Allen and Aiken Cop Leading Portrayals In December Play

Old Hands and Novices Appear On Cast of Shaw's 'Pygmalion'

G. B. S.'s biting satire on the King's English will have a British Isles flavor here in the Perkiomen Valley when Don Aiken '50 plays a Pygmalion to Avis Allen '52, Ursinus Galatea. Both Ursinus stars have spent some of their school days in dea'h ole blighty.

Avis, new on the Ursinus stage, is originally from England. Her British accent should stand her in good stead for the role of Eliza, which requires a Cockney dialect as well as a straight British pronunciation. In addition to her newly acquired dramatic activity, this English major is a member of the Canterbury Club.

Don Aiken's experiences with the Curtain Club have been many and varied. As a result of his hard work and success as John in The Late George Apley and as business committee head of You Can't Take It With You, Don was elected vice-president of the club for this year. He is also a member of Zeta Chi fraternity.

Prexy in Cast

Tom Swan '50, Curtain Club prexy, will appear ever more suave than his customary self in the role of Colonel Pickering. Tom, who attended Ursinus while in the service, re-entered the school the second semester of last year, and since then has built up an extremely impressive record of successes behind the footlights.

Bill Keller '50, whose British was raw-ther good, don't you know, in The Man Who Came to Dinner, will try some more of the same lingo as Mr. Doolittle, Eliza's father. Bill's dramatic triumphs since his entrance at Ursinus, has earned for him the presidency of Alpha Psi Omega, Ursinus' chapter of the national honorary dramatic fraternity. Bill also has the English Club and the Lantern staff on his list of extra-curriculars.

As is the Curtain Club practice, several new actors will tread the

Hungarian To Talk At Vesper Service

The Rev. Dr. Tibor Csikesz, pastor of the Hungarian Evangelical and Reformed Church of Phoenixville, will be the speaker at this Sunday evening's vesper service at 6 p. m. in Bomberger Chapel. Betty-Lou Schierer '52 will conduct the service.

Hungarian-born Dr. Csikesz left Europe in July, 1949 to assume the Phoenixville pastorate. He had visited the United States from 1937 to 1939 and had returned to his native country to "see a carnival," as he put it. Could this visitor have foreseen the hardships of the next few years—death, starvation, illness, and terror—in his own country, he might never have gone back, and thus might never have met the girl whom he made his wife upon that return trip to Hungary.

Dr. Csikesz taught French, in exchange for which he received eggs, one of the most priceless commodities. Several years later at Christmastime the minister was trying to find an appropriate and valuable gift for his young son. In addition to eggs, salt was at a great premium, for there was prac-

FOUNDERS' DAY RECEPTION

L. to r. Dr. Stassen, Dr. McClure, Fred Nicholls, "Weekly" reporter, and Max Jentsch, Senior class prexy, exchange greetings at the reception following the Founders' Day convocation.

Stassen Views Theories Shaping World Cultures

by Fred Nicholls '50

Friday afternoon, October 21, Ursinus celebrated its 79th anniversary and entered upon its ninth decade as an institution of higher learning in the liberal arts.

President Harold E. Stassen of the University of Pennsylvania, upon whom Ursinus conferred the degree of Doctor of Laws, was the principal speaker at the convocation of the faculty, board of directors, twenty-two students who had completed their courses during the summer semester, and friends of the college. Dr. Norman E. McClure, college president, spoke briefly on the past history of the college and introduced Mr. Stassen as a man whose life exemplified the ideals of our school.

Mr. Stassen, in his address, spoke of the three philosophies which are held by various peoples of the globe. First, there is the philosophy of natural rights of man, in which man lives a free life with certain inalienable rights derived from his creator. This is the philosophy of our country, the British Commonwealth, and various other nations, and it is the philosophy upon which Ursinus College was founded.

The second philosophy is one which teaches that the individual has no inherent rights, but secures his duties in life from an all powerful state. In this way of life there is no freedom, and the individual is completely subordinated to the authority of society as a whole. Mr. Stassen termed this an atheistic philosophy.

The third philosophy is one in which people withdraw themselves from this world and only prepare for the hereafter. Mr. Stassen pointed out that those who had chosen the path of freedom had achieved great material success, while Russia, with her materialistic philosophy, has never come close to our standards of living.

After the convocation Mr. Stassen, Dr. Paisley, president of the Board of Directors; Dr. George Pfahler, and Dr. McClure received the faculty, board of directors, students, and friends of the college in Pfahler Hall.

In an interview following the reception, Mr. Stassen gave his impressions of Ursinus. The university president was greatly impressed by the type of student and congenial atmosphere of the college. Mr. Stassen also remarked on the beauty of the campus, adding that he considered the location of the college ideal.

Music Clubs Offer Two Merit Awards

The coordinated Music Organizations have recently completed an award system for participants in local musical groups.

Under this system a student may earn one point per semester for each musical group of which he is a member. When he has earned a total of fifteen points, the student will receive the first award; and when he has earned twenty points, he will receive a second award. The kind of award to be given has not yet been determined by the group.

At a recent meeting, the group chose Jack Christ '51 as student director for the Meistersingers.

On November 5, Old Timers' Day, the band will give a concert on the

Kitchen Adds New Refrigerator, Other Equipment During Summer

The kitchen has acquired several new facilities of which few students are aware. The principal addition is an entirely new refrigeration system, one of the most efficient on the market. There are also a modern deep-freeze unit and several new ranges.

During the summer, while the temperature hovered around ninety, the members of the kitchen staff spent long hours re-decorating the employees room, painting the walls of the lower dining room, and scrubbing and re-painting the ceiling in the kitchen. The storeroom has been thoroughly cleaned to make room for a greater variety of food.

Last Monday, in a flash news article, George Ott, the president of the Freshmen class, was introduced to you. The rest of the officers were not named until later in the day.

Bob Swett, the vice-president, comes from Madison High School in New Jersey and is now living at the Annex. He is majoring in business administration and would like to do something in the business world after graduation. A lofty end on the football team, he is especially famous right now for the beautiful performance which he gave in the Freshman show.

Hallow'en Atmosphere To Predominate in Current Campus Events As '52ers Set Hayride, Masquerade for Friday and Saturday

Don't throw away those customs, Frosh! With a little dusting off, the green bands, name tags, and dinks can be pressed into service again purely as costumes for the crowning event of the coming big week-end, the Sophomore's "Mystery Masquerade," on Saturday evening. Freshmen, witches, gypsies, and schmoos will mingle at the first big dance of the semester, a fancy-dress ball, to the music of Clyde Walton and his Memphis Five.

One of the many highlights of the evening will be the moment of unmasking, masks being required for everyone upon entrance.

Costumes are not absolutely necessary, but they are essential for the spirit of the evening, and it is hoped that costumes will be uniformly in evidence. As an added incentive for imaginative masquerading, the most original costumes will be rewarded by a carton of Chesterfields to the most cleverly dressed man and woman, in addition to other prizes and surprises.

The Thompson-Gay Gymnasium will be festooned with decorations which promise to be the most unique seen there in many a year with an aura of mystery prevailing. Dancing will be from 8 p. m. until 12 midnight, with 12:30 a. m. late permissions for women students. The admission charge for the ball is only $7.50 a couple and $5.00 stag.

To make it a complete week-end, the class of '52 is sponsoring a hayride Friday evening after the pep rally with wagon space for all. Everyone is urged to join the fun at $1.00 per couple. Wagons will leave from behind the library at 7:30 p. m. and travel to Trunks' in

The awards will be made for study in the United Kingdom, Belgium, Burma, Netherlands, Philippines, Greece, New Zealand, France, Italy, Iran and Norway for the academic year 1950-51.

This is the second year in which American graduate students will have the opportunity of competing for these awards which provide travel, tuition and maintenance for one academic year of study abroad. They are made available as a result of Public Law 584, 79th Congress, known as the Fulbright Act.

The basic requirements for eligibility are: American citizenship, a college degree or its equivalent by the time the candidate takes up his award, and sufficient knowledge of the language of the country to carry on his studies abroad.

The number of opportunities in the various countries are listed as follows: in the United Kingdom a total of 156, broken into 145 for Great Britain and Northern Ireland, five in the British colonial dependencies, two for junior social workers, one in adult education and three in workers education; in Belgium and Luxembourg, 22; in Burma 3; Netherlands, 25; Philippines, six; Greece, 12; New Zealand 10; and France, 220. FRESHMEN CLASS OFFICERS

L. to r. Bill Bond, Harry Feulner, George Ott, and Bob Swett concoct the Frosh future plans.

Initial '53 Officers Take Over Duties Following Introduction at Frosh Banquet

Last Monday, in a flash news article, George Ott, the president of the Freshmen class, was introduced to you. The rest of the officers were not named until later in the day.

Bob Swett, the vice-president, comes from Madison High School in New Jersey and is now living at the Annex. He is majoring in business administration and would like to do something in the business world after graduation. A lofty end on the football team, he is especially famous right now for the beautiful performance which he gave in the Freshman show.

Bill Bond, secretary, is a chemistry-biology major, who plans to become a dentist. He came to Ursinus from Germany, where his father is stationed in the Army Occupation forces, and is now residing at the Annex. As a fullback on the football team, Bill has already made quite a name for himself.

The treasurer, Harry Feulner, is also on the football team, where he plays an end position. A veteran of World War II, he is, for the time being, majoring in business administration and his plans for the future are still tentative. He comes from Phoenixville and is now living in a private residence in Trappe.

Men Choose Three For MSGA Positions

At an election held last Wednesday, the following men were elected to fill vacancies in the Men's Student Council: Day Study, Joseph Wismer; Sophomore representative, Tom Davis; and Freshman representative, Joseph Sanders.

Wismer, who lives in Pottstown, is a Senior English major and is well-known on campus for his participation in variety shows as a magician and a hypnotist.

Davis, a pre-med student, has made a name for himself as an active participant in Curtain Club productions. He will be remembered by all upperclassmen in the role of Tony Kirby in You Can't Take It With You. This year he is assisting in the student direction of the one act plays, Caleb Stone's Death Watch and Antic Spring.

SORORITIES AND FRATERNITIES

One of the biggest arguments for the presence of sororities and fraternities on the Ursinus campus is the small part they play in campus life. Unlike the large national organizations which dominate the scene in so many of the colleges and universities, our smaller local ones are to lead a relatively unimportant life and fulfill only a minor social function.

Yet, no matter how freely acknowledged this fact is and no matter how often we assert its veracity, the idea remains in the minds of many that to belong to one is a very great, perhaps even "the" great, criterion of social acceptability. In direct correlation to that is the feeling that non-membership makes one socially inferior. This is particularly felt to be the case during those short periods of a college term when sororities and fraternities are in the limelight.

This, then, is the particular instance when it must be definitely stated that theirs is a minor role. Only the exaggerated importance they assume in the mind of an individual can make it other than that. They are really of value only insofar as they serve as a point of contact, so to speak, for alumni members. The part they play in campus life is very adequately equally by many other special interest groups. Rarely, if ever, do they have any bearing on the school political activities.

We are faced then with only this idea of social acceptability. The number of students in sororities and fraternities is too small, the number on the outside too large, for us ever to consider it as a criterion. Rather each individual student should be able to make friends and become an active part of campus life on the merit of his or her own personality. There should be no necessity for one's having to depend on entrance into a selected group to pave the way.

But the problem does not end there. If people are not to be left out, and if sororities and fraternities are to maintain their allotted place on campus, then it is up to each member of each organization to help maintain the proper social equilibrium. There is no reason for these members to have a smug feeling of superiority or to treat condescendingly the non-members.

It is up to each organization as a whole to eliminate by its action any class distinction or prejudice that has a tendency to rise because of them.

—Joyce Derstine '50

Chaff . . .

Oh, well. What's one more day of school? Six years from now we'll never even remember that we were going to start reading our text books today. It's just a pity, that's all. Now we've completely lost the chance to discover what's in that big blue one with no pictures that cost "notre pere" six bucks.

Just who is behind all of these "don't let this happen to you" features which precede the football engagements? (Engagements? Where do we sign?) He-he-he, the Spirit knows. Sorry, Shadow. You've been in the limelight around here long enough.

Funny how the Swarthmore Swing went out of vogue just about the time the powers-that-be were expected to arrive Friday. Guess they just can't take these childish shenanigans.

The Seniors almost had a personal example of the "Stassen Stomp" Friday, didn't they? A touch of excitement is always welcome. But firecrackers and tear gas . . . well! (No, a democrat didn't slip in through a crack!)

Who got the part of the pig in the Curtain Club's fall production?

Perhaps at this time, with Hallows'en peeking 'round soapy windows, we should set the hearts of our non-campus readers at ease. We don't even pretend to be reporting the news. 'Causen ifen we are, this institution is a darn-sight more "Snafued" than "Zac" could ever have thought possible of anything. It's merely a moron's eye-view of the weekly goings on, outs and ins (particularly the latter.) Furthermore, I ain't sittin' on this flag-pole for nothin'!

"Rusty" Reed Heads Paint-Brush Squad In Campus Publicity

by Doris Fite '52

Tell me, have you ever stopped to wonder who makes the myriad of gay posters that herald big doings on campus? Just like magic before a dance, a Y activity, or an issue of the Lantern, the campus is dotted with bright, attractive posters containing the pertinent facts. Well, it is magic—magic wrought by the efforts of Rusty Reed and her hard working crew of aids on the Booster Committee.

The Booster Committee is sponsored by the WSGA as a service to the entire school. An organization planning an event, social or otherwise, need only apply for help to the Booster Committee one week in advance to have that event thoroughly publicized. This year the committee is very ably headed by veteran "booster" Rusty Reed, whose service with the group dates 'way back to her freshman days. Rusty tells us that for maximum efficiency the membership of the group is held to under ten. Therefore the '49-'50 corps of pen-wielders and brush-slingers is made up of Nancy Hendricks '53, Joan LaVine '53, Pam Massino '52, Ann Royer '52, Dorothy Shirtz '52, and Gloria Pangia '53.

The Booster Committee is one of the many hard-working, little-noted groups on campus that really deserves a big hand from the student body.

Varsity Club Selects Farina Band

Sky Becomes Limit In Full-Dress Battle Of Annual Banquet

With tear gas, de-appetizing aromas, and blackouts providing the atmosphere for the evening, the annual Frosh Banquet was staged in a typical, but by no means routine, manner. Although overzealous Soph Rulers attempted to take over completely the entertainment for the evening, the combined efforts of the Freshmen and Juniors served to outwit them for the most part.

Sharing the spotlight with Frosh prexy George Ott, was the much-coveted, oft-lost silverware. The Freshmen, arrayed in finery far superior to the erstwhile outfits of customs days, enjoyed a meal that would have warmed the heart of many an upperclassman.

Once the Sophs had faded from the limelight, giggles and tears subsided, and the speakers for the evening were presented. They included G. Sieber Pancoast, dean of men; Miss Camilla B. Stahr, dean of women; and Donald Stauffer, president of the Junior class. Perfect foil for the sophomoric high jinks was the appearance of all four Freshman officers.

At the dance held in the Thompson-Gay Gymnasium, "Petite Marguerite" obliged her former proteges with a dramatic entrance, while "The Most Noble Sir" announced the long awaited end of men's customs.

The hilarity of the occasion brought back from the dead a mummy stowed away in the dark dungeons of Freeland Hall. After a fitting entrance in a huge black coffin, mummy Keith Taylor hopped out and joined in the merry-making.

At ten o'clock a very weary Freshman class put the finishing touches to another page in their book of college memoirs.

British Lecturer and Author To Appear At Ursinus Rostrum Next Tuesday Night

Cecil Palmer, British author, book publisher and lecturer of note, will appear on the Ursinus College campus on the evening of November 1st under the joint auspices of the College and Superior Tube Company.

Palmer's address will have to do with the effects of Socialism on British Freedom. It will give local people an opportunity to hear at first hand the experiment on Socialism in Britain and promises to be a highlight in the Winter series of events here.

Palmer appeared in the states early in 1949, and during a Philadelphia appearance his address was heard by Clarence A. Warden Jr., president of Superior Tube Company, who has worked in the interim to have him appear in this community.

Mr. Palmer is distinguished on many counts. He is a widely known book publisher and lecturer. During the war years he made more than 2,000 talks on behalf of the British National Savings Committee to sell war bonds.

Among other activities he is an organizing director of the British Society for Individual Freedom, an organization opposed to "statism" and other "isms" which might threaten the established way of life on the island empire.

His appearance here will be in Bomberger hall on the Ursinus campus. The time will be eight o'clock on Tuesday, November 1. The event is open, without charge, to all people in this area.

STUDENT FROM ABROAD

It seems as though certain Ursinus personnel just can't stick to the commonplace in their lives in or out of school. The most recent addition to the ranks of the non-conformists is Bill Bond, Frosh from Heidelberg, Germany, who flew several hundred miles to take his college board exams this spring.

When the date arrived for Bill to take his tests in Munich, he found that he was to be at the Port of Embarkation on the very same day. Complications! But these were neatly solved by a fast plane to Munich for the examination, and by another one back in time to beat the deadline.

Bill, however, is a native of the United States he was born in Colfax, Washington, 17 years ago. He moved to Germany with his family when they joined his father, who is connected with the occupational forces there.

"Boobs" has attended nine schools from Arizona to Heidelberg.

from four of those schools.

His unique hobby is the result of a lifetime of travel. This hobby is the collection of many novelties and souvenirs from across the world. Wooden slippers from the Netherlands, a pair of "lederhosen German hiking shorts, rate tops among his collection. When combined with a navy blue beret from Paris, this outfit makes of Bill one of the most cosmopolitan of the Frosh on campus.

Bill's dorm is the Annex, an athlete's paradise. He rooms with another Frosh from Venezuela (you'll hear more of him later) and a rooter from New Jersey, "Garden Spot of the World." A more original trio couldn't be found.

"Boob's Bond" has his eye on the U. of P. and dentistry when his Ursinus days are over. If Bond is as good in the dental office as he is on the gridiron, there'll be a lot less cavities in the generation to come.

Hockey Team Takes Season Opener 4-3 Against Bryn Mawr

The Ursinus girls' hockey team opened the '49 season with a well-earned victory over a strong Bryn Mawr squad by the close score of 4-3.

Ursinus opened the game with a well-coordinated attack, taking the ball up the field several times, although failing to score. Nancy Vadner, left inner for Snell's Belles, made the first goal eight minutes after the opening whistle. Nancy soon followed this with another goal on a hard drive from the edge of the circle. Bryn Mawr fought back, and with a few minutes remaining in the first half, Sheila Eaton, center forward, scored on a corner. The score was 2-1.

The Main Line lassies came back with a rush in the second half, scoring two quick goals. Sheila Eaton and Nancy Blackwood, left inner, both scored after scrimmages in front of the cage, which left Ursinus behind 3-2. After a few minutes Snell's Belles tied the score with a goal by captain Anita Frick. In a short time the rejuvenated Ursinus went ahead 4-3 on a score by Nancy Vadner after a scrimmage in front of the goal.

To make the day complete, the Ursinus jayvees turned back the Bryn Mawr team 3-1 to extend their two year winning streak. Goals were made by Marian Kurtz, Joan Kirby, and Marian Johnson.

The hockey team plays their first home game when they meet East Stroudsburg on Wednesday afternoon at 4 p. m.

Curtis Keeps Lead; McMillan Triumphs In Golfing Contest

With two weeks of intramural touch football completed, power-laden Curtis maintains a four-game winning streak to lead the race for league honors. Coach Art Baron, "grand old man of football" has his charges primed for every contest. With such outstanding athletes as Ira Bronson, Ed Klein, Phil Seibel, Ray Dippel, Dave McMillan, Bill Mauger and countless others to draw from, Curtis is truly the Notre Dame of the inter-dorm league minus scholarships.

Liable to be the dark horse in the race is the unpredictable Annex team, which has won every contest they appeared for, defeating the Siamese triplets, Stine, Freeland and Derr. Their only setback came as the result of a forfeit to Brodbeck.

Not to be discounted is the Brodbeck entry which has a record of three wins and one loss. In last week's play the Brodbeckers won by forfeit from the Annex, and eked out a close overtime victory against Off-Campus. The game ended in a 6-6 deadlock; but, following the new ruling for deciding tie games, each team was given five downs in which to move the ball into the opposing teams territory. Starting from the mid-field strip and alternating downs Brodbeck had the ball in Off-Campus territory after five downs and thus won the ball game.

Stine Drops Two

Tiny Stine dropped from the undefeated ranks as mighty Curtis crushed them 18-6 Monday, and the Annex administered the same treatment on Wednesday, 13-6. Also suffering losses last week was Freeland, who took it on the chin from the same two sources. They were swamped by the Annex 20-0 on Thursday, and forfeited to Curtis earlier in the week.

Off-Campus appears to be weak in manpower, having played several times with just the minimum number of eight men. Any students living off-campus who would like to play should report on the day of the game to the proper field and aid the faltering day students.

McMillan Wins Hole-in-One

Last Saturday morning, October 14, "Tweed" McMillan, pro from Curtis dormitory, copped an intramural medal in golf with a low straight drive which ended up only 12 feet 11 inches away from the flag, winning the hole-in-one contest sponsored for the first time under the intramural program. Runner-up to the victor McMillan was Lou Fargo of Brodbeck, who

Court Squad Opens Practice Workouts For Coming Season

The Ursinus basketball team, under the direction of coach Jerry Seeders, started their initial practice sessions last Monday in preparation for the beginning of the new season.

Forty-five candidates appeared last Monday for the first practice, among them five varsity men from last year. Bill Forsyth, who is the first captain-elect of a Seeders-coached squad, will be one of the returning varsity lettermen, with Dave Reice and Bill Myers. Ira Bronson and Bobby Gehman round out the varsity performers.

Several outstanding members of last year's junior varsity squad are hopeful of capturing varsity berths. The most likely prospects are Jim Devlin, Nels Wenner, Art Baron, Will Wimberg and Andy Carter.

Conditioning Important

Coach Seeders, now serving his fourth year as mentor of the courtmen, blamed last year's poor showing on the lack of proper conditioning. This year, conditioning is the main point being stressed. It is believed that the team will be able to win more games this year if the squad can play as well and as fast at the end of the game as it has been known to do in the beginning. Therefore, running and handling of the ball were the fundamental drills employed in this week's practice.

Coach Seeders would like to stress the fact that no varsity positions have been sealed. Those who are interested and have not yet reported to Coach Seeders because of football, soccer, or other activities are welcome to attend practice.

Although only a meager field competed in the tournament, it is felt that the activity will grow in popularity in years to come. A trophy will be acquired, upon which the winners name will be inscribed every year. Plans are being considered for a spring contest of the same nature.

FROM THE SIDELINES

by George Saurman '50

The amazing Mr. Hilger is at it again. Since transferring here from Marshall College in Huntington, West Virginia, this industrious senior has been feverishly engaged in preparing himself for a career in physio-therapy. Chet assumed the full responsibilities of trainer for the Ursinus athletic teams early in the fall of 1947.

During that initial year, the college sent him to Dr. Bilik's school for trainers in New York City. That summer he attended the Southern Association Trainers' Clinic held at the University of Maryland. At present Chet is availing himself of still another course which deals specifically with athletic injuries and the latest techniques for medications.

The clinic is held at LaSalle College and is scheduled for a period of from four to five weeks. Instruction at the clinic is supplied by Dr. McTear, whom many readers will recognize as the team doctor of the Philadelphia Phillies, and Frank Wiechek, the Phillies' trainer who is at present a soccer coach at LaSalle.

Chet was hardly a stranger when he transferred to Ursinus; for he, like many others, had been here with the Navy during the war. However, his circumstances were quite different from the regular V-12 men who have returned to Collegeville to resume their education. Mr. Hilger was not enrolled as a student, but rather was stationed here by the Navy as an athletic instructor. Unknown to many of his present friends, Chet was also to be found on the gridiron at that time, tutoring linesmen.

In spite of the fact that he possesses more actual authority than does probably any other student on campus, Chet has never had any serious trouble in getting his wishes carried out. Employing his amiable personality to its fullest extent, he has been able to win many close friends and still command their respect. It is not his nature to give orders, but any request he might make of the fellows is willingly carried out.

Probably no other student takes the games more seriously than Chet does. It is quite evident that he spiritually plays in every game with the teams and is always a morale builder among the fellows. A major in physical education, Chet commutes from Skippack, Pennsylvania, where he lives with his wife and small son, Terry.

In conjunction with the illustrious Mr. Hilger it would be a good idea to mention two other men who have become synonymous with athletics and the Thompson-Gay Gymnasium.

Few fellows who spend much time in the locker room are not familiar with Mr. Charles Linn and Mr. Harry Cassel. These two hard workers are quick to extend a cordial greeting to the fellows and ever-ready to lend a helping hand.

They make friends easily and the players consider it a sort of honor to be called by name by either of them, for men such as these blend readily into the tradition and routine of the athlete's life.

However, it is not necessary to belong to any team to make the acquaintance of these two worthy gentlemen.

Soccer Team Drops Second Contest 2-0 At New Brunswick

Rutgers Men Score First Victory; Ursinus Strong on Defense

by Roy Foster '51

Rutgers' soccer team defeated Ursinus last Saturday at New Brunswick, New Jersey, by the score of 2-0. It was the Bears' second loss of the young season, and incidentally their second tussle without a score, having lost to Stevens Tech the previous week 4-0. It was the first victory for the "Queensmen" after losing to Swarthmore and tying both Lehigh and Trenton State Teachers College.

From the opening kickoff through most of the first quarter the Ursinus offensive seemed about to push over a goal. But Rutgers goal-tender, Thomas, who made eleven saves during the game, and other defensemen successfully staved off a score. Toward the end of the period the tide turned, and a quick stab into Ursinus territory culminated in a well-placed goal kick by Mohr, inside left for Rutgers. It was a seesaw battle throughout the second quarter, and at halftime the score stood 1-0, Rutgers.

The "Scarlet" battered the Ursinus defense for a good part of the third quarter, and eventually scored on substitute center-forward Nickolein's short boot that goalie Pleet had no chance to stop. Both teams visibly weakened in the last period. Although Rutgers' offensive was the stronger, neither was impressive, and the game ended 2-0 in favor of Rutgers.

Ursinus' Defense Magnificent

Most of the action took place in Bear territory, and Rutgers might have scored more if it had not been for the fine defensive play of Harry Light, "Pete" Peterson, and John Powell. Again and again they thwarted the Rutgers offensive and headed or booted the ball out of danger. At one point Light was slightly injured so that time was called, but he went on to play a great game.

On Thursday, Ursinus entertains a powerful Swarthmore squad here at Price Field.

MYSTIC MAKES PREDICTION

Cheerleader Len Able Supplies Mist as "Whistler" Donahue Gazes.

Pep Rally Precedes Senior Class Dance

At a rousing pep rally Friday night that witnessed the initial appearance of Swami "Whistler" Donahue, the Ursinus rooting section gave the football team a warm send-off to its traditional battle with Swarthmore.

The local crystal gazer, looking into the future through a haze of very apparent vapors, predicted that a decrepit Swarthmore team would be annihilated by a rough and ready Ursinus squad on a field indelibly marked with a large U.

Shortly after the walls of the old gym had ceased vibrating and the mystic vapors had been cleared away, the seniors welcomed all comers to the "first and only annual senior Stassen Stomp," a dance in honor of that celebrity's visit to our campus. Highlight of the evening was a lively Virginia Reel explained and supervised by the esteemed Dr. Gradwohl, professor of square dancing at Ursinus.

After everyone had been duly exhausted by the unaccustomed exercise, recuperation was aided through the purchase of hot dogs, cider or cokes, and "sitting out" the fast ones for the remainder of the dance. A crowd of about 150 attended the dance.

Poem Reveals Hope For Beaten Athletes

The Weekly Sports Staff has decided that the following poem, despite its anonymous origin and previous presentation, should be published for the enjoyment and inspiration of its readers. It was discovered hanging in the varsity locker room last Friday afternoon.

So you've been beaten to earth?
Well that's that.
Come up with a smiling face.
It's nothing against you to fall down flat,
But to lie there, that's disgrace.
Why, the harder you fall
The higher you'll bounce,
Be proud of your blackened eye,
It isn't the fact your licked that counts
But how did you fight, and why?
It's easy to cry, that you're beaten,
and die,
It's easy to crayfish and crawl.
But to fight and to fight when hope's out of sight.
Why that's the best game of all.
And though you come out of each gruelling bout,
All beaten and battered and scarred,
Have one more try, it's easy to die,
It's keeping on living that's hard.

Grid Machine Seeks Win Over Seahawks To Avenge '48 Loss

by Bill Helfferich

This Saturday, the Wagner College Seahawks, of Staten Island, N.Y., invade Collegeville to tangle with the Ursinus Grizzlies.

Last year Coach Jim Lee Howell's eleven defeated the Bears 23-6, in a hotly-contested game. Although Wagner's record to date has been fairly good, they'll have considerable trouble with Kuhrt Wiencke's proteges. The Green and White record is two wins and two losses. They registered a 19-6 victory over Hofstra and an impressive 28-6 win over a mediocre CCNY team.

Howell will use Jay Quintana, fullback, and Chet Sellitto, halfback, both offensively and defensively. This lineup was tested against Hofstra and the pair came up with four intercepted passes. This marks a change in Howell's plan of using separate offensive and defensive backfields.

Colhouer Coaching Line

Jake Colhouer, of the New York Giants' football squad is the new line coach at Wagner. Under his capable supervision the team has shown much improvement. He will undoubtedly start Don Hanson, 220 lb. center; Harry and Bill Kummer, tackle and guard, respectively, who both weigh about 200 pounds, and Jim Saks big 225 pound tackle. The rest of the line chores will be handled by ends, Drown and Keogh, and guard Bill Roehrich.

Matt Scaffa, stocky back, returned this year and will probably start along with Quintana and Sellitto. Scaffa was Wagner's "big man" in defeating Ursinus last year. He promises to be a big threat this Saturday. Kenny Oetjer rounds out the probable seahawk backfield.

Garnet Drops Bears 20-6 With Quick Aerial Attack

Swarthmore Tallies Two on Wilson's Passes; Rogeri Also Scores; Saurman Fires To Yoder for Lone Bruin Score in Last Period

by Ford Bothwell '51

Striking through the air with a pair of rapid-fire first period touchdowns, Swarthmore then blocked a series of thrusts by a determined Ursinus College eleven to win 20-6 Saturday before 1800 at Alumni Field, Swarthmore.

Freshman Wally Wilson provided the margin of victory for the Garnet as he connected with touchdown tosses of 32 and 53 yards within three minutes of each other in the opening stanza. John Rogeri provided the clincher in the third quarter with a nineteen yard dash around right end.

Ursinus, with Don Young and George Saurman on the firing line, actually outpassed the Little Quakers in this aerial game, completing 16 passes for 189 yards compared with 7 completions and 102 yards for the Garnet. The Bears also gained 11 first downs against 7 for the Garnet, but seemed to lack a scoring punch. Thus, Swarthmore lengthened its lead in this traditional series, gaining its 26th triumph against ten losses and one tie.

The game opened with an exchange of punts, after which the Garnet found itself on the Bears' 32 with fourth down. Wilson then faded back and tossed to halfback Dick Esrey, who gathered it in on the 12 and scooted across. Hal Botsford added the point, and the score was 7-0.

Wilson Connects Again

Following the kick-off, Ursinus was forced to punt, and the Garnet returned it to their own 47. Three plays later Wilson again floated back and connected with the pass that hurt. Esrey cut to the left downfield as he had on the previous scoring play, and the Bear defense shifted to avert a repetition. But six-foot-five end Dick Hall cut to the right over center, grabbed Wilson's short pass with one hand, and raced like a scared deer 45 yards to pay dirt.

Stunned but not discouraged, the Bruins began to open up in the second quarter. Esrey punted to the Bears' 25, and Saurman, whose punt returns were nothing short of spectacular, hauled it back to the Ursinus 48. Don Young then tossed a jump pass to Bill Turner on the Garnet 40 for a first down. Young flipped to Harry Feulner on the 23, and Chic Scirica raced to the 16, where the drive ended on an incomplete pass.

Ted Yoder intercepted a Garnet aerial on the 27, and this time the Grizzlies pushed to the 10 on an end-around play by Dimon and a pass, Young to Yoder. After an incomplete pass, Young was rushed and fumbled, Swarthmore recovering.

Bears Fail for Third Time

Late in the first half Ursinus recovered a Garnet fumble on the Little Quakers' 10. Chic Scirica twisted and turned for three yards, and Bill Fischer bulled to the five. After throwing a pass that was knocked down over the goal, Young again was smothered and fumbled. After failing to score three times within the 15 yard line, Ursinus trailed 13-0 at halftime.

Opening the second half, the Bears drove to the Garnet 31 on passes by Young and sparkling runs by Scirica, before losing the ball on a fumble. Exchanging kicks, the Grizzlies found themselves back on their own one-foot line. Young punted to the 40, and Esrey raced back to the 23. Three plays later Rogeri took off around right end behind good interference and raced to the goal. Botsford again converted.

In the fourth quarter Saurman returned a punt to the Bears' 15. Then the tall co-captain flipped to Feulner on the 34. Two penalties moved the ball into Garnet territory, and Saurman again tossed, this time to Ted Yoder. Aided by a devastating block by Turner, Yoder scampered to the 20. Scirica squirmed to the 8, where Saurman again connected with Yoder in touchdown territory. Johnny Ehnott missed the point.

Many Bear gridmen turned in fine performances. Don Young played his usual brilliant game despite a broken nose sustained against Dickinson. Saurman's passing and punt returns, along with hard-running by Scirica, Yoder, and Fischer, kept the Bruin offense moving. Turner, Feulner, Dimon, and Pascucci were excellent at end, and in the line Ehnott, Muench, and Watson were standouts.

He stated that he was not an aspiring candidate for the presidency of the United States, but that if the Republicans choose him in 1952 he will certainly run. In discussing his recent trip to Great Britain, Mr. Stassen said that he did not think devaluation alone would solve Britain's economic ills, but that other measures such as stimulation of industry and the export trade would have to be employed. Moreover, Mr. Stassen claimed that Britain would solve her present economic crisis and remain a world power "through the courage and character and quality of the British people themselves."

Mr. Stassen also asserted that he had made a study of the British Health Insurance Act, but that he was not yet ready to discuss his reaction to it. He believed that the act was too important and the issue too large for him to reach any definite conclusions immediately. Mr. Stassen's conclusions will be based on a continued study of the facts gathered on his trip.

The Russians, like the Germans, presented quite a problem. On one occasion they persuaded Dr. Csikesz to accompany them on one of their infamous hikes. Twenty men began the hike; 25,000 completed it on the third day. This was in January. Some died; others merely fell sick. When a doctor was needed, the Russians pressed Dr. Csikesz into service, assuming all doctors to be medical doctors. None of the thousands who continued the march was heard of again.

The diverse and unusual experiences of this minister, and the informality of his talks make Dr. Csikesz an appealing speaker to all.

Y Retreat

Approximately 30 Y members "took to the woods" this week-end for what developed into a most profitable and enjoyable two days of camping.

In spite of the gay atmosphere of camp-fires, square dancing, and snipe-hunting, the group accomplished much in the way of planning the immediate events and program of the Y and its various commissions.

The need for co-ordination and co-operation with the other campus organizations was stressed, and the future planned accordingly.

An extremely valuable result of the two days was the realization of all participating that the Y knows its purpose and is striving to fulfill it.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Staiger and Mr. Lloyd Jones, faculty members, accompanied the campers, while Jackie Jordan '51 and Norma Titus '51 proved their prowess with the skillet and stove.
