Theology Student Tells Vespers of Faith in Praying

BEMOANS DEMISE OF FAMILY WORSHIP

"I believe that Christianity is indelibly written in God's plan of the universe." In these words did Melvin Walper state his faith in the future of Christianity at the Ursinus Vesper Service last evening. Walper, a middler at the Lancaster Theological Seminary of the Evangelical and Reformed Church, spoke on the subject of prayer, especially that type of family prayer described in verse by Robert Burns.

But, says Walper, "Scenes such as this family worship belong to a past era". This is due to the diversification of industry, often causing different members of the same family to be working at different times; to the pleasant distractions of modern life, and to the influence of science and psychology.

Prayer Is Natural

Yet, although family prayer seems doomed, "Individual prayer will never die, because it is natural to all of us . . . We pray because we know our weakness and need of strength." Thus, even today, prayer is universal in extent and infinite in quality.

To cease breathing means physical death; to cease praying, according to the speaker, means spiritual death. But prayer is more than a necessary function. "To enter into kinship with God can be considered as the highest art of man."

There are two types of people who doubt the efficacy of prayer. First is the person who resorts to prayer regularly as a set custom, without giving heed to his own words. The other person is the one who resorts to prayer only in time of trial, but in vain. Prayer, according to the speaker, should not be mere petition in time of distress; it should be real communion with the Infinite.

Special Music by Trio

Constance Hopkins '43, and George Hosler '44, were the student leaders for the service, and Averill Fox '42, presided at the console. Special music was provided by a string trio composed of Beatrice Weaver '45, William Braxater '45, and James Boswell '45.

Arthur Martin, Ursinus Grad, To Address Chem Society on Cellulose

Arthur Martin, Ph.D. '38, will address the Beardwood Chemical Society tomorrow evening at 8:00 p. m. in the Science Building auditorium. His subject will be "The Chemistry of Cellulose".

Following his graduation from Ursinus Dr. Martin received a scholarship to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, where he majored in chemistry. In June, 1941, he earned his doctorate in chemistry, presenting a thesis in the field of phenolphthalein.

At present Dr. Martin is in the employ of the Hercules Powder Co., for whom he is doing specialized research on cellulose. This summer his company is sending him to the annual meeting of the American Chemical Society at Memphis, Tennessee, where he will discuss the results of his research.

On March 17 the James M. Anders Pre-Med. Society will hear Dr. Sherman A. Eger '25, a member of the staff of Jefferson Medical College. He will speak on the subject of osteomyelitis.

Having graduated from the Jefferson Medical College in 1929, Dr. Eger served his internship at the Reading Hospital. In the course of the next few years he was diagnostician at the Akron (Ohio) Clinic, surgical fellow at the Cleveland (Ohio) Clinic, and research surgeon at Memorial Hospital, Worcester, Massachusetts.

Since 1934, Dr. Eger has been a member of the surgical staffs of the Jefferson Hospital and the American Stomach Hospital, in Philadelphia.

Red, White, and Blue Crepe To Bedeck Gym As Couples Dance at Hop to Sheble's Rhythms

GRADS IN UNIFORM WELCOME TO ATTEND DANCE FREE

In other schools it might be called the Victory Ball, or maybe even the Defense Prom, but here at Ursinus it is just the Soph Hop. This is the dance which is going to see the whole school in Thompson-Gay Gymnasium, bedecked in their Friday-the-13th best. The gala occasion is this Friday evening, and the hours are from 8:00 p. m. 'til 12:00 p. m.

Bob Sheble's ten-piece orchestra will provide the syncopations for the evening. Although never before on the Ursinus campus, Bob Sheble is a society and college favorite in the Philadelphia district, according to Bob Tredinnick '44, chairman of the dance committee. This band has made numerous appearances at country clubs, private parties and college functions. An attractive vocalist will furnish the singing and will be only one of the attractions of Sheble's versatile band, which features all styles of music effectively.

It is rumored that many Ursinus soldiers and sailors are pleading for furloughs due to the patriotic and generous gesture of the committee, which has announced that all Ursinus grads in uniform will be admitted to the affair free of charge. This patriotic spirit will pervade the whole atmosphere of the dance, as red, white, and blue have been chosen for the theme.

Tickets for the dance are on sale by the members of the sophomore class and are priced at $1.65, including tax.

Dr. Yost Is Reported To Be Making Recovery After Operation Today

Dr. Calvin D. Yost, Librarian and Professor of German, went to the Riverview Hospital, Norristown, last Wednesday and was today operated on for an abdominal ailment. While it is too soon to assume that he is out of danger, the hospital reports that his condition has noticeably improved.

Dr. Yost, a member of the Class of 1891, also studied at Heidelberg College, where he received the degree of Doctor of Divinity in 1925. He received his A. M. at Ursinus in 1895 and his B.D. in 1907. He has been teaching at the College since 1910.

Mrs. Donald Helfferich Plans To Address Ursinus Circle

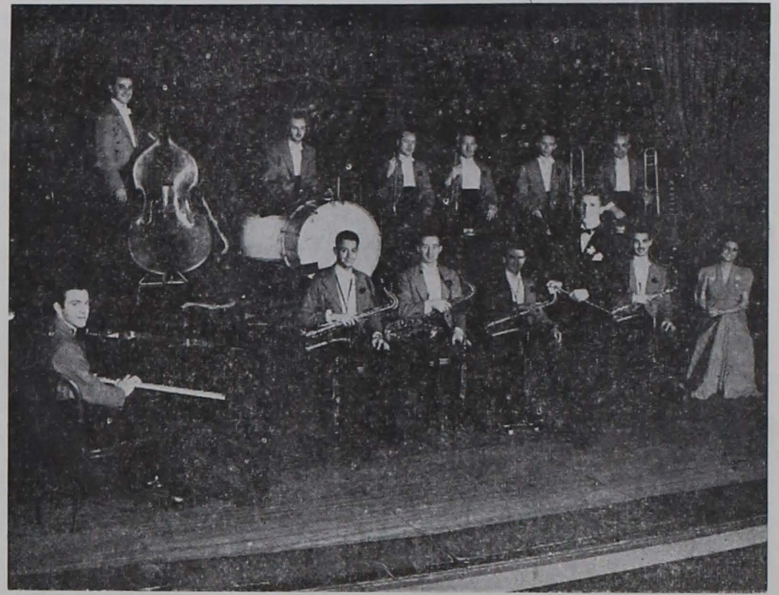

Mrs. Donald Helfferich will be the speaker at the meeting of the Ursinus Circle this Thursday, March 12. The subject of her talk will be, "The Characteristics of the Pennsylvania Dutch".

This meeting will take the place of the one which had been scheduled for last Thursday. Due to the illness of Dr. Calvin Yost, Sr., who was to have spoken, the meeting was postponed.

French Club Arranges Trip To See Moliere's "Physician"

The French Club discussed student conditions in France at its regular meeting last Monday evening in the West Music Studio. In addition plans were completed for a trip to Hedgerow Theatre on March 20 to see Moliere's play, "The Physician in Spite of Himself".

This evening Monsieur and Madame Marcel Brun, of Philadelphia, will be entertained at the Kopper Kettle by Mr. Renne Veuve, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wilcox, and a group of students taking courses in French. Monsieur Brun, a friend of Mr. Veuve, is French pastor at the Eglise du Saint Saveur, an Episcopal church in Philadelphia.

Sixteen from Ursinus Attend Conference On "Rock and Sand" at Buck Hill Falls

Prom Chairman Bayne Sets April 10 as Date of Annual Spring Formal

Arrangements for the Junior Prom will be under the management of Gilbert Bayne '43, chairman of the Junior Prom Committee. Gilbert was appointed to the post some time ago by Evan Morrow '43, president of the Junior Class.

Other juniors appointed to the committee include James Raban, James Ziegler, Dorothy Trout, Ruth Riegel, and Doris Harrington.

Date Set for April 10

The only two details concerning the Prom which have been definitely agreed upon are the date and the price of admission. The dance is scheduled for Friday evening, April 10, and the admission charge will be $3.85, tax included.

Contacts are being made now with several orchestras prior to signing the contract. Chairman Bayne promises that an announcement as to the selection will be forthcoming soon.

None of the rest of the details concerning plans for the remainder of the weekend have yet been divulged.

Chairmen Announce April 17 as Ursinus Conference Date

SESSIONS TO BE CONFINED TO A SINGLE DAY

The All-Ursinus-Interdenominational Conference, though shortened by the telescoped schedule and the war to a one-day conference, will be held on April 17. The two conferences, combined into one this year, will have as a background for discussions the extreme difficulties which confront youth as it gropes for something in which it may believe. These have been brought about by the war and the consequent tensions which permeate everyday living.

The All-Ursinus Conference is an annual conference held at the College in an effort to bring outstanding leaders to the campus, and to give students a chance to exchange ideas with these leaders and with each other. Other colleges will send delegates to the conference in an additional effort to inject new blood into Ursinus thinking.

The conference, held under the auspices of the Y, is being run by a sub-committee headed by Blanche Shirey '43, Gracemary Greene '42, Elwood Heller '43, and Bill Ditter '43.

Adams Takes Prominent Part In Leading Panel Discussion

Sixteen Ursinites journeyed to the Poconos on Friday as delegates to the annual Buck Hill Falls' Conference of the Student Christian Movement of the Middle Atlantic Region.

Undaunted by the length of the official conference name, a total of 240 delegates were gathered at the massive Buck Hill Inn to hear outstanding youth leaders discuss "Rock and Sand". Most noteworthy of the leaders were Dr. Stanley R. Hopper, assistant to the dean at Drew University, and Dr. Irvin W. Underhill, the only Negro missionary in the foreign service of the Presbyterian Church.

Ursinus Well Represented

Ursinus was well represented, since it had the fourth largest delegation among approximately thirty-five colleges which took part in the conference. Garnet Adams '42, was a member of the important steering committee and took a prominent part in the panel discussion Friday evening.

Dr. Hopper, the keynote speaker of the conference, brought the group two excellent messages, the first on Saturday morning and the second at the church service on Sunday morning. Dr. Underhill, who spoke Saturday night, told his interested listeners of his work among the pygmies of Africa.

Interspersed among the general sessions of the whole conference were panel discussions at which the students and faculty sought to answer questions such as the following: Where can youth find a social base upon which to build tomorrow's world? What can religion do to strengthen us in time of present need? What can we believe in when the whole world is shifting beneath our feet?

Weatherman Foils Skiers

Naturally enough there was time for recreation as well as group meetings. Although rain had washed the slopes bare of snow, the delegates managed to find enough to do as they divided their time between the toboggan, sliding down the paths to see the famous Buck Hill Falls, walking, and the game room.

Attending from Ursinus were Adams, Barbara Cooke '44, E. J. Buckingham '42, Bill Ditter '43, Gracemary Greene '42, Judy Hogg '42, Betty Frorer '42, Betty Knoll '43, Judy Ludwick '44, Jack Thomas '43, Clarke Moore '43, Marian Grow '44, Kenneth Snyder '40, William Wimer '39, and Blanche Shirey '43.

Men Debaters Journey To Up-state Campuses And Argue on Labor

Dickinson, Susquehanna, and Penn State was the itinerary for the men debaters last week who set out on their four-day jaunt Wednesday afternoon and returned to campus on Saturday.

In all the debates the labor question was used. At Dickinson and Penn State Ursinus upheld the affirmative, while at Susquehanna the sojourners attempted to prove that federal regulation was unnecessary and undesirable. The Oregon plan of cross-examinations was used at Dickinson and Susquehanna, while the debate at Penn State was presented in orthodox style. All were non-decision debates with the exception of that held at Dickinson, where the home squad eked out a close decision.

Those who made the trip were Homer Koch '43, John Yeomans '42, and Denton Herber '42.

This week on Friday night in a special pre-hop debate, Willard Lutz '44, and Andrew Souerwine '45, will meet a team from Susquehanna University. All couples planning to go to the dance on Friday night might well attend the debate and thus be provided with an interesting topic of conversation for the evening at no extra charge.

SPEED-UP IN SECONDARY EDUCATION

Today, in the midst of a war which encompasses all of us, we are involved in an all-out effort to win the war, a united effort to aid production. This condition has had a vital effect upon our educational system today. Colleges, which previous to the war were even considering the inauguration of a five-year course, have been forced to reduce their normal academic course to three years, thus allowing many more men to graduate.

But, the most significant development in this speed-up program, it seems to us, affects the high schools. The secondary schools of Philadelphia and other areas have decided to operate on a three-semester basis, eliminating all but a fraction of the customary summer vacation. In order to do this, the authorities must first secure the repeal or amendment of an existing state law, which limits the school year to one hundred and eighty days.

Although many laws on the statute books serve no practical purpose, this law was promulgated for a definite reason. The adolescent is at the most difficult time of life; physically, mentally, and emotionally he is unstable. Any amount of overworking may bear disastrous results, perhaps even totally incapacitating the student.

This is just what the proposed action will do: subject the youth of high school age to a year-round program of work, interspersed with vacations which are hardly sufficient for the growing person. Yes, we must speed up for defense, but we must also consider the results.

KEEP OFF THE GRASS!

Ursinus has always been noted for its beautiful campus, especially in the spring and summer. This isn't just a trite boast, to be heard at other colleges as well. The campus isn't a pretty sight just because we may say so. The opinion of others who have visited here corroborates the claim, and they are lavish with their praise.

Pretty though the campus is now, there is room for improvement. We who have been here four years can look back to a time when there was more grass and fewer ugly brown patches of mud. We admit that the fault lies with us. It was more convenient to take that short cut from Brodbeck, it was too bothersome to keep to the walk when rounding the corner of Bomberger from the Supply Store, and we didn't confine our trespassing to these two spots, either. The retribution is now apparent and we're not proud of our misdeeds.

But there's still hope for a more beautiful Ursinus. Unlike a bald pate, bare ground need not always be so. So when sod is planted, that's our cue to "keep off the grass!"

REFLECTIONS

It's been a tough season in basketball for Hash and all the boys. Ursinus suffered only three decisive defeats. Ursinus lost nine games in the final minutes, games that could have gone either way with a simple twist of the wrist, games that meant the difference between a good year or a bad one, games that filled the gap between first and last place in the East Penn league, games that spelled the margin between a good team and a great one.

Just before the season opened And the year was ushered in, As I watched the players scrimmage During practice at the gym, With a glow of pride that burned inside

And a reassuring grin, I felt that I had found it— A squad I knew would win.

This I thought as I sat gazing In a happy, hopeful dream: To a school that's used to losing What a blessing it would seem To forget the frown of failure And to know the victor's gleam, To feel the satisfaction That it has a winning team.

There it was in all its glory, I'll admit a little rough, But with all the real essentials Of becoming good enough To whip the East Penn's finest Or at least to make it tough; Just awaiting time and fortune To show it had the stuff.

It had speed, and sparked with fire, With a flaming glow that thrilled, With a throbbing, pounding rhythm That teamwork had instilled, That through hour after hour of training The coach had tried to build. Here it was, right at Ursinus— A dreamer's dream fulfilled.

Then at last the season started And the time for action came, Bringing with it hopes of victory e And a chance for long-sought fame. But alas! We hadn't figured In our striving for acclaim That the final nod of fortune Might decide a hard-fought game.

I saw my visions shattered, Torn asunder one by one; Felt the stinging pain the players felt, The shot of that final gun. I could sense their biting torment, The pang, the ache, the stun, For I knew what they did and hoped to do, And what they could have done.

I can tolerate us losing, (Having practiced to excess), I can even stand us failing At the times of greatest stress. I can see Ursinus drop a few And feel all right, I guess, But I can't conceive of losing Seven games by three or less.

When reviewing what Ursinus Could have done with just a break, And the games we should have taken,

If just for fairness sake, I keep thinking what a difference Good old lady luck can make Between a team that's good or poor And one that's truly great.

Famous Lines To Remember

"A commuter is a man who spends all his time riding to and from his wife."

"When a man falls he is not proving the law of gravitation, he is merely illustrating it."

A Slip of the Tongue?

Do you remember in the movie "Kukan" those large knives the soldiers used to prepare the way? I believe there was a slip of the tongue—what they meant to say was pare the way.

Who's a Mouse?

What's this we hear about—when the old "Crone's" away the mice will play—we Bet you had a good time, Hoopes!

What Ho—A Gentleman!

Don't tell me we have a gentleman on campus! Was Fred Becker really gentlemanly, was she pretty or was he going to the diner anyway? These and many other questions will not be answered next week!

Yoo-Hoo, Pauline

Ever since certain events which transpired Friday night, Bill Sufilas has been bragging about his acquaintanceship with a pretty young Philadelphia artist. In fact, at her exhibit, she was so surprised and overjoyed to see Bill and a few of his friends that her poise was momentarily unbalanced.

What Bill's worried about now is whether she has kept anything hidden from him since he last saw her. From casual observation, his friends testify that she hasn't concealed much.

Among Our Alumni

Mark D. Alspach '40, and Betty Tolbert '41, will be married on Saturday, March 28, in Merchantville, N. J., home-town of the bride. Alspach, former Weekly editor, is now in his second year at the University of Pennsylvania Law School.

Mrs. Roberta Byron Bodley '39, who has been teaching social studies for the past two and one-half years in the Collegeville-Trappe Joint High School, recently resigned her position to join her husband, Justus Bodley '38, in Washington, D. C.

Geraldine Long '39, of Pottstown, will fill the vacancy caused by Mrs. Bodley's resignation.

Mrs. Edward Hubbert '40, recently became the mother of a son, Steven. Mrs. Hubbert's maiden name was Roberta High.

Mrs. Frank Tworzydlo '37, who had been teaching in the Collegeville-Trappe Joint High School, also recently resigned. She formerly was Mary McDevitt until her marriage to Frank Tworzydlo '37.

Mrs. Dorothy T. Shelley '35, is now employed as secretary to the President of the University of Pennsylvania. In this position she succeeds A. Lloyd Myers '31, who has resigned to enter the United States Army. Mr. Myers was employed during his student days at Ursinus as secretary in the office of the Registrar and Mrs. Shelley served for eleven years in this office. Mr. and Mrs. Shelley are still living in Collegeville but expect to move to Philadelphia in the near future.

Dr. Marcus Old, who served on the Ursinus faculty as Assistant Professor of Biology from 1930 to 1939, has recently been promoted to a full professorship in Hofstra College, Hempstead, New York. Dr. Old has been serving on the Hofstra Faculty since 1939.

J. R. C. Commentator

Anyone who has viewed the war in Europe thus far can see how closely the policy of Germany has paralleled the aims of Hitler's "Mein Kampf". Many of us might anticipate a Nazi thrust into an area in which the immediate advantages would seem great. However, Hitler's machine operates on a long range objective; he follows his pattern for ultimate world domination.

For us in America the war with Japan overshadows the conflict in Europe and Africa. We would like to be able to interpret Japan's strategy in an attempt to prophesy her future actions. Does Japan make an attack southward just because the enemy is weakest at that point, or does this movement fit into a well planned mosaic?

History shows that Japan possesses a document comparable to "Mein Kampf". It is the Tanaka Memorial, drawn up by Premier Baron Guchi Tanaka, embodying the conclusions reached by the Far Eastern Conference in 1927. There is some doubt concerning the validity of the document; the Japanese ridiculed those who considered it a true national aim and claimed that the Chinese forged it. Personally, in view of the events of the subsequent years, I favor the anti-Nipponese standpoint.

The following are the significant sections of Japan's "Mein Kampf":

"For the sake of self-protection, as well as the protection of others, Japan cannot remove the difficulties in Eastern Asia unless she adopts a policy of 'blood and iron'. But in carrying out this policy we have to face the United States, which has been turned against us by China's policy of fighting poison with poison. In the future, if we want to control China, we must first crush the United States just as in the past we had to fight the Russo-Japanese War. But in order to conquer China we must first conquer Manchuria and Mongolia. In order to conquer the world we must first conquer China. If we succeed in conquering China, the rest of the Asiatic countries will fear us and surrender to us. Then the world will realize that Eastern Asia is ours and will not dare to violate our rights."

The way to gain actual rights in Manchuria is to use this region as a base and under pretense of trade and commerce penetrate the rest of China. Having China's entire resources at our disposal, we shall proceed to conquer India, the Archipelago, Asia Minor, Central Asia, and even Europe. But to get control of Manchuria and Mongolia is the first step if the Yamato race wishes to distinguish itself in continental Asia. If we want to inaugurate a new policy and secure the permanent prosperity of our empire, a positive policy toward Manchuria and Mongolia is the only way."

The Memorial also contains the statement: "We must beware of the day when China becomes unified and her industries become prosperous."

Notice how the victories of Japan's armed forces have fit into this scheme. In 1931 Manchuria was attacked and at present the most important part of China bows to the Nipponese. Last summer Indo-China fell. With the attack on Pearl Harbor the Far Eastern war began in earnest. The Philippines, Singapore, and the Dutch Islands have felt the force of Japan's preparedness. Java is falling and Rangoon is being evacuated. The two-prong thrust into the South Pacific and westward into India and towards the Near East continues.

The Japanese attitude concerning England and the United States is brought out well by the document as is their intended policy toward America. Japan realizes that her present conquests will be only temporary if the United States is not defeated or greatly weakened. Therefore, those of us who sit smugly in this college town must not forget the great possibility of an invasion of our shores. The defeat of America is an important link in Japan's desired chain of conquests. Let us upset these plans and bring about the downfall of Japan!

Looking 'Em Over With Buddy Adams

With the close of the winter intercollegiate season and the announcement for the start of intramurals, Ursinus College swings into a new era in its history.

We'd like to know what those F and M basketball teams have that they can win the league championship for three years in a row.

Miss Snell's undefeated sextet faces a tough one this week. The Temple "Jinx" has been broken though so we can look for the best.

Joe Tropp lost a tough overtime bout in the championships Friday. Even though he failed to place in the meet, Joe did an excellent job throughout the season.

OUR "ALL" TEAM With the conclusion of the league and the picking of "all" teams we feel we have an opportunity also to voice our choices.

Answer to Query—Dear Interested Joe Irvin's intramural warm-ups are not for sale, and yes he does sleep in them at night.

Stine, even without a full strength team, toppled Curtis last Tuesday 28-21. The Stine men were convincing all the way, as they opposed smooth playing to the rough-house and desperate tactics of the Curtis Marines.

Wrestling Squad Finishes Sixth In Championship Meet

Wrestling in the seventh annual championship meet of the Middle Atlantic Collegiate Wrestling Association held last Friday and Saturday at Gettysburg College.

Arnold, Wells, and Maykut were the only Ursinus men who did not draw byes and had wrestled Friday night. All three wrestled tough matches but finally lost decisions.

In the semi-finals Hunt was pinned by one of the Associations best wrestlers, McLaughlin, in one minute with a double bar arm.

Tropp loses in overtime Tropp was the next Ursinus wrestler to go on the mat. He fought Maddock of Lafayette who later won the championship in the 175 pound class.

Bear hopes were finally crushed when Romagna of Gettysburg pinned Tredinnick in the heavyweight class with a reverse nelson and arm lock.

Joe Tropp, veteran Ursinus wrestler, was picked on the Gettysburg all-opponent team this past week. The all-opponent team was selected by Gettysburg's coach Pete Beeson who rated Joe as one of the best wrestlers among their opponents.

Something New!! While we're still thinking of Intramural Night how about making up a program to make up for its loss.

The Foul Shooting Contest has, at last, gotten enough entrants to make it interesting. Watch for an announcement for the date.

Freshman Five Closes Year With 51-40 Defeat By Perkiomen Prep

The Bear Cubs ended their season with a 51-40 set back at the hands of Perkiomen Prep. This gave the yearlings a record of five wins and nine losses for the season.

George Moore, rangy forward, and captain for the game, kept up his good work by tabbing eight field goals and two fouls for a total of eighteen points.

The halftime score was 24 to 20 in Perkiomen's favor, but a third quarter onslaught, led by Captain Bull Schluter, pulled them up to a 38-26 count.

"Killer" Kilcullen and Bill Suflas played their usual good defensive games, but when these boys were not in, the Perkiomen team was "red hot".

Although the squad didn't fare so well after Fetch, Neustader and Walz were moved up to the varsity, varsity coach, Ken Hashagen still feels he can pick a few of the Cubs to fulfill his plans for next year.

Jing Johnson Announces Particulars of Coming Intramural Program

Jing Johnson, Director of the Ursinus Compulsory Intramural Program, announced today that the program should get started in full swing by March 23 if the weather permits.

At the same time Director Johnson announced the list of supervisors for the various sports. Jing will be in charge of baseball and will probably be assisted by Sieb Pancoast.

Hashagen Quintet Trounces Bucknell In Season's Finale

Sparked by the incredible sharp-shooting of dead-eye Dave Ziegler and the spectacular pivot shots of baffling Bob Heckman, the Ursinus Bears came from behind in the final period to chalk up a brilliant 53-46 victory over the Bucknell Bisons here Tuesday night.

Bob Heckman, who handles a basketball like a toy, sank 7 of his impossible tosses from all corners and angles with 1 free throw for a total of 15 points.

The thrill-a-minute, action-crammed ball game was brought to a thudding stop fifteen seconds before the close of the initial half, when league scoring leader George Haines took a crashing fall from midair as he jumped charging into Bob Heckman for a one-hand push shot.

Roy Walz opened the wild and woolly tilt with a set shot, then Bob Heckman personally gave Ursinus an 11-8 first period advantage with a trio of goals and a foul.

Registering two-pointers with deadly accuracy from under the basket and from every spot on the floor, Dave Ziegler racked up ten points, and with a pair of goals apiece by Walz and Heckman and a foul by Ross, knotted the count at 38-38 going into the final period.

HUTCHINSON AND MOORE WIN TEAM SCORING; EACH GARNERS 136 POINTS

Averaging exactly 8.5 points for the sixteen games and held scoreless only at Muhlenberg, senior Al Hutchinson sank 50 field goals and 36 of 63 fouls for a total of 136 counters.

By an odd coincidence, George Moore, handsome frosh ball-handler, piled up 55 field goals and 26 of 53 free throws to cop first honors in the junior varsity race with a total equalling varsity leader Al Hutchinson's mark of 136.

Comparing not only in scoring but also in consistency with Hutch, the high-scoring hoopster from Holmes averaged 9.7 points a game and only three times failed to make at least nine.

After getting over a slow start, Moore's sidekick Joe Much came to a fast and furious close with 53 counters in the last five tilts, to take second place with 34 goals and 9 out of 19 charity tosses for a total of 77.

Undefeated Co-Ed Team Meets Temple And Beaver Rivals

Beaver Team Is One of the Best in East

With the disadvantage of having played only three games so far this season and the cancelling of last week's game with Drexel Tech., the girls' basketball team faces its stiffest opponents this coming Tuesday and Saturday in Beaver College and Temple University respectively.

At Beaver tomorrow, the undefeated Ursinus sextette will match its skill against one of the hardest-passing and surest-shooting women's teams in the East.

On their own floor this Saturday, Ursinus will take on another team who beat them last year—Temple. After breaking through the Temple "jinx" in hockey this fall, the girls have built up a new confidence against their age-old rivals.

Playing their last season of basketball for Ursinus, Nat Hogeland, captain of the passers, and Allie Dougherty have improved their game considerably since the beginning of this year.

SCHNEEBERG BEATS ZEIGLER TO WIN PING PONG TOURNAY

Arthur Schneeberg, freshman mid-year student from Philadelphia, won the men's intramural ping-pong tournament last Thursday night in Rec Centre.

Schneeberg and Zeigler reached the finals after blasting their way through such players as Coulter, Winters, McElhinney, and Hess. In the finals Schneeberg started off fast with a terrific cut-English shot that Zeigler could not return.

Averages 9.7 a Game

Comparing not only in scoring but also in consistency with Hutch, the high-scoring hoopster from Holmes averaged 9.7 points a game and only three times failed to make at least nine.

Close behind was Leo Carazza with 71, followed in rapid succession by Meyers and Walz and Fletcher (neither of whom played the entire second semester).

THE MAIL BOX

The opinions expressed in this column are those of individuals, and do not necessarily represent in any way the views of the editors of the Weekly.

Dear Editor,
Poets through the ages have extolled the virtues of home, but to really appreciate them, one must experience pangs of homesickness, and with eager anticipation, plod a homeward course 'til at long last one may feast his eyes upon the beloved familiar vista. Then there wells up within him a thanksgiving that here, this is his own, his own fair abode.

A rogue indeed would be the contemptible, infamous cur who would do anything to desecrate its hallowed traditions or willfully violate its sanctity by breaking in and disturbing its orderliness and quietude during the enforced and prolonged absence of its home-loving patriarchs. That such scoundrels exist here at Ursinus is well nigh incredible, but the woeful truth is that they do.

That is the reason we now most reluctantly are forced to disclose the vile, detestable, depicable facts which lie behind a dastardly deed of treachery, rapine, and pillage never before paralleled in the history of mankind, with the possible exception of Pearl Harbor. The tale of woe is too heart-rending to relate at great length, so we may spare the readers (if there be any with us yet) much anguish by simply stating that after two sojourners returned to campus last Saturday and wearily but eagerly dragged one leg after another until three flights of stairs had been ascended and they had proceeded to open the doorway of their residence, there the domicile presented to them such a scene of desolation that one may be led to draw forth but one conclusion concerning the whole affair. The room had been stacked!

There is no place like home!
