Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

The Murray Rotary Club plans an annual affair involving a football team from the Missouri Valley Conference...

A delightful conversation with Mrs. Nathan Hodges...

Good to see Miss Gladys Scott up town yesterday. An unusual person whom we have admired for twenty years.

Here is an idea for any club in town and maybe every club. On April 28 Mrs. C. C. Lowery will be installed as president of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs...

This will be an honor, not only to Mrs. Lowery, but to the city of Murray and Calloway County as well. She will head about a half a million women over the state of Kentucky.

Millions of dollars being spent by private and governmental agencies to find out why smoking is injurious to the health, if it is and why it is.

Cigarettes have been called "coffin nails" as long as we can remember, so it does not take a great mind to determine if they are injurious. The extent of injury is of interest, and over how long a period injury occurs.

At any rate a tremendous industry's future is at stake, so these studies are good. Our program concerns itself with the suggestion that tobacco and smoking result in the release of compounds which can cause serious physical and psychological problems in the user, a spokesman said. "As yet, no one has identified, positively, the compounds that may be concerned."

Reached here last night than it did all of March.

Sergeant James Brown and a crew went over to the Cumberland River where the drifting timbered coon, rabbits and several coons on the island and brought them out and released them.

Several Swamp Rabbits were in the bunch and these were released in the Refuge Area. We understand Swamp Rabbits are getting scarce. They have huge ears and overcast back legs.

As the waters of the Cumberland gradually rose behind Barkley Dam, the wildlife sought higher ground. Sergeant Brown said another party went to this same island and took off about the same number of animals.

The island of about 20 acres could support some life, but no where near the amount of wildlife that is on it.

The rabbits were taken off the island and released here and yonder for conservation purposes. Jim says they ran the rabbits down, caught them in dip nets, picked them out of the water etc.

Says the hill grown grizzly coon gave them some trouble. Caught him alive and turned him loose.

ANGUS ARE SOLD Nelson Key, Murray, recently sold three registered Angus cows to Tulus McDougal, Murray, and a registered Angus cow to McDougal and Downs. In another transaction Jack Dodd and Sons sold an Aberdeen-Angus bull to Stanley Hall of Murray.

Fatal Burning Is Still A Mystery

EVARTS, Ky. 579 — Circumstances leading to the fatal burning of a man found crawling along Bailey Creek Road near here Tuesday remained a mystery today. Authorities hoped rain would subside enough to permit a thorough search of the area and that the results of an autopsy today would help explain the death.

The man was rushed to a Harlan hospital but died before his arrival. Authorities said there were no signs of a fire anywhere in the immediate area.

Traffic Court Is Postponed Last Night

The regular traffic court conducted each Tuesday evening by City Judge William H. (Jake) Dunn was postponed last night as Judge Dunn was in Frankfort for a special meeting.

Chief of Police Brent Manning, County Judge Hall McCutcheon, and County Attorney Robert O. Miller are also attending the meeting with Judge Dunn. The men left Murray Tuesday at one p.m. for Frankfort and plan to return home today.

Prospective GOP Candidate Urges Accent On 1966 Races

By JOHN T. KADY United Press International LOUISVILLE, Ky. 579 — Jefferson County Judge Marlow Cook (R-Kentucky) urged today that gubernatorial races be the focus of the 1966 congressional campaign.

Cook is considered a top prospect for the 1967 Republican gubernatorial nomination, but added that he doesn't even want to consider it until the 1966 election is over.

"I think we can best evaluate 1967 after the results are in on the congressional races in 1966," he said.

Cook said now is the time for the state and local Republican organizations to spend their energies on the 1966 campaign.

"We can take up the challenges of the state races after that," Cook said.

He added that he felt the Republicans "will certainly pick up seats in the third and fourth districts."

Former Louisville Mayor William O. Cowger is the leading Republican candidate in the newly aligned 3rd Congressional District which consists of the cities of Louisville and Shively.

The leading contenders in the new 4th District, which consists of Jefferson County north along the Ohio River, are distillery executive James Thompson and former Congressman M. Gene Snyder.

State Rep. Norbert Burns, D-Louisville, is the leading Democratic candidate in the 3rd District while 11 Democrats are seeking the nomination in the 4th.

It's no secret that Cook would like to see Snyder, a conservative, get beat with the nomination going to Thompson.

Ruth Riley Is Champion In Spelling Bee

The grand champion of the Calloway County Spelling Bee is Miss Ruth Ann Riley, an eighth grade student at Kirksey Elementary School. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Riley of Kirksey and won both the eighth grade and grand championship in the contest Saturday.

Miss Riley received an award of $25 and the right to represent Calloway County in the Mid-South Contest in Memphis. Winner of the Mid-South will receive many prizes and will attend the National Spelling Bee in Washington, D. C. Miss Ann Bettle, Murray High School, was the winner of the seventh grade competition, and Miss Kathy Hopkins, Kirksey Elementary, was the sixth grade champion. Both girls received $10 awards.

Leon Grogan, director of pupil personnel for Calloway County, was the supervisor for the contest.

The entrants included: Carol Watkins, Barbara Brittain and Glenda Kelly of Alamo; Kathy Kirksey, Danny Herndon, and Sharon Underwood of Hasiel; Phyllis Beach, Ricky Harris and Kathy Lovett of Paxton; Kathy Hopkins, Alan Adams and Ruth Ann Riley of Kirksey; Kenneth Lark, Phyllis Rogers and Sharon Wyatt of Lynn Grove; Eva Williams and Kathy Subbitt of New Concord; Ann Bettle and Kim Bettle of Murray High School; Kimmie Black of Austin; Linda Camp of Robertson; Ronnie Dunn of Oarville, and Carolyn Simms and Christie Sims of Douglas.

Dr. Donald Neville Will Be Speaker Here On April 19

Dr. Donald Neville, Child Study Center at George Peabody College at Nashville, Tennessee, will be guest speaker at the April 19 dinner meeting of the International Reading Association. Dr. Neville will be discussing "Comprehension, A Neglected Subject."

The meeting will begin with dinner at 6 p.m. at the Student Union Building on the campus of Murray State University. The meeting is open to the public. Joe Maynard Is Hired As EOC Director

Joe Maynard of Paducah was hired as director of the Purchase Area Economic Opportunity Council at the meeting held at Mayfield Monday. He was formerly director of the Paducah Office of Economic Opportunity.

Maynard, who will be paid $13,200 a year, and his staff were hired for a three month period.

The Purchase Area EOC approved a motion by Murray Mayor Holmes Ellis that calls for a review of the staff and its accomplishments in three months.

The board agreed to the placement of headquarters for the four-county organization at the West Kentucky Vocational School in Paducah. The four county group will be in charge of all poverty funds allocated from Washington to the four counties. Each county, however, will have an advisory council.

Dr. Ray Moffett, Murray, chairman, H. C. McWhorter, vice-chairman, Judge Paul Howard, treasurer, and Maynard have been authorized to sign checks.

Several committees were appointed including those concerned with health, education, welfare, youth, agriculture, housing, and other interested persons of the Elm Grove Baptist Church.

The church minister, Rev. W. A. Farmer, said Dr. Benton is the interim pastor for the First Baptist Church at Paducah and was the former vice-president of Union University, Jackson, Tenn.

All interested persons of the church are invited to attend.

Dr. Tessenier Is Paducah Speaker

Dr. Ralph Tessenier, dean of the graduate school at Murray State University, will be speaker at the dinner meeting held at the Irvin Cobb Hotel for the Nobles of the Paducah Shrine.

Speaking on "Keys To Happiness," Dr. Tessenier described six keys by which an individual may achieve happiness.

Track Meet Here Is Cancelled

The track meet scheduled between Murray State University and Wisconsin, Big Ten Conference champion, has been cancelled, according to Bill Ferguson, track coach at Murray.

No One Hurt In Accident On Tuesday

A two car accident was investigated by the Murray Police Department Tuesday at 1:10 p.m. at 18th and Main Streets.

Ellis J. DeWesse of Clinton Route Four, driving a 1966 Pontiac two door hardtop owned by King Motor Company of Fulton, was going south on 18th Street and pulled into the side of the 1960 Chevrolet pickup truck owned by Rudolph Geurin but driven by Jackie Geurin of Murray Route Three that was going east on Main Street, according to the police report filed by Patrolmen Max Morris and Martin Wells.

The Geurin car was damaged on the left side and the DeWesse car was damaged on the right side, according to the police report.

No citations were issued by the Police Department on Tuesday, but a red bicycle has been found and is now at the Police Station awaiting identification by the owner, according to Charlie Mann, radio operator for the City Hall.

Sneak Attack Is Made On US Air Base In Vietnam

By BRUCE MILLER United Press International

SAIGON 579 — Communist guerrillas staged a sneak artillery attack on the largest U. S. air base in Viet Nam today killing eight persons wounding 128 and causing millions in damage to a fleet of warplanes. Seven of the dead and 100 of the wounded were Americans.

An estimated 30 Viet Cong crept to the edge of the sprawling Tan Son Nhut air base and fired recoilless rifles and mortars for 15 minutes at its storage facilities, 15,000 sleeping warriors and rows of airplanes.

Thousands of persons in Saigon watched from rooftops as flames, tracers and flaming aviation fuel lit the night sky. The guerrillas damaged 35 airplanes before armed helicopters of a U. S. reaction force drove them away.

Caught Guerrillas U. S. and South Vietnamese troops who pursued the fleeing guerrillas reported several hours later they caught up with them about three miles southwest of Saigon and killed two in a brief fire fight. But the others got away.

The airport, which serves both military and civilian traffic for Saigon, is only three miles from the city center. With takeoffs and landings once every 30 seconds, it is considered the world's busiest. Most of the casualties were from the 90th Replacement Depot — a transient center where virtually all U. S. servicemen arriving or leaving Viet Nam pass through. About 300 were reported sleeping in the replacement depot's tent city when the pre-dawn attack was launched.

"We hit the ground and went under our burles," said Spc. 4 Logan Johnson of Sumner, Ind. "The barrage lasted about 15 minutes. I ran barefoot from the barracks to a sandbagged area for protection. There were about 300 of us trying to get secure."

Tours Area Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U. S. forces in Viet Nam, toured the littered flight line just hours after the attack. The base remained on "red alert" throughout the day and Vietnamese civilians working there were banded back.

"It is impractical to conceive of an outright defense against attacks of this nature," Westmoreland told newsmen. "But we learn lessons every time there is an attack like this and we put this knowledge to work."

"There were a few planes destroyed but very few. The rest were damaged, but they are repairable and work has already begun to get them flying again."

"Our casualties were regrettable but they could have been worse. In my judgment the Viet Cong fell short—considerably short—of their objective."

Full Program Is Planned For National Library Week Here

National Library Week will be observed, the entire week of April 17-23 at the Murray-Calloway County Library. Activities have been planned to interest all ages.

Although reading is encouraged throughout the year, this is the week set aside to stress the importance of using the facilities your library has to offer. Following is the schedule of activities offered through National Library Week.

Monday, April 18 from 3:30-4:30 a.m. — "Girls Party Manners Review." This will interest girls from the first to sixth grades and will include all phases of little girl etiquette. Mrs. Chastie Parker and Mrs. Cecelia Crawford will have charge of the program.

Tuesday, April 19 from 10:00-11:00 a.m. — "Coffee Hour Book Review." This will be another popular hour for young people under the direction of Dr. Clyde Paries of Murray State University. Mrs. Ogle Deason, a professional folk singer, and other musicians will be present.

Wednesday, April 20 from 10:00-11:00 a.m. — "Animal Party." This will be for pre-school age children. Mrs. Ogle Deason will be in charge of this hour. Masks will be given each child representing an animal and stories and music will be in keeping with this theme.

Wednesday, April 20 at 1:00 p.m. DRUGGEST CONVICTED

TRENTON, Tenn. 579 — Druggist G. D. Cain faces a one-year prison sentence today after pleading guilty to charges of obtaining welfare department money under false pretenses.

Circuit Court Judge Richard Jermain gave Cain the sentence Tuesday, and also ordered him to pay back $5,000 to the department.

Cain was charged with entering false statements to the department concerning the amount of drugs he had given welfare cases. He was to have received full payment for such drugs.

Over 3600 Acres Placed In Refuge

More than 3,600 acres of Stewart County land and water have been quilled the State of Tennessee for use as a wildlife management area.

Col. Jesse L. Fishback, Nashville District engineer, said the Corps of Engineers has approved the use of the area on government owned lands within the Tennessee portion of the Barkley Dam and Lake Barkley Project.

Under a proposal by the State Game and Fish Commission's watershed management plan, the grant consists of 197 tracts acquired for the newest Corps project on the Cumberland River.

Terms of the agreement call for Game and Fish development of the area for an initial 25-year period. This arrangement is in accordance with the overall plan for development of the project reservoir for public use and recreation.

Located just a few miles upstream from the mouth of the Cumberland, Barkley Dam impounds lake extending 118 miles to Chestnut Lock and Dam, near Ashland City.

THAT'S USING THE OLD NOGGIN — Getting to school in uniform is no problem now for Joel Grover, drum major at Montgomery, Ala., high school. With the top of his small car rolled back, Joel is obviously using his head for something besides supporting that towering shako of his.

PARIS—Mrs. Kathryn Bruce, a spokesman for the American Legion, commenting on French refusal to permit Paris ceremonies this year in honor of Americans killed liberating the city in 1944: "We just can't understand the French government would be so petty."

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Father Anthony Girandola, a Roman Catholic priest who married and issued a call for others who have been excommunicated to attend a Mass Sunday: "I call them my fellow lepers, and want to tell them that perhaps they have violated the man-made laws of the church but they haven't broken the divine laws."

DETROIT — Former Detroit Mayor Louis C. Miriani, indicted on charges of income tax evasion, comparing his case to that of former Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois, who was acquitted: "I am deeply shocked to see that the government is putting me to the same ordeal."

WASHINGTON — Thomas F. Budd of Oakland, Ore., in a Supreme Court petition challenging the right of authorities to jail chronic alcoholics: "Year after year these people are marched as dumb brutes from gutter to paddy wagon to drunk tank to mass trial to short, useless jail sentences and then to release to the bleak hopelessness of the gutter again. The public authorities pursue them relentlessly as once they pursued witches and the insane."

BUSINESS HIGHLIGHTS

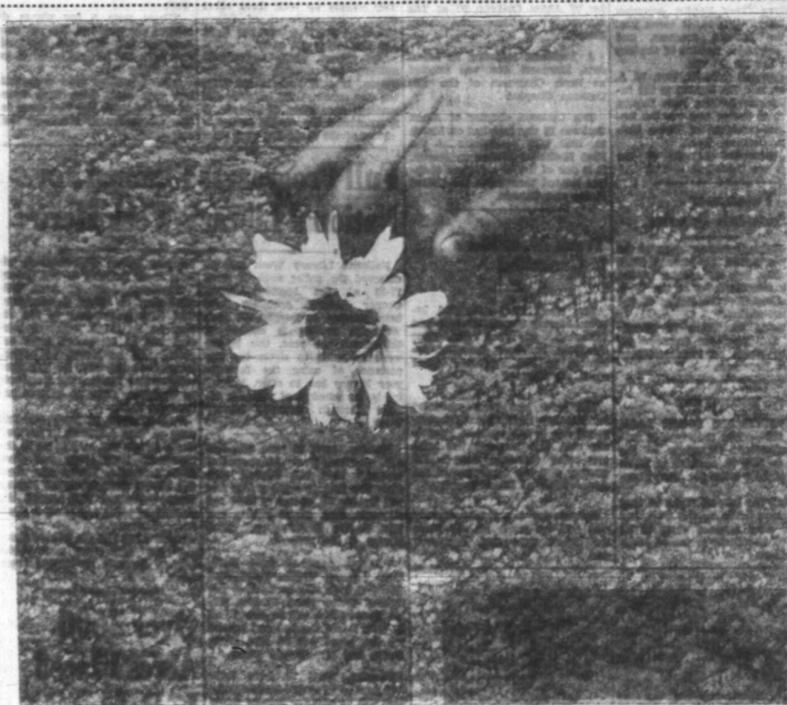

By United Press International
WASHINGTON 9P — The Federal Housing Administration and the Veterans Administration raised the maximum interest rate on new home mortgages to 5 1/2 per cent from 5 per cent. The boosts were aimed at maintaining a market for floating rate mortgages. Meanwhile, the Federal National Mortgage Association planned to cut its price for buying older mortgages.

WASHINGTON — Interior Secretary Stuart Udall announced that Western Energy Supply, a group of seven power companies, will build a $500 million 1.5 million kilowatt power system in Nevada and New Mexico to serve the Los Angeles and El Paso markets.

NEW YORK — The trustee for the bankrupt TWA Hays & Co. filed a $40 million damage suit in federal court against the New York Produce Exchange and seven other defendants growing out of the 1959 New Jersey oil scandal. The suit accuses the exchange of illegal carelessness that cost $12 million in margins and asks return of that sum plus triple penalty damages.

LONDON 9P — Israeli restaurateur and "pease piper" Abie Nathan may take his own peace mission to Moscow if he can't get a visa to enter the Soviet Union. Nathan said Tuesday that he had applied for the Russian visa in London and might go to Moscow following his upcoming trip to Paris, where he intends to try to see President Charles de Gaulle.

UNREST HOLDS TROOPS

SEOUL 9P — Continued South Vietnamese political unrest may lead the South Korean government to postpone the dispatch of 20,000 combat troops to South Vietnam, it was disclosed Tuesday. The influential South Korean newspaper Donga Ilbo quoted sources saying that South Korean foreign minister Lee Teu-won suggested the postponement to U. S. Ambassador Winthrop G. Brown. The troops, which had been promised to fight the Viet Cong, would be withheld until political stability is restored to South Vietnam.

Atlanta's Opener Is Spoiled

By CURT BLOCK
UPI Sports Writer

Poetic justice is a myth. If such a thing existed, it would surely have ended the tale of the spunky Braves with an opening day victory in Atlanta.

But a 18 inning, iron man stint by right-hander Tony Cloninger, a five home run performance by pitcher Joe Torre and a record crowd of 50,671 did not save the Pittsburgh Pirates from a 3-2 victory on Willie Stargell's two-run homer in the top of the 13th Tuesday night to spoil Atlanta's major league debut.

In other National League action, the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers squeezed past Houston 3-2 and San Francisco ruined Leo Durocher's return to big league coaching with a 2-1 drubbing of the Chicago Cubs. Philadelphia was rained out at St. Louis and the New York Mets suffered a similar fate at Cincinnati.

All Action

Baltimore nipped Boston 5-4 in 13 innings; Detroit beat New York 2-1; Chicago edged California 3-2 and Minnesota topped Kansas City 2-1 in the only American League game. Cleveland and Washington were idle after opening the 1966 season Monday.

The Braves had been cheered by upwards of 200,000 Atlantans during a midday motorcade that drove the players through the city streets and the simultaneous welcome continued at opening new Atlanta Stadium until Stargell put an end to the festivities with a smash over the right field fence that followed a base single by Mazyk Abo and a force play that left Roberto Clemente on base.

"That crowd was a beautiful sight," beamed Atlanta pilot Bobby Bragan, who suffered through a season of empty seats at Milwaukee last year.

"It didn't sound well hit," Bragan said of the game winning home. "I didn't think it would carry." Neither did the man who hit it.

Misjudged Swing

Small solace for Cloninger, the major league's winnigest right handed pitcher in 1965 with 24 victories, who fanned 12 Pirates Tuesday night.

All the game's runs came as a result of homers. Torre's fifth inning blast was matched by Jim Fregal in the eighth. However, Torre's second blast, in the last half of the 13th, left the Braves one short.

It was quite a bit different at Dodger Stadium where Ron Palouk drove in all three Los Angeles runs and the Dodgers successfully opened defense of their championship without benefit of an extra base hit.

Southpaw Claude Osteen, who inherited the opening day assignment via the celebrated Koufax-Drysdale holdout incident, scattered six Houston singles while going the route.

Typical Score

The winner's second run was scored in typical Dodger fashion. Wes Parker drew a sixth inning walk from losing pitcher Robin Roberts, who made his 1966 season opening appearance. He moved to second on a sacrifice, went to third on a passed ball and came home on Palouk's sacrifice fly. Palouk's eighth inning hit off reliever Frank Cunniff scored Mazyk Wills with what proved to be the winning run.

The Giants had a 6-0 lead before the Cubs over got a man on base, which took some time. Willie Maye highlighted a six run San Francisco rally in the fourth inning when he socked his 500th career home run, leaving him six short of establishing a new National League mark.

Juan Marichal had the Cubs handicapped from the start. The high-kicking righty retired the first 18 batters he faced, a streak that ended when first baseman Willie McCovey booted a ground ball. Still, he was never in serious trouble and gave up only three hits.

Golden Mouse Does Exist

NEW YORK CITY - A naturalist's 40-year search for a mouse—a golden mouse—which spends most of its lifetime in trees is chronicled in the March-April issue of Audubon Magazine.

Unlike the fabled golden fleece, or the goose which lays the golden egg, the golden mouse does exist. But this relative of the familiar white-footed mouse, or deer mouse, of our fields and forests is no less elusive.

"It seemed a fabled animal, more mythical than real," author John K. Terres writes in Audubon. A tiny creature of shimmering golden fur, it was said to have pink, handlike feet that stopped the vines and leaves of moonlit Southern woodlands, where it scampered about in the night like a miniature squirrel, seldom descending to the earth."

John James Audubon and a fellow pioneer naturalist, John Bushman, had found golden mice in an oak forest near Charleston, S. C., in 1841. They were the first to describe "the orange-colored mouse" to science. But little was known about its habits for another century, until a Kentucky mammalogist made a three-year study of the tiny creature, whose nests he found in thickets from a few inches to 16 feet above the ground.

Only one other mouse, the long-tailed tree mouse of the Pacific Coast, has similar tree-dwelling habits, Terres writes. The golden mouse, it was discovered, builds two nests—one for shelter and one for rearing its young, the latter usually found in the protection of tangles of thorny greenbrier.

Terres personally searched for his first golden mouse from the 1920's until 1964. His engaging tale of the life of an unusual mammal is illustrated in full color in Audubon.

Pair Paying Off For The Orioles

By JOE GERGEN
UPI Sports Writer

The investment firm of Robinson and Robinson already has declared the first dividend in Baltimore-American League pennant stock.

Frank, the junior partner, joined Brooks on the Orioles' roster this season after 10 years with the Cincinnati Reds and the pair immediately laid claim to the title as the most fearsome batting combination in the A. L.

"They substantiated their claim Tuesday in their opening game of the season against the Boston Red Sox. B. Robinson homered, hit safely three times and drove in three runs and F. Robinson homered, added two hits and drove in one to lead the Birds to a 5-4, 13-inning victory over the Sox.

Orioles Are Favored

The acquisition of Frank stamped Baltimore as the pre-season favorite for the junior circuit flag and the investment for which the Orioles traded a blue chip pitcher in Milt Pappas as well as Jack Baldwin and Dick Simpson, has proved the soundness of the young season.

Frank enjoyed a tremendous spring with eight homers and gave an inspirational lift to the club which had finished a distant third last season.

"It's just that he's here," noted outfielder Curt Bleafay, himself a slagger of some repute. "He has picked up the club with his presence. We're not going to settle for second or third and he's the guy who's going to do it."

The Orioles were joined in the winter's circle in opening day activity by defending champion Minnesota, Detroit and Chicago. The Twins edged the Kansas City Athletics 2-1; the Tigers clipped the Yankees by the same score, and the White Sox outlasted the California Angels 3-2 in 14 innings. Washington and Cleveland were not scheduled.

ML Action

The world champion Los Angeles Dodgers defeated Houston 3-1, San Francisco obliterated Chicago 9-4 to mark Leo Durocher's debut as Cubs' pilot and the Pittsburgh Pirates ruined the Braves' debut in Atlanta with a 3-2 triumph in 13 innings in National League activity. Philadelphia at St. Louis and New York at Cincinnati each was postponed by rain, the latter for the second consecutive day.

Brooks began the Robinson assault in the very first inning when he cranked a home run off Boston starter Earl Wilson with Frank aboard. Frank drove one out in the fifth and, after the Sox had taken a 4-3 lead, Brooks sent the game into overtime with a bases-loaded, two-out single in the ninth.

Boston reliever Jim Lonborg was directly responsible for the winning run as he balked across Bob Johnson with two out in the 13th. Stu Miller, the perfect Baltimore relief specialist, blanked the Red Sox on one hit over the last four innings to gain credit for the victory.

Wilds Hot Bat

Stacy Valdespino singled home a pair of runs, including the winning run in the ninth, in Minnesota's victory. Jim Muecke Grant, a 21-game winner in 1965, went the distance, allowing only six hits, despite the fact that he was a hold-out and reported late for training.

Norm Chaff's line single in the ninth of Winley Ford scored Don Wertz with the winning run for Detroit before 40,000, the largest opening day crowd in 13 years at Yankee Stadium. Wertz's long single left in the sixth had accounted for the Tigers' first tally and deadlocked the score after Joe Pepton had homered for New York in the fifth. Mickey Lolich, who fanned 10, went all the way for the victory.

The Chicago and Angels battled four hours and 23 minutes on even terms before Tommy McCraw bounced an infield single in the 14th inning with the bases full. McCraw, who had three hits, was on base in the seventh when rookie Tommy Agee homered to tie the game at 2-2. Juan Pizarro, the fifth Chicago hurler, gained the win and George Brunet took the loss.

North Murray Club Meets In Home Of Mrs. H. E. Mischke

The April meeting of the North Murray Homemakers Club was held in the lovely home of Mrs. H. E. Mischke on Friday afternoon at one-thirty o'clock with Mrs. Bailey Rigbins as the hostess.

Mrs. Orla Patton, who attended the Kentucky Federation of Homemakers meeting in Lexington March 29 to April 1 gave an excellent report. She expressed thanks to the club for making it possible to represent the club.

The lesson "Low Calorie Foods" was presented by Mrs. Ecco Gunter and Mrs. Bernice Boyd. They gave the daily food guide and stressed the importance of planning balanced meals.

The devotion Mrs. B. J. Hoffman read from Psalms 8:24 and used the thought, "This is the day the Lord hath made; rejoice and be glad in it."

Mrs. John Workman, president, presided and the secretary, Mrs. Charlie Crawford, read the minutes and called the roll which was answered by fifteen members.

The landscape notes were given by Mrs. Garva Gailin. Mrs. Rigbins, assisted by Mrs. Mischke, directed the recreational period.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses during the social hour. Mrs. Rena Cole, 814 Main Street, will be hostess for the May meeting.

To Be Married June 4

Miss Marveta Lynne Burpee

Rev. and Mrs. R. J. Burpee of Murray are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their youngest daughter, Marveta Lynne, to William H. Koencke, son of Mrs. Alice Koencke of Carbondale, Ill., formerly of Murray, and the late Henry C. Koencke of West Salem, Ill.

Miss Burpee is a 1964 graduate of Murray High School and is presently attending Murray State University where she is a sophomore majoring in elementary education. She is a member of the Association for Childhood Education.

Mr. Koencke was graduated from Murray University High School in 1963 and is now a junior at Murray State University majoring in chemistry and biology. He is a member of The Kappa Kappa Fraternity and the Student Affiliates of the American Chemical Society.

The wedding will be solemnized Saturday, June 4, at four-thirty o'clock in the afternoon at the West Fork Baptist Church. All friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Evangelical Class Has Meet In Home Of Mrs. Jack Kennedy

Mrs. Jack Kennedy opened her home on North Sixth Street for the meeting of the Evangelical Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church last Monday evening at seven-thirty o'clock.

The devotional speaker for the evening was the talented Mrs. J. I. Hosick who is the teacher of the Evagelical Class of the church. She read Psalms 29 and based her devotional thoughts on the first two verses of that chapter. She closed with prayer.

Others present were Mrs. R. W. Churchill, Mrs. Humphrey Key, Mrs. Robert S. Jones, Miss Inez Stewart, and Mrs. Flora Moore.

Mrs. Joseph Brunk Hostess For Alice Waters Circle Meet

The home of Mrs. Joseph Brunk, 1618 Sunset Drive, was the scene of the meeting of the Alice Waters Circle of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church held Tuesday morning at nine-thirty o'clock.

Rev. Donald Moorehead, director of the Wesley Foundation, was the speaker and gave a most interesting and informative program on "Helping the College Students In Their Search for Truth". He discussed the "Search for Truth" in the light of the Christian faith.

Mrs. R. R. Buckingham, circle chairman, presided and reminded the members of the member dues for the church dinner on May 4. Also the potluck luncheon to be held May 3 at the general WSCS meeting.

During the social hour refreshments were served by Mrs. Brunk and Mrs. Ruth Montgomery to the seven members and one guest, Mrs. Herman Brunk.

Systematic Destruction Taking Place Of Florida's Beauty

NEW YORK CITY — The systematic destruction of much of the natural beauty which makes Florida a great tourist attraction is being appraised by one of the state's leading journalists in the current issue of Audubon Magazine.

Reporting to National Audubon Society members, Wilbur H. Trumbull writes Stephen Trumbull charges that his state is trading its irreplaceable river scenery for political pork. And he warns in "The River Spoiler" that the Florida tragedy could happen anywhere.

Trumbull is well qualified to make such an assessment. He covered the Florida legislative scene for 20 years, and is equally familiar with the Sunshine State's game wild and beautiful rivers. But those famed waterways, he laments, are fast losing their Spanish moss charm.

The search for "truth" has disclosed the "Search for Truth" in the light of the Christian faith.

She Hits 'Bingo' with 2 Sisters

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have two sisters. Both are over 40, married and have families. Last Friday sister number one went to a bingo game with the husband of sister number two, while sister number two stayed home watching television with sister number one's husband. Okay? The next thing I knew, sister number one and husband number two went bowling together, while husband number one and sister number two took in a movie. I have been seeing my sisters with the wrong husbands, more and more lately and I don't know what's coming off. I told number one and did show it and they called both sisters and asked what kind of switching business was taking place. The girls denied it, but now, neither of my sisters nor their husbands are speaking to me. What I want to tell our parents? I was trying to head off trouble.

MEANT WELL
DEAR MEANT: Reporting two married sisters (over 40) to mother and dad for what you considered "suspicious conduct" could hardly be called constructive. If you really wanted to be helpful, you should have spoken to your sisters directly. Even though your intentions were the best (and perhaps better than your sisters') you can expect to be in family exile for a while.

DEAR ABBY: What should a girl do when a boy calls her at 7 o'clock and asks her if she wants to go out at 7:45? I really wanted to go but I turned him down because a friend of mine told me I should play hard-to-get.

HIGH SCHOOL JUNIOR
DEAR JUNIOR: If you wanted to go, you should have gone. There is nothing to be gained by playing "hard-to-get" if you're sitting home longing to go out.

DEAR ABBY: I am now a college freshman. Last year I played football for my high school and was quite good. I received many trophies and such. After the last game some of us were awarded our game shirts. This is a big honor.

CONFIDENTIAL TO DINO: When are you going to learn that no horse can go as fast as the money you set on him?

Town and Country Homemakers Meet

The Town and Country Homemakers Club met at the Murray-Calloway County Library on Thursday, April 7, at seven-thirty o'clock in the evening with Mrs. Joe E. Price, president, conducting a short business session.

Mrs. James Fee presented the lesson on "Low Calorie Foods".

Eight prospects for a new homemakers club which will be organized on May 12 at the home of Mrs. Lee Tinsley were welcomed by Mrs. Robert Hopkins, assisted by Mrs. Barletta Wraither and Mrs. Price.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Frank Kane, Mrs. Donald Neal, and Mrs. William Cherry.

CHAPTER 35 DA BLAMED himself later because he let me ride off the morning alone, and he bawled heck out of him. But with only on the ground he was rushing around preparing for winter and didn't think I'd have to ride farther. The Bonopie to get our five range horses.

Of course, there was a cold, stiff wind blowing from the east, but we had learned to expect winter storms from the north or southwest, not the east, and surely didn't know about what was to come about. Because I expected to drive horses, not cattle, I didn't take cover along.

I went straight to the Bonopie, and when I didn't find the horses there turned back north and east to ride the railroad section, expecting to find the horses hunkered up in a draw, tails to the cruel wind. When I didn't find them there I rode over the country lying to the west of the Linder and Hobson places.

I didn't even find horse tracks, but knew that the snow, which was starting to blow little white streamers along close to the ground, would soon cover horse tracks. But there should have been some evidence left of those tracks. I finally had to think that our horses had drifted with the wind west from the Bonopie.

I rode down to the Bonopie, crossed it and headed west. Ever since Pa had told me of this fine fenceless country that stretched west toward Miles City, I had been a little afraid of venturing far into it. As I rode west the wind began to pick up until it was blowing Filly's long golden tail in between her hind legs. The mare was nervous—it was something I could feel running through her body. But I leaned over to talk to her and my hand beneath the warmth of her flowing mane and her ears went back and forth and she quieted, plowing through the snow with her graceful, easy trot.

Soon I was so far beyond the Bonopie that all familiar landmarks were gone and I began to get a scary feeling with cold shivers running up my spine as the wind increased and the cold bit deep beneath my new sheepskin coat. I wanted desperately now to turn back, to go home to the security of the mounted shanty, but Pa had sent me after the horses and I didn't want to fail because I hadn't really looked so I kept going.

Now the snow was coming down again, from a leaden sky, mixing with that blown from the ground, until I couldn't see more than a hundred yards. A thousand lost horses could have been here and I could well have passed them by. I began weaving Filly back and forth as I moved west, hoping to run into the horses or find Pilot. But...
