IRC Will Discuss the War Situation at Session Tomorrow

A discussion of the current situation in the Pacific will be the feature of the meeting of the International Relations Club tomorrow evening, Dec. 9, in Shreiner Hall at 8:00 p. m. Important implications of the forum speech of Prince Hubertus Zu Loewenstein will also be considered.

The program also will include reports of the activities and discussions by delegates to the International Relations Club Conference at Lehigh University.

French Club Plans To Sponsor Boyer-Darrieux Movie, "Mayerling"

At the regular monthly meeting of the French Club Monday night, December 1, Inge Wesemann, president of the organization, announced that final arrangements have been made for the club to sponsor the motion picture "Mayerling" starring Charles Boyer and Danielle Darrieux. The movie, open to the student body and the faculty, will be shown in the Science Building auditorium on January 9.

Mr. Veuve showed pictures on Joan of Arc and on several famous French chateaus at the meeting on Monday evening. Plans were completed by the members of this club to combine with the members of the German Club for a Christmas Party on Tuesday, December 16.

Women Debaters To Match Wits With Temple Girls Wednesday

The women of Ursinus will open their debating season with Temple University this Wednesday afternoon, December 10, on the home campus. Mary Virginia Ernest '43, will give the constructive speeches and Joyce Lownes '42, will do the examining for Ursinus, which will uphold the negative side of the A. E. F. question.

In preparation for this debate, the meeting of the club tonight at 8 o'clock in Shreiner Hall will be devoted to a debate, Oregon style, on the same question. Virginia Ernest and Joyce Lownes will defend the negative side and Maryanna Wiley '43, and Charlotte Witmer '42, will take the affirmative side. The club will discuss the question after the debate.

Men's Debating Club Will Hold Meeting Tonight at Dr. Carter's

The regular meeting of the Men's Debating Club will be held this evening at 8:00 p. m. at the home of Dr. Harvey L. Carter in Evansburg. To simplify the transportation problem, the club members will assemble at 7:45 p. m. in the Freeland Reception Room.

"Resolved, that the United States send an expeditionary force outside the Western Hemisphere to combat the Axis powers" will be the subject of the evening's discussion.

Haines Political Society Plans Meeting at State Teachers' College

The Haines Political Society held its first meeting of the year last Tuesday evening in Bomberger.

All interested old members were urged to attend every meeting in order to participate in this semester's program. Plans for the future include a meeting with a like organization at West Chester State Teacher's College.

Y NOTES

A "sing" is being planned by the Y for this Wednesday immediately after supper on the steps of Freeland Hall.

There will be a meeting at Lynwood tonight at 7:00 p. m. of all those interested in the National Assembly. The theme, "Christian Faith and Social Reconstruction", will be discussed.

The annual Christmas party for Ursinus women, sponsored by the YWCA in cooperation with Mrs. Norman E. McClure, will be held on Monday and Tuesday evenings, December 14 and 15, at the president's residence.

Seniors and sophomores are invited the first evening, and juniors and freshmen, the second.

Guest Vocalists and Musical Organizations Will Blend Talents in "Messiah" Presentation

Oratorio To Usher in the 1941 Yuletide on Thursday

The Ursinus musical organizations will present, for the fourth successive year, their performance of Handel's Christmas oratorio, "The Messiah", on Thursday evening, December 11. Combining the College choruses, orchestra, and organ with four distinguished soloists, Dr. William F. Philip, assistant professor of music, will once again conduct the traditional opening of the Yuletide season at Ursinus. The performance will begin at 8:00 p. m., and the audience has been requested to be in their seats by 7:55.

This year's production will mark two anniversaries. Two-hundred years ago Handel completed his world famous oratorio and 155 years ago the first notes of "The Messiah" were heard in the United States.

On September 24, 1741, just 24 days after starting his composition, Handel finished his musical epic, the "Messiah". By the following April, it had been given its first performance in Dublin.

In the year 1786, here in the United States, the "Hallelujah Chorus" was first sung in the old First Reformed Church at Ninth and Race Streets, Philadelphia. At that time this church was the largest in the city, seating 2000 people. Likewise, this performance was one of the greatest concerts yet staged in the new world. The Reverend H. A. Bomberger, D.D., was pastor of this church when he was elected president of Ursinus.

President McClure Calls for Balance in Time of Crisis

CHAPEL ADDRESS PLEAS FOR CONTINUANCE OF NORMALCY

"The war which we all hoped could be averted is here. How each one of you college men and women will be affected one can not now predict."

Thus President Norman E. McClure this morning opened his chapel talk, designed to quell any fears as to the disruption of the normal course of our lives here in College due to the outbreak of war with Japan.

"We must do our daily work thankfully, hopefully, and patiently, and by our example of sanity, good sense, temperance in speech, and action, help those less well-balanced than college students."

After cautioning the student body not to lay aside any plans that may have been formulated for each individual's future, Dr. McClure stressed the fact that such crises have occurred before and that "this is not the end of things. It may be the beginning of better things".

He concluded with the words, "Let us be thankful for the blessings that are ours, let us be calm, let us be hopeful, let us not for an hour stop working."

IN BRIEF!

All organizations must present their schedules of events for the second semester to the Council on Student Activities before January 5.

Seniors and juniors must return RUBY proofs on Wednesday and Thursday, December 10 and 11. A representative of the photographer will be available in the Freeland Reception Room to take orders and record the pose desired for the annual.

Samples of finished photos with prices have been placed in the trophy case of the Science Building.

First Forum Hears Discussion of the Post - War World

PRINCE SAYS WORLD MUST RETURN TO CHRISTIANITY

"The moment democracy is in power in Germany, we need not fear the continuation of war." Thus spoke Prince Hubertus Zu Loewenstein at the first Forum of the year on Wednesday evening.

In giving his views of "What Lies Beyond the Present War", the former leader of the German Student Republican Movement revealed the possibility of a Europe with "devastated plains and smoking roofs". Then the disunited anarchies of Europe will be taken over by Soviet governments; and a third World War with the United States will be a foregone conclusion, according to Zu Loewenstein.

But, said the Prince, there is a way out—"To win, now, the confidence of the oppressed German and Italian peoples." He revealed that "Germany is really an occupied country; not more than one or two million Germans are Nazis. Germany has an army of Nazi occupation of at least thirty divisions"; and the same is true in Italy.

Favors Pope's Peace Plans

The speaker continued by suggesting the peace plan as outlined by Pope Pius XII and "endorsed by almost every Christian denomination—the most international movement we've seen in a long time." This program (1) would guarantee national life and independence to all nations; (2) it would deliver all nations from the slavery of armaments; (3) it would provide for an international organism to represent all nations; (4) it would provide access to necessary raw materials.

Dr. N. W. Winkelman, Penn Neurology Prof, To Address Pre-Meds

Dr. Otterbein Dressler, professor of clinical pathology at the Philadelphia School of Osteopathy, talked on "Syphilis" before the James M. Anders Pre-Medical Society last Tuesday evening. The lecture was illustrated with colored slides.

Dr. Dressler told of the history of the disease and described the development of treatment. He stated that syphilis was unknown to white men until the discovery of America by Columbus, after which the Spanish carried the disease to Europe. Its cure is today possible if cases are promptly treated, he declared.

Dr. N. W. Winkelman will be the speaker at the next meeting of the society on Tuesday, December 16, at 8:00 p. m. in the Science Building Auditorium.

Dr. Winkelman, father of Nathaniel W. Winkelman '42, is a specialist in the field of neurology. He is professor of neurology in the Graduate School of Medicine of the University of Pennsylvania, and was recently elected president of the Society of American Neuro-pathologists.

Wenholt Tells Vespers That Giving Is One of Most Important Virtues

"A Christian, too, must be merciful" was the keynote of last night's talk by Roy Wenholt '42, at vespers. He graphically pointed out that, although everyone believes that the God we worship is merciful, it is necessary also to be merciful in dealing with men in order to gain eternal life which religion promises.

The speaker recalled that many persons probably learned their first lesson in sacrificial giving when as youngsters they were given a nickel or a dime for Sunday School collection, and they, almost reluctantly, dropped it on the plate because the amount of candy that the money could have procured. "In thus learning to give willingly and not grudgingly", the speaker added, "we were learning how to be merciful, because if you are merciful, you do give freely".

Wenholt further stated that the giver must also be a cheerful giver, for the gift is never so important as the spirit in which it is given. He added that each individual might put power of giving to the test by being as liberal in June or July as we are now in a time in which generosity is emphasized. In so doing we shall indeed be laying up treasures in Heaven for ourselves, and we shall not be found wanting in possession of a true Christian spirit when the day of reckoning is at hand".

The student leader was Leon North '43, and the organist was Elwood Heller '43.

Tavern and Floor Show Will Entertain on Saturday

On Saturday night, Ye Olde Bear Tavern, will throw open its doors for the first time. The tavern will be patterned on the idea of the old Bohemian roadside inns, and will be complete with pretty waitresses, a floor show, a dance floor, and a liquid of time-honored Bohemian fame—birch beer.

Included in the floor show will be a variety of acts featuring a German band, released from their internment camp especially for the evening. The second highlight of the floor show will be a one act play entitled "Whose Money?", which will include an all-star cast.

Tables May Be Reserved

The proprietors of the tavern, Patt Patterson '42, and Roy Wenholt '42, have announced that tables may be reserved for the sum of fifty-five cents. Reservations may be purchased in Room 2 of Bomberger after lunch on Wednesday, Thursday, or Friday of this

Weekly War Extra

The News . . . .
. . . . As It Occurs

At 1:27 p. m. today Congress passed a joint resolution declaring the United States and Japan to be at war, the Senate by a vote of 82-0 without debate, and the House by a vote of 388-1. Congresswoman Jeanette Rankin of Montana cast the only dissenting vote.

Congressional action was completed less than an hour after President Roosevelt began his brief message to a joint session, which he concluded: "I ask that the Congress declare that since the unprovoked and dastardly attack by Japan on Sunday, December 7, 1941, a state of war has existed between the United States and the Japanese Empire."

Winston Churchill, broadcasting at 3:00 p. m. today, told of the British declaration of war and plans for cooperation with the U. S. and China. He said: "In the past we had a light which flickered, today we have a light which flames, tomorrow we shall have a light which will shine calm and resplendent over all the land and all the sea."

White House reports on the Hawaiian attack yesterday indicate 3000 casualties, about half of them fatal, and loss of one battleship and one destroyer.

In the Pacific, activities of Japanese forces were reported from Thailand, Hongkong, Midway Island, and the Philippines. First Manila air raid began at 2:09 p. m. (E.S.T.) A direct broadcast reported that military objectives, Fort McKinley and Nichols Field, were bombed with great accuracy under a full moon and that a tremendous fire was turning the sky crimson.

Setting To Whisk Dancers To Carnival of Roses

"The Japanese declaration of war will not raise the price of Senior Ball tickets", declared Nick Biscotte '42, chairman of the ball committee, as he interviewed this reporter in his office on Freeland's second floor late this afternoon. "Furthermore", he went on, "everything for the ball is all set unless Maestro Chuck Gordon and his men enlist in the army before the dance."

And on Friday night the international situation will take a back seat as Ursinus honors the Senior Class with the winter's biggest social function. "Lovelier than Lovely" Carlotta Dale, one of the real stars of the song-world, will appear on campus as Chuck Gordon's new vocalist, blending her talents to the syncopations of the band.

Vocalist Is Popular

Carlotta is really an asset to any orchestra. She is well known from coast to coast as a result of her many broadcasts from such famous bandstands as those of Jan Savitt, Will Bradley, and Al Donahue. Not only is she well known, but this pretty miss is well liked by America's dancers. In every poll taken by recognized musical magazines in the past three years, her name has been in the first five of the nation's favorites.

For this gala occasion, Charles Zaberer, Philadelphia set designer, will transform Thompson - Gay Gymnasium into a glorified rose terrace, to conform with the "Carnival of Roses" theme.

The chaperons have been invited to occupy a specially constructed arbor of roses on the facsimile plaza. They include President and Mrs. Norman E. McClure, Dean of Women Camilla B. Stahr, and Dean Whorton Kline, Mr. and Mrs. William Pettit, and Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Bone.

Tickets for the ball will be on sale after dinner every day this week in Bomberger. The price is $3.85, Federal tax included. Dancing will be from nine to one.

BE A BOOSTER

Post mortems are conducted in order to diagnose the malady with which the body lying on that slab of marble in the morgue was afflicted. There is a realization that the dead body cannot be resurrected, and hope exists that means may be found for curing the fatal disease so that other bodies may not die.

This editorial may be termed a post mortem. It seeks to determine just why the Ursinus student body was dead the last half of the football season.

Remember the Washington game? Wasn't it a drab affair? True, the football team did not play up to par, but whose fault was it? When was there a display of any semblance of pep or enthusiasm? There was no pre-game pep meeting the night before, no cheering during the game, no snappy drills by the band, no parade by the freshmen, no color, no noise, no,—not a bit of that rousing enthusiastic, colorful drama so characteristic of American football nationwide.

It would have been fitting and proper for a funeral procession to draw its long length across the field at half-time. A suitable atmosphere was certainly there.

Naturally, a funeral atmosphere at a football game is only appropriate when the Bears bury their opponents under an avalanche of points. Therefore something drastic needs to be done. There are those who advocate a bigger and better band with a feminine drum major out in front. Some suggest pep rallies with blazing torches and snake dances. There is no doubt that color could be added in various ways.

There is one organization on campus whose primary job it is to boost spirit. The Booster Committee is adopting a program with just such a purpose in mind. Its hope is to inject more color and greater spirit into the basketball season. This it will seek to accomplish by various means, not the least of which will be the innovation of pep rallies prior to crucial games. The ultimate goal is the arousal of the entire student body and the fostering of a rebirth of spirit and color here that may be carried over to the 1942 football season as well as to other sports.

Your help is needed to make the project a success. BE A BOOSTER.

GAFF from the GRIZZLY

Clamor at Clamer!

The clamor at Clamer these days concerns a certain fellow whose initials are Chuck Burroughs. Titzck, tisk, Mary, you better look into this.

What About It, Dick?

What is it Dick Edwards has that takes the wrinkles out of (Eva) Prune? Did you ever see a prune jitterbug? Well I did.

We certainly did miss that violin solo on the Vesper Program last night. What's the matter, Peg, still playing an old tune on that fiddle?

Anna takes a step for the better by forgetting home town talent for a night! Was the Tau Sig dance nice, Bob?

Snooperies

A light goes on in a basement room of the Science Building. Defense school? No, just Wilma and Bud studying organic chemistry. Too bad, John! Can't you work a few scientific courses into that history-soc schedule you're always complaining about?

Apology, Retraction, and Correction

Due to the tremendous pressure that has been applied to certain members of the Weekly staff by irate Glenwood residents, it is altogether fitting and proper that we confess to a gross distortion of the facts in last week's issue. An article on the Dean's List erroneously debited the Glenwood emporium of students with a representation of two. Permit us to make known to the world at large the fact that the dorm actually boasted an unblemished record. (For the first time, too!)

Our Ally (We Can't Lose)

The echoes of Japan's attack on the U. S. had not died away before our tried and true Latin-American friend, Costa Rica, came to the assistance of America with a ringing declaration of war against Japan, and thus the day was saved.

John Gunther's book — Inside Latin America — lists the Costa Rican military might as consisting of an army of 242 enlisted men, 82 officers, and 220 musicians.

Can't help but wandering whether those statistics include the drum major.

Things'n Stuff

By IHRIE

Have you watched those boys of Coach Hashagen toss the basketball around in practice? They look good, thrillingly good.

When you start griping about athletics at Ursinus next time, take a leisurely stroll down to the gym.

Stand and stare at that smooth quintet; wonder at the rhythmic movements of the graceful basketball machine of men.

Take a look at Al Hutchinson and Arno Kuhn playing like skilled artists, clever strategists, trained technicians; tingle at the sight of MacMahon's poker-face, eagle-eye, dead-shot functioning, half mechanical, half unbelievable; awe at the accuracy and speed of Barney Barab, and gape at "Rugs" Wadsworth's precision and smoothness.

Admiring a squad like that makes you almost wonder whether it's really the Ursinus team. Those fellows work like champions!

There may be some edges to taper off and the hoopsters may be a little rough as a unit, but there's nothing time, training, and teamwork won't cure, and the season's young, not yet actually begun.

Without any doubt, the fortunes of Ursinus on the basketball court will rise and fall with the work of the sophomores who make up nearly the whole squad.

If there was ever a chance to rouse Ursinus out of the athletic doldrums, this is it. Those sophs are young in college basketball, eager and ambitious, and they haven't learned to resign themselves to defeats. They're going to be out to win, not to pad the score!

Yet they have the assistance and leadership of two of the finest, sharpest-shooting, steadiest seniors any newcomers could ask to work with.

Unless I'm sadly mistaken, there are all the essentials of not a good team, but a great team!

Let's all cross our fingers and hope this is it; no, better yet, let's all stick our chests out and believe this it, and when the time comes yell our lungs out and make sure this is the team we've been waiting for, dreaming for, praying for.

They look good, thrillingly good! And if we all stick together, players with players, players with coach, team with school, school with team, who's there to say we can't become a winner?

J. R. C. Commentator

A STEP TOWARD INTERNATIONALISM

In this period of world-wide hostility and intensified nationalism, we find ourselves deluged by mass progaganda and numerous criticisms, predominantly destructive in nature.

Once in a great while are we fortunate enough to see a constructive suggestion emerge from the heap. Small wonder, then, that it is exceedingly pleasant to view a proposal of this kind. Such a one was that expounded by Prince Zu Loewenstein at the recent Ursinus Forum.

This proposal was based on the 5 Point Peace Program, issued by the Pope in 1939, consisting of (1) guarantee of national life and independence of all states, (2) delivery from the slavery of armaments, (3) creating of an international organization, (4) equal access of all nations to the wealth of the world, and (5) responsible leadership. As a step toward its realization under existent hostile conditions, Dr. Zu Loewenstein proposed the immediate establishment of a Free German State, in order to gain the support of the German people—who, according to him, are held in subjugation by a small but strong Nazi party—and the German army, which is merely supporting the Nazi as a matter of political and military expediency. This government, democratic in nature, would be established on what might be considered a second German State, preferably former German East Africa, not the British mandate of Tanganyika (with the assent of the British). Because of its guarded geographical site and excellent communications with the European continent, this would be an ideal location for a liberal and democratic group of German exiles to carry out their campaign.

The plan must be given threefold consideration, first as to its necessity; second, its feasibility; and finally, its possibility.

Concerning its necessity, little need be said. There is a strong aversion to Communism existing in the democracies, which would make extension of the Communist ideology exceedingly repugnant. In spite of Russian adherence to the recent 8 Point Program, it is generally recognized that this is merely nominal and is probably insincere. The strongest bulwark against Communism, at the present time, is the German Army. Its collapse would throw open the gates. There has long been a pro-Communist feeling underneath in many sections of Germany. The collapse of the army, and the subsequent inefficiency of the Nazi party, would cause the German proletariat to turn with open arms to the internationally minded comintern. The product of a defeated nationalism is inevitably Communism. Since this ideology is as distasteful to us as Nazism, a third World War would likewise be inevitable.

To counteract this leftist tendency, the German Free State would be set up. With the Nazis out and the army weak, there would be a fair chance of obtaining popular adherence to this government.

Secondly, the feasibility of the plan must be considered to ensure a stable world. Dr. Zu Loewenstein envisages a bicameral legislature with supplementary advisory and administrative boards, such as the International Economic Council, based on proportional plus equal representation.

Finally, let us consider the possibility of the proposal. Two things may hinder it. The first is the idea that an international cooperative is merely an adulterated version of the Nazi New Order, and hence would be repugnant to the peoples of the world. But the Nazi New Order is based on force, the present proposal, on morality. The methods of conception and achievement are entirely different. Democratic aversion, is to the force employed, not the cooperative principle implied.

The second hindrance, and a more difficult one to overcome, is the lack of enlightened statesmen in the world today. It is quite true that the men guiding the destinies of nations—regardless of their personal merits—are far too nationalistically minded. But leaders are merely a reflection of the type of people they represent. Thus, a raising of the public itself will be influential in the choice of more broadminded leaders. HERMANN F. EILTS '43

On the Shelves

By Mr. Charles H. Miller, Assistant Librarian

What books are you planning to read during the Christmas recess? The happiest of vacations is almost upon us—and if you have been promising yourself to read some particular books, borrow them now, for they need not be returned until after the holidays. Have you visited the interesting men and women just inside the reading room door? Or have you, perhaps, not yet "learned to like" biography? Like olives, some must cultivate a taste for it—but after you have, you will find it as intriguing as you did the forbidden "dime novel" when you were eight. A friend of ours has just finished reading the six volume biography of Lincoln, by Carl Sandberg. It was no task for him, but a thrilling adventure—one which we promise ourselves before too long a time.

Learn To Like Biography

You will have time, during the recess, to read at least the first volume of the life of Arthur James Balfour which you will find on the table in the reading room. Lord Balfour's public life spanned a period of more than fifty years, during which time he was in closest touch with every inside movement of British political life, and occupied the highest positions of state at some of the most critical periods of British history. His biographer is his niece, who not only had the advantage of knowing him intimately for many years, but thru her connections with the great political families of England and Scotland was equally familiar with the background of his career as a statesman.

Our Stake In the Far East

The Far Eastern situation is very grave at this moment, and is one which few of us fully understand. Is there any justification for a war with Japan? What is our stake in the Far East? What should our policy be if our rights and interests there are to be maintained? W. C. Johnstone's book The United States and Japan's New Order (1941) is one designed to clarify for the general reader the main issues involved by the disruption of the old order in the Far East. It covers a very wide range of subjects, and includes a mass of historical background necessary to an understanding of the present situation.

Dealing With People

Do you know the most effective ways—to present a convincing argument? to overcome antagonism? to persuade a stubborn person? Do you get along with people as well as you would like? In The Psychology of Dealing with People (1941) Dr. Wendell White, a prominent psychologist, explains why people behave the way they do, and offers practical suggestions for getting along with them constructively and pleasantly.

The Quakers and the Amish

William Wistar Comfort, President Emeritus of Haverford College, in his recent book Just Among Friends (1941) points out that for nearly three hundred years the Quakers have solved a multitude of social and economic problems in America; that human life is sacred to the Friends; that they have been leaders in the cause of liberty and social reform.

In much lighter vein, and in novel form, we find the tenets of another faith discussed in Rosanna of the Amish (1940) by J. W. Yoder. This book is being received with interest and appreciation by the reading public, many of whom were prone to raise an eyebrow when "The Amish" were mentioned, and to consider them "queer".

Michael Named Member Of Survey Committee For Secondary Schools

The Commission on Secondary Schools of the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools has again selected Professor Eugene B. Michael to serve as a member of its Visiting Committee. Professor Michael will serve in this capacity in the survey of the Lansdale Senior High School today and tomorrow.

This is the fourth survey for which Professor Michael has been chosen by this commission. Prior to this time he has participated in the survey of the high schools of Norristown, Upper Merion, and North Wales.

These surveys consist of the evaluation of the following items in the schools: Philosophy and Objectives, Pupil Population and School Community, Curriculum and Courses of Study, Pupil Activity Program, Library Service, Guidance Service, Instruction, Outcomes, School Staff, School Plant, School Administration, and Individual Evaluation of Staff Members.

Rec Hall To Have Host, Hostess; Appleget Plans Novelty Events

Fred Appleget '42, director of activities in Recreation Hall, has introduced two innovations for this year in an effort to encourage attendance.

A hostess and host have been appointed for every week. It is the hope of the Student Councils that this will help create a gracious atmosphere. Appleget also plans novelty programs to be held once a week such as dance contests, and having guest artists to support his piano playing.

Fred is doing a grand job, Ursinites. Why not support him and do your dancing a favor too!

Ursinus Ranks High In Grad School Placements; Stands 47th In Survey of 215 Leading Colleges

RATED 14TH IN COUNTRY FOR GRADS IN MEDICAL PROFESSION

By Harvey L. Carter

In the columns of the Ursinus Weekly mention is often made of the College alumni. And rightly so, because we all feel a warm personal interest in any bit of good news that is reported concerning an Ursinus alumnus. Therefore, when notice is taken elsewhere of 106 recent Ursinus alumni who have brought some distinction to themselves and to their college, it seems fitting that some publicity be accorded the fact.

Professor B. W. Kunkel, of Lafayette, who has made studies of "Who's Who" productivity among the colleges of the country as a measure of what the colleges were doing thirty or more years ago, recently has attempted to measure the efficiency of American colleges today. The results of his investigation of 215 colleges are published in the Association of American Colleges Bulletin, October, 1941. The study tabulates the percentage of the present enrollment of these colleges now to be found engaged in graduate study. The field of graduate study is divided into medicine, law, theology, and other graduate work. In other words, this is a study of the extent to which a college is contributing to the personnel of the learned professions.

An adjustment has been made in order to render possible a fair comparison between women's colleges, co-educational colleges, and engineering schools, on the one hand, and liberal arts men's colleges, on the other. Obviously the latter would have a great advantage in the professional field, if no adjustment were made in favor of the former. An example of how this adjustment works is to be seen in the fact that the 39 Ursinus alumni in medical schools in 1940 amounted to 7 percent of the actual 1940 enrollment at Ursinus but amounted to 9.8 percent of the "adjusted enrollment", after adjustment had been made for co-education. This had the effect of changing the rank of Ursinus, on a percentage basis, and contributing to the medical profession from 22nd to 14th in the country.

Of the 106 Ursinus alumni engaged in graduate study in 1940, 39 were in medicine, 11 were in law, 16 were in theology, and 40 were in other graduate work. The showing in medicine is particularly good, but the total contribution of the college to the professions is well balanced and in every case is well above the average of colleges studied. The four fields together account for 26.8 percent of the "adjusted enrollment" and give Ursinus a percentage rank of 47th among 215 colleges, or well within the upper quarter of colleges in contributing to the professions. This is a record which the college may hope to improve upon and at the same time a record in which it may take some pride.

The following table of percentages will make possible a quick comparison between our own particular case and the average for four categories of institutions in 1940:

	Medicine	Law	Theol.	Grad.	Tot.
Endowed Universities ...	6.6	5.9	0.9	14.2	27.7
State Universities ...	2.4	1.2	0.2	15.3	19.2
Endowed Colleges over 500 Students ...	2.7	1.7	1.7	6.4	12.6
Endowed Colleges under 500 Students ...	2.5	1.2	2.8	6.5	12.9
Ursinus College	9.8	2.8	4.0	10.1	26.8

BOMBERGER MEMORIAL MAINTAINS UNCEASING VIGIL AS IT CELEBRATES COMPLETION OF FIFTIETH YEAR

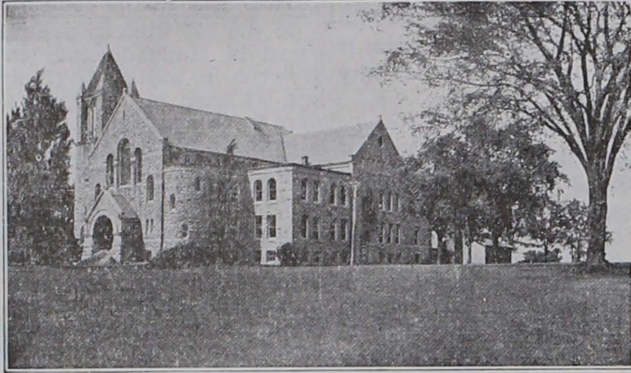

By Don Melson '43

When an institution has been in existence for fifty years it is inevitable that much regarding its inception will be unknown or forgotten. Thus it is fitting in this fiftieth anniversary of the building of Bomberger that we look back over its history and recall the circumstances under which this memorial at Ursinus, had its origin.

Like the College itself, the project of the new building was brought into being by the force of circumstances. From 1870 the work at set forth the state of affairs of the College to Mr. Robert Patterson, of Philadelphia, and, as the result of that and other subsequent meetings, he was able to announce at the Commencement of 1890 Mr. Patterson's gift of $25,000 for a new building if a similar sum could be raised by the College.

The offer was accepted by the Board of Directors and a Building Committee was established, as well as a committee to raise the other $25,000. The site, dimensions and Ursinus had been carried on in the buildings, now comprising Freeland, Stine, and Derr, of the old Freeland Seminary. These structures had long since become inadequate to meet the needs of a growing college, but it was hard to see how financial conditions would permit any enlargement. In the spring of 1890, however, President Bomberger style of the building were soon decided and Frank R. Watson, a Philadelphia architect, was commissioned to draw the plans. Meanwhile, however, death had struck down Dr. Bomberger in August 1890, and it was decided that the building should be a monument to him and bear the name "Bomberger Memorial Hall".

Ground Broken In 1891

In April 1891 the contract for the new building was awarded to Burd P. Evans, of Germantown, and in the same month ground was broken by Mr. Patterson. On Commencement Day 1891 the cornerstone was laid with much ceremony and many speeches by dignitaries connected with the College. Commencement Week 1892 saw the building complete, and all the public exercises were held in it. The Ursinus College Bulletin of July 1892 stated that "the structure came forth from its christening crowned with a universal judgment of glowing commendations of its signal beauty and usefulness".

Erected at Cost of $62,000

Erected at a total cost of $62,000, Bomberger Memorial Hall is an example of Romanesque architecture. Its interior walls are of Pennsylvania blue marble from the quarries near King of Prussia in Montgomery County, and its trimmings are of the same stone, cut and finished. The structural interior was about the same as it is now, but it housed all the laboratories and the library, as well as classrooms. The library was situated in what are now rooms six and seven until the present library building was opened in 1923. The room that is now the conference room was at first the chemistry lab. However, the chemistry department later grew so large that it took over what is now rec center for its use until the Science Building was erected. The biology laboratory was located in the space now comprising rooms three and four, while the physics lab occupied rooms fifteen and sixteen. The present music studios were rooms occupied by the Schaff and Zwingli literary societies.

Completed In Two Years

So, in the short space of two years, the dream of the founder of Ursinus was realized. And of the many words spoken about the new building, perhaps the most challenging were those words of President-elect Henry Super in the Dedicatory Address: "As we look upon its beautiful proportions, let us remember the beauty of the science and art within. As we look upon its massive walls, let us remember the greater weight of truth and virtue. And as we behold its enduring rock, let us be reminded of the eternity of its principles".

John and David Garvey Present Music Recital In Bomberger Hall

Mellow tones pervaded Bomberger Hall last Thursday evening when John Garvey, violinist, and his brother David, pianist, gave a recital under the sponsorship of the Music Club.

Introduced by Frances Kooker '42, president of the club, the two young artists played first "Elegy", by Frederick Delius, a composer little known in this country, but one whose works are characterized by an elusive beauty.

The second selection was "Sonata for Viola and Piano", perhaps one of the greatest of modern chamber music works. By the British composer Arnold Bax, it consists of three movements, Molto Moderato, Allegro energico ma non troppo presto, and Molto Lento. It is exceptionally romantic music, full of fire and color.

One of Johannes Brahms' last chamber works, "Sonata in F Minor", was the third number chosen by the talented Reading boys, the older of whom, John, is concertmaster of the Symphony Club Orchestra of Philadelphia and a student at Temple University. David is a teacher at the Wyomissing Institute of Fine Arts.

The four movements played are Allegro appassionato, Andante un poco Adagio, Allegretto grazioso, and Vivace.

Responding to the demands of an appreciative audience, the brother musicians played as an encore another composition by Frederick Delius, "The Serenade", from the incidental music of James Elroy Flecker's spectacular drama of the East, "Hassan".

Federal Government to Levy 10% Tax On Admissions To College Activities

At the last meeting of the Council on Student Activities, Monday night, Dr. J. Harold Brownback brought to the attention of the members of the council the Federal Tax to be placed on all admissions to College events. The regulations are as follows:

(1). All events to which admission charge is made are subject to tax. There are no longer any exemptions. However, any event to which no regular admission charge is made but at which a collection may be taken (that is, where any person is admitted regardless of whether or not they make any cash contribution), there is no tax.

(2). The amount of the tax is 10% of the established price. This tax may either be absorbed by the sponsor of the event or may be passed on to the purchaser of the admission.

(3). All written notices of the event (posters, circulars, newspaper articles included in the Weekly) in which the admission price is stated must also bear the phrase "federal tax included" if the organization is absorbing the tax, or the admission price must be shown plus the amount of the federal tax which will always be 10% of the basic admission price calculated to the nearest full cent.

(4). Each free or reduced rate admission is taxable at the same rate as the regularly paid admission and may be either absorbed by the sponsor or collected from the person so admitted.

(5). As soon as possible after the event has been held, a report of the number of admissions sold and cash or check covering the total federal tax due on the event should be turned over to Mr. Stanley Omwake, who is responsible to the Internal Revenue Service for the proper determination and payment of this tax.

For Your Trip Home at Christmas

Even if you don't have a return portion of a College Special Reduced Fare ticket . . . you can go home by train on a definite schedule, safely and economically. Fares are low!

HERE'S HOW YOU, TOO, CAN TRAVEL ON "COLLEGE SPECIAL"

REDUCED ROUND TRIP FARES

Students and teachers travel from and to their homes at great savings on these College Special tickets. To make this saving, all you have to do is purchase one from your hometown railroad ticket agent before returning from the Christmas holidays. The cost is amazingly low—liberal return limits fit your school program—you can make stop-overs, too! There are reduced round trip Pullman rates, also. When Spring holidays come you can use the return coupon to travel home again or use it at close of school.

IMPORTANT—It is expected that on account of a heavy volume of Military furlough travel, as well as civilian holiday traffic, passenger travel during the forthcoming Christmas-New Year's Holiday period will be extremely heavy this year. If it can possibly be arranged for students to leave school December 17th or before and return to school January 7th or later, it is urged they do so. It will also be found easier to make reservations and more comfortable to travel on or before December 17, 1941, and on or after January 7, 1942.

Looking 'Em Over
With
Buddy Adams

This is the first of a series of articles in which "Looking 'Em Over" will try to analyze the sports situation here at Ursinus and how it may be corrected. All ideas and reflections from students and faculty will be gratefully accepted. Although this first chapter in the series may seem to be trivial, it is so close at hand that attention must be directed to it.

Last year this columnist took a stand against holding dances, especially the important dances, the night before an athletic event. Once again this year the Senior Ball, the biggest dance of the year for the Seniors, will be held the night before the first game of the basketball season. And thus, once again, those fellows who are members of this athletic team will be forced to stay away from the Senior Ball and for some of them it will be the last Senior Ball of their college career.

Without a doubt this is unfair. Not only to the players but to the coach as well who must ask his players to stay away from this important social affair and thus become a "slave driver" in the eyes of the players. Upon close consideration, however, we must realize that such an edict is absolutely necessary if any showing of any account is expected.

Certainly other dates can be found for such dances. For instance, why could not the Senior Ball this year have been scheduled for the weekend just past. Nothing on the calendar would have conflicted with it, and it would not have interfered with any athletes.

Perhaps those who arrange such affairs will immediately respond that so few are affected by the social event that changing the date for them is unnecessary. However, there is more than just the feelings of those individual players at stake. The entire athletic program may be undermined more than it is at present.

For one thing, the feeling between the coach and the players is definitely strained — strained to the uncomfortable point. More than that, it definitely discourages prospective candidates for many sports and certainly we cannot afford to discourage any candidates—we need them all.

Two years ago, when the Junior Prom interfered with a track meet scheduled for the following morning exactly five members of the team handed in their resignations to go to the dance and two of them were star performers. And why shouldn't they? None of them received any scholarship money—and they could get their physical exercise without giving up their social life. Their action was perfectly logical. And, of course, the Ursinus athletic program was the only thing that suffered.

All of us without a doubt want to improve the athletic situation. All of us want to see Ursinus teams winning again. All of us want to see a better Ursinus. Then let's all cooperate and make it a better Ursinus.

We can do this by cooperating with the athletes, by seeing that they do not have to give up the outstanding events of the year if they go out for a sport. Class presidents and dance chairmen must use foresight in selecting social dates. This will be a much greater aid to our sports program than most people imagine.

Take it from me, though, it is important — so let's cooperate!

Bear Quintet Faces Lehigh in Season's Opener This Saturday

WEEKLY SPORTS

Starting Lineup Shows Two Sophs, One Junior and Two Senior Veterans

When Coach Ken Hashagen's basketballers make their initial appearance of the year against the Lehigh Engineers at Bethlehem on Saturday, the first athletic event to be held in the new $3,000,000 sports arena Grace Hall, the outcome of the game will hinge mainly on the play of half a dozen sophomores who make their debut in varsity uniforms.

Sophs To Start

In all probability, the starting lineup will have high-scoring seniors Al Hutchinson and Schmoke MacMahon at guard and forward respectively, with the lone junior Wadsworth at center, and sensational sophs Arno Kuhn and Barney Barab pairing up with Hutch and Mac, but the entire second string consists of second year men.

Twenty - one Wrestlers Prepare For Opener Against Kutztown Wednesday

Six Veterans Available From Last Year's Squad

Twenty-one wrestling candidates have been practicing daily in Bomberger in preparation for their first meet of the season against Kutztown State Teachers College on Wednesday at the Teachers College.

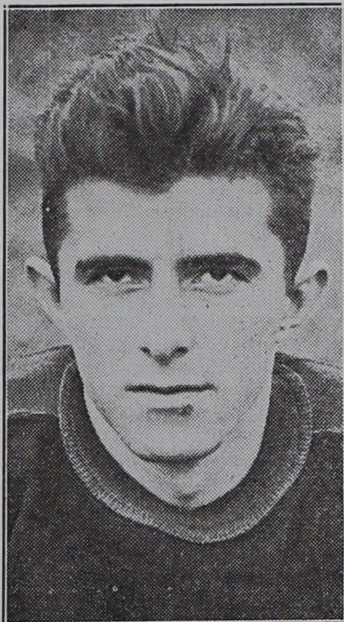

Six of that number are veterans from last year's squad while the rest are mostly newcomers to the wrestling game.

Coach Pete Stevens does not expect too much of his proteges in this first meet inasmuch as only one week of practice was possible. However, he does want to stress the fact that there is still time for any new candidates to report as this first meet is merely a practice meet.

The candidates are:

- 121—John Bear and Don Stamm,
- 128—Robert Hainley, John Bauer, and Evan Snyder;
- 136—Dick Arnold, Walter Hunt, and Bruce Hinershotz;
- 145—Al Wells, and Ray Duncan;
- 155—Ed Maykut, Bud Graver, Roy Bickel, and Guff Clarke;
- 165—Earl Reimer, and Stan Green;
- 175—Joe Tropp, Jim Lamond;
- Heavyweight—Dick Clarke, and Chris Trizonas.

Captain Al Tkacz

"... the gamest player ever to don an Ursinus football suit."

Captains Elected!

Al Tkacz, 145 pounds of football dynamite, was elected honorary captain of the varsity football team at its meeting after lunch today. At the same time Johnny Cornely, Doc Baker's "galloping" center forward was elected captain of the varsity soccer team.

Captain Tkacz played three years of varsity football and was one of the brightest spots in the Bears lineup all three years. Although only 145 pounds, he caused endless trouble for enemy teams. He has been picked as a member of the "All Conference team for the past two years.

Captain Cornely, a pre-med student, has been Doc Baker's mainstay on the line for the past two years. Johnny was noted throughout the year for his speedy, aggressive play, and his election comes as a reward for the fine reputation he made on the soccer field.

20 Frosh Candidates Drill For Season's Play Under Coach Pancoast

Under the supervision of Sieb Pancoast, twenty boys, thirteen of whom will make up the Freshman basketball team, have been drilling for a week. In addition to the vast amount of basketball experience which these boys show, they have also a greater amount of height than any Ursinus Freshman team of past years.

Power Will Not Coach

Contrary to the previous announcement, Bill Power will not be the Freshman coach. A law school ruling forbade Bill from taking the position.

To take his place, Jing Johnson secured Sieb Pancoast, assistant in the Political Science Department and assistant football coach. Sieb played basketball in prep school and performed for several years on the Ursinus Varsity squad under the coaching of Ralph "Horse" Chase.

Long Line of Stars

Sieb's long list of candidates includes such standouts as Roy Walz, star guard from Arno Kuhn's Jackson High School and a former teammate of Arno's, John Fletcher, a product of Mahanoy City's famed Maroon Miners of the past two years, George Moore, high scoring forward on the Ridley Township championship aggregation of last year, Joe Much, transfer student from Louisiana, and Carl Neustadt-

Co-Eds Have Last Year's Team Intact For Season's Play

Weekend Trip To South Planned for Girls

With only one varsity player from last year's crack basketball squad absent this year, Coach Eleanor Snell has high hopes of surpassing last year's brilliant record.

Seven Veterans Back

Captain Nat Hogeland, Doris Harrington, Nancy Landis, Jeanne Mathieu, Allie Dougherty, Marian Bright, and Peggy Keagle are the veterans returning for action this year. To bolster this star studded line-up Miss Snell has a total of ten upperclassmen and twenty freshmen trying out for varsity positions. From this array of candidates the junior varsity will also be chosen.

Although Manager Jean Dornside has announced that the schedule is not as yet complete the following tentative schedule has been arranged:

- Feb. 11—Swarthmore ..... away
- Feb. 21—Bryn Mawr ..... away
- Mar. 6—Drexel ..... home
- Mar. 10—Beaver ..... away
- Mar. 14—Temple ..... home
- Mar. 18—Chestnut Hill ..... away

Games with Rosemont, Penn, and West Chester are being arranged. A proposed weekend trip to William and Mary College or to Sweet Briar College in Virginia is being planned.

The varsity team will open its season next Saturday morning at ten o'clock when they play the Drexel misses in an exhibition game at Philadelphia as part of the basketball clinic in charge of Coach Eleanor Snell.

Hockey Team Banquets

With a chicken dinner as the feature event, the 1941 club-wielders hocked their hockey sticks and dined royally at the "Eaglenook" in Swarthmore for their last get-together.

After the super-super dinner, Captain Allie Dougherty presided over the banqueters and introduced the speakers. Varsity mentor Eleanor Snell gave letters to her players, and Jay Vee Coach Peg Clafin presented awards to the second team. In expressing their appreciation, the girls turned the tables and presented to Coach Snell and Assistant Coach Clafin a scarab ring and Coty set respectively.

Lehigh's Captain

The Bears will face without a doubt one of the finest Lehigh teams in recent history, although the squad of 20 men is one of the smallest to report to Coach Martin Westerman in the past two decades

Engineers Have Strong Lineup

Captained by Jack Lane of Mt. Lebanon, the hoopsters of Lehigh boast Steelton ace Bill Binder and lanky Dick Rahn, second highest scorer in Eastern Pennsylvania two years ago, who will shine along with footballers Ambrogi and Brownlee, and Bob Bailey, Bob Chamberlain, Dave Gearhart, Harry Herold, Bob Mussina, John Norwood, Dick Palmer and a number of sophomores.

In preparation for the season's opener, the Grizzlies have scrimmaged with West Chester State Teachers College on Wednesday and Penn on Saturday, but both practices were shoddy and gave little indication of what the boys

G-BURG'S BULLETS DOMINATE BEAR'S OPPONENT TEAM; PETRO UNANIMOUS

Although Muhlenberg inflicted one of the worst defeats of the season on Ursinus they placed only one man on the Bear's All-Opponent's team in a poll of the Bear players conducted by the Weekly sports staff. This one selection, however, was the only unanimous selection of the entire team. Joe Petro, the Mules ace guard, was the Bear's unanimous choice for an all-opponent guard.

G-burg Places Three

Judging by the number of players placed on the Bear's all opponent team by the various schools, the Bullets of Gettysburg were the strongest team to face the Bears this season. Three Bullets, Yovicsin, end, Schumaker, tackle, and Florsheim, back, were placed on the first team selected by the Bears.

Also high in the voting for the "All" team was the highly touted passing combination of end Supulski, and back, Doug Rehor, of Dickinson College, both of whom were awarded places on the first team. Franklin and Marshall's Diplomats landed two places on the first team when Vince Daher, the man who kicked the extra points that beat Ursinus, and Johnny Quick, who was responsible for last year's as well as this year's defeat of the Bears, were elected as guard and back respectively on the first team. Quick is the only repeater from last year's opponent team.

Drexel Captain Selected

Drexel's captain, Walt Burroughs, the giant tackle who almost single-handedly pushed back many a Bear run was the popular choice for the tackle position. Lehigh and Delaware each placed one man on the team when Kurtz of Lehigh was awarded the center post, and Red Hogan of Delaware was awarded a backfield post.

The second team consisted of the following players: ends, Ambrogi, Lehigh, and Jarvis, Delaware; tackles, Miller, F. and M., and Krimmel, Muhlenberg; guards, Bogovitch, Delaware, and Emmanuel, Gettysburg; center, Seminara, F. and M.; backs, Bossick, Muhlenberg, Paul, Delaware, Constantino, F. and M., and McLaughlin, Washington.

GIVING — THE SPIRIT OF CHRISTMAS

In a world of change, it is comforting to find common to men a power whose existence is not dependent upon time and condition. It is a power with all the potentialities for greatness and goodness, but one which, lacking force and direction, sometimes becomes submerged in individuals. This is the spirit of giving.

We at Ursinus, trying each year to capture the Christmas spirit, overlooked the fact that this spirit—the spirit of Christ—is one, and the same with the spirit of giving. So this year, in the midst of preparation for holiday entertainment, we pause to look about us.

As college students with homes beyond the limits of Collegeville, we sometimes forget that we are a vital part of this community in which we live. We who have the power to alleviate the need often do not recognize that such a need exists.

In consideration of this fact, the Christian Associations of Ursinus are sponsoring a drive to raise money which will provide Christmas baskets for the needy in the community. The money will be turned over to the local Red Cross Association, which will be responsible for distributing the baskets.

Tomorrow night, Tuesday, December 9, there will be representatives in the dormitories who will see each student personally. Whatever an individual can give will be appreciated.

Let us share what we have with those who are less fortunate, for in giving, one receives a satisfaction and an uplift that are ten times more valuable than the gift itself.

materials for all nations through the establishment of an economic council; and (5) it would develop a sense of responsibility in statesmen. An unwritten provision, according to ZuLoewenstein, is the addition of a stable model principle—to believe in God. In the words of the Prince, "The world will be Christian once more, or it will not be at all".

Prince ZuLoewenstein advocated the establishment of a league of European nations, taking into consideration the mistakes of the former League and remedying them. In the speaker's mind, the most important fault of the League of Nations was that it was really an agency of government representation, not a true league representing the people of the nations. To remedy this condition, the Prince presented a plan providing for a bicameral body, the one house to contain representatives of the people of Europe at large, the other to consist of representatives of the individual governments.

Declares European Union Feasible

"I don't believe there is a real and genuine hatred between the peoples of Europe." Thus, to ZuLoewenstein, an inter-European organism seems feasible, where it will be "necessary to limit national sovereignty—necessary to create a greater community."

"Either we have the courage to plan ahead or we must accept chaos or annihilation." Thus, said the Prince, the question rests in our hands: "Shall it be the anarchies of World Wars, or a brotherhood of mankind, united on the essence of the Christian ideal?"

will do under fire.

A glance at the records of Hutch and Schmoke, a peep at the playing of Barab and Kuhn, and a glimpse at the law of averages all point to a banner court campaign for Ursinus once the fellows get going, but the smooth-working, high-tallying, experienced Engineer team will give the untried Bears a real tussle on Saturday.

The basketballers of Coach Hashagen should improve with each game and by the time league competition rolls around they might really be something to watch, particularly for the other championship contenders.

VICKLAND AND JAMISON TO HANDLE SOPRANO, TENOR PARTS IN "MESSIAH"

Last week the Weekly carried a few personal notes on two of the soloists who will appear in the presentation of Handel's "Messiah" on Thursday evening. Now that Miss Paula Hemminghaus, contralto, and Mr. Earle Styres, baritone, have been introduced, the other vocalists remain to be mentioned. One of these, Mr. Steel Jamison, tenor, has participated in presentations of the "Messiah" here the last few years. The soprano, Miss Florence Vickland, will be a newcomer on campus.

Miss Florence Vickland

Florence Vickland, soprano soloist in this year's "Messiah", was born in America of Swedish parents. She studied at the Eastman School of Music and the Juilliard Graduate School. Miss Vickland's debut came in 1935 at Town Hall in New York. Since then she has appeared before many audiences in most of the larger cities in the country.

During this time she sang leading roles for the Chataqua Opera Company. She has also sung on the radio for the Esso Marketers, the Palmolive Theatre and the Firestone Hour. In 1938 she sang the Verdi "Requiem" in Carnegie Hall.

Mr. Steel Jamison

Steel Jamison, tenor soloist for the "Messiah", has sung in the three preceding performances here at Ursinus. His work here will certainly be recalled by all who have heard him.

Mr. Jamison has done a great deal of work in television and radio for N.B.C. Listed among his accomplishments are his numerous appearances in Gilbert and Sullivan operettas.

Once again Ursinus will hear Mr. Steel Jamison sing the arias that have made him popular here—"Ev'ry valley shall be exalted" and "Comfort ye my people".
