gary Larson was the only other man to win more than one event as he set new, marks in the discus and the shotput.

Evidence that softball is gaining in popularity is noted by the fact that a new softball legaue was formed of towns on the northern side of Fargo-
