Hasty Marriage One Long Misery

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Fifteen years ago when I became pregnant out of wedlock, I pleaded with the man responsible for my condition to marry me. He did, and I've regretted that day

My husband has never really accepted me or loved me or the son I gave him. He has mistreated us badly, and is still so cruel and critical of the boy that I fear one day he will run away from home.

I'm writing this letter in hopes it will prevent some young girl from making the mistake I made. Every boy needs a father, and much as I love my son, I'm not so sure he wouldn't have been better off had I put him up for adoption. Some good, responsible, childess couple who really wanted a baby could have given him the home and love he needed and deserved

DEAR REGRETS: Regret is the cancer of life. Quit punishing yourself. We have no way of knowing whether another course of action would have been better or worse. Many mothers [widows, for instance] have raised children without fathers and have had no regrets.

DEAR ABBY: Re that letter from the 19-year-old working girl who started giving a 53-year-old married co-worker a peck on the cheek in return for rides to and from work, and then had a terrible time getting him to stop after one kiss You told her, "Nothing is free. Find another way to get to and from work, or pay cash for your transportation. Also cut out the kissing and kiss off this old lecher for good." Abby, in my opinion you overlooked an obvious fact: The girl was the aggressor, and this poor man might have interpreted her pecks on the cheek as an invitation. So why should HE be labeled "an old lecher" for trying to get more? DEAR LEN: If I overlooked anything, it was to say that little girls who are taught to pay off favors with kisses should unlearn that lesson before they get into serious trouble. A kiss is not always "just a kiss." It is sometimes only the beginning. And my apologies for calling the man an old lecher. Fifty-three

DEAR ABBY: May I have equal time to reply to the person who said he had more respect for the stay-at-home believer than the church-going hypocrite?

The church-going hypocrite should certainly continue going to church. At least he's in a good place for some Godliness to rub off on him.

Those of us who try to live our faith know the difference when we haven't been to church. We all need direction and inspiration to help us behave. Some think that as long as they don't steal, murder, or commit adultery they are "good" people. But there are plenty of things we do every day that are wrong and hurtful. We all need admonition to repent and improve. We also need the association of others of like faith to . bolster our own.

Abby, don't allow people to believe they don't need church just because they look good next to the hypocrite. How do they look alongside a sincere, dedicated churchgoer? B. L. WILKINSON, CLINTON, ILL.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 20069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

expansion teams may not be patsies after all.

One week of training doesn't make a season, of course, but who would have thought the four newly formed teams would have a combined 11-4 record and .733 winning percentage at this stage of the spring?

The Royals, who completed a three-game sweep of the Washington Senators with a 4-0 victory at Pompano Beach, Fla., Monday are showing the way with a 4-1 record in exhibition games. The San Diego Padres are next with a 3-1 mark and the Montreal Expos and Seattle Pilots have 2-1 slates.

The Royals, who some experts feared might be the weakest of the expansion teams, dealt the Senators their fourth straight loss under Manager Ted Williams behind the combined seven hit nitching of Galar Circ.

MITO, Japan (UPI) — Chickweed seeds believed to be about 1,500 years old sprouted after scientists planted them in a hothouse. Shigetoshi Ito, director of the Ibaraki Prefectural Archeological Society, said the seeds were found last year in excavations of ruins of a hamlet dated back to the 5th or 6th century.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)-Jame Whitmore, the criminologist in "My Friend Tony," brings the intensity of his characterization to the tube straight from his own private life.

Whitmore, a Yale graduate, is that rare actor who is as content to star in a television series as he is to play character roles in motion pictures.

enjoying body surfing on the beach they can be found sunning nemselves around their swiming pool.

Jim, however, must restrict his sunning and swimming to weekends and rare days off. From Monday through Friday he must report to Paramount studios by 8 a.m., seldom getting away before 7 p.m. during shooting of the 60-minute show which follows "Bonanza" every day night.

Jim frets over the fact that his series is up against "Mission: Impossible," one of the best and most viewed shows on the air.

Once Jim arrives home Nancy has a hot dinner waiting and, according to the master of the use, few surpass his wife in he kitchen. On weekends Whitmore is pressed into service as a chef, barbecuing steaks, chops and lamb on the grill. He much prefers Nancy's corned beef and cabbage. More than likely be-cause he doesn't cook it. Family Man

Whitmore is caught up in his own family life and is a rare guest at Hollywood parties.

He is building a home in Mammoth, Calif., where the skiing is excellent during the win-ter and the fishing superb the rest of the year. He and the family will spend their vaca-tions high in the Sierra in the years to come.

Whitmore is an amateur painter, explaining: "Once I fin-ish a canvas I hide it in a closet." He also enjoys a well-stocked home library and stereo set. His record collection is large and includes rock and roll which he says disturbs him and makes him think about the younger gener-

More than anything else, Whitnore enjoys bull sessions with his three sons; the exchange of ideas, listening to their aspira-tions and dreams. A good father, Whitmore has refused to buy automobiles for his sons, If they want a car they have to earn it.

So far only Steven has saved his money through odd johs to buy his own wheels. Jim and Dan borrow the family autos. Best of all, there is no gener-ation gap in the Whitmore fam-

M. C. Major FOR Sheriff Calloway

I am seeking the office of Sheriff of Calloway County and earnestly ask for your vote and influence in the coming primary.

I have lived in Calloway County since 1959, moving here after completing twenty years service in the United States Navy. After purchasing a farm here, I built a new home in 1962 and have been mostly cattle farming for the past ten years. At the present time I am crossing Charolais with Herefords and will breed up to pure blood Charolais. I am a member of the

I fully realize that there are many people in Calloway County who do not know me, so for your benefit I am giving some information about myself and my qualifications for the important post of Calloway County

I was born on a farm in Hopkins County, Kentucky near Madisonville. I graduated from high school at Morton's Gap, Kentucky in 1939 and joined the Navy in 1940. I chose the Navy as a career. I met my wife-to-be, the former Dorothy Tucker of Todd County who graduated from Elkton High School in 1946 and we married in 1947 after I completed a tour of the Philippines.

We have one daughter, Lani, who is a sophomore at Calloway County High School. Lani was born in Hawaii. Their church home is the First Methodist Church.

While doing a tour as an instructor at Millington Air Base near Memphis, Tennessee, we bought our farm here in Calloway County in 1957 and moved here in August of 1959. I have an aunt, my mother's sister, Mrs. Ben Walker, who lives just across the line in Marshall County where she has lived on a small farm since 1928.

I retired from the United States Navy as a Chief Petty Officer. I considered running for Sheriff of Calloway County four years ago, but decided not to, because I had not been in Calloway County long enough to be known by the people here.

I am now working at B. F. Goodrich Chemical Company at Calvert City as a guard in plant protection. I have held this position for the past six

I have many years of teaching and instructing and over twenty years in supervisory, administrative and security work. I have worked with City Police while in charge of Shore Patrols in the Navy.

I believe that whoever is elected to the Sheriff's position should be a person who can get the job done. I believe that, if elected, I can get this job done in an efficient, honest and qualified manner.

I will work with the county officials, the school officials. City Police, and State Police for the betterment of law enforcement in Calloway County. Your vote and your influence will deeply appreciated.

Sincerely,

M. C. Major
