Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

Action in Kentucky sends out a thumb-nail sketch of the proposed new constitution which makes it easier for a person to understand the most controversial points.

1. What about taxes under the new constitution? The tax rate limits in our present constitution will be removed and there would be no constitutional limits on tax rates. They would be subject to change every year when the Legislature meets.

2. What about machinery, stocks and bonds? The Legislature now exempts manufacturing machinery, money in hand, stocks and bonds, live stock and farm machinery for local taxation. Attorneys who have studied the matter for business say that the new constitution would require such taxation unless exempted — and they doubt such exemption could be granted. The attorney general has issued a different opinion — so the legal brains don't agree.

3. What about home rule? Local officials? Functions? The proposed constitution states: "The General Assembly shall have the power to provide for the government, officers and functions of units of local government, and to create, alter, consolidate and dissolve them." This language is copied from Article VIII, Section 1. This applies to all units of local government including cities, school districts, water districts. The General Assembly, however, would not have authority to consolidate or dissolve counties.

4. What about the New Court System? There would be an additional tier of appellate courts. All judges would be required to be lawyers. All judges in an appellate court would be appointed by the Governor — not elected. Appointment would be from a list submitted by a nominating commission, a majority of whom would be lawyers.

5. What about specific offices like Sheriff, County Clerk, etc.? None of these offices are provided for specifically in the proposed constitution. The Legislature can decide what local officials a local government can have. Article VIII, Section 1, gives that authority in clear and unmistakable language. Present offices would be continued at the pleasure of the Legislature, however. Local elections would determine who fills them.

6. What about the Legislative Branch? It would meet three times as much as at present. Now it's 60 days every two years. Under new proposal it would become 90 days each year, or 180 days. It means a change from January through March every other year... to a session lasting almost through May every year. If you feel more legislation is likely to help you, here's the opportunity to get three times as much of it.

7. What about the Representatives? More responsive to the people? Representatives terms would be changed from two to four years and Senatorial terms lengthened to six years. Now, a state representative must give an accounting to the electorate after each regular session. Under the proposed con-

"Black Power" Backer Would Not Serve In Army Even If Drafted

NEW YORK (AP) — Stokely Carmichael, the chairman of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee SNCC, said Friday he would not serve in the army if he is drafted. The 25-year-old "black power" advocate, who in the past has opposed U.S. action in Viet Nam, told newsmen Friday, "I'd rather go to Leavenworth a federal prison." His statement, made at Kennedy Airport before he departed for California, followed two days of testing here to determine his fitness to serve. Carmichael said Negro soldiers fighting in Viet Nam are "black mercenaries" and termed the Pentagon plan to draft 30 percent from poverty areas "black urban removal." "I'm not going to refuse on the grounds of a conscientious objector," Carmichael said, "but on the grounds of my own conscience. There is a higher law than the law of government. That's the law of conscience."

Seasoned Viet Congs Hit Green Troops

By BRUCE MILLER, United Press International. SAIGON (AP) — Elements of North Viet Nam's elite 60th Division hurled five human wave attacks against "greenhorn" American troops in the Central Highlands Friday night and today. The Americans were reported still holding in a battle raging through the day. B-52 strategic bombers from Guam carried out two strikes against the Communist division in areas 240 and 280 miles north of Saigon today near the Cambodian border. Armed helicopters and strike planes also hit the enemy but three U. S. helicopters were shot down by enemy gunfire. The three helicopters were among five U. S. aircraft disclosed to have been lost. An F-100 supersonic was shot down Wednesday near Saigon and the pilot killed. An Army transport plane crashed into a hillside near An Khe, killing one man and injuring 20. One man was missing. The Communists who regrouped and rebuilt their forces after a series of setbacks last summer attacked in human wave assaults from the border area, inflicting "moderate" casualties on the Americans. The Americans reported killing only six Communists. It was still too early to say whether the attack meant the Communists had begun their long-expected monsoon offensive. Their offensive is expected across the demilitarized zone (DMZ) in the North with heavy diversionary attacks in other areas.

Daylight Saving Time Will End On Sunday

By United Press International. The semiannual temporal confusion takes place Sunday when the 19 states saving their daylight give it up. For some cities and counties in the nation it will be their last period of the previous summer hour. They are being forced to conform, either with it or without it. Every timepiece in the states on daylight savings time is turned back one hour at 2 a.m. local time Sunday. For the first few hours of standard time, confusion will reign, as always. Barometers and patrollers will get into the usual hassles over what the law says. Do the bars close at 3 a.m. daylight time or 2 a.m. standard time. It's an hour of limbo. Early churchgoers will be struggling into churches in the middle of services or will be waiting on the church steps for the rest of the congregation to arrive. Sudden in the nation will be the children, whose after school daylight play will be cut. Happier will be the farmers who can't get together with their cows. Cows are as regular as the sun, the farmers say, and require milking at the same time every day — regardless of what the clock shows. Why should farmers get up in the dark to milk a cow? Next year, a law passed by Congress puts the nation on daylight time for the six month period — the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October — or not at all. The exception will be in those states where the legislative votes to stay on standard time. Daylight saving began in World War I in Great Britain as an economy measure to save fuel and electricity, and so push production up by keeping the workers on the job longer during the safer-to-work daylight hours. It spread to the United States, and in both world wars was the law of the land. After each war ended, however, states and local communities were allowed to decide for themselves. The result was a patchwork with states, cities, and even buildings split in two by adjacent time zones.

Panthers Eke Out Narrow Victory Over MHS 13-12

An unfortunate penalty for the Murray High Tigers, when they were on the Russellville Panther three yard line, may have cost them the ball game last night, as the unbeaten Panthers eke out a one point victory over the Tigers. The Panthers had just made their second sackdown to tie up the ball game, then made their extra point good to give Russellville a 13-12 margin over Murray. The Tigers received and Blanton put it back on the Murray 33 yard line. Shelton unrec'd a 34 yard run to the 47, then Steve Sammons rced to the Russellville 36. A Murray move the ball back to the Murray 42. Unaided Sammons put the ball on the mid-field strip on the next play, then the Russellville 44. Shelton went to the 41 and Sammons was caught on the 42 and on the next play Sammons pleg failed. The Tigers got down to business on the next move and Steve Sammons spun a pass to Vic Dunn to the Russellville 13 with a penalty moving the ball to the 7. Shelton got to the three yard line and a touchdown was in the offing with less than five minutes in the game. Murray was penalized on the last play back to the 20 yard line. Three passes failed and Shelton got to the 13 yard line once more and the Panthers took over the football on downs with 4:30 left in the game. The Tigers got the ball one more time but time ran out before they could make it pay. The defensive battle brought the Tiger line and their aggressive play caused several Russellville fumbles. Russellville scored first in the tense encounter in the first quarter. Russellville received the ball after Murray had difficulty moving the ball on their own 41 yard line. The Panthers moved it in seven plays for the TD. Freddy Atkinson, the shifty Panther quarterback, rifled a pass to Gary Todd in the end zone for the score with 2:36 left in the quarter. The extra point try was no good. Murray scored in the second period after taking the ball on their own 23 yard line. Sammons moved to the 27 and Shelton got a yard. A Murray pass was intercepted by Atkinson on his own 39 but the Panthers were moved back to their 34 on a penalty. Two plays later Atkinson fumbled the ball and David Wall of Murray pounced on it at the Russellville 37. Sammons tried to pass and not finding a man open, ran to the Panther 26. On the next play Steve Sammons hit Vic Dunn in the end zone to tie the ball game 6-6. The extra point try failed as Dan Terhune faked the kick and Jerry Hart ran with the ball. He was short of the goal line. There was no scoring in the third period of the game, however play in the final seconds of that period set up the early fourth quarter touchdown for the Tigers. Russellville has intercepted a Murray pass but were pushed back by the Murray defense to their own 22 yard line. They kicked out to the Murray 42 yard line and Steve Sammons promptly returned it to the Russellville 17 in a tremendous exhibition of running for the 41 yards. Sammons ran the next two plays, to the Russellville 7 as the fourth quarter began. A Murray fumble was recovered by Hart on the Panther 13 and on the next play Don Shelton hit Vic Dunn for the score. About 11:00 minutes remained in the ball game. Dan Terhune's kick failed. The Russellville Panthers, unbeaten for the season, proved their ability in the next two minutes after taking the Murray kickoff. In three plays the Panthers moved the ball to their own 45 yard line in spite of two penalties, and on the next play Freddy Atkinson dropped a bomb to Allen Neal on the Murray 3. Fullback Rick Stack smashed to the 1 and Atkinson, on the next play, kept the ball and pushed over for the score. 8:56 showed on the clock. Stack passed to Todd for the game winning extra point to make it Murray 13-Russellville 13.

200 Debaters Gather Here For Workshop

About 200 students from three states will participate in the 19th annual high school debate-discussion workshop Saturday at Murray State University. They will compete for individual merit certificates in both novice and varsity debate and in discussion. In addition, the school will be best combined word-look recent in variety and novice debate will receive a trophy. A novice debater is defined by workshop officials as a student below the junior level in high school or a junior or senior with less than a year's experience in debate. The workshop is sponsored by the Murray State division of speech. Prof. J. Albert Tracy, head of the division and workshop director, said it will attract students from Kentucky, Tennessee and Missouri. All of the debate and discussion topics deal with aspects of the United States foreign aid program. The first session, featuring three Murray State faculty members, will provide the workshopers with additional background on foreign aid. Dr. C. S. Lowry, chairman of the political science department, will speak on the goals of the aid program. Dr. Frank Stealy, chairman of the history department, will discuss criteria for allocating aid, and Bobby Joe Sims, assistant professor of political science, will talk on the administration of the program. Before the competition begins, an exhibition debate and panel discussion will be presented by Murray State speech and political science students. The workshop will close with a general assembly at 4 p.m. when awards will be presented. Discussion participants rated excellent or superior and debate participants in the top 10 percent of either the novice or varsity division will receive certificates.

They urged the students to undergo immediate medical examination. ELECTIONS TO WATCH

Sen. Paul Douglas Charles H. Percy SYMPATHY VOTE?—Democrats are worried about a "sympathy vote" for Republican Charles H. Percy, rags-to-riches former big business executive who is trying to unseat Sen. Paul Douglas in Illinois. Both candidates stopped campaigning after Percy's 21-year-old daughter was murdered. Percy, 47, once an economics student in Douglas' University of Chicago class, became president of Bell and Howell at 29. Douglas, 74, is seeking his fourth term. This is Percy's second try in politics. He lost the governorship race in 1964.

SENSING THE NEWS

THE 89TH CONGRESS
The end of the 89th Congress will bring a time of appraisal for the work of the legislative branch in the last two years. Whether its work will be constructive or destructive will be fiercely debated, especially in the days remaining before the congressional elections.

Already various groups are giving it marks of one sort or another. The New Republic, a liberal journal published in the nation's capital, says that Congress deserves a B plus mark for its efforts. A spokesman for the New York Times, however—another liberal voice—gives it an even higher grade, saying that the Congress has instituted more liberal legislation than any since the first Roosevelt Congress.

The weight of evidence seems to be on the side of The New York Times, namely that the 89th Congress has been a truly radical Congress. For constitutionalists, the record of the 89th Congress is truly distressing. During the Kennedy years, the United States moved down the left side of the road at a brisk pace, but there has been a tremendous acceleration in a leftward direction during the period of the Johnson administration.

Indeed, the 89th Congress should be called the Johnson Congress. It has been a radical, aggressive Congress, one that has undertaken the most radical legislation since the Reconstruction era. Only in the case of repeal of section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act, which permits state right to work laws, did the Congress resist presidential direction. On almost everything else, the 89th Congress went along in an ultra-liberal direction. Medicare was enacted. So was the "draconic Civil Rights Act of 1964, and other measures which undermined the rights of the states and the self-reliance of the American people.

The Civil Rights Act of 1964 was the most radical legislation enacted by the Congress. It has done more to weaken the fabric of American constitutional government than any other piece of legislation in years. What the Act does is give federal officials unprecedented power to pressure and harass public school officials, school trustees, and hospital administrators. The freedom of doctors and hospital administrators to make orderly, efficient arrangements for patients has been threatened by federal inspectors who put political requirements ahead of the needs of the sick.

Nowhere is the impact of the Civil Rights Act felt more strongly than in public education. In recent months, school boards have been reporting the ugly pressures exerted against them by the office of the U. S. Commissioner of Education, Harold Howe. They have had orders given to them over the telephone so that no record of the federal ruthlessness would be left to prove embarrassing to the Johnson administration.

It is very clear that the result of this enactment by the 89th Congress is developing a federal philosophy of education such as exists in totalitarian countries. Local control of the education of young people after the new year. The next step for the federal government one can be sure, is control over the books and courses of study prescribed for students.

The 89th Congress also should be recommended for the vast anti-poverty program. The program was enacted without appropriate consultation. The results is that ex-convicts and other undesirable have been employed in the federal anti-poverty program. In a number of communities, public funds have been spent without any accounting. The War on Poverty seems to be exempt from rules and regulations that apply to other departments.

The 89th Congress failed the nation in refusing to take effective action in the air line union strike and in the New York transit strike.

Financing Mental Health Clinic Is Given By Figures

This article is the second in a series of articles being written and sponsored by the Zeta Department of the Murray Woman's Club to inform and promote Mental Health in Murray and Calloway County.

"Financing Our Clinic"

The Murray-Calloway County Mental Health Center Board and its staff feel that to adequately meet the needs of the area, an annual budget of $100,000 is needed. Our sources of income locally and the amounts are as follows:

- Fiscal Court $1100.00; United Fund $1200.00; Mental Health Association $3000.00; for a total of $5600.00. Our clinic fees amount to $800.00 and the services contract with the Commonwealth of Kentucky amounts to $1000.00 or a grand total of $6400.00.

The Center is most fortunate in having its quarters located on the third floor of the Murray-Calloway County Hospital Convalescent Division at no cost to the Center. Recent expansion gives the clinic seven offices from which to serve the people of the area.

Appointments may be made by contacting the clinic at telephone 753-6632. Ministers, doctors, schools, and health agencies can also make referrals.

situation. It would be after four sessions. This would have the effect of reducing the value of a vote for Representative to 25 percent of its present weight; slightly less for Senator.

What about quality?

This is a matter of opinion. Some say that the open end on salary would make it attractive. However, the better and more responsible members of the General Assembly to whom we have talked reason as follows: They can justify three months of service every other year and mark it off as a public service. But they cannot desert their business, law practices, medical practices, or farms for five months every year. Therefore, it appears that we would lose the more responsible members. Who would replace them? Your guess is as good as ours - and probably about the same.

What about existing laws?

The schedule calls for them to remain in effect until changed by the General Assembly. But when the legislature meets in January, 1968, it may "continue in session" until the next regular session is required to convene unless adjourned prior to that date. This could begin in 1967 on call of the Governor, and there is much speculation to the effect that this is in the making. It is the judgment of most informed students that the session would last a year; and that most of the time would be devoted to amendments aimed at bringing existing legislation into conformity with the new constitution. If all laws of the Commonwealth are thus "opened up" it could go in one of two directions - no problem, or legislative pandemonium. Each should make his own interpretation as to which the odds favor.

What about centralization?

Since more officials would be appointed, since tax rates would be a responsibility of Frankfort, since the hated of the General Assembly is strengthened, and since the legislative could decide what local offices are appropriate for local government, some people

A Husband's 10 Commandments

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Last year you wrote THE TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR THE 20TH CENTURY WIFE. Our minister liked it so much he asked for your permission to reprint it in our church bulletin. You graciously consented. Much has been said and written about a wife's duties and responsibilities in marriage. Will you please even the score and write TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR THE 20TH CENTURY HUSBAND? Sincerely yours,

SANTA MONICA PAN
DEAR ABBY: With pleasure, TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR THE 20TH CENTURY HUSBAND:

1. Thou shalt put thy wife before thy mother, thy father, thy daughter, and thy son, for she is thy lifelong companion.
2. Abuse not thy body either with excessive food, tobacco or drink, that thy days may be many and healthful in the presence of thy loved ones.
3. Permit neither thy business nor thy hobby to make of thee a stranger to thy children, for the precious gift a man giveth his family is his time.
4. Forget not the virtue of cleanliness.
5. Make not thy wife a beggar, but share willingly with her thy worldly goods.
6. Forget not to say, "I love you," thy wife doth yearn to hear the words.
7. Remember that the approval of thy wife is worth more than the admiring glances of a hundred strangers. Cleave unto her and forsake all others.
8. Keep thy home in good repair, for out of it cometh the joys of thy old age.
9. Forgive with grace. For who among us does not need to be forgiven?
10. Honor the Lord thy God all the days of thy life, and thy children.

DEAR ABBY: I read an article in the newspaper yesterday criticizing women for wearing short skirts. I disagree. I think women who wear short skirts do a lot to brighten a world that can get mighty tedious and dreary. Viet Nam, rice riots, strikes, the bottom dropping out of the stock market—nothing but terror and gloom.

So when I see a few inches above a woman's knee it cheers up what would otherwise have been a lousy day. It doesn't cost the ladies a cent and it does a lot for our morale. So I say, "Hike 'em up, girls, and the higher the better." All the guys in my car pool feel the same way. We discussed it.

DEAR ABBY: Does this also go for your wives, girl friends, sisters, and mothers? Ask the guys in your car pool to answer that question.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal, unpublished reply, enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Time Out

By GALE GARRISON

The Basketball Jamboree that is held at Heath each year, is one of the best ways to show what a few teams may have for the coming season, or maybe I should say it could be one of the best ways. The way that the Heath Jamboree is set up, they are failing to show each team at its best.

First of all, Heath is not the proper place to have a jamboree, because they can't even get all the fans in the gym and trying to find a seat is impossible. This type of exhibition should be held in a much larger gym, where people could enjoy the game being played, without being forced to stand, or if they do find a seat, being forced to share it with two other people.

I have always refrained from saying anything about the referees, because they make mistakes like anyone else. Even those that have been calling for a number of years will make a call that as far as everyone else in the gym is concerned is wrong. Or they will miss something that is almost an impossibility to miss. So you can't expect a couple of boys that have never called a game to do an expert job of calling a game.

I admit that all referees must call their first game sometime but I don't think that a Jamboree of this type should be the place for them to test their trial run. There are too many freshman games and "B" team games being played around the country for them to get a start, and I think this is where they should start.

The players are experienced, the coaches are experienced, the cheerleaders are experienced, everyone else in the gym is experienced, so why use inexperienced officials?

I'm not "sourgrazing" because Calloway didn't win, because they couldn't have scored enough points Friday, anyway. Not because they weren't as good as the other teams, but they drew a team that was on the same level as they were.

I don't believe any team in the jamboree played as good as they could have because the games all got out of the referee's hands, and when this happens no one can play their best game.

If they are going to have something like this, they should hold it in a larger gym, where they can seat more people, and have experienced officials. Then the players, coaches, and fans can get a much better idea of what their team will have to face during the coming season.

Kemp, Namath Match Wits Tomorrow

By FRED DOWN, UPI Sports Writer

It will be Jackie Kemp's know-how under pressure against Joe Namath's flair for the big play Sunday when the Buffalo Bills attempt to beat the New York Jets and tie for the lead in the Eastern Division of the American Football League.

The Jets are favored by one point because they are the home team and lead the Bills in passing offense, total offense, passing defense and total defense. The Bills lead the Jets in rushing offense and rushing defense.

The big question, however, lies with the quarterbacks. Kemp has proved many times in leading the Bills to two straight AFL championships that he has the old pro knack of getting key passes and touchdowns in the clutch. Namath has often displayed the brilliance of a Johnny Unitas but Sunday will mark his first real test under win-or-lose pressure.

Patriots Favored
The Boston Patriots are three-point favorites over the Oakland Raiders at Boston, the Kansas City Chiefs are six-point choices over the Houston Oilers at Kansas City and the San Diego Chargers are 21-point picks over the Denver Broncos at San Diego. The Miami Dolphins are idle.

The two biggest teams in the league clash when the Raiders put their three-game winning streak on the line against the Patriots' two-game winning streak. Both teams have fought back into title contention after slow starts and are coming off big victories over tough foes. A Boston victory and a New York loss would move the Patriots into first place.

The Patriots' Babe Parilli ranks No. 8 in passing with 73 completions in 168 attempts for 1022 yards and six touchdowns and Jim Nance is the No. 1 rusher with 545 yards and a 4.3 average. The Raiders' Tom Flores is No. 5 in passing with 71 completions in 140 attempts for 1138 yards and 10 touchdowns and Clem Daniels is No. 6 in rushing with 315 yards and a 3.3 average.

Chiefs Face Tough Team
An exciting air battle is in prospect at Kansas City with the Chiefs' Len Dawson, the league's No. 1 passer, and the Oilers' George Blanda-Nr. 3. Dawson has 72 completions in 129 attempts for 1108 yards and 15 touchdowns and Blanda has 110 completions in 242 attempts for 1164 yards and 16 touchdowns. The Chiefs' Bert Coan ranks fourth in rushing with 373 yards and a 5.7 average while Sid Blanks has 216 yards and a 3.5 average and Ode Burrell 216 yards and a 3-2 average for the Oilers.

The Chargers return home after losing two and tying one on the road against a Bronco team that has scored the least points (9) and allowed the most (24) in the league. A Denver victory would represent the biggest upset of the AFL season so far.

OHIO STATE MYSTERY—Police in Columbus, Ohio, are seeking leads in the hushy murder of Dr. Robert W. Spike (above), director of the ministry program at the University of Chicago, whose body was found in the guest room of the new Christian Center which he had helped dedicate the night before. The Christian Center is in Ohio State U.'s "fraternity row" neighborhood.

Governors And Cowboys, Browns Are Favored, Raiders Meet, Game Today

By MARTIN LADER, UPI Sports Writer

Austin Peay, hungry for victory and hoping it comes soon, invades top ranked Middle Tennessee at Murfreesboro Saturday in the first nationally televised Ohio Valley Conference football game.

Morehead held the No. 1 spot for a week then turned it back to Middle Tennessee last Saturday. Morehead travels to Johnson City for an appointment with East Tennessee this week.

The Buccaneers haven't won an OVC game since their opener with hapless Murray State, but the freshman backfield came of age last Saturday and sent non-conference foe, Wofford home with a 46-0 spanking.

Morehead coach Guy Penny says his Eagles may not be mentally ready for this week's contest. "They are still down from the Middle Tennessee loss and we will have to stimulate them if we are going to get back on the win column," Penny said.

Eastern Kentucky and Morehead are tied for second place. Both have but one defeat in the conference and both would gain new hope if Austin Peay turns out to be the night contest. St. Louis goes into the weekend with a 5-1-1 record, followed by Dallas at 4-1-1 and Cleveland at 4-2-0.

According to the oddsmakers, it can be a long weekend for St. Louis. The Cowboys are 30 1/2-point favorites to topple Pittsburgh at Dallas and the Browns are picked by 24 at Atlanta against a Falcon team that has yet to win in seven starts. St. Louis is rated no better than even-money against the Bears.

The situation is a whole lot simpler in the Western Conference, where the defending league champion Green Bay Packers hope to stretch their lead against the Detroit Lions. Green Bay currently has a 1 1/2 game cushion over the runnerup, Baltimore Colts, who may be in for a spot of trouble at Los Angeles.

Green Bay, with a 6-1 record, has not allowed a touchdown in its last two victories and is fresh from a 56-3 rout of Atlanta. The Packers are favored by 14 points at Detroit while Baltimore 4-2 is a touchdown choice over the Rams.

In the other games scheduled for Sunday, Philadelphia is rated 3 1/2-points better than Washington on its home field and the Minnesota Vikings are a 7 1/2-point pick over

TRAVELING KENNEDY

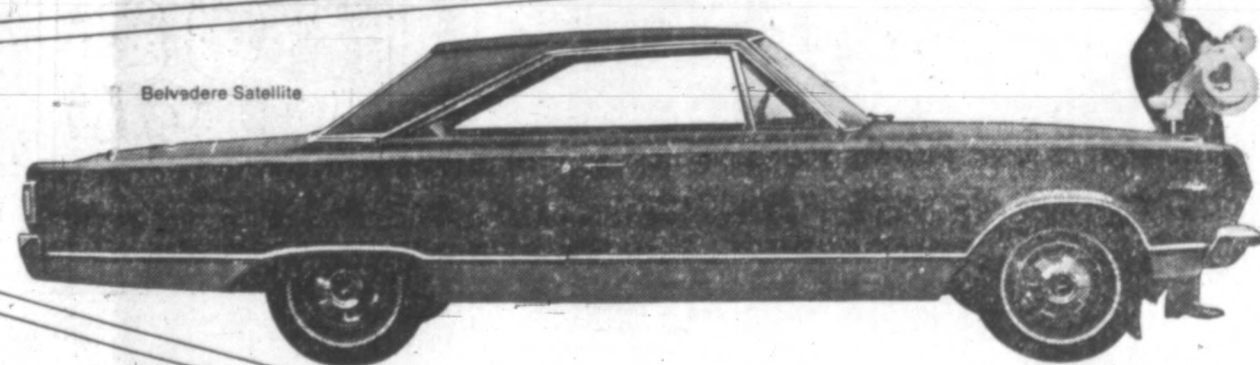

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., is planning a trip to Morocco, Tunisia, Algeria and possibly the United Arab Republic in late November. Sources said Monday that Kennedy had "a number" of invitations and tentatively planned to start a private North African tour Nov. 17 in Morocco. He is to attend a Nov. 15-16 General Conference on European migration, and hopes to make the North African tour with his wife at his own expense after that.
