

Dandy Lion

There once was a dandy lion
Who's life was dull and alone
He'd been on the Earth for a while
And it had worn him down to the bone

He thought that he had all the answers
He was handsome! Well-educated! Rich!
But brains, they don't work like they're supposed to
And life? Well, life is a...

Nothing he tried would cheer him
Not diamonds or champagne or new clothes
His friends - they all tried their hardest
But our lion reached the lowest of lows

He thought that this woe was forever!
Or for the rest of his life, at best
But all of that changed in a moment
When he met the loveliest dandy lioness
