THE HONOURABLE J. C. PATTERSON

Collegiate Institute

WINDSOR - ONTARIO

1966 - 67

Principal's Message

Over the years Patterson Collegiate Institute has aided in the cultural, social, physical and moral growth of thousands of young men and women.

In this memorable year of Canada's history, it is natural to refer to the place our school has held in secondary education for more than a hundred years. Not only our community but our country have been served well by those who have attended this school. It is a pleasure to thank our student groups, the staff of "The Patrician", members of the Panthora, our teams and other active organizations, for the contribution made to the total process of education in the school.

To the students who are completing their years at Patterson, I express a sincere wish that each of you enjoy a full and happy life.

COMMENCEMENT

by SHEILA PRUD'HOMME

The Commencement Exercises, held this year on Saturday evening, November 19, was one of the most well-organized and enjoyable occasions held at the Honourable J. C. Patterson Collegiate in several years. Words of praise and appreciation about this memorable evening come from teachers, students and parents alike.

The Concert Band, under the direction of Mrs. C. R. Strachan opened the programme by playing several selections from the musical "South Pacific." Mr. A. C. Liddell and the special guests then led the graduates into the auditorium to the ceremonial strains of the "Hymn of Freedom." The audience remained standing until after the playing of "O Canada" and until after a very appropriate Invocation had been given by Reverend H. Burkart, of First Lutheran Church. Before the introduction of the guest speaker, Dr. R. C. White from the University of Windsor by Mr. F. D. Williamson, the audience was welcomed on behalf of the school by Mr. Liddell, and on behalf of the Board of Education by Mr. H. A. Campbell.

In his address to the graduates, Dr. White cautioned that in this world of science and automation, young men and women must not lose sight of their real goals and should not become over-specialized. More emphasis should be placed on inner strength.

Mr. Liddell then presented diplomas to the largest graduating class in the history of Patterson Collegiate, assisted by Mr. T. R. Woods, Mr. C. B. Hallam, and Mr.

J. G. Stone. The graduates then stood on a platform in front of the stage to receive the applause of their parents and friends.

Ann Lawson, who is presently studying at McGill University in Montreal, was the valedictorian this year. Her address seemed to be very representative of the feelings of her fellow-classmates, for their faces expressed agreement at several of her remarks concerning their student years at Patterson. At the conclusion of her speech, Mr. F. Hodges, Business Administrator at the Board of Education, gave Ann a gift of appreciation.

Definitely a highlight of the evening was the presentation of Ontario Scholarships to Eric Eng, Patricia Jean, Ann Lawson, and Patricia Melega, by Mr. J. Ord, Superintendent of Secondary Schools. Other scholarship and bursary winners were Helen Aristow, Helen Armour, Elvira Drude, Philip Kenny and Roswitha Stiem. The next awards were made to those receiving the Proficiency Medals, the Panthora Prizes and the Patterson Letters. Sheila Prud'homme was given the Principal's Award. Eric Eng was given special recognition and a prize from the Student Council for obtaining 100 per cent on his final Grade 13 Algebra examination.

After the playing of "God Save the Queen," the guests recessed to meet with parents and friends for refreshments and a dance in the gymnasium. The occasion was an outstanding success, and at the risk of using a well-worn cliché, "an evening to remember!"

SENIOR FOOTBALL

by DAVID LAING

The 1966-67 Senior Patterson Football Team was coached by Mr. Newman, Mr. McCaffery and Mr. Wortley.

This year, the team was relatively new and inexperienced. However, under the skilled hands of our able coaches, the Panthers managed to secure a notable spot in the quarter finals.

Congratulations are extended to Wayne Morgan and Vince Canestraro for maintaining positions on the All-City Squads and to the boys who are proud to have been able to play in the maroon and white uniforms.

by CHRIS PAUL

The Patterson soccer team this year represented it's school well in the W.S.S.A. soccer league. The team was coached by Mr. Wachhaus and Mr. Gawley.

Standouts on the team were the Captain, Chris Paul, goaltender Jim Saunders, and forward Ralph Hall. I may add that our team won a spot in the playoffs, and was the only team in Windsor to defeat the Lowe Tech soccer team by a score of 2-1. The Panthers were always considered a threat in the league until they lost out in the playoffs.

Each year Patterson has been getting closer to the championship — maybe next September the team can come through.

SR. BOYS' VOLLEYBALL

by DAVID LAING

Mr. Henderson took charge of the Patterson Volleyball team this year, and made it one of the best teams Patterson has seen for a few years. In the game against Lowe Tech, to decide which team would enter the semi-finals, the game went into overtime as the two teams kept within one point of each other. This tit-for-tat system of scoring was brought to an end as Lowe Tech managed to surge ahead by 2 points, to win the game.

GRADE NINE PLAY DAY

by MRS. SPRING

Mr. Liddell was the originator of the idea of a Play Day for the Grade 9 students.

All grade nine students participated. They were divided into teams. There were 13 stations at which they competed and a 14th which was a rest station. The members of the G. A. A. and the Grade 11A boys were the officials at the stations and the scoring table. There was a set standard for each station. If the participant got the high standard, he got three points; if he got the low standard, he got one point.

The Class Championship was won by 9D with 427 points.

2. 9A 418 points
3. 9C 414 points
4. 9B 413 points
5. 9H 405 points
6. 9F 386 points
7. 9E 372 points
8. 9G 344 points

Each student in 9D was presented with a school ribbon at a junior assembly in December.

Out of a possible 39 points Jim Chase of 9B was declared the Boy Champion with 34 points and Sheila Brakenbury was the girl champion with 27 points. Each received a trophy at the Junior Assembly held in December.

CHEERLEADERS

by DONNA ANDERSON

The cheerleading squad was compiled of Donna Wrightman-Captain, Alma Webb, Susan McViety, Jean Lee, Wanda Scott, Colleen Kelly, Pearl Wong, Martha West and substitutes Pat Harrington, Sharon Cole and Linda Jean.

Many thanks may be given to Mrs. Drouillard for her time and work she gave to the girls, to make a successful team.

The girls placed first in their division for the Red Feather Competition in the fall.

I am sure everyone appreciated the spirit the cheerleaders brought to many of this year's games.

INVITATIONAL TOURNAMENT

Our Patterson Panthers, under the direction of Mr. C. McCaffery, played extremely well. In the semi-final game against Sudbury's St. Charles High, our team played a breathtaking, heart-stopping game. During the last quarter the score was tied, with only a few minutes remaining. Baskets were returned for baskets until the remaining few seconds when a foul shot was made by Freddie Logan to win the game. However, in the final game against Assumption our Panthers fell under the Assumption jinx, that was to plague us the rest of the year.

REGULAR SEASON

by DAVID LAING

During our regular season, the Panthers played their usual better than best, their only upset being made by the Assumption Raiders.

In the quarter-finals, Tech made the first basket, and all the way, to make it their revenge game. At half time, our Panthers had closed the gap, but could not overcome the Lowe Technical team.

Congratulations are extended to Joe O'Malley for placing on the All-City Squad and especially to Wayne Morgan for placing for his third year, on the Prep Dream Squad.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

by DONNA ANDERSON

Among the long list of girls belonging to this organization, credit is due to Mrs. Spring, who is in charge of the association, Rosemary Boretsky - President, Sharon Parent - Vice-President, and Heather Almond - Treasurer, for the fine job they have done throughout the year.

They sponsored the Senior Girls Volleyball team against the teachers, in which they were defeated, and the successful Grade nine Playday.

HOCKEY

by MARIO BEVACQUA

Hockey, a sport not seen around Patterson for some time, had its new start this year. The Panthers had a 4-3 record, in exhibition play under the fine coaching of Mr. Schwalm. They defeated Tech and Herman, two teams in the playoffs in the league this year. So next year this inspired team should put in a serious bid for the championship. Congratulations to Mr. Schwalm and his players for their hard work.

REPORT ON ELECTIONS OF PANTHORA MEMBERS

Head Boy and Head Girl

The 1966-1967 elections began at a slow pace this year despite an attempt by a committee of last year's Panthora members to get the proceedings rolling smoothly at an earlier date. Nominations were officially opened by Mrs. Bradd and Mr. Hooper, sponsor teachers of the Panthora, on September 23rd.

Response was enthusiastic from the junior school, but senior students seemed more reluctant to offer their services. Repeated appeals finally produced six candidates running for grade thirteen, and a sufficient number for the other grade levels. On Thursday, September 29, at two separate assemblies, the juniors and seniors received an opportunity to hear the nominees. Approximately half of the latter declared their eligibility on the grounds of past performance. The remaining half admitted inexperience but promised to do their best. Everyone seemed sincere in their desire to make this year at Patterson a good one. The names of successful candidates were announced by Mr. Liddell following the election the next day.

Then came the final and most exciting phase of the proceedings, the choosing of Patterson's head-boy and head-girl. Electioneering began in earnest as Donna Wrightman Carol, Krestick, Bruce Bellaire and Tony Kauzlauskus vied for the honours; climaxing a week of posters, dances and other high jinks, was an assembly attended by all but the grade nine students. The candidates used campaign managers, skits, balloons, and cheering sections to introduce themselves. Everyone was fired with school spirit and good intentions and the assembly was generally acclaimed as being one of the most rousing of those held at Patterson during the past several years.

For 1966-1967, our head-girl and president of the Panthora is Carol Krestick. Tony Kauzlauskus is head-boy and vice-president. The Patrician and the entire student body offer their congratulations and whole-hearted support to these two students and to every member of Patterson's Panthora.

United Nations

This year, as in the years before, one student from each high school was chosen to represent their school in a trip to New York and to the United Nations.

The group left the Detroit Airport at 12:00 p.m. Saturday and arrived in New York at 1:00 p.m. We stayed at the YMCA Sloan House on 34th Street.

During our stay, we visited Greenwich Village, Chinatown, Liberty Island and the Statue of Liberty, the Empire State Building, the American Museum of Natural History and spent a day at the United Nations.

At the United Nations, we toured the buildings, committee rooms, and the General Assembly room. We were also fortunate enough to attend a committee meeting in session.

The trip proved most interesting and educational. We were able to see where and how the United Nations keeps peace in our modern world.

David Laing,
School Representative

Model United Nations

This year, there were two Model United Nations. The first was held in Windsor, at Massey Collegiate. At this one, our club represented the countries of India, Cambodia, Japan, the Phillipines, Iran and Thailand.

All those who took part were pleased with the results and found the experience enlightening and interesting.

The second Model United Nations was held in Detroit, at the University of Detroit. This Model United Nations was more elaborate, and involved more detail. The delegation from Patterson represented the country of Italy.

These Model United Nations give the participants a good knowledge of how the United Nations operates and introduce them to the basis of Parliamentary Procedure. I believe I can say on behalf of the members of the Model United Nations club, that it has been an educational experience and very worthwhile.

CHRISTMAS ASSEMBLY

by ROSALIND DAWSON

On December 22nd, the entire school gathered for the Christmas Assembly. Mr. Liddell introduced our head boy, Tony Kazlauskas, who called on Louise Davidson to make a presentation to Mr. Woods. Mr. Woods has left Patterson Collegiate to join the teaching staff at the Western Ontario Institute of Technology.

The Patterson Concert Band, conducted by Mrs. C. R. Strachan put forth their best efforts with the Second American Folk Rhapsody and Sleighride. This was followed by the stage band which played the Theme from Mondo Cane and Night Train.

Margaret Wickett, Mary Mclellwain and Jack O'Connor, Patterson's talented folk singers, offered their renditions of Hangman and This Train, after which Jack sang one of his own compositions.

The serious side of the activities was presented by Wanda Scott, who read the Christmas Story from the Bible. After this the school was led into the singing of Christmas carols.

Quite an unusual twist of ideas was presented in the satirical skit of the Night Before Christmas, narrated by Bonnie Green. Idle, scruffy beatniks lined the stage, amid empty beer cans and surrounded by such signs as "Work is the Scourge of the Drinking class". "Fat Daddy," alias Stan Heeney, bounded down the fire escape with his "eight swingin' chicks" and left gifts of L.S.D.

After the entertainment was finished, everyone anxiously awaited Santa's arrival. As eager eyes turned to the back of the auditorium, Santa, played by Kosta Zonjic bounded enthusiastically up the aisle, preceeded by his helpful elf, Michael Crosby. Sharon Parent and Richard Kerr, the first to be called up on stage shared a quick kiss under the mistletoe, which Santa held very conveniently in his hand. Walkie-talkies were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Hooper, and Jim Godin received a giant can of Metrecal. Mr. Gawley accepted a shoe brush for the absent Mr. Schwalm, so that the latter could keep his desert boots clean. A muff was given to Mr. Penfold to prevent him from keeping his hands in his pockets and thus stretching them out of shape. Last, but not least, John Bradac, Chris Paul, John D'amore and Louis Mosna led the student body in a school cheer.

Mr. Liddell concluded the activities, and everyone agreed that the Christmas Assembly had been highly enjoyable and, to say the least — Unusual.

Senior Assemblies Contest

This year, owing to the withdrawal of two other classes, 11-A had the honour to present the first play. Their play was entitled, "The Exchange," and was aptly directly by John Zangari, under the guidance of Mrs. Letourneau. From the illustrious cast Michael Crosby and Lenora White were given the best acting nominations. Other members of the cast were M. Bevacqua, J. Dinham and D. Jovanovic.

Play number two, "The Three Sisters," was skillfully performed by 12-B, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Hooper. Sharing the acting roles were Louise Davidson, David Liebrock, Lydia Zegerius and Ted Talbot. The latter two received the best acting nominations.

From the annals of Edgar Allen Poe came "The House of Usher," presented by 11-B. This thriller starred Linda Wood, Tom Warren and Geoff Kidd. Nominated as the best actors were Guy Bastion and Wayne Bedard. Thanks goes out to Mrs. Bradd, and Mr. Matus for their much appreciated assistance.

In many cases it is said that the best is saved for the last. This can certainly be applied to the Assemblies Contest. Throughout the entire thirty minutes of their production, the cast of "A Phoenix too Frequent" held the attention of every member of the audience. The scenery, costuming and lighting were all superbly handled. The actors representing 12-A were David Laing, Virginia Boluk Donna Grayson and Ann Wickett. Voted for the best acting roles were Lloyd Berkart and Valerie Johnson. Mr. Penfold is thanked for his help.

The moment of truth finally came after four weeks of watching plays. Mr. Young came to the stage to offer criticism and announce that 12-A had won the contest as well as the best actress award, going to Valerie Johnson. For his part in "The Three Sisters," Ted Talbot was given the best actor award.

As a participant in the play myself, and after having witnessed rehearsals of other plays, I would like to give a special thanks to Mr. Hallam, who organized and assisted in the productions.

SENIOR ASSEMBLIES COMMITTEE

This year the Committee was slightly hampered by the small number of staff. Nevertheless, Julie Kosak, acting as the President, came up with several enjoyable assemblies and new ideas.

DRAMATICS

This year Patterson's Drama Society produced a modern political satire, "Romanoff and Juliet." Under the direction of Mr. Percy, the two-night stand was quite sensational and well attended. The authentic scenery, designed by Linda Drummond and Loretta Phillips, complimented the humorous nature of the play.

The cast included . . .

PUBLICITY CLUB

by ROSALIND DAWSON

This year the publicity club did an excellent job in publicizing games and dances. This ambitious group even posted many outside events not dealing with the school. Their hard work was shown in the posters which encourage the student body to attend various activities and promoted school spirit. Special thanks should be attributed to Mr. Hooper, the sponsor teacher, and to the chairman, Jo-Ann Grayson, who strived to make this a hard-working worthwhile club.

LIBRARY STAFF

by MARY MORRIS

The Library Staff at P.C.I. is composed of approximately twenty students, representing all grade levels in the school. Each member works either two nights after school each week for an hour, or from 8:20 to 9:00 a.m. Duties consist of both taking in and marking out books, shelving returned books, working on the card catalogue, and trying to keep the shelves in some semblance of order. Three points may be awarded at the end of the year to a student who has satisfactorily completed ten months work. The Library Staff is not just a club; it is a necessary school organization. Students would not be able to use the library if there were no staff, and so its members must be commended for their diligence and perseverance in enabling the library to function so well.

HOSTESS CLUB

by ROSALIND DAWSON

This marked the second successful year of the Hostess Club, opened to all Patterson girls. This year a group of about eighteen grade nine and ten girls under the supervision and guidance of Mrs. Hallam, formed this service club which is designed to aid the girls in cooking and entertaining.

This year the Hostess Club's activities included baking cookies and serving at the grade nine parent's night, at Commencement, and after the annual play presented by the Drama Club. Before Christmas, the girls invited the teachers for an Open House in the Home Economics room which was trimmed with Christmas decorations and candles, which they made themselves. In March, the Walkerville Hostess Club was entertained at Patterson at a Tahitian dinner, which included such dishes as rice and and sweet and sour pork. Tahitian music, dancing, and the girls dressed in the native style rounded out the event. The girls had previously been entertained by the Walkerville Hostess Club, and had toured the Heinz laboratories with the Massey girls. During the year the girls had also been instructed in the making of bows and gift-wrapping.

These hard-working girls and Mrs. Hallam deserve recognition and praise for their efforts and enthusiasm put into this worthwhile club.

GRADE XII TORONTO VISIT

by VIRGINIA BOLUK

On Wednesday, March 15, eighty students from grade 12 were accompanied by Mr. Williamson, Mr. Stetcher, and Mr. Percy, on a Centennial excursion to Toronto. The student left the C.N.R. Station in Walkerville at 7 a.m., arriving at Toronto's Union Station at 11 a.m. From there the students took the subway to the Parliament Buildings where they were greeted by Mr. Bernard Newman, Member of Provincial Parliament for the riding of Windsor-Walkerville. A guide took them into the Legislature, where she told the students about the functions of the Parliament. At noon, they dined at Toronto's new City Hall. Afterwards, the students went on a tour of Toronto by two Gray Coaches. Among the various places shown were the University of Toronto and Yorkville. At Yorkville, they were allowed to stroll about, for twenty minutes to see the sights. They then returned to the Parliament Buildings and spent a little more than an hour viewing the Legislature in session. At 5 o'clock, the students took the train back to Windsor after a very impressive day at our province's capital.

JUNIOR ASSEMBLIES

by FOO YEE

Somewhere back in the first term, the Junior School was allowed an assembly for the distribution of the prizes and awards of the Grade Nine Playday. Seeing that the awards to be given out would be completed within a short time, Mrs. Letourneau had the foresight to have a Talent Contest for Junior Talent. Featured in this was Jack O'Connor and Mary Mclelwin with Margaret Wickett.

In January, the Junior Assembly began with a play called, "Ghost of Napoleon." For some strange reason, it was not well-liked.

A week later, another Grade Nine Class performed a hilarious comedy for the benefit of the Junior School. It was exceptionally well-done and well-acted.

"Egad, What a Cad!" was performed by 10-A with the aid of Mr. Gawley and Miss Rea. This provocative production was well-organized. Scott Curoe, as Snidely Slander, portrayed his part with inimitable style.

The last of the plays in the Junior Assembly Play Contest was 10E's production of Charley's Aunt. This was a farce by which Bill Mandich played the idiot while everyone else played straight parts. Incidentally, this play won the contest and Foo Yee was named the best actor in the entire contest.

Back Row, left to right: Lawrence Smith, Scott Curoe, Foo Yee.

A few weeks after, the Junior Talent Contest was displayed. It was mostly song and dance. Kevin Hamilton won it and prizes also went to Eva Jean Slipiec and Debbie Jackson's froup. Mrs. Letourneau deserves thanks for her aid in this contest.

PROM NIGHT

by SHEILA PRUD'HOMME

I could not write an account of Prom Night '67 without including in it a very special "thank you" to everyone who contributed to its great success — a "thank you" which I am sure is extended by all those who attended and had as enjoyable an evening as I did. The decorators out did themselves again this year! With palm trees, a paper mache volcano and artistic murals, they transformed the P.C.I. gym into a Tahitian paradise. Here, elegantly dressed young ladies and gentlemen swayed to the music of Wally Townsend and his orchestra, and lovely "native" girls served tangy Tahitian punch to their guests.

At ten-thirty p.m., last year's prom queen, Rena Men-carelli, was introduced and this year's nominees and their escorts were asked to participate in an elimination dance. One by one the girls left the floor after receiving a rose from Queen Rena, until it became apparent that Susan McVeity had won this year's crown. Holding a beautiful bouquet, she and her escort, Joe O'Malley, continued to dance in the spotlight to the strains of "Red Roses for a Blue Lady." Queen Susan, in a formal of pink satin was then led to her throne where she and her court — Donna Anderson, Beth Pedley, Diane Botsford, Rosemary Boretzky, Louise Davidson, Sharon McFarlane and Donna Wrightman posed for photographs. And what an enchanting picture these girls made with their lovely gowns and pretty smiles!

A social editor is usually expected to comment on the V.I.P.'s who attended the event she is reporting. However, in the case of " " this is an impossible task, for it would involve making a list of everyone who was there — everyone who allowed himself to be carried away to a Tahitian Island and enveloped in the magical atmosphere of a wonderful evening.

CADETS

Mrs. Fojtik presents the Joseph Fojtik Memorial Trophy to John Armstrong — the best cadet marksman.

Another successful year was recorded by Patterson Cadet Corps — no. 24. Perhaps that special flair was due to the Centennial spirit. As usual the man deserving the most credit was Chief Instructor Major A. Newman. A fine performance was turned in by battalion commander, Jim Hull. The specialty units were efficiently directed by: Anne Wickett — Girl's Precision platoon; Alma Webb — Fife and drum band; Norman Heward — Officers' drill team; and Glenn Ross — Brass Band. Special mention also goes to Stan Fisher, Albert Peach, Ron Holmes, Paul Laing, Wes Delnea, and Roy Vanderwaak.

Special thanks are due to the numerous other teachers who assisted Mr. Newman, and of course, to the enthusiastic audience that encouraged the cadets on parade.

Viet Nam

by DWIGHT WASHINGTON

(former P.C.I. student, currently U.S. Marine)

"Deep down inside, I try to hide the fact that I need help.
I try to be the man I want to be all by myself.
Yet every now and then my pride is hurt by my failures.
So unconsciously I fall on my knees and ask the Lord above
To aid me through my failures and heartbreaks — because I am only human.
Yet when things go right, I take the credit and forget that I asked for help . . ."

The Mind

by CAROL KRESTICK

The mind floats gently
Down a lovely stream of Thought, then stops to Dip into a pool of
Deep unconsciousness.
The ferry boat of emotion
Rides the turbulent river
Of troubled thoughts.
The eddying ocean of
Dreams, careens, sinking
Ships of reality.

The Epic Of Man

by SPYROS CHIONOS 12B

Out of the cave I came
And joined my fellow creatures.
Together we searched for food, and came
To know each other by name
And features.

As time could not cease
To run I discovered fire,
And now I was more at ease
Because I had more than I could please
To aspire.

I built great cities
And learned to worship God
Who told me that in these,
I must learn whom to please
And whom not.

I built great buildings
Which to this hour stand
As a tribute to ancient kings,
In a land where the breeze sings
With the sand.

I put my thoughts on record
For other generations to see,
For the future world
To glorify my word
And me.

I learned to use my mind
And know the worth of my being,
Then I tried to find
Answers to previous mysteries of mankind,
And seeing

The grace of my figure
Carved it on marble, and blushed
At my own deeds, feeling sure
Civilizations of the future
Would be hushed.

I set up such laws
To put limits on my liberty,
To prove there was justice in my cause,
And thus I captured the awes
Of posterity.

During the course of my history
I learned to hate my fellow man.
I learned the art of war and treachery
But I wish it would leave my memory
And disband.

I have also learned the arts of peace,
The secrets of mysterious nature.
I have conquered every disease
And still I shall never cease
To venture.

I have tamed the great powers
Of beasts and use them to my advantage.
I search the ocean floors
And bring to surface stores
Of knowledge.

I have conquered distance and time.
Nothing has the tendency
To resist my advance, as I climb
To reach the stars in sublime
Ecstasy.

Still I am restless and insecure,
While I fly through my mind's abyss.
But somehow I manage to endure
All crises and strive to ensure
My peace.

In spite of all the thunder
That from my presence seems to stem,
I look at myself, and as I ponder
At my accomplishments, I hail the wonder
That I am.

"Commercial" Television And Its Effects

by GUM ING 12A

Would you believe a strictly commercial-showing network? This is just to show you why big businesses get to where they are; for all it takes are understanding of human nature and good public opinion polls!

After absorbing enough insults on their products by their sponsored stars, and finally realizing the uncertainty of program ratings, memos were directed from the top to the advertising departments of various companies to find a better means of communication. Soon they found out that the television audience is mainly attracted by the commercials shown between programs, and so no computer was needed to predict that a station showing only commercials would be quite profitable.

With an infinite financial source backing up, a commercial television network was established within a year. This is the PURE COMMERCIALS INCORPORATED, or PCI TELEVISION NETWORK.

Instantly the new sensation became the talk of every household. A star is born every time a new commercial comes on the air. The public is completely hypnotized by the imaginative, witty and objective creations put out by the various companies, and the increased sales records readily verify the audience's approval. Suddenly commercial stars become the most popular occupation, beating out riot agitation, draft dodging, march organizing, and protesting of all forms.

Bold and current ideas are immediately employed to capture the public attention. No longer are clean-cut American kids pictured on the other side of the tooth-paste test, but Viet Congs and communists in North Viet-Nam are now shown using a paste without the added chemicals, and the 56 per cent of the parents are thus pacified.

Fully understanding the power of feminine persuasion as well as male imagination, the businessmen have combined both to create exciting and heart stopping commercials that hold the audience to the edge of their seat. Many have sweated when that cute and rebellious blonde recklessly falls from anything above ground, but they are forever relieved when she lands safely in the driver seat of a sleek and glimmering road-tiger. Then there is the voluptuous red-head easing invitingly out of a hair cream tube, asking every red-blooded male to prove his masculinity, and this gives him a feeling of importance which is so essential in real life. Adding a note of classical heritage, we have a willody brunette bathing leisurely amongst the ancient ruins of Greece, and that product is extremely popular among historians and archeologists. But there are just a few of the many professions the businessmen show their consideration.

Their care for dental hygiene is universal and painstaking, and language is no longer a barrier. It may be Spanish, Italian, French, Chinese, Hawaiian, and yes, English, but they all tell you to brush with Gleam. And when your mother starts using all these languages, you should know that she means brush your teeth, and with GLEAM! By employing all these different people in their commercials, the companies are shown to be racially intergrated, and this is extremely good publicity.

But knowing that real life is not just excitement and happiness, there are commercials depicting scenes of human pathos, such as the famous whispers uttered by the helpless heroine to all the James Bonds of reality, begging kindness from them. One marriage counsellor actually has reported many reconciliations from divorces because the men were greatly affected.

With the various dramatic commercials depicting the excitements, human desires, tensions and many other sentiments, and all of them so very imaginative, it's no wonder that Uncles, Girls, Fugitives, Robots, and 99 other smart agents feel it's useless to challenge their popularity.

The Cape Crusader has since moved to the steel town of U.S.A. to help the white knight. What? Of course he keeps his costumes, but they are bold, bright and white now! And not even the witch can do anything, because her nose was broken when a man from Hertz accidentally fell on her while she was driving along. Although Hertz was again criticized by Number Two, but they also conceded that only Number One could've delivered such a knock-out blow.

All these spell bankruptcy for the little one of the big three, but the other two major networks have united and determined to fight to the end. However, nothing they do can receive a rating of more than two per cent, and that one-eyed peacock has become the favourite joke of many a comedian! For the first time, however, the public does not show any sign of regret for the passage of an era marked by senseless competition and boredom.

But a health report conducted by the request of the wives of the general public has marred the other wise flawless creation. There is a widespread of stiffed necks, strained eyes, malnutrition and insomnia among many healthy normal males from 9 to 99. Often there are heart seizures of older males while watching the commercials, and research has tied all these to too much commercial television. But women are miraculously unaffected. Sensing the seriousness of the problem, the government has passed a law requiring a physical and psychiatric examination of all applicants for commercial television receivers. So far, only the Pepsi Generation is shown to be cardiically sound and mentally fit. But even so, the government has ordered the commercial station to show, at a fifteen minute interval, segments of Shakespeare's many plays; for contrary to popular belief, Shakespeare's plays are not stimulants but depressing agents, and so they are useful in calming down the aroused minds. Of course the sign 'To much commercial television maybe hazardous to your health' is also flashed on every five minutes.

And so after its many famous predecessors, such as LSD, Viet-Nam protests, and Rock and Road music, commercial television has now well set in and dominated the minds of the American people. Collectively speaking, its many goods outweigh the bad. For all the side effects, there are drugs that will combat them easily, such as Murine for eyes tired by watching too much television, and you are made aware of them constantly on the screen. And then where else can you see restricted pictures, comedies, tragedies, and even Shakespeare, if you insist just by turning on the television? But to me commercial television is no different from the old networks, for now when the commercial gets to the climax, it always faints into a Shakespeare drama, leaving me wondering what will happen after a scene from that mad prince, or some other symbols of student sufferings!

It's funny how a little piece of paper can put you in a whole new world

Getting your driver's license makes the whole world a brighter place to live in.

You can move.

Without pestering Mom or Dad to drive you.

Without depending on anybody else.

But now a lot of other people are suddenly depending on you.

Not for rides (although you like the feeling when you give somebody a lift).

But for their lives. And their property.

So don't take chances. Don't try to prove anything when you drive—except that you are qualified to do it.

In every way.
