

A Dictionary

A Dictionary

Story

A Dictionary Story
Sam Winston

After

bouncing off the spine the first word to be hit was Lavender which went uncontrollably into Lavatory from a given point where I was coming into contact with a South American girl who was laughing and shouting at me rebound on the ceiling and I was so high in the air that I was almost out of sight to the floor and I was so dizzy that I could not see straight and I was so dizzy that I could not see straight

and I was so dizzy that I could not see straight

and I was so dizzy that I could not see straight

and I was so dizzy that I could not see straight

and I was so dizzy that I could not see straight

and I was so dizzy that I could not see straight

advance toward existence

contrary to expectation

done in exchange

carrying out

thing present

the woman

exhibit in action

direct the affairs or interests

in a direction

a violation

denote particular

one of it's kind

governing the conduct

specified thing

written or printed sheets bound together, in possession of session of

indicate uniqueness.

written or printed sheets bound together grasp in the mind

the one designated

in the event of

specified person

book containing words alphabetically arranged units conveying a quantum of information retain possession.

give completely different form something conveyed or signified ones previously mentioned

those ones

express desire

come to be

not worth reading

process of doing

express a possibility

slide involuntarily

inside of

an account of something

a material thing

indicate possibility.

discover.

ones identical with them

the same extent

an area with boundaries

together with

complete

spoken exchange of thoughts

a possibility

carried along by currents

enter the inside

speech made by one person

This is the first printing of A Dictionary Story in a book format and is produced in an edition of 100

This is book number A-10.

Story text set in 9 point Times Roman by Sam Winston.
Book designed by Richard Bonner-Morgan and Sam Winston.
Printed by David Holyday at Trichrom Limited onto 150gsm Storafine Soft White supplied by Fenner Paper Company.
Bound at Quality Art Reproductions, England.

The artist would like to thank Richard Bonner-Morgan and Bill Bragg

©2006 Sam Winston

Produced at Circle Press
26 St Lukes Mews
London W11 1DF
England

www.samwinston.com www.circlepress.com