Esther Smythe, Ken Schroeder Excel In Production of Countess Maritza

Hungarian Music Provides Gay Atmosphere for Operetta

by Marjorie A. Haimbach '48

Saturday night the curtain closed on the outstanding production of Countess Maritza. The operetta was most successful and deserves to be ranked among the leading shows because of its fine professional quality.

The gay and lilting music was not only catchy but its Hungarian rhythms and intricate melodies were extremely tricky and far from easy to produce.

The part of Countess Maritza was played by Esther Smyth '49, whose fine soprano voice gave the operetta a truly professional atmosphere. Her numbers involved keen vocal articulation especially when such difficult skips occurred as an octave and a half tone in her stirring solo "The Music Thrills Me." Most rapturous of all was her spell-binding rendition of "Love Has Found My Heart." In addition to being a fine vocalist she displayed a real talent for dramatics with excellent stage poise—especially remarkable in view of the fact that this was her very first dramatic role.

Schroeder's Second Lead

For his second time in a leading role we again congratulated Kenneth Schroeder '48, whose rich mellow baritone voice and fine acting in the part of Count Tassilo helped in making a real hit production. Nothing could have so deeply penetrated the hearts of the audience as his voice breaking forth with the "Call of Love" and "Don't Tempt Me." Ken's acting displayed an excellent finish and with true feeling he actually lived his part making the love scenes with Maritza and Manja most breath taking.

The part of Manja, a gypsy girl was excellently acted by Doris Renner '47. Her clear and vibrant soprano voice lent both a gay and plaintive atmosphere in such stirring numbers as "Live While You Live" and the "Joy of Life." The scintillating personality of Manja was revealed through her graceful movements and alluring gypsy flirtations which Count Tassilo could not resist. He soon learned the lesson that it was not love that taught him song but song that taught him love. Her scenes involving the display of violent emotion were especially well done.

Jack Norman as Populescu

On the humorous side we can never forget Jack Norman '48, for his part of the pompous Prince Populescu or for the poem he made so notoriously famous: "How sweet to bask, when setting sun doth glow!" He so fully lived his part that he can rightfully be classed as a true actor.

Marian Sare's memorable portrayal of the stately mortician-faced Princess Bozena Klopensheim, appearing no less than eighty-five years of age, kept the audience in peels of laughter. Her part was exceedingly difficult in that it required maintaining an expressionless face throughout the entire role. Both of these comic characters reached the heights of true characterization.

Another comic who kept the audience in such an uproar was Richard Brandon '49, who so naturally assumed the role of Zingo, the light footed, light handed simpleton, wringing all possible humor from his lines.

Marian Bell Steps In

Much credit goes to Marian Bell '48, who, on the morning of the performance, took over the role of Countess Lisa for Mary Jean Moore '46, who was taken ill, and played it that night with the most remarkable perfection and polish. Into Marian Bell's original place as the maid, Helen Derewianka '48, stepped and with her Zasu Pitts air she sent the audience wild. The part of the effeminate Baron Kaloman Szupan was played by Burton Bartholomew and he will always be remembered for his "arch-

Pancoast Returns As Dean of Men

Sieber Pancoast, former Dean of Men and political science instructor, has just returned to resume his duties as Dean and to take some political science classes, after serving in the Navy as an Ensign almost two years.

Next year he will have a full teaching schedule as well as help out on the coaching staff.

Dr. Eugene Miller temporarily filled the position as Dean of Men during Ensign Pancoast's leave of absence.

STUDENTS TO HOLD PICNIC IN MONTGOMERY COUNTY PARK

On Sunday, May 5, the Social Service committee of the Y will sponsor a picnic at Montgomery County Park. Buses will be leaving the college at 9:30 a. m. and returning at 5:00 p. m. The park offers many recreational facilities, and the Vespers committee has arranged an appropriate service. There are fire places, tables, benches and all you need for a grand time. It may even be warm enough to go swimming. You've always wanted some way to entertain your guests the day after a dance, so sign up for your bus reservation, pack a box lunch and let's go!

Orchids to Operetta Committees, Chairmen

The Curtain Club of the College under the leadership of Jane Estabrook '47, appointed the ushers and committees for the operetta "Countess Maritza" given on Friday and Saturday nights.

The ushers for Friday night were Ruth Nachod '46, Jane Nagel '49, Mildred Wilson '47, and Delphine Thompson '47. Phyllis Bright '48, Dorothy Hetrick '49, Janice Wenkenbach '47, Evelyn Moyer '48, and Maureen Heckendorn '49, acted as ushers on Saturday.

The costume committee, under the chairmanship of Jean Bartle '48, included Mary Arrison '49, Joanne Ruxton '49, Geraldine Navis '49, Florence Cherry '48, Elaine Schober '48, Carol Schoeppe '48, Mary Anne Ballantyne '48, and Howard Strawcutter '47.

Winfield Atkinson '49, chairman of the stage committee was assisted by Jack Thompson '47, and Janet Weitknecht '47. The publicity committee was made up of Marjorie Djourup '48, chairman, Doris Kristensen '48, Ellen Estabrook '48, Emma Lou Mason '49, and Mildred Wilson '47.

The properties committee supervised by Ruth Reese '47, included Dorothy Kleppinger '47, Phyllis Brown '48, Doris Sponaule '47, Arlene Boltz '47, and Catherine Faust '49.

The following were members of the program committee: Marjorie Coy '48, chairman, Virginia Haller '48, Mary Louise Harte '48, Christine Franzen '48, Jean Caton '48, and Betty Waddington '48.

The list of committees for the Curtain Club play "Spring Again" will be posted in Bomberger Chapel this week.

Juniors Complete Final Plans For Gala Prom This Saturday

Junior Class Chooses J. Loomis, J. Wilmot For Ruby Co-Editors

Joan Wilmot and Jeanne Loomis were elected as co-editors of the 1947 Ruby on Tuesday by the present Junior class. A business manager and the remainder of the staff is to be chosen at a later date.

Both girls have participated in many student activities and served as junior editors on the year-book publication this year.

Joan, an English major, was recently elected editor of next year's Lantern. She was manager of the girls' basketball team this year, editorial assistant of the Weekly, a member of the Senate and the English club. Joan is also a member of Tau Sigma Gamma sorority.

Jeanne is a physical education major and has played jayvee hockey and basketball. She has served on the Weekly staff since her freshman year and is now managing editor. A member of Tau Sigma Gamma, Jeanne is also on the Junior Advisory committee and manager of the girls' softball team.

C. Idler Speaks To Vesper Group

Charles Idler '49, spoke on "Religion in Education" at Vespers last evening, and emphasized the religious attitude that an educated person should have.

Knowledge of the Lord and a realization of the power of prayer are the first requisites of the educated individual. The Bible promises that if we ask and seek, we shall find God.

The Golden Rule, "Do unto others as you would have others do unto you," is the second point which is perhaps the most important. We need to use this rule in our lives to help us deal generously with others, to prompt our helping hand, and to live a better life.

In conclusion, each Christian must endeavor to study to prove himself as a worthy worker in God's kingdom. We must be humble, and criticize ourselves before we find fault with others. To produce "good fruit," or the attributes of a true Christian life, should be our goal. Thus the individual, during his educative process, must realize his responsibility toward God, toward man, and toward himself, and grow in spirit as he grows in wisdom.

Marian Bell '48, was the student leader and Doris Gray '49, was the pianist.

Hot Dog Roast To Be Held Friday

Following the movie on Friday night, May 3, there will be a doggie roast on the hockey field. Mr. Morrison has kindly promised his help and the kitchen, so we'll have all the right food and trimmings. As planned by the social committee of the Y, the affair will begin at 9:30 p. m., with two fires on the hockey field.

Betty Wiser, Ray Torr To Be Soloists in "Southern Garden"

This year's Junior Prom will get under way at 8 o'clock Saturday night in the Thompson-Gay gymnasium. Nick Mancini's new band with vocalists Betty Wiser and Ray Torr will be on the stand until midnight with "music for listening, music for dancing, and music for dreaming." The dance committees, headed by Dwight Morss, are working overtime on decorations, programs, and publicity that will be unique in Ursinus dance history—and a large turnout is anticipated for the formal affair.

Howard Strawcutter, head of the decoration committee, has announced that the setting will be that of a Southern garden—and decorations are being planned so that there will be a maximum amount of dancing space. Jeanne Loomis, in charge of the programs, reports that an attractive and novel design is in the making, and M. J. Schoeppe's publicity committee is busy filling up the campus bulletin boards with "eye-catching" posters. Don't forget—Saturday night, May 4th—formal—and everyone's going to be at the Junior Prom; so if you don't have your date yet—get hot!

Nick Mancini's orchestra, according to those who have heard him, plays the kind of music that will go over in a big way at this year's Prom. The band is featured on superb arrangements of "Stardust" and "Shanty Town," with Betty Wiser taking the lead on "The Man I Love," "Come to Baby, Do," and "Ol' Rockin Chair." Ray Torr does his best work on sweet ballads, namely "Oh, What It Seemed to Be," and "Prisoner of Love." Mancini, himself, is a veteran of 48 months in the Army, including participation in every major campaign of the Pacific area, and reorganized this group of musicians, all except one an ex-serviceman, upon his discharge. The Stardusters and the Glenwood Quartet will be on hand to give out with some new arrangements.

So get your date, and plan to be at this year's Junior Prom—Saturday night, formal, in the gym; for the time of your life.

EMERY NELSON TO DISCUSS FRIENDSHIP AND MARRIAGE

Everyone who was here last year will remember the thoroughly enjoyable and interesting talk delivered by Mr. Emory Nelson on "Friendship and Marriage."

The YM-YWCA has engaged Mr. Nelson for a three-week lecture course on the same subject. Em, as he likes to be called, will cover the same material he gives colleges in a regular eight-week course. Mr. Nelson, director of the Chester YMCA, has been associated with youth groups everywhere. His talk and discussion period will include all the problems one meets in friendly relationships, and the important points to consider when contemplating marriage.

Mr. Nelson will speak to us on Wednesday, May 1, and the following two Wednesdays May 8 and 15, in Bomberger Chapel at 7 p. m.

FUTURE TEACHERS ORGANIZE TO DRAW UP CONSTITUTION

Under the supervision of Doctor Heiges and Dr. Tyson the junior education students have nominated a committee to draw up a constitution for the Ursinus Chapter of the Future Teachers of America organization.

George Frey was elected chairman. The other members of the committee are Doris Jane Hobensack, Erma Keyes, Jacqueline Landis, Marguerite Martin, Lois Williams, Nancy-Jeanne Talcott, and Carolyn Howells.

A Real Friend

The Weekly staff, on behalf of the students of Ursinus College, wishes to express its sincere appreciation and best wishes to Dr. John Lentz, pastor of Trinity Reformed Church and of the College, for his seventeen years in the ministry here.

In his farewell sermon yesterday, Dr. Lentz stated the creed, by which he has helped and guided Ursinus students, the creed by which we know him—"I believe in the church." Through the pain and hardship of two wars, and the despair of the greatest depression this country has ever known, he has preached the faith which is the only thing that makes life worth living—belief in the church.

For this hope, this spiritual guidance, which he has given us, as well as for a real friend, we are truly grateful, and we take this opportunity to wish Dr. Lentz every happiness in the years to come.

Honolulu, Hawaii (I.P.)—Impressed by the potentialities of the University of Hawaii as a focus of oceanographic and geophysical research, sixteen scientists on their way to the Bikini Atoll atomic bomb test visited laboratories and conferred with local scientists here recently as they awaited repairs on their ship.

At this meeting several of the research men expressed belief that the University was a logical center for an institute that would study the physics, chemistry, and life of the Pacific Ocean.

In the area surrounding Bikini, the scientists will make a survey of marine life and ocean conditions. After the bomb test, the region will be re-checked to determine effect of the bomb.

THROUGH THE LIBRARY WINDOW

We have just received, and placed on a display table in the reading room for two weeks, an excellent set of 75 Vocational and Professional Monographs, covering as many fields. At random we mention a number of titles: Air Conditioning, Costume Design, Journalism, Library Work, Medicine, Optometry, Public Relations, and Retailing. These are written by qualified persons in the several vocations or professions, and a bibliography of books in the field is found at the end of each monograph.

Topics covered in each monograph include: (1) Nature and history of the vocation or profession, (2) Necessary qualifications, (3) Educational requirements, (4) Employment opportunities in the field, (5) Advantages and disadvantages of the work, (6) Salaries, (7) Placement, (8) Schools, and (9) Trends.

A study of the complete list posted on the bulletin board, and of individual monographs, should be advantageous for the student who is not sure of what he wants to make his life work. After being taken off display, the pamphlets will be available in the Librarian's office. These are only 75 of the tens of thousands of pamphlets and other ephemeral vertical file material which it is not possible to have easily available to students because we do not as yet have the necessary filing cabinets, equipped space, or personnel, to develop and handle it. We hope to provide a properly equipped Reference Room, and Reference Librarian, within the next few years.

We report progress on the Music and Treasure Room, for which we have been planning for several years, and about which we have written periodically. The room was sound-proofed, painted and carpeted last year. Recently, in addition to the 225 records which Miss Beck presented to the college several years ago, her personal collection of several thousand records has been received as a "permanent loan," as well as her phonograph, which will be used until the most modern type of machine can be purchased. Luxurious furniture has been ordered, and may be here next week—or next year—no one knows, these days. A cabinet-maker has been engaged to construct the necessary cabinets and shelves, which will be done as soon as he can lay his hands on the necessary lumber—we hope next week, rather than next year. So keep your fingers crossed, wish hard, and be patient.

Mr. Henry Charlton Beck has recently presented several albums of records, and other separate records, for the collection. It is hoped that from time to time, individual students will wish to add to the collection, records which we do not have. Mr. Thomas Logan, first year student, is the first student to make such a contribution, in the form of an album of records. Tom is very much interested in the collection, and has already done some manual labor on the records, and will catalog them for us.

Post No Longer Hinders Dancing Couples in Drug

Hey! Did you know they've enlarged the back of the drug? Sorry, freshmen, it's not for you, but next year you'll be able to dance there without standing in one spot through your favorite number. Now you can jitterbug without inflicting a number of bruises on the poor couples dancing near you. The type of campus gallant for whom an empty ballroom is too small doesn't have enough room to really perform, but now he can be happy in knocking over fewer people than he used to. The couples who dance with their eyes closed are still bumping into the post, but not as often as before.

Guess we all agree that Al's made a big improvement in his establishment! Maybe next year he'll enlarge it even more and we can hold the proms in the "back of the drug."

United States Too Undependable

The Latin Americans have adequate reason to fear their powerful northern neighbor and every right to tell her to "mind her own business" to the point of not even debating the question of the wisdom of unilateral or multilateral intervention in Peron's Argentina.

That was the opinion which was expressed by a United States Navy man, the Argentinian guest at our round table discussion that was sponsored by the Foreign Policy Association for college students on the past April 13. In some way that announcement, backed up by facts, left the several students at our table uninclined to continue their general line of discussion.

Previously, we had been concluding mainly that multilateral intervention, action by all the Americans, should be our aim. Still, we had to recognize that the republics south of us are far from enthusiastic about the recent proposal by Dr. Rodriguez Larreta, the Uruguayan Foreign Minister. Why do these nations not agree that "violation of the elementary rights of men by a government of force, and non-fulfillment of obligations by such a government is a matter that justifies collective multilateral action after full consultation among the Republics"? (as stated by Sec. Byrnes when he relayed the Uruguayan message.) The answer lies in the constant suspicion on their part that the largest one of the twenty-one American republics has ulterior motives in all the Pan-American machinery that has thus far been set up.

Our Argentinian guest held this view too, pointing out the vacillating policy of the State Department of the United States through the centuries. Every change in the presidency leaves other nations wondering what our attitude in foreign affairs will be. American diplomacy is made conspicuous by its general absence. To have experts in the State Department, the United States might have to oust politics from that field and would definitely need more than its present three or four graduate schools in international affairs.

Perhaps this is the solution. Stop debating the relative values of UNO or regional intervention in Peron's regime. As to unilateral action, we have done too much already. The Blue Book, issued recently by the State Department, certainly did nothing to help solve the Argentinian problem; as a matter of fact, many assert that it helped to sway the election Peron's way.

The argument is given that economic aid to our neighboring republics, in such form as extended capital, trained personnel, and scientific equipment, in the post-war reconstruction might go a long way toward eliminating government instability there and thus too present perplexities in our relations. Perhaps so, but our reputation in that field too is bad. Exploiting American business ventures in South America have instilled anything but confidence in the trustworthiness of our economic aid. Care must be used even though we ought to be willing to participate in a joint program when, and only when, a particular nation concerned asks us for such cooperation. It is not only the laiding of Marines that is undesirable intervention in their eyes.

The conclusion reached by our round table participants was that we ought to forget the whole idea of intervention, leaving it up to the UNO to take action when and if a situation would justify it. Unnecessary intervention has throughout the whole history of South America done a great deal to prevent those nations from working out problems for themselves. Possibly what they need most is a chance to do this. In the meantime, the United States might do well to offer to the other Americas "our friendship and cooperation on a reciprocal basis, each country giving in proportion of its abilities—economic, intellectual, and in other fields," (as stated by Mr. Byrnes on January 5, 1946, over the NBC University of the Air). Let us constantly beware that we do not assume any air of superiority, for there is no basis for any such feeling. The Latin Americans have every right to self-government and self-development, with no outside intervention unless they ask for it. At the same time, let us make our nation a dependable one by training and employing real diplomats.

Softball Team Tramples Albright 32-1; Sallie Secor, Lois Cain Hit Home Runs

Erma Keyes Pitches One Hitter As Coeds Open Softball Season

Continuing a long standing victorious record, the Ursinus girls' softball team opened its season Wednesday, soundly defeating the Albright girls 32-1. Since there are 9 varsity players back from last year's championship team, including Captain Court Richardson, the Bears have reason to hope for another successful season. Ursinus tallied 26 hits to Albright's 1.

In the first inning Ursinus went completely through their batting order getting 9 hits and 8 runs before Albright could stop them. The Reading visitors didn't have the same good fortune because of pitcher Erma Keyes who struck out three of their first four batters. The final inning was a repetition of the first, Ursinus scoring 8 runs while freshman pitcher Betty Jean Moyer struck out the first two batters and fielded the other ball for the third out.

Sallie Secor accounted for two home-runs and Lois Cain got one for Ursinus. The mass of the hits in the last inning were for extra bases with only two singles.

GAFF from the GRIZZLY

Pierce and "Sunnie" 'n Tony—also—who else could have played that part but Rabbit?—Applause for Marian Bell who fitted her role perfectly.

All kinds of peculiar sounds coming from Curtis—Who could ever say Craig didn't have a good record? He has four of them—ask Bahney, Ed, Baumgardt or Bobby Geist about the contest that has "bean" recorded!!

Congratulations to our new engagee's Trevvy 'n Anne here on campus and Ginny Croasdale and the boy back home.

Double feature—the Rorer twins back to see the operetta—also Jack Hearsh who seems to be quite Glad to be here again.

And now we'll have the prediction of the week—Keep your eyes on Carl Drobek—We predict he will have the mumps within the next three weeks.

ZX and Tau Sig pooled resources and members and made with a bang-up doggie roast Saturday night—getting back in the swing of things—Jay Meagher and Leona, John Rorer and Courtenay, Tom Rorer and Bobbie Litwak, plus all the now on campus members.

Sunnybrook still has its attraction—Jane Zabel and Jerry, and Carol Strode, Sue Ace and Janie Nagel plus dates all up to hear Bobbie Sherwood and orchestra.

And some of our gals, still cheering for the Navy went over to Villanova to the dance there Saturday night—Marge and Bill, Jinny and Ed, Sid and Gordon, Ike and H. Sadowski, Jane and Roth.

Who is the nightingale inhabiting the football field Sunday nights who strolls around the track singing "I'll Remember April"? Probably will remember this issue of the Weekly too, now . . .

Practice Starts For Tennis Team

Practice for the varsity and jay-vee girls' tennis team has been in full swing for the past two weeks, and, by the looks of things, a pretty fair team has been rounded into shape. The first match which was to have been with Albright on Friday was rained out.

Tinker Harmer and Jan Shoemaker are vying for the first singles spot. Tinker played second singles last year and is always remembered as a steady player. Jan, who is captain of this year's team is the "leftie" of the squad. She is able to place her shots quite well.

The third singles position is held down by Jackie Landis. Jackie, together with Peg Hudson, played first doubles last season. Her timing is beautiful to watch and her strong forehand strokes are something for her opponents to watch out for.

Courtenay Richardson and Emily Fischer are battling it out with freshmen Doris Greenwood and Bugs Calhoun for the first doubles berth with the possibility of Betty Conlin having one of the spots in the latter combination. Court and Em were the second doubles combine on the '45 squad, and up until the time that Em injured her ankle were undefeated.

Track Men Participate In Mile Relay at Penn

Competing in only two events in the Penn Relays at Franklin field Friday and Saturday, the Ursinus' Bears failed to place in either mile relay in which they ran.

Friday the Bears competed in the Mid Atlantic Conference Mile Relay, and finished up in fifth place as Rutgers swept on to victory. Then Saturday afternoon the Bears finished ninth as they competed in a special mile relay event. Lincoln College won the event, running the mile in three minutes, twenty seven and seven tenth seconds.

Ray Olweiler, Jack Brill, George Glisson, and Bob Poole ran as the Ursinus' team.

RACKET WIELDERS ENTER INTERCOLLEGIATE TOURNEY

On Friday, Saturday and Sunday, May 3, 4 and 5, Janet Shoemaker, Tinker Harmer, and Jackie Landis will represent Ursinus in the Intercollegiate Tennis matches to be held at Bryn Mawr College.

Jan and Tink have both participated in this tournament before, but this year will be Jackie's first appearance.

Last year Jan and Tink lost closely contested matches in the first round while Betsy Claves, Ursinus top seeded player reached the semi-finals.

In her sophomore year Tinker reached the semi-finals when she met up with first seeded player and winner of the tournament, Gloria Evans. Tink played beautiful tennis throughout the tournament and was the first player to take a set from Miss Evans in those matches.

There is a possibility that other Ursinus girls will enter this Middle Atlantic Tourney.

Freeland-Day Girls Win Interdorm Championship

On April 16, the Freeland-Day Study team won the inter-dorm basketball championship. The two teams from Brodbeck and Freeland Day were tied for first place. In the opening game of the play-off Day-Freeland defeated 1st and Hold of Brodbeck 17-12.

Day-Freeland held a good lead during most of the game but Brodbeck made the score closer in the final quarter netting four field goals for a total of eight points in that period. Freeland-Day made most of their counters in the first quarter placing a total of fourteen points.

In the final game Day-Freeland routed 2nd and 3rd floors Brodbeck 12-8. Grace Nesbitt was high scorer for the victors with 6 points. This game was a nip and tuck battle most of the way with Freeland-Day one point or more in the lead. At one time the score was tied eight all but Ginny Dulin pulled the game out of the fire, netting four points.

Hallinger's Four Bagger in Third Gives Ursinus 8-7 Triumph Over Swarthmore

Ford Nine Wallops Bears in 10-3 Win

On Wednesday, April 17, the Ursinus Bears journeyed to Haverford and went down to a 10-3 defeat. In a game punctuated with seven errors and seventeen walks, the Red and Black had an easy time after gaining a 5-0 lead after two innings.

Ray Hallman was on the mound for the Bears at the start and gave up ten hits and ten walks. This lack of control was not damaging until the sixth inning, when five hits and two walks sandwiched in with an error by Troutman gave the Fords five big runs. Outside of the first two innings when a home run and a double by Chuck Boteler, star Ford catcher, drove in five runs; and the fatal sixth, Ray had the situation well in hand, throwing goose eggs the rest of the way.

For the Bears, Seth Bakes and Bob Geist garnered two hits apiece to lead the attack, but the Haverford pitcher, Bill Wright, tightened up in the clutch on most occasions and got out of several holes in this way.

This loss brings the Ursinus record to one win, two losses for the young season.

Rally in Late Innings Cuts Down Ursinus' Lead from Eight to One

Despite an 8-0 lead at the end of the third inning, the Bears had a tough time holding Swarthmore down and only managed to eke out an 8-7 win on Wednesday on the Ursinus diamond.

Hap Hallinger saved the day for Messikomer's nine when he sent a drive out to right field for a home run with all three bases filled in the third.

The Bears were having some trouble with the Garnet and White in the ninth so Coach Messikomer sent shortstop Bob Geist to the mound to retire the last two batters. Both men grounded to Bob to end the ball game.

The three runs for the home club in the first inning came when pitcher Ken Willis walked Bahney and Geist and then loaded the bases when Dick Eckenroth got an infield single. Hard hitting Hap Hallinger sent a smashing line drive past the shortstop to score two runs. Eckenroth came in for the third on a passed ball.

Hallinger was the big gun again in the third inning when he made a round trip of the bases scoring Bahney, Geist, and Eckenroth ahead of him.

Then in the fifth Swarthmore began their rally. Pederson and Steele both singled, Hallman walked Denton to load the bases and then pitched four balls to Richardson to score a run. Steele tallied on a long fly.

The Garnet and White narrowed the margin to 8-5 in the sixth when two more walks, Dillenbeck's triple and a long fly did the damage. A walk and three singles brought the final two runs across for the visitors.

It Couldn't Be True... Or Could It?

Today we wish to discuss "attention-seekers," or those people who "apple-polish" and spread gossip with "intent to kill."

It is rather difficult for us to report on these folks, because it seems so silly that there should be any here at college.

However, they are here. Some of them are quite obvious; these we need not point out. Others, it takes us a long time to discover; to this type, we will devote our column.

First of all they begin by having a definite aim, be it high grades, an important position, or just plain attracting attention.

This aim is followed by a definite approach. The approach is varied, but it usually starts out with a piece of gossip culled from confidence, perhaps, or better still, dreamed up and coated to meet the situation.

Once our presumptionist has his aim and approach, he goes to work upon his friends who have other friends, and upon any willing listener. Soon he finds that he has sympathizers, who are willing to play the same game.

And so, the vicious circle revolves. But do any of these folks realize that they are actually alone, that those who cooperate with them are looking towards their individual gains, that the "spoils system" is on, and that someone may turn against them with the same tactics?

Now the gossip runs fast and furious and everyone is eager to tell tales. "Have you heard. Have you heard?" they cry. And little truth sits in the corner waiting.

We wish also to commend those folks who happily look for truth, who seek out both sides of these rumors, and who can be a little closer to their neighbors without thinking about what they themselves will gain. To them we dedicate the important positions on campus; to them we dedicate success.

Are you one of them? Have you tried to be one? — West Chester State's Quad Angles.

"Countess Maritza"

supported eye" and that fascinating song "The One I'm Looking For."

The part of the auctioneer was played by Robert Barroll '49, and that of Laslo by Michael Zingraff '49, and Harlan Durfee '48, on alternate nights. Nelson Yeakel '48, in Uriah Heep like fashion, portrayed the part of Tscheko, servant to Maritza and Captain Stefan, the mustachioed cavalier, was played by Richard Wentz '48. The lawyer Nepomuk was John Burkhalter. Another feature which added a gay touch to the operetta was the clever gypsy dance in which Joyce O'Neill '48, Betsy Shumaker '46, Roberta Blauch '47, Marian T. Smith '49, and Miriam Schellhase '48, participated.

The two who deserve a big hand in making this operetta both possible and successful are Dr. Phillips, director of the music, and Marian Sare '48, director of the acting. To them we give the credit for such an excellent production. Margaret Oelschlager '46 is also to be commended on her work with the accompanying and the dancing and incidentally the whole thing would have been quite an impossibility without the proper staging and acoustics which was managed by Winfield Atkinson and Daniel Richards '44.

COLLEGIATE SPOTLIGHT

The memory that some witnesses claim for themselves on the stand in court trial proceedings often reaches the point of incredibility. Memory is unreliable when recalling things seen and heard during great excitement. Once a professor surprised and frightened his class of 29 students with a faked riot at Emory University, Georgia. Four persons rushed into the classroom, fought one another and smashed furniture for 30 seconds and then rushed out. When questioned, only three of the 29 witnesses even knew how many persons had entered the room.

Trees on Ursinus Campus Have Background as Well as Beauty

Ursinus students have frequently seen Dean Kline wandering about the campus in Autumn inspecting the trees. Often, too, different students have found occasion to make inquiries on the history of the trees and the unusual facts concerning them, to which inquiries the Dean is happy to respond. All this is the result of his interest in the trees, many of which he selected and all of which he cares for. And there are many unusual trees to be seen at Ursinus, as well as interesting histories of them to be heard in discussions about them.

Classes Donated

For the last twenty-five years classes have donated trees to the campus, and these are the more unusual ones. To the left and in front of Stine Hall, to the rear, and in front of Derr Hall on the right are three Linden trees, the line tree of Homer. The Linden was noted in history for the sweet nectar its flowers furnished bees, of Hybla in Italy. No less a botanist than Linnaeus received his name from the Linden. His father's home was graced with a beautiful example of this tree, so beautiful that when his father had opportunity to raise his station in life, he took the name Linne, Swedish for Linden, as his name. When his son began his work at the University of Upsala in Europe he Latinized Linne and took the name of Linnaeus.

When one goes down the walk in front of Freeland, he is sheltered with a green canopy composed of the silver maples which line the walk. The smaller trees which have been recently planted are American elms.

Bomberger Pathway

When one nears the gateway, if he turns to the left and takes the pathway to Bomberger, he will come upon some of the most beautiful trees at Ursinus. The second tree he will pass is an English Beech, noted for its thick green foliage. Milton alluded to this foliage when he bid his warriors find rest and recreation under the spreading beech. Next in line is the sweet gum, with its corky wings on the branches and the fruit balls which remain all winter. In marked contrast to all this green the next tree is a copper beech, which is very much like the European beech but has rust leaves.

Sacred Chinese Tree

As our imaginary visitor approaches the corner of Bomberger, by the tower he will see the rarest tree on campus, the ginkgo, or maidenhair tree, a sacred tree to the Chinese, and it is probably not wild anywhere else in the world. It is the oldest tree in history, probably dating from the Carboniferous Age, on the border between the fern and the tree. The attractiveness of it is to be found in the fern-shaped leaves and the long delicate stems.

On East campus in front of the library the most notable tree is the American elm; however, over near the driveway may be found the Chinese pagoda, the one tree which blossoms after all the others have finished. Its flowers are small white clusters.

West of Freeland

Ursinus also has examples of the only three trees known to have double compound leaves. They are the Hercules club, Kentucky coffee, and the honey locust. Other interesting trees are the yellowwood, a rare tree with beautiful white hanging flowers, the Chinese elm, the tulip poplar, and the mossecup oak, all of which are on the old campus, or that part of the lawn west of Freeland, behind and in front of that building.

Then there are the usual spruces, pines, ashes, and oaks. Some of the oaks are the original trees of probably four hundred years of age, and may grow to be a thousand or more years old.

Sugar Maple

But there is one more tree at Ursinus of special interest to the students, the sugar maple which stands in the parking circle at the Science Building. When Olevian Hall, the old women's dormitory which stood where the Science Building now stands, burned down, a huge sugar maple shade tree burned with it. The tree was treasured so much by the women that they raised a fund to buy a new one, which now is in the small circle at the parking space.
