

which marks our life

never letting us forget the reality of the moment