__Dr. J. George Harrar, president of The Rockefeller Foundation: "We are rapidly exhausting the capacity of the natural environment to provide us with the necessities for human life. Most frightening is the growing incapacity of air, water, and soil to absorb all our industrial wastes. Some of these wastes, such as automobile junkyards, are ugly; some, such as residues from chemical pesticides, are poisonous. They are increasing daily with the increase in population and industrial production—in many (Continued on Page Two)

WASHINGTON - President Nixon, noting he will announce more troop withdrawals from Vietnam at Christmas time: We can see that the Vietnam War will come to a conclusion regardless of what happens at the bargaining.

SPACE CENTER, Houston - Dr. Robin Brett, a geologist quarantined with the crew of Apollo 12, praising the astronauts' investlostions of the lunar surface:

"This crew, we all think, would be a competent as any geologist . . we all decided at the Geological Society of America last month, that if you got three geologists off the street they wouldn't do nearly as good a job as that crew."

PHILADELPHIA - Dr. Francis Joseph McGarry, an obste-trician for 40 years, who burned his medical school diploma to protest the liberal teachings on abortion at his alma mater, Jefferson Medical College:

"Life begins at the moment of conception, It does not begin when the mother feels the first bump. It does not begin when the baby takes his first breath. It begins with conception, and to take that life is first-degree murder."

WASHINGTON - Sen. Albert E. Gore, D-Tenn., speaking against a proposed $185 million tax break for railroads that would allow them to deduct the costs of tunnels built up to 100 years ago in order to purchase more rolling stock:

"Oh, what sins are committed in the name of rolling stock!"

Hubby embroiders and he's all man

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband quit smoking seven months ago [doctor's orders] and he insisted that what he missed the most was something to do with his hands.

As a gag I bought him a beginner's embroidery set. It was a cheap little tea towel with a blue bird on it-to be done in a simple cross-stitch. Well, he finished it in no time at all and it was beautiful!

Next thing I knew, he went downtown and picked out a bridge cloth with four napkins, and he embroidered that, too. Now wherever he goes, he takes his embroidery work. He calls it his "therapy" and he doesn't care who sees him working on it. I hope you'll print this, Abby. I am so proud of him. [P. S. In case you're wondering, he is ALL MAN. We have had six kids in six years, and this will be the first Christmas I haven't been pregnant.] PROUD WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Congratulations. Just keep your man embroidering, lady.

DEAR ABBY: I am one of those who never thought that I would write. Mine is a different type problem, but maybe you can help because my daughter is a reader, too. I am the father of a beautiful, well-educated girl in her early twenties. She has had many social advantages and has recently married a fine, young, professional man who is on his way up the ladder.

The problem is her table manners. We are a refined family, and both her mother and I have tried since she was a small child to train her properly in table etiquet, but for some reason we have not succeeded.

She eats as tho someone were about to take her food away from her, gobbling, slurping, and taking enormous amounts of food into her mouth at one time. It is revolting to see! Even today if I correct her, there is terrible resentment, even a fight.

I don't know whether she eats this way when she is with others, but I can only assume that she does. She and her husband socialize with some of the best young people in town and she could hurt her husband's future if she doesn't shape up. What do you suggest? DEFEATED DAD

DEAR DAD: I suggest that you never mention her table manners to her again. It's possible that she eats that way only in your presence just to irritate you. In any case, she has a husband now, so let this "fine, professional" man correct her if her table manners embarrass him or present a

DEAR ABBY: I am 21 and my problem is my brother who is 30. He is married and has a wife and child. About a year ago he made some indecent advances to me, but I straightened him out fast and told him if he ever pulled anything like that again, I'd tell our mother and HIS wife.

Well, since we don't live in the same part of the country I didn't have much to worry about.

Recently I heard that my brother and his wife took a 15-year-old foster girl into their home. Shortly after, the girl told my sister-in-law that my brother got fresh with her. My sister-in-law called her a liar, phoned the social worker and told her to come and get the girl and place her in another

Abby, I feel terrible because I am sure the girl was telling the truth. If I tell, it might break up my brother's girl and get into trouble. Please tell me what to do.

MIXED UP IN MISSOURI DEAR MIXED UP: For goodness' sake, TELL what you know! Your brother is sick and needs treatment. It would be a kindness to reveal his tendencies before he "hurts" someone and gets himself into serious trouble. If you remain silent, knowing what you do, you will have to share his guilt should something happen.

CONFIDENTIAL TO DENNY: Half of knowing what you want is knowing what you have to give up in order to get it.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed

> One recent source of significant, though temporary, weakness in the market might have been heavy margin calls brought on by a drain of European speculative funds out of U.S. stocks and into "bargain-priced" $40 gold just before the gold price fell $5 an ounce, Hoppin Bros. & Co. says. Curiously enough, the firm notes, the main thrust of liquidation in the latest decline "has been precisely the 'gaslight' era blue chips that foreigners in general and goldbugs in particular equate with 'better quality' U.S. shares," the company adds.

Volume is now the key factor in determining market behavior, Thomson & McKinnon Inc. says. Until there is appreciably more volume, either upside or downside, no meaningful rally or uptrend can get underway, the firm says, adding that until then any rally on low volume should be considered a rally in a downtrend.

PAEDD Director

Leon Smith Is New Director Of Local PAEDD

The Purchase Area Economic Development District which has recently been organized in Western Kentucky is the local instrument of the United States Department of Commerce Economic Development Administration.

The recently organized Purchase Area District is composed of the eight Kentucky counties west of the Tennessee River and Kentucky Lake. The eight counties are: Ballard, Calloway, Carlisle, Fulton, Graves, Hickman, Marshall and McCracken. The local office of the Purchase Area Development District, located at 6071/2 West Broadway, Mayfield, Ky., was officially opened in October of this year and is now staffed by a Director, Leon T. Smith and a Secretary, Mrs. Nell Rogers. The Board of Directors of the PAEDD is composed of 31 elected officials and other representatives from each of the

of the Board of Directors are

Graves County Judge, Dick

Castleman, Chairman; Mayor Holmes Ellis of Murray, Vice Chairman; Mr. George Little, Marshall County, Treasurer; and Mr. Richard Fairhurst, Paducah, Secretary. The Board of Directors is now seeking and will employ a Planner to complete the District Office staff. Leon T. Smith, 61, is a native of the Heath Community in McCracken County. graduated from Heath High School in 1926 and attended Murray State University where he was graduated in 1931 with a B. S. Degree and a major in social studies and a minor in

For the past 12 years Smith has been employed as superintendent of McCracken County Schools.

He is a member of the Tabernacle Baptist Church, where he has served as a deacon, deacon chairman and teacher of the Adult Young Men's Bible Class for twenty-five years.

THE LEGISLATURE WILL BE A PIPE for Mrs. Millicent Fenwick, emblywoman-elect in New Jersey. She is a Republican from Somerset and is shown watching a session.
