CHAPTER I

INTRODUCTION

BA. Background of the Problem

Different people have different habit in their life. In forming their habit, they try hard to repeat some action continually in order to be used to that action. After sometimes of repetation, they will be used to that thing and automatically they will do that action everyday.

In language learning, habit is one of the factors should be concern by teacher and students. Habit is something that we do routinely without coercion, that's why habit is needed in improving the quality of teachers and students in English. Based on Richard & Schmidt (2010, p.225), habit is a pattern behaviour that is regular and which has become almost automatic as a result of repetition. Afterwards, finally become a pattern of behaviour as a result of repetition activity. Habit is very important in language learning. For the example are habit in reading, writing, habit in watching news, habit in listening to English song.

because it makes them joyful. When they have enjoyed it, it will be easy for them to catch what they are listening to without any force.

Song is really familiar or well known by everybody, from child to adult. In Indonesia, English songs are really well known. It can be a medium for students to be an independent learner. Listening to the English song and knowing the lyric of the song will be good ways in learning English.

According to Griffee, (1992, p.3) "Songs are pieces of music that have words". The main part of songs are music and words, while music itself is related with rhythm. A group of words without music to perform them can not to be included as a song. Songs are generally performed in a repetitive pattern here is that in a song, there are usually several lines of the song, which are repeated twice, or more what a so-called "refrain" when they are performed. Song are not only good for language learners, but for language teachers songs offer an interesting techniques in presenting the language focus because it provides enjoyment especially in rising excitement and self-confident for both learners and teachers.

In fact, we often hear they sing English song easily, surprisingly they sing it well. They enjoy it much as I they were singing a song in their first language (Indonesia). If we compare when they are learning English, they get difficulties in mastery what the teacher teach. Music can make the students learn in good atmosphere without getting bored, besides all of the students can interact in teaching and learning process, and they do not realize that they have memorized and practiced the utterance in English.

Research on habit listening to English song is limited. Most of previous research focused on listening to English song as activities in the classroom (Mubarak, 2017; Kurniati, 2017) some other researcher concerned on influence of listening habit of English song toward vocabulary mastery (Zulianti,2009), the correlation between students' ability in listening to the English songs and their vocabulary mastery (Sari, Nuhung & Hastini, 2013), Students' listening habit on English conversation and the vocabulary mastery (Kurniati, 2017), meaningful habit for EFL learners (Maghfiroh, 2015) It is clear that research on exploring habit in listening to English song is still uncovered by the researchers, whereas habit in listening to English song is very important in learning English as Davanellos (1999, p.13) states that songs are not only fun, they have a serious purpose for language learning. Moreover, based on preliminary study at SMAN 1 Kampar Timur on june 2018, the writer observed the students of the second grade and then interviewed some students, the writer found that the students often listening to English song, Indonesian song and ocu song. Unfortunately, they still faced difficulties in learning English especially in learning Listening. In this regard, listening is one of skill that must be achieved by the students based on the Macknight in maghfiroh (2015) adds, habits formed through repetition. Bad habit formed more easily, because they require less effort. Once formed, habit are difficult to break. And habits formed when we are young are likely to stay with us all our lives.

From those, habit is a form of repeated action which is done regularly and the students who do this action feels enjoyful as if they really have a great need on doing that habit.

2. Listening to English Song

Listening to English Song means that you appreciate the lyrics, rhythms, vocal and melody and try to understand the meaning. Sing is part of music which contains lyrics being sung. Nowadays, most of people especially students prefer listening to English Song as their entertainment in their boring activities. Murphey in Rosova (2007, p. 16) stated, "In our time, it is hard to escape music and song as it occupies ever more of the world around us : in operating theatres, restaurants and cafes, shopping malls (muzak), at sports events, in our cars, and literally everywhere. It would seem that the only place music and song is slow to catch on is in schools." The song itself consist of words which express the ideas, feelings, and experiences. It means that song not only entertains listener but song can be used as language learning activity.

CHAPTER II

REVIEW OF RELATED LITERATURE

3A. Theoretical Framework

1. The Nature of Habit in Listening to English song

a. The Definition of Habit

Habit is something that is not conducted drastically but it is conducted slowly, repeatedly, and continuously. In addition, Longman, (2010, p.258) defined that habit as a pattern behaviour that is regular and which has become almost automatic as a result of repetition. Meanwhile, Carter (1973, p.247) in Silmi (2017) said that habit is an action practiced continuously until it becomes a patterned behaviour, and it is usually performed without being conformed unconsciously because practice has become familiar and easy.

Habit is habituated routines of behaviour that are repeated regularly, without directly thinking consciously about them. Habitual behaviour sometimes goes unnoticed in person exhibiting them, because it is often unnecessary to engage in self- analysis when undertaking in routine tasks. Someone who has a habit, they usually concentrate when they listening something. According to Costa in Mugrobin (2012, p.52) someone who has a habit especially in listening they will be a good listener, then, if they become a good listener they

b. Concept of Listening to English song

1. The Definition of Listening

Listening is the first skill that we get before we can speak, write. Listening is also necessary in everyday read, and communication. So, without listening we cannot make communication with other people. According to Tyagi (2013, p.1) "listening is a language modality". It means that listening is one of the four skills of a language i.e. listening, speaking, reading and writing. It involves an active involvement of an individual. Listening involves a sender, a message and a receiver.

Listening is different from hearing as Blumental (1963, p.186) said that hearing and listening are two different things. Listening is educated hearing or in another word, it is hearing for the purpose. So listening needs more attention related to the mind than hearing. Student who has a habit listening English song, they will listen with the mind not with emotion and simply jot down about the word that they do not understand Costa (2009, p.19) in Muqrobin (2012). Based on the article by powel (2015) stated that someone who has a habit, they always being with silence and patiently attending to what is being said. It means that they listen carefully to get the meaning of the speaker. Then, if students do not understand about the speaker say, they simply jot down and look for dictionary or other references.

While according Richards (2010, p.3) listening is the main function of the second language learning to facilitate understanding of spoken discourse. Another definition of listening is given by Brown & Yulein in Yulianto (2010, p.7) that listening is the activity of paying attention to and trying to get the meaning from something we hear. It is concluded that listening habit is listening by using repetition. The learners learn with continuous listening to improve their achievement in listening skill. Some Indonesian students like to use their habits in listening to English song to enrich their English and lose their stress in learning English.

The Definition of song 2.

Songs, as Griffee in Yulianto (2010, p. 8) stated that songs are pieces of music that have words. The main parts of songs are music and words. While music itself is related with rhythm, a group of words without music to perform them cannot be included as a song. Songs are generally performed in a repetitive pattern that makes them easy to be memorized. Repetitive pattern means that song which are usually several lines of the song, which are repeated twice, or more what a so called "refrain" when they are performed.

In addition, Davanellos (1999, p.13) said that songs are not only fun, they have a serious purpose for language learning. It means that song not only entertains listener but song can be used as language learning activity. Furthermore, Saricoban (2000) said that songs are one of the most enchanting and culturally rich resources that can easily be used in language classrooms. Songs offer a change from routine classroom activities. They are precious resources to develop student abilities in listening, speaking, reading, and writing.

According to Yulianto (2010, p. 8), English song can be broadly divided into many different forms. There are: art songs, pop songs and folk songs.

1) Art Song are songs created for performance in their own right, usually with piano accompaniment, although they can also have other type of accompaniment such as an orchestra or string quartet, and are always notated. Generally they have an identified author(s) and composer and require voice training for acceptable performances. The lyrics are often written by a poet or lyricist and the music is composed by a composer.

- 2) Folk Song is songs of often anonymous origin or public domain that are transmitted orally. They are frequently a major aspect of national or cultural identity. Art songs often approach the status of folk songs when people forget who then author was. Folk songs are also frequently transmitted non-orally, especially in the modern are. Folk songs exist in almost every culture.
- 3) Popular Song or Pop Song, modern popular songs are typically distributed as recordings, and are played on the radio, though all other mass media that have audio capabilities are involved. Their relative popularity is inferred from commercially significant sales of recordings, ratings of stations and networks that play them, and ticket sales for concerts by the recording artists. A popular song can become a modern folk song when members of the public who learn to sing it from the recoded version teach their version to others. Popular song may be called pop songs for short, although pop songs or pop music may instead be considered a more commercially popular genre of popular music as whole.

In this research, the researcher used pop song to find out the students habit listening to English Song. In English pop Songs, it consist of lyric and pop genre that is usually be liked by teenagers.

Listening to English song means appreciating the lyrics, rhythms, vocal, melody and trying to understand the meaning and also how to pronounce then lyrics. Nowadays, most of people especially students prefer listening to English songs as their entertainment in their boring activities. Murphey in Rosova (2007, p. 16) stated, "in our time, it is hard to escape music and song as it occupies ever more of the world around us: in operating theather, restaurants and cafes, shopping malls (muzak), at sports event, in our cars, and literally everywhere. It would seem that the only place music and song is slow to catch on is in schools".

So, habit of listening to English songs is very good for students and has become a daily habit. Thus students are easier to understand about English.

2. Aspects that Influence and Measure Students' Listening Habit

a. Aspects that Influence Listening Habit

According to Muqrobin (2012, p. 56), there are eight aspects that influence listening habit, they are:

1) Attitude

It is obvious that attitude will promote students to listening situation. If student have good attitude in listening, he/she will get listening habit.

8) Awareness

One has good habit if he/she has learning awareness. Listening is taught as a focus of communication studies and customer service. This new stage of awareness will require the individual to think and speak in some way other than dichotomously. It will require seeking the similarities in others and, and as a result, diversity, not differences. The purpose of communication will be to connect with (not control) others and find the agreement and harmony in varied perspectives.

b. Aspects that Measure Listening Habit

From the research done by Muqrobin (2012, p.51) it can be explored that there are some aspects of listening habit that can be used to measure students' listening habit, they are :

1. The reason of listening

The likeness and good taste of listening will make people think that listening is enjoyable activities. For students, if they feel that it is enjoyable activities, they will always learn to listen, not because there will be examination but because it has been a habit.

2. Time to spend in listening

Much time to spend listening indicate that student have good listening habit.

3. Source of listening material

Those who have good listening habit listen to the material not only from the teacher but also other resources.

There are some researches in concerning on habit which have conducted by the researchers. What are below mentioned below will explain about the finding of those researches.

According to Syafi'i (2015, p.102) relevant research is required to observe some previous researcher conducted by other researcher in which they are relevant to the research. This is a relevant research which has relevancy to this research. First, Mubaraq in 2017 conducted a research with the title A correlation study between vocabulary mastery, habit of listening to English song and speaking skill of the eleventh grade students of SMAN Nogosari 1 in the academic year of 2016/2017. He found that there is a correlation between habit of listening to English song and the speaking skill at the eleventh grade students' of SMA N 1 Nogosari in academic years 2016/2017. The second research is from Rahmatullaili in 2016 with the title Correlation between Listening habit to English song and their Vocabulary mastery at State Junior High School 1 Tembilahan Hulu Indragiri Hilir. She found that there is a significant relationship between students' habit in Listening to English song and their Vocabulary mastery. Third, ulfa conducted a research in 2017 with the title The Correlation between Students' Habit of Listening to English Song and Their Pronunciation at the First Grade of Senior High School PGRI Pekanbaru. CHAPTER III

THE RESEARCH METHODOLOGY

∃A. Research Design

This research is categorized as qualitative research. Qualitative research is a case study approach. According to Creswell (2012, p.465) case study is an in-depth exploration of a bounded system (e.g., activity, event, process, or individuals) based on extensive data collection. The bounded means that the case is separated out for research in terms of time, place, or some physical boundaries. Gay (2012) uttered that case study research is a qualitative research approach in which researchers focus on a unit of study known as a bounded system (e.g., individual teachers, a classroom, or a school). A number of researchers have addressed the definition of a case, which is a concept that is sometimes difficult to grasp.

Tavakoli (2012) stated that case study is the study of the particularity and complexity of a single case. Cases are primarily people, but researchers can also explore in depth a program, an institution, an organization, a school, a class, or a community. In fact, almost anything can serve as a case as long as it constitutes a single entity with clearly defined boundaries. To study the selected cases, case study researchers usually combine a variety of data collection methods such as interviews, observation, verbal protocols, narrative accounts, document archives and audio or video recording.

a. Using formula

In order to get the level of students' habit in listening to English song, the data were analysed by using formula:

 $P = \frac{x}{N} x 100$

Where P = students' habit

X = The number of the wrong answer

N = The number of item

To know the percentage of students' habit in answering the questionnaire, the writer uses the following formula Evroro and Sylvanus (2015, p.21).
