“La nuit en mer” from Trois Chansons Bretonnes

Henk Badings
(1907-1987)

The breeze swells our sails. Behold, the first stars twinkling upon the waves That rocks us, Friends, let us sail the night in silence. / All noises have been stilled. / It seems that everything on earth is dead. / Humans as well as living things, birds as well as roses, all are asleep. / But the sea, it is Living. It is the immensity constantly shifting, / Taking the piers by storm disdainful by night and by day except / For her, nothing exists but the lighthouse and its sad reflection. / At the best place my friends, let us now throw our net / Then, our sails furled foreheads bare beneath the stars, we will sleep! / Dream upon the deep peace of all whom we love in the world below / Let us sleep upon our schooners. As in our childhood cradles / And tomorrow, at high tide, we will return to the shore triumphant!

Sitivit Anima Mea

Richard Buchard
(b. 1960)

*My soul hath thirsted after God, who is great and living:
When shall I come and appear before the face of my God?
Who will give me wings of a dove / And I shall fly and find my rest?*

El Almuerzero

arr. Conrado Monier

*I'm not good at eating, but I have a lunch, yes / Hear me well, my love, I'll say it before starting. / Hey! You should think well, my love, if you want to invite me.
I make only one meal a day. / I make only one breakfast a day. / I make only one snack a day. / I make only one dinner a day. / In matters of lunch, I spend all of my life. / Serve me a little rice, Mama, give me only one tamale. / Take the beets away from me, serve me more meat. / That's too much salad, leave me half! / Because if I snack a lot, I get full, and if I am full, I don't swallow. / Eating, I'm, a disaster, but when I lunch, I'm okay. / I'm a smart man who studied pork and black beans and white rice with bacon inside. / They call me the luncher because I don't only eat lunch from a pot, I only eat snack, supper, and breakfast once, but I always want lunch.*
