Colts Combine Youth And Age In Effort For Winning Formula

Editor Note: This is the seventh of 20 dispatches on the prospects of the 1964 major league baseball teams.
By LEO H. PETERSEN
UPI Sports Editor
COCOA, Fla., (AP) — The towly Houston Colts are combining two of baseball's oldest ingredients, youth and age, in the hope of coming up with a winning formula. They added experience in off-season deals in an attempt to help mature the youngsters who constitute the club's blueprint for the future.

So pleased is Manager Harry Craft with the acquisition of second baseman Nellie Fox, shortstop Eddie Kasko and pitcher Jim Owens that he honestly feels the Colts could finish as high as sixth in the coming National League race. If they do, it would be quite a feat for they finished eighth their first year in the league and ninth last year. "We still are going to have trouble scoring runs," Craft predicted, "but we aren't going to give away as many as we did last year. That's why I feel we have a good chance of finishing ahead of the Mets, Cubs and Pirates. The other six clubs will be tougher to beat, but I think we have a good shot at beating out one of them."

Will Need Help
Craft admits that both Fox, acquired after a brilliant stretch with the Chicago White Sox, and Kasko with the Cincinnati Reds will need rest. Fox 36, Kasko 32. Bob Lillis, whom Craft regards as one of the best utility infielders in the league, will be available to relieve them when they need rest. Rounding out the infield will be the veteran Pete Runnels, the former American League battering champion who had a disappointing 1963, at first base and Bob Aspromonte at third. That setup frees Don Notte the potential stars of the Colts, 20-year-old Rusty Staub, for duty in right field. Last year, Staub was tried and found wanting at first base. "But don't sell him short," warns Craft. "He's going to be one of our stars of tomorrow, just like Jim Wynn an outfielder who is 22 and John Bateman a 21-year-old catcher."

Staub will start the season in right field and Wynn in the key center field spot. They didn't supply much batting power last year, Staub hitting only 29 and Wynn 24. Left field is up for grabs with Al Spangler and Johnny Weekly the leading candidates. Big Walt Bond, who couldn't make it with the Cleveland Indians, might win an outfield utility spot, going to right if Staub should fall or take over for Runnels at first. Veteran Howie Gosch and rookie Jim Beauchamp are other outfield possibilities. Craft is really high on his young catcher, starting off with Bateman who hit only 211 last year, but occasionally rapped out a long ball. Behind him are three kids fighting for jobs—20-year-old Dave Adlesh, 21-year-old Gerry Grode and 20-year-old John Hoffman. Craft has three starting pitchers—right-handers Dick Farrell 14-13 last year, Ken Johnson 11-17 and Don Johnson 11-8. For his bullpen punch he has left-hander Hal Woodeshick 11-9 and right-hander Claude Raymond, a draftee who was 4-6 with Milwaukee last year. Hal Skippy Brown 5-11 and Bob Bruce 5-9 are other starting possibilities along with Owens, who was 0-2 with Cincinnati in 1963.

Pirates Willing To Forgive And Forget For New Season

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the sixth of 20 dispatches on the 1964 prospects of the major league baseball teams.

By LEO H. PETERSEN
UPI Sports Editor
FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates are perfectly willing to forgive and forget some of their newcomers for not coming through immediately and forget all about last year. Pittsburgh tumbled all the way to eighth place last season in the first year of its rebuilding program, only because a number of players counted upon to come through fell short of the mark. It was quite a comedown from the Pirate glory days of 1960 when they won the National League pennant and went on to take the World Series from the New York Yankees.

The Pirate fortunes ebbbed after that, so finally after the 1962 season, when Pittsburgh finished fourth below expectations in taking over for shortstop Dick Groat, who had an outstanding year for the St. Louis Cardinals, and rookie third baseman Bob Bailey was anything but the sensation he was touted to be when the Pirates let Don Hoak go to the Philadelphia Phillies. Others Fell Short
There were a number of others who didn't perform up to the standard anticipated for them. "But that's all over," insists Manager Danny Murtaugh. "This is a new season and we all realize we have a lot of catching up to do for last year. "And we're out to do it with the same players. We may not be good enough to rank in the contending class, but we are good enough to make amends for our 1963 showing." Murtaugh still thinks Bailey is a star of the future, that Clementson, if he can cut down on his strikeouts, will become a fine power hitter and that Schofield "will be a major league shortstop."

That takes care of three fourths of the Pirate infield. The other fourth is in very capable hands—second baseman Bill Mazeroski. Murtaugh will have in his outfield veterans Roberto Clement in right and Bill Virdon in center. In Willie Stargell, another 1963 disappointment in left. "Stargell is going to get every opportunity to be our regular left fielder and I think he will make it and hit from 25 to 25 home runs for us," Murtaugh contends. Te Others Also
But then he let the cat out of the bag — he said he also had candidates, Bailey, Gerry Grode and Gene Alley a shot at left field. Murtaugh admits catching could be a problem. He plans using the aging Smoky Burgess in "only one or two games a week" so we can have his big left handed bat on the bench. That leaves the No. 1 job open to another 1963 let-down, Jim Paganoni, part of the Red Sox payment for Stuart. Behind them, fighting for the third job, are Ron Strano, Orlando McFarlane and Elmo Frazier. It falls far short of being an all-star catching trio. Says Pitching Set

When it comes to pitching, Murtaugh's face lights up. "The only thing we might need," he said, emphasizing "might," is a left handed relief pitcher. "We have outstanding pitching depth," he claims. "A lot of things killed us last year but pitching wasn't one of them."

For starters there are left handers Bob Beale (5-2) and Joe Gibbon (3-12) and right handers Bob Friend (13-16), Don Cardwell (13-15) and Don Schwall (6-12). Little Roy Face (3-9), a righty and Al McBean (13-3) a lefty, head the bullpen corps. There are seven mighty good pitchers," Murtaugh claims. He isn't counting on the veteran right hander, Vern Law, who was 2-0 last season, but hasn't been effective since arm trouble caught up with him after winning 20 games in 1960. "I've never seen him throwing so well," says Murtaugh. "If he should come back — and mind you, we are not counting on it — he could be a big plus in our pitching."

So pitching may not be a problem. Power, defense and speed could be tough, so the Pirates may have to forgive and forget again.

Rifle Team Wins First Place In Saturday Meet

The Murray State College varsity rifle team fired a 2808 to take first place in the Memphis Outdoor Rifle Meet Saturday. Kenneth Heath was the winner of the individual match fired from a prone position and tied Bob Beard for third in total score with 568. Heath, however, had one more bullet-ve than Beard and was awarded third place. Beard took fourth. Captain James Perkins said that the team will fire in the National ROTC Intercollegiate Indoor Postal Rifle Match this week. The critereum placed eight out of the 52 teams in the Second Army Area postal match fired in February to qualify for the national meet.

CLARKSON HEADS FIELD

NEW YORK (AP) — Defending champion Clarkson will head a field of six for the fourth annual Holiday Hokey's tournament at Madison Square Garden Dec. 21-22. The other schools in the tournament, which has been expanded from four to six teams, are Brown, St. Lawrence, Northeastern, Cornell and 1963-64 ECAC champion Providence.

White Bass Make For Good Fishing

FRANKFORT, Ky. (Special) — Many of Kentucky's old-time fishermen believe that when the daffodils and dogwood trees are in full bloom, the white bass will be on the riffles at the peak of their spawning period. It is at this time that many anglers go to the headwaters of most major lakes to harvest these gallant silver fighters. Lake Herrington's headwaters, Dix River, is possibly the most famous white bass headquarters in Kentucky or even the nation. In past years fishermen, standing shoulder to shoulder, have caught limits of the whites in a very short period. Lake Cumberland's headwaters, as well as Dale Hollow's feeder streams, are now favorites for white bass runs as are several other major lakes tributaries.

Techniques used to catch these fish are as varied as Kentucky's weather. Some choose to cast artificial lures, such as small lead-headed jigs (best colors, either white or yellow) and most all small lures that resemble a flashing minnow will take these spawning game fish. These fishermen use casting, spinning or spin-casting equipment and flyrod artists use similar lures only lighter in weight. However, most fishermen choose to use large minnows (mainly the large pond type) on any of the above mentioned fishing equipment. The minnow is generally hooked through both lips with a medium size steel wire hook's head between the baited hook, some 18 inches. Then the live bait is cast across the current and by holding the tip of the rod up the minnow is carried downstream for a distance, then crosses the stream and is retrieved slowly.

Another method is with cork allowing the minnow to drift at given depths but fishing in the same manner. Equipment needed for white bass fishing during the run includes fish boots or waders a hunting coat for large storage compartments for lunch, rain gear. Even fish caught while wading may be placed in the hunting coat game compartments.

Dodgers And Yankees Not Doing So Well In The Grapefruit League Contests Thus Far

By JOE GERGEN
United Press International
Don't look now, baseball fans, but the cream of the citrus crop has turned sour. Both the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers and the New York Yankees, World Series opponents in 1963, have been something less than spectacular in their Grapefruit League contests this spring, and have settled to the bottom in their respective league standings.

The Dodgers took up position in the National League's Florida basement Wednesday by submitting to the Milwaukee Braves, 3-2, and the Yankees hovered only two notches above the cellar in the American League after dropping a 2-1 decision to the Cincinnati Reds.

It is that Sandy Koufax was mistreated for the second straight time. Koufax, the Dodgers' brilliant southpaw and hero of the World Series, was cuffed for three runs in three innings, as the Braves handed Los Angeles its fifth defeat in nine games.

Koufax Is Bombed
Milwaukee laced Koufax for six of its 13 hits, and young Braves' left-handed hurler Dan Schneider pitched hitless ball for the first three innings. Willie Davis collected three of the Dodgers' seven hits, including a double, and stole a base. The Yankees, who suddenly have developed into hitless wonders, finally scored a run after 23 straight innings against the Reds but Hal backed in the winning run with two out in the ninth inning. Reniff made the balk on a 3-2 count to Reds' catcher Johnny Edwards with Cesar Tovar, a rookie infielder, dancing off third base. Jim O'Toole and Bob Purkey set the Bombers down on just four hits. O'Toole hurled the first seven, allowing only a single by rival pitcher Al Downing. New York is now 4-8 in the Sunshine state.

Colts Drop Tigers
Lou Brock, Billy Williams, Ron Santo and Ernie Banks each collected three sacries as the Chicago Cubs clobbered the San Francisco Giants, 12-4. Orlando Cepeda led the Giant attack with a single, double and 420-foot home run.

Chevrolet will go to any length to make you happy

Things have changed a lot since a Chevy was only a Chevy. Especially your ideas of what you want a Chevy to be. So now you have the Jet-smooth Chevy—17½ feet of pure luxury, bumper to bumper. The size makes it a luxury car. But not the price. Or you can choose the thrifty Chevy II, a 15½-foot family car with all kinds of passenger and luggage space. This year, your choice might be the new 16-foot-plus Chevelle, sized to fit nicely between Chevy. rolet and Chevy II (and between parking meters, with five whole feet left over). Then, too, there's the sporty 15-foot Corvair, so right for so many people (you touched an inch of it. And finally, Corvette—still 14½ feet and still too much for any true sports-car lover to say no to. The long and short of it is, you don't have to go to any length to find exactly the kind of car you want. Just see the five different lines of cars at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Mrs. L. D. Cathey Hostess For Circle Meeting On Monday

The WMS Gladys McElrath Circle of Memorial Baptist Church met for a regular monthly meeting on Monday evening at 7:30 p.m. The meeting was held in the library of the church, with Mrs. L. D. Cathey as hostess.

Prior to the business session, tray cards were made for the local hospital, using materials furnished by the Community Missions Leader, Mrs. Clarence Boren.

The meeting was called to order by circle chairman, Mrs. V. N. Allbritton, who read the prayer calendar for the day. Prayer was led by Mrs. Claude Miller.

Mrs. Pearl Phillips, prayer chairman, stressed the importance of the coming revival.

The program entitled "I Must Act" was under the direction of Mrs. Larry Wilson. Others participating in the program were: Mesdames Mason Billington, Claude Miller, Verna Sanderson, Thyra Crawford, and Pearl Phillips.

A gift of linen was presented to Miss Sadie Farris, future bride-elect of Earl Waters, by members of the circle.

Refreshments were served, to the accompaniment of Mrs. Allbritton, Larry Wilson, Claude Miller, Mason Billington, Pearl Phillips, Clarence Boren, Thyra Crawford, Verna Sanderson, and Miss Sadie Nell Farris.

The closing prayer was led by Mrs. Larry Wilson.

Miss Gail Houston To Take Part In Sorority Ceremony

Dear Abby... You Struck Out, Honey

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am in the eighth grade and I like a boy in my home room. I called him up last night and told him that a girl friend of mine wanted his picture, but she was too bashful to ask him for it, so I was asking for her. He said he was sorry but he didn't have any more. Then I called him back and told him that the picture really wasn't for a girl friend, it was for me, and maybe he could dig one up. He said he didn't have any more and he wouldn't know where to dig one up from. Then I called him back again to ask him what page our history assignment started on, but this time his mother answered the phone and told me to quit bothering him. I feel terrible. Should I call him up and apologize for bothering him?

FEELS TERRIBLE

DEAR FEELS: No! This boy has your number. Forget his!

DEAR ABBY: I am not mentioning any names and, if you print this, please don't use mine, but what do you think of a husband who is not man enough to speak his own mind? He and his wife have worked out "signals" between them. When they are at a party and HE wants to go home, he either mops his brow with a handkerchief or crosses his legs, and then SHE suggests that it is late and they should be heading for home.

"ON TO THEM"

DEAR "ON": I think they're wonderful. I didn't know teamwork like that still existed.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my daughter. She is 29 so I can't tell her what to do, but she is still my daughter and I worry about her. Abby, she is five feet five, and I will be the first to admit she was overweight, but she is big-boned, like I am, and she never looked as heavy as she was. She weighed 255 last July. That's when she started going to this doctor who specializes

Brooks Cross Circle Has Meeting

The Brooks Cross Circle of the First Methodist Church met Tuesday evening in the chapel of the church. The program was in charge of Mrs. Donald Morehead, Mrs. Joe Nace and Mrs. William F. Jeffrey.

The program was entitled "The Cross and the Resurrection". At the conclusion of the program a recording of Handel's Messiah was played to the group.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Ken Wingert and Mrs. Roger Stanfield.

THE ORIGINAL of this settle table is in the historic Samuel Lincoln House in Hingham, Mass. The table, chairs and the wall shelf come in assemble-it-yourself furniture kits.

Homemade Antiques

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN
IF YOU'RE handy with a screwdriver and know how to apply stain, you can "make" your own antiques. It's easier than it sounds.

THINKS TO A New, England company that makes Colonial furniture kits.

Each kit contains hand-crafted and sanded wood pieces—plus all necessary glue, screws, hardware, sandpaper, stain and, most vital of all, detailed how-to instructions that tell how to assemble and finish the piece of furniture.

The idea is one that's catching on, because antique furniture is so popular and because by assembling-it-yourself you save money. Ready-made reproductions, for example, can run as much as 50 per cent higher in cost.

The kits include a variety of tables, chairs, benches, hutches, beds and shelves that are authentic down to the smallest design detail. Each is either a true copy of a museum original or a faithful reproduction of an outstanding piece in a private collection.

Lincoln Table
A sleigh seat that's a copy of one in the Metropolitan Museum of Art is also very versatile. Use it as a book, end or snack table or as a window seat or fireside bench.

For those who want to go really Colonial in their decorating, special curtain fabrics are available. These duplicate the textures and designs popular in old New England.

FOLLOWING INSTRUCTIONS, the top is fitted on the storage seat that serves as a base for the Lincoln table.

WHEN TOP'S raised, the table's turned into a seat.

The first step is yours—your gift to Easter Seals

Agriculture Important Part Of Communist Attention

By GAYLORD P. GODWIN
United Press International
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — An Agriculture Department study shows that despite emphasis given to industrialization in eastern European countries, agriculture continues to be an important sector in the economies of the Communist nations.

The department's Economic Research Service ERS said that in all but the two most industrialized countries—East Germany and Czechoslovakia—agriculture still accounts for one-fifth to one-third of the national income.

Again excepting East Germany and Czechoslovakia, farm products are important export commodities, accounting for one-fifth to one-half of total exports. Agricultural imports are of minor significance in the agriculturally dominated economies of Rumania and Bulgaria, but range upward of one-fifth of the total value of imports in the other countries. Farm products imports are especially important to the top industrialized Communist countries.

ERS said agriculture continues to be a serious problem in all the industry.

ERS said the second major goal is to complete the collectivization of agriculture. This involves the gradual liquidation of all private farming and the conversion of all farm workers into state employees. ERS says that even in Yugoslavia and Poland, where 85 to 90 per cent of the agricultural area is still farmed by individual farmers and more than 90 per cent of the livestock is privately owned, collectivization is a basic long-range goal.

Use Five Methods

ERS said the drive to complete collectivization of agriculture during recent years has been carried out by: 1, merger of collective farms into larger units or their conversion into state farms; 2, a preferential policy toward collective, and especially state farms, in the allocation of industrial resources to agriculture; 3, producer price differentials accorded farms in the socialist sector; 4, the imposition of more taxes on private farmers; and 5, the purchase or expropriation of privately owned land.

The ERS study showed that although the share of arable land in private farms and gardens in all eastern European countries except Yugoslavia and Poland is extremely limited, the share of privately owned livestock and the output and marketing of products from the private sector is much greater. ERS said that in the USSR, for example, where collectivization of agriculture is most complete, the private sector produces about one-third of gross agricultural output. This included almost half the total livestock products, more than half the total vegetable production and almost two-thirds of the total potato production.

ERS said foreign trade in east European countries is a government monopoly and reflects political objectives.

SOUTH BENTON NEWS

by Lavada Sirex

Just returned from the Benton Municipal Hospital where I went to visit friends who are patients there. The hospital is a thing of beauty and I am so proud of it. Mrs. Artie Turner is not any better. She can't have any visitors after her two serious heart attacks.

Mr. Will Norsworthy entered Western Baptist Hospital at Paducah Monday.

Bro. Junior Dotson delivered a wonderful sermon at church Sunday and Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Smith visited Mrs. Lavada Sirex Wednesday night.

Mrs. John Riley and Miss Bertie Riley spent Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Luther White.

If there is but one thing that I can do,

To make my fellow man his faith renew,
 Grant me the wisdom Lord that I may share

 With every troubled soul thy loving care;
 And send me strength to meet each earthly trial,
 And the willing to walk that second mile,
 But most of all I ask while I may live,
 That come what may Dear Lord let me forgive.
 As once my sins were all forgiven
 Upon that lonely Hill of Calvary.

Property Of Department Gets Jolts

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Property owned by the Kentucky Department of Highways got its share of jolts during 1963, according to Highway Commissioner Henry Ward.

Ward said the Highway Department's Division of Law collected 432 claims worth $41,392.89 last year from motorists or others who damaged property under the jurisdiction of the department.

Ward said the Highway Department sustained the bulk of damage for which the department received compensation last year. Other victims of wayward vehicles included guardrails, posts, fences, bridges, signs, state vehicles and equipment.

He pointed out that the Highway Department can collect property damage claims from individuals or firms only if they are at fault. "If neglect is not a factor or if responsibility cannot be placed directly," Ward said, "the Department repairs or replaces damaged property at its own expense."

If you say old adage you are doubling up on the meaning. In other words there is no such thing as a new adage.

A woman who makes a real effort to be pleasant is a joy to behold. And a woman who smiles becomes beautiful.

Any woman, no matter how lovely she might be, is not pretty when she frowns.

It is generally believed that if your wife wants to learn to drive, you should not stand in her way.

We've printed this before, but it is a timely item in this day and time when America is the target of many other nations. Here it is:

Suppose that in our imagination we could compress the total population of the world, more than 2.5 billion people, into one town of 1000 people.

In the imaginary town, there would be 60 Americans. The remainder of the town would be represented by 940 persons.

The 60 Americans would receive half the income of the entire town and own half the capital. The other 940 people would divide the other half.

The 60 Americans would have an average life expectancy of 70 years. The other 940, less than 40 years average.

The 60 Americans would have 15 times as many possessions per person as all the rest of the people.

The lowest income group among the 60 Americans would be much better off than the average of the rest of the town.

A seedy bum approached a lady on the street and asked: "Ma'am would you please give me 15 cents for a sandwich?" To which the lady replied: "Let me see the sandwich."

Busy fellow, Jim Garrison.

The new Kennedy halves are in town and are now in circulation. We understand so many of them will be made that it will not do much good to hoard them.

chairmen, and the committee chairmen. The president, Mrs. Lowry, extended congratulations to Mrs. John Perfino who won second in the district sewing contest. She also announced that Mrs. Zelma Carter had been nominated for "Mother of the Year of Kentucky," and about the death of Mrs. W. J. Chapliner, a former member of the Murray Club.

Preceding the luncheon the invocation was given by Mrs. Billy P. Thurman, second vice-president. Decorations for the luncheon were by the Music Department, Mrs. Russell Johnson, chairman, and the Home Department, Mrs. G. C. Ashcraft, chairman.

"... A TRADITION OF KINDNESS."

"As Americans, we have long been proud of our traditions of kindness and generosity toward our fellow man. Today, more than ever, it is our duty as a people to revitalize these traditions, and to reaffirm our willingness to uphold them. The American Red Cross is charged by Congress with the task of carrying out the merciful responsibilities of the American people. Within our own country, Red Cross touches the lives of millions of families every year, with its health and emergency welfare programs. Throughout the world, some 160 million people serve under the Red Cross banner. All of us, therefore, have a mutual responsibility, to our nation and to the world, to stand behind the Red Cross in its continuing mission of mercy. Let each of us now stand up and be counted. Let each of us contribute, in whatever way he can, to the current Red Cross appeal. The Red Cross depends on all of us."

part in instituting progress in the town. She placed her church first, and taught classes there. She personally supervised the nursery department, and helped in Vacation Bible Classes. She was a den mother of the Boy Scouts and supported the Girl Scouts, too. She saw the need of a new department of the Murray Woman's Club and with the aid of her close friends, organized the Delta Department of the Murray Woman's Club. She served as the first president. She also served as president of the Alpha Department.

She was one of the organizers of the Murray P. T. A. and served on various committees. She was a charter member of the Eastern Star here, and continues to be affiliated with the chapter.

She is considered an outstanding English and speech teacher, and our local superintendent, Fred Schultz, said her a compliment that reflects the opinion of those who have worked in school with her. "We feel fortunate that Murray High School had Mrs. Carter for a teacher," was Mr. Schultz's comment. Students in school were in agreement and stated that Mrs. Carter was the best English teacher they ever had.

Martha is a determined person, and is willing to work for a project provided it will mean better living for the community.

When the Murray Woman's Club raised the money to build a cabin in the city park for the Girl Scouts to use, she took her quota of blocks and collected contributions.

During World War II, she qualified as a Nurse's Aide and worked days and nights at the hospital and many times in private homes where she was called upon to help.

Martha could have sat at home and grieved for her son during the war. John Mack was a lieutenant in the U. S. Navy in the Korean War and assigned to the Toucan, a minesweeper, and swept mines from the waters off North Korea for two years. This harrowing experience is a dreadful memory. But she filled those days in service to those at home who needed the tender hand of a mother to minister to their ills.

Always giving more than is required of her, Martha accepted extra activities in her school teaching. She was a member of the Tri-H-Y club which meets at night weekly; she had slumber parties and other activities that require patience, kindness and understanding in association with thirty girls. They loved her.

She volunteered and accompanied a Senior class on a five-day trip to New Orleans, Louisiana and Biloxi, Mississippi. She gave receptions in her home to senior citizens and faculty the 18 years her husband was school superintendent. She always had as much fun as the guests.

She taught speech and debate after school and at night in addition to the regular eight hours teaching school. There was no extra pay for this. She taught in Sunday School, too, many years.

Children who needed decent clothes for church and school have been properly dressed by her generous heart. A dish of her delicious food was often the gift to a sick, bereaved neighbor or an acquaintance.

Martha was president of the local U. D. C. Chapter and served as secretary of the Kentucky Division of the U. D. C.

She became known state wide through her work with the Woodmen Circle. She served as state manager for several years and served as National Committeewoman 14 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter love their beautiful two-story stone home here. They spend their vacations at home redecorating when there is a need, and much time is spent at their cottage on the lake. Both love to fish and according to their reports, are quite successful in this sport.

Mrs. Carter has led a busy life-one of personal improvement, one of community service, and has given a son and daughter who are reflecting their mother's hand at their cradle.

It seems unique that the entire family, the parents, the son and daughter and the in-laws are unusually gifted people. Mrs. John Mack Carter is an accomplished musician and teacher and her little five year old daughter is reported to be unusually talented in music, studying under a piano artist, Jan and Lyn Reagan are excellent students in grade school here and are enrolled in dancing class and Girl Scouts.

Mrs. Carter is teaching English and speech in the Shelbyville School, so that she may be near Mr. Carter's work in Frankfort. She plans to retire in June. Then what? She is reading literature on the Peace Corps with intentions of giving service there when Mr. Carter retires and they can together travel to needed places.

Tuberculin Testing Is Outlined

A plan calling for extensive tuberculin testing of Kentucky's school children has been outlined by a committee of health and school authorities.

The program would be a joint effort of state and local health departments, the State Department of Education, the State Tuberculosis Hospital Commission, the Kentucky State Medical Association, the Kentucky Tuberculosis Association and the medical schools of the Universities of Louisville and Kentucky.

Purpose of the program, according to J. Ray Bryant, M.D., Louisville, who was elected chairman of the planning committee at its initial meeting, and who also is chairman of the TB committee of the state medical association, would be to:

- 1. Eliminate tuberculosis from the schools.
- 2. Find heretofore unknown cases of tuberculosis by interviewing "contacts" of students who have positive reactions to the tests.
- 3. Demonstrate the practicability of skin testing.

Members of the committee besides Bryant are: Donald L. Graves, M.D., Frenchburg, Vice-Chairman;

Thomas P. Summers, Kentucky Tuberculosis Association, secretary; and Harry M. Sparks, Superintendent of Public Instruction; M. Stuart Lauder, M.D., Director, Tuberculosis Control, Kentucky State Department of Health; Thornton Bryan, M.D., Cadiz; C. C. Howard, M.D., State TB Hospital Commission; Walter T. Hughs, Chief of Pediatrics, Louisville General Hospital;

The committee was called together by the Kentucky Tuberculosis Association as a further step in efforts aimed at the eradication of tuberculosis from Kentucky.

William H. Anderson, M.D., Director of the Pulmonary Center, University of Louisville School of Medicine; and Michael L. Furcious, M.D., Coordinator of the Martin County tuberculosis eradication project.

The program, patterned after similar ones in effect in Missouri, and Kansas, would involve awarding certificates to schools in which 95 to 100 per cent of all pupils and 100 per cent of all school personnel—including administrators, teachers, clerical help, janitors and bus drivers—were tuberculin tested. In addition, it would be necessary that all known "reactors" to tuberculin tests receive chest X-rays or other diagnostic work as deemed necessary.

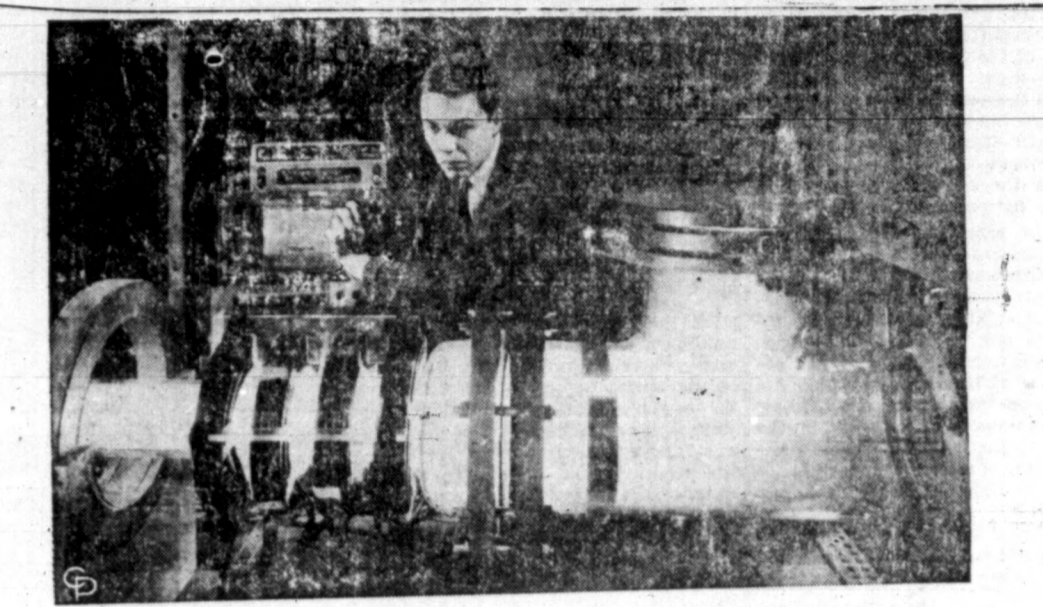

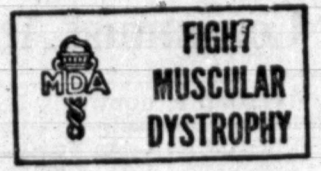

The tests would be given annually to first graders and all new pupils. Others would be tested every two years.

The testing would be done initially in counties where adequate facilities are available to make it feasible.

Plans also call for awarding Class B certificates to schools which achieve tuberculin testing of 85 to 95 per cent of pupils.

Plans also call for physicians and health departments. Dr. Bryant said. He added that this knowledge allows physicians to be alert for possible future breakdown with tuberculosis among their patients and permits preventative measures.

Members of the committee besides Bryant are: Donald L. Graves, M.D., Frenchburg, Vice-Chairman;

PLASMA ENGINE—It's a plasma engine, being operated by Raymond W. Palmer in NASA's Lewis Research Center Electromagnetic Propulsion Division, Cleveland. This is the engine that some day may propel man through space. A neutral plasma of electrons and ions is produced in the source at left, and moves to the right and is accelerated by a moving magnetic field (the four black coils). The acceleration produces thrust.

UNDERCOVER CAT

The FBI's Most Surprising Agent

By THE GORDONS

CHAPTER 15
PATTI RANDALL applied her make-up swiftly and expertly. She had told Greg Baxter she would come over to his house when she was ready for the date. Ingrid, she had said, would be having friends in and it might be awkward if she called for her. She couldn't have known accidentally discovering Zeke Kelso.

On her way out, she looked in on Zeke and D.C. Zeke smiled and rose quickly from the canteen chair.

"It won't get hurt, will he?" she asked. "I mean, if there's any shooting?"

Zeke sobered. "I promise you I won't let anything happen to him. We'll wait until he's out of the place before we move in."

He was sincere. No matter what he thought of the party in question, he would take every possible step to safeguard him. The Bureau would expect as less. An agent must never permit his personal feelings to influence him in his relationships with people, which he guessed included cats since all cat lovers took the cats part of view that they were people.

She experienced a warm glow. Just talking to Zeke Kelso was as comforting as stepping into the sun on a day when golden aspen leaves were falling. He was totally unlike Greg. He moved and talked slower, as if he had no place to go and was in no rush to get there. And still, he gave an impression of quiet determination and single-minded purpose that would carry him plodding over any mountain.

Dropping to the bed, she rubbed D.C.'s ears. He looked up at her with adoration, and twisted his head about so he could lick her wrist. This was his girl. He hadn't roared her as he had Ingrid and Mike, but he was just as fond of her.

When the others forgot, she remembered his dinner. And she was quieter. In times of stress he could climb into her lap and be assured of a haven where he could rest body and mind.

"I won't be home until about eleven," she said, "but Ingrid and Mike will be here, and if there's anything you want they'll take care of it. You'll find them very dependable."

He thanked her, and watched as her trim, sharply delineated figure glided out the door and turned left.

In the dining room she stopped before the mirror above the chest for one final check. She had had only one slice of meat for lunch, and some unburnt pear, which her Uncle Bob would have said were a great waste of pen potential. And she swore they showed in a neat

"Greg!" she screamed his name so loud that he stopped, startled. She said in a steady, controlled voice, "I did not get the FBI on you. I did not call you or did you not tell the FBI agent about last night, that your cat came over?"

She hadn't smiled in a quarter of a century and had no intention of shattering precedent. She said something that Patti didn't hear. Overhead there was the roar of sound chasing jets around.

"Greg!" she screamed his name so loud that he stopped, startled. She said in a steady, controlled voice, "I did not get the FBI on you. I did not call you or did you not tell the FBI agent about last night, that your cat came over?"

"I don't understand you, Patti. You've been in the FBI for years. I don't understand you. How do you expect me to know where D.C. has been and I told him, 'Look at you,' he yelled. 'You've got more water on you than the car. I'm not paying you to take a bath.'"

The other boy asked, "Is the FBI going to arrest D.C.?"

"I want to tell they would. But they wouldn't dare. The people wouldn't stand for it. Congress wouldn't, the President wouldn't—because cats can do no wrong. I don't know the FBI's handling, their publicity but they've got the best press anybody ever had in the history of mankind."

"Does growing up at FBI agents, housewives cast suspicious eyes on them, and boys hounded them...?" The comic situation continues here tomorrow.
