Circuit Court Underway At Court House

Calloway Circuit Court opened today for the September session with Circuit Judge Earl Osborne on the bench. Rev. Robert Cherry of the Episcopal Church gave the opening prayer of the session. Judge Osborne appointed the Grand Jury and the Petit Jury and set up the civil trial docket. The Petit Jury was dismissed until the first case is ready to be heard. A light term is expected for the current session. On the Grand Jury are H. L. Ford, Hugh Gingles, Harry Fenton, Mrs. Carlisle Cutchin, Billy Galloway, Mrs. Herman Darrell, Mrs. Buford Hurt, Urban L. Belcher, Dana McClure, Wyvan Morris, Ragan McDaniel, and Ocus Carroway. A light term is expected for the current session.

Action Night Planned For Tomorrow

Action Night of the Blood River Baptist Sunday School will be held at the First Missionary Baptist Church of Benton at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, September 12. Speaker for the occasion will be Bro. W. R. Whitlow, Pastor of Salem Baptist Church. Brothers George Stecker and Harold Lassiter will be on the program. Music will be presented by Rudolph Howard. Action Night is an inspirational meeting for Sunday School work comparable to N-Night for Training Union. These meetings are being held in associations throughout the Southern Baptist Convention. A filmstrip of the 1962 Sunday School theme, "Outreach for the Unreached—Spearhead for Advance," will be presented. Over 200 are expected to attend the Benton meeting according to T. A. Thacker, Association Sunday School Superintendent. Sunday School members and workers from the association's 43 churches are invited to attend. Nursery facilities will be provided.

Several Questioned On Dragging At The New Airport

About fifteen young people were apprehended yesterday on the Murray-Calloway County Airport and questioned. No charges have arisen as yet, however apparently a drag race was either going on or was about to go on. Names and license numbers were taken by police until a more complete evaluation of possible damage to the air strip can be made. Grading has been completed on the airstrip and any unduly rough driving will damage the surface. Shoulders of the strip also have been carefully prepared for paving.

Jack Kelley Receives Recognition In North Carolina

Jack Kelley, a native of Lynn Grove, was named "Tar-Heel of the Week" by a Raleigh, North Carolina newspaper and a long write-up and his picture appeared in the Sunday issue of the paper. The article cited Kelley, who is a specialist in charge of animal husbandry extension work for the state of North Carolina, for "planning, establishing, and executing a livestock program in a row-crop state." Through his program beef cattle, hogs and pigs, and sheep have been increased in North Carolina and farm receipts for all types of livestock and poultry rose from $160 million in 1950 to $315 million in 1960. Kelley's program is aimed at producing all of the meat needs of the state and at the same time utilizing much of the grain produced in the state in the livestock program itself. Kelley was born at Lynn Grove in 1908 and grew up on a livestock farm. He is the oldest of seven children and his grades were above average while at the same time he participated in basketball, 4-H work and the FFA. He attended Murray State College one year and received his B. S. at the University of Kentucky, working much of his way through college. He is married to the former Miss Anna Elizabeth Washer, daughter of Will Washer and the late Mrs. Washer. She is a sister of Merlin Washer of the Lynn Grove Road. Mrs. Kelley is a third grade teacher at Effie Green School in the Millbrook community and they live at 625 Woodburn Road in Raleigh. One part of Mr. Kelley's program is designed to reduce the dependence of the state's farmers on tobacco, currently the top money crop.

Drive Of Murray Civic Music Association Set In October

George Hart

The week of October 2 to 7 has been selected as the week for the annual membership drive by the Murray Civic Music Association, according to George Hart, president of the Board of Directors of the organization. The Murray Civic Music Association is entering its third season in Murray. The purpose of the organization is to make it possible for the people of Murray and the surrounding area to see and hear some of the greatest of music and musicians. During the first week in October and only during this week, membership in the association will be solicited. As a membership is purchased, the individual will be asked to vote for the type of music and musician he would like to see brought to Murray. At the end of the week, a talent committee will review the membership wishes and try to select the type of attraction most requested. Mr. Hart said that there are many advantages to be gained for Murray through this organization. Because of reciprocal agreements with Paris and Martin, Tennessee and Mayfield, Kentucky, any member of the Murray Association may attend any of their attractions on his own ticket without extra charge. In this way it would be possible for anyone to attend as many as twelve to fourteen concerts for the price of one membership. It will, therefore, enable the member to see and hear artists throughout the year at a cost no greater than a single Sycamore. ## Auto Workers Go On Strike

By ROBERT IRVIN
United Press International
DETROIT (UPI) — The United Auto Workers Union went on strike against General Motors today in the biggest automotive strike in history and it appeared the giant corporation's car operations would be shut down completely in short order. Within an hour after the strike officially began at 11 a. m. EDT, more than 175,000 of GM's 210,000 UAW workers had walked out of their jobs and most of the remainder were expected to join them. However, there appeared to be some confusion among UAW locals which had reached agreement on their plant-level contract differences before the strike deadline. Workers at some of these plants remained on the job while others went out despite the agreements. The UAW national leadership left it up to individual locals whether to strike or not. The International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE), also negotiating a new contract with GM, agreed at the last minute to extend its strike deadline to midnight Thursday. But still IUE workers at a plant in Warren, Ohio, joined the walkout.

Funeral Held For G. B. Nance Sunday

Funeral services were held yesterday at 2 o'clock at the North Park Baptist Church for G. B. Nance, age 72, of Cottage Grove. He died Saturday at the Fuller-Morgan Hospital in Mayfield. The rites were conducted by Bro. Billy Turner and Bro. A. D. Vaden. Burial was in the family cemetery. Mrs. Rob Gingles of Murray was a daughter and Purn Nance of Murray a brother. ## Arrest Is Made After Altercation

Two teenagers were arrested Saturday night after having an altercation at the old Paris-Murray bridge. Evidence indicated that they met at Finley's Drive-In and left from there to fight. One of the juveniles was placed in the detention room for five days and the other, the one allegedly attacked, was released.

PREPARE FOR "CARLA" — A workman boards up a store front on New Orleans' Canal Street as, despite lessening threat to the city, full-scale preparations against hurricane Carla continue along the Gulf coast. Oil companies have evacuated workers from rigs in the Gulf of Mexico and Red Cross and Civil Defense organizations as far inland as Houston, have been alerted as the storm veered north-west toward the Louisiana-Texas coast.

One Injured In Car Wreck

Sheriff Cohen, Stubblefield reported that a wreck occurred last night about 8:30 just south of Dunn's Store on the New Concord Road—Jimmy Hargrove, who was alone at the time, came out of the Pettowater Road going south on 121 and apparently failed to make the curve. The car ran into a field ripping up part of a fence, and overturned on him. Passersby rolled the car off of him and he was taken to the Murray hospital via ambulance. He was listed in satisfactory condition this morning. The car was damaged quite a lot in the accident.

Worst Hurricane Of Century Hits Land With Killer Tides

By PRESTON MCGRAW
United Press International
CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (UPI) — Hurricane Carla slammed full force into the Corpus Christi area today with winds as high as 173 miles an hour. Killer tides that flooded the Texas-Louisiana Gulf Coast began rising toward 25-foot levels. The storm, one of the worst in history, suddenly stopped its forward motion at a point 65 miles off Corpus Christi and the mid-Texas coast area braced for an hours long ordeal before the storm thunders inland to wreak more damage with wind and rain. Damage was extensive on the coast. Buildings and piers toppled and fell into the boiling sea, but Carla itself had caused no casualties directly, thanks to the record exodus of more than 300,000 residents from the two-state coastal region. The Red Cross said 80 persons were stranded on the upper floors of the U. S. National Bank Building in Galveston. Gusts of 135 miles an hour and 30- to 40-foot seas battered the Corpus Christi and Matagorda Bay areas. Winds approaching 90 miles an hour sent shoulder-deep floods into cities north along the coast to herald the arrival of the most powerful hurricane of the century off the Texas — Louisiana coastal region. The removal of more than 300,000 people inland in an historic exodus prevented casualties, but a hurricane-spawned tornado in Kaplan, La., killed a four-week-old baby and injured 37 persons, three of them seriously. About 80 homes were wrecked. Some estimates of what a Red Cross official called the "modern day exodus" placed the number of people who fled at close to half a million. But most authorities said there were 250,000 refugees in Texas and another 50,000 in Louisiana.

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (UPI) — Hurricane Carla slammed full force into the Corpus Christi area today with winds as high as 173 miles an hour. Killer tides that flooded the Texas-Louisiana Gulf Coast began rising toward 25-foot levels. The storm, one of the worst in history, suddenly stopped its forward motion at a point 65 miles off Corpus Christi and the mid-Texas coast area braced for an hours long ordeal before the storm thunders inland to wreak more damage with wind and rain. Damage was extensive on the coast. Buildings and piers toppled and fell into the boiling sea, but Carla itself had caused no casualties directly, thanks to the record exodus of more than 300,000 residents from the two-state coastal region. The Red Cross said 80 persons were stranded on the upper floors of the U. S. National Bank Building in Galveston. Gusts of 135 miles an hour and 30- to 40-foot seas battered the Corpus Christi and Matagorda Bay areas. Winds approaching 90 miles an hour sent shoulder-deep floods into cities north along the coast to herald the arrival of the most powerful hurricane of the century off the Texas — Louisiana coastal region. The removal of more than 300,000 people inland in an historic exodus prevented casualties, but a hurricane-spawned tornado in Kaplan, La., killed a four-week-old baby and injured 37 persons, three of them seriously. NEW YORK (UPI) — Fearless Fraley's facts and figures: The man-to-man odds now are even money on Roger Maris being able to break Babe Ruth's record of 60 home runs in a season and it's six to five that he does it in 162 games. The price is two to one against Mickey Mantle doing it in 154 games.

Maris, incidentally, says he has "a lot of new friends" since he went on home run spree. "But I think I'm a pretty good judge of people," he said. "I know the ones who will still be my friends when I'm not hitting."

A typical breakfast for Ernie Ladd, six-foot, nine-inch, 307-pound crook of the San Diego team in the American Football League consists of one dozen eggs, a pound of bacon, two slices of ham, eight pieces of toast, a half jar of jam and a gallon of milk.

"He has to be a good football player," dryly observed Coach Sid Gilman. "Otherwise, not even Baron Hilton could afford to feed him." They ought to sell tickets to watch him eat.

Deane Beman will be attempting to defend his U. S. Amateur golf championship in the upcoming event at Pebble Beach but there will be more cheers for a fellow named Charles Evans Jr. of Chicago. That's Chick Evans, who won the title in 1916 and 1920 and will be competing in the amateur for the 40th time.

Some things in sports just don't seem right. Like the backfield of the San Francisco 49ers of the National League. Their quarterback is John Brodie. But to fill out a quartet which includes J. D. Smith, R. C. Owens and C. R. Roberts you think they'd initial a guy like Y. A. Tittle.

The joint no reflection Stardust and Desert Inn hotels in Las Vegas are really golf happy. The Desert Inn puts on the 35th Tournament of Champions. Now, to open its new course, the Stardust will stage the Ladies National PGA tournament Oct. 12-15. So who wants to start at the bottom and work their way up anymore, anyhow?

Texans are going to take this hard, but Texas Ted Hard, Yale's All-Day League fullback candidate contends that Ivy League football compares favorably with that played in the Southwest Conference.

"The only real difference is depth," argues the 190-pound six-footer who spent a semester at SMU. "I'm convinced that Yale could play SMU on an even basis. The Ivy teams have players as talented as those in the Southwest, but just not as many of them. The difference is in numbers." That'll raise some gunsmoke, pardner.

Portland's Denny Moyer is a 6 to 5 favorite over Dullio Nunez of Puerto Rico for their televised middleweight bout next Saturday night, even though Nunez has beaten both Denny and his brother, Phil. One wonders whether the reason is that they're battling in Denny's home town.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The University of Southern California football team has selected Brett Williams, a 20-year-old senior from Walnut, Calif., to captain this year's squad. Williams is a 6-1, 212-pound guard who played 316 minutes last season.

Lucky Seven Magic Number That Will Put New York Yankees And Cincinnati Reds In Series

By FRED DOWN
United Press International

Lucky "seven" shapes up today as the magic number which will put the New York Yankees and the Cincinnati Reds in the 1961 World Series.

It's a cinch number for the Yankees because seven victories would mean the Detroit Tigers would have to win all 19 of their remaining games to tie for the American League pennant. And it's a pretty solid number for the Reds, too, because if they win seven of their last 13 games the Los Angeles Dodgers will have to take 14 of their final 19 to tie for the National League flag.

The theoretical count - down reached "seven" for both "front-runners" Sunday when the Yankees whipped the Cleveland Indians, 7-6 and 9-3, and the Reds downed the St. Louis Cardinals, 5-2. The Tigers dropped their ninth decision in 10 games when they bowed to the Boston-Red Sox, 8-7, and the Dodgers' latest losing streak mounted to three games when they lost to the San Francisco Giants, 7-1.

As a result, the Yankees ballooned their AL lead to 11 games with 18 to play and the Reds boosted their NL margin to four full games with 13 left on their schedule. The Yankees and Reds haven't met in a World Series since 1920 when the New Yorkers took four straight games.

The Los Angeles Angels beat the Chicago White Sox, 4-3, the Baltimore Orioles shamed the Washington Senators, 3-2, and the Minnesota Twins whipped the Kansas City A's, 7-0, after a 13-1 loss in other AL games, while the Milwaukee Braves edged out the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-3, and the Philadelphia Phillies battered the Chicago Cubs, 14-6, in other NL action.

The Yankees completed a home stand of 12 straight victories when Bob Cerv's pinch single delivered the winning run in the first game and Bud Daley breezed in the ninth with the help of Mickey Mantle's 53rd homer and Elston Howard's 19th of the season. Jim Coates won his 11th game for the Yankees in the opener.

Homer Breaks Tie
Wally Pate's three-run sixth-inning homer snapped a 2-2 tie and enabled the Reds to sweep a three-game series with the Cardinals behind the two-hit pitching of Bob Purkey, who won his 16th game. Purkey chipped in with two hits and Vada Pinson had three in the Reds' nine-hit attack. The Red Sox tagged 14-game winner Don Mossi for six runs and eight hits in the first two innings to deal the Tigers' fading.

The next regular meeting will be held Thursday, October 5, at the Lodge Hall.

173 mph...

water slashing through streets and around a huge Dow Chemical Co. plant.

Rattlesnakes and other reptiles became a menace, as they were when Hurricane Audrey smashed Cameron, La., in 1957, killing 500 persons. One policeman shot 40 snakes on the Galveston causeway.

The snakes, driven from swampy lairs by floods, added an element of horror to the grim battle to save property and life.

Fire was a threat as electrical systems short-circuited in floods and face staging deluges of rain. One restaurant at Seabrook, Tex., burned fiercely while firmen watched helplessly from a distance. The floodwaters around it were too deep to permit them to bring in their equipment. Both Texas City and Adalveston reported "small electrical fires."

At Port Lavaca, Tex., fishing piers went under and were wrenched apart by the tides and waves.

Alert Inland Areas

Weathermen warned that the storm, so vast and powerful that its dead "eye" at the center was 50 miles across, would plough onward across land for perhaps 100 miles. South and southeastern Texas braced for winds and rains up to 15 inches.

Officials feared million-dollar cotton and rice crop losses in addition to property damage which could not be immediately estimated.

One death was reported in a shelter at Orange, Texas, as a 37-year-old man was found dead on his pallet of a heart attack.

Emergency hospital facilities were shunted inland as far away as Dallas, 300 miles from the coast.

There were 435 shelters operating in Texas. The feeding task was monumental. Red Cross, Salvation Army, National Guard and U. S. armed forces teamed to rush food, blankets and medicines where needed.

The 50,000 refugees from the storm in Louisiana huddled in shelters dotted around Lake Charles and other inland areas, grimly receiving word of floods that raced inland, inundating such places as Cameron with waist-deep salt water.

Forecasters warned this "would be a long one." The storm was so big its winds and rains were expected to last longer than usual.

People in inland communities from the coast began filling tubs and other containers with fresh water for drinking and cooking.

Guild Train Will Take To The Rails To Show Off Handicraft

FRANKFORT — An unusual two-car-train will take to the rails in Kentucky this month as part of a large-scale program currently under way to revitalize Kentucky's tradition of fine handcrafted products.

The Guild Train, sponsored jointly by the Kentucky Guild of Artists and Craftsmen and the Kentucky Department of Economic Development, will contain a display of fine paintings and examples of Kentucky handcrafted products in one car. The other car will contain a complete workshop designed for teaching handicraft arts and demonstrating specialized techniques.

The train is to be dedicated Sept. 16 at Hazard by Gov. Bert Combs, with Lt. Gov. Wilson Wyatt and other State officials in attendance, as well as local officials and officers of the Guild.

Paul Hadley, director of the State's Division of Arts and Crafts and secretary of the Guild, said the primary purpose of the Guild Train is to stimulate interest and participation in the new Home Industries Program and to develop appreciation for the fine arts.

The Home Industries Program, sponsored jointly by the Department of Economic Development and the non-profit Guild, is designed to provide a source of income to Kentuckians in areas of the state where industrial and business opportunities are limited.

By providing assistance to crafts men in designing products and by providing technical training, financing, marketing and general supervision, the program will make it possible for handicrafters to use their skills profitably. At the same time the program will help preserve Kentucky's native handicraft traditions.

During its first year of operation the Guild Train is scheduled to visit communities in Eastern Kentucky along the Louisville & Nashville Railroad. It will remain in each community about a week, giving local residents and craftsmen an opportunity to inspect the displays and learn production techniques.

Following the Hazard visit, the train is scheduled to visit Jackson beginning Sept. 28; Whitesburg, Oct. 10; Beattyville, Oct. 20; Irvine-Ravenna, Nov. 2; Winchester, Nov. 14; and Lexington, Nov. 24. Other stops and dates will be announced later.

The L & N Railroad, which donated the two cars, will move the train from town to town without charge and will provide all mechanical maintenance. All the equipment installed in the cars has been donated by Kentucky business firms.

Contributions to the project now total more than $250,000, according to Hadley. John Dilthey, former director of Louisville's Junior Art Gallery, will be director of the Guild Train which has special living accommodations for his use.

Glamorize the Game

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

TRYING to think of a 55¢ party idea that will win you honors with card-playing friends?

Why not come up with something really exotic? What do we suggest? A Japanese card party, complete with decorations and refreshments that have Oriental charm.

Fan Tan

Make the fans for the night Fan Tan. Played by three to eight, using a regular 52-card pack, it's a building game like dominoes. The aim is to play all the dealt cards and win the chips in the pool.

Fan Tan Oriental decorations

String Japanese paper lanterns around the room. Arrange floor cushions around Fan Tan boards (card tables set flat on the floor with legs folded).

For a hostess gown, wear a kimono and, for an authentic touch, have guests remove shoes before entering!

Suitable Favors

Distribute fans as favors to women guests and make prizes Oriental, too — an incense burner, bamboo bird cage, Fan Tan boards (card tables set flat on the floor with legs folded).

For a hostess gown, wear a kimono and, for an authentic touch, have guests remove shoes before entering!

Booklet Of Ideas

Interested in the idea of exotic card parties? You'll find suggestions for 19 other nationality card parties in a new 23-page booklet "Around The World In 20 Card Games". Invitations, decorations, refreshments and a card game are suggested for each foreign theme.

If you'd like to know how to obtain "Around The World In 20 Card Games", send your inquiry and a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper for the name and address of the company from which they are available.

The Oriental recipes follow:

HOSTESS WEARS a kimono as she sets down a platter of almond cookies on table set with cards, chips for Fan Tan.

Sukiyaki: Cut 2 lbs. shoin, fillet or round steak across the grain into paper-thin slices.

Combine 1/2 c. soy sauce, 1/2 c. beef broth, 1/4 c. sherry, 1 tsp. sugar, 1/4 tsp. pepper and 1/2 tsp. monosodium glutamate.

Heat 4 tsp. oil in skillet; brown meat in it. Push meat to side of pan and pour 1/2 c. of the soy mixture over it.

Add 2 c. sliced onions, 1/2 c. sliced celery, 1 1/2 (8-oz.) cans bamboo shoots and 1/2 lb. mushrooms, sliced. Mix gently. Sauté 3 min.

Pour remaining soy mixture into pan. Add 1/2 lb. fresh spinach cut into 1-in. strips. Cook 3 min. Serve with rice. Serves 6 to 8.

Peach Mandarin Molds: Dissolve 1 pkg. peach gelatin in 1 c. boiling water. Stir in 1 c. cold water. Chill until slightly thickened.

Arrange 1/2 c. Mandarin orange segments, drained, in bottom of 6 individual molds. Pour thin layer of gelatin over oranges. Chill until gelatin is set.

Whip 1/2 c. heavy cream until stiff. Fold remaining thickened gelatin into cream. Spoon into molds. Chill until firm.

To serve, unmold directly on dessert plates or on pineapple or melon rings. For Oriental look, garnish each with tiny paper parasol. Serves 6.

South Pacific Almond Cookies: Sift together 1 c. sifted all-purpose flour, 1 tsp. baking powder and 1/2 tsp. salt.

Cream 1/2 c. corn oil margarine and 1/2 c. sugar until light and fluffy. Add 2 egg whites, 1/4 tsp. vanilla and 1/4 tsp. almond extract. Beat well. Add 1/2 c. shredded coconut, mix well.

Blend in sifted ingredients and mix until thoroughly blended.

Drop by teaspoonfuls onto greased baking sheets.

Top each cookie with 1 or 2 blanched almonds.

Bake in moderate oven, 375° F., for 12 min. Make about 38 cookies.

TINY PAPER PARASOLS deck Peach Mandarin Molds, an Oriental-type dessert made with flavorful peach gelatin.

Weathermen warned that the storm, so vast and powerful that its dead "eye" at the center was 50 miles across, would plough onward across land for perhaps 100 miles. South and southeastern Texas braced for winds and rains up to 15 inches.

Officials feared million-dollar cotton and rice crop losses in addition to property damage which could not be immediately estimated.

One death was reported in a shelter at Orange, Texas, as a 37-year-old man was found dead on his pallet of a heart attack.

Emergency hospital facilities were shunted inland as far away as Dallas, 300 miles from the coast.

There were 435 shelters operating in Texas. The feeding task was monumental. Red Cross, Salvation Army, National Guard and U. S. armed forces teamed to rush food, blankets and medicines where needed.
