Seen & Heard Around Murray

Now comes Vernon Hale, looking better than ever. Vernon retired two or three years ago and it seems to agree with him.

He brings us a book on the Purple Martin, a bird which is deemed to be decidedly advantageous to any community since it eats upwards of 2,000 mosquitoes a day. Since we have plenty of mosquitoes, we would welcome this gregarious Avian.

When we read the book, we'll pass on the cogent information contained therein.

As you know Vernon ran National Stores for fifteen years. He always did stay in tip top physical condition as we evidenced two or three years before he retired when he dug out a big stump they discovered under the sidewalk during some remodeling of the store.

Government blivvs who fly down to President Nixon's retreat just off from Miami in Biscayne Bay, have to use government planes. They are afraid they use commercial airlines, they might be sidetracked to that island paradise Cuba.

Watching several Doves out in the yard this morning and they are so delicately colored and shaded they seem almost artificial. The deep rose on the breast changes very subtly to a rich gray on the back. The fine.

Bids Asked On Extension At Airport

The Murray-Calloway County Airport Board today is advertising for bids for a nine hundred foot runway extension at Kyle Field.

The work at the airport will consist of grading, drainage and the paving of the nine hundred foot extension.

This extension will make the runway about 4,000 feet which will accommodate a plane the size of a DC-3.

The work will involve 6200 cubic yards of excavation as the extension is prepared for paving.

Watkins and Associates, Inc. are the consulting engineers for the project.

The Airport Board reserves the right in the bid request to reject any and all bids for the project.

Funds for the project will come from a cooperative venture with the Federal government, state government plus local funds. The local airport board receives funds from both county and city governments and also leases crop land at the airport from which it realizes funds.

Dr. Hugh Oakley is chairman of the Murray-Calloway County Airport Board.

Bro. Dean Crutchfield Of Green Plain Goes To India

Dean Crutchfield, minister of the Green Plain Church of Christ, left Monday for Madras, India, where he will be working with Bro. Carl E. Johnson in the ministry of the church and school there for six weeks.

Bro. Crutchfield will be preaching each evening in the churches, and during the days will be teaching in the School of Preachers for the young native boys there established by the Church of Christ.

The Calloway County minister left Kennedy Airport, New York, on Monday. He was to make stops at Rome, Italy, Athens, Greece, Tel Aviv, Israel, Bombay, India, before arriving in Madras.

On his return trip, Bro. Crutchfield will come by Tokyo, Japan, then having gone completely around the world by the time he arrives home six weeks from now.

The Green Plain Church of Christ is paying Bro. Crutchfield his salary while he is away, and other churches in the area have donated money to help pay his expenses to India.

Bro. Crutchfield has always wanted to go to India to work with the Church of Christ ministers working there.

Bro. and Mrs. Crutchfield resided in Fairbanks, Alaska for thirteen years where he helped to establish a congregation of the Church of Christ at Delta Junction, Alaska. The Crutchfields operated a film laboratory and sold for Kodak while living in Fairbanks.

The Crutchfield family resided in the state of Maine for one and one-half years before coming to the Green Plain Church of Christ here in June of 1967.

Bro. Crutchfield is from Fulton and attended the University of Alaska, and Abilene Christian College, Texas. His wife is the former Mary Evelyn Baker of Mounds, Ill. They have three sons, Gary, a junior at the Green Plain High School, Lee, an eighth grade student at Hazel Elementary School, and Edward, who will be two in May.

Last year the Green Plain Church of Christ sponsored a group to go to Nebraska and Kansas to work with the churches there. Bro. Crutchfield and his family all went with his group, but his family was unable to go to India due to the expense of the trip, which was donated by the Church of Christ congregations in the area.

While Bro. Crutchfield is away, visiting persons will be speaking at Green Plain. Bro. Robert Urey of Murray will be donating his time each Sunday evening during the six weeks period. He said he could not go to India, but he could give his time for Bro. Crutchfield.

On Sunday, March 2, at the morning service at 10:45 the visiting speaker will be Bro. Tip Curd, teacher in the schools at Nashville, Tenn. His wife and son, Charles, age three, will accompany him to Green Plain.

Arthritis Drive Plans Are Released

The Murray Woman's Club has begun work for the Arthritis Foundation in Murray and Calloway County.

At a recent meeting held in the home of Mrs. C. C. Lowry, Hal Leichardt, field representative of the Kentucky Arthritis Foundation, presented some of the facts and statistics concerning the disease. There are approximately 13,000,000 victims in the U. S. and the goal of the Arthritis Foundation is a total answer to the problem—both prevention and cure, according to Leichardt.

Those present at the meeting were Mrs. Ken Harrell, Mrs. Richard Knight, Miss Barbara Brown, and Mrs. C. C. Lowry. The state chairman of the Kentucky Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation is Mrs. Ned Brechitt; the county chairman, Mrs. C. C. Lowry; city chairman, Mrs. R. W. Knight; and county campaign treasurer, Mrs. James Rudy Albritton; and special events chairman, Mrs. Ken Harrell. Mrs. Harrell is also advisor for the Alpha Omicron Pi sorority at MSU and this group will be assisting with the campaign.

A canvas of the city will be made by the Kappa Delta chapter of the Murray Woman's Club on Friday night, May 9; and a roadblock and collection from downtown merchants will be conducted by the AOPi sorority on Saturday, May 10.

Everyone is urged to contribute to this cause so that a prevention and cure may be further sought. The county campaign officers are confident that the goal of $740 for this county can be reached and surpassed if everyone, when given an opportunity, will contribute even a small amount, a spokesman said.

Veteran Insurance Rumor Is A Hoax Says Administration

A false and misleading rumor or widespread in Kentucky is plaguing the Veterans Administration and leading hundreds of veterans to write or call requesting dividends on GI insurance based on service in World War II.

Congress has not passed a law giving all World War II veterans a $50 per $1,000 dividend on GI policies. The VA has also not requested veterans to write regarding such a dividend. It is a hoax.

The only dividends that the VA is currently paying are for World War I and World War II veterans who have continued their Government life insurance in force. These dividends are paid on an annual basis and are distributed on the anniversary date of the policies. A request is not necessary.

THANKS CARNIE HENDON

TOMORROW will be the last day for Carnie Hendon at the Murray Postoffice after having worked there for forty seven years.

He plans to retire from this position, but not from the business, civic, and social life of Murray.

Carnie has been secretary for the local WOW Camp 592 since 1935 and will continue this position.

From these tenures of service a person can easily see that Carnie Hendon is a person who sticks to a job. We take this opportunity to thank Carnie for his service to the postoffice and thereby, for his service to his community at that post.

His attitude of service is indeed refreshing in this day and time when the trend is to reject responsibility. A person who accepts responsibility and carries out his duties is a "pearl" indeed.

Times have changed, attitudes have changed, trends have changed, thinking has changed, but the moral values and the true values of 10,000 years ago are still unchanged. There just is no substitute for a person of integrity, personal responsibility, and high ethical standards.

Good luck to Carnie Hendon in the future. People like him are the foundation stones of the community of Murray, and Calloway County.

Drilling For Oil Offshore No Windfall

Are oil company payments for off-shore drilling rights really a "windfall" for the U. S. taxpayer?

No, says the National Audubon Society. The Santa Barbara oil slick shows that the short-term cost of cleaning up the mess, plus hidden but long-term damage to natural areas, can come to far more than the oil company paid into the U. S. Treasury.

Comments National Audubon: It's a windfall, all right — but not for the taxpayer.

The damage to wildlife already caused by the well that went wild off Santa Barbara "will be with us for many years, perhaps for a man's lifetime," according to Fred Ross, a professional biologist for the National Audubon Society who is stationed in California. His alarm is shared by Mrs. E. A. Parkinson, president of the Santa Barbara Audubon Society, who was a leader in rescue efforts for oil-smeared wildlife and who deserves major credit for curbing misuse of chemicals by federal agencies fighting the oil slick. (The big Torrey Canyon oil spill off the coast of England two years ago proved to biologists that the chemicals can be even more injurious to fisheries and other wildlife than the oil. The California Department of Fish and Game did not permit use of the chemicals, but much of the spill flowed outside of the State's three-mile jurisdictional limit.)

The conservation organization believes that off-shore drilling should be banned until and unless it can be done with far greater assurance against such a disaster, and also with far less offense to natural beauty than the present unsightly rigs off the California coast. Meanwhile there can be orderly research on how the oil can be extracted safely for possible future transportation and defense needs.

The total costs of the Santa Barbara spill are going to be difficult to pin down, asserts the National Audubon Society, because "you can't put a price tag on natural beauty the way you can on a barrel of oil." The price is nonetheless a real one, say the conservationists. This is how they figure it.

There is no charge, for example, for watching a pelican swim low over the breakers off a gleaming white California beach. There are, however, fabulous charges — perhaps $100 per waterfront foot — for real estate for which natural beauty is a major attraction; costly homes, beach clubs, yacht basins, and restaurants provide tax revenues and jobs; lovely water-side parks can make the community a more desirable place to live and hence benefit all business there.

The mayor of Carpinteria, a short distance down from the coast of Santa Barbara, testified before a Congressional hearing that 80 percent of the economy of his community is based on the natural environment. In addition to the attractions of natural beauty, and clean and productive water for swimming and sports fishing, he also included the value of commercial fisheries, and of scientific and educational institutions engaged in marine study and research.

Further — and even more vehemently — the conservationists insist there are more things in this world than cold cash. Natural beauty, then, say, is a priceless treasure to be passed on to future generations.

Audubon Society Biologist Ross, who toured oil gummed islands off the Santa Barbara coast, reports: "The loss of marine life in the littoral zone is virtually complete. Within a matter of hours after the wind-plastered slick of the crude on the rocks, they became a biological desert."

"It may be difficult to wax emotional over a limp starfish or an empty urchin, but with their passing the chain of life is as surely broken as with the loss of the grabe, clam, or mussel. The smothered crude acts first to smother all living things on the rock, then settles down to stay in the form of tar, which presents an unsuitle surface for the attachment of the plants and animals which make up the intertidal community."

"The tar will be there for many years, perhaps for a man's lifetime."

Immediate damage to birds, a particular interest of the Audubon Society, was not extensive because the spill came at a season when there were no heavy concentrations in the area, Mr. Ross said. But, he added, it remains to be seen how much the birds will suffer from the loss of their feeding grounds.

What this and other oil spill damage can eventually cost America, no one knows, says the National Audubon Society, but clearly such spills are injurious to natural resource-oriented recreation and industry worth hundreds upon hundreds of millions of dollars a year.

The Society is not only concerned by the California spill but also by the oil boom in Alaska, where oil fields have been found at the water's edge, Alaska, once thought of as a wild, almost untouched frontier, is fast feeling the effects of modern technology. The edge of the sea there and everywhere else in the world, is a particularly rich biological zone, supporting a large share of the fish caught offshore and of the seals, otters and other wildlife dependent on it.

Not only abortive wells, like Santa Barbara's and major tanker disasters, like the Torrey Canyon, but also larger numbers of comparatively small spills are causing continuing damage to wildlife and hence ultimately to man. The Society has testified in favor of pending federal legislation penalties for oil spills and provide incentives for stricter precautions on the part of the oil industry.

Evolution Of A Name

Bell named the town "Bellevue" after himself. Later this was misspelled, "Bellevue," and still later it became "Bellevue," the name it has carried since.

Higher Revenues But Lower Earnings

KNOXVILLE 27 — The Tennessee Valley Authority reported Tuesday it had higher revenues and lower earnings during the last six months of 1968 than for the same period of 1967.

TVA reported earnings of $18.3 million, down $11.3 million from the previous year. Revenues for the period totaled $189 million, an increase of about $8 million.

The agency said that climbing interest rates, a boost in production costs and continued dry weather which reduced hydro generation and increased the use of steam generation accounted for the reduction in earnings.

TVA said it paid $26,541,119 to the U. S. Treasury on Dec. 31 as half of its annual dividend, with the remainder to be paid in June.

Western's Jim Rose (11) has extraordinary ability although only 6-3. The sophomore-jumping-jack-fired-in 21 points in the Hilltopper-Tennessee Tech game last week which Western won by a landslide 90-54. Rose will be only one of the Western quintet that the Racers must stop in this Saturday night's crucial OVC tilt.

Western Will Invade Murray Saturday; Racers Are Ready

Murray State's Racers, who missed a chance for a tie for the Ohio Valley Conference championship when they lost at East Tennessee Saturday night, could still assure their place by beating Western Kentucky Saturday night. The Racers still lead the OVC with a 10-3 record. Western and Morehead are tied for second at 9-3. Saturday's game will be the season's last for Murray. Western still must play at Austin Peay, and Morehead has a home game left with Tennessee Tech and a road game with East Tennessee.

After falling behind East Tennessee by 15 points early in the second half, the Racers almost pulled the game out, rallying to within two points of the Buccaneers, but they could never take the lead and lost 67-61. The loss was only the fifth in 25 games for Murray this season. Forward Claude Virden had a brilliant game against the Bucs, hitting 13 of 21 field goal attempts and 9 of 9 free throws for 25 points, his season high. He also had 15 rebounds. Virden has hit better than 70 per cent of his field goal attempts in the last two Racers games and is 15 for 15 at the line. He has scored 896 points for the year for a 23.4 average. His season field goal percentage is 50.9 and his free throw percentage is 70.0.

25 Teams To Play In NCAA

KANSAS CITY, Mo. UPI — UCLA's tournament path to an unprecedented third straight National Collegiate Athletic Association NCAA basketball championship was clear today with the completion of a maximum 25 team bracket for the first time in five years.

The NCAA Tuesday filled 10 at large berths, including among its selections three nationally ranked teams from the East. The other 15 berths are reserved for conference champions with UCLA, by winning the Pacific Eight, being one of seven conference titlist drawing automatic first-round byes into the regionals.

Nine first-round games will be played March 8 at five different sites, including two in the East at Rhode Island University and North Carolina State. The four regionals — East, Midwest, Southeast and West — will be played March 13 and 15 with the finals scheduled for the University of Louisville March 20 and 22.

The Bruins, top-ranked and unbeaten in 22 games this season, will host the West regional in Los Angeles.

The NCAA Tuesday tabbed eighth-ranked St. John's 20-3, ninth-ranked Villanova 20-4 and 10th ranked Duquesne for the three independent berths in the East. Marquette 19-4 and Notre Dame 18-5 accepted invitations to compete as at-large entrants in the Midwest and defending National Invitation Tournament champion Dayton, unranked with a 17-6 record, landed one of three at large bids in the Midwest.

Other Midwest independent berths went to Colorado State University 15-4, which has never won a game in four previous NCAA appearances, and Trinity University 18-4, which finished third a year ago in the NCAA's college division championships.

New Mexico State, ranked 13th nationally with a 21-3 record and a second-round NCAA loser to UCLA last year, and Seattle 18-7, which will be making its 11th straight season appearance, accepted bids as at large teams in the West.

Ashland No. 1, UPI

By STEVE SMILANICH

UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK — The Ashland College Eagles enter the final week of the regular basketball season with one national championship virtually wrapped up and another crown within their reach.

The Eagles, top defensive club in the nation the past two seasons, are a cinch to gain their third straight title as the hardest team to score against.

And the Ohio school is within one step of the title of United Press International small college champion.

The Ohioans, grudgingly yielding an average of 35 points a game this season, solidified their week-old grip on the top position in the UPI ratings by being voted the No. 1 team for the second successive week.

The 35-member UPI coaching rating board gave the Eagles 21 first place votes and a total of 304 points in the 12th weekly ratings. With only one more week of balloting remaining, the Eagles held a 70-point bulge over Fairmont State.

Ashland, 23-1 thus far, has two league games remaining and the Eagles could wind up with their best record ever by taking both contests.

Fairmont, winningest team among those in the rankings, moved past Kentucky Wesleyan and Nevada Las Vegas to take over the No. 2 spot. The West Virginians have a 25-1 mark.

Frank McGuire feels that second-ranked North Carolina wasn't the only obstacle that derailed South Carolina's victory express Wednesday night.

McGuire saw his nine-game winning streak come to an end as North Carolina avenged an earlier defeat by edging the Gamecocks 68-62. The win clinched a tie for first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference for North Carolina.

BIGGEST CONTRACT IN CLUB'S HISTORY

Yaz, Red Sox Sign AL's Richest Deal

By BOB STEWART

UPI Sports Writer

Carl Yazdzinski got his $100,000-plus, Bob Gibson didn't get his, Camilo Pascual agreed to $45,000 and scores upon scores of lesser stars grabbed what they were offered and went to work in the major league training camps Wednesday.

Boston Red Sox General Manager Dick O'Connell claimed that Yaz' contract made Carl the highest paid player in the American League. Baltimore's Frank Robinson's approximate $115,000 had been tops and a chap named Ted Williams once got $125,000.

Gibson and Bing Devine of the St. Louis Cardinals could only agree they were apart as how much the 33-year-old right-handed pitcher was worth. Devine apparently offered over $100,000, but not the $125,000 Gibson has in mind for the 1968 ERA, 22-9 record, 15 consecutive victories and 47 straight scoreless innings he posted last season as the Cards won the NL pennant in a walk.

Slight Raise

Pascual accepted a slight raise from the Washington Senators after a 20-minute chat with owner Bob Short, who was preparing himself for the arrival of home run champion Frank Howard at Pompano Beach, Fla. Thursday. Howard has two requests—a $75,000 contract and an extra week's delay in reporting so he can settle business affairs in Green Bay, Wis.

Harry Dalton, who handles contract work for the Baltimore Orioles, has his Robinson safely on the line, but is facing a trio of big names talking big money. Club RBI leader Boog Powell, 23-game winner Dave McNally and 15-game winner Tom Phoebus all want hefty increases.

At Tampa, Fla., National League bating champion Pete Rose was conspicuous by his absence. Pete is sitting it out in his Cincinnati home, having declined General Manager Bob Howsam's offer of $20,000 over the $55,000 of 1968.

New York Yankees

The New York Yankees landed pitcher Mel Stottlemyre for $55,000, but were getting nowhere with Al Downing, who pitched only 61 innings and had a 3-3 record a year ago. Downing has taken on an agent to do his negotiating, but the Yankee office wants to deal with Al directly.

The New York Mets appeared calm about the unsigned status of Ron Swoboda, Tummie Agee, J. C. Martin and Ed Kranepool and the Los Angeles Dodgers said that all but two players—pitcher Claude Osteen and outfielder Len Gabrielson were at Vero Beach camp or on their way.

Things were back to normal for the spring ritual.

Bird Dog Trials Continue

By United Press International

GRAND JUNCTION, Tenn. — A setter, Toronado, joins three pointers today in field trials for the 70th annual National Bird Dog Championship.

Volcanic Butch and Rambling Nellie were braced for the three-hour morning round with Toronado and Gunsmoke's Admiration in the afternoon.

The British Warriors, owned by Maury and Ann Whitfield of Corinth, Miss., failed to establish himself as a contender for the national title Wednesday but pleased the gallery of horsemen.

Handled by D. Hoyle Eaton of Booneville, Miss., Warrior pinned a covey of quail in a ditch only 25 minutes after breakfast. He had an unproductive but two more coveys and a back of his brace mate, setter Fleming Star.

Star, owned by Gunby Jordan of Columbus, Ga., and handled by Butch Smith of Hattiesburg, Ala., nabbing for his father, Herman Smith, was a favorite of the gallery.

He had two nice finds, a rabbit and an unproductive but lacked pattern.

Jorvick's Dixiecat, owned by Jordan and handled by Winfield Campbell of Warwick, Ga., and California Sammy, owned by George and Bonita Szody of San Jose, Calif., and handled by Roy Jones of Forkland, Ala., had a bad session in the afternoon.

Dixiecat broke fast and disappeared while Sammy had several unproductives before disappearing.

taking both contests. Fairmont, winningest team among those in the rankings, moved past Kentucky Wesleyan and Nevada Las Vegas to take over the No. 2 spot. The West Virginians have a 25-1 mark.

Johnny Jones dropped in 24 points to lead ninth-ranked Villanova to a 73-56 victory over Seton Hall. The Wildcats, who completed their season with a 24-4 mark, held a 34-31 lead at halftime and broke it open behind the second half shooting of Jones and Jim McIntosh. Mel Knight led Seton Hall with 17 points.

Tenth-ranked Duquesne, behind a 19 point performance by Gerry Major, downed St. Francis, Pa. 72-63 to register its 18th victory of the season. Larry Lewis topped St. Francis with 18 points and 18 rebounds.

Louisville Downs St. Louis; Morehead-Dayton Stopped

By United Press International

The University of Louisville holds a full one-game lead in its quest for a third consecutive Missouri Valley Conference title, following Wednesday night's 93-67 rout of St. Louis.

The Cardinals now hold a 12-2 MVC mark, compared with runner-up Drake's 11-3 log. The loss dropped St. Louis to 5-8 in the MVC.

Junior center Mike Grossa led the Cardinals with 19 points and 18 rebounds, while Jerry King and Dennis Deeken topped in 17 apiece and Butch Beard notched 16.

The Cardinals never trailed in the first half, although St. Louis tied it twice in the early going before fast-breaking Louisville galloped to a 42-27 intermission lead.

Morehead State didn't fare as well Wednesday night, dropping to Dayton 75-63 in a game called with 4:32 remaining when a free-throw erupted in the Flyers' Fieldhouse.

The game, marred by 42 personal fouls, became wild when driving Kenny May of Dayton collided with pursuing Willie Jackson of Morehead and both crashed to the floor.

As officials called a foul, Jackson began swinging, according to Bob Smith, a Southeastern Conference official. Then Dayton's Dan Sadler headed for the fight, along with all players and members of the Dayton bench.

A spectator then struck Don Sullivan, an Ohio Valley Conference official, causing officials to call the game.

Morehead, coach Bob Wright said Smith's account of the melee was incorrect as Jackson did not get involved until later.

According to Wright, Morehead substitute Don Byars was pushed into the grandstand by Sadler. Jackson went to assist Byars, Wright said, and Sullivan was struck by a Dayton fan when he tried to break up the fracas.

"I didn't even know the game was called until my manager told me," Wright said. "The officials ran into the dressing room before the fight was over - they could have cared less about the game." Wright said he believed the

Kentucky Should Wrap Up SEC Title This Weekend

By DAVID MOFFITT

UPI Sports Writer

The sixth-ranked Kentucky Wildcats, scoring more than 100 points in six of their last 10 games, are expected to wrap up their 24th Southeastern Conference title this weekend and thus earn an NCAA bid for the 18th time.

The high scoring 62.3 ppg Wildcats, two games ahead of runner-up Tennessee, will be at Vanderbilt Saturday afternoon and then move over to Auburn Monday night.

They should be all the defending SEC champs, 20-3 overall and 14-1 in league play, need. But if they should stumble during the weekend, the Kentucky - Tennessee finals the following Saturday could become the SEC basketball game of the year.

In earlier games this season, at home, Kentucky beat Vanderbilt 103-89 and Auburn 105-93. Tennessee, which was yielded a stingy 57.4 ppg, takes on the same two foes this weekend Auburn Saturday and Vanderbilt Monday.

There are two other SEC games Saturday. Georgia will be at Florida in a battle for third place that will feature 6-foot-10 all-conference Neal Walk of the Gators against 6-foot-11 all-conference Bob Lienhard of the Bulldogs.

The other game finds Louisiana State at Mississippi with "Pistol Pete" Maravich, the runaway national scoring leader with his 42.9 point pace, anxious to make amends for being held to a season low of 20 points by Tennessee last Monday.

Florida State 16-8, the Southeast's best independent, will be at Florida Southern tonight and then close out the season at Miami Saturday. In other independent finals Saturday, Georgia Tech will be at Tulane and Houston at Virginia Tech.

Maravich needs only 14 points Saturday to become the first college player ever to reach the 1,000 mark twice.

The 6-foot-5 LSU junior became the highest two-year scorer in history Monday when a 45-point outburst against Kentucky, despite an injured leg, raised his total to 2,064.

Dan Issel, Kentucky's 6-foot-8 junior, appears to have runner-up scoring honors in the SEC just about clinched. Issel raised his average to 26.0 last weekend by scoring 36 points against LSU and 35 against Alabama. Walk 23.8 and Lienhard 23.5 are dueling for third.

Dear Abby

Stop the Booze and the Bags

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband had too much to drink last night, and confessed that the reason he bought me that beautiful beaded bag for St. Valentine's day was because he'd bought one for his girl friend and he felt guilty. Now I don't even want the bag.

What do you think?

DEAR HURT: I think your husband should quit drinking and looking at bags.

DEAR ABBY: I work in a large office and each time one of our girls goes on pregnancy leave, we have a baby shower for her. At the present time we have an unmarried girl who will be going on pregnancy leave soon. What do we do about this?

Should we ignore the whole thing? Or should we go ahead and give her a baby shower as though everything were normal and acceptable to all of us? Wouldn't this be condoning her condition? Or maybe we should just take up a collection and give her the money instead?

Any suggestions you can offer would be very much appreciated as this whole office is divided as to what we should do.

NAMELESS, PLEASE

DEAR NAMELESS: A baby shower for an unmarried girl could be awkward and strained for all concerned. But depending upon your collective judgment of the girl herself, I think an act of compassion and helpfulness (a quiet collection) would be appreciated by the mother-to-be, and make you all feel better.

DEAR ABBY: I can add nothing to your suggestion to the woman whose husband "ignored" her after her hysterectomy. However, for the sake of other women who may postpone or refuse that operation because they feel they may be considered "less of a woman" by an uninformed husband, let me express my feelings:

My wife had a hysterectomy 14 years ago, so I've seen her scar thousands of times. When I notice it I always have two feelings. One is sympathy for the pain she suffered to get that scar. The other is a feeling of thankfulness that she has it. Without that scar, I wouldn't have her either. I have friends who have no scar to look at. Their children have no mother.

"THANKFUL" IN KANSAS CITY

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the wife whose husband decided after five children that he wanted a younger woman described MY situation when I was raising our five youngsters.

I could have thrown him out, but I didn't on the advice of a lawyer friend who told me that our children would do better in a home with both parents—be it as it would be at times—than in a broken home with no father at all.

I covered for my husband when possible, but our children knew we had our problems. They were taken (not sent) to church, and we did everything we could to give them a good moral upbringing. Their father, believe it or not, was very helpful, too.

Now the children are grown and gone, and have their own families. After the last was married I let their father go. There are no hard feelings. The war is over. Who needs revenge when the results are so sweet?

NOT SORRY

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 6970, Los Angeles, Cal., 90060 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Entomologists Club Meets At The Home Of David Smith

The young Entomologists of the New Concord "Victor's" 4-H Club met recently at the home of their Junior Leader, David Smith, with Mrs. Evelyn V. Smith assisting.

The members present were: Charles Acker, Mary Jane Leyto, Mike Musser, George Campbell and Benny Pittman.

David urged the members to start their insect collection early, to plan to display them at the County Fair and to become familiar with the necessary record books needed to complete their project. Plans were made for making an insect killing jar and an insect mounting board.

All eligible students of New Concord School who are not members of the 4-H Club are welcome to join now. Collecting insects is not only fun, but educational also, the club spokesman said.

Rimless sunglasses now come with soft tinted lenses in pink, blue, yellow, apricot, grey, brown, lime, lavender or red. A new line includes many lens shapes to accent every face. Nose and ear sections are gold finished metal.

Mrs. Harlan Hodges Gives Review For Alpha Delta Kappa

Mrs. Harlan Hodges portrayed the characters of Pearl Buck's best seller, "The New Year", in a book review for members of Alpha Delta Kappa last week at the home of Mrs. Charles Chaney.

Mrs. Hodges relived the days of a Chinese boy whose father was an American soldier. However, she said, when the father's tour of duty ended in the far east, the soldier returned to his wife in the United States.

Mrs. Hodges, dressed in a floor length gown of crimson velvet, explained that children in the far east who had American fathers were considered outcasts by the oriental people.

She noted all of the hardships of the mother and child for survival alone after the father returned home. For nearly ten years, she said, the mother and child struggled.

Then one day, she said, the little boy found the address the father had left with his mother in case she ever needed him.

"Well," Mrs. Hodges said, "the little boy wrote to him." However, she continued, the father was engaged in a political battle for the governorship of the state of Pennsylvania.

When the father received the little boy's note, she said, he was afraid this would put a black mark on his political career, perhaps even end it.

After much concern and worry about the boy, she said, the father and his American wife decided to bring the boy to America for an education. But, she said, when he was brought to a boarding school and was not permitted to live at home.

In the end, she said, the father did accept the little boy as his son and he lived at home like a son.

Dr. Gwendolyn Grossman presided at the business meeting with twenty members present. Refreshments of cherry pudding cake were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Vandell Wraether and Mrs. Paul Sturm.

The president, Mrs. Wallace Ford, opened the short business session which preceded the dinner. The members heard a report from Mrs. Willard Alls, chairman of the Heart Fund, on their efforts to collect money for this worthwhile organization.

Twenty-seven persons were present at the dinner meeting.

Mrs. Henry Armstrong, Recent Bride, Is Complimented With Household Shower

Mrs. Henry Armstrong, who before her marriage on January 10 was Miss Gedia Paschall, was the honoree at a delightfully planned household shower held at the Student Union Building, Murray State University, on Thursday, February 20, at seven o'clock in the evening.

The gracious hostesses for the special occasion were Mrs. William N. Murdoch, Mrs. Max Smotherman, Miss Cathy Harris, and Miss Frances Armstrong.

For the event the honoree chose to wear a pink wool dress and was presented a hostesses' gift corsage of red roses.

Mrs. Rudolph Paschall, mother of the honoree, wore a grey dress, and Mrs. Thomas Armstrong, mother-in-law of the honoree, wore a blue knit dress. They, along with the recent bride's grandmother, Mrs. Mary Oakley, wore hostesses' gift corsages of white carnations.

The guests were greeted by Miss Cathy Harris who asked them to sign the register at the table overlaid with a white cloth and centered with a red velvet heart shaped pillow with the words, "Henry and Gedia".

You Can't Have Everything

Our Wealthiest Women Will Never See 65 Again

NEW YORK (UPI)—American women with fabulous fortunes—$100 million and up—made the "centimillionaire" ranks through the inheritance trail. But when it comes to passing it on to their heirs, the rich women have something in common with women of modest means.

One reason: The surest thing to these ladies, as all humans, is death and—in these United States—the hand of the federal tax collectors.

"THEIR HEIRS might well find themselves the victims of reversed fortunes once the 'grim reaper' has taken his bite," women were told at a money management conference sponsored by Anchor Corp., a mutual fund headquartered in Elizabeth, New Jersey.

The richest women in America range in age from 39 (Cordelia Scaife May of the Mellon family), to 84 (Mrs. Alfred I. Du Pont), says the fund.

Except for Doris Duke, at age 55 one of the most celebrated of the granddames, and Mrs. W. Buhl Ford II (Josephine Ford), who is 44, the remaining richest of the rich women are over 65.

ANCHOR's capsule profile on some of the wealthiest women:

• Mrs. Lester J. Norris was a niece of the late John W. ("Bet-a-million") Gales. When he and his wife died around the time of World War I, Mrs. Norris became the sole heir to interests in the old American Wire and Steel Co., now a part of U.S. Steel. She now is 65 and believed the largest stockholder in Texaco with more than 1.4 million shares. She and her husband own about $125 million worth of the company.

• Mrs. W. Van Alan Clark Sr., 80, has a net worth of over $200 million. She had imbued her son and heir to the Ayon Products fortune with her father's life philosophy: "People who don't work are dull... vapid and stupid."

• Mrs. Charles Payson, nee Joan Whitney, has managed to pool her two loves, horses and baseball players, to financial and avocational advantages. She is a major owner of the New York Mets and manages to make money on them even as they continue to let down her fondest hope for an honorary berth in the Cooperstown Hall of Fame.

Often she can be seen at Belmont Park, binoculars trained on a favorite filly, while at ear a transistor radio keeps her up to the moment on the pennant race. Mrs. Payson is in the $200 to $300 million net worth class.

• In the same money class, Marjorie Merriweather Post, whose Post Toasties were parlayed into General Foods, holds sway over Blue Book teas from Washington to Palm Beach. Recently she announced two fabbed homes would be turned over to the public as museums after her death.

AT THE TIME the Anchor people compiled their report, the power of the Rockefeller and Ford money continued to be a subject of song and story. Much of it is channeled through two giant foundations, either one of which would rival the total assets of a fair-sized principality in a run for their money.

"Two ladies privy to fabulous fortunes bearing the Rockefeller and Ford names are Mrs. Jean Maule, the publicity-shy only sister of the five brothers Rockefeller, and Mrs. W. Buhl Ford II, whose maiden name, also Ford, displays quite literally an embarrassment of riches," the money management people reported.

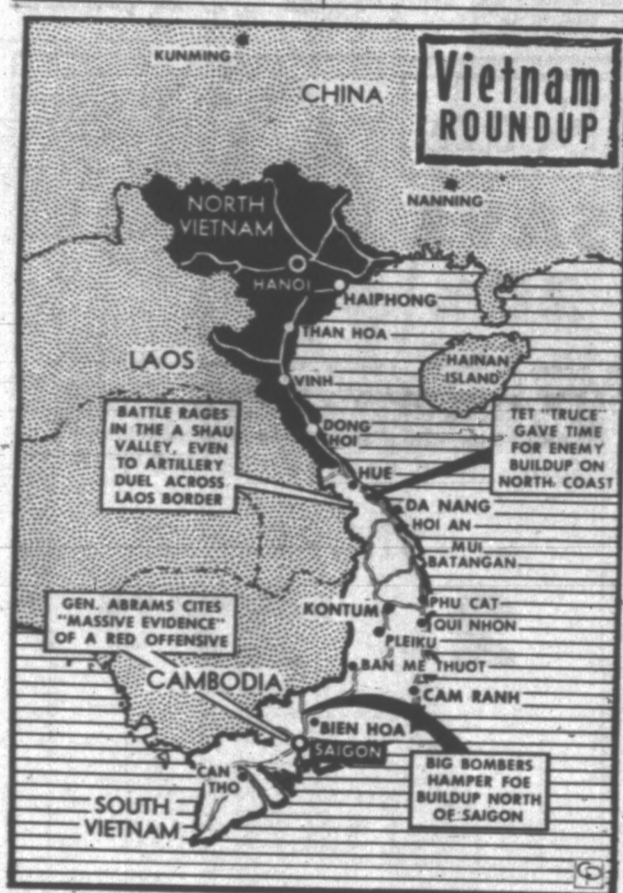

THEY ALSO said the Du Pont name always has been synonymous with position and power. The dowager empress of the legendary Wilmington realm now holds court in Jacksonville, still active and responsible at the age of 84.

"She is the personification of old money," the Anchor people reported. "Not likely to suffer the slings and arrows of outrageous 'misfortune,' her heirs probably will be content among tomorrow's super rich."

But the old wealth, they noted, that smug and secure wealth, is dying. The new very rich women will be a breed seeking their own fortunes on their own terms.

SOME working women, through the same route, seem headed for the centimillionaire club. Consider Muriel Siebert, first female owner of a seat on the New York Stock Exchange. Miss Siebert paid nearly half a million for the honor.

There is Mary Wells Lawrence, one of the top three figures in the advertising world. Mrs. Lawrence started as an advertising copywriter and parlayed her agency's billings from zero to almost $80 million in three years.

Field Trials For Dogs Set This Weekend

Plans are being finalized for the inaugural running Saturday and Sunday of the first annual spring bird dog trial sponsored by the newly-organized Paris-Henry County Field Trial Association.

The event will be run over the Don Bowden farm, one mile south of Henry, just east of Highway 78. Directions to the site will be provided to all who attend a position drawing Friday night.

Judges for the event will be Dick Allen of Clarksville and Dr. Carroll Looney of Springfield.

A good field is expected, with entries being limited to the first 48 dogs entered. Two stakes will be run: amateur derby (dogs less than two years old) and amateur shooting dog (over two years). Thirty-minute heats will be used, with first brace being cast off at 8 a.m. Saturday.

Trophies will be presented to the winners and runners-up in the two stakes. Entries will remain open until the time of drawing Friday night, but owners are encouraged to enter their dogs sooner if possible. Entry blanks may be obtained from association secretary, Dickie Crank, at the Tower Sports Center.

Plans have been made to have sandwiches, soft drinks, coffee and candy available at the site for the convenience of handlers and spectators.

Now a full service for eight cups and saucers can be protected against chipping and dust by storing in the newest addition to the line of double-quilted vinyl and foam china covers. The slipper cover in a white and gold vinyl has eight separate cup compartments, a center compartment for saucers, rigid base and top foam insert as extra safeguards.

Does the bathtub or shower have a non-skid mat and vertical as well as horizontal grabbers? It should, for safety's sake.

Music Makers

The Family Needs More 'Motivation'

BY GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—A guitar came to our house for Christmas and for the next few weeks we figured at least one member of the family was just short of discovery for the Glen Campbell show.

Let one member of the clan put the guitar down and another would pick it up. For days, there was talk of frets and clefs and fingering. Self-teaching booklets began to pile up, someone added a guitar tuner, and even the parakeet duo was enjoying the sound of homemade music. One small virtuoso even was picking out parts of "Long, Long Ago."

BUT SOON what occurs in many homes happened in ours; the enthusiasm for strumming waned, someone broke the G-string, and our hired girl was dusting the guitar along with the rest of the furniture.

Marion Egbert, director of educational services for AMC, believes that when junior's enthusiasm for music flags, parents definitely can do something to revive it. Says Egbert: "Parents' obligation extends far beyond the purchase of an instrument and engaging a teacher."

SOME OF Egbert's guidelines:

• Be sure the student is studying a musical instrument that interests him. Don't force the child to piano or violin just because you like it.

• Understand that every student reaches "plateaus" in learning. This period must be weathered by the student and the teacher until the child hits that "spark" for progressing once more.

• Be sure the family is co-operating in making practice time conducive to concentration. And don't prolong practice. It should be divided into two or three short sessions, depending on the child's concentration span.

• Criticize, praise, suggest—never nag. Nudging may create a "what's the use?" attitude. And don't compare his progress with that of someone else's child. Progress depends on the individual.

VOTE FOR THE WINNER

Helping turn back the electoral challenge of the Rev. Ian Paisley, a militant Protestant, Premier Terence O'Neill casts his ballot in Belfast, Northern Ireland. O'Neill, who is pushing a program to give Roman Catholics equal rights in Northern Ireland, won a clear majority in Parliament.

Bell Bottoms Recall Era Of John Held Jr.

BY WALTER LOGAN

NEW YORK (UPI)—The United States is in the middle of another one of its fashion rages—bell bottom trousers up to 24 inches wide at the bottom. The fad has even rubbed off onto the more sedate clothing lines which are showing some flare.

The men who are wearing them are in the teens and early 20s and far too young to remember John Held Jr., and his cartoons of the flapper era when men wore long sideburns and pants with Oxford Bag bottoms and flapper skirts were short enough to be called mini.

BUT THE FEELING is the same. They are hip hugging in Levi style, and most sizes run about 22 inches at the bottoms and Bill Miller of Greenwich Village has come up with 24-inch bells with deep inverted pleats that are set to make them appear even wider.

Miller, whose Village Square has set many trends, reports a new fad—the younger group is asking for button flies.

The whole thing is mixed up with the Unisex look among the youngsters and many of the more extreme tailors sell their products to men and women alike, especially some of the wilder prints and exotic fabrics such as cut velvet, fake animal fur, carpet bagging and even brocade upholstery material.

ALTHOUGH the bell bottoms are for the younger set, the trend has reached the older group. Dunhill Tailors, one of the more elegant and conservative (and expensive) tailors in New York reports calls for flared bottoms.

A "normal" pair of suit trousers runs 19 inches at the knee and about 16 1/2 inches at the cuff. With flare the knee goes to 19 1/2 inches and the bottom to 19 1/2 of 20 inches. The pants are cut on a sharp angle at the cuff, high in front and low in back, to give more of a flare look.

JEFFERSON Manufacturing, an old-line house known for years for a conservative style approach, has bowed to demand and come up with bells, not only for the 20-year-old but modified for old duffers who think young.

One new house is Tweed 'N' Twill, run by Jim Bleier, 23, and Mark Kamirnoff, 24. Their trademark is T 'N' T and that's what the products are. An "elephant bottom" has a 20-inch knee and a 24-inch bottom with heel-toe flare. A continental model is a high rise bell with hidden European pockets—and a John Held Jr. strap in the back.

Saint Laurie might be called conservative since his bells stop at 22 inches. But he has pants of simulated fur with a three-inch waistband, a "St. Cloud

ANOTHER MASSIVE STORM BATTERS NEW ENGLAND—Making his way along New Congress Street in Boston's Government Center, a lone man uses an umbrella to shield himself from wind-whipped snow as a second successive massive storm pounds New England. Up to two feet of snow was on the ground.

Munching 'Weed' Sends Youths On Topsy-Turvy Trip

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—

Some teen-agers in Southern California have discovered a common weed that can cause intoxication, hallucinations and, potentially, death.

Police say the plant—called Jimson weed or Datura stramonium—grows wild throughout North America and has white or violet trumpet-shaped flowers about four inches long.

"It isn't what the old cowboys used to call loco weed, but that's what the kids are calling it now," says Police Sgt. Elton L. Bailey.

Bailey said the parents of a boy, 16, called the juvenile bureau and said their son had come home "high" on some kind of drug. He was having hallucinations and appeared to be in an insane condition.

Bailey said a day later the youth's eyes still were dilated. The detective said both this youth and another boy, 16, told him they heard about loco weed from friends in a shopping center. They said they obtained some of the plant's seeds and ate them.

One of the youths told Bailey he saw "a large bird flying around the room and talked

THE WRONG GIRL

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (UPI)—

The burglars picked the wrong gal when they messed with Barbara Louise Cole.

A former wrestler, Mrs. Cole was at her job as a cleaning lady at a loan company when two men barged in.

Mrs. Cole met one with a karate chop to the Adam's apple, and it took both the would-be burglars to subdue her. They bound and gagged her, rifled the office but found no loot, and left.

Schools Help Serve Maxi Fun for All

By KATHLEEN NEUMEYER

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — More than half a million Los Angeles area youngsters went back to school this fall without really having been very far away.

In a sense they were at school all summer, or at least on the grounds.

The youngsters used playground facilities, spent a week at camp, attended summer school, went on a field trip, or participated in an athletic contest this summer under the auspices of the Los Angeles City Schools.

Eight thousand of them learned to swim in portable pools trucked to their neighborhoods and set up in school yards.

Nine thousand of them learned to drive, while 200,000 others took summer school classes—either to make up a poor grade or to enrich their programs with special courses they couldn't fit in during the school year.

But the largest number—400,000—took part in organized recreational programs offered by the Youth Services Section at 542 elementary, junior and senior high schools.

Trained supervisory personnel were on hand at the playgrounds to organize arts and crafts programs, table games, storytelling, folk-dancing, singing and play-acting.

Some days the playgrounds were turned into roller rinks, with the City Schools providing the roller skates and the music. Tournaments were held for checkers, chess, softball, basketball and football enthusiasts, and even for sand castle builders.

Scraps of surplus satin and velvet were collected from the garment industry and used for costumes and scenery for puppet productions. Once a week, movies or cartoons were screened in the school auditorium.

Read-for-Recreation programs were given at 160 elementary school libraries, with certificates awarded to participants.

Children at 45 school playgrounds learned to swim in portable pools trucked in for two-week programs. Thousands of inner city youngsters have learned to swim through the portable pools program, which began in 1964 with a prototype pool and has been expanded to nine pools. The 16 by 24 foot vinyl-lined tanks are reinforced with steel, iron and plywood, and are easily assembled and transported.

Twenty-eight half-hour class sessions were held each day at each pool, and youngsters from five to junior high school age lined up in their bathing suits for water safety instruction. They eventually propelled themselves across the pool on paddle boards. Arm motions were taught on dry land, then practiced in the water.

Other youngsters spent a week at Lighthouse Camp on a hillside overlooking the Pacific at Point Fermin, or at Clear Creek in the foothills of the Angeles National Forest. Each child paid only $10.75 for food and transportation.

The school system has been maintaining the camps since 1948, as part of the nation's most extensive school-connected extracurricular recreation program.

The Youth Services Section was established in 1945 as the climax of a recreation program begun in 1911 with the operation of school playgrounds during summer vacations.

"The wide range of educational and recreational activities offered by the city schools this summer gave thousands of students of all ages a chance to broaden their experience and knowledge," schools superintendent Jack P. Crowther said.

"By conducting such an extensive program, we have been able to make maximum, year-round use of our school facilities and to meet the varied needs and interests of the community."

EXTERMINATOR REMOVES ROOF
BOURNEMOUTH, England (UPI) — Bernard Mycock had just moved into a house he purchased when he discovered woodworms were eating his roof.

Mycock called an exterminator, who sprayed the roof and left behind a small leaflet. Minutes later a plumber working to install a new bathroom poked his head into the attic to look for a pipe and struck a match to see better.

There was a sudden explosion and Mycock was rid of the woodworms, and his roof.

"We did warn about the fire danger," an exterminator said later. "We left a leaflet at the house." The plumber was not seriously injured.

TRADING STAMPS
ST. IGNACE, Mich. (UPI) — Bucky McPhoe, a toll collector on the Mackinac Bridge, will have some tall explaining to do if that couple ever drives past his booth again.

McPhoe said the driver of the car gave him $2 for a $1.50 toll. Stuck to the back of one of the bills were trading stamps. He returned the 50 cents change—and the stamps. Before he could explain, the man drove off and McPhoe heard the passenger exclaim:

"Isn't it wonderful. They're giving trading stamps at the bridge."

High Toll of Hand Injuries
