Former Jap Consul To Address Final Forum Wednesday

PHILADELPHIA ATTORNEY HAS BROAD JAP EXPERIENCE

This Wednesday night at 8:00 p. m., the Ursinus Forum Committee will again present an outstanding speaker, Mr. Edward Shippen Morris.

Mr. Morris, who is an authority on the Far East and subjects related to it, will cover a discussion of the East with special reference to Japan. A well qualified and experienced speaker, Mr. Morris has specialized in Asiatic subjects continuously since 1928. He spent a year in Japan when his father served as Ambassador to Japan, and it was not until last summer that Mr. Morris found his position as Consul of Japan in Philadelphia untenable, and resigned, due to developing Japanese antipathy towards the United States.

A graduate of Princeton University in 1928; a member of the bar since 1931, he now is associated with the law firm of Quane, Morris, and Hechscher, of Philadelphia. During the years from 1935 to 1940 he served as deputy attorney-general of Pennsylvania and has played an active part in Democratic party politics, serving as secretary of the Democratic City Committee of Philadelphia.

In addition, Mr. Morris served as a lieutenant, U. S. N. R., and is a fellow of the American Geographic Society.

Debaters Attend TKA Conclave; Conference To Be Here Next Year

Four members of the Ursinus forensic organizations, accompanied by Dr. Harvey L. Carter, attended the annual convention of the Middle-Eastern District of Tau Kappa Alpha, honorary debating fraternity, held at Albright College, Reading, last Friday and Saturday. Joyce Lownes '42, and Denton Herber '42, participated in the debate tournament, and Marion Byron '42, entered the after-dinner-speaking contest. Elwood Heller '43, acted as a convention delegate.

The only accomplishments at the convention so far as the College is concerned, were the election of Dr. Carter to the executive committee of the association and the acceptance of the invitation extended by Dr. Carter for the conference to meet on the Ursinus campus next year.

The debate contest, used as a topic the question: "Resolved, that intercollegiate athletics should be suspended for the duration of the present emergency". Participation was on an individual basis, one contestant comprising each team. During Friday afternoon each debater presented three debates, all in the Oregon style. Judging was in charge of faculty advisors and members of the Albright faculty, who graded the debaters on a point system.

The five debaters with the highest standings after the first three rounds were selected to enter the final round, which was in the form of a parliamentary session presented before the entire assemblage on Saturday morning. Plaques were awarded to the winners of first and second places.

Another important event was the after-dinner-speaking contest, held after the banquet on Friday evening. Eight speakers were obliged to hold forth for eight minutes apiece on one of three subjects, presented to them in the course of

Greene Leads Vespers Program; Includes Vocal and Instrumental Solos

Last evening's vesper service in Bomberger was in the form of a spring worship service. A musical background and readings set the stage for the realization of the beauty of God as it is manifested in nature.

Gracemary Greene '42, was the leader for the service and read selections unifying the various musical offerings. The first soloist was Frances Kooker '42, who sang "Oh Divine Redeemer" by Gounod. Marion Stocker '43, gave a flute solo, "Joyous Moment", while concluding selection was "The Publican" sung by Donald Melson '43.

Dr. Francis Harvey Green

Pennington Head Will Speak to Vespers Sunday

Popular Demand Is Responsible For Dr. Green's Return

Dr. Francis Green, author and educator, will speak in vespers on Sunday, April 26. Dr. Green, headmaster of Pennington school, spoke at Ursinus two years ago when his lecture on "The Nature and Worth of Wit and Humor" drew a large audience of students, faculty, and townspeople.

Dr. Green is a graduate of the West Chester State Normal School, Amherst College, and Harvard. He received his M.A. from Temple University in 1909, and his LL.D. from Juniata College in 1931. Prior to his election as headmaster at Pennington, Dr. Green held positions as professor of English at both Juniata and West Chester Colleges.

A member of the Harvard Club, this well-known educator is also the author of Notes on Rhetoric, Desireable Degrees, and What They Say Day by Day.

Former Pennington boys now at Ursinus will have charge of the service. William Gentry '45, will be the leader. Frederick Wilhelm '43, will offer a vocal selection.

NOTICE!

Becker and Trout Elected as Student Government Prexies

KNOLL AND BAUER BECOME NEW Y PRESIDENTS

The men of the College elected Fred Becker '43, president of Men's Student Council last week, while the Ursinus coeds chose Dorothea Trout '43, to head the Women's Student Government Association for the coming year.

Although most of the major campus officers were filled in last Tuesday's elections, revotes were ordered for the top council positions when no candidate received a majority. In the rebalancing, Becker went on to defeat his classmate Evan Morrow, while Miss Trout was elected over Carol Swartley '43, and Virginia Ernest '43.

Betty Knoll '43, was selected as president of the Y. W. C. A. over Grace Brandt '43. Robert Bauer '43, automatically took over the directorship of the Y. M. C. A. in the absence of any candidate nominated to oppose him.

Long a subject of debate before the Men's Student Council the question of registration of all campus cars was also finally settled. By a

FRENCH STUDENTS TO ENTER CULTURAL OLYMPICS AT PENN

Four French students from Ursinus are giving a one-act play at the University of Pennsylvania on Wednesday as part of the Cultural Olympics. The students, June Meunier '42, Carol Anfinson '42, Jean Patterson '42, and Donald Melson '43, will be aided by Mr. Rene Veuve of the French department. Professor Alfred M. Wilcox is the coach and Inge Wesemann '42, the prompter.

Death of Dr. Sibbald Comes As Blow to Entire Campus

Faculty and Students Mourn Passing of French Department Head And Coach of Curtain Club Dramatics

Reginald Spalding Sibbald, LL. B., Ph. D., professor of French and head of the Department of Romance Languages, died at his home at 5:15 a. m., Saturday. Although he had been in poor health for the last three years, and confined to his bed since last October, his death came as a distinct shock to his friends. It was the second faculty death in eight days.

Mothers' Day Festivities Will Feature Crowning of May Queen Lenore Berky

"Toyland Fantasy" Is Theme Of Shortened May Pageant

By Marian Fegley '43

With only a few days to complete their work, the Ursinus coeds are busy preparing for Saturday when they will crown Lenore Berky May Queen and present Betty Ulrich's "Toyland Fantasy", the 1942 May Pageant, in the Thompson-Gay gymnasium at 3:00 p. m.

The scene of the pageant is the nursery where Raggedy Ann, Mary "Tris" Tershowska '45, and Raggedy Andy, Judy Ludwick '44, are happily dancing as the story begins.

The beautiful and vain French Doll, played by Leona Miller '44, appears and steals the affections of Raggedy Andy. Despite the efforts of Little Elf, Geraldine Reed '42, Raggedy Andy goes off with the French Doll leaving Raggedy Ann in the midst of despair.

Little Elf to the Rescue

Little Elf, in his attempts to cheer Raggedy Ann, calls out the nursery folk, but despite the efforts of Jack in the Box, Pinocchio, and the dancing blocks, Raggedy Ann will not smile.

Not to be defeated, Little Elf calls upon the Fairy Queen, Lenore Berky '42. During the Queen's court dance, Raggedy Andy and French Doll reappear. Andy is captivated by the Queen's beauty, and after making up with Ann he decides to get the crown of flowers from the bookshelf for the Queen. He reaches the flowers, but slips and gets caught on a hook by his trousers.

LENORE BERKY

In accordance with his wish there was no viewing of the body, but funeral services were held at 2 p. m. today at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Oaks. The body will be cremated at Chelton Hills, and the ashes sent to Elkins, W. Va., for interment. Professor Sibbald is survived by his wife, Minerva Lawson Sibbald, a daughter Douglas, 6, two brothers, and a sister.

Professor Sibbald was born in Canyon City, Colorado, in 1897. He attended the University of Colorado, where he studied Romance languages, leaving before his graduation to join the First Canadian Tank Battalion which trained in England. At the close of the war he remained for a time in London where he had received a scholarship to study art, but returned to the University in 1920. On his return he switched from languages to law and received his LL.B. degree in 1921, and his A.B. in 1922.

Began Teaching in 1922

Professor Sibbald began his teaching career in 1922 at St. Alban's Episcopal School for boys at Sycamore, Illinois, where he remained for one year, after which he returned to the University of Colorado as an instructor in Romance languages. He remained in this position for four years, spending the summer of 1925 studying at the Sorbonne and the Alliance Francaise in Paris. He received his A.M. from the University in 1926. A year later he accepted a teaching position at the University of West Virginia. In 1928-29 he taught at New York University, and in 1929-30 at Drexel Institute, beginning the study for his doctorate at the University of Pennsylvania at that time.

In 1931 Dr. Sibbald came to Ursinus as a part-time instructor and the next year was made an associate professor and head of the department of Romance languages. In the summer of 1931, having been awarded the Jusserand Fellowship

FACULTY AND DIRECTORS ATTEND RITES OF DR. YOST

Funeral services for the late Calvin D. Yost, D.D., were held last Monday afternoon at the Trinity Reformed Church. Dr. John Lentz, the College pastor was in charge, while President Norman E. McJames would take place on the varsity field.

It is important to note that conditioning would be stressed; men would be forced to train and to stay in shape, weighing in before each game. The program would not be to the exclusion of regular touch football.

Jing is very much interested in finding out what the response would be to his newest brain child and all students who would like to participate in a 150-lb. football setup are urged to express their opinions to the sports editor.

The Pirates looked impressive in adding two games to their loot, while Captain Coulter's Giants knocked the Phils right out of the league lead.

Have no doubts about it: The Yanks are comin'. Pick any league you like.

Nancy Landis is a nifty catcher, and that doesn't mean perhaps. Poised like a real pro behind the plate, Nancy does a flawless job of backstopping and she fields bunts like Bill Dickey in his prime.

Haverford will play host to the 30th annual track and field championship of the Middle Atlantic States on May 8 and May 9. Five of the seventeen member colleges, including last year's winner Lafayette, will not compete because of the war.

Don't be surprised if a number of records fall, given some fair weather. Haverford has what is conceded to be the fastest track in the conference.

Coach Hashagen and his assistants are giving their cindermen the finest instruction in the entire intramural setup. Paging Tyson.

Harvey Harman of Rutgers was the latest head mentor to go the way of all coaches—right into the armed forces. He'll be tutoring trainees at the University of North Carolina.

Schmoke MacMahon's looking good as he works out with the corps of moundsmen he's developing—four local admirers ranging from eight to twelve. Lookin' better as a red hot fireman.

Clem was embarrassed when one of them, a little redhead, asked him with wide opened eyes and an awestruck expression, "Chee, did you score twenty-six points?"

Don't forget to sign up for the First Annual Golf Tournament at Ursinus. Pete has worked hard to make it a real hum-dinger, with handicaps giving everyone a break.

Tentative date for the intramural track meet is May 1; the tennis tourney will follow soon afterward.

Sigma Rhos and Beta Sigs had batting practice on Thursday night at frosh initiations. Batt batted o o oh.

Drexel, Penn, Lehigh, Dickinson, Rutgers, Muhlenberg and Tomasic are going right on with their baseball schedules, despite the war. They're all losing but Tomasic.

Vic Morningstar stood out for the Senators last week in the field and at bat, until he dropped a little pooper that shaded his performances.

After pitching their hearts and their arms out game after game for the Browns and the Indians, Lou Meyers and Buck Ross ought to be voted a moral victory each.

Still waiting for Doug Crone to strike oil on that windup.

Jing's newest brainstorm is 150-pound football with the College furnishing equipment and instruction. Sounds good.

Billy Flynn's abbreviated shanks really get to pumpin' when the stubby one travels along the base lines.

In a pickup softball game on Thursday afternoon, Bill Talarico at second base looked like the Irish washerwoman.

Sieb showed he can still hold his own with the boys when he pounded out two homers, one with the bases loaded, against the Cards on Wednesday night. For a prof he's not slow, either.

What's wrong with the clay courts? I saw them being used for the first time since I've been at Ursinus. They can't do that at this stage of the game. Those courts are just there to look ugly.

WEEKLY SPORTS

Pirates Cop Two, Replace Phillies In Pennant Lead

Maul Giants 16-5 and Cards 14-4 While Phils Drop First

THREE-WAY TIE FOR THIRD

Pounding out a ten and an eleven run victory over the Cards and Giants, while the same Giants topped the Phils 7-6 in a spine-tingler, the pennant-pursuing Pirates went out in front by half a game in a torrid softball race at the end of last week.

Led by the fast pitching of Moser and by the hurling and batting of Maykut and Pancoast, the Pirates chalked up their fourth triumph in five contests with the power and ease of champions. Although they suffered their first defeat of the season, the Phillies dropped to second place in the league standings because they have played one less tilt.

Cards, Cubs, Giants Tie

While the leaders were fighting it out, the Cards, Cubs, and Giants, who have been running neck and neck since the opening day, each split two games during the week to maintain a three-way tie for third. The Dodgers lost two straight decisions and sank from third to last place.

Starting the week off with a bang, the league-leading Pirates exploded a sixteen-run barrage in the face of dazed Giants, registering their first of two triumphs by the lop-sided score of 16-5. The Giants gave pitcher Ken Hoopes no support as they booted nearly every outfield fly for runs that counted.

Dodgers Lose 8-5

Captain Al Hutchinson pitching and hitting his team to victory, the Cards topped the Dodgers 8-5 in a nip and tuck battle the same night. The squads entered the last inning with the score tied at 4-4, when the Cards solved Souerwine's slants for four big runs and an 8-5 victory.

On Tuesday the Phillies extended their winning streak with an 11-9 win over the Cubs. It was a hit and miss affair, with thrills a dime a dozen as the Cubs continually threatened the Phillies' lead. Miller, Moore, and Heckman were some of the big guns for the victors, with Nick Biscotte in the role of winning pitcher. Harry Neustadter also deserves credit for several great catches and a home run.

Phils Meet Waterloo

Wednesday, the previously undefeated Phils met their Waterloo in the shape of a 7-6 defeat by the Giants. The fielding of the entire Giant team was nothing less than spectacular, and the pitching of Ken Hoopes was also notable. Behind by a 7-4 score, the Phillies staged a desperate two-run comeback; but when the final out was made, the Giants were still on top, 7-6, in one of the best games of the season.

Pirates Step into Lead

In the meantime, the Pirates were taking advantage of the defeat of the Phillies to step into the league lead with a 14-4 victory over the Cards. The Pirates slammed three Card twirlers for fourteen runs, while pitchers Sieb Pancoast and Ed Maykut held the losers to four. Both hurlers upset the "pitcher can't hit" proverb by pounding home runs with the bases loaded.

In the final game of the week, the Dodgers sank into the depths of last place, losing to the Cubs, 16-15. It was a wild affair, with runners wearing out the bases. A homer by Hyatt and a five run rally in the final frame helped the Dodgers' cause, but fell one short of tying up the game.

Schmoke Hurls Senators To 4-2 Win Over Yanks

Indians Within One-Half Game of First Place As Yankee Streak Ends at Five

Behind the fireball pitching of speedster Schmoke MacMahon, the Senators pulled the biggest upset of the intramural program by capitalizing on timely hits and outfield boots to end the Yankee winning streak at five games, with a rousing 4-2 conquest on Saturday morning.

Four Minor Sports Offer Instruction to Over 100 Pupils

Having gone through mass drills, calisthenics and running since the first day of the intramural setup with strict instructions to stay away from individual events until they were well conditioned, forty enthusiastic track candidates turned to their two or three specialties for the first time last week.

Coach Hashagen and his staff of former trackmen are giving the nearly half a hundred candidates intensive supervision in the finer points of the running, jumping, and weight divisions in preparation for a bang-up track meet during the first week of May.

Late in starting, tennis instructors got around to teaching about one half of the prospective netmen the art of serving.

Since the racquetters have as yet received little or no training, a definite date or specific plans for the intramural tennis tourney have not been arranged.

Meanwhile Fred Becker's thirteen daily dozers took their second big Taking advantage of the Yank defeat, captain Thomas' rampaging Indians captured three straight tilts, their fourth in a row, to emerge only half a game out of first place.

The on-rushing Senators scored one-run victories over the Tigers and Browns; then dropped an 8-7 hair-raiser to the Indians in the final inning of a fight for second place.

As the Red Sox took fourth slot and the Tigers slipped to fifth, the puny Browns, running true to name, extended their losing streak to six.

Nats Top Tigers 3-2

In the first of four consecutive contests decided by one counter, MacMahon's brilliant twirling paced the Senators to a 3-2 win over the Tigers on Monday. Schmoke held the club hitless, two tallies being scored against him on McFarland's steal home and an error by catcher Dean Steward.

Coming through in a pinch, Jay Meagher stole home in the final inning for a tally that gave Al Thomas' Indians a 3-2 margin over the Red Sox on Tuesday. Driving hard to wrest first place from the Yanks, the redskins put forth all they had to scrape three runs from pitcher Joe Irvin, who registered nine strikeouts in the last three frames.

Johnny Pitches 2-1 Triumph

With Johnny Rorer turning in another air-tight performance, the Yanks shaded the Tigers 2 to 1 on Wednesday afternoon. Although off his best form and a little wild at times, Johnny scattered the bingles and applied pressure with men on the bases.

On the same night, the Senators came through with a 7-6 triumph over the Browns, breaking a 6-6 tie in the fifth stanza on a single by Verdelli, two intentional walks, and a clean hit by Vic Morningstar that broke up the ball game.

Scoring four runs on half a dozen hits in the opening canto, and adding six more on a barrage of bingles and several errors in the fourth, the Red Sox overpowered the Browns 10-5 on Thursday.

Indians Rally To Win 8-7

Going into the last inning with a 7-5 lead, the Senators blew a game they had all sewed up, when, with one out, the Indians scored three runs off Driesbach and MacMahon to walk away with an all-important 8-7 conquest on Friday. Ross, who got to first on an error, tallied the first run as a result of a hit by Cooke and a boot by Reppert. With the tying run on second and the winning run on first, MacMahon took over. A passed ball advanced both runners, Cooke came in on a putout at first, and captain Al Thomas scored from third on another passed ball.

In a close pitching duel between Johnny Rorer and MacMahon on Saturday morning that was marred by Yank errors, the Senators scored four unearned runs to chalk up the win of the week, 4 to 2, over the previously undefeated Yankees.

Led by the three-hit eleven-strikeout hurling of Joe Much, the Indians walloped the Browns at will and took a 7-0 decision on Saturday afternoon.

 * ATHLETES *
 * OF THE *
 * WEEK *

Watching balls sailing merrily over his head, Bob Bauer, bewildered center fielder of the unfortunate Cards, must have felt like yodeling "I'm Breathless" last Wednesday when the dynamic Pirates made a spirited comeback that put them in first place in the softball race.

The Cardinals really got the bird when veteran sluggers Sieb Pancoast of Pol. Sci. fame and Ed Maykut had them on the wing with Ninth Avenue drives. With a 3-2 score in the fifth, captain Ed Maykut slapped one over the center field tree for a four-bagger. Not to be outdone, Sieb clouted a terrific homer in the same wilderness.

After a short rest for outfielder Bauer, Prof Pancoast set one so far into the woods that by the time Bauer captured the ball it was too late to worry about a softball game.

Both Sieb and Ed have been pounding in runs all during the intramural fracas. Because of their spectacular performances as hitting pitchers, Sieber Pancoast and Eddie Maykut have earned the title of Athletes of the Week.

Jing Considering 150-lb. Football For Fall Program

Athletic Council Would Provide Equipment and Facilities For Complete Unit

In continuation of the intramural program begun this spring, Pete Stevens and Jing Johnson are giving serious consideration to the possibility of a 150-lb. football intramural league next fall, to operate as a complete unit of its own, with games every Friday and Monday and perhaps a schedule of contests with the one hundred fifty pounders of neighboring schools.

The Athletic Council would furnish all equipment with the exception of footwear, in which case sneakers would be compulsory for obvious reasons.

As Pete and Jing see it, the purpose of the program would be to give the fellows who would ordinarily not come out for football an opportunity to take part in actual bodily contact with men of their own size and ability.

Training would be the same as that given the varsity but not nearly so intensive. Lightweights would go through the regular drills and calisthenics with the varsity, but would scrimmage only against each other.

Competent coaches would be put in charge of the teams, which would be formed according to ability, and each squad would have its own plays and its own captain. The system could not function, however, with less than four teams playing once a week (Friday) with postponed games on Monday. Games would take place on the varsity field.

It is important to note that conditioning would be stressed; men would be forced to train and to stay in shape, weighing in before each game. The program would not be to the exclusion of regular touch football.

Jing is very much interested in finding out what the response would be to his newest brain child and all students who would like to participate in a 150-lb. football setup are urged to express their opinions to the sports editor.

from the University of Pennsylvania, he spent three months in France with Mrs. Sibbald collecting material for his thesis, "Marionettes in the North of France". In 1934 he received his Ph.D. from the University of Pennsylvania and was made a full professor at Ursinus.

Remembered as Play Director

Dr. Sibbald was held in high esteem by fellow members of the faculty and students alike. He was vitally interested in the extra-curricular activities of the students, having followed closely the fortunes of the athletic teams, and, together with Mrs. Sibbald, having served as chaperon at many undergraduate functions. It is, however, as co-director, with Mrs. Sibbald of the Curtain Club plays that he will be best remembered. Together, the Sibbalds directed a host of successful student productions, beginning with "The Black Flamingo" in 1932, and following through to "Lightnin'" in May of last year.

Such a visit is in store for those who plan to attend the Curtain Club plays on Mother's Day at 8:00 p. m. in the gym. "Brother Jones", one of the three plays, is not a plug for Father Divine, but is an original manuscript written by Jean Paterson '42, and Norma Kronfeld '44, who are also its directors. They promise a cast in technicolor, if the priorities on burnt cork can be overcome.

The more serious play of the evening will be "The Lord's Prayer", a story of the French revolution. Gracemary Greene '42, is the director.

The principal plot in the drama concerns Mlle. Rose, portrayed by Barbara Cooke '44, a young girl whose brother was a victim of the guillotine. It is a struggle of faith against non-belief and excellently builds up to a climax when Mlle. Rose comes to the final test of accepting God after her brother is so ruthlessly slain.

The third play, "The Man in the Bowler Hat" is one for those who like stirring, gripping, heart-clutching drama.

A fast moving, tense, laugh packed, melodrama develops, out of what appears at first to be a very mild comedy, when mysterious shots materialize to upset the peaceful domestic life of John and Mary.

However, those people who can't stand excitement should not see this English drama. Marion Byron '42, is the director of this production.
