

#BrutalismNow - From listing "British Brutalism" in the World Monuments Watch to Preston Bus Station's 50th birthday: so, where are we now?

Friday 11 October 2019

University of Liverpool in London, 33 Finsbury Square, London, EC2A 1AG

Three buildings had been named as examples when "British Brutalism" was included in the 2012 World Monument Watch: London's Southbank Centre, Birmingham Central Library, and Preston Bus Station. Their individual stories since then vary significantly and raise intriguing questions about designation, refurbishment and re-use, and contemporary architecture. To begin with, all three buildings had applications for Certificate of Immunity from Listing submitted by their owners. Two of those Certificates were issued, whereas the third building was actually listed, despite two earlier rejections. Yet, only one building has been demolished and there are two buildings currently celebrated for their high quality refurbishment – both of these also winning a number of architecture awards, including a place in the long list for the highest architectural award, the RIBA Stirling Prize, as well as a heritage award for one of them.

So, what are the wider implications of these parallel stories?

Join our international group of architecture and heritage experts for what promises to be a fascinating day.

Full details here: https://www.liverpool.ac.uk/architecture/events/brutalismnow/

Twentieth Century Society #BrutalismNow: From listing "British Brutalism" in the World Monuments Watch to Preston Bus Station's 50th birthday: so, where are we now?

Friday 11 October 2019

University of Liverpool in London, 33 Finsbury Square, London, EC2A 1AG

Contact: Dr Christina Malathouni (c.malathouni@liverpool.ac.uk)

08:30-09:30	Registration / Refreshments
09:30-09:50	Welcome and	elcome and Introduction
09:50-10:40	Session 1 Heritage designation and protection: is it necessary?
		Chair: Dr Elain Harwood, Senior Architectural Investigator, Historic England
		Dr Adrian Green, Department of History,	The campaign for Dunelm House
		Durham University
		Clare Price, Head of Casework, Twentieth	Campaigning for heritage protection
		Century Society
		Doug Black, Team Leader, Conservation &	Local designation and protection for Urban Design, London Borough of Lambeth	twentieth-century heritage assets
10:40-11:00	Refreshments
11:00-11:50	Session 2 Dealing with existing post-war buildings of (special) interest: architecture professional perspectives
		Chair: Angela Brady OBE PPRIBA, Brady Mallalieu Architects
		Peter Clegg, Senior Partner, Feilden Clegg	Southbank Centre, London
		Bradley Studios
		John Puttick, John Puttick Associates	Preston Bus Station
		Jon Wright, C20 Heritage Consultant, Purcell	Hilda Besse, St Antony's College, Oxford
11:50-12:50	Lunch		·
12:50-13:40	Session 3 Post-war conservation management: heritage professional perspectives
		Chair: Dr Seán O'Reilly, Director, IHBC
		Doug Black, Team Leader, Conservation &	The National Theatre refurbishment
		Urban Design, London Borough of Lambeth
		Andrew Shepherd, Chair of Education	Training needs: progress and current
		Committee, IHBC	initiatives
		Janie Price, RIBA Conservation Register	Dealing with post-war architecture
13:40-13:50	Break
13:50-14:50	Session 4 Preston Bus Station at 50: did we ever expect this and does it matter?
		Chair: Dr Christina Malathouni, School of Architecture, University of Liverpool
		Charles Wilson, former BDP architect	Recollections from the original design
		,	team
		Rowan Moore, Architecture critic, The Observer	In top five buildings of 2018
		Charles Quick, Professor of Public Art Practice,
		UCLAN	The view from the city
		James Arnold, History Curator, Harris Museum, Preston
14:50-15:10	Refreshments
15:10-16:10	Keynote	'Brutalism - a reverence for materials?', Adrian Forty, Professor Emeritus of Architectural lecture	History, The Bartlett School of Architecture, UCL
16:10-16:20	Break
16:20-17:30	Panel British Brutalism and other challenged C20 heritage: advocacy and practice
	discussion	Chair: Catherine Croft, Director, Twentieth Century Society
		John Darlington, Executive Director, World Monuments Fund Britain
		Angola Prady OPE DDDIDA Brady Mallalian Archit	octc
		Angela Brady OBE PPRIBA, Brady Mallalieu Archit
		Dr Elain Harwood, Senior Architectural Investigate	or, Historic England or, Historic England
		Dr Elain Harwood, Senior Architectural Investigate	or, Historic England C	