Balladeer Lee to Appear For Return Engagement

"Lantern" Staff Engages Master of Ballad-singing Art for Benefit; Program To Feature Varied Folk Songs in Authentic Dialect

Howard Lee, noted ballad singer who appeared here last year, will make a return engagement in Bomberger Chapel tomorrow evening at 7 under the sponsorship of the Lantern.

Mr. Lee is widely recognized as a master in the art of singing ballads. He has made recordings for the Library of Congress and is considered by the Library to be the foremost balladeer in the Middle Atlantic area.

His pursuit of new ideas for ballads has led Mr. Lee all over the world and into many unusual experiences. The story is told that he even joined bums and hobos in railroad boxcars for new ballad sources.

Combining an excellent voice (all his denials to the contrary!) with a pleasant personality, the ballad singer completely captivated his Ursinus audience in his appearance here last year. At that time Mr. Lee proved effectively his ability to sing in many dialects and to change from one to another with amazing ease. He even rendered a Russian folk song quite authentically.

Incidentally, Mr. Lee's appearance is quite in keeping with his unassuming manner. He makes no pretense of being the night club entertaining type.

There will be no charge for admission, but contributions for the benefit of the Lantern will be accepted at the close of the performance.

TUESDAY ENTERTAINER

Rosicrucians Honor Thirty-seven Coeds At After-dinner Tea

Thirty-seven girls who achieved an average of 87.5 or more during last year's spring term were entertained by the Rosicrucians at an after-dinner tea in Shreiner Hall last Tuesday evening. Of this number nine are permanent members of the Rosicrucian organization because they have maintained the specified average for a total of four semesters.

Usually the reception is held soon after the student averages have been calculated, but because of conflicts, those qualified during the spring term were not entertained until last week.

The seniors who fulfilled "rosebud" requirements during the spring term are Margaret Denham, Joyce Derstine, Helen Fretz, Elizabeth Graff, Betty Leeming, Nancy Mattson, Mary Ruth Muffley, Sara Raezer, Barbara Shumaker, Eleanor Smiley and Alice Thompson.

Juniors are Nancy Bare, Lois

MID-YEAR GRADUATES

Two new mid-year graduates, Larry Fleisher and Adam Tomlinson, have been announced by the dean's office in addition to those names printed in the last issue of the "Weekly".

Geiger To Manage "Weekly" Business For Spring Season

Rosenberger, Wetzel Take Posts As Associate Editors on Staff

To be added to the list of "changes made" at Ursinus that inevitably accompanies the start of every new semester are the subtractions and additions to the Weekly staff itself. The subtractions are the result of mid-term graduation, while the additions represent those people elected to fill the vacancies and those chosen as regular reporters in the various departments.

Replacing February graduate, Robert Wanner, as business manager is Fred Geiger '51. Fred, a business administration major, is active in the newly organized Boy Scout fraternity, Alpha Phi Omega.

Associates Added

With the departure of Wesley Johnson, veteran member of the Weekly editorial staff, two new men were elected to fill the vacancies as associate editors. They are Robert Rosenberger '51 and Willard Wetzel '51. Bob is a history major and is a member of the Meistersingers, and Sigma Rho fraternity. Willard is majoring in history; he belongs to the Brotherhood of St. Paul.

Those people added to the news staff include the following: Anne Hughes '50, Ramona Keesey '51, Jane Gulick '53, Marilyn Jean Miller '51, Betty Rinear '53, Richard Hector '53, Gretchen Showalter '53, Joanne Nolt '53, Thelma Lindberg '51, Dorothy Dietrich '51, Dolores DeSola '53 and Robert Herber '51.

Added to the feature staff are Jane Hartzel '52, Emile Schmidt

"Ruby" Editors Meet First of Deadlines After Hard-fought Battle Against Time

The experiences involved in producing a yearbook would fill pages; but until the 1950 Ruby is finally delivered to the subscribers in May, the staff is taking on no greater commitments than to recall some of the most striking memories of their race against time and deadlines which should end in a photo finish.

Vivid in their minds are those repeated trips to Philadelphia to the publisher's and photographer's only to find that the dummy must

Cabinet To Finish Y Roster Saturday

This Saturday morning and afternoon the Y will hold its mid-year retreat, an annual meeting of the Y Cabinet on campus for the purpose of reviewing the entire Y program and attempting to create new spirit and enthusiasm in the leaders of the Y. Jane Hellie '50 and Keith Taylor '50, presidents of the YWCA and YMCA, have planned the day's agenda, which will place emphasis on planning as completely as possible the Y's activities for the coming semester.

Among the events to be sponsored by the Y are the Religious Emphasis Week, dances in the gym, fireside chats, commission meetings, special programs in Bomberger Chapel on Association Meeting nights, vesper services, morning watch services during Lent and the popular Y retreat in May. These and other topics will be discussed this Saturday under the guidance of the Reverend Mr. Creager, advisor of the cabinet.

Sue Leinbach '50 and Luther Heist '50 will lead the vesper service this Sunday evening. At the Y Cabinet meeting last Monday, Robert Herber '51 was elected vice-president of the YMCA, a position recently vacated.

Dr. White to Return For Colors Ceremony

Former History Professor and Originator of Tradition To Address Twenty-fourth Service To Award College Colors to New Coeds

Bomberger Chapel will be the scene of impressive Color Day exercises on Thursday afternoon at 4. The Junior Advisory Committee, under Patt Richardson '51, is in charge of the program.

Guest speaker for the ceremony, in which Freshmen and transfer women students here for one semester or more become official members of Ursinus College, will be Dr. Elizabeth White, former Dean of Women and head of the history department here. Dr. White instituted the idea of Color Day in 1927, when the women students of the college received their red, old gold and black ribbons signifying their bond with Ursinus for the first time.

Freshmen representatives to the women's organizations on campus will receive their charges. They are Joanne Nolt, WSGA representative, Mary Ann Simmendinger for the YWCA, and Joanne Skelly, freshman member of the WAA. This year Mary Ann Townshend was elected to receive the charge of class secretary since there is no woman officer in the class of '53 for this year.

Big sisters will accompany their little sisters to the affair. The Junior Advisory Committee urges all women students to be present at the event.

POETRY ENTHUSIAST

Edward Davison

Edward Davison, Dean of the College, professor and chairman of the English department at Washington and Jefferson College, will speak Wednesday in Bomberger Chapel on the topic, "The Poet in Any World."

Dean Davison was born in Scotland and received his B.A. and M.A. degrees from Cambridge University. He has served both in the Royal Navy and the United States Army, and is well known as poet, teacher, administrator, and lecturer.

Greek Men Launch Rushing Campaigns Via Party Schedule

Frats To Complete Quota Lists, Make Final Bids Monday

Each February the five fraternities of Ursinus begin the rushing of eligible candidates. During the week before actual bidding begins, the prospective members are invited to parties and the frat members work on their individual friends to join their respective organizations.

Today marks the opening of this year's rushing week for men. It will officially close on Sunday. Membership is restricted to forty-three members in each fraternity. The amount of membership is determined from the custom of accepting 6 percent of the total male enrollment. And as the enrollment drops, the membership ratio drops accordingly.

This week will be one of keen activity for all regular members as they play host to prospective candidates. Zeta Chi entertains Monday; Demas, Tuesday; Beta Sigma Lambda, Wednesday; Alpha Phi Epsilon, Thursday; and Sigma Rho, Friday.

The dates for the week and the stag nights were planned by the

Brotherhood of St. Paul Meets

Members of the Brotherhood of St. Paul held their regular monthly meeting last Tuesday evening. Since Mr. Hirst was unable to attend the meeting as had been arranged, the group held an informal discussion on topics of general interest.

EDITORIAL

In a world geared to the degree which our modern civilization is, it is not too surprising that an occasional incident of exhibitionism might be experienced.

Five years ago, in the March 26 edition of the Weekly, reference was made to one "Black Sedan."

To some, perhaps, a naked man with a flashlight is harmless. To the many girls who have been frightened, however, it presents a real problem; one which must be met.

Recently the "little man" was apprehended. But the law could do no more than fine him and set him free to continue his performances.

When conditions are such that women cannot safely go out without escort and the police are unable to take action, it is time for a change of some sort.

However, we can say that this is a situation which has been going on too long and should not be tolerated any longer.

—George Saurman '50

CANNED CORN

Another guy got tired of the "whatcha doin' Saturday night—I'd like to go out with you but I have a date" routine and pulled an old comeback out of the hat:

"You busy Friday night? Oh, Well, are you busy Saturday night? Oh, Have you got a date Sunday night too? No? I sure hope you get one!"—Dakota Student.

Critical British Elections Effect Us As People Face Socialistic Decision

by Fred Nicholls '50

On February 23 the British electorate will render a decision on the Labor Party which has been in complete control of the government for almost five years.

The British Labor Party is socialistic and believes in the nationalization of basic industries. It is calling for state ownership of 20 percent of industry, with 80 percent continuing under free enterprise.

Mr. Attlee and Sir Stafford Cripps claim that they have so planned the British economy that full employment and rising production have resulted.

iron and steel, cement, sugar, meat packing, and perhaps chemicals. They promise to provide full employment and to keep food costs down by means of regulated prices and subsidies.

Mr. Churchill's Conservatives do not attack the above program in toto. If elected, they say they will halt any further nationalization. But the basic industries already nationalized will remain in government hands with the control decentralized into regional councils.

An important plank in the Tory platform is to abolish food subsidies and to mitigate the inequalities which would develop by extending greater social benefits to the lower income groups.

The Conservatives claim that it is only by the largesse of "free enterprise" America that "socialistic" Britain maintains its present standard of living.

Chaff . . .

Now that we've all dealt with the recent decisions of sundry profs (by shotgun or otherwise) we view with astonishment the number still in good lecturing order.

Do you know, it's a whole week and we're still not sure where we sit in chapel. Finally got used to going again, after our junior year's reprieve, and they make us get used to gravitating in an entirely different direction—and at an hour when our eyes just refuse to wake up.

Included in the registers of illustrious personages in this fair institution are several mermaids—well almost. With nothing bigger than a mud puddle for seven miles they ply their sport under difficulties like having to traipse to Norris-town even to execute a belly-flop.

Just in passing . . . is this Mr. Doody a sophomore or a transfer? And what's this five percent interest on the remainder of bills not fully paid? Maybe U. C. is going in for stock piles too.

Which, by the way, is just adding to the lengthening list of them. The final blow is the increasingly well-known (by twenty-four hours of it daily) babe in the field, the Canasta pile. Lacking a fourth is no longer a saving device for the test-tomorrow roommate in a triple, triple.

Annex - notes

There have been changes made. Yes, even the upperclassmen who served their time at the Annex would wander through her halls with wonder these chilly new semester nights.

Many old habitues have moved to campus; the large rooms have been disbanded, and others have been lost in the dust. The jubilant, carefree joviality is just a little strained around the Annex campus.

The new faces of first-semester Freshmen replace those of the once-familiar, now moved to fairer pastures. There are five new Frosh at the Annex: Warren Stine, Martin Boyer, Bill Leyppoldt, Frank Stein, and our cosmopolitan Ovidio Perez of Venezuela.

In spite of all the atmospheric changes, whenever the cry of "sticky buns" is belloyed through the halls of that far-distant palatial country estate, a break is inevitable. It is then that the main hall becomes a riot—of multi-colored p.j.'s, that is; wrestling matches suddenly burst out among evenly-matched athletes (they get along so well); general events of the day are hashed over in eleven o'clock bull sessions, and things are back to normal.

Yes, Freshmen come and Freshmen go, but the mile to the Annex goes on forever.

Local Lads Acquire Southern Exposure Between Semesters

Feeling the need for a warm climate in which to recuperate after the strain of final exams, several groups of Ursinus students sojourned in sunny Florida during the interim between semesters.

Mr. Douglas Davis, instructor in history, Jack Bowers, and Val Sipple and John Peterson, who concluded his college career with the finals, comprised one such company.

Leaving Collegeville on Friday, January 27, they visited Savannah, Georgia, then St. Augustine, Florida, where they viewed several of the country's oldest landmarks. Miami, however, was their home base for the rest of the week, the first two days of which were spent acquiring a healthy tan on hot sands. The quartet "inspected" Miami University and was favorably impressed with the facilities available for students and faculty, and with the modern, spacious buildings that compose the school campus. We hear no opinions on the coeds there.

At Key West they witnessed the fighting game cocks and several of their fights. Then back to Miami where they attended the dog races at the Flagler Kennel Club.

Next on the agenda was Hialeah and the races, but not feeling especially lucky, the quartet merely observed—or else the losses were too embarrassing. The roller derby was another item of the itinerary.

Before leaving the southland, the group mustered enough ambition to quit the beach and visited the family of Jim Shiver '52 in Crescent City, Florida.

Also trekking southward were two groups, one composed of Bill Hanson, Bill Elliot, Bob Ziegler and the other of Gil Clamer, Lou Stefan and Keith Taylor. Both made tours that followed closely the pattern of the others, including the Key West and University of Miami.

At least one member, however, decided it was his chance to drop out of the rat race and to lie on the beach and eat shrimp.

ODE TO THE LORELEI

The air was chill.
The sky was blank.
The boy was nil.
The girl could thank

Her lucky stars
That it was near
The time for cars
To shift the gear

And madly tear
To campus quaint
To dump the fair
Coeds sans taint

Of minutes late
And nasty glares
As, hamburgs ate,
They up the stairs.

For what could make
A poor femme think
That even earthquake
Bad could link

Her heart with one
Who never knows
That dancing fun
Means unmashed toes?

A cat may truck;
A bug may jitter;
But this here duck
Is a pure-bred sitter.

BUY A RUBY!
Everybody does it

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

"Four years wasted — here I am a Senior and not engaged."

Should We Have National Frats?

Interrogator—Frank Edwards '50

Ray Dippel: No. There are two basic reasons why I do not feel that national fraternities could succeed at U.C. First, the financial status of the average Ursinusite would not warrant his bearing the expense of such a venture. Second, the smallness of the student body would not be compatible with large-scale fraternity development.

Pat Pattison: No. Ursinus is much too small to be broken into still smaller cliques. In a college the size of U.C., where each student is directly or indirectly acquainted with a substantial part of the enrollment, small fraternities and sororities are not so competitive and, therefore, are more desirable.

Al Mazurkiewicz: No. National fraternities and sororities are out of the question at Ursinus. Neither the students nor the campus facilities possess the means to support and to maintain social organizations as they are considered in the national scheme.

Peggy Corliss: No. In the first place, the expenses involved in establishing national fraternities would be considerable. More important, many of the national Greek letter societies are conducted on a basis of extreme prejudice. Organizations of this type would be more detrimental than constructive to our student body.

Norma Young: No. One of the distinctive qualities of Ursinus is that "everybody knows everybody else." National fraternities and sororities, as a rule, tend to create frictions among their respective ranks which cause the growth of cliques. I do not feel that we should sacrifice our "oneness" to such biased organizations.

Rusty Reed: Yes. National fraternities and sororities would attract many students to Ursinus who otherwise would not think of coming here. Although many exigencies do exist in the national organizations, I am not quite so sure that the same weaknesses are not proportionately prevalent in local social frats.

Nelson Moury: Yes. National fraternities would tend to connect Ursinus more strongly with other colleges and universities throughout the nation. Furthermore, I feel that the type of life which is offered in a frat house would have a definite maturing effect on the members.

Bill Mounce: Yes. I feel that the fraternities and sororities would be much stronger organizations if they were national in scope. I do think, however, that the existing frats on campus will have to unite to a greater degree before we could think of bringing national chapters to U.C.

Elmer Meissner: Yes and No. To my mind most fraternities and sororities, with the exception of service and honorary groups serve little or no purpose on any campus. However, I can not see where a national fraternity or sorority would be any worse than a local one.

Attention, Athletes

In recognition of the fine work done by the various athletic teams of the college, Mr. Paul N. Lutz, manager of the College Cut Rate, is offering as a premium to those who have participated in these extra-curricular activities a roll of Topflight Tape.

The tape is imprinted with over two dozen separate Ursinus emblems embossed in the school colors—red, old gold, and black—and containing the name Ursinus and a replica of the school seal. The tape is useful and ornamental on letters, books and lampshades, and in a variety of other ways to display affiliation with the school.

This gift is being made available to those members of the football, soccer, wrestling, and basketball teams and the girls' hockey, swimming and basketball teams in grateful appreciation of the time and effort they have expended in their school's behalf.

The gift tape may be received any time at the College Cut Rate merely by registering your name and the sport in which you have participated in a register which will be provided for that purpose.

Uh, Don't Look Now, But Your Habits Are Showing

by Joyce Derstine '50

For most of us, a college semester comes and goes with such amazing rapidity that we're left breathless and worn-out from the strain of things, certainly too worn out to remember just what the whole business is about, or what we're doing or where we're going. In fact, most of us are too confused to have a clear perspective, to remember anything except that we're trying to pass. No other goal seems necessary.

Then this, perhaps, is the best time for us to stop to think about where our life is leading us, and what will be required of us in our post-college career. Most important, we had better stop to think of this life here at school in relation to that post-college career. The type of life we lead and the character we form are of tremendous value to that person who will someday be our employer or admit us to graduate school.

Questionnaires Ask

In order for us to take mental stock of ourselves and our abilities, there is given below a general outline of things that an employer or school admittance committee deems important enough to put on a reference questionnaire.

In the first place, they want to be assured of personal and intellectual integrity. Does the student bluff? Make excuses? Assume credit where credit is not due? Or does he act on principle?

They want to be assured, too, of his emotional stability. No one wants to hire or accept a person not well adjusted socially and not co-operative. Rather they look for someone who can follow as well as lead, who wears well. They reject those at either extreme of the emotional scale: the shy and reserved as well as the too demonstrative and exuberant.

Leadership qualities rank high among the "musts" in successful living. One should be able to utilize others effectively; he should be respected by others and be a pacesetter in the classroom. Future employers also ask if the person in question can follow an independent course, and if he has ever been selected for positions of leadership.

Not Grades Alone

In the realm of the mental, it is not grades alone which are considered. It is as important to be logical and creative, to have common sense and the desire to learn. The parroting of texts and the student who does as little work as possible, no matter how high their marks, isn't considered desirable.

Perhaps we think no one cares about our interest in living, our vitality, our motives; but, actually, our initiative and our stick-to-it-iveness and our goals in life are all of importance. Those folks looking into our situations want to know, too, whether we can harness our energies, meet deadlines, and push a job to conclusion.

The constant plea professors make for correct English is a well-founded one. All our complaining won't alter the fact that facility in speaking and writing can carry one far. It is the forceful, persuasive, clear speaker who goes places. The student who is verbose, disjointed, indirect and ungrammatical has a very real difficulty to overcome.

Miscellaneous Queries

Included in a miscellaneous array of questions are such things as ease in making contacts, the ability to secure information from others, poise, self-confidence, industriousness and trustworthiness. # PMC Dumps Bruins 90-61 In Free-scoring Court Tilt

Bruins Lose Ten-point Lead after Slow-starting Cadets Get Rolling; Young and Forsyth Account for Over Half of Ursinus' Points

The Cadets of PMC registered a total of 36 field goals and set a mighty fast pace in their march to victory over Ursinus last Wednesday night. The victors started slowly but finished with a rush as they fired in 90 points to the Bears' 61.

It took fifteen minutes to get the lead, but once in front the Cadets stayed there and went on their biggest scoring spree of the year. The luckless Bruins, minus the services of Phil Seibel and Will Wimberg, played their finest offensive game to date, but could not compete with the Cadets' height or the pressing zone they employed most of the game.

Bears Take Lead

Dave Reice opened the scoring with two quick baskets but had to leave the game with a dislocated finger. Art Baron took up where Reice left off, scoring four points. Then Don Young got four, Ira Bronson three and Bill Forsyth three to put Ursinus ahead 18-8. Midway in the first half they led 28-19. Then PMC connected for eleven points to forge ahead at 30-28, extending the advantage to 41-35 at halftime.

Cadets Get Rolling

Forsyth and Young combined to narrow the gap to 52-49. But near the close of the third quarter the Cadets sank five straight set-shots. Later they collected four in a row and put the game out of reach. It stood 90-61 at the finish.

Both teams found the range and ran up terrific shooting averages. The Cadets netted 36 out of 96 for a percentage of .375, while Ursinus sank 25 out of 62, or better than 40 percent of their shots from the floor.

Forsyth and Marcavage High

Bill Forsyth maintained his high scoring average as he basketed twenty points. Chips Marcavage collected the same amount for PMC. Don Young had a good night with 16 points and ten assists, plus a fine defensive game against the great Bobby Martz. Five Cadets hit double figures beside Marcavage: Marks 15, Al Ingber 12, Walt Udovich 12, Martz 11, and Wentzel 11. It was an extremely rough game as the referees charged the teams with 50 personal fouls between them. The loss, Ursinus' fifth in Middle Atlantic Conference competition, mathematically eliminated them from a chance to finish first.

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

Everett M. Bailey

Sports Led Bailey From Streetcar to High Ursinus Post

Sometime in September of 1935 a well-built, good-looking fellow ambled through the main gate of Ursinus College and sought out the administration office. Shortly afterward students came to know Mr. Everett M. Bailey as Professor of Physical Education and director of the intramural program at the college.

It was not until about five years ago that Mr. Bailey became Director of Athletics. Prior to his coming to Collegeville, he had worked on the physical staff at Columbia University.

Although a native of Newport, Rhode Island, Mr. Bailey attended Springfield College in Massachusetts. He worked on a street car in order to finance his education and supplemented this by driving a bus during the summer months.

From Springfield his search for knowledge led him to Johns Hopkins and Columbia Universities for graduate work.

While a student he was quite active in sports. Having fractured his knee cap once while playing football and once in basketball, however, he decided to stick to track and swimming.

At this same time the nation was applauding a sensational hockey star named "Ace" Bailey. It was only natural that his classmates would pass on this title to him, and it still remains.

Since his arrival on campus he has been quite busy. Helping to organize the basketball league for the Southern Division of the Middle Atlantic, Mr. Bailey was made its first president. Since then he has been made vice-president of the entire Middle Atlantic Collegiate Athletic Conference, secretary and treasurer of the Middle Atlantic Collegiate Wrestling Association, and is a member of the National Committee of the Football Hall of Fame Association.

Coeds Succumb 5-0 In Badminton Fray

The badminton team opened its season last Wednesday by suffering a 5-0 defeat at the hands of the Drexel jayvee squad.

Jeanne Daniels, Margaret Hooper, and Sally Lumis played the first three singles respectively, while Janice Christian and Marge Justice, Sally Canan and Janet Reinbrecht teamed up to play the two doubles matches.

The lack of practice and the inexperience was very noticeable and, in the end, gave victory to the visitors. However, the Ursinus girls are hoping to have better luck during the season as they meet the jayvee squads of Rosemont, Chestnut Hill, Swarthmore, and Bryn Mawr.

The badminton squad travelled to Philadelphia today to encounter Penn's junior aggregation.

FROM THE SIDELINES

by Bob Gehman '50

Good news for week-end athletes! Mr. Bailey, Director of Athletics, has thrown open Thompson-Gay gymnasium for the use of students Saturday afternoon from 1:30 to 4:30. Informal basketball games may be held or volleyball played if desired.

The gym will be open until the weather becomes seasonable enough to allow outside play. Any home sports events or plays which necessitate having chairs set up in the gym will close the gym for that afternoon.

Participants are asked to cooperate with Mr. Lynn and not wear blacksoled shoes which will mark the floor.

Although it would be a rash statement to say that spring is in the air, activity in and around the athletic plant shows that the warm season sports of track and baseball have already begun to rear their heads.

Under the capable eyes of Ray Gurzynski, track mentor, a training program is underway which is designed to get rid of the sluggish-ness of winter muscles and build up endurance for the coming track season. Such stellar cindermen as Ralph Ziegler, Joe Shaw, Herm Lintner, Roy Foster, Don Cumpstone, Paul Scheirer, and newcomers Harry Feulner and Frenchie Youngman may be observed going through their paces despite the February temperatures.

Although not definitely decided, Coach Gurzynski may enter some men in the Camden Indoor Meet and the Spike Shoe Polar Bear Meet which is held on Franklin Field sometime in March. All prospective track contenders are urged to report to the gym in order that individual schedules of training may be worked out. This is necessary for them to be in peak condition for these contests and the first dual meet with Haverford in April.

During the past exam period a relay team composed of Ralph Ziegler, Joe Shaw, Paul Scheirer and John Satterthwaite copped third place medals in the Middle Atlantic mile relay at the Inquirer Invitation Meet, on January 20. Running on the unfamiliar board track of Convention Hall, the Bear speedsters finished behind Temple and Haverford.

At the same meet Russ Binder, Ursinus' Middle Atlantic sprint champ, ran second to Charlie Peters, Indiana flash, who recently returned from summer competition in Europe. After a wobbly start Binder stayed on the fleet Peters' heels for the full 60 yards.

The familiar sound of horsehide smacking into the catchers mitt echoes through the gyms as Coach Pancoast's batterymen begin to take the kinks out of their throwing arms. With the scheduling of an early southern trip staring them in the face the hurlers are taking every opportunity to get ready for a long season.

Drexel Tops Bruins 71-60 As Late Rally Falls Short

Dragons Hand Grizzlies Sixth Straight Loop Defeat at Philadelphia; Young and Forsyth Again High for Losers with 19 and 14 Points

by Ed Klein '52

Drexel Tech handed the Ursinus cagemen their sixth league setback Saturday night to the tune of 71-60. The first half was close throughout, but Drexel pulled away to a 41-30 halftime lead they never relinquished.

Don Young and Captain Bill Forsyth, who have been the consistent high scorers for Ursinus all year, continued their scoring spree in a losing cause. Young had 19 points with Forsyth following with a respective 14 points for the night. Jack Savchak with 12 points and Vince Fillibin with 10 were the sparkplugs for the victors, with all but two of Drexel's squad of 13 scoring.

A field goal by Forsyth and 3 quick points by Bronson pushed Ursinus into an early lead. After the first five minutes the score was 11-5. Drexel in the next three minutes, whipped through 7 points to tie the count at 12 apiece. The game remained close until 14 minutes of the first half had gone by. At this time the score was 25-22 with Drexel holding the edge. Then Fillibin, Savchak and MacCart began hitting on almost every shot and by half-time Drexel led 41-30.

Drexel kept up its mastery of the backboards and fast-running game to keep at least 10 points ahead of Ursinus during the remaining half. At the end of the first ten minutes of the second half Drexel had scored 20 points to Ursinus 10 as they led 61-40. Finally, midway through the half, sparkling defensive work by the two small fry of the court, Young and Gehman, who intercepted pass after pass, and Forsyth's and Young's uncanny set shots narrowed this margin considerably. This dying effort brought cheers from the crowd, but the rally started too late and at a time when Ursinus was a little too far behind.

CHANGE OF PLANS

Because of the forum scheduled for this Wednesday evening, the time of the wrestling meet with Drexel has been advanced to 6:45 p.m. The forum time is now set for 8:30 p.m.

This will be the Bruins' first encounter since being interrupted by exams and vacation. Their record stands at three victories with no defeats for the current season.

Tank Squad Edges Dragon Coeds 29-28 In Initial Encounter

by Jean Heron '51

The Ursinus Mermaids opened their seven-meet schedule last Wednesday by defeating the Drexel swimmers 29-28. The victory was not decided until the last event, the freestyle relay, was run off.

Ursinus' tank squad placed first and third in the fifty yard freestyle event. Newcomer Anne Marzahl, last year's captain at Penn Hall College, clinched first place in 33 seconds, and Jean Cilley, a veteran of the '49 varsity, placed third.

Although Drexel took first and third in the backstroke, Marge Grauch took the number two spot for Ursinus. Joan Compton, a Freshman, proved very valuable to the team when she skillfully took a first in the 50 yard breaststroke event with a time of 40.2 seconds and Myrna McGrath, who is also a Freshman, took third.

The Drexel swimmers showed more speed in winning the medley relay race, and they were also able to take first and third honors in the diving contest. Captain Pat Pattison secured three points for U.C. by taking second place in this event.

At this point in the meet the score stood 24 for the home team and 21 for Ursinus. The final event was to be a very exciting, decisive relay. Anne Marzahl, Betty Rinear, Pat Pattison and Jean Cilley combined their efforts to win the 100 yard freestyle relay in 1:00.8. With this victory the visitors won the meet 29-28 for their first win of the season.

On Wednesday the Ursinus swimmers will be hostesses to the Swarthmore mermaids, the Middle Atlantic Intercollegiate champions, at the Norristown YWCA.

Baseballers Will Go South For Pre-season Practice

Opposition To Include Quantico, Virginia Tech and Roanoke; Efforts of Industrious Team Members Make Journey Possible

by Don Stauffer '51

In an exclusive release to the Weekly last week, Mr. Everett Bailey, Ursinus Athletic Director, announced that a pre-season trip to Virginia has been approved for the baseball team. The announcement climaxed several months of effort and served to confirm the various reports that circulated on campus.

The entire trip will cover approximately five days during the spring vacation. Plans call for the team to leave Wednesday, March 30, and travel to the Quantico Marine Base, Virginia Tech in Blacksburg and Roanoke College in Salem, Virginia. The team would return Sunday after playing a game at each of the three points on Thursday, Friday and Saturday respectively.

Players Aid in Financing Trip

Players Aid in Financing Trip

This excellent plan has been made a reality through the efforts of Mr. Bailey, Coach Pancoast and several key members of the baseball squad. To make the trip possible, it was necessary to cut expenses for the trip wherever feasible. To achieve that end, the baseball team shouldered a portion of the responsibilities. Through the efforts of Dick Cherry, Hap Hallinger, Art Baron and Harry Light, a soft drink stand was set up at home basketball games and wrestling meets. In addition to the money raised by the players, Mr. Bailey was able to secure sleeping and eating accommodations for the team at all three points. As a result the expense has been greatly reduced and only the transportation and meal expenses going and returning from Virginia will have to be met.

Jayvees Fall Twice In Narrow Contests With Cadets, Drexel

by Ford Bothwell '51

The Ursinus Jayvees couldn't seem to make the ball bounce their way last week and consequently lost a pair of thrillers to PMC and Drexel, both on the opponent's boards. Drexel's accuracy from the foul line enabled them to overcome a two point Bruin lead to win 55-54. The Dragons dunked three shorts from the 15-foot line in the closing minute to ice up the game. Walter scored 16 points for Drexel, while Cohen and Valerio sank 10 apiece for the losers.

On Wednesday night the Cadets eked out their second win over the JV's 68-66 after the Cubs failed to hold a seven point half-time lead. Bob Swett was the big gun for the Bears with 30 points, almost half his team's total. The towering center used his height to great advantage and poured 18 points through the hoop in the first half. Plomis was high for the winners with 20.

The Cubs' losing streak now stands at three straight, while their overall record reads six wins against five setbacks. Three newcomers, Wenner, Sare, and Valerio, have been added to strengthen the squad for future play.

The next game matched Phoenixville with a strong Curtis A aggregation. Curtis, using an effective fast break, won by a 37-18 score. "Viggy" Fleet was the big gun for the winners with 9, while Richter racked up four buckets for the losers.

In the final game Annex A romp-

Sextet Loses 31-22 In First Hoop Battle Of Current Season

by Jean Leety '52

Thursday the East Stroudsburg girls' basketball team defeated the Ursinus squad by a score of 31-22. This game was the opener for both teams, and the play was not up to the standards usually displayed.

Ursinus scored the first field goal, but Stroudsburg tallied soon after to tie the score. The opponents' next basket gave them the lead, which they held for the remainder of the game. At half-time the Belles found themselves faced with a seven-point deficit which they were unable to overcome in the final periods.

The Ursinus guards gave a commendable performance; however, the forwards were unable to break through the Stroudsburg defense for the necessary winning counters.

The game opened a ten-game season for the Belles. With only three away games, they will be playing the majority of their contests in Collegeville. Tuesday they will travel to Albright and the following Friday night they will face Immaculata at 7:30 p.m. The only defeat that Ursinus suffered last year was at the hands of Immaculata, so this year's contest should prove to be one of the best of the season.

Nine junior varsity games, in addition to several third and fourth team contests, have been scheduled.

Intramurals Resume As Squads Compete

by Bill Helfferich '51

Intramural basketball was resumed last Tuesday night after a two-week layoff due to examinations and vacation.

It was League II's night on the schedule and the fur flew fast and furiously. In the 7 p.m. game an underdog Curtis B team thumped their brother, Curtis D, 31-13. Bill Beckley turned in 12 points for the winners while Watson and Scirica led the scoring for the losers. The 8 p.m. contest was a high-scoring game with Freeland walloping Annex A 53-21. Paul Scheirer paced the winners with six from the floor and two fouls for 14 points. Frambes kept the Freshmen in the game with 8 points.

Special plaudits go to Stage Manager Joe Beardwood '51 and his crew, who did the seemingly impossible by taking the scenery over to Phoenixville and setting it up on a strange stage under adverse conditions. Mr. Winfield Atkinson '48, a faculty member of the Memorial Junior High School, is also to be commended for the work and the time he devoted to make this production a success.

The two other back-stage committees, properties and costumes, also worked very hard in preparing the stage and the cast for the presentation of Pygmalion. Of course, no Curtain Club show would be complete without the guiding hands of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Helfferich and Mrs. Stanley Omwake.

This year the title was given to Alpha Phi Epsilon, with Bob Gehman as council president.

A week from today, after lunch, in the library, the students who received party invitations know if they are bid. It is then that some are disappointed and others are accepted. It does not necessarily mean that a bid will be extended just because an invitation to a stag night was extended. The outcome rests with the individual himself and his abilities to make himself known among the upperclass fraternity brothers.

"Ruby" Editors Meet

Most dramatic of the innumerable trips to South with copy for star Ruby typist, Jean Frederick, was the trek accomplished through fog and mist at midnight before the first copy deadline. But editorial difficulties are only part of the story.

The problems with photography began long before the competent photographer began clicking his shutter at grinning groups of Ursinus leading lights. At first there were schedule conflicts to be dealt with and attempts made to collect teams all at one place at one time. After hours of hair-tearing toil, a satisfactory schedule was evolved—and then it rained, canceling, of course, all out-of-door pictures. And so it all began again.

Photographic troubles reared their ugly heads once more when the proofs of the pictures came back and Plain Jane, with tears and recriminations, blamed the photographer for his failure to catch her true radiant beauty. The boy who scratched his head and the girl who grimaced each had his complaint to register—and naturally, all was the fault of the photographer!

The frantic search for persons of any small talent to compose the Ruby articles was matched only by the necessary and constant pressure of financing the yearbook. Business managers Al Maser and Jack Webb pounded pavements, twisted arms, and talked themselves deaf, dumb, and purple to assorted prospective advertisers with varying results, while the all-star Ruby Band performed again and again in the face of constant handicaps of too few instruments and misplaced musicians in order to collect all stray pennies.

Despite handicaps and set-backs, however, and with the help of a group of sincere and earnest regulars, the Ruby has gone to press, and the editors have partially retired from active service for a short rest and respite before the proofs come back to be checked, and they hop aboard the merry-go-round once again.

Yearbook To Resort

if we told the audience to wear old clothes, you would laugh at us. So we won't be held up to ridicule. But just don't say we didn't warn you!

This entertainment is being planned as the climax to an intensive week-long campaign to bolster the Ruby bank account. During the week of February 20, the dorm representatives, headed by sales managers Alice Thompson and Clyde Morris, will solicit resident students, day students and faculty members for subscriptions to the annual which sells at $5.00. It is necessary to order in advance the book which will be published in May so that an accurate estimate of the number to be sold may be submitted to the publishers. Deposits may be paid when you order with the remainder to be paid when you receive your Ruby, or if you talk fast, you can probably coax your salesman to accept your money at the time of sale.

The concessions at the wrestling matches and at the basketball games during this week will also be operated for the benefit of the Ruby fund.
