Democrats Due Tomorrow For Rally in Gymnasium

The Honorable Joseph A. Ellender, junior senator from Louisiana, will address the first of the two major political rallies to be held here tomorrow and next Tuesday. He and the Democrats will invade Thompson-Gay Gymnasium tomorrow evening at 8:00 p. m. to speak for the Roosevelt-Wallace ticket. The rally is being staged through the Haines Political Society and the Forum Committee.

Chairman of the Democratic meeting will be Harry Showalter '41. He will introduce Joseph Dubuque '41, who in turn will present the speaker. The College band will provide the music for the program.

Present at the rally will be Mr. Raymond K. Mensch, Montgomery County Democratic Chairman; Mr. Victor Epstein, Democratic candidate for Congress from the 27th district; and Mr. John T. Durnin, Democratic campaign manager for Montgomery County.

The Honorable Joseph F. Guffy, United States senator from Pennsylvania; Mr. Luther Harr, campaign manager for the Democratic Party in Pennsylvania; Mr. John B. Kelly, Philadelphia Democratic leader; and Mr. Robert C. White, Philadelphia City Controller have also been invited to attend.

Senator Ellender, Democratic committeeman from Louisiana and a member of the Senate Naval Affairs Committee, is a lawyer and former member of the Louisiana State Legislature. Chairman of the Louisiana delegation to the 1940 Democratic National Convention, Ellender seconded the nomination of Henry A. Wallace as candidate for Vice-President.

He is a native of Houma, Louisiana and a graduate of St. Aloysius College and Tulane University.

From 1924 to 1936 he was a member of the Louisiana House of Representatives, serving as floor leader from 1928 to 1932, and speaker from 1932 to 1936.

During the past week Ellender has had a busy schedule speaking in state Democratic circles. On Friday he was in Lancaster and York and on Saturday at Bethlehem, Willow Grove, and Allentown.

Pre-Legal Society To Hear About Criminal Law Action

Mr. Victor J. Roberts, formerly assistant district attorney of Montgomery County, will be the principal speaker this evening at the meeting of the J. Lynn Barnard Pre-Legal Society to be held at 8:00 p. m. in the Freeland reception room.

"The Criminal Law in Action: Law Enforcement and Crime Detection", is the topic which Mr. Roberts has chosen to present before the club.

Chief County Detective Kaye Munshower will accompany Mr. Roberts and demonstrate the various articles of modern equipment used in detective work at the district attorney's office. Fingerprinting methods will be demonstrated by taking prints of all of the club members.

IRC To Discuss New Eastern Axis at Afternoon Session

The "New Axis in the Far East" is the topic which will be discussed at the meeting of the IRC tomorrow afternoon.

The meeting, scheduled for 8:00 o'clock, has been re-scheduled for 4:30 so that it will not conflict with the Democratic rally.

The program will feature a panel discussion led by Jane Pakenham '41, Joyce Lownes '42, William Ditter '43, and John Yeomans '42.

Four new members, Jane Vink '42, Florence Bechtel '42, Edwin McCausland '43, and Karl Agan '42, will be admitted.

Haines Group Supports Willkie But Says FDR Will Win in November

Wendell Willkie is the choice for president of the Haines Political Society, according to the consensus of opinion taken at its meeting on Tuesday evening, October 15, in Bomberger.

At its first regular meeting of the year, Joseph Dubuque '41, president of the society, announced the definite dates for the political rallies to be held on campus in the very near future. The Honorable Joseph A. Ellender, United States Senator from Louisiana, will deliver the address at the Democratic rally on October 22. Senator James J. Davis of Pennsylvania will be the principal speaker at the Republican rally on October 29.

Charles Blum '41, in behalf of President Roosevelt, and William Ditter '43, speaking for Mr. Willkie, presented the cases for their favorites before the club. Upon the conclusion of their talks, both speakers were cross-examined by club members in an open forum.

Just before the conclusion of the meeting, the presidential poll was taken. In answer to the question, "Who do you think will win the election?", the club predicted a Roosevelt victory, 39-7.

The second question was worded, "Who do you hope will win the election?". Mr. Willkie was the club's choice for president by the margin of 27-18.

Moritz Paints Picture of Life in Chinese Colleges

"American gasoline tins are being used for surgical instruments"—that is only part of the vivid picture painted by Paul Moritz, Kansas University graduate of '39, and Fellowship Student to China, who was presented by the YMWCA in Bomberger last Wednesday evening.

Upon his introduction by Catherine Hahn '41, Mr. Moritz, secretary of the World Student Christian Organization, attempted to stimulate campus aid to foreign students by giving his impression of the needs of the Chinese students with whom he has had close association. He told of seeing the Chinese students trudging many miles from their universities, carrying their equipment to an inadequate building as a temporary shelter from the bombs which would finally force them to move on. They pursue their studies under the constant threat of disease, malnutrition, and death.

Mr. Moritz personally has received expressions of appreciation from many Chinese students for the $72,000 they have received from the Christian students of America in three years, a sum which expanded to almost a million dollars in Chinese currency.

Bears Don Wings To Swoop Down on Blue Hens, 25 - 0

The Ursinus Grizzlies dealt a crushing defeat to the Delaware Hens at Newark on Saturday. Meanwhile the hockey team and the jayvees, also in enemy lairs, racked up victories at Rhode Island and Doylestown, respectively.

The Hens fell, 25-0; the Farm School Bulldogs to the jayvees, 13-12; and the Rhode Island lassies, 6-3.

Girls Top Rhode Island In Visit There

Tow-head Nancy Landis, sophomore center half-back on the hockey squad, left just one minute go by before she chalked up a goal against Rhode Island State on Saturday up on the New England campus. The team held this fast pace to return to Pennsylvania with a 6-3 victory.

Midway in the first period right inner Barbara Fow picked up another point. The period closed, 2-1, after Rhode Island's Barbara Webster converted from close range.

Nat Hogeland and Barbara Fow added two at the opening of the second period. Rhode Island then threatened with two points in their column.

Jeanne Mathieu, freshman ace from Collegeville High, put the game on ice by contributing two goals to the Ursinus win column.

Jayvees Fight Bulldogs For 13-12 Victory

A plucky Ursinus College Jayvee eleven won its opening game of the season by nosing out the National Farm School Bulldogs, 13-12, in a bitterly-fought game played at Doylestown last Saturday.

The Cubs scored a touchdown early in the opening period when Dean Stewart's pass to "Bucky" Buchanan was good for a score. Ursinus added the extra point when the same pass combination clicked again to give the Jayvees a 7-0 lead. Farm School's aerial attack in the second quarter brought a touchdown, but Buchanan blocked the attempted conversion.

A running attack, sparked by Bill Talarico and Stewart, culminated in a third-period score when Stewart crashed over from the one-yard line. The placement kick was wide, but the Cubs led, 13-6. In the closing minutes of the game, Augie Levitsky, backfield star for the Bulldogs, broke off tackle for sixty yards; and, after a few plays

Decisive Newark Victory From Accurate Passes

By Garnet Adams '42

Perhaps it was the snow-flakes that made them aware of it, or maybe it was just the crispness of the air; but whatever it was, a stubborn Ursinus team suddenly realized on Saturday they could use the air lanes to an advantage in football. That is just what they did as they administered a 25-0 drubbing to an up-and-coming Delaware eleven.

Sending out a steady stream of passes that hit their mark with amazing accuracy, the Bears, with Paul Augustine on the firing line, and Tkacz, McConnell, and Biscotte on the receiving line, passed their opponents dizzy as they chalked up four warmly welcomed 6-pointers.

Dodge Fatal 'Second Play'

As soon as the Bears got over the fatal "second play", they began to go to work on their opponents. Taking the ball on their own 30-yard line, Augustine connected for 30 yards on his first pass to McConnell.

On the next play he tossed a 30 yard pass to "Al" Tkacz, who scampered the remaining distance for the first score of the game.

In the third quarter, the Bears fattened up their score by 13 points, starting quickly as they did in the first half, the Bears, on three successive passes went deep into the enemy territory.

Tkacz Runs End on 1-Yard Line

A 15-yard loss on a line play stymied the touchdown efforts momentarily. The next pass to McConnell carried the ball to the 1-yard line, where Tkacz ran around end for the score.

Late in the third quarter Augustine heaved a beautiful lob-pass to Biscotte in the end zone, after the ball had been placed in scoring position by a pass to Tkacz. Biscotte's kick put the Bears 19 points ahead.

The last score was made in the fourth quarter with the subs in charge of the offensive. "Biggie" Berman, standing on his own 30,

College President Is Named Head of Local Draft Board

Dr. Norman E. McClure, president of Ursinus College and a resident of Collegeville, has been named to the local three-man draft board.

President McClure is chairman of the local board, which is board No. 8 of Montgomery County. There are 10 in the county, each directing an area including 30,000 people.

The personnel of the draft boards that will be in charge of local administration of the conscription of men into the army was announced October 14 by Governor James. The approval of President Roosevelt to the boards was effected a short time before.

These boards will not be concerned with the registration of possible draftees, but will notify those whose names are drawn for service, and will determine which are eligible for exemption for one reason or another.

THANKSGIVING RECESS BEGINS NOV. 27

In accordance with the proclamation of Governor Arthur H. James, the College will observe Thanksgiving on Thursday, November 28.

Recess will begin at 5:00 p. m. on November 27 and end at 8:00 a. m. on December 2.

Student from Near East Is Speaker at Vespers

"The more I stay in America, the more I learn", was a Mesopotamian's viewpoint of America, as expressed last evening at the Ursinus Vespers by Mr. Naji Cohen.

A native of Iraq, Mr. Cohen is now a senior at Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster. Coming from a very small, thinly populated, and antiquated land, Mr. Cohen has been very much impressed with America.

He, together with three fellow students at Franklin and Marshall, hopes to acquire the education needed to help build a new Iraq. "Iraq is waiting for us", was his statement; and it is his hope to return to help in rebuilding Iraq along the lines of American society.

The meeting was conducted by student leader Betty Knoll '43, assisted by the organist, Joseph Chapline '42. Next week the Reverend Mr. James H. Carter, pastor of the Lower Providence Baptist Church of Norristown, will be the speaker.

Agan Appoints Committees As Juniors Plan Year's Activities

Class organization was the keynote at the social-business meeting of the Junior Class held in Rec Center on Tuesday evening, October 15. Karl Agan, president of the class, took charge of the meeting.

It was decided to sponsor a class publication this year which is to be similar in many respects to that published last year by the class of '41. Donald Connor has been appointed editor of the paper.

Upon the conclusion of the business session, a brief social meeting was held at which cider, doughnuts, and candy was served.

The following committees and chairmen were announced by President Agan: program, Richard Arnold; social, Roberta Guinness; women's athletic association, Eva June Smith; and publicity, Julia Hogg.

Vocalists from Phila. Opera Company Please in Musical

By Joseph Chapline '42

The second musical of this season was held last Thursday, October 17, in Bomberger and featured three members of the Philadelphia Opera Company. Before the program began Dr. William F. Philip, College music director, introduced Mr. C. David Hocker, general manager of the company, who gave us an interesting talk concerning its aims and purposes.

Accompanied by Ezra Rochlin at the piano, the first soloist was Mr. John Toms. Exhibiting a very fine tenor voice, he sang first the Old English Ballad "My Lovely Celia" by Wilson and Monroe. His second number was the Miltonic poem, "Preach Me Not Your Musty Rules". Written in the XVII century Handelian style, this piece brought out the virility of both the composer as well as the singer.

His only operatic solo was "La Reve" from Massenet's "Manon". Singing in French, his precision of pronunciation was perfect, as was his excellent vocal poise.

Closing his half of the program, Mr. Toms sang the lively "I am Going Down to London" by Colby. Particularly interesting was the accompaniment. He sang as an encore the amusing "Dissatisfied Serenader" by Brahms.

For the second half of the program, Miss Frances Greer sang first the rhythmic and fiery "Ouvre Ton Coeur" of Bizet. Her fine dramatic soprano voice certainly left nothing to be desired. Following Mr. Toms' example, she too announced her own program, the next number of which certainly proved to be the prize song of the evening, "The Jewel Song", from Gounod's Faust. Miss Greer sang in a voice notably consistent in all registers and with perfect control. The latter was very true of her trills and arpeggios; her tone was at its best in the parts of greatest volume.

Her last three numbers were the "Marie Antoinette's Song", a "Lullaby", and the ever popular and delightful "The Lilac Tree" by Gartner.

Student Government in Action!

During the past several years, our democratic student government here at Ursinus has been at a low ebb. Student Council laws have been violated without any compunctions, because the great majority of us were aware of the laws only by hearsay and rather inclined to regard them as rumors.

The Student Council did little to rectify this deplorable condition except to issue a few general warnings that the laws might be enforced at any time. As a student government, our campus democracy had deteriorated into anarchy.

There are encouraging indications this year that the Student Council actually intends to enforce its laws. The publication of the Men's Student Council Handbook, containing the council laws and its constitution, has enabled each student to familiarize himself with the laws governing his conduct.

Since any excuse for ignorance of the laws was thereby eliminated, the council has proceeded to enforce them and the violators have been fined.

Odious as the task of prosecuting fellow students must be, the council is to be commended for the stand it is taking in performing its duty. If we believe the laws our representatives have passed to be antiquated or superfluous, let them be repealed. If we approve of them, the council is deserving of the support and cooperation of each of us in their enforcement.

Duty of the Privileged

"The shadow of war breeds selfishness and fear and hysteria."—President McClure in his address on conscription.

And selfishness and fear and hysteria breed wars and their causes. No clearer hint as to the duty of a college could have been given than the president gave last Wednesday in his chapel address.

During the debates in Congress prior to the passing of the selective service act, the usual statement from a college student was that he would be excepted from call.

Fortunately some provision was made for consideration of students, and movements are on foot to increase the scope of that consideration.

The Commentator

A TRUE AMERICAN
 COULD NOT DECLINE

Much of importance and unimportance has been passed onto the public in the present presidential campaign. Issues, both foreign and domestic, have been discussed at great length, and true to form, even "mud slinging" has been resorted to by both parties. But above all this campaign camouflage rests the main issue of a third term, and here is food for endless discussion.

You have undoubtedly heard the argument that President Roosevelt is not indispensable and thus cannot justly lay claim to re-election for a third term. Again and again the un-Americanism of a third term is emphasized, and the fear for democracy creeps up. But let us give this question a little thought before we conclude since George Washington and Thomas Jefferson declined to run for a third term, that President Roosevelt should decline. In all due respect to these great Americans and their democratic ideals, we must remember that time brings changes. The United States of today and the related international affairs are vastly different from what they were then. True enough, our ideals are the same and we are every bit as proud of them, but today it seems that ideals are not sufficient barriers to avert catastrophe. This issue demands such a line of thinking, and I maintain that democracy is not at stake.

I am sincerely convinced that President Roosevelt doesn't consider himself indispensable. Nor, contrary to some beliefs, is he running for a third term simply to be president again. This point I would like to clarify.

It was a momentous decision on the part of the President to consent to run again. I maintain that it took as great a feeling of Americanism on the part of President Roosevelt to consent to run for a third term, as it did for Washington and Jefferson to decline. Being the true American that he is, President Roosevelt was moved to such a decision with only the call of further service to his country foremost in his mind and heart. Only the deepest sense of duty motivated him to consent to be re-nominated, in full realization of breaking the third term precedent.

Yet some people accuse President Roosevelt of being strictly a politician in quest of further political glory. I question whether any politician, under the stress and strain of presidential duties, would consent to run for a third term. The demands of the office, as they exist, are too great.

With a view toward this third term, we must admit that the constructive work of the Roosevelt-sponsored New Deal far outweighs any of the destructive work. Many toes have been stepped on, but what really matters is that a great many more people have benefited and will continue to benefit. We cannot afford to change horses in the middle of a "deep" stream.

With all due consideration of domestic and foreign affairs, I deem a third term advisable. Why turn the generalship of government over to another when he is but a lieutenant with practically the same ideas as those of the commanding officer?

By Max Zeski '41

If we recognize the college student as different in that respect, he should and can be regarded as having an additional duty to his country. And if the college student does not maintain a "calm, fair, kind, patient, and hopeful" attitude towards public hysteria and its causes, he is holding out on his neighbors.

The college student cannot avoid the responsibility that special privilege places upon him.
 N. T. B. '41

Text of President McClure's Address on Wednesday

"Today, October 16, 1940, is a day without precedent in American history. Never before in time of peace have Americans been conscripted for government service. Never before has our beloved land been threatened by forces so powerful and so sinister.

"All good men desire peace, and in this uncertain hour we hope and pray that soon the day may come when truth and justice and peace will reign everywhere.

"The shadow of war breeds selfishness and fear and hysteria. It is our duty as college men and women to remain calm, to remain generous, to tone down the public hysteria, and to avoid among ourselves all that might lead to misunderstanding, to recrimination and bitterness, and I therefore call upon each member of the faculty and student body to exercise the most careful restraint upon his speech and actions.

"Each of us must meet his obligations as the law requires and as his conscience directs, but each must be sure that he is guided by conscience and not by self-interest.

"As you know, no student who is eligible to remain in college, and who wishes to do so, will be called for government service before Commencement Day, 1941. This seems to me a reasonable provision. We do not yet know exactly what provision will be made for college students after July 1, 1941. But if college students are to receive special consideration now and later, they must prove that they deserve it. Each man should work with more than ordinary determination to do his best and to help those about him to do their best.

"It is unnecessary to assure you that to each of you who today and later will register for government service your college will give whatever help that we can lawfully and conscientiously give.

"And now let us all be calm, fair, kind, patient, hopeful."

F.-M. Penalty Kick Takes Soccer Game From Booters, 1-0

After dominating the play for the greater part of the game, the booters of Coach "Doc" Baker dropped a close one to F. and M. last Thursday by a 1-0 score.

To add to the despair of the soccer squad, the goal was scored on a penalty kick, afforded to the victors by a very congenial referee. Time after time the Bears had the ball in position to score, but each time over-anxious linemen failed to place the ball between the uprights.

The diplomats scored their goal late in the first quarter when a high bounding ball in the penalty area struck one of the Bear full-backs on the arm. A free kick was awarded to F. and M., and a sure-footed lineman kicked the only score of the game.

For the greater part of the game the Bears kept the ball in their own territory due to the superior passing of their linemen. Fullback Arnold and halfback Karpinski stood out for the Bears on defense, keeping their opponents away from the goal during most of the game.

Linemen whose work greatly encouraged Coach "Seib" Pancoast were Tackles Tom Gash and Elwood Shropshire, Acting Captain Eddie Lord, Burt Lear, and Buchanan, while Talarico and Stewart sparkled in the backfield.

Looking 'Em Over

By

The Ursinus grid fans now know how the Republicans will feel if they can get Willkie into presidential pay dirt.

That big win over Delaware was as welcome as a chicken dinner to a starving person, and just about as long overdue.

Prosperity sure came in big gobs this week-end with the Jayvees topping Farm School and Miss Snell's hockeyites whipping Rhode Island as well.

It was a trio of recruits of the bush leagues, Barbara Fow, Jeanne Mathieu, and Marion Bright, that put the punch into the gals' artillery. Then again it might have been that New England air.

If Al Tkacz can keep up the spirited work, they'll be putting the little fellow in the same backfield with Harmon, Reagan, and Kimbrough.

The military parade was a good idea, but why didn't the boys stop at the firehouse and sign up for a uniform?

There'd be no need of the draft if each company had a Heddy Lamarr or a Bunny Harshaw as "personnel advisor".

That frosh victory over Farm School was clinched by a weird play that started as a placement and wound up as a forward pass.

- Intramurals -

The annual fall tennis tournament has now reached the third round. Although the weather has been poor, the contestants have managed to advance in their matches. A feature match of the week was Wilcox's win over "Wee Willie" Heller, 6-3, 6-2. In a battle of "pros", Miller topped Dennis 6-2, 6-3. Tyson also proved victorious by shellacking Bob Brady 6-1, 6-0.

Freeland still leads the intramural football league by virtue of their second straight win, with Curtis, Brodbeck, and Derr close behind. In Thursday's game between Derr and Day, which Derr won 7-6, there were three boys who saw "stars".

Leading scorers to date are "Kenny" Grosseck of Brodbeck and John Rorer of Freeland, with twelve points each.

The standings of the teams:

Team	W.	L.	T.	Pts.
Freeland	2	0	0	4
Curtis	1	0	2	4
Derr	1	0	1	3
Brodbeck	1	0	0	2

Best Bets of the Week:

Bears Take To Passing for Air Raid on Delaware Hens

To mention individual performances seems ridiculous, as the entire team performed in a brilliant manner. Tackles and blocks were performed with the deftness of professionals, and the Blue Hens were completely stopped by the charging Bear line.

Mention must be given though to such outstanding players as "Ripper" McConnell, captain for the game, who sparkled on both offense and defense, Paul Augustine, who passed a slippery ball with accuracy, and "Al" Tkacz, who was the spearhead for the team for all departments.

SLANTS ON THE GAME

By running up a total of 25 points in Saturday's game, the 1940 edition of the Grizzlies broke a scoring record that existed since 1935 when the Bears defeated Gettysburg by a score of 30 to 14.

Delaware ends hit "mity" Tkacz, safety man, with everything but the players bench on punts, but Al absorbed the punishment and scored two touchdowns in return.

From all indications, Coach Kellert is mixing a little psychology with his football drills. In the third quarter, signal-caller Al Tkacz, surprised his opponents by running around end for the score when a line buck was anticipated.

Again in the third quarter, the Bears resorted to psychology. "Biggie" Berman, who ordinarily does no kicking was back in punt formation, waiting for the signals to be called, when "Colonel" Flynn ordered him in a loud, audible manner to get back farther.

The opposing linemen, thrown completely off guard, rushed in on the kicker (so they thought) only to see him toss a neat little pass over their heads to an awaiting end. On the bench Coach Kellert roared in delight.

Noted Scholar Reviews Book Written by President McClure

"The Letters of John Chamberlain", the two-volume book edited by Dr. Norman E. McClure, head of the English department and president of the College, has received two lengthy reviews recently in scholarly magazines.

Wallace Notestein, Sterling Professor of History at Yale and a well-known research English historian, writes of the edition: "Now that these letters are complete in covers, they will become a minor historical classic.
