COUNTY APPROVES HOSPITAL ADDITION

County Judge McCuiston Not To Seek Office Again

Calloway County Judge Hall McCuiston announced Tuesday that he will not be a candidate for the office in the May primary this year.

The judge said he had enjoyed his term of office. He told the Leader & Times he had enjoyed his association with the other county officials and the members of the Fiscal Court.

During his term of office, a new jail for the county was erected at North Third and L Streets replacing the old jail in the basement of the court house.

The jail is of brick construction and has facilities for both men and women prisoners. Jailor Huel Jones and his wife reside in the apartment in the building.

Total cost of the lot and the building of the jail was $70,000 when completed in March 1968 and this will be paid off before the term of Judge McCuiston ends this year.

Sgt. Charles Hargis of the Kentucky State Police is spending before a local organization last year praised County Judge McCuiston for the stand he had taken in finding those who have been cited for speeding, reckless driving and other violations in a talk on safety. He said the county was most fortunate to have a judge to observe the laws as he had done during his term of office.

Judge McCuiston said this was the only term of public office he had ever served and was

Rue Beale, Member Of Old Family Here, Passes Away

Rue L. Beale, professor of economics in the school of business, Murray State University, died of complications following pneumonia on Wednesday at 4:20 p.m. at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital.

Beale was 66 years of age and the son of the late L. L. Beale and Nancy Stringer Beale of Murray. His death followed an illness of two weeks.

The professor had been associated with the local University for the past six years since returning to Murray from Louisville.

He was a 1927 graduate of Murray State and began his teaching career at Grand Rivers. He served for several years as principal of Wingo High School in Graves County before joining the faculty of Murray State in 1936.

Beale left Murray State on a leave of absence to serve as economist with the U.S. Government during World War II. He later moved to Louisville and taught at the University of Louisville before being associated with the Kentucky Teachers Retirement program.

He was a member of the First United Methodist Church serving on the official board, the Murray Lions Club. He was an expert in the growth and development of roses and other flowers.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Susie Humphrey Beale, 301 North 19th Street, Murray; one son, Robert Julian Beale, one attorney at Louisville; one grandson, Robert Daniel Beale, Louisville; two sisters, Mrs. Ardel G. ## Bill Heise Named For Competition For Annapolis Post

Senator John Sherman Cooper has notified Bill Heise of Murray that he has been nominated by the senator to compete for an appointment to the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Heise is a senior at Murray High School and is the son of L. L. (Ret.) and Mrs. Paul R. Heise of 1511 Johnson Boulevard. Young Heise is highly active in high school and won all-state honors at end during the past grid season.

Members of Congress may nominate up to six young men to compete for appointment to the academy throughout the area of his jurisdiction. The young men will then compete in several areas for the appointment and the selection will be made based on scholastic achievement, participation in sports and other extra-curricular activities, recommendations of teachers, etc.

Young Heise's father retired from the Navy in 1963 after completing over twenty-two years in active service.

Resolution Is Dependent On Approval By The City

The Calloway County Court Tuesday approved a resolution calling for the construction of the addition to the Murray-Calloway County Hospital. The resolution approved the construction and indicated that the county will share up to an estimated $13,500 annually toward the payment of a proposed bond issue which is to be sold by the hospital.

Hospital officials have indicated that they feel they can retire the proposed bond issue with a payment of $76,000 annually. This amount will retire both the principal and the interest. They further have indicated that they will be short of this amount, each by about $13,500. The city and county will have to furnish this sum each year.

A controversy has arisen over how this amount will be split each year by the city and county. At first it was proposed that the city pay 40 per cent and the county 60 per cent. This is the division on the bond issue that was sold to build the original building and the original building was sold to the county on this division of the $13,500 and some talks and discussion have been held over the past months seeking to resolve the issue.

In the resolution passed on Tuesday the county court agreed to pay $6,000 of the first $12,000, then pro rata the remaining $15,000 according to the franchising taxes collected each year by the city and county.

This conceivably would have the city paying its $6,000, then possibly $10,000 of the remaining $15,000.

County Attorney Robert O. Miller has maintained that the city collects more in taxes therefore it should pay more. The

Center For Children To Open Monday

Further plans for the Day Care Center for Retarded Children were made at the meeting of the Murray-Calloway County Association for Retarded Children held Tuesday evening at the Robertson School.

The center will open on Monday, February 17, at the First Presbyterian Church. The hours will be from 8:30 a.m. to noon each day. This is for children who do not qualify for the trainable or educable units of the Murray Public Schools.

Major Warner Cole, president of the association, said this is not a funded organization and the group will be seeking funds to run the Day Care Center in the near future.

The present association evolved from the School of New Hope which eventually became the Robertson Public School Class for trainable mentally retarded children.

At the Tuesday meeting the group voted to call the new center, The School of New Hope Day Care Center.

Major Cole said a workshop had been held for mental health volunteers to assist in the Day Care Center, but more are needed for this type of work. Persons interested are asked to call Mrs. Jack Bailey, mental health coordinator for the Murray Women's Club.

Mrs. Don Keller and Max Hurt, members of the board of directors, were present for the Tuesday meeting.

Murray Electric System To Join National Observance

Murray Electric System will participate with other electric utilities in the United States in observance of National Electricity Week, February 9 to 15, according to E. S. Ferguson, Superintendent of the system.

"Electricity Powers Progress" is the theme of the special week, which also includes the 122nd anniversary of Thomas E. Edison's birth on February 11.

Mr. Ferguson said the observance "gives us the opportunity to recognize the many ways that electricity serves us daily in our homes and on our jobs to help make our lives more comfortable and productive. It underscores the vital role electricity plays in the life and economy of our community."

Murray Electric System is one of the more than 2,000 local publicly owned electric utilities which serve more than 30-million persons in 48 states.

The electrical industry is one of the major industries in the United States. Mr. Ferguson pointed out, noting that it puts billions of dollars into the economy each year, spends more than $2.5-billion on research and employs more than 3-million Americans.

Ferguson cited these other points:

American electrical power capacity is greater than the combined production of Japan, the Soviet Union, the United Kingdom and West Germany. The United States produces 38% of the world's total electrical power while serving only 6% of the world's population. The use of electrical power in the U.S. has grown five times faster than the population and

NEW YORK UPI - Naturally, Ed Hodges is concerned. He admits it. "Not too much," he says. "But a little about four of our positions. First base, center field, right field and shortstop."

He is first base where Ed Kravitz, supposedly his regular man there, hit only 231 and knocked in a mere 20 runs. He's also hoping for something better out of centerfielder Tommie Agee, 217, rightfielder Ron Swoboda, 242 and shortstop Bud Harrelson, 212.

"We're a young ball club and I'm very optimistic about it," says the Mets' 45-year-old manager. "I'm not upset by the fact we didn't make any trades. I know general manager John Murphy talked to everyone. Evidently he dealt with Atlanta for Joe Torre has gone by the wayside. They pulled him off the market the way I understand it. We still may do something with some other club this spring."

Hodges does not intend using a golf cart or any other such conveyance to get around during his spring training chores at St. Petersburg. His recovery has been slow but gradual and as he says, there's no problem at all now.

Postponement
The Mets called a news conference last Monday to sort of reintroduce their manager to the media but had to postpone it until Tuesday because of the snowstorm. It was still tough sledding on Tuesday so they put it off again until Thursday, then decided to cancel the thing altogether.

"I modestly think we're improved over last year even though we haven't made any deals," Hodges said from his home here. "As good as our pitching was last season there's a possibility it'll be better this year. It depends on two individuals - Jim McAndrew, who came up with us late last season and looked so good, and this young fellow, Gary Contry. Everybody in our organization is high on him."

Hodges' prime concern could be the Mets' pitching staff. "I feel real good, like I can do anything and everything. Now it's simply a case of mind over matter. I did a whole lot of soul searching since that thing happened. One of the things I did was quit smoking. I miss it but it's not anything I can't live without."

Some people think Ed Hodges couldn't live without baseball but he says that isn't true either. "If there was any question on my not getting back to normal I wouldn't have come back to manage," says the popular ex-Dodger first baseman, who received thousands of cards, letters and wires during his four-month recovery period.

"Shortly after I was admitted to the hospital in Atlanta last September Dr. Linton Bishop told me there wasn't any question of my returning to normal, and everything has been working out exactly as he said."

Pretty soon now Hodges will be packing his bag and heading out of the deep snow here for Sunny St. Pete. He's thinking about that. He's also thinking how he can possibly thank everybody for their good wishes.

"You have no idea how much they were appreciated," he says. "Anybody who knows Ed Hodges has an idea."

Lombardi Meets With Assistants

By SAM FOGG

WASHINGTON UPI - The Washington Redskins had found out almost instantly that under Vince Lombardi autumn will come a little soon this year.

In his first full working day as head coach and part owner of the Redskins, Lombardi completed hiring his coaching staff of six assistants Wednesday and then announced he would summon his quarterbacks and receivers to a special training week in June.

Lombardi's coaching lieutenants will consist of two former National Football League head coaches - Bill Austin and Harold Sware - and two assistants from other teams - George Dickson of the New Orleans Saints and Lew Garretter of the Atlanta Falcons.

"The new boss told us that the June week for his quarterbacks - including Sonny Jurgensen and receivers will be conducted in Washington. It will consist of morning skill sessions, followed by late physical workouts in the afternoon."

He also announced that he will bring the Redskins rookies to pre-season training camp a week in advance of the regulars. He anticipates spending about 11 weeks getting his new team ready for his return to the NFL coaching wars.

"To have an open date at that point in getting a team ready is almost a catastrophe," he declared.

He told newsmen that he has all but decided that 1967 Heisman Award winner Gary Beban should plan his future as a quarterback, thus junking a move by Graham last year to develop the former UCLA star as a running back.

Lombardi met with his six assistants even before the full list was announced publicly. He reportedly went over the Redskins personnel player-by-player, made clear what he expects of his aides and discussed his practice and teaching plans.

Austin will be overall coordinator of offense under Lombardi's table of organization and Sware will play the same role for the defense.

Lombardi made it plain he will be the man in charge, then added: "I am not set in my ways and I am open to suggestions."

A moment later he observed that he will be at work in the mornings by 8. He left unsaid that the assistants should be there too.

FREE AGENTS
PHILADELPHIA UPI - Ken Carron, an offensive tackle from Ohio University and Clark Frost, an end from Central Missouri State, were signed as free agents Wednesday by the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League.

Baseball Players, Owners Meet Again

NEW YORK UPI - Representatives of the Major League Players Association and league clubowners were scheduled to meet again today in an effort to resolve their differences over the players' pension fund.

John Gaberin, spokesman for the owners, said a meeting Wednesday "hit a snag" and announced that the negotiators will try again at 3:30 p. m. today.

The players have threatened to refuse to report to spring training and to strike during the season if the differences are not resolved.

Gaherin and Sandy Hadden, American League spokesman, represented the owners while the players were represented by Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players' Association, and Richard Moss, an attorney.

Coach Bob Toon saw the North Marshall-Lone Oak game in which North got best in an overtime. "It was a wide open shooting affair," Coach Toon reported. He considers North deserving to win, according to Mr. Toon.

"Well have to have one of our best games to win and it will take 100% effort from all the boys and fans for victory," he added.

The Tigers will face Lone Oak next Tuesday night in the Murray gym.

Angered by a foul called on him, Haywood slammed referee George "Red" Strauthers early in the second half of Detroit's game with Toledo.

Strauthers returned the punishment, both benches emptied and fans streamed onto the floor before police were able to break up the melee. The 6-8 Haywood, who had scored 24 points up to that point to pace Detroit to a 68-43 lead, was promptly ejected. Toledo then erased the 25-point deficit and tied the game at 80-80 with five minutes to play, but Detroit rallied for a six-point lead and held on for a 92-90 victory.

In the games involving the top teams Wednesday night, seventh-ranked LaSalle defeated American University 96-72 and 10th-ranked Villanova drubbed Canisius 75-54.

Larry Cannon scored 18 points to head six LaSalle players in double figures. It was the Explorers' 19th victory in 20 games.

Sophomore Howard Porter scored 27 and Johnny Jones added 22 in Villanova's 71th triumph in 20 games this season. An Illinois outburst at the start of the second half gave Villanova a 46-28 lead that stood up. The Wildcats were leading by 71-47 when Coach Jack Kraft sent in his reserves.

RAMBLER: A VERY LOVEABLE CAR

You just can't help loving your Rambler. It's such an affectionate rascal! Dependable. High on economy. Appealing. Yet unpretentious. For people who don't have to prove anything to anybody. But can a car really love people? The Rambler acts like it. Its full-size 15 ft. all-American compactness seats six people comfortably. Its 12 cu. ft. luggage compartment is great for hauling everything from picnics and mandolins to scrap iron for make-your-own sculptures.

FASHIONETTES

By United Press International
Large, buttoned pockets, wide belts, and jungle prints of safari-style clothes now are popular in boys' wear.

Infants' wear no longer is just covering. Along with standard pastels and white, miniature fall fashions come in sudsable bright sun colors, deep earth tones, and such off-beat shades as olive and surfgreen. Patterns range from jungle and heraldic prints to broader and brighter stripes.

Prilly and feminine are riverboat gambler style blouses with rows of ruffles peeking out over a fancy vest. After being washed, and hung to drip dry these Dacron blouses need only finger pressing - pinching and stretching with thumbs and first fingers along the deep ruffles.

Smooth, seam-free bras won't bump or buckle under sweaters and knits.

Refreshments of punch and cakes were served from the beautifully appointed table overlaid with a pink cloth under white lace and centered with a centerpiece of pink carnations, white chrysanthemums, and baby's breath.

Those present were the honoree, her aunt, Mrs. Elizabeth

Payments In Advance Seen In Programs

Producers signing up Feb. 3 through March 21 to participate in the 1969 feed grain and wheat programs (as well as certain small-cotton farms) can request advance payments of up to 50 percent for voluntary extra-advance diversion, it was announced today by Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin. This is the maximum advance that can be made on the diversion payments. Earlier today, in a statement issued by the President at the White House, the Secretary was instructed to make available a 50 percent advance payment to participants in the 1969 feed grain program. The Presidential statement pointed out that a budget request to the Congress on Jan. 15, 1969, had this advance reduced to 25 percent. Because of the short time between the Jan. 15 budget presentation and the signing up starting Feb. 3, the President indicated the Government has a moral obligation to continue the rate without abrupt change. Projected on previous years' signs and current payment rat-

Hemlines Are Same Length For Spring

By GAY PAULEY UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK UPI - The woman who worried that hemline changes would wreck her spring and summer wardrobe can relax. The woman wondering whether midly and the "unisex" fad would take over also can quit fretting. Daytime hemlines remain the same as last season in collections of designers internationally. And neither nudity nor the his-her lookalikes in fashion dominate the scene. What does change subtly is the mood to new softness, a new prettiness to clothes, with more shape than in previous springs, more belts, more pleats, more fluttering fabrics and colors. "It's a look of movement, of activity... the do your own thing... restriction are out. It's pick and choose and put yourself together to suit your mood," is the way one New York fashion authority puts it. No Fashion Revolution And the mood is the same whether it's New York, Paris or Rome. As the Paris collections end - the last of the "big three" of the fashion capitals to show to the world press - the biggest trend is to individuality. There is no fashion revolution. No one mold for all. The Paris collections were so varied that it was a haute everyday rather than merely haute couture. There were cutouts, see-throughs, metal braesplates, trousers... and there were handsome and beautiful clothes for the woman who dresses quietly rather than sensationally. UPI reporter Joan Deppa, who covered the Paris collections, found designers like Marc Bohan at Dior, Pierre Cardin, Lanvin, Patou, and Chanel all following the "pretty school of thought." Miss Deppa said, though, that the collection from influential Yves St. Laurent was less than pretty - "pretty ugly," as a matter of fact, St. Laurent tried to dramatize women by swathing them from head to toe in drab, dark colors, giving them a skinny, floppy look with wide trousers, maxicoats and facehiding hats. When St. Laurent did let his models wear dresses, the hemline dropped to the top of the knees. Pleated Skirts But Cardin and Marc Bohan both showed high hemlines; at Dior, pleated skirts were three and four inches above the knees. Cardin decided on even higher - almost mid-thigh. All of Paris, New York and Rome liked movement in clothes, the swish of pleats, the softness of floating scarves. St. Laurent made the trousers definitely waist-hugging, but in soft and floppy fabrics and worn with blousy, dull-colored shirts resolutely tucked in. The designer also showed some of the see-through looks he helped to pioneer a year ago, but seemed to have lost interest in the effect. But Andre Courreges looked as if he were just getting started on the idea. He even did stretch, see-through T-shirts under daytime suits in his show. Cardin showed lots of cutouts and plunging necklines. Hemlines stayed well above the knees for day with New York designers like Bill Blass, Chester Weinberg, and Mollie Parnis, to name a few of the influential. All of New York has returned to the waistline, belted, cinched, marked with cummerbunds. Part of the return shows in the revival of the classic shirtwaist dress, usually with soft, full skirt. # Dear Abby

Be Prepared, But Don't Overdo It!

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband has a woman he calls and runs over to see nearly every night. He says there is nothing wrong in it. He tells me that every man needs an extra woman in case his wife dies. He says he isn't getting any younger and he doesn't want to end up alone.

Abby, he is 47 and I am 44, and this other woman is 40. I am in good health and I don't know what he is worried about. If you think I am wrong I'll apologize and let him see her. If he is wrong, please say so in your column as he is a big Abby fan. Thank you.

DEAR MAGGIE: Your husband may not be such a big Abby fan when he sees this. Tell him that I said it's nice to be "prepared," but not to build a snow fence until a blizzard hits.

DEAR ABBY: I now think I have just about heard everything. I have just been told by my 21-year-old son that I may not visit him in his one-bedroom apartment overnight!

I had planned on visiting a friend who lives 200 miles from here, and my son lives half-way between our homes.

I asked my son last night if I could stop over at his place all night to break up the drive, and to my surprise he said I was welcome to visit him during the day, but if I stayed all night the neighbors might talk.

I said, "I am your mother. What could the neighbors say?" During the night I thought about it, and concluded that he must have been kidding, so I called and asked him again, and he said he was serious.

I may be old fashioned, but I don't know what's wrong with a mother staying with her son all night, do you?

If my father were alive, I'd welcome him to stay all night with me in a one-room shack, with a million neighbors looking on. What is your opinion of this?

DEAR SHOCKED: I am also "shocked." It's hard to believe that your son is actually concerned about what his neighbors might say. There could be another reason.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old boy and I guess you could call me "average."

There is a girl at school who everybody says "likes" me. She is a nice enough girl, but Abby, if it weren't for all this talk from everybody I wouldn't think any more of that girl than any other girl. My problem is that she seems to be everywhere I am. I don't date, but I see her in the halls at school all the time.

If I change the time I go to different classes (try to be a little later, or earlier than usual) there she is right in front of me. Or in back of me. Or beside me. I don't want to be rude or mean, but Abby, what is a guy supposed to do? I don't have any special girl yet, and I don't want one. NEEDS ADVICE

DEAR NEEDS: There is nothing you can do. The girl needs advice more than you do, poor kid.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ALL YOU DEFENDERS OF ANIMAL VIRTUE: All right, so there are some animals who mate for life. Mongooses (yes, that's the plural for mongoose), barn owls, red foxes, wolves, coyotes, leopards, and American beavers, to name a few. But I still say that when it comes to a love-in, MOST two-legged animals who walk upright are somewhat more discriminating than the other kind.

Scientists Unveil Unique Pyramid

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—University of California anthropologists have uncovered what may be the oldest pyramid in the New World.

Dr. Robert F. Heiser, professor of anthropology, said carbon-dating techniques indicate the pyramid was built about 800 B.C. by farmers in tropical southeastern Mexico.

The structure, shaped somewhat like an inverted gash, mold with at least 10 regularly alternating valleys and ridges running symmetrically down the slopes, is unlike any other pyramid in America.

Heiser and his colleagues, together with graduate students and Mexican workers, discovered the significance of the giant clay mound located on the island of La Venta.

Located near the coastal plains of the Tonala River, La Venta has been known to scientists for more than 30 years for its agricultural fertility, religion entrusted to the care of a priesthood.

Over the years, students and scholars have unearthed colossal stone heads, jade offerings, stelae, altars and other artifacts.

But until the latest expedition's findings about the size, shape and age of the pyramid, no one fully appreciated the skill, artistry and energy of the grain farmers who flourished on the plain.

Although much smaller than the great rectangular pyramids of other Mexican cultures, the Olmec circular clay mound is 100 feet tall and 420 feet in diameter.

Stroke is responsible for more than 200,000 deaths annually in this country.

Veterans Questions and Answers

Q.— Will I receive educational assistance allowance from the Veterans Administration for my wife and two children if I am enrolled for less than half-time in school?

A.— No. You will be reimbursed for the cost of the course only, with monthly payments not exceeding $60 for less than half-time or $30 for quarter-time or less.

Q.— I am under age 60 but old enough that my World War II G. I. term insurance is already very expensive. I know that I cannot afford the even higher premiums that will be due in the future. However, I still need the insurance protection. Can the Veterans Administration suggest a solution to my problem?

A.— Happily, yes. The Modified Life Plan offers the lowest premium plan protection. You must convert to this coverage before age 61. While the amount of insurance is halved at age 65, you will still have the option then of replacing the reduced half of your coverage with ordinary life insurance.

For additional information and assistance in this matter, check with your nearest VA regional office.

Q.— In determining a veteran's entitlement to a non-service-connected pension, does the Veterans Administration consider the veteran's gross income or his taxable income?

A.— I am over 65 years of age and have no dependents. I have not applied for a pension previously because my income was above the $1,800 limit. This year, however, I expect to incur unusually heavy medical expenses that will bring my taxable income under that limit.

Will this make any difference?

A.— Entitlement to a VA pension is based on gross income from which certain exclusions are deducted by the VA. If you file a claim, list your gross income and its sources—all legal exclusions will be deducted.

Medical expenses do not reduce your gross income except where they are related to a condition for which you are receiving disability retirement benefits.

However, since the income maximum for a veteran with no dependents was increased from $1,800 to $2,000 a year on Jan. 1, check with your nearest VA regional office.

Massive heart research programs, begun in 1960, the year after the first Heart Fund Campaign, have paid off. The overall cardiovascular death rate for persons aged below 65 has declined 18.4 per cent in the United States since 1960.

Hotel Project in Pakistan

NEW YORK (UPI)—A $10 million hotel building program in Pakistan has been undertaken by Pakistan International Airlines, which has formed a new company PIA Hotel Limited, to construct and own 12 inn-type hotels in that country. All 12 hotels, totaling about 300 rooms, are expected to be open by the end of 1970.

New Hiltons

NEW YORK (UPI)—Eight new Hilton International hotels will be opened during 1969, bringing the total operated by the company around the world to 48. ### Restoration in Lima, Peru

LIMA, Peru (UPI)—The Spanish government recently donated furniture and tapestry belonging to the famed Inca Garcilaso de la Vega, of royal Peruvian Indian blood, to the government of Peru, which is reconstructing Garcilaso de la Vega's home in the Andean city of Cuzco.

The 16th century home of the historian is designed as a tourist attraction. The son of a Spanish conqueror and an Indian of the royal Inca family, Garcilaso de la Vega spent his life in both Spain and Peru.

Diseases of the heart and blood vessels now kill more than 1,000,000 persons a year, being responsible for more than 54 per cent of all deaths.

Special Notation

NEW YORK (UPI)—United Air Lines magazine Shield reports the following special notation in the final flight log of one of their retired DC8 propeller planes by the crew: "So long, 6549. It looks like this is your last scheduled flight for UAL. In safety and comfort, you have carried thousands of people over millions of miles, through skies as tranquil as heaven or as forboding as hell. We hope your new owners treat you as you have treated us." Above the comment was a lipstick kiss imprint by one of the stewardesses.
