GALA JUNIOR DANCE MARKS RETURN OF THE PROMENADE

The musical strains of Nick Mancini's orchestra and the blue-lighted ceiling combined to create a dreamy atmosphere at Sunnyside for the annual Junior Prom Friday evening.

One of the highlights of the evening was the selection of a Prom Queen. Blonde, blue-eyed Sue Bellis '48, was chosen as the outstanding personality. A new plan initiated was the naming of the queen's court, composed of girls of the class of '48. Chosen were Mary Carter, Mary Elizabeth Flad, Betsy Greene, Anita Mann, and Ann Molster. Memories of pre-war days were brought back with the promenade in which the majority of the 425 couples, led by Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Helfferich and Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Pancoast, participated. This was a custom at Ursinus several years ago but has been discontinued for the past few years.

Seth has earned letters in football, baseball, and basketball since his matriculation at Ursinus in 1941. Currently, he is holding down the regular third base job on the baseball team. In addition, he is Vice-President of the Student Council, President of the Varsity Club, President of Alpha Phi Epsilon Fraternity, and a member of both the Pre-Legal Society and the Political Action Committee of the YMCA.

Dick Clark has represented the school in four different sports and was a starting lineman on the 1946 football squad. He is also Vice-President of the Pre-Legal Society; a member of the Varsity Club of the Junior Prom Committee, Alpha Phi Epsilon, and a performer in the Curtain Club's latest production, "The Man Who Came to Dinner."

Archie is president of the Junior Class, a letter-winner in both baseball and soccer, a member of Alpha Phi Epsilon and of the Varsity Club, and was assistant manager.

Author To Discuss U.S. Labor at Forum

Dr. Eduard Lindeman, professor in the New York School of Social Work at Columbia University, will speak on Labor Conditions in the United States Today at the last Ursinus Forum of the school year on Wednesday, at 8:00 p. m. in Bomberger Chapel.

Having worked as a laborer until the age of 21, Dr. Lindeman then turned his efforts toward journalistic, social, and extension work. He is affiliated with numerous organizations dealing with labor, education, youth, housing, social planning, and related fields. In 1935, Dr. Lindeman became director of the Department of Community Organization for Leisure of the Works Progress Administration in Washington, D. C., and in 1938, chairman of the sub-committee of President Roosevelt's Inter-departmental Commission for Reorganization of the Federal Government. Dynamic Social Research and Wealth and Culture are two of Dr. Lindeman's recent books in which he develops his theories.

This invaluable experience in the field of labor and as author and teacher has made Dr. Lindeman a reliable analyst and critic of labor and his talk should provide a timely climax to the forum schedule.

Richard Reid, a member of Alpha Phi Epsilon and the Varsity Club, was elected to succeed James Kromka as president of the Class of '49 in the balloting which took place last Thursday. Dick has been one of the most active members of this year's Sophomore Class and was a varsity lineman on the past season's football squad.

John Kajmo, another varsity lineman and member of Zeta Chi, will assume the duties of vice-president for next year, replacing Leroy Grabenstein.

Floy Lewis and James Kromka are the new secretary and treasurer respectively. Floy is a member of Tau Sigma Gamma, while Jim belongs to Alpha Phi Epsilon.

Bears Record Third Successive Triumph As Eleventh-Inning Run Trips Moravian

Winning Tally Scored on Error; Ziegler Brilliant in Relief Role

by Arthur Barker '48

Overcoming a seven-run deficit, Ursinus went on to pull one out of the fire in their second overtime fracas at home as they nipped Moravian in the 11th inning on Wednesday, 8-7. The old warhorse himself, Dave Ziegler, trotted in from right field to relieve Ron Landes in the fourth frame and blanked the visitors with five scattered hits as he mowed down eleven via the kayo route. "Jolting Jack" Kemp and Dave Bahney led the offensive with four safeties each, and Bahney rabbitied across with the deciding marker in the final round.

Snyder's Error Decides

With one down in the 11th, Bahney poked out a single and took second on Simon's ground-out. Bob Snyder fielded Kemp's bouncer but threw wildly to first, and Dave scampered in with the ball game.

Moravian reached Landes at the outset, scoring in each of the first four periods, as they garnered thirteen hits and took a 7-0 lead. Al Calvo blasted one of the port-sider's tosses into deep center field in the third, and tagged four bases before the relay was completed. Calvo, who batted in four runs, had chased Bob Snyder across in the opening canto with a single. McConologue and Snyder had combined to score run number two in the second inning. Following Calvo's clout, singles by Weaver and Fritchman produced Moravian's fourth counter. When Landes granted successive hits to McConologue, Doll, and Snyder to inaugurate the fourth, the board of strategy replaced the southpaw with Ziegler. The Wrightsville Wizard fanned Leary, but the bothersome Calvo lined out a single to account for Moravian's last runs. John Snyder hurled a few bystanders to turn Szabo's foul pop, on a hit-and-run, into a double-play as he nailed Calvo on a throw to Ziegler, who covered first.

Bears Fail to Hit in Clutch

Ziegler proceeded to fan the opposition, while his teammates popped up in the clutches and left thirteen Bears stranded on bases. The stretch-inning was completed and Ursini had eked out but two runs. The first tally came as a present from starter Doll, who, after a walk to Todd and Bahney's double, passed Simons and White to force in Todd. John Snyder sent Kemp home in the sixth with a single, after Jack had poled his second hit.

Four Tallies Registered in Big 8th

The sleeping Bruins came to life in a big eighth stanza as Kemp singled, Dale White tripled, and Zi helped his own cause by slapping out a one-bagger. Lapsansky replaced Doll and then, after two were down, Dick Eckenroth smashed one into the plowed ground and pulled up at third base. Bob Snyder made his first of two costly miscues, as he threw badly on Bakes' grounder and Eckenroth scored to cut Moravian's margin to 7-6. After Todd walked again, Bahney pasted an outside pitch into right-center to bring in Bakes and tie-up the contest. Todd, in attempting to score on the blow, was nailed at the home hassock on perfect strikes by Calvo and relay-

Metamorphosis

With the advent of another editorial regime, it is only meet and proper that the newly-seated custodian of the Weekly's fortunes should issue a prospectus concerning his aims and ambitions. Our program has been largely influenced by suggestions and comments offered by members of the new staff as well as by various students who felt that certain innovations would enhance the status of the paper.

Space limitations necessitated by the newsprint shortage forbid the effecting of any outstanding changes in the present format until next autumn. Nonetheless, certain objectives may be realized at the present time. First, we hope to instill a more aesthetic note in the editorial-feature page, through the medium of articles dealing with a variety of subjects, from the beaux-arts to personalities on campus. Secondly, we intend to insure that some modicum of humor of a mature, college-level calibre be presented to our readers. Thirdly, conscious of Ernest Thompson Seton's well-known assertion pertaining to the comparative worth of pictures and words, we expect to make a more liberal use of photos. All this is to be accomplished at no sacrifice in accuracy or thoroughness of news coverage.

Regarding editorial policies, we shall strive to keep the best interests of the school in mind, and to abide by the code of ethics for journalism—which to us implies fair-play and honest writing. In brief, we intend to extol, rather than vilify, Ursinus College.

A somewhat amusing misconception of the editor's prerogatives is harbored by some: they labor under the delusion that the editorial column is to be employed exclusively for the purpose of tossing random slurs in the direction of the college or its administration. Criticism of an intelligent and constructive nature, judiciously leveled, is the essence of progress; we will not hesitate to utilize this method in order that some apparent neglect or shortcoming may be remedied, or that some improvement or reform may be wrought.

In outlining our revision plans, we are in no wise proposing to convey any discredit upon the retiring editor or her policies. On the contrary, we congratulate her on a job well-done; further, we wish to express our gratitude for the many useful suggestions and the sound advice which she advanced.

Whether our projects reach fruition or not, we will always remember that this is your paper, and that, insofar as it is practical, it is incumbent upon up to publish what you demand. Hence, any suggestions or criticisms will be welcomed.

Inevitably, we're going to make mistakes; but we vow to conscientiously and enthusiastically put forth the "old college try." Beyond this, we can do no more.

"Dr. Saylor" Renders Critique on Music

by John Burton '49

My attention has been called to a volume recently published by that noted composer, critic, and author, Dr. D. Metronome Saylor, and I feel compelled to challenge some of the author's theories and to express briefly my own thoughts on the subject. Dr. Saylor has called his book, appropriately enough, So You Think You Like Music; and, in a carefully worded preface, he offers it as "a highly informative guide for the music lover who knows little of the mechanics of the art and would know much," as well as, "an antidote for certain erroneous concepts circulated by persons who profess to understand music but who, in reality, do not understand it at all." Those readers who fall into one of the above categories—if they are not alienated immediately—will find the book highly entertaining, a few of them might even take it seriously.

The first thing Dr. Saylor does is to divide the public into four convenient groups as follows: those who understand music and like it, those who like music but do not understand it, those who do not understand music but do not like it, and those who neither understand music nor like it. It is the second group in which Dr. Saylor takes a special interest and he has been more responsible for many of its members moving into the third and fourth groups than any other living man.

Authors of books on how to enjoy music hold only one theory in common—they all agree that music must be heard to be appreciated. The fact that they have all arrived at this startling conclusion leads one to suspect that there has been a giant conspiracy to deceive the public with rash generalizations. But courage, dear reader; sooner or later one of these cannoisseurs of fine melody is bound to assert that one cannot enjoy music by means of the hearing device and that the true significance of great music lies in what one does not hear.

I confess that I have always considered an audience of music lovers picked at random and a group of carefully selected musicians to be the two components necessary for an evening of music. Such, however, is not the case. Little do we realize the exhaustive preparation and conditioning the audience must go through before it is ready to play its part in this little drama. Musicians must have many years of training before they are ready to perform before an audience, but the listener must devote the better part of his life to learning how to appreciate what he hears. As Dr. Saylor has put it, "To realize how ill-prepared the average music lover is, one need only observe the amateurish behavior of his fellow concert-goers, many of whom think that the timpani is the little stick the conductor waves and that the French horn is used only in compositions that have a Gallic flavor. Indeed, the general depravity of the concert-going public is woefully evident in the comments one hears during the intermission."

Dr. Saylor is firmly convinced that "the time has come to bring order out of this discordant chaos," and there I am inclined to agree with him.

It seems to me that true appreciation of music can never be achieved through a scholarly approach, though it may be heightened to some degree by a fuller knowledge of the art. Music appeals primarily to the emotions, not to the intellect. The only way to learn to appreciate good music is to listen to it; and the words of the great composers no more need second-rate music critics to enhance their splendor than Yellowstone Park needs a guide to point out its marvels. If the faculty for genuine appreciation is there, the response will be favorable; if it is not there, everyone is wasting his time, including the guide.

 On the Shelves **

May is a busy month — social functions every weekend and final exams grinning from the not too distant future. There isn't much time for reading more than the required texts, but should you find a few spare moments — in the shower, while playing first base, or between dances at the Drug, there are a few current books that merit attention.

Still leading the best-seller list of fiction is Kenneth Roberts' Lydia Bailey, an historical novel in which the author skillfully blends history, romance, and adventure. With rapidity the action moves from Boston and Philadelphia of 1800 to yellow-fever ridden Haiti, and then to France and Tripoli as the male protagonist, young Albion Hamlin, searches for the novel's heroine, Lydia Bailey—a heroine who emerges as Mr. Roberts' most superb woman character. Her romance with Albion is the thread which ties together this magnificent novel woven by an author who has never failed to present American history more daringly, accurately, unconventionally than any other writer.

Climbing on the non-fiction list is the serious and thoughtful attempt to get at the fundamental causes of our moral chaos by Philip Wylie, Essays on Morals. As in the case of many other moralists, Mr. Wylie is more expert at denunciation than he is at rebuilding. Violently he lashes the clergy, education, and government. And what does he advocate in place of what he denounces? Above all else he calls for an inner, subjective honesty to parallel the objective honesty of science — an honesty that will lead to a new moral structure that is supported by the truths of science. The essay contains rousing and acerbic indictments of contemporary institutions; it contains passages that will undoubtedly stimulate the mind of the reader. For this stimulus it deserves attention, but as a guidebook to a "new life" it is of little importance.

History Repeats!

The background history of World War II is much like the background history of World War I. World courts, leagues, and conferences were all formed for the preservation of peace. The nations of the world did not want war, yet it came in 1914 and again in 1939. The talk of preserving peace had been a cover for some ungodly nation's ambition to dominate the world.

The nation, whose ambition it was to dominate the world, was stopped in 1918 and in 1945, but —? Again leagues are formed for the preservation of peace, such as the United Nations, and conferences are held at Berlin, London, and Moscow. The Hague Conference and the League of Nations failed. Do the dreamers still contend peace can be attained through such forces?

Today, we have just terminated another war which should have never been fought according to the peace dreamers, for we fought the first war to end all wars. If we fought the first World War to end all wars, then we fought in vain just as we have fought the second World War in vain. How many more wars must be fought to preserve the peace?

It is all well and good to speak of peace for it is just another word in the dictionary. We have never had peace, we have never experienced such a period in history. Do we know what we seek in trying to obtain it?

It is true that peace as we look at it means no war waging, but are we ready for it? What does it involve? Surely, it means more than a world without wars; it means every nation will and must have the same as the others. Is this possible?

The world was never meant to be a perfect place in which to live, or it would have been created as such in the beginning. The idealist may still argue that peace can be attained; a lasting peace that will find all nations brothers. The realist argues that history has repeated before. Will it again?

A TRIBUTE

Taking over the duties of a column such as this makes me feel a bit wary especially when I'm forced to succeed such a competent sports writer as Joe Much.

DIAMOND DUST

One of the most ardent fans at our home baseball games is none other than our star southpaw chucker's doting wife, Mrs. Ron Landis.

The Swarthmore tussle of a week ago, besides bringing forth a multitude of base hits, walks, and errors, also resembled a dog show at times, as all sorts of poodles patrolled the infield, and outfield causing the hapless umpires to halt the conflict many, many times.

We really have a tough man charting basehits these days in the person of one Art Barker! The efficient keeper of the Ursinus box score listens to countless tales of how that last infield grounder should have been a hit instead of an error, grins slyly, and sends the "basehit happy" slugger on his way with a pat on the back.

HERE AND THERE

We doff the chapeau to Al "Red" Thomas, hustling shortstop of the Brodbeck softball aggregation, for his pair of fielding gems in last Tuesday's tussle against the hard-hitting Off-Campus club.

Just to show how screwy comparative scores are, listen to this: West Chester is looked upon as being one of the better college baseball aggregations in this area and Swarthmore is considered very mediocre indeed.

At the close of the first round of boys' intra-mural softball on April 30, Brodbeck sported an undefeated record of four wins and no losses. Curtis followed close behind with three wins against two losses.

Because of the pressure of his numerous duties on the campus here at Ursinus, Dr. George R. Tyson, Professor of Education and Psychology, was forced to resign as tennis coach this week.

Chaplain Charles Wallick succeeds Dr. Tyson as coach of the Bear netmen for the remainder of this season. Coach Wallick, an ardent follower of Ursinus sports, has been familiar with the game of tennis for a number of years and is likely to continue in the same successful manner as Dr. Tyson has done in past seasons.

Congrats are also in order for the Brodbeck softballers' feat in copping the initial round in the Intra-mural circuit. Wally Ort's proteges have not only demonstrated a brand of heads-up softball but seem to be the one club in the league which doesn't continually heckle the umpires.

After a poor start in the Penn Relays, the track team weighed in with a nice job at Allentown when they finished second in the three-track meet against Muhlenberg and Haverford.

'Tis rumored that our home football games will be broadcast over station WNAR, Norristown, next fall. Such a venture would really be a step in the right direction toward putting Ursinus on the district gridiron map, and here's hoping the move goes through!

D-son Game Cancelled

Due to a heavy week-end rain in Carlisle, Pa., the Ursinus-Dickinson baseball game was washed out on Saturday. In all likelihood, the tussle will be wiped off the diamond slate entirely as the Bear baseball card is practically devoid of open dates.

Thus far the Ursinus nine has compiled the enviable record of four wins in five starts, losing only to the highly-touted LaSalle club in a heart-breaking eleven inning contest. This week, Delaware and PMC invade Collegeville to clash with the Bears in a pair of home tilts.

Tennis Team Launches Season by Downing Moravian Easily, 6-2

Ursinus launched its spring tennis campaign by decisively defeating Moravian College 6-2. The Bears won four singles and both doubles matches while dropping but two singles.

- The results: Singles: 1. McCausland vs Petticoffer Ursinus 6-4, 6-3; 2. Roncace vs Kilpatrick Ursinus 6-3, 6-3; 3. Miksch vs Donchez Ursinus 6-3, 6-2; 4. James vs Richardson Ursinus 6-4, 6-2; 5. Jones vs Kleim Moravian 6-3, 6-3; 6. Laning vs Quarry Moravian 0-6, 9-7, 6-3

- Doubles: 1. McCausland and Roncace vs Petticoffer and Donchez Ursinus 6-1, 6-0; 2. Miksch and James vs Richardson and Kilpatrick Ursinus 10-8, 1-6, 6-4

Our next match is at home with Delaware on Wednesday, when the Bear racquetmen will be bidding for their second triumph.

GIRLS' SOFTBALL TEAM ROMPS TO EASY WIN OVER ALBRIGHT

In their initial game of the season last Friday, the Ursinus girls' softball team romped to an easy 26-2 win over Albright on the loser's field.

Although the Albright team was much improved over last year's squad, it was unable to solve the pitching of Captain Erma Keyes, who allowed only one hit. The Bears, however, combined effective hitting with some smart base-running to swamp the home team. Tops in batting for the day were Hilda Anderson with three singles and a double, Erma Keyes with four singles, and Doris Stierly, cleanup batter, with a single, a double, and a home run.

Golfers Defeated in First Match

Playing in wet weather and on a soggy course, the Bruin golf team lost its first match to Albright College, 14 1/2 - 12 1/2, in a tilt run off at the Reading Country Club Saturday morning.

Grizzlies Chalk Up 45 1/2 Points, Place Second in Mule Meet

On Tuesday, the cindermen of Ursinus scored a second in a triangular meet with Haverford and Muhlenberg at Allentown. It was the first regular meet of the season, the only other previous participation having been in the Penn Relays at Philadelphia the preceding week.

A strong Mule squad gained first place with 71 points, Ursinus was second with 45 1/2 while Haverford came last with 37 1/2 points. The scoring was based on five points for a first, three for a second, two for a third, and one point for a fourth.

Leading the Bruin squad was Russ Binder who scored a first in the 100, a second in the 220, and tie for second in the pole-vault. Kennedy and Blydenburgh were number one and two, respectively in the discus while Blydenburgh also captured second in the shot put.

On the whole, the squad showed good balance, failing to place in only one event, the mile. The team, however, is still weak in the high jump, mile, and two-mile, but, except for these three events the Bears indicated that they are no longer "pushovers."

Moravian Game

In the ninth, Moravian inserted Clauss, their third heaver, and that inning almost proved to be his last, as well as first, session. With one away, Kemp doubled and White singled him to third. Ziegler tried a squeeze but fouled off a high pitch.

A near-capacity crowd swelled the grandstand and box-seats to watch Ursinus gain its 4th victory in five starts, and see "Bet-a-Million" Ziegler hang up his third win in as many appearances on the mound.

Cindermen Trounce PMC Aggregation; Turner Bruin Star

On Saturday, the up and coming track team of Ursinus defeated PMC in a dual meet by the score of 69 1/2 to 56 1/2. The Bears led throughout and victory was assured before the scores of the final two events had been recorded.

Standout for Ursinus was Bill Turner who scored first in two hurdle events and the pole vault. Both the discus and shot-put were captured by George Kennedy while Dick Gradwohl won the 100-yd. dash and finished second in the 440.

A few of the highlights of the meet were the excellent running of Schiller in the 2-mile; the great comeback of Gradwohl in the 440; and Turner's recovery, after a fall in the hurdles. Ed Stevens had second place clinched in the 220 hurdles until he hit a soft spot in the track and tripped on the next-to-last hurdle.

Rev. Platts Leads Prayer Study At Meeting of Canterbury Club

The Canterbury Club, under the leadership of Reverend Edward Platts of Evansburg, at its last meeting continued the study of the "Book of Common Prayer."

Rev. Platts discussed with the group the outstanding features of this book and stimulated their appreciation of the quality of many old prayers. Some of these were written by totally uneducated people, yet it is the deep thoughtfulness of the prayers which has caused them to outlive the modern intellectual ones.

Those present at the meeting made plans to hold a dinner-meeting May 14 at the Kopper Kettle. Arrangements were made for a guest speaker.

D. Evans Named FTA President

At elections held Wednesday and Thursday, Dean Evans '48, was elected president of the Future Teachers of America organization. The retiring president is Jacqueline Klein '47.

The purpose of the organization is to acquaint prospective teachers with the nature and ethics of the teaching profession.

Dean, a History-Social Science major, is a member of the Debate and Curtain Clubs and plays in the band and orchestra.

Other newly-elected officers are Mary Flad '48, vice-president; Dorothy Kuntz '50, secretary; and Eleanor Baum '48, treasurer.

ager of the past season's basketball squad.

Dean Evans, best known as manager of the Debating Club, is also a member of the YMCA, the Orchestra, Band, Curtain Club, IRC, FTA, and the Canterbury Club. He has appeared in several plays and was a feature writer on the Weekly in 1942-43.

Joe Much has been the year's most active participant in athletics. He was a member of both the football and basketball teams, sports editor of the Weekly and the Ruby, and is the student director of Intramural Athletics. He is also a member of the Varsity Club, Pre-Legal Society, Zeta Chi, Secretary of the Student Council, and a "B-Lister."

Bob Barroll has overcome the handicap of blindness to make as great a success of his college life as anyone on campus. To Bob must go the heartiest congratulations for consistently maintaining a high scholastic average, attaining the highest degree of personal popularity, and being very active in extra-curricular activities. Bob is a member of the French, German, and Curtain Clubs, the IRC, YMCA, Meistersingers, and the Choir. He has also written for the Weekly and appeared in the 1946 operetta.

Andy is another Varsity Club member, owning letters earned in both baseball and football. He has also been a member of the Student Council each year since his entrance into college, is treasurer of Zeta Chi Fraternity, member of the Ruby business staff, and has just been appointed business manager of the Weekly for the 1947-48 school year.

C. Schwantes Speaks On Problems of Life At Religious Program

Students of all denominations joined in a union service Wednesday evening in Bomberger chapel at which time Mr. Charles Schwantes was the guest speaker. Mr. Schwantes is director of student work of the Evangelical and Reformed Church.

The program, conducted by two student leaders, Calvin Garber '47, and Carolyn Howells '47, was opened with a welcoming address by Garber. Following a hymn, Rev. Charles Wallick, college chaplain, read the scripture and prayer. Marian Bell '48, accompanied by Alda Thompson '50, sang "I Heard a Forest Praying."

Mr. Schwantes was introduced by Carolyn Howells. He emphasized the fact that in our generation very few people actually know where they are headed. It is by crises that such situations are brought to a head. Today we are often unable to recognize standards between right and wrong. But the answers to our problems can be found in Christianity, if we will make an earnest attempt to see them.

Following the program there was an informal meeting in the girls' Day Study.

Leroy Grabenstein To Replace Lois Williams As IRC President

Election of officers for the 1947-48 college year was the purpose of the International Relations Club meeting last week. Succeeding Lois Williams as president is Leroy Grabenstein '48. John T. Harsch '48, will assume the duties of vice-president, while Catherine Schellhase '48, the new secretary, will replace Nancy J. Talcott, who will graduate in June.

Several new members were admitted to the club, which is sponsored by Mr. J. Douglas Davis, instructor in the history department. The new members include Jack Brill '48, Charles Idler '48, Robert Wanner '49, Dorothy A. Dean '49, and Catherine Forest '49.

The purpose of the IRC is to discuss current world problems and world news, looking at all sides of the issues involved. For all interested students two sections in the library are set aside complete with pamphlets, books, and periodicals pertaining to international relations. The club receives some of its books from the Carnegie Endowment Fund.
